"Worse times are in store for us. Europe is divided in counsel, and the Turks, finding that nothing is done for this crime, will go on to extremities. The highest Moslem court has declared that the Sultan cannot lawfully be restrained in the exercise of his will, since he is the representative of God for the whole earth.

"From 15,000 to 20,000 people have been slaughtered during the last month, and in consequence no less than 100,000 persons heretofore dependent on them for their daily food are now in want. The coming winter will witness a vast amount of suffering. It is not alone at Sassoun, but all over the land, where these occurrences have taken place."

Berlin, Nov. 25.—The Tageblatt asserts that Germany, Russia and France have concluded an alliance committing them to common action upon all questions concerning Turkey.

News from Constantinople on the 29th says the Sultan has at last backed down and acceded to the demand of the power and allows extra gunboats to pass through the Dardanelles as additional protection for foreigners.

Armenian estimates of losses are 40,000 killed, and property to the amount of $50,000,000 destroyed. And it is said that starvation will soon slave 100,000 more in the face, in spite of all benevolent endeavor on foot.

A portion of the British Mediterranean fleet at Constantinople are leaving for Smyrna where the powers are mustering their fighting ships. The warships of Great Britain and [illegible] have ships, [illegible] and smaller boats.

France has a fleet at Smyrna [illegible]

Italy has three or four battleships [illegible] and four small craft in the waters of Smyrna.

Russia has two cruisers on the way to Smyrna, in addition to a powerful fleet now lying in the Western portion of the Black Sea.

The United States will be represented at Smyrna by two cruisers, and Germany has one small gunboat. It is rumored that [illegible] will also send [illegible] warships.

Various [illegible] have landed [illegible] detachments, and have still [illegible] gunboats.

Of course this is not a question of naval demonstration, it is simply the consideration of foreign fleets at a point agreed upon apparently, between the powers.

Christian Perfection No. 3.

The next important question confronting us is: How can our hearts be purified? How can they be perfected. We understand that when it says, "Be ye perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect," that we are expected to become perfect as God is. It is out of the question that we can be, or are expected to equal the perfection of the Holy One of Israel. But it has been truthfully said that a child may be perfect, but not a man. What constitutes child perfection is as perfect as the same [illegible] of the earth in our midst. And thus the gold in a one dollar piece is as perfect as that in a twenty dollar piece, [illegible] in a mass; and so although we oppose the doctrine of perfection, we still hold that perfection is a RIGHT DOCTRINE.

It has been objected that this doctrine of perfection is opposed to growth in God's favor. We think think otherwise. If one's heart is right we think there is no limit to the development of Christian character. The physically perfect child grows up: it becomes a man, and we hold that the same law pervades the spiritual realm. Of course there can be no growth in God's favor if the perfection required of us consists in words, or thoughts or deeds. The topmost round of the ladder being reached no one could climb higher. Unless we are greatly mistaken, the heart of one just begotten by is as perfect as the oldest saint on earth, but he may not be as strong. If a person be in Christ Jesus he is a new creature; he is justified by faith, he is as honest and truthful and virtuous as he ever will be, but he can become more deeply rooted and established, grow less and less liable to be moved from the hope by his calling. A person who from the heart obeys the truth is as sinless in the sight of God as if he had never sinned. He is perfect, as when a heart is perfect, he cannot be more than perfect, but he may pile up perfect additions indefinitely.

THE WORD OF TRUTH

As to how hearts are purified, Paul in 1 Cor. iii. 16, 17, says, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any one defile (destroy-Diaglott) the temple of God, God will destroy him; for the temple of God is holy, which temple you are. Impurity in the holy destroys it as the residence of the spirit, seems to be the idea. But if the spirit reside in a person, it is just as holy as when in an angel. When men become holy temples it is because of the indwelling of

THE SPIRIT OF GOD;

and that dwelling place must be reckoned holy by God, Eph. v. 18, while the Turkish Ministers are [illegible] apparently in favor of granting [illegible] the Germans [illegible] chamberlain [illegible] are opposed to it as [illegible] lower the [illegible]

Meantime [illegible] growing [illegible] threatened [illegible] guard ship [illegible] warlike [illegible] standing [illegible] Sir [illegible] and the [illegible] coming. [illegible] Mediterranean [illegible] the Black [illegible] squadron [illegible] 1,000 [illegible] and four [illegible] guns, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

POETRY.

The Alphabet in Verse with Scripture Texts.

A is an actor on the world's vast stage,
A children should play well their part,
Ere they have ended the journey of life.
Be found with clean hands and clean heart.
Psa. xxiv. 4; Prov. x. 10.

B is the Book that man can accept
Which tells the way,
The straight and narrow road to find Heaven,
And how it may be won.
Psa. cxix. 105.

C is the covenant sealed by the Lord,
Which no man can break nor alter,
Even all men shall know the Christ
Of whom it is said he shall not fail nor be discouraged.
Isa. xlii. 4.

D is for David the Psalmist King,
Who sang of the Lord in the days of old,
And in the glorious Book we today,
Find many a song he has told.
Psa. cxxxvii. 3, 4.

E is for Enoch who walked with God,
And was not found for God took him,
Who pleased the Lord and was translated to Heaven,
Ere the whole world by the flood was swept away.
Gen. v. 24.

F is for all who shall be accounted worthy
To escape the things coming on this world,
And stand before the Son of man.
Luke xxi. 36.

G is for the record God gives us in his Word,
That we may know of his glorious plan,
And how we may be saved from sin and death,
And have eternal life.
1 John v. 5.

H is for Heir, the Lord will bestow
Upon all who hold fast to the end,
A heritage of glory is given to such,
Even to be clad with his angel's apparel.
2 Tim. iv. 8.

I is for Isaac who will find
A bride, and be Heir apparent,
It will not to impoverish the richest mind,
And lead to destruction and woe.
Prov. xxii. 24, 25.

J stands for justice a heaven-born name,
A profusion of blessings to man;
And for men aspire to attain with our Lord,
To its highest and holiest plan.
Psa. xxxiv. 14.

K is a kingdom set up by the Lord,
Wherein all the saints are to dwell,
To reign with the Lord as priests of our God,
And joint-heirs to his glory as well.
Rev. xxii. 12.

L is the love that then will be known,
So perfect as joyous and free,
When death with its terrors forever is overthrown,
Love will reign through eternity.
John xv. 13; Gal. v. 22; 1 John iv. 8.

M is the meek so saintly and fair,
Redeemed by our Lord from all sin,
To inherit the earth and its glory to share
For ever and ever. Amen.
Matt. v. 5; Psa. xxxvii. 11.

N stands for none but those that are clean,
Can enter the land bright and fair,
You must bear the cross daily and follow your Lord,
If you wish with the saints to compare.
Isa. xxxv. 8; Matt. xvi. 24; Luke ix. 23.

O stands for one—weary pilgrim take courage,
There is one road to glory one road to win;
One saving faith in the Lord that redeems you,
One Holy Spirit to keep you from sin.
Eph. v. 5, 30.

P is the page those dark ages of old,
History shrinks at its terrible story,
When the Bible was chained and paganism reigned,
Usurping the throne of God's glory.
2 Thes. ii. 4.

Q is a question unanswered as yet,
By the various opinions of men
If Rome is the mother of evil or not,
Or shall Babylon be builded again?
Rev. xvii. 5, read the whole chapter.

R is revelation of the plan of salvation,
To believe in God's Son as the Savior of man,
Baptized by immersion is a sign of conversion,
And obedience to Jesus will prove the safe plan.
Acts ii. 38.

S stands for sound and soon we shall hear,
The grand sound of the tramp of our God,
For the Christ in the heavens will surely appear,
To settle disputes by his Word.
Thess. iv. 16.

T is the truth the blessed word truth,
Oh, sinner believe Bible story.
Then you with the saints shall sit on his throne,
And share with the Lord in his glory.
Psa. c. 5; Prov. xxiii. 23; John i. 37, 38.

U is upharsin—a kingdom divided,
Means, all kingdoms are numbered by God,
Tekiel is weighed and still is found wanting.
.... Peres, divided and scattered abroad.
Dan. v. 25-28.

V is vain glory of the kings and their kingdoms,
For all must, alas, be crumbled to dust.
But a stone that shall be cut from the mountains,
Shall form the last kingdom eternal and just.
Dan. vii. 9.

W is wisdom which firmly will stand,
While the skill of Omnipotence reigns,
I dwelt with the Lord on the hills to aught forth,
And controlled all his vast domains.
Prov. viii. 12.

X [illegible] who [illegible]
Luke 21

[illegible]
Which [illegible]
Psalm

[illegible]
[illegible]

Y [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Rom. 12.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Psa. cxxi. 1.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Psa. xxxiv. 1.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Zech. ii. 8.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Prov. xiv. 8.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Prov. xiv. 8.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Rev. xxii. 14.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Rom. 12.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Psa. cxxxvi. 1

Selected.

What Think Ye of Christ?

Pharisees! with what have ye to reproach Jesus?

'He eateth with publicans and sinners.' Mark ii. 16.

And you, Caiaphas, what say you of him?

'He is guilty; he is a blasphemer, because he said: "Hereafter shall ye see the Son of Man sitting on the right hand of power and coming in the clouds of heaven."' Matt. xxvi. 64, 65.

Pilate, what is your opinion?

'I find no fault in this man.' Luke xxiii. 4.

And you, Judas, who betrayed your Master for silver; have you some heart-pricking to bear against him?

'I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood.' Matt. xxvii. 4.

And you, centurion, who also led him to the cross; have you to say against him?

'Truly, this was the Son of God.' Matt. xxvii. 54.

And you, deceiver?

'He is the Son of God.' Matt. viii. 29; Mark iii. 11.

John the Baptist, what then say you of Christ?

'Behold the Lamb of God.' John i. 29.

And you, Judas?

'He is the bright and morning star.' Rev. xxii. 16.

Peter, what say you of our Master?

'Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.' Matt. xvi. 16.

And you, Thomas?

'My Lord and my God.' John xx. 28.

Paul, you have persecuted him; what testify you of him?

'I count all things but loss for the excellency of the Knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord.' Phil. iii. 8.

Angels of heaven, what think ye of Jesus?

'Unto you is born a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.' Luke ii. 11.

And then, Father in heaven, who knowest all things?

'This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.' Matt. iii. 17.

Beloved reader, what think you of Christ? Bib. Standard.

Found Something to Worship.

A Buddhist priest, who had given up his bishopric two years previously, received from a missionary a copy of the Gospels. A meeting was being held at Tamba, in a hotel, and he was in bed in an adjoining room. He pushed back the sliding door and sat up in bed to listen to the sermon. At its close he asked for and received one of the gospels. He told me afterwards, when giving me the idol (hotoke) he had formerly worshiped, that he had long felt that it was wrong for him to teach the people to worship idols, and he had at length given up his office and work on that account. He told also of the sadness that filled his soul as for the last time, according to his promise to himself, he bowed to worship the little idol which he had worshiped all his life, and which was given him by loving parents when he left home to prepare for the Buddhist priesthood.

"For two years," he added, "I had nothing to worship. I had given up the only object of worship I knew, and there was no other one before whom I could bow. During these two years no one can tell what a lonesome heart I had. But when I got the copy of the gospels, and began to read of the Savior, the aching void in my heart was filled. I now have a rent God to worship." After hunting around through the country he found a pair of boots in which to present himself in the house of a missionary. He walked up to Osaka, a distance of ninety miles, in order to apply to us for baptism, which in time was duly administered.—Missionary Guardian.

The Oldest Book in the World.

A leading German journal calls attention to the fact that probably the oldest book in the world is the Papyrus Prisse, one of the treasured possessions of the great National Library in Paris. This document was found by Prisse in a tomb in Thebes, which contained also a summary of the first Theban dynasty. This circumstance alone shows that the book certainly dates back twenty-five centuries before Christ, and an examination shows that it really belongs to a much earlier age, namely the time of King Assa. The title reads: "Instruction of the Perfect Pitchellope, who lived in the time of Assa, the King of the North and the South." Contrary to [illegible] was a favorite [illegible] and the conclusion of it is evidence of its [illegible] In the back part is a large [illegible] giving the direction of the King's [illegible] from the Babylonian Province to the west of Gentile-land. Price 15 cents, at this office. It is worth five times the price. Send for one or more.

Great Reduction in Time to California.

Once more the North-Western Line has reduced the time of its transcontinental trains, and the journey from Chicago to California via this popular route is now made in the marvelously short time of three days. Palace Drawing-Room Sleeping cars leave Chicago daily, and run through to San Francisco and Los Angeles without change, and all meals en route are served in Dining cars. Daily Tourist Sleeping car service is also maintained Daily (Excursion) between Chicago and San Francisco and Los Angeles, completely equipped berths in upholstered Tourist Sleepers being furnished at a cost of only $5.00 each from Chicago to the Pacific Coast. Through trains leave Chicago for Colorado at 6:30 p. m. and 10:45 p. m. daily. For arrival of trains of connecting lines from the East and South, for detailed information, etc., apply to agents of connecting lines, or address W. H. Wenger, T. P. A., 7 Jackson Place, Indianapolis, Ind. Jan. 1.

Find Conductor.

We expect from patronage because the Nickel Plate Road operates conveniently scheduled trains equipped with unexcelled dining cars and luxurious sleepers between Chicago, Cleveland, Erie, New York and Boston. Lowest rates. Jan. 1.

"When the million applaud you, seriously ask yourself what harm you have done; when they censure you, what good." Colton.

Now is the time to make your plans for your winter California Trip. Ask agents on the Nickel Plate Road about low rates and connections with the fast California trains out of Chicago. Jan. 1.

Nickel Plate Road. Low Rates, and Perfect Service are all synonyms. A Through Sleeping Car Service between Chicago, Ft. Wayne, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston. Jan. 1.

NOTICE.

Union Revised. A Book Before the Public. Subject, by E. G. Gaylord, is the title of a pamphlet of 88 pages containing lists of Scripture grouped under different headings, making it very handy work in studying the Bible. Several editions have been sold, and the conditions of its [illegible] evidence of a want. In the back part is a large [illegible] showing the direction of the Kingdom and one from the Babylonian Province to the west of Gentile-land. Price 15 cents, at this office. It is worth five times the price. Send for one or more.

Announcement.

The first quarterly conference of the Church of God in Nora will be held at the church in South Frontier County, commencing the Lord willing, on Thursday Dec. 5, and holding over Sunday. It is earnestly desired that all who are interested in the cause of truth, be present at this conference if they can possibly do so, and help to make the meeting a pleasant and a profitable one.

The [illegible] of the two divisions of the [illegible] Christ will soon come to reward every man [illegible] Let us [illegible] which [illegible] for the night cometh, when no man can work." [illegible] that we all be counted worthy to enter into the glorious kingdom of our [illegible] Jesus Christ, to whom be glory forever and ever. Amen.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT HALLEBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. HALLEBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLIV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 11, 1895 NO. 46.

Poetry.

"My Peace I Leave With You."

There is a silence mightier than death.
There is a peace far deeper than the sea.
I've heard that God hath touched doth know them both.
With a swift sight, born of divinity.

Within of that, whereof earth's dreams are framed,
The gossamer of thought on fancy's loom;
Yea! more enduring than the Pyramids.
Than pillared temple or fancy's sculptured tomb.

God made it not in the eternal stars.
He breathed it not into the windhissed rose;
He sang it not unto the restless waves,
Nor whispered it unto the wind that blows.

"My peace I leave with you," that blessed word.
Comes to the trusting loving heart alone.
Then God's sure mercies make the spirit new.
And gives a heart of flesh for heart of stone.

Original.

The Law and the Prophets — A Query.

A good brother wants to know how we can reconcile Matt. v. 17, 18, with the idea that the law was annulled at the cross. Knowing full well that many good, honest souls are and have been sorely puzzled over this question we will undertake the task. The query seems to question the law being annulled at the cross. So let us settle that proposition first if we can. Paul in his letter to the church at Ephesus most positively teaches that Christ has broken down the middle wall of partition between Jew and Gentile. Having abolished, or annulled in his flesh the enmity even the law of commandments in ordinances, for to make in himself twain one new man, so making peace. And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby. Then in his letter to the Collossians he teaches the same idea, that the law was annulled at the cross, "blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us and took it out of the way, nailing it to the cross." Yes, that is Bible. That law was annulled at the cross, but does that affect the Sabbath? Lets see. "Let no man therefore judge you in meat or in drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath days." This is a sweeping conclusion from the promise that the law was annulled at the cross, sweeping away the law distinctions in meat, drink, holy days, new moons, and Sabbath days, making no exceptions whatever. Will we dare make any, and thus bump our heads against an inspired apostle? "Well," says the objector, "there was a law annulled at the cross sure, but that was the law of ordinances, and that lets the sabbath out, as it was no ordinance." Are you sure that you are right, or did some one tell you? Now what is an ordinance? Webster answers, "rule established by law; law, rite." Now, was not Sabbath observance established by law? Most assuredly it was. Then it was an ordinance, and there is no way to evade this conclusion.

And more, this new moon festival which is classed as an ordinance with the Sabbath here, and in many other places, was a law of the God of Jacob, so that an ordinance is the law of God and the law of God is an ordinance, and the law of God is much broader than some men's ideas. Proof of our premise. "Blow up the trumpet in the new moon, in the time appointed, on our solemn feast day. For this was a statute for Israel, and a law of the God of Jacob." P. S. lxxxi. 2, 4. Now if there be a lingering doubt about the Sabbath being an ordinance, listen to the following testimony, and doubt no more. "And the statutes, and the ordinances, and the law, and the commandment, which he (God) wrote for you, ye shall observe to do forevermore, and ye shall not fear other gods." 2 Kings xvii. 37. Now what did God write? The ten commands. Did he write the Sabbath? Yes. Did he write any more? No. Then to reconcile with the foregoing testimony, the ten precepts, or some of them at least, must necessarily be ordinances. And that is the law that Paul says was nailed to the cross, what do you say my brother? Once more, the earth also is defiled under the inhabitants thereof, because they have transgressed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlasting covenant." Isa. xxiv. 5. Now what has been changed? Sabbath writers say, it was the Sabbath that was changed. Then the Sabbath was an ordinance, and the ordinance that was changed was the Sabbath. Now my good brother and fellow worker for the Kingdom of God soon to come, I honestly believe that I have made it plain, that the law was annulled at the cross, and that it included the Sabbath day. What do you think. How readest thou? Do not I pray you, run off on a tangent as many do, and say, "then, there is no law, you can kill and steal and do as you please," which charge rubs the last precept named very close indeed, and is a twin sister to the cry and hue our other neighbors raise when we prove by the Bible they have no immortal souls.

But says the objector, was the Sabbath against us? Yes, as much so, as scores of others that was written in the book of the law. Yes, and more so, than many of them, more difficult to keep. And this is confirmed by the constant appeals to the brethren now-a-days for a more strict and proper observance of the Sabbath. Now Query. Would a law that contained a remedy for sin, be more against us, than a law that we were liable to violate every day and thus sin unto eternal death? Having settled one side of the difficulty, let us come to the other side, and look at Matt. v. 17, feeling very sure there is no conflict between Paul and his Master. "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." We ask, what does the Master mean, and how much is included in the "Law and the Prophets?" If you say ten precepts and ten prophets, then we ask you for the proof. But on the other hand, when you find the proof is not at hand, as you must find, and conclude to answer correctly, by saying "all the Law and all the Prophets," as they were all on deck, and binding at that time, then we say Amen. "The law and the prophets" were all written in the Book of the law, and the Master refers to, and quotes from that Book of Law indiscriminately, showing no more favor to the ten precepts than to others, and there is not an intimation in all that grave and lofty discourse of our Blessed Master, that his eye was fixed on the the ten commands, more than others. He quotes and comments on a few simple precepts of the law as a whole, making no difference between laws, and his audience knew no difference. Shall we now follow his example, or shall we depart by adding on some of our home-made adjectives, such as "moral law" "The ceremonial law" and thus bump our heads against the great Teacher the Son of God, who was greater than Moses, and taught as one having authority and not as the scribes. Why bless your souls my good brother, and may God bless you with an understanding heart above all else, our neighbors can prove they have immortal souls, on the same principle and by the same rules of adding on their adjective immortal, to the word soul, and they have it, and thousands believe it. We say that they pervert and add to Gods word. Will we do the same to make our case?

But we want to know what the Master means by the "Law and the Prophets," that he came not to destroy but to fulfill?" Well now go with me, and let us compare this with the same expression often found in the Masters teaching and also that of his apostles, which by the way is conceded to be the best and safest rule of interpretation known to man. In this grand and lofty pulpit sermon, the Master makes use of this same expression again; "The Law and the Prophets. "Let us compare the Master with the Master, or this with the other, and try and get the Masters idea of the "Law and the Prophets." Therefore all things whatever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them for this is the law and the Prophets." Ch. vii. 12. Now if we say that this golden rule is only found in the commandments, we deceive ourselves, and prove to others that we are creed-bound, and have read the "Law" to little purpose, as it is far more explicitly taught outside the ten, than in it. Or does the Master refer to the other "Law and Prophets," without a word of explanation? Judge ye. Take another example, "for all the prophets and the law prophesied until John." Ch. xi. 13. Now did the Master mean to say that the ten commandments and the prophets instructed until John? Then what? And why should the prophets be connected with the ten commandments more than with others, can you tell? And did the other law run out before John came? If not where is the propriety in the statement that the 'Law' (the ten precepts) instructed until John? When the Master was interrogated by the sharp tempting lawyer, as to which is the great commandment in the law he finds it not in the ten commandments, but in the law on the outside of them. And if the lawyer referred to the ten commandment law, then the Master did not understand him, and did not answer his question at all. I wonder why the Master did not scan the decalogue, and point out the Sabbath, and tell the tempting gentleman this is the "great command in the Law" as it is the seal of the living and true God, "and if you don't keep it, you will go to the bad place sure." But supposing the Master did understand the tempter, and did answer him correctly, then down goes your Sabbath theory flat to the ground, as the Master finds two of the greatest commandments "in the Law," outside of the law, if the ten commandments be the law. But if you say these "two precepts contain the principles of love found in the ten precepts," then I ask you if the love principle is found in the ten more than others which expressly enjoins it?

But you will take notice that the cunning gentleman does not ask, which is the great principle in the law, in fact he was of a class that were not very scrupulous about principle. And if this had been his idea, then the Master would most surely have read his mind and would have answered him in brief, instead of quoting two of the greatest precepts in the law, the whole system of law, and on which is based all the law and the prophets." Now does "all the law," mean all the law, all the commandments, or only ten of them? And does all the prophets as found in the preceding testimony mean all the prophets, or only ten of them? But this is surely enough to convince the candid intelligent thinker that the Master's idea of the "law and the propets," is much broader, wider and deeper than the ten commandments. One point to finish the argument, and directly answer the question how "Christ came not to destroy the law and the prophets?" In the beginning of his ministry he in his prudence tells the people not to think that he had come to destroy the "law and the prophets," but to fulfill them. You will remember that the Jews were married to Moses, the law and the prophets, and Jesus knew this. And as a precaution he informs them at the outset, that he had not come to tear down, destroy or subvert the "law and the prophets" this was not his mission but he came to fulfill them. And knowing what a superstitious reverence they cherished for the "law and the prophets," he to quiet their fears tells them that till heaven and earth pass, one jot or little of the law shall not pass until be fulfilled, or as Luke has it: "And it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away, than for one point of the law to fail," fail to be fulfilled or filled full and established as a prophecy is when fulfilled. And all these strong expressions are only designed to show the stability or firmness, and not the durability of the law, the same as "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." Like a similiar expression to illustrate, "Think not that I am come to send peace on earth; I am not to send peace but a sword." The real design and object and outcome of his coming is peace, as was heralded at his birth, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." While the direct result or effect of his coming was a sword or variance. Now my good brother my task is done, and we command it to you for your candid and intelligent consideration. Kindly your brother in defense of the gospel.

T. E. ADAMS.

An Unanswered Letter.

Editor Restitution:

Over two years ago I attended the funeral of the pastor of one of the Baptist churches of our National Capital—Washington, D. C. Several of the prominent Baptist ministers of the city were present and made remarks. Among them was one, (now deceased) having a national reputation as a statesman, soldier and minister, some of whose remarks were of such a character as to attract my particular attention, and I wrote him the following letter, which explains itself, but to which I never received a reply:

Dear Brother:

At the funeral of ——, the much-beloved brother of the —— Baptist Church, I listened with pleasure to many of the remarks that were made by yourself and others; but it is in reference to some of your own remarks that I wish to make a few inquiries, not in the spirit of controversy, but of inquiry after Bible truth, for I am a lover of that Book, and a firm believer in its divine origin. My father was a Baptist minister, and I was brought up among the Baptists, but for some years I have belonged to no church, but have become a kind of a religious outcast on account of my so-called peculiar views, and I often long to converse with some intelligent person upon these subjects; but I find very few who manifest any interest in them. Indeed, many of the members with whom I attempt to talk on these matters treat me much the same as the Jews treated Paul, as related in Acts xxii. and xxiii.

Now, what I want to ask of you is, a Bible explanation of some of the positions taken and implied in some of your remarks above referred to. You first told us that our good brother —— had gone to God, and that now he knows what it is to stand in his glorious presence; and a little further along you pointed us to the hope of the resurrection. Now, will you be kind enough to give me Scriptural explanation of the theory that we are possessed of an immortal soul which goes to heaven, or the presence of God at the death of the body, and yet at some future time the body is to be raised from the dead and the immortal soul again united with it? What is to be gained by such a process?

As I see it, there is not one text in the Bible which says anything about our having an "immortal soul" or "never-dying spirit;" or that makes any promise of a future life without a resurrection through our Lord Jesus Christ; or that makes any promise that we shall ever dwell anywhere else than on this earth. Pardon the apparent harshness of the expression, but it does seem to me that every time we claim the possession of an "immortal soul" we rob Christ of the honor of being the Life-Giver, and confirm the lie that the devil told Eve in the garden of Eden—"Ye shall not surely die; * * * ye shall be as gods knowing good and evil." Gen. iii. 4, 5. But God's Word says: "The soul that sinneth it shall die." Ezek. xviii. 4. "The dead know not anything." Eccl. ix. 5, and Psa. cxlvi. 4. These are positive, unequivocal declarations, and any inferences drawn from parables or apparently obscure passages, to try to show the existence of an "immortal soul," come in direct contravention with them and many others, and make the Bible contradict itself.

If I am wrong in my conclusions, please point me to the Scripture texts which will set me right.

In hope of the soon coming of Jesus, our Prophet, Priest and coming King, I am yours for the Truth.

Selected.

The Ghetto.

Mr. I. Zangwill, the novelist, last evening gave the first of the regular course of the Edinburg Philosophical Institution lectures in Queen Street Hall. His subject was "The Ghetto: Stories of the old Jewish Quarters." Mr. Zangwill said the name "ghetto" applied to the old Jewish quarter at Rome in which the Jews were locked and barred from sunset to sunrise. Although the Jews were no longer barred or locked in anywhere, yet the habit of centuries could not be shaken off. Mark Twain told somewhere about a prisoner who was in a cell for thirty years. One day he had a bright idea; he opened the door of his dungeon and went out. He might have done that any time during those thirty years, but the idea never occurred to him. The reverse was the case with the Jews. The door had been opened for them, but they did not as yet go out. In London, New York, Amsterdam, Chicago, Paris, Vienna and Morocco there were still many colonies, which, although voluntary, had yet so many curious and distinctive features, and were so much like the old ghettos, that he ventured to call them ghettos also. In justice to the Christians who shut the Jews in, it must be admitted that the Jews always kept together; and the hatred of the Jew throughout Europe was yet sufficiently strong for it to be realised what it must have been in the dark ages. They could not wonder if Jews living with the sword of Damocles hanging over their heads kept together for protection; and moreover, their religion made them unable to eat and drink with Christians. When church and state were one, the Jews, who were not of the church, could not be of the state. It was not till the 14th century that the Jews began to be shut in, but long before that period they were found in self-made ghettos. England, indeed, never shut her Jews in; she shut them out. There were two peculiar conceptions as to the explanation of the theory that we are possessed of an immortal soul which goes to heaven, or the presence of God at the death of the body, and yet at some future time the body is to be raised from the dead and the immortal soul again united with it? What is to be gained by such a process?

As I see it, there is not one text in the Bible which says anything about our having an "immortal soul" or "never-dying spirit;" or that makes any promise of a future life without a resurrection through our Lord Jesus Christ; or that makes any promise that we shall ever dwell anywhere else than on this earth. Pardon the apparent harshness of the expression, but it does seem to me that every time we claim the possession of an "immortal soul" we rob Christ of the honor of being the Life-Giver, and confirm the lie that the devil told Eve in the garden of Eden—"Ye shall not surely die; * * * ye shall be as gods knowing good and evil." Gen. iii. 4, 5. But God's Word says: "The soul that sinneth it shall die." Ezek. xviii. 4. "The dead know not anything." Eccl. ix. 5, and Psa. cxlvi. 4. These are positive, unequivocal declarations, and any inferences drawn from parables or apparently obscure passages, to try to show the existence of an "immortal soul," come in direct contravention with them and many others, and make the Bible contradict itself.

If I am wrong in my conclusions, please point me to the Scripture texts which will set me right.

In hope of the soon coming of Jesus, our Prophet, Priest and coming King, I am yours for the Truth.

T. E. ADAMS.

An Unanswered Letter.

Editor Restitution:

Over two years ago I attended the funeral of the pastor of one of the Baptist churches of our National Capital—Washington, D. C. Several of the prominent Baptist ministers of the city were present and made remarks. Among them was one, (now deceased) having a national reputation as a statesman, soldier and minister, some of whose remarks were of such a character as to attract my particular attention, and I wrote him the following letter, which explains itself, but to which I never received a reply:

Dear Brother:

At the funeral of ——, the much-beloved brother of the —— Baptist Church, I listened with pleasure to many of the remarks that were made by yourself and others; but it is in reference to some of your own remarks that I wish to make a few inquiries, not in the spirit of controversy, but of inquiry after Bible truth, for I am a lover of that Book, and a firm believer in its divine origin. My father was a Baptist minister, and I was brought up among the Baptists, but for some years I have belonged to no church, but have become a kind of a religious outcast on account of my so-called peculiar views, and I often long to converse with some intelligent person upon these subjects; but I find very few who manifest any interest in them. Indeed, many of the members with whom I attempt to talk on these matters treat me much the same as the Jews treated Paul, as related in Acts xxii. and xxiii.

Now, what I want to ask of you is, a Bible explanation of some of the positions taken and implied in some of your remarks above referred to. You first told us that our good brother —— had gone to God, and that now he knows what it is to stand in his glorious presence; and a little further along you pointed us to the hope of the resurrection. Now, will you be kind enough to give me Scriptural explanation of the theory that we are possessed of an immortal soul which goes to heaven, or the presence of God at the death of the body, and yet at some future time the body is to be raised from the dead and the immortal soul again united with it? What is to be gained by such a process?

As I see it, there is not one text in the Bible which says anything about our having an "immortal soul" or "never-dying spirit;" or that makes any promise of a future life without a resurrection through our Lord Jesus Christ; or that makes any promise that we shall ever dwell anywhere else than on this earth. Pardon the apparent harshness of the expression, but it does seem to me that every time we claim the possession of an "immortal soul" we rob Christ of the honor of being the Life-Giver, and confirm the lie that the devil told Eve in the garden of Eden—"Ye shall not surely die; * * * ye shall be as gods knowing good and evil." Gen. iii. 4, 5. But God's Word says: "The soul that sinneth it shall die." Ezek. xviii. 4. "The dead know not anything." Eccl. ix. 5, and Psa. cxlvi. 4. These are positive, unequivocal declarations, and any inferences drawn from parables or apparently obscure passages, to try to show the existence of an "immortal soul," come in direct contravention with them and many others, and make the Bible contradict itself.

If I am wrong in my conclusions, please point me to the Scripture texts which will set me right.

In hope of the soon coming of Jesus, our Prophet, Priest and coming King, I am yours for the Truth.

The Restitution.

The Resurrection advocates the full "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the Kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ and any other kind of death. Also an early belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins as pre-requisites to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

own strength can keep his imagination from wandering off in forbidden paths? These are the tests of morality God uses on men. It is only when a man gets a clean heart that he can think clean thoughts. The outward garment of morality is but filthy rags. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." —Young Men's Era.

Destiny.

Men understand but little of that, which really constitutes the eternal destiny of the soul. And perhaps it is well, that they should not. Life is at best, but a series of broken chords of which the soul has not yet found the harmonies, and the shores of the sea of life are strewn with the wrecks of hopes, with the fragments of plans, that were never realized, of dreams that were never fulfilled. But behind and beyond all the apparent chaos, there is nevertheless an eternal destiny, which is, and must needs be, in the hands of the eternal God. This we do not see and cannot see, for the vision of man is limited.

There is an even, monotonous sameness about all lives, that seems to be relieved only here and there by an incident that is of such a nature as to warrant the promises of real advancement. Only now and then in life is there an event which is of real spiritual import. I stood in the office of a friend recently and he called my attention to a curtain hanging in the doorway. The curtain consisted of long threads of beads, and as they hung silent and undisturbed by the hand, they presented to the eye a singularly beautiful pattern. But as I lifted one single strand, there was simply a series of beads of the same shade, with here a red one, there a blue one and beyond a green one, strewn in apparently haphazard. And I thought, as I gazed on the single strand, how difficult it would be, nay, how impossible it would be for any one to guess at the pattern of the whole curtain, by simply looking at the single scattered beads on the one strand. And so it is with the curtain that is hung between life and life. Pick out one single life, and you have only a series of similar events, with here and there one that seems to differ from the general tenor of life in its import. But drop that life back into the grand pattern, which the Divine Weaver is weaving of the lives of all his children and it will become one thread in the harmony and beauty of the whole.

Lay Hold on God.

How are you prayers? Do they mean anything? Do they reach anything? Do they bring anything? The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Do your prayers avail? Does God hear when you cry to him? Does he answer and give help? Do you hear him when he speaks to you? Have you learned the art and secret of prevailing prayer? Do you know what it is to talk with God, as Abraham did when on his face before him? Do you know what it is to bow as Elijah did, on Carmel, while his servant looked towards the Mediterranean to watch the rising cloud? Do you get alone with God? Can you agree with two or three? Is your religious life dependent upon crowds, on throngs, on great assemblies, or do you get hold of God's promises alone, and know that he hears you? One praying man, who has communion with God and grasps the Everlasting Arm, is worth more than five hundred divines who say prayers but get no answers.

Learn to lay hold on God. Learn to hold fast, to pray and wait.... Let faith take hold upon God's promises, and let doubts and uncertainties vanish while you pour out your heart unto him. Get hold, and hold fast, and he that heareth prayer will come to your relief in the day of trouble.

Christianity Versus Morality.

Among a certain class of well-meaning people who are decidedly opposed to an out-and-out Christianity, refuge is sought in what they term morality. Now morality is a somewhat elastic word and may mean very much or very little at the will of the person who uses it. The original and dictionary definition is conformity to the moral law, as expressed in the ten commandments. The man who keeps the ten commandments is indeed a moral man. But as a rule, the people who boast of their morality do not take the decalogue as their standard. Their creed, if they have any, is based on something so shadowy that they themselves cannot discover what it is, and to define it would be impossible.

In truth, a good deal of the talk heard about morality as a substitute for Christianity is cant. Outside of the religion of Jesus Christ there is no such thing as morality in the proper sense of the word. Before any man can keep the commandments of God he must have the life of God in him. Where there is life there is growth. Who ever saw apples grow on a dead tree? And isn't it the most natural thing in the world to expect fruit from a living healthy tree? The morality we take exception to is like the apples and oranges hung on a Christmas tree in the parlor to please the children; it is put on, and is foreign to the character of the person who wears it. Real morality is the fruit springing from the life of Christ in the soul.

Outward conformity to an ethical standard is not morality. The laws of God take hold of the will, the conscience, the imagination. The law of the land takes no cognizance of an unlawful thought, except as it is expressed in an unlawful act. The law of God claims man's obedience in thought as well as word and deed. Where is the man who can comply with such a requirement? Where is the man who for a single day can control his thoughts to the pure and the true and the beautiful? Who in his

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
H. JERRY, Corresponding Editor.
PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DEC. 11, 1895.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

READ Bro. Dwiggins' letter about the "Christmas Number." Let every one send in a short letter for this issue. If it is necessary to accomodate all we will print an "extra" that all way have a word for Jesus. Write not to exceed the length of the "Lord's Prayer," and let us have a grand "social meeting" where every one can speak a few words.

THE papers inform us that one of the leading doctors of divinity in Cleveland preached a sermon on the "Choices of this life," and chose for his text, "Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision" having no more connection with his subject than those words, which say of Judas, that he went and hanged himself. He squarely asserted that the text refers to the present, not the future.

The Question Drawer.

Before us lies a request "to show how Daniel xi. 36-40 applies to the Papacy." This is a task we cannot perform; and we humbly submit that it would be a serious task to many other prophetic students. In all the efforts to do this we have seen, things seem to be lumped off, and glossed over, and much taken for granted. We have no theory of our own to be proven up by the Scriptures, and it is with diffidence we are obliged to dissent from the views of others whose superior ability may entitle them to consideration. And for the present we will only point out some things that seem out of harmony with the generally received opinion:

1st. The 36th verse introduces us to a power represented by a king.

2nd. That important personage appears to be a military despot, and in no sense ecclesiastical.

3rd. He is not raised into his powerful position by means of a successful military career, or by means of statecraft, but exalts and magnifies himself above every other power or ruler,—has the audacity to elect himself sole representative of the Almighty on earth.

4th. That he is to prosper until the indignation of God against the Jewish people be accomplished and the Great Dispersion end.

5. That he shall neither regard the elohim of his fathers nor the desire of women, but exalt himself above all.

6th. That in his estate he shall honor the God of forces. This Eloah or Military chieftain shall honor other chieftains with gold and silver, and precious stones and pleasant things.

7th. That he shall divide the land for gain.

8th. That at the time of the end the king of the South shall push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind with chariots, horsemen, and many ships, and he shall enter into the countries and shall overthrow and pass over; and shall enter the glorious land, and take possession of Egypt, and shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas and the glorious holy Mountain, and yet come to his end and none shall help him;" that is, the king of the North who comes against the wilful king, shall come to his end,—his final end.

If there be facts of history which warrant us in deciding that verses 36-40 of Dan. xi. refer to the Papal system we confess we do not know what they are. In our opinion the key to the subject is furnished in verses 40-45.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.

Mr. J. H Painter of "The Christian Oracle, Chicago, takes exception to our recent article on "The Gospel of the Kingdom." He says we are ignorant of the difference between the Gospel of the Kingdom, which John the Baptist, Jesus and his disciples preached before the crucifixion, and the Gospel of Christ, which nobody preached until the day of Pentecost and afterwards."

2nd. That in our view, the phrase "The Gospel of the Kingdom in our period of time, is identical in meaning with the Gospel of Christ in a later period. And says "such ignorance is inexcusable in view of the fact that during the preaching of the Gospel of the Kingdom," the disciples were forbidden to preach that Jesus was Christ. Matt. xvi. 20; xvii. 9. Now, whoever keeps that truth back doesn't preach the Gospel of Christ, and hence the difference between the two.

3rd. That the Gospel which saves, Rom. i. 16, which we quoted, contains certain facts, namely, the death, burial, resurrection, ascension to heaven in presence of witnesses, (Acts i. 11,) coronation as Lord and Christ, (Acts ii. 36; 1 Cor. xvi. 1 4. These were not preached by any one before Pentecost. But they were preached then and afterward constantly, and by some of the same preachers who no longer preached "the Kingdom of heaven is at hand;" because they were under a new commission. Matt. xxviii. 16; Mark xvi. 15, 16; Luke xxiv. 45, 47 and had a new message called the "Gospel of Christ" to preach. Eph. iii. 5, 7, and adds,

4th. That "The restitution is destitution renamed." The last remark is exceedingly stupid, namely, that "belief of what God covenants to give, is reckoned to man for righteousness." Does this mean that the thousands of unregenerated people, some of them as tough as the toughest, who "believe what God covenants to give" are righteous men? If it doesn't mean that, what does it mean? Its language is about as clear as black mud, and its ideas ditto."

In regard to our article, respecting the action of a church in Cleveland in receiving members without baptism, the gentleman says he paid his respects to that church for its cowardice in the oracle, not long since."

Is that all it is? Cowardice?! Only cowardice!!!

The above seems to furnish an opportunity for articles under the above caption, and we decide to improve it to the best of our ability. For the benefit of those who are anxious to do missionary work by means of THE RESTITUTION, as has been intimated, we announce some points we propose to prove, so that extras may be ordered in advance if the bill of farce suit.

I. That but one Gospel was ever announced by God to man.

II. That since the promise of a Savior in Paradise to the present time that gospel has been in force, and that the idea that the gospel age commenced after the resurrection is a great delusion.

III. That the principle of faith and obedience have been coexistent with the gospel.

IV. That no Kingdom of God was set up at Pentecost.

V. That no church of God or Christ was established at Pentecost.

VI. That only one Kingdom of God is ever promised, as referred to in the Scriptures.

VII. That the Kingdom of God was, and is to be again, the Kingdom of Israel.

VIII. That the church is not the Kingdom, nor the Kingdom the church.

IX. That God has now no Kingdom on earth.

X. That if God be true it was impossible to set up the Kingdom of God at Pentecost, because he has decreed that it shall be set up at another time.

XI. That the same Kingdom of God was preached after Pentecost, that Jesus and his apostles preached before Pentecost, but with other conditions attached.

XII. The other popular and stereotyped objection answered. The Lord willing the first article will appear next week.

Bishop Foster's Baseless Assertions.

At the Methodist conference recently held in Racine, Wisconsin, the venerable bishop made many assertions so diametrically opposed to revealed truth, that it at first seems strange that he was not ashamed to make them to people with the Bible in their hands; but when we remember how long and thoroughly his people have been taught the gospel - nullifying dogmas of immortal souls and heaven-going we see he knows right well that his assertions will have more weight than anything they can read out of the Book, and so he says authoritatively:—"That no angel has seen God." How does he know? Does not Jesus say that those who attain to resurrection life, are equal to the angels? (Luke xx. 36) and children of God? He certainly does. Matt. v. 8. Will the venerable bishop venture to say that it is not the pure in heart who attain to resurrection life and equal to the angels? If not, his theology is sadly out of joint, when the pure in heart become equal to the angels see God.

But the key to the above assertion is furnished by the following: "We never saw a man."....The form is not our personality any more than the house we build. God built a house to put us in." Did he never read that, "The Lord God formed man out of the dust of the ground? Did he never read that God addressed what was formed of the dust of the ground as the personality, by saying, "Because thou has hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and has eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it, cursed is the ground for thy sake, in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life,...In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken, for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return." Here are no less than thirteen pronouns applied to Adam's house that was formed of dust,—if the venerable bishop is correct. And seeing it was the house of Adam that hearkened to the house of his wife and the house that ate of the fruit of the prohibited tree, and the house for whose sake the ground was cursed, and the house that was to eat of the fruit of the ground in sorrow all the days of its life, and the house that was to eat bread by the sweat of his face, and the house that was punished by being turned back to the dust that he was made from, on that hypothesis, either the house was guilty or else it was unjustly punished. We challenge the venerable bishop to show the least reference to the real man, on his hypothesis, in the whole transaction; and ask him, in the light of our findings in the third of Genesis so far, whether or no it is the conversions of that he is laboring for, or for men themselves? If the latter, we demand to know when and where, and under what circumstances, real men became in need of salvation? Where did they come from, anyway, and where are they bound and what have they done that they need conversion? Paul says, "By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin," showing exactly where it came from, and what its penalty, and how executed, the truth of God lying right on the surface and no reference made to the theological man.

MEN'S HOUSES

Again he says: "We talk of passing over the river of death, it is but the man leaving the body, the man lives, the body returns to dust;" most contradictory this, with the above claims. Again he says heaven is a place of perfect happiness because its inhabitants are allowed to grow from glory to glory: Proof sir, if you please. Again he says: God did not make us for this world, only for a little while, proof for this is also wanting.

Speaking of the greetings extended to the conference he said "It was very gratifying, and all that was necessary now was to have a representative of the Pope extend greeting." "It would give me great pleasure," said Bishop Foster, "and the time is not far distant when we can grasp one another's hands, and look one another in the face and be brothers together, fighting the common enemy." Well, well; what next?

Christian Perfection. No. 4.

The third term, Sanctification, now demands attention. We find little or no difference between its meaning and that of holiness. Said Jesus in prayer for his disciples, "Sanctify them through thy Truth; Thy Word is Truth. The import of this is,—set them apart for thy self, thy service; the instrumentality being God's truth, and not some direct application of spirit power that should raise them to a higher plain of religious life in answer to prayer. It is not like taking a higher degree in Masonry, or some other secret order. It does not so transform the temperament and disposition as that it is impossible to sin. That would practically end one's probation, and relieve the subject of further effort, so that he would no longer have to work out his salvation with fear and trembling. It would be worked out for him. This is not the way of the Lord. Sanctify them through thy truth,— said Jesus. These words open up the divine process for purifying better than anything we could imagine. The truth of God relates to what God offers to do for man without money or price, as an equivalent, but on condition of faith and obedience. The promises are exceeding great and precious, and if there be the least germ of obedience in a person they are calculated to fan it to a flame. The love of God disclosed in these promises begets love in return and causes one to strive earnestly to learn what the will of God is, with a view to obedience,—and hearts are purified by obeying the truth. The words, "Sanctify them through thy truth,—thy Word is truth," is only another way of saying the gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth;" it is the pure in heart who see God, and this is how

THY WORD IS TRUTH,"

HEARTS BECOME PURE.

The promises of life and glory in the kingdom of God, and of pardon and peace and sonship in the name of Jesus Anointed, causes the believers to come out of the world, and separate themselves from sinners, and unite themselves with those who are under discipline for the noble destiny of kings and priests to God. Once more, then, we see that God treats man as a reasonable and accountable creature, offers inducements for him to lead a holy life which he is capable of appreciating. When the offered blessings lead men to turn from all their follies and idols to serve the living and true God they are sanctified by the truth,—set apart from the world and

SIN AND SINNERS.

The blessing offered can be secured in no other way. We have in mind a person who said he was sanctified, and explained that he was justified before, but being sanctified, the last remains of sin have been removed. We frequently see offers by merchants to do business on the installment plan. But can you think of God and Christ doing business in that way? We hold that a man is either a saint or a sinner; he cannot be both at once. If he is that is, considered righteous before God, he is not at the same time unrighteous. Let us test this complete-salvation doctrine, as some call it. In 1 John i. 9, in writing of those who had been forgiven, the apostle says, "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. This shows what a great mistake people labor under when they think by prayer and faith they can pass the danger point and be no longer liable to sin. Pray what does the Lord mean when he says, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will

PARDONED, OR JUSTIFIED

GIVE THEE A CROWN

of life? What does he mean when he speaks from heaven to say to us, hold fast till I come; and he that overcometh and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations?" Would he tell us to hold fast if it were impossible to let go? And would he make the doing of his works unto the end a condition of receiving power over the nations if they were not liable to quit at any time? And when the blood of Jesus cleanses from all sin, how much is there left to be cleansed at a of the process? And how much unrighteousness is there left when one is cleansed from all unrighteousness? If on confession God is faithful and just to forgive, then did the advocates of the theory we oppose neglect to confess a part of their sins? Is this how it happens that another installment of pardon is needed? The idea that God will wink at such mental reservations, take a half or a three-quarter heart and forgive as far as confessed, is simply ridiculous. Let us look at the words of the Spirit in the 6th of Romans: "But being now made free from sin, and become ye have your fruit unto holiness—sanctification,—Diaglott—and the end everlasting life." Free from sin, mark you and the fruit of this freedom is sanctification,—separation from sin and sinners, dedication to God. Instead, then, of sanctification being a second installment of pardon, it is the status of one justified by faith, expressed in a Word.

SECOND INSTALLMENT

SERVANTS OF GOD

The trouble with the great contending parties to this controversy was, that neither of them knew what God's law of pardon was: or, if they did, they wilfully rejected it, or utterly neglected it. We never heard an orthodox teacher tell what is. They fix a law of pardon for themselves, and hence it is no wonder they feel guilty after pardon by their own ritual. The great commission shows what gospel will save when believed and condemn when not believed. It is extremely difficult to find one who has decided what the gospel of the kingdom is, and equally hard to find one who takes no liberty with God's law of pardon. Faith in anything almost, is said to save, providing

GOD'S LAW OF PARDON

SINCERITY BE A FACTOR,

(except the gospel of the kingdom —that is ignored.) Instead of baptism prayer for pardon is taught, —and as to repentance, sorrow for sin takes its place, instead of leading up to it. Under these circumstances it is no wonder that under religious excitement people think they are pardoned, but presently have their doubts about it; their conversion is only partial, and hence, when another excitement takes place the deluded souls are told to try for entire sanctification a thorough house cleaning this time, that the last remaining sin may be eradicated,—oh but this is a most stupendous religious fraud. These sanctified ones will tell us that they have a hope of heaven. Ask for Bible proof of this and they are dumbfounded. This makes our heart ache to tell them the glad tidings of the kingdom of God and the three conditions of pardon without which it is not obtainable.

We will conclude with a few more words to the little Flock who travel up hill all the time,—row up stream against wind and tide all the time,—go in the face of popular opinion all the time,—and who all the time condemn the world around them by living entirely different lives, and who suffer reproach for Christ whenever they give expression to their blessed hope in the society of religionists. We want to say the parting word to you. It would be to keep the body down if you had nothing else to do, but your whole environment is against you, and as the whole world sides with your flesh and prompts it to assert itself, you are sometimes caught napping. You speak unadvisedly and act unwisely, and for the moment like Paul are brought into captivity to the law of sin in your members, and for the moment the

NO EASY TASK

FLESH HAS ITS WAY:

this goes to show what the fight of faith is, and that we have to fight the flesh,—keep the body under. When in an unguarded moment you do what you ought not, it grieves you; you ask and obtain forgiveness, but before you hardly realize what has happened, it happens again and again, and you are almost discouraged, but there is the throne of grace still, and you brace up for the conflict again,—but before long you have to cry out like Paul, O, wretched man! We wish to say to you here, that when we saw that this very throne of grace for the children of God to obtain a free pardon for their lapses, was proof that the perfection required does not consist in deeds or words or thoughts, it was like a revelation to us. If that were to be applied to us, oh, who could stand? It would shut us all out of the kindgom, brethren and sisters. Thank God it is not; man looketh at the outward appearance,—God looketh at the heart. 1 Sam. xvi. 7. With the heart man believeth unto righteousness. No one can become righteous by an intellectual faith. The heart must be in it. "If thou believest with thy heart," was the way Philip put it to the Eunuch. Beloved, Jehovah has since he said by Jeremiah some 2500 years ago, "Ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye search for me with all your heart. In 1 Tim. i. 5 we are told that the end of the commandment is love from a pure heart and a good conscience and an undissembled faith. This does not loosen the bonds of faith, and give us liberty to believe what we like. So long as hearts are pure, they are purified by obeying the truth. It is to those whose hearts are thus purified that the HEART TEST IS APPLIED.

THE STANDARD OF PERFECTION

NOT CHANGED A PARTICLE

When through inadvertance or thoughtlessness, or temptation, they transgress, they, as children, are pitied as such, by the Father, because he knows their frames and remembers they are dust. What an exalted privilege to be children of such a Father! We can afford to struggle on! We can afford to hope to the end for the favor to be brought unto us at the revelation of Jesus Christ. Happy Day, soon may it come. If our hearts are right, and desire above all else to please God, although we make misteps sometimes, we shall see the dear Lord who died for us, and one look of recognition from him will repay us for all we may have suffered for him. May it be ours to say "well done," and then with all the ransomed hosts of God unite in singing of blessings and honor and glory and power to him who sitteth upon the throne and to the Lamb forever. But to attain to this we must be faithful. We must so live as to have now a foretaste of the joy that awaits us. If at any time we are wanting this, there must be something seriously the matter. We must have been defiling with the world,—must have divided our affection,—must have neglected prayer,—must have left the watchtower,—must have taken the eye off the prize,—must have forgotten must have been frittering away precious moments allotted for preparation,—must have neglected the means of grace and gone backward if at any time the blessedness of those whom God accounts righteous is not experienced. What a predicament to be in! What, if under such conditions the cry be made, "Behold the Bridegroom cometh," the loins not girt, the lamp gone out! Oh, let us not dream on the edge of a tremendous precipice; let us not walk in jeopardy every hour when absolute certainty and safety, and assurance and blessedness is our privilege now, and an eternal weight of glory by and by.

HEAR HIS SWEET VOICE

THE PRECIOUS PROMISES,—

The Christmas Number.

To make the Christmas number more effective we must get it into the hands of the people who will read it and profit by it. It is not enough that the regular readers of THE RESTITUTION see it. Let us make a great effort to bring the truth to the people. I suggest that we each take five extra copies of the paper and send them to our friends, with a request that they read them and pass them to their friends, and in that way many may read and be benefitted. I know full well, that we all want to make one effort to convert our unconverted friends. We want to convince them that "Jesus is coming again." The papers only cost five cents each. Five will only cost twenty five cents. Let us each one invest twenty five cents in the medicine that will help to change our friends from mortality to immortality. That will bring them from darkness into light. From worshiping satan to worshiping God. That will make them new creatures in Christ Jesus. May God help us to so work, in the few days that are left, that we may accomplish some good in his name, and bring some helpless one into the fold, is my prayer.

R. S. DWIGGINS.

Not Worth a Straw.

Perhaps a straw is not so worthless as you think. Let us see. Straws are the stems of wheat, rye, oats, and barley. In order to wave to and fro in the wind, and yet bear up the heads of grain, they must be both light and strong. Let us see how lightness is secured.

They are made hollow, you see, like quills; and yet not hollow through the whole length, for every now and then we find a knob or joint, which helps to brace up the sides and make them strong. The straw, outside, is hard, and looks shiny, as if it had been polished. It is polished; and that keeps the weather and insects from damaging it, besides adding to its strength. Polish! but where does it get polish? God gave these plants the power of drawing up through their roots this gummy sort of varnish from the earth. It is flint. There is nothing like it on the stem of the sweet pea or the currant bush, because they do not need it. But does it not show God's wisdom and knowledge in giving this power to one plant where it is needed, and withholding it from others where it is not needed?

So you see that even a straw can show the wonderful power of our Creator God, and speak his praise.

"Hasty conclusions are the mark of a fool; a wise man doubteth—a fool rageth, and is confident; the novice saith, I am sure it is so; the learned answers, peradventure it may be so, but I prithee inquire. Some men are drunk with fancy, and mad with opinion. It is a little learning, and but a little, which makes men conclude hastily. Experience and humility teach modesty and fear."

There is but one lake on the surface of the globe from which there is no outlet, and that is the Dead Sea, which receives much but gives nothing. Such a lake is a perfect illustration of a church all whose efforts terminate upon itself. Around it there will be desolation, and in it there will be no life.—Wm. M. Taylor, D. D.

OUR CHILDREN.

My Mother's Spinning Wheel.

How often, in my waking dreams,
Up the old garret steps I climb,
Where struggling beams of light reveal
A relic of the olden time,
A relic of the olden time,
Which dust and cobwebs half conceal,
As useless lumber stowed away—
My mother's little spinning wheel.

In the old garret now it stands,
Its busy hum is heard no more;
Broken and tangled are its bands,
The distaff on the dusty floor;
For long ago were laid away,
In the cold chambers of the dead,
The feet that turned the busy wheel
The hands that deftly drew the thread!

Day after day, with patient toil,
At the same wheel she sat and spun,
And drew the thread with even hand,
Until the woof and warp were done,
And sometimes in my passive needs,
The tears adown my cheeks would steal,
At the soft music of her voice,
Blent with the whirring of the wheel.

How often, in my childhood hours,
I listened to those soothing lays!
And sinless sounds of harp and lute,
Seemed half so sweet in after days.
My mother! oh, that sacred name
What memories fer my spirit steal!
Methinks I see her, as of yore,
Sitting and singing at her wheel.

As I am of yore I see her now—
The wheel, the distaff and the chair;
The sunbeams playing round her head,
And nestling in her silver hair;
Oh, vain illusion! Well I know
The sands have from her hour glass run;
The weary wheels of life have stopped,
And all her work on earth is done!

The soothing whir of that old wheel
No more shall o'er my spirit come;
Perhaps my feet no more will cross
The threshold of my early home;
Yet oft my pensive thoughts will turn
From present scenes away, and steal
Up the old garret stairs, where stands
My mother's little spinning wheel.

The pleasing dreams of other years,
Have like the mists of morning flown—
My form is bowed with toil and care,
And I have old and weary grown,
And toward the grave, from day to day,
My steps decline, and just before
Runs the dark river that divides
Our land from that mysterious shore.

My feet are wounded by the thorns
That are in my pathway rough strewn;
And oh, how many a tear dimmed page
Is from the book of memory torn!
But not while life and reason last,
Can I forget, or cease to feel
Emotions that my bosom swell,
At sight of this old spinning wheel.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea.—No. 40.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI.

Before we begin another lesson I want all my little folks to read Jer. xxxiv. 9-22. It tells what happened to some of God's people because they did not let their servants remain free after they had set them free at the proper time. Something bad is sure to happen to those who do not mind God. Punishment always comes we cannot get away from his hand.

Have you got it into your heads why none of the people of Israel were to be held in life-long slavery? Because God had brought them out of the cruel house of bondage, and he would not have them made slaves of again. Liberty did not begin in England at the meeting of the barons in the beautiful meadow of Runnymede. It only waked up from a long sleep. It had been born centuries before when that great host of escaped slaves sang their battle-song of freedom on the farther side of the Red Sea. Liberty would never have come to us if God had not given it to Israelite fathers. He could not give this Law-Book to a race of slaves. Slaves could not be formed into a state, and have God for their king. They could not be taught his worship, nor could they practice it in a country where it was the law of the land, that Isis and Astarte, and many other gods must be worshiped. It was a part of the business of the Egyptian kings to see that the imaginary beings, they called gods, were duly reverenced. So God brought the Israelites out and made them free. He took them for his servants, and set them to doing his work. He put them in school at Sinai, that they might become the teachers of the nations. That is to be their work always.

But it is time now to begin our next lesson. You are small students to be studying law, but never mind, you may be called upon to be lawyers and judges by and by, and the blessed Statute-Book that you have in your hands may be appealed to, to settle matters of dispute between man and man. It is the highest authority of any law-book in the world.

PERSONAL SAFETY.

That is what our lesson is about. Wasn't God good to take care that we should free, and after we were free, to take care that nobody should harm us? I think he was. Freedom is a priceless boon.

"How should we thank for boon so high?
How keep above the things that die,
Our holy gift of liberty?"

But without life, what would freedom be? We have the right to live. Life is the most precious of all our possessions. Not one of you wants to die. Every day you find new sweetness in life, and new things to learn, you want to go on; you want to learn other things; you want to reach the happiness beyond you; you want to climb higher and get nearer to God. You want to fight "the good fight of faith," and "come off more than conquerors." And God wants all this to be. He wants you to have the full measure of life, so that you may win the life that is to come. He has hedged you about with statutes that relate to your personal safety, that you may not be harmed in life or in limb. These statutes are all connected with the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." There are two kinds of killing described,—intentional and accidental. If a man intends to kill another man when he strikes him, his own life must pay the forfeit. —"he shall surely be put to death." Is not this right? It is an awful thing to take a human life. We must all be judged by the words we say, and by the deeds we do. But if a man is murdered before he has repented, and his wrong words and deeds have been covered by the name of Jesus, is not his opportunity gone? The murderer has robbed him of it. The stolen years might have made him a child of God and a Savior of other men. Money will not pay for life. Num. xxxv. 31. (Read the chapter, and also Deut. six. in connection with Ex. xxi. 12-33). The thief must give up his own years to pay for the years he has caused another to lose. But all men who kill others are not murderers. If a heavy tool slips out of a carpenter's hand and falls from a high building on some man below, and kills him, the carpenter cannot be put to death, he did not intend to kill. Yet God looks upon even accidental killing as a dreadful thing, and to make the Israelites careful of other people's lives, and at the same time to shield the unintentional man-slayer from some person called "the avenger," he made it a law that cities of refuge must be set apart where they could flee. There were six of these cities appointed after they reached the Land of Canaan. It is said that guide-posts were set up along all the roads leading to them, with the words Refuge! Refuge! written thereon so that no one who was obliged to flee, might miss the way. If a real murderer fled to these cities, he had to be given up and put to death. Those who did not mean to kill (Num. xxxv. 22, 23) were tried before the people, and were sent back. They must remain in banishment until the high priest died. If they went out of the city of Refuge before the time was up "the avenger" might put them to death. The cities all belonged to the Levites, and as the Levites belonged to God, the cities of course, belonged to him, and whoever fled there, if not guilty of murder was under his protection. You will be curious to know who "the avenger" was. He was God's sheriff. It was his place to get on the track of a murderer as quickly as possible, and to follow him even into other countries, and for months and years until he was slain Gen. xii. 6 says, "at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man." So this sheriff, or officer was the brother of the murdered man. The lawless Moslems and Metawelies and Arabs of Palestine have their "blood-avengers" down to the present day. But if "the avenger" cannot find the man who has killed his brother, he kills some one belonging to the murderer's family, and if he cannot find any of the man's relatives, he kills some member of his tribe, or of another tribe in alliance with that of the murderer. He hacks his poor victim all to pieces, no matter if he is innocent.

Sometimes these people pay money to ransom the murderer. That is not right. God said 'Ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer which is guilty of death, but he shall surely be put to death." And no innocent person was to suffer in place of the guilty. These people make the law relating to the putting of a murderer to death, one of relation and revenge. God did not mean that any such feelings should creep into the hearts of his people. There was no thought of "tit for tat" in his mind, no more than there is in the minds of our judges and sheriffs when wicked men, in obedience to the laws of the state, are caught, put in prison, tried and hung. Our officers do what the state tells them to do, because it is their duty, and not for revenge. And it was the same with God's sheriffs. Witnesses must first testify that the man had committed the awful deed; then if found guilty he was slain. Num. xxxv. 30.

"Avenger" means "to louse," to set free (from blood); and "avenge" "to give ease," "safely." These definitions will help us to understand what is meant by the words —"The land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein, but by the blood of him that shed it." If all the thieves, robbers, and murderers in a country were let go without punishment, what kind of a country would it soon become? A very wicked one, I should think. "Blood"—(or the constant shedding of blood) defileth a land." And to keep the whole nation from being "defiled," or in other words being made hard and cruel, God chooses to put murderers out of the way. He "looses" us from the fear of them, makes us feel at ease and in safety. God made one image of himself, and that was man. To strike at that image is to strike at God. Whoever does this must forfeit his own life. Gen. ix. 6.

AUNTIE WINGE.

Original.

PSALM 119.

120 COM. VER.

1. An ode of the steps upward. Unto the Lord, when I was being afflicted, I cried, and he heard me.
2. O Lord, deliver my soul from unjust lips and a deceitful tongue.
3. What may have been given by thee and what may have been imposed by thee for a deceitful tongue?
4. The arrows of the Able One sharpened with the diamonds that desolate.
5. Alas that my sojourning hath been prolonged, that I pitched my tent in the midst of the tents of Kedar.
6. Many (years) hath my soul sojourned in the midst of those who hate peace.
7. I was peaceable; whenever I talked to them, they worried with me without cause.

PSALM 120 (121 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of steps upward. I have lifted up mine eyes unto the mountains, whence my responsive-help will come.
2. My responsive-help is from the Lord who made the heavens and the earth.
3. Mayest thou not have allowed thy foot to slip, and may the One who watcheth to guard thee not have slumbered.
4. Lo the One who watcheth to guard Israel will not slumber nor sleep.
5. The Lord will watch to guard thee, the Lord is a shelter at thy right-hand.
6. By day the sun will not scorch thee nor the moon by night.
7. The Lord will watch to guard thee from all evil; he will watch to guard thy soul.
8. The Lord will watch to guard thy way in and thy way out from now on and during the animate-age.

PSALM 121 (122 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. I rejoiced when they said unto me let us go our way unto the house of the Lord.
2. Our feet stood in thy courts, O Hierousalem,
3. Hierousalem that is being built as a city whose participation is for the same thing.
4. For there have the tribes gone up; tribes of the Lord, Israel's instrumental testimony, that they might confess unto the name of the Lord.
5. Because these thrones have been set for judging; thrones over David's house.
6. May ye have asked Hierousalem forsooth for the things that pertain to peace, and revenue is there for those who love thee.
7. May peace indeed have come to pass in thy ability and revenue in thy battlements.
8. For my brethren and my neighbors' sake forsooth was I talking peace concerning thee.
9. For the sake of the house of the Lord our God have I sought out good things for thee.

PSALM 122 (123 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. Unto thee have I lifted up mine eyes, Unto the One who dwellest in the heavens:
2. Lo, as the eyes of bond-servants are unto the hands of their lords, as the eyes of a housemaid are unto the hands of her lady, even so are our eyes unto the Lord our God, until he shall have pitied us.
3. Have mercy on us, O Lord, have mercy on us, because we have been filled with contemp for a long time.
4. Our soul hath been more than filled. The reproach of those who prosper and the contempt of the arrogant is it.

PSALM 123 (124 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. If the Lord had not been in us, may Israel have said, indeed.
2. If the Lord had not been in us, when men arose against us.
3. They would have drunk us down alive, when their anger became wrath against us.
4. Surely the water would have overwhelmed us; Our soul went through a flood.
5. Surely our soul went through the irresistable water.
6. The Lord be praised who did not give us up as prey to their teeth.
7. Our soul was delivered like a bird as it were out of the snare of the hunters. The snare was broken, and we were delivered.
8. Our responsive-help is in the name of the Lord who created the heavens and the earth.

PSALM 124 (125 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. Those who trust in the Lord are as Mount Zion. The one who inhabiteth Hierousalem will not have been moved forever.
2. Mountains are round about her, and the Lord round about his laity from now on and during the animate-age.
3. Because the Lord will not allow the sceptre of the obdurate-sinners to be over the allotment of the justified; O that the justified may not stretch forth their hands in acts of transgression.
4. Be good, O Lord, unto the good and the upright in heart.
5. The Lord will lead away with those who are engaged in the transgression them who incline out into the devious ways. Peace be upon Israel.

PSALM 125 (126 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. When the Lord hath returned the captivity of Sion we shall become like those who have been comforted as it were.
2. When will our mouth be filled with joy and our tongue with gladness: Then will they say among the nations, The Lord hath magnified doing with them.
3. The Lord hath magnified doing with us; we have become joyful.
4. Return our captivity, O Lord, like spring freshets in the South as it were.
5. Those who now in tears will reap in gladness.
6. They go their way and lament as they cast their seed; but they will come with gladness carrying their sheaves (lit. handfuls).

PSALM 126 (127 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. If the Lord do not build a house, in vain have the builders toiled; if the Lord do not watch to guard a city in vain hath the watchman kept awake.
2. In vain is it for you to arise with the dawn. Awake after ye lie down to sleep, ye who are eating bread of woe, when he shall have given his beloved ones sleep.
3. Lo the inheritance of the Lord is sons, the wages of the fruit of the womb.
4. Even like arrows as it were in the hand of an able one are the sons of those who have been shaken out.
5. Blessed-happy he who shall fulfill his longing-desire with them: They will not have been put to shame, when they talk with their enemies in gateways.

PSALM 127 (128 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. Blessed-happy are all those who fear the Lord, who go their way in his ways.
2. Blessed-happy art thou and it will be well with thee; Thou will eat the results of thy toil for thy fruits.
3. Thy wife will be a vine as it were that flourisheth on the sides of thy house: thy sons like slips of olive-trees around thy table.
4. Lo, in this way will a man who feareth the Lord have been blessed.
5. May the Lord have blessed thee from out Sion, and mayest thou have seen the good things of Hierousalem all the days of thy life;
6. And mayest thou have seen sons of thy sons. Peace be upon Israel.

PSALM 128 (129 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. Many a time have they warred against me from my youth up, may Israel have said forsooth:
2. Many a time have they warred against me from my youth up; yea and did they not prevail against me.
3. Obdurate-sinners were cunningly devising things for my back; they prolonged their transgression:
4. A just Lord broke the necks of obdurate-sinners.
5. May all those who hate Sion have been put to shame and turned backward.
6. May they have become like grass as it were upon the house-tops, that hath withered before it hath been plucked up.
7. With which the reaper hath not filled his hand, and the gleaner of handfuls his bosom:
8. And to whom the passers by have not said, The Lord's blessing be upon you; We have blessed you in the name of the Lord.

PSALM 129 (130 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. From out the depths have I cried unto thee, O Lord.
2. O Lord, mayest thou have hearkened unto my voice; May thine ears have become attentive unto the voice of my supplication.
3. If thou, O Lord, shouldst watch to keep in mind transgressions. Who, O Lord, would withstand?
4. Because with thee is it to be favorable, for thy name's sake;
5. I have waited for thee, O Lord; my soul hath waited for thy Word.
6. My soul hath hoped in the Lord from morning-watch until night; May Israel have hoped in the Lord.
7. Because the mercy is with the Lord and plenteous with him is redemption;
8. And he will redeem Israel from all his transgressions.

CHAS. GARDNER.

(To be continued.)

Foreign News Items.

The London Times, Nov. 30th, publishes a dispatch from Julfa, dated Nov. 28, saying that the Armenian villages between Persia and Van, probably to the number of 40, have been destroyed by the Hamidieh calvary. All reports say that the number of persons killed was very large.

London, Nov. 28.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Beyrout, dated November 17, confirms the reports of the grave state of affairs existing in Syria and Palestine, and the repeated danger in which the American mission has been placed by the riotous demonstrations of the Mussulmans. The dispatch adds that the whole of Syria and Palestine are flooded with Turkish soldiers, and states that in the country between Jaffa and Jerusalem there are 60,000 troops, all raised within the last twenty days.

The Daily News correspondent adds: "The troops arriving here bear the significant green flag of the prophet instead of the Turkish flag. Jerusalem is crowded with the soldiers, and troops are being stationed in the Tower of David, Pilate's Palace, and in the wilderness, outside of the Damascus gate. The ostensible purpose of the troops is to subdue the Druses."

New York, Dec. 1.—A dispatch to the Herald from Vienna says: The crisis is again getting serious. The old Turkey party threatens to bring about a revolution if the Sultan gives way. Russian and anti-English influence at the Yildix Kiosk are increasing. The Sultan has given the title of pasha to Hassan Usnif, and has also accorded decorations to a number of Russian notabilities.

The antagonism between the Grand Vizier and Sir Philip Currie is increasing, while Germany is profiting by her good relations with the powers to play the part of the "honest broker."

Constantinople, Dec. 2, via Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 3.—It is reported here this afternoon that after the meeting of the Ambassadors, Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador, notified the Turkish Government that if the firmans asked for were not granted by Saturday next, a British gunboat would be sent through the Straits of Dardanelles, without the Sultan's permission, to act as an extra guardship in the Bosphorus, for the protection of the British embassy.

New York, Dec. 3.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from Vienna says: The Sultan has made a direct appeal to the Ambassadors of the several powers to withdraw the request for firmans to allow extra guardships to pass through the Dardanelles. The request has met with refusal in every in every case. M. De Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador, has advised the Sultan to grant a firman at once if he does not want to disturb the concert of the powers. M. De Nelidoff pointed out that its existence is the only guarantee against the encroachments of England.

His Majesty is quite unable to make a decision. In the last 24 hours he has had several long conferences with Said Pasha. For three nights the Sultan has been unable to sleep.

OBITUARY.

Died at West Plum River, Jo Daviess Co., Ill., Nov. 20, 1895, Laura House, age 83 years, 8 months. Sister House has been in poor health for some time. She has made her home with her daughter, Sister Harriett Eaton since her husband's death which occurred twelve years ago last September. She will be greatly missed in her community, having lived there fifty years and was never weary in well doing. She was the mother of twelve children, many of whom are now dead. Words of comfort were spoken by the writer to a large and attentive congregation, on the subject of the resurrection and the blessings to follow.

M. M. MITCHELL.

Holiday Excursions via Pennsylvania Lines.

On December 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and January 1, 1896, excursion tickets will be sold from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh to points on those lines, valid to return until January 2d, 1896. For details please apply to nearest Pennsylvania Line ticket agent.

Nickel Plate Road and Low rates are synonyms.—Jan. 1.

"There are depths in the ocean, I am told which no tempest ever stirs; and there are heights in the blue sky above to which no cloud ever ascends, and where no tempest ever rages, where all is perpetual sunshine, and naught exists to disturb the deep serene. Each of these is an emblem of the soul which Jesus visits, to whom he speaks peace, whose fear he dispels, and whose hump of hope he trims."

The Nickel Plate Road is the shortest line between Chicago and Buffalo.—Jan. 1.

"As nothing truly valuable can be attained without industry, so there can be no persevering industry without a deep sense of the value of time."

The Nickel Plate Road operates a Dining and Sleeping Car service. —Jan. 1.

The Nickel Plate Road has through Sleeping Cars to Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston.—Jan. 1.

When God calls to duty, no matter how unexpected the call, prompt response is due. His call is his pledge of assistance.

The Nickel Plate Road maintains a perfect passenger service with sleepers and diners.—Jan. 1.

The Christmas Number.

Have we the ardor of the Patriarch Job. Are we as anxious to have our testimony for Jesus printed that the world may read and profit thereby, as he was? He had a message which he wanted to go ringing down the ages. "Oh that my words were now written, oh that they were printed in a book." "I know that my Redeemer liveth." "He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth." "And though worms may destroy this body yet in my flesh I shall see God." His testimony is, I have a living Redeemer, glorious news, he will stand on the earth in the latter day, he will resurrect the dead. Was there ever a more important message? Is it any wonder Job wanted it printed in a book so that not only the people then living might read it, but that unborn millions might hear and be glad.

Have we a testimony for the Lord which we would like to have printed and handed down to posterity. Bro. Underwood has expressed a willingness to print them. Do we realize what a great opportunity it is? On Christmas morning bells will be rung all around the world, proclaiming the faith of the people in the first advent of the Redeemer of the world. On that day families and friends will gather together and rejoice and be glad because a babe was born in Bethlehem, nearly nineteen hundred years ago. This is well as it should be. But how much more important is the fact that that same Savior is soon coming back to earth to resurrect the sleeping saints, change the living, bind Satan, inaugurate a reign of peace and bless the world. Dearly beloved, do we want to testify to this the greatest hope of the human family? Thousands upon thousands will read these testimonies. Peter on the day of Pentecost had a great audience to whom he preached Christ with great effect, but he did not have as large an audience as you will have who preach Jesus and his second coming, by your testimonies which will be published in THE RESTITUTION. Thousands of THE RESTITUTIONS containing these letters will be laid away and preserved so that many will read them in the ages to come. I have no doubt that many, of these papers will be read in the millennium age. Don't you think you will carry over the best things from this age into that, and talk about them? I do.

But what of the good results to follow immediately. We ought to have, and I truly believe we will have, not less than a thousand testimonies. Do you think that an honest candid person could carefully read all these testimonies and still not be convinced of the second advent of the Savior and also be convinced that his advent is very near, even at the door. In the mouths of two or three witnesses shall the truth be established. If we get a thousand witnesses, who is there that could withstand their testimony?

All have heard the firing of a gun and know what the report is like. How many have heard the firing of a thousand guns at once. He who has heard the roar of musketry where a thousand or more muskets were discharged at the same time, will never forget it. We have had single firing all along the line, for lo, these many years, now let us send out a Christmas message from a thousand witnesses that shall ring from one end of this broad land to the other, with no uncertain sound.

Dear brethren and sisters, will each one of you add your voice so that the voices combined shall be like the great sound of a trumpet announcing the soon coming of the Master. Let us write and rewrite what we have to say, until we make our words express the love with which our hearts are overflowing, then transcribe it and mail it to THE RESTITUTION.

R. S. DWIGGINS.

"Let the heavenly Jerusalem come into your mind when your heart fails and your hope flags. This life is but the vestibule to the eternal temple. And every abyss and largest and utmost hope shall be brimmed with fulfillment there. Sang the ancient Psalmist: 'But I will hope continually.' Amid even the blackest night make that your song."

Selected.

Francis Schlatter.

We have a great many faith healers and miracle healers, but very few like this Alsatian shoemaker, Francis Schlatter, who has so suddenly disappeared from Denver. He is a Roman Catholic, but his work has no relation to any Church or priest. He takes no money and he leaves the source of his wonderful popular [illegible] numerous cures with only the clothes he wore when he came. It is absolutely unselfish, absolutely sincere, and he depends only upon direction of the Father, who [illegible] believes is given to him. We [illegible] never said in this country [illegible] scenes that of weeks past on [illegible] ver, when streets have been [illegible] by the thousands who have come from distant places to have his healing hand laid upon them or to have handkerchiefs blessed to be carried to the sick. He has [illegible] theory of his power beyond the [illegible] Father. He requires nothing but faith; and it is an evidence of the great aptitude for faith of [illegible] use or credulity, of the Western [illegible] see that the most [illegible] him. However explained and [illegible] suppose it is like other faith cures, chiefly operative in nervous [illegible] cases. There is no doubt that [illegible] have been healed, while many have been disappointed.

It is evident that Schlatter has patterned his methods on those of our Lord. His pictures show that he affects the hair and beard which painters have given to Christ. His method of healing, his reference to his "Father," his retirement to the mountains, his fasting for forty days, are all imitations of the gospel story. These things are easily imitated, for they are quite superficial. He seems not to be himself sure that he is not another Christ. We do not doubt that he is sincere, and that much knowledge on the story of our Lord has developed his faith in his own power.

But when we look beyond the mere superficial imitation and the thaumaturgy, how great is the contrast. Today it is not his miracles of healing, but his wonderful teaching which gives us the true Christ. He spake as never man spoke. He was the greatest religious reformer the world has ever seen. Their a moral purpose and a character about his words such as all the Greek or Hindu moral and religious teachers never even approximated. We may dispense with all the miracles, and there yet remains the divine Teacher, who brought us near to God, revealed God to our knowledge and sympathy, and who drew aside forever the veil of formality which covered religion, and showed us the heart of it nowhere but in the heart of man. Read the parables, the Sermon on the Mount; read all the gospels, and we find there the instructions in righteousness, the directions for the kingdom of God, the keenest disclosures of sin and salvation, and only occasionally and subordinately the healings of the sick.

Now notice—it we may descend so far—what is the contrast in the case of this Francis Schlatter. This man is not original, but a mere imitator. He copies not the essential and peculiar, but the superficial. He parts his hair in the middle, fasts, lays his hands on men, tells them to believe—this with the utmost sincerity and simplicity; and this is all. There is no teaching, no spiritual help, nothing but imposition of hands on the sick. The sick are, perhaps, healed, but to the poor there is no gospel preached; while it is the good news from God to man that is the mission of Christ. The sick he cured are all dead now; but the Word he spake, that is eternal life for us as it was in the days of his flesh.

So we speak with respect of Francis Schlatter believing him to be an honest faith healer, on the borderland of sanity, free from selfish and ecclesiastical purpose, who tries the superficial and thaumaturgic imitation of our Lord, but whom it would be both profane and ridiculous to speak of as another Christ. For that we will wait till he brings some message, or at least, if miracles are to be proof, till he rises from the dead. —Independent.

When God gives no message, it is safe to hold one's peace.

Use and Abuse Worldly Things.

As long as we are in the world we shall have to do with worldly things. Nor does the Word of God prohibit any lawful use of worldly good or pursuit of worldly business. It is not the use but the abuse of the world which is forbidden. The divine rule is not to shun [illegible] but all [illegible] to the glory of God. [illegible] worldly business [illegible] that but the blue sky of heaven. But every one who has had his experience has been disappointed. For when he has attained the [illegible] other [illegible] found that it [illegible] the Lord.

There may [illegible] Christian [illegible] that [illegible] is found by [illegible] Word. [illegible] the case. Society is [illegible] by [illegible] not [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLIV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 18, 1895 NO. 47.

Poetry.

A Prayer for Rest.

I hear the hills the wind is sharp and cold,
The west young grasses wither on the wold,
And we, O Lord, have wandered from thy fold,
But evening brings us home.

Among the mists we stumble, and the rocks,
When the brown lichens whiten and the fox
Watches the straggler from the scattered flocks,
But evening brings us home.

The sharp thorns prick us, and our tender feet
Are cut and bleeding, and the lambs repeat
This pitiful complaint: Oh, rest is sweet
When evening brings us home!

The darkness gathers. Through the gloom no star
Rises to guide us. We have wandered far.
Without thy lamp we know not where we are.
At evening bring us home.

We have been wounded by the hunter's darts,
Our eyes are very heavy, and our hearts
Search for thy coming. When the light departs
At evening, bring us home.

The clouds are round us, and the snow drifts thicken.
O thou dear Shepherd, leave us not to sicken.
In the wide night our lonely footsteps quicken.
At evening bring us home.

Original.

Prophecy.

Ever since the days of Peter the Great, it has been the ambition of the Russian government to get possession of Constantinople, which would give it control of the Bosporus and would very soon enable her to get control of the commerce of the Mediterranean Sea with all that that means. She would in time get control of the East India trade which England now has.

The first great move which Russia made toward accomplishing her purpose, was the dismemberment of Poland.

The second was the Crimean war, which was terminated in 1856. This was a war for the subjugation of the whole of the Turkish Empire. There was no sufficient cause for this war. It was simply inaugurated by Russia for the purpose of overthrowing the Turkish Empire and appropriating to itself the territory embraced within that Empire. It was a war of conquest. After the war had proceeded far enough, so that it became apparent that the Turkish government could not successfully contend against the armies of Russia, England to prevent the Turkish government from being overthrown by Russia, resolved to assist Turkey, and having persuaded the government of France to assist her, in the undertaking, the two countries sailed their war ships into the Crimean Sea, and at once attacked the Russian forces. The war from that time became known as the "Crimean war." After a bloody conflict the Russians were defeated and compelled to retire to their own country.

The next great effort was the late Turko-Russian war. In this war Turkey was allowed to contend with the Russian Bear, single handed and alone. Russia was greatly her superior on the battle field and within a comparatively short time, drove the army of Turkey back until the Russian army was within fifteen miles of the city of Constantinople, and could have marched her army into that city within a few hours and taken possession of it in spite of all the nations of the world. "The dream of Russia is is about to be realized." So said statesmen and diplomats and so thought Russia. "England has sinned away her day of grace, and Russia will get possession of Constantinople in spite of fate". So spoke wiseacres and newspapers of the world. But it was not to be. Man proposes but God disposes.

Lord Beaconsfield, who was at that time premier of the English government, (he was a Jew, England was, and is, and is to be, the defender of the Jews.)

After the Russian army was near Constantinople, as said before, and while it was laying there with no apparent reason why it should not march into that city and take possession of it, Lord Beaconsfield as Premier of England, visited the city of Berlin and induced the German government to call a conference of nations to take action relative to the invasion of Turkey by Russia. The conference was called, and what is known as the "Berlin Conference" was held, which decided that there was no sufficient reason for the invasion of Tukey by Russia. The conference therefore decreed that Russia should withdraw her armies and retire from Turkey, leaving Turkey in the same condition she was in before the commencement of the war. This decree was enforced and Russia was compelled to give up all she had gained by the war. Thus England by a stroke of diplomacy accomplished what she probably could have done by the sword. The time had not then come for the great prophetic contest. When it does come, although England and those who will follow her lead, will have an immense army and a mighty navy she will be defeated. Thus far England has been victorious over Russia in every contest, but the time is coming when she will not be victorious.

After Lord Beaconsfield had succeeded in having the Berlin Conference called, but before it was held, he visited the Turkish government, in the interest of Great Britian, and entered into a secret treaty with the Turkish government whereby Turkey ceded to England the island of Cyprus. This was done in consideration of England, through the intervention of the Berlin Conference forcing Russia to withdraw her armies from Turkish territory. The Island of Cyprus is the largest island in the Mediterranean Sea, and is of great value to England, as it can be used in time of war, as a depot for military supplies.

The next move on the chessboard was made by England in 1882, with a view of getting control of Egypt. It is fresh in all our minds, that England in 1882, bombarded the city of Alexandria, in Egypt, because she said she wanted to land her soldiers for the purpose of putting down an insurrection that then existed in the Egyptian government. The bombardment was kept up until the authorities were compelled to permit the English troops to be landed, which was done and they were marched against the insurrectionists who were compelled to surrender and lay down their arms. But England did not withdraw and leave the Egyptian government in statusquo, but remained in practical control of that government and she is still in control of it.

About this time England, first by force, and later by purchasing a majority of the stock, secured the control of the Suez Ship Canal.

It must be borne in mind that England and Russia, are and have been from the first, the great leaders, one arrayed against the other, in the great contest for the possession of the Bosphorus and all that includes. Russia has one ambition, that is to overthrow the Turkish Empire and add the territory embraced within its boundaries, to the immense possession already belonging to the Bear of the North. When Napoleon was languishing on the Island of St. Helena, in 1815, he said to Governor Hudson, "In the natural course of events, Turkey must fall to Russia. The greatest part of her people are Greeks, who, you may say, are Russians. The powers it will injureare England, France, Austria and Prussia. As to Austria it will be very easy for Russia to engage her assistance by giving her Servia and other provinces bordering upon the Austrian dominions reaching near Constantinople. The only hypothesis that France and England may be allied with sincerity will be in order to prevent this. But even this will not avail. France, England and Prussia united, cannot prevent it. Once mistress of Constantinople, Russia gets all the commerce of the Mediterranean, becomes a great naval power, and God knows then what may happen. She quarrels with you and marches off an army to India of seventy thousand good soldiers and one hundred thousand Cossacks, which to her is nothing, and England looses India. All this I forsaw. I wanted to establish a barrier against those barbarians, by re-establishing the kingdom of Poland, but you imbeciles of ministers would not consent. A hundred years hence I shall be praised, they will say I was right."

What is the present military resources of the different great European nations which will take part in this last great war? There are six of the European powers which are usually classed as great, viz: Great Britian, Germany, Russia, France, Italy and Austria-Hungary. Great Britian, notwithstanding the fact that her possessions reach around the globe is not a great power on land, but she is a great naval power. Her land forces on a peace footing is 300,000 excluding her native Indian troops. In case of war England could put a land force into the field of at least a million men. By calling on all her dependencies—"Young Isons"—she could muster out a larger force than that. She has more money than all other European powers put together and with the free use of it she could put a Navy into the conflict that would excell the navies of all the other European nations combined. France could put half a million men in the field in a weeks time. In an emergency she could put nearly four million men into the field. Italy in time of war could muster an effective army of about one million men.

By proclaiming a holy war Turkey could call into action at least five hundred thousand good and effective troops.

The Czar has the largest standing army there is in Europe. On a peace footing his army is 1,250,000 men. The war footing of his empire in Europe, not to mention his Asiatic provinces, is estimated at 4,000,000. The reserve which could be called out in case of an emergency, would increase the number to at least 5,000,000. This does not take into account the Asiatic provinces which give military service in lieu of taxes. This branch of the Russian army numbers 250,000 fighting men making the grand total 5,250,000 effective troops, which Russia can send to the front to fight her battles.

The grand-father of the present Emperor of Germany founded the magnificent German army, unquestionably the finest, though not the largest in Europe. Probably 5,000,000 Germans could be mustered in case of an emergency, every man of whom had seen at least one years service.

Austro-Hungary could put an effective army of not less than 2,100,000 men in the field.

Spain could muster at least 250,000 men.

Portugal, Holland, Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden and Norway could combined muster 75,000 men.

By recapitation we find the total land forces which the foregoing nations could put in the field to be as follows: England 1,000,000 men, Germany 5,000,000, France 4,000,000, Russia 5,250,000, Italy 1,000,000, Austro-Hungary 2,100,000, Turkey 500,000, Spain 250,000, Portugal and the other six small nations, 75,000. This makes a grand total of 19,175,000 effective soldiers. I have taken no account of the naval forces which these countries would bring into the conflict.

No argument is needed to show that this last great war is to be the most terrible that the world has ever known. We cannot conceive of the magnitute of these armies. A very large portion of these armies are now equipped and ready for duty.

Truly the outlook for the world is dark, but there is a silver lining to this cloud.

R. S. DWIGGINS.

Will You Obey?

A correspondent writes to me with regard to some Baptist people who have gained light on the doctrines of the kingdom and life through Christ, and consequently do not feel at home in their own Church, but wish to unite with the Church of God, without obeying the gospel; they regard the baptism received while professing a pagan faith as being valid.

If a person espouses a pagan faith (miss-named Christian) such an one is a pagan, and if baptized on the profession of such a faith, they are simply baptized pagans. A belief in Christ who engages to carry out the promises of a pagan faith, is not the Christ of the Bible. Him they never knew.

If a person should profess the Roman Catholic faith, he is a Catholic, and not a Unitarian, he could not be a Unitarian unless he makes a profession of the Unitarian faith, and unites with that society according to the requirements of that faith. No one would expect to be a Catholic and a Unitarian at the same time. If a person professes the Methodist faith, and conforms to the requirements of Methodism, he is a Methodist, and not a Mormon, he could not be both at the same time. If a person professes a pagan faith (immaterial immortal souls promised a sky-kingdom at death) he could not believe the Bible gospel faith (glad tidings concerning the coming Messianic reign on the throne of David, and life eternal through Christ) at the same time. A pagan faith cannot be substituted for a Bible faith, any more than a Catholic faith can be substituted for a Unitarian faith, although there is more similarity between the Unitarian faith and that of the Catholic, than there is between the Bible and the pagan faiths.

Christ said to his disciples: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned."

I would say to my correspondent, tell your Baptist friends, that Jesus says: "He that believeth (the gospel) and is baptized shall be saved," and not he who believes a pagan gospel and is baptized. He never will permit such a gospel to be substituted for "the gospel" he preached and commanded men to first believe, and then be baptized, if they would be saved. It is a piece of presumption to suppose he will accept of such an innovation. Those who persist in doing so, risk eternal life on a baseless presumption. Let me quote to you Gal. i. 6-10, as a positive Scripture evidence that the substitution of some other gospel for "the gospel" will never be permitted from either men or angels.

"There are some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we or an angel from heaven, should preach unto you any gospel other than that we preached unto you, let him be anathema. As we have said before, so say I now again. If any man preach unto you any gospel other than that which ye received, let him be anathema." There is not the least similarity between the gospel which promises a sky-kingdom for immortal souls, and the gospel preached by Jesus and his disciples. That heathen gospel is more than a perversion, that is another gospel entirely, which is borrowed from the pagans. You say this was the gospel your friends believed, when baptized, hence they stand in position of baptized believers of a false faith, which is branded with "anathema," and they will always stand in that relation, no matter what light they may have now, unless they go forward and be baptized on the confession of their faith in the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ."

It is a piece of dangerous presumption for any one to be guilty of setting aside God's heaven-given message of life,—the faith once delivered unto the saints, for which we are exhorted to contend earnestly for. Why this earnest contention for that faith? Because it is the way of life everlasting, and there being only one way, it is reasonable that we should be zealous in our efforts to maintain it in its purity, for the benefit of our fellows. It is passing strange to me how any one can persuade themselves that a baptism received while professing a false faith, will accomplish for them the same result as baptism received after coming to a knowledge of the gospel faith. There are so many who have discarded the pagan faith, and yet maintain with great warmth, that the baptism received while professing that heathen faith is valid. The fact is, however, like faith like baptism.

I would earnestly exhort these friends to cease deluding themselves. Time is too short to take risks with such momentous results at stake. There is nothing in the whole range of human experience so great and important as to secure a place in God's kingdom. Many of these persons in purchasing real estate leave no stone unturned in order to secure a clear title to their land, every cloud must be removed; yet seem content to leave a cloud upon their title to the kingdom. It is very inconsistent.

An unreserved and unquestioned obedience is the basic principle upon which God founds acceptance by him as his children. A half way obedience is counted as rebellion with him. This is illustrated in the case of Saul, whom God commanded: "Now go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy all that they have, and spare them not; but slay both man and woman, infant and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and ass." He went and smote the Amalekites, but took Agag, the king alive, along with the best of the sheep and of the oxen, and of the fatlings, and lambs. This half-way obedience displeased God, and he sent Samuel to tell him he should take his kingdom from him for this disobedience. When Saul and Samuel met, Saul said: "Blessed be thou of the Lord: I have performed the commandment of the Lord. Samuel said, what meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?" He explained that the people saved them to offer in sacrifice to the Lord. Samuel replied: "To obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry."

God is the same today. He commands obedience to the gospel, as a condition for the pardon of sin and salvation. To obey a false gospel and trust that God will count it as an obedience to the true gospel; and to stand before the people and like Saul say: "I have performed the commandment of the Lord," when you know you have not, for the reason you had no conception of the gospel of the kingdom at that time, cannot be acceptable to him. All who refuse obedience after learning it God would say to you: "Rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry."

He has told us just what he will do to those who stubbornly refuse to obey the gospel. Listen: "The Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." 2 Thess. i. 8.

I trust that all who have learned the true gospel will earnestly and lovingly obey it from the heart. A loving heart obedience is just as requisite as a correct knowledge. If love be absent, a faith strong enough to remove mountains will be of no avail. Let the love and peace of God rule and control every action of life.

W. H. WILSON.

Restitution.

"The grand and glorious doctrine of the restitution of all things which God has spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began" is the grand and final combination and realization of the blessed hope; when God's purposes now rolled up in the bud, will open out and fill the world with blessings most fragrant. Prophets of old were permitted by the eye of faith to look down through the dark misty ages of time, and see the good time coming, the times of restitution. Jesus and his apostles were also filled with delight in anticipation of that glorious era soon to dawn upon this sin cursed earth of ours. While many others that have learned of them, have also been enthused with the same spirit, and permitted to drink at the same heavenly fountain, enrapt in this grand vision of soon coming glory, have viewed the landscape and drawn many pen pictures for our father's children to feast upon and rejoice in hope of the glory of God. And yet, notwithstanding the scene is most glorious to behold, there is danger in our minds being wrought upon so freely that our imagination oversteps the bounds of reason and revelation, and we are thus led to the conclusion that restitution will fix it all up in great style for us and our friends regardless of Gods promises and our actions. And although the times of restitution be grand and lovely to contemplate, yet there is a practical side to it that might be very profitable for us to study well, and learn to practice in this life, that we may be counted worthy to share in the glorious restitution age. We must be so transformed and renewed in both soul, body and spirit in this life that our lives are in harmony with God's will to that extent, that, we live honestly and uprightly before God and man. And that we do unto others as we would be done by. If we have wronged any one in word or deed, we must make restitution if it be possible. We must live and practice restitution here, and make it a prominent part of our religion, and our very being, or we shall be unfit for a position hereafter in the world to come. Yea, we must not harbour envy that monster mischief-maker, that is worse than wrath and more outrageous than anger," but slay him as a mad dog. Think you, that we can live and act, and talk as sinful flesh would dictate, and go dragging along through this world a disgrace to the cause we profess, and to society, by wronging our brothers or our neighbor out of his just dues in word or deed, under the flimsy excuse "I can't do otherwise," and then imagine that God will do for us what he required us to do, make us honest and honorable, and clean ever whit and give us an exalted position in the restitution age. I tell ye nay, nay, but except ye repent ye shall all perish likewise.

T. E. ADAMS.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

Selected.

Onia, Sacred Stone of the Oneidas.

The Oneida Historical Society of Philadelphia has been making efforts to secure as the corner-stone of its new building now in course of erection in that city the sacred stone of the Oneidas. These endeavors bring to public attention a curious feature of the Indian history.

The Oneidas were one of the confederation of the Five Nations. Their great claim to distinction beyond all other tribes was the great bowlder—the sacred stone. This was the fetich of the tribe; they looked on it with the utmost veneration, and esteemed it as possessing divine and magical virtues. So great was their reverence that they could not endure any separation from it, and in consequence wherever they went they moved with them their famous rock, as the most important as well as the most cumbersome article of their impediments. The stone served them as a sacrificial altar, and before and about it the great rites of their religion were performed. The ceremonial feasts which were held in commemoration of their dead were eaten on the open place that surrounded the holy stone, and the sachems kindled the illuminating flames beside it when they gathered about the council of fire to discuss the weighty matters of Indian policy and action. Its inspiration was sought as well for the fierce frenzies of the war dances, when the braves sought to rival in the furies of physical contortions in the fervor of their wild passions.

The other tribes referred to the Oneidas as the people of the stone and the stone itself was called onia, or oinota, the real significance of which is the man born of a stone.

After the Oneidas joined the confederation of the Five Nations, the stone stood on the crest of a foothill on the borders of the Oneida Creek Valley. There it remained for many moons, the sole remnant of the Oneidas, for its devotees had gone to hunting grounds where they could not bear with them their beloved rock.

Make a Business of it.

'What church do you attend?' was asked of a bright, attractive young fellow, doing business in one of our large cities. 'Oh, I just run round,' he answered gaily. 'I don't understand the difference between the churches; in fact, there is a great deal in the Bible itself that I do not understand, and, until I do, of course I can't join any church.' 'How many hours a day do you spend studying this matter?' asked his questioner. 'Hours?' he he repeated in surprise. 'Well, then minutes!' The young man was dumb. 'Ah,' said his companion, with patient sadness, 'not one! If you thought a knowledge of geology necessary to your success in life—or astronomy, or shorthand, you would not think of spending less than one hour of a day in its study, perhaps two, perhaps three; and you would not expect to know or understand it without that exertion. But the knowledge of God, of Jesus Christ, of salvation—the highest and deepest of all knowledge—you sit around and wait for, as if it would come like a flash of lightning!'—Monthly Messenger, Newark, N. J.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Members of the C. P. Association.
E. JONES, Corresponding Editor.
PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DEC. 18, 1895.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

WE WANT YOU TO

Sit right down now and write a short letter for our "Christmas Number." The letters are coming in fast, but we urge all to send. Don't write long—but as Brother Duggins suggests, short and to the point. Don't wait till tomorrow, but hurry your's in right now.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, bring your ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

ON the last day of Mr. Joseph Jefferson, the comedian's engagement in Cleveland recently, he received a letter from Ithaca, New York, where he is to play shortly. The letter was from a minister of that city, inviting him to speak from his pulpit on the Sunday following his engagement. The comedian had a better sense of propriety than the minister, and politely declined the invitation. •

READER, are you one who has taken upon you the sin-covering name of Jesus? If so, ye are not your own. Your time, talent, intellect, means, all belong to God and Christ. Did you ever seriously ponder over the question, "Am I robbing God, in any way?" Israel as a nation robbed God (Mal. iii. 8, 9,) and he told them they were cursed for it; but he enjoins them to return to him, and he will return to them, tells them to come back to the observance of his ordinances, and bring their tithes into the storehouse and prove him now herewith, if he will not open the windows of heaven and pour out a blessing that there shall not be room to receive it. Reader, he also says. "I change not." Will you prove him? •

THE Christian Endeavor Society of Cleveland, set apart Thanksgiving day to pray to God to convert the infidel Robert G. Ingersoll. Many comments were made concerning the undertaking, by different ministers of the churches, but the one that struck us was by D. O. Mears, of Calvary Presbyterian Church of Cleveland. He says: "My opinion is that God can't convert the devil unless there is a change in the devil. The supposition that God can do what he pleases irrespective of human choice is unscriptural. If God is to save men by force regardless of their choice and will, he simply treats them as though they were insane. The prayer for Mr. Ingersoll can never save him until he puts himself in a new attitude before God. If God can save Mr. Ingersoll by force and does not save him, God is responsible for sin."

BIBLE readers must have noticed the striking manner in which the Christians hope is associated with the resurrection of the dead. And yet in popular thought the resurrection is rendered quite a secondary consideration by the idea that man is an immortal spirit, who at death leaves the body behind, and goes to his reward in heaven, or to punishment in hell. According to the Scriptures, man, though possessing body, (the physical frame), soul, (animal life) and spirit, (intelligence) is altogether mortal. "Shall mortal man be more just than God? is the question (chap. iv. 17) "Cease ye from man whose breath is in his nostrils," Isa. ii. 22. When a man dies, he is (apart from God's purpose to raise up some from the dead) done with, and returns again to the dust from whence he came. "The dead," says Solomon, "know not anything." Eccl. ix. 5. They are asleep. This is the doctrine of both the Old and the New Testament. It is promised in Daniel that "many that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life and some to shame and everlasting contempt. This is a change from mortality to immortality. See also, 1 Thess. iv. 15; 1 Cor. xv. 51. •

Laborers in Words and Doctrine.

Those who undertake to feed the flock of God, may take a practical hint from those nurses who first put food for infants into their into their own mouths, and prepare it for their charge. They should first receive and assimilate the word of the spirit, and then it comes warm from a warm heart and is likely to do good. What burning words we find for co-workers for God in 2 Cor. vi. 3, 10. "Giving no offence in any thing, that the service be not blamed: but in all things approving ourselves as the servants of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labors, in watchings, in fastings; by pureness, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Spirit, by love unfeigned, by the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armor of righteousness on the right hand and on the left; by honor and dishonor, by evil report, and good report, as deceivers and yet true; as unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and behold we live; as chastened and not killed; as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing, as poor, yet making rich, as having nothing, and yet possessing all things." Well might we say, who is sufficient for these things? from one point of view; but from another "We can do all things through Christ which strengthens us." •

Foreign News Items.

London, Dec. 2.—The Central News correspondent in Vienna says that a report is in circulation there that a projectile was thrown at the Czar in St. Petersburg today. The missile grazed His Majesty's cloak and fell harmlessly to the ground. No one was injured.

The report says that 14 arrests have been made in connection with the affair. Confirmation of the statement is lacking.

London, Dec. 7.—The Chronicle publishes a dispatch from Paris, stating that a dispatch received in that city from Constantinople states that sailors from the guardships Cockatrice and Imogene have been landed to protect the British Embassy.

A dispatch to the Central News says that the Sultan has decided to consent to each of the powers having a second guardship at Constantinople.

THREE PROTESTANT MARTYRS.

Constantinople, Dec. 7.—Advices have been received from Harpoot by the representative of the United Press showing that three Protestant pastors, Rev. Mr. Tonzarian, at Ichmach; Rev. Mr. Kriker, at Kossi, and Rev. Mr. Absesian and wife, at Hesenik, have been murdered for refusing to abjure their faith and embrace Islamism.

The fact that Said Pasha has sought refuge at the British Embassy, has caused a great sensation in all circles, and is a general topic of conversation. It is impossible to forsee the outcome, but the fact of a native statesman of the highest rank, seeking an asylum in a foreign Embassy is recognized everywhere as indicating an extremely critical situation, which, it is believed, may become a turning point in Turkey's history.

Vienna, Dec. 10.—It is announced here upon semi-official authority from Constantinople that the Sultan signed the firman for the admission through the Dardanelles of the additional guardships demanded by the powers.

London, Dec. 11.—A dispatch addressed to the Associated Press and signed by a number of Armenians of Constantinople has been received here. It says:

"Armenia is at her last gasp. The work of extermination continues. The number of people massacred reaches 100,000, and a half million of survivors have taken refuge in the forests and mountains, where they are feeding on herbs and roots. Hunger and cold has begun to make great ravages against them. In the name of humanity and Christianity, save us."

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." Chicago.—No. 1.

In fulfillment of our promise in last week's RESTITUTION, we now commence our reply to "The Christian Oracle," which, by the way, we regard as a misnomer, "The Living Oracles" being the Christian Oracles, they ante-date that of Chicago. The proposition heading our list is:—That never but one gospel has been offered to man. To say otherwise would be to represent God as an experimenter in matters relating to the salvation of man, first trying one scheme and then another, and another and discarding them as they were found wanting. We say to the "Oracle," we serve no such God as that, but he who sees the end from the beginning, and knows what he wants, and makes what he wants, and as he wants it; and never fails to accomplish his purpose.

2. To have more than one gospel would mean that several different salvations were provided for the family of man, because faith in the thing promised is always exacted of man before he becomes an heir of it.

3. The first gospel to man after sinning was the promise that the woman's seed should bruise the serpent's head; and presuming that the "Oracle" will not deny that this was the remote promise of a Savior, and that nothing from that time to this has superceded that promise, and that the woman's seed referred was he whom the apostolic word says was made of a woman—Jesus,—if the "Oracle" deny none of three things, he must be ready to admit that the first promise contained the germ of all subsequent promises, so that when we read that Enoch the seventh from Adam prophesied of these things, saying, "Behold the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints to execute judgment upon all and to convince all that are ungodly," etc., we see that his faith had taken hold of promises [although not recorded] that formed the basis of apostolic hope, and in exact accord with Jesus' words when he takes his seat upon the throne of his glory on earth and invites all the faithful to share his power and glory with him, see Matt. xxv. 34, showing conclusively that the scheme devised at first is never to give place to another, but shall surely and fully accomplish the divine purpose.

4. The beginning and the end being the same scheme of redemption, of necessity, the intermediate links of God's revealed purpose will be of the same scheme. Hence, when we find Jehovah testing a man preparatory to his selection as the father of the race through whom all the families of the earth should be blessed, God had neither forgotten the promise of the woman's seed, nor changed his purpose in regard to it, but was taking a step toward the fulfillment of that first promise. And when God promised the land of Canaan to Abraham and that seed of his who is to bless all the families of the earth; see Gal. iii. 16, it was another step toward the fulfillment of the original promise of the woman's seed, and not the introduction of a new scheme of redemption. And when God swore to David that a Son of his should occupy his throne forever, in the land covenanted to Abraham and this one seed, it was not a new scheme, but a further development of the original purpose embodied in the promises of the woman's seed, and Abraham's seed, and shows what the land was promised for, viz., to be the territory proper of an everlasting Kingdom of God under a Son of David, who would be also a Son of God.

5. We are positively told in Gal. iii. 8, that the promise of God to Abraham was gospel to that patriarch.

6. We are positively told in Romans iv. 13 that the belief of that gospel promise constituted Abraham heir of the world.

7. We are positively told in Gal. iii. 13, 14, that Christ was made a curse for us, that the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles, through faith.

8. We are positively told in Gal. iii. 29, that "if we are Christ's, we are Abraham's seed, (faithwise, of course,) and heirs according to the promise," which constituted Abraham heir of the world.

In these four passages we have infallible proof that what was gospel to Abraham is gospel to us. And, as the belief of that gospel made Abraham heir of the world, the belief of that gospel by us will make us heirs of the world too, inasmuch as the death of Christ secured the blessing of Abraham for all believing Gentiles as above proven. This great truth lies right on the surface of both Old and New Testaments. Daniel vii. 18, 27, furnishes divine evidence that the destiny of God's saints is to possess the Kingdom of God "under the whole heaven," not above somewhere,—and as they are to possess it for ever, even for ever and ever, it would be rather difficult for our critical editor to prove that they will be for ever in two different places. The Kingdom is to be world-wide and everlasting; so that eternal life is wrapped up in the promise to Abraham that he should possess the earth, through faith.

With the earnest desire to show our critic a more excellent way than that formulated for him by Alexander Campbell, Walter Scott and others, we call his attention to the fact stated in Ephesians iv. 4, that there is only one hope of our calling. In the nature of things we must hope for what we believe in. And, as Paul says there is but one hope, it is safe to conclude that he possessed that one hope. What else could have induced him to suffer, as he did, the loss of all things usually held dear? Happily he tells us in Acts xxvi. 6, what hope he suffered for. Said he, as he stood before Agrippa, "And now I stand, and am judged [on trial] for the hope of the promise made of God unto our Father." This is divine evidence that he believed the same gospel that Abraham, Isaac and Jacob did, and of necessity cherished the same hope that they did. 2ndly, it is divine evidence that what was promised to the Father had never yet been fulfilled. 3rdly. That the coming of Christ and all his offices and work did not supercede the promise to them, but was only, as it were, a codicil to the original will,—the institution of a new and living way of attaining to the long promised blessing; it was no new gospel, but an addition to the old gospel. We confidently affirm that this is God's truth in the premises, because Paul believed in, hoped for what Abraham believed in and hoped for, after the death, resurrection and ascension of Christ.

9th. We are positively told in Rom. iv. 16, that the promise that Abraham should be heir of the world is sure to all who believe what Abraham did. This is commonsense, as well as Bible; for, if Abraham is father of the faithful, his children will as surely have the faith of their father, as do natural children the skin of their parents. How could Abraham beget a child (faith-wise) to a hope of heaven above the skies, when he himself hoped for an after inheritance of the land he then lived in as a stranger, when it should be an heavenly country? See Heb. ii. 8.

If our critical editor has a hope of heaven above the skies, that will be called evidence that he believes in heaven, and thinks he has reason to hope for it, but his church used to take people to task for saying they believed, when they had no evidence; and put down all such as opinions. Will he kindly cite us to the chapter and verse where we can find the gospel of heaven above that his hope sprang out of? If not, we will be obliged to call it an opinion, merely; and maintain that he neither believes the gospel preached before or after Pentecost. •

(To be Continued.)

The Christmas Number.

To make the Christmas number more effective, we must get it into the hands of the people who will read it and profit by it. It is not enough that the regular readers of THE RESTITUTION see it. Let us make a great effort to bring the truth to the people. I suggest that we each take five extra copies of the paper and send them to our friends, with a request that they read them and pass them to their friends, and in that way many may read and be benefitted. I know full well, that we all want to make one effort to convert our unconverted friends. We want to convince them that "Jesus is coming again." The papers only cost five cents each. Five will only cost twenty five cents. Let us each one invest twenty five cents in the medicine that will help to change our friends from mortality to immortality. That will bring them from darkness into light. From worshiping satan to worshiping God. That will make them new creatures in Christ Jesus. May God help us to so work, in the few days that are left, that we may accomplish some good in his name, and bring some helpless one into the fold, is my prayer.

R. S. DUGGINS.

REPORT.

Editor Restitution:

Bro. Henry T. Baker preached a second sermon at Decorah, Iowa, on Tuesday last in the Baptist Church, by request. The room was full; and for half an hour the congregation, composed of people of various denominations, listened attentively while he faithfully opened up the Scriptures on "The Kingdom of God—What? When? and for whom?"

Bible truth on this and kindred doctrines has not been preached here for many a year, though it is believed that the minds of not a few of the reading and thinking portion have been somewhat prepared by the distribution of Scriptural literature. It is, however, difficult to induce people with long-standing denominational attachments to sever them and stand forth as witnesses to the truth. Let us sow the seed and pray to God to "give the increase."

W. T. B.

Avail yourself of the opportunity to visit your friends while Holiday Rates are in effect between all stations between Buffalo and Chicago on the line of the Nickel Plate Road. Tickets on sale Dec. 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and Jan. 1st, 1896.

God's goodness should never be forgotten. In dark hours, and under strong temptation, remembrance of it will be a source of strength.

Santa Claus,

Has induced the Nickel Plate Road to sell excursion tickets at low rates to all points on the line between Buffalo and Chicago, Dec. 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and Jan. 1st, 1896.

Selected.

A Song.

Through broken reeds murmurs the evening breeze,
Unfinished songs the wind sings in the trees,
The forest dreams a tuneless melody,
The brooklet sprites in wordless harmony,
And broken chords of unsung music fly,
Over mead and heather, mountain, sea and sky.

But over all, framed the scattered notes
The perfect anthem of Creation floats;
Each fragment and each broken cloud part,
Of that sweet song at nature's cradle conned,
That comes a dream, unto the ear attuned.

So over all the world of hopes and fears,
Half-uttered sighs, and dreams of unshed tears,
Of broken hearts that sing their songs of pain,
Of silent sorrow's rhythmless refrain,
Of vain regrets, of hopes all unfulfilled,
And deathless lives in death's swift chill stilled,

There floats a dream of endless melody,
The angel-evidence of eternity.
For murmurs and rejoicings are but parts
Of God's great anthem played on human hearts;
Each heart a note of joy or pain,
God is the song and man is its refrain.

A Thought of the Past.

Right in the heart of the city,
Where the rush and the noise never cease,
Lies the old graveyard in silence
God's acre, a token of peace.

Its moss-grown headstones are telling
Their stories of long ago;
Of hearts that are silent forever,
And how all things perish below.

And I stop as I read and ponder,
'Mid the noise and bustle and hum,
On the days that have gone by forever,
On the days that are now and that come;

And of how, mid the rush and the turmoil
Of the weary, the labor-fraught way,
Lie the thoughts of forgotten sorrows
That have died "ere yesterday."

Which God in his mercy has buried.
When all of the battles were fought,
And we write upon memory's headstones,
The lessons of hope which they taught.

"Thank God for His merciful kindness,"
My heart in its gratitude said,
"'Mid the cares and the thoughts of to-morrow,
For the thoughts of the past that are dead."

[Selected by Lydia Chaplin.]

Now is the Time to Make Others Happy.

One little rosebud will do more to cheer the living than a car load of flowers can do for the dead.

One smile upon a living face is better than a hundred tears over it after death.

One kind word will bring a flush of joy to a living face, but a thousand cannot change the pallor of a dead one.

One little word of praise to the living will do him more good than a eulogistic sermon after death.

Many sought the dead Jesus with sweet spices, but only one anointed the living Christ with precious ointment.

Many wept at the feet of a crucified Savior, but only one bathed his feet with tears while living.

Loads of flowers follow the dead to the grave which should have strewn their pathway in life.

"Little deeds of kindness,
Little words of love
Make this world an Eden
Like the heaven above."

Mother are you ever vexed at the prints of little greasy fingers on the newly washed window pane?

"If we knew the baby fingers,
Pressed against the window pane,
Would be cold and still to-morrow,
Never trouble us again.

Would the bright eyes of our darling
Catch the frown upon the brow,
Would the prints of rosy fingers
Vex us then as they do now!

Ah! these little ice-cold fingers,
How they point our memories back
To the hasty words and actions
Strewn along our backward track.

How these little hands remind us
As in snowy grave they lie,
Not to scatter thorns, but roses,
For our reaping by and by."

Oh! beloved reader, can we put the above sentiment into daily practice?

Shall our lives be filled with smiles instead of frowns, with roses instead of thorns?

Shall we sow the precious wheat of kindness and reap immortal sheaves, or shall we sow tares of evil words and reap thistles of rumor?

Have you anything good to say of me? say it today. Have you a smile for me? give it today. Have you a hearty hand grasp for me? let me feel it before my hand is cold in death. Have you a tear of sympathy to mingle with mine? let it fall today.

Would you brush away the sweat from the weary toiler's brow? then brush it away while it is warm with life and wait not until it stands out in cold drops upon the lifeless brow. Have you a rose of sweet perfume for me? pin it on my coat instead of my shroud. Would you place within my casket beneath my senseless head a downy pillow? place it beneath my tired throbbing head today. Would you make a smooth path over which to bear the lifeless form of your father, mother, sister, brother, husband, wife, child or friend to the cold and silent grave? then make it smooth for their weary feet today. Would you be gentle and kind to a dead enemy? be kind and gentle to him today. Would you speak harshly of him? Would you give him a blow? Would you seek to injure his character when he was in the cold embrace of death? Then do it not today. Be kind to friends and foes. Shed rays of sunshine and joy wherever you go.

"There are lonely hearts to cherish,
While the days are going by.
There are weary souls who perish,
While the days are going by."

Egyptian Relics.

The Ironmonger, of London, says: 'One of the most interesting features of the annual conversazione of the Birmingham and Midland Institute was the almost unique collection of ancient Egyptian relics owned by Mr. Petrie, the eminent Egyptologist. The collection comprise articles of domestic use, and ranged, in point of age, from 150 to 4,000 years B. C. Two toys—a tip-cat and a peg-top—each 5,000 years old, were in shape and style just like those of present-day use. A bronze water-tap, 2,000 years old, was well made, and as perfect in design as any modern plumber could make it. A copper fish-hook, 5,000 years old, was a pattern still made in Redditch; and a fragment of a copper saw, 6,000 years old, was described as the oldest piece of wrought metal work in the world. A steelyard, with hooks like those in present day use, was 4,000 years old. "There is nothing new under the sun," said Solomon, and the test is as true today as when it was uttered by the good king in the childhood of the world. "beneath the solemn Syrian cedars."

Was it You?

There was somebody who said an unkind word which hurt somebody else. Was it you?

There was somebody who was thoughtless and selfish in her manner and mode of living. Was it you?

There was somebody who harshly criticised the actions of somebody else. Was it you?

There was somebody who found nothing but fault in the belongings of her friend. Was it you?

There was somebody who borrowed a book and kept it for months. Was it you?

There was somebody who never stopped to think who was hurt by the sarcastic word. Was it you?

There was somebody who, day in and day out, never did anything to make anybody else happy. Was it you?

I hope you can answer 'No' to every one of these questions; but if you cannot, and are forced to drop your head because you know you are guilty, then resolve that the next time the accusation is made, and the question asked, you can say with truth: 'It was not I.'

May the constraining memories of the Cross of Christ, and that great love wherewith he loved us, be so in us that we may pass that love on to those who are perishing. "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor," and we hear his voice tonight ringing down through ages of selfishness and luxury and neglected duty, solemnly declaring that the measure of our love for our brethren must be nothing less than the measure of his own.—Mrs. Isabella Bishop.

POETRY.

I Shall not Pass Again this Way.

The bread that bringeth strength I want to give.
The water pure that bids the thirsty live;
I want to help the fainting day by day:
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give the oil of joy for tears,
The faith to conquer crowding doubts and fears;
Heal, for ashes, many I give always—
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give good measure running over,
And into angry hearts I want to pour
The answer soft that turneth wrath away
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

I want to give to others hope and faith;
I want to do all that the Master saith;
I want to live aright from day to day
"I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

Distant Things.

How white is the sail in the Faraway
And dirty the sail at the dock;

thy throne during the animate-age.

13. Because the Lord hath chosen out Sion; he hath preferred it for his own dwelling-place.

14. It is my final-rest (katapausis) unto an animate-age. Here will I dwell, because I have preferred it.

15. Blessing will I bless the booty thereof; the beggars thereof will I full-feed with bread;

16. The priests thereof will I clothe with an undergarment of salvation, and the holy ones thereof will be glad with gladness.

17. There will I make the horn of David to spring out and up; there have I made ready a lamp for mine Anointed (Christ).

18. His enemies will I clothe with shame for an under-garment. Upon him will my sanctification flower out.

PSALM 132 (133 COM. VER.)

1. An ode of the steps upward. Lo, forsooth what is good or delightful other than for brethren to dwell together?

2. Like myhrr upon the head, that goeth down upon the beard, the beard of Aaron, that goeth down upon the hem of his under-the glory for all our victories over sin and sinners—the ultimate discomfiture of all our enemies also.

The eleventh is "the cry from out the depths" of trial and tribulation and the accompanying appropriate prayer.

The twelfth emphasizes the importance of constant "humility" and dependence on the Lord.

The thirteenth is an "in memoriam" of David and his vows of good purpose, as the representative of "David's greater Son," with a prayer of reminder to the Lord to fulfill his promises to David.

The fourteenth emphasizes "the unity of brethren" and its importance as a factor in the divine plan and purpose.

The fifteenth is an exhortation to all "the bond-servants" (all Christians) of the Lord "to lift up their hands unto" and "to commend" (not "bless") the Lord. The old formula was "Give God the glory."

Of course this divine double-octave scale can be recombined in as many character-tunes as the divine spiritual genius may inspire and natural harmony does but analogously illustrate it. However varied though and whatever "the about, and all that the prophets have written are founded on love, love of God and love to man.

The Jews in the time of our Savior had many of them come to think it was right to avenge themselves.

They quoted the words "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," just as if each man had the right to pay back any injury that another man might do to him.

But God never gave us any such right, for see here what he says. "Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart," neither shalt thou avenge nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Lev. xix. 17, 18. "Be reconciled to thy brother and then come and offer thy gift." Matt. v. 23, 24. If a brother has any just cause for grievance against us, God will not accept our gifts nor our prayers, until all is made right.

The law, is the same in both the Old and the New Testaments, about hating other people in our hearts. It is God's eye, searching us through and through. God knows that the mean acts we do, are the result of the thoughts we he who bade us reverence them. We cannot worship God and be accepted of him, if we revile our parents.

If two men get to quarreling, and one hurts the other with a stone or with his fist, what then? The man that hurt the other man must pay for the loss of his time and must see that he is made well, 18, and 19, verses.

If the wife of a man who is quarreling with another, gets hurt, the other man must pay what the woman's husband and the judges lay upon him, if she dies, life must pay for life.

God has taken care that we be safe from the attacks of murderous men, he takes just as good care that we be protected from the attacks of vicious animals.

If an ox killed a man when the owner did not know it was dangerous, nothing could be done with him, but the ox was killed and its flesh was thrown away. But if the owner had been told that it was pushing with its horns, and did not keep it up, and it killed some man, or woman, or child, then both the ox and the man could be put to death.

But in this case the man might

Matt. xxiv. 6, And again: "When ye shall hear of wars and commotions be not terrified." Luke, xxi. and 9.

No, dear ones, we have no cause of fear. The world belongs to the Christ, and his faithful followers.

It is now in the hands of wicked men and they fight with jealous greed for its possession, but they can possess it only until he whose right it is shall come. Oh how careful we should be in these perilous times, that the spirit of the world, enter not into our hearts, and crowd the love of Christ out. These are the beginning of the things that should cause us to look up, and to lift up our heads, for our redemption draweth nigh.

"We are living, we are dwelling
In a grand and awful time,
In an age on ages telling,
To be living is sublime.

J. H. WILLEY.

EASTERN QUESTION.

Advices from Beyrout to a London paper says that Syria and Palestine are overrun with Turkish troops, and that these troops bear the green flag of their great prophet, Mohammed, instead of the Turkish flag.

The green flag of the prophet

OBITUARY.

Died, at her home in Clarno, Wis., Sister Stahl who was born February, 7, 1823, and died Oct. 2, 1895, Aged 72 years, 7 months, and 25 days. Funeral services at the Evangelical church at Clarno. She leaves a husband and two children to mourn her loss. But we sorrow not as those who have no hope, for if we believe that Jesus died and rose again even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. She was a firm believer in in the gospel of the kingdom.

PETER STAHL.

Death has again entered our family circle, and robbed us of our dear sister, Mary Augusta, wife of our beloved brother A. D. Eshelman, on Nov. 23, 1895, in West Seattle, Wash. Her death came to us very unexpectedly, although we knew she was threatened with diabetis, which is a serious and oftentimes fatal disease, yet she was feeling so much better, and as her physician greatly encouraged her, we had no reason to think there was cause for immediate alarm. She went to Seattle to visit a friend just two days before, and as the pleasant weather

Selected.

The Lotus.

There is a tree within the lands that lie
Beneath the arch of Oriental sky,
Whose honeyed fruit will lull the captive sense
Into a charmed and deadly indolence,
Till all the toiling world will seem as naught
That is not compassed in the dreamer's thought.

A lotus-tree there is in life, whereof
The fruit is sweet and infinite sickness.
Pluck not, nor taste! lest of the Virtues three Thou shouldst forget the greatest—Charity.

Clinton Scollard.

Turkey.

The St. Louis Christian Advocate says: "Turkey has not advanced one step since the time when Mahomet II. stormed the walls of Constantinople and entered the city through the breach. The same absolutism prevails in the capital of the Turkish Empire today as prevailed in Bagdad in the time of the caliphs. Sultan Abdulazez is as absolute as Haroun-Al-Raschid. He lops off heads at his pleasure, and with scarcely even the formality of a trial, sends men by the dozen to their death. It is strange that such a state of things can prevail in any part of Europe, but that it does is uncontroverted, nor will matters improve until the name of Turkey and the Ottoman Empire has been blotted from the map.

"The Turkish Empire of to-day is the modern counterpart of the Persian Empire of ancient times. A distinguished historian said of Persia that it was a blotch, a sore, an ulcer on creation's face, and it is a singular fact, that of all the nations conquered by the ancient Persians, not one has ever raised its head. With the Turkish Empire it has been different, for whether the march of civilization has stimulated even the lower classes within the Turkish dominions, or whether the people of modern times are of a different caste from those of ancient, it is certain that from one end to the other of the dominions of the Sultan all is restlessness and impatience of the palace control. The Sultan of Turkey governs a territory half as large as the United States, and sees less of it than the humblest donkey boy on the streets of Constantinople. The present Sultan has never left the boundaries of the palace grounds since he ascended the throne, and knows absolutely nothing of the condition of his people. A life so morbid would naturally engender suspicion, and the possession of absolute power would readily lead to its most savage execution, Turkey is a relic of by-gone ages, the Sultan is a reminder of the days when kings owned the earth. The very name of this ill-omened State ought to be expunged, and the sooner the territory composing it is divided up among surrounding nations, the better it will be for the happiness of the populations now under the Turkish yoke."

Cigar Butt Grubbers.

Do you care to know how they are made? I think I can enlighten you. An Italian boy only eight years old was brought before a justice in New York City as a vagrant, or in other words, young tramp. But with what did the officer charge him? Only with picking up cigar stumps from the streets and gutters. To prove this he showed a basketful of stumps, water-soaked and covered with mud.

"What do you do with these?" asked his honor.

"I sell them to a man for ten cents a pound to be used in making cigarettes."

In our large cities there are a great many "cigar butt grubbers," as they are called, boys and girls who scour the streets in search of half-burned cigars and stumps, which are then dried and sold to be used in making cigarettes.

These cigarettes have been analyzed, and physicians and chemists were surprised to find how much opium is put into them. A tobacconist himself says, "The extent to which drugs are used in cigarettes is appalling." "Havanna flavoring for this same purpose, is sold everywhere by the thousand barrels. This flavoring is made from the tonka bean, which contains a deadly poison. The wrappers, warranted to be rice paper, are sometimes made of common paper, and sometimes of filthy scrapings of rag-pickers, bleached white with arsenic.

A boy of thirteen came under the spell of cigarettes. He grew stupid and subject to nervous twichings, until finally he was obliged to give up his studies. When asked why he didn't throw away his miserable cigarettes, the poor boy replied with tears that he had often tried to do so, but could not.

Another boy of eleven was made crazy by cigarette smoking, and was taken to an insane asylum in Orange County, N. Y. He was regarded as a dangerous maniac, exhibiting some of the symptoms peculiar to hydrophobia.

The white spots on the tongue and inside the cheeks, called smoker's patches, are thought by Sir Morrell Mackenzie to be more common with users of cigarettes than with other smokers.—Sunday School Visitor.

Be Cheery.

Why should a person make himself a nuisance? What is there in grimness, and sourness, and unsociability? Few people care to to listen to whining and complaint. On the whole, the world uses us as well as we deserve. It is very hard for the defeated to admit this, but it is a fact nevertheless, and, if only admitted, one of the chief reasons for defeat is removed. A cheerful philosophy is an important element of success. He who is perpetually suspecting others of ill-treating him and keeping him down is not a welcome companion. Suspicion is usually folly, as well as injustice and unhappiness. Moreover, gladness is one of the great rules of health. To be well, be glad. To be content, be jolly. It is easy for the average man to hate or at least avoid, the unhappy. Nobody wants a death's head at his table. Nobody considers himself regaled when forced to listen to other people's wrongs and slights, most of them either imaginary or exaggerated by oversensitive conceit. Every man is of less importance to the world around him than he likes to think. But he can easily test it by asking how much he himself dwells upon the conditions of others. By as much as their grievances do not particularly concern him, by so much his own are matters of supreme indifference to them. So let him be pleasant, bury his sorrows, pocket his affronts, make himself agreeable, trust in Providence and thankfully take what comes. Zion's Herald.

Clergy Rate will Remain the Same.

The question of a change in railroad fare charged clergymen has been settled by the managing officers of railways in territory covered by the Central Traffic Association agreeing to continue to allow a rate of one and one-half cents per mile. For the coming year regularly accredited clergyman, who may be entitled to the same under the rules can, therefore, procure reduced rate tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh, same as during 1895. Plymouth, Ind., J. E. Hanes Agent.

The Nickel Plate Road maintains a perfect passenger service with sleepers and diners.—Jan. 1.

Holiday Excursions via Pennsylvania Lines.

On December 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and January 1, 1896, excursion tickets will be sold from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh to points on those lines, valid to return until January 2d, 1896. For details please apply to nearest Pennsylvania line ticket agent.

The Nickel Plate Road is the shortest line between Chicago and Buffalo.—Jan. 1.

"He that swells in prosperity will shrink in adversity."

The Nickel Plate Road operates a Dining and Sleeping Car service.—Jan. 1.

Hope in the promises of God is an anchor to the soul.

The Nickel Plate Road has through Sleeping Cars to Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston.—Jan. 1.

Great Reduction in Time to California.

Once more the North-Western Line has reduced the time of its trans-continental trains, and the journey from Chicago to California via this popular route is now made in the marvelously short time of three days. Palace Drawing-Room Sleeping cars leave Chicago daily, and run through to San Francisco and Los Angeles without change, and all meals en route are served in Dining cars. Daily Tourist Sleeping car service is also maintained by this line between Chicago and San Francisco and Los Angeles, completely equipped berths in upholstered Tourist Sleepers being furnished at a cost of only $6.00 each from Chicago to the Pacific Coast. Through trains leave Chicago for California at 6.00 p. m. and 10.30 p. m. daily after arrival of trains of connecting lines from the East and South. For detailed information concerning rates, routes, etc., apply to agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggoner, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Jan. 1.

Nickel Plate Road, Low Rates, and Perfect Service are all synonyms. A Through Sleeping Car Service between Chicago, Ft. Wayne, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston.—Jan. 1.

Holiday Excursions via Vandalia Line.

For the Holidays the Vandalia Line will sell excursion tickets at reduced rates from all stations to local points on the Vandalia Line, and also to points on connecting lines. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen. Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

NOTICE.

Index Rerum: A Ready Reference on Biblical Subjects, by R. C. Bingle is the title of a pamphlet of 68 pages containing texts of Scripture grouped under different headings, making it a very handy work in studying the Bible. Several editions have been sold, and the continued calls for it is evidence of its worth. In the back part is a large chart folded showing the duration of the kingdoms of men from the Babylonian Dynasty to the end of Gentile times. Price 15 cents, at this office. It is worth five times the price. Send for one or more.

Winter Resort Excursions,—California and the West, Florida and the South.

Low rate tickets now on sale via Pennsylvania Lines. Variable routes and ample return limit. For details apply to nearest ticket agent of the Pennsylvania Lines. The person to see at Plymouth, is Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes.

Facts Conclusive.

We expect your patronage because the Nickel Plate Road operates conveniently scheduled trains equipped with unexcelled dining cars and luxurious sleepers between Chicago, Cleveland, Erie, New York and Boston. Lowest rates.—Jan. 1.

Excursions South.

Three forms of excursion tickets to Atlanta account the Cotton States Exposition are for sale via Pennsylvania lines. One ticket is good returning twenty days from date of sale, another is good for return trip until January 7th, 1896, and a third good returning ten days. Twenty day tickets and those good to return until Jan. 7th may be obtained any time during the Exposition. The ten days' tickets will be sold only on Oct. 26th, Nov. 5th, 15th, and 25th, and Dec. 5th and 15th, at special low rates. The fare is exceptionally cheap. For details apply to nearest ticket agent of Pennsylvania Lines.

The Nickel Plate Road operates a perfect passenger service composed of first and second class day coaches attended by colored porters. Excellent Dining Cars and Through Sleeping Cars to Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston. Rates always the lowest.—Jan. 1.

Now is the time to make your plans for your winter California Trip. Ask agents on the Nickel Plate Road about low rates and connections with the fast California trains out of Chicago.—Jan. 1.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund is created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00

EXPENDITURE.

Previously used	$40.70

THE SPECIAL EVANGELIST FUND.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published,	$281.78
Mrs. M. L. Cherry	3.00

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by, Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	$300.27

Excursion Rates, Atlanta Exposition.

Round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., account the Exposition are now on sale via Pennsylvania Lines at reduced rates. Persons contemplating a trip to the South during the coming fall and winter will find it profitable to apply to Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines for details. The person to see at Plymouth, Ind., is Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 253 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 75 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts. per hundred.

Written and for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

California passengers should ask agents of the Nickel Plate Road for rates and connections before purchasing tickets elsewhere.—Jan. 1.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Readers. Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by Seventh Baptists, in 1660. 3. Immortality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion? 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages = 50 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

4 for 5c; 20 for 20c; 50 for 25c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and consideration of the two ages of these terms, to wit, a Theological and Bible one.

Can you Believe a series of questions on the same points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chase, 5 anley. The above is the title of a 3-page tract. Price 5c each; 15 for 50c, 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 64 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where Is It? What Is It? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Rock Creek Pa., July 28, 1878, by Jos. Lash. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 15 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 30 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land at the time of Moses, the time of Christ, and 40 other maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 768 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief Germinological sketch of the Jewes—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1, postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the readings of celebrated critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $3.50; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 175 pages, cloth bound, for 13 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 60 cents; 12 for $1.50; 50 for $5.00. Five to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 15cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 254, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okla.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
H. T. Baker, Decorah, Iowa.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH

No. 62, Ex. Sun.	12:14pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 58	7:31am	"
No. 64, ex. Sun.	9:05pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 61, Ex. Sun.	4:32am	For Terre Haute.
No. 55,	10:50pm	" "
No 57 ex. Sunday	7:27pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. Downs, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Ford,
Gen'l. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

Nickel Plate Road and Low rates are synonyms.—Jan. 1.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 638 Woodland Ave., Cleveland Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and strangers are cordially invited. Seats free. G. M. Jobin, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1548 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope. Green St. and Rising Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Kinsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 9:15 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. All are heartily welcome. Pastor resides at 901 Huntington Street.

The Seventh Church has changed its place of meeting. They occupy the Knights Hall, 50 1/2 on the corner of Maple, Walnut and Chilton A. Chase. They meet at 2:30 o'clock p. m. every Sunday. Visiting brethren at welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, Sabbath Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month. The Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Baptist church corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Tuesday evening. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Hills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R. going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. iles east thereof.

The Church of God in Frontier Co., Nebr., meets in the Cedar Grove Church. We have Union Sunday School every Sunday, and communion once a month as we have no regular preacher. Jason Welton Elder: Sarah S Heck Clerk.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at 10. Cheney's house at 10:30 a. m. followed by services at 11 a. m. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visiting eldest brother George Knife, Kneller, or E. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 3:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Siple, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jacobs. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grost, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, a. m.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Rennar Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 918 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening. Travelling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:00 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting at Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitcraft, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Mark E. Treadell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at S. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Maston and Sis. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. All Restitutionists every four weeks. Union meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother and Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Rabbit Creek is presided over by Bro L. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Rr.

Schedule of Passenger Trains, Sept. 29, 1895.

Westward.	No 1	No 3	No 5	No 7
Pittsburgh	1 00 pm	3 30 pm	8 00 pm	1 30 am
Allegheny	1 05	3 35	8 05	1 35
Crafton	1 09	3 39	8 09	1 39
Ingram	1 13	3 43	8 13	1 43
West Bridgewater	1 16	3 46	8 16	1 46
Sewickley	1 20	3 50	8 20	1 50
Economy	1 25	3 55	8 25	1 55
Rochester	1 29	3 59	8 29	1 59
Freedom	1 34	4 04	8 34	2 04
Beaver	1 39	4 09	8 39	2 09
New Brighton	1 45	4 15	8 45	2 15
Rochester Junction	1 49	4 19	8 49	2 19
Fallston	1 53	4 23	8 53	2 23
Homewood	1 57	4 27	8 57	2 27
Darlington	2 02	4 32	9 02	2 32
Enon	2 06	4 36	9 06	2 36
Wampum	2 10	4 40	9 10	2 40
Edinburg	2 15	4 45	9 15	2 45
New Castle Junction	2 20	4 50	9 20	2 50
New Castle	2 30	5 00	9 30	3 00
Mahoningtown	2 35	5 05	9 35	3 05
Newton	2 39	5 09	9 39	3 09
Bessemer	2 43	5 13	9 43	3 13
Wurtemburg	2 47	5 17	9 47	3 17
Hillsville	2 52	5 22	9 52	3 22
Pulaski	2 56	5 26	9 56	3 26
Greenville	3 00	5 30	10 00	3 30
Sharpsville	3 05	5 35	10 05	3 35
Sharon	3 10	5 40	10 10	3 40
Farrell	3 15	5 45	10 15	3 45
Wheatland	3 19	5 49	10 19	3 49
Sharpsburg	3 23	5 53	10 23	3 53
Etna	3 27	5 57	10 27	3 57
Millvale	3 31	6 01	10 31	4 01
Allegheny	3 35	6 05	10 35	4 05
Pittsburgh	3 45	6 15	10 45	4 15
	P M	P M	P M	A M

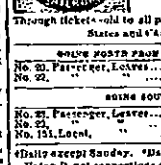
Eastward.	No 2	No 4	No 6	No 8
Chicago	10 00 am	10 00 pm	10 00 am	10 00 pm
Crestline	2 55	3 06	2 55	3 06
Galion	3 30	3 41	3 30	3 41
Bucyrus	3 39	3 50	3 39	3 50
Leesville	3 53	4 04	3 53	4 04
Crestline	4 05	4 16	4 05	4 16
Galion	4 30	4 41	4 30	4 41
Upper Sandusky	4 58	5 09	4 58	5 09
Carey	5 13	5 24	5 13	5 24
Fostoria	5 31	5 42	5 31	5 42
Findlay	5 45	5 56	5 45	5 56
Mt Blanchard	6 06	6 17	6 06	6 17
Arlington	6 13	6 24	6 13	6 24
Forest	6 22	6 33	6 22	6 33
Leipsic	6 32	6 43	6 32	6 43
Ottawa	6 45	6 56	6 45	6 56
Kalida	6 55	7 06	6 55	7 06
Pandora	7 00	7 11	7 00	7 11
Leipsic Junction	7 10	7 21	7 10	7 21
Van Wert	7 30	7 41	7 30	7 41
Convoy	7 45	7 56	7 45	7 56
Antwerp	7 55	8 06	7 55	8 06
Paulding	8 05	8 16	8 05	8 16
Junction	8 15	8 26	8 15	8 26
Fort Wayne	8 45	8 55	8 45	8 55
	A M	P M	A M	P M

JOSEPH WOOD, Gen'l Manager. E. A. FORD, Gen'l Pass'r Agt.

GEN'L OFFICES, PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent,
Plymouth, Ind.



Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 22, Passenger, Leaves		6:05a m
No. 22, "	"	12:40p m

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Passenger, Leaves		10:45a m
No. 23, "	"	3:10p m
No. 151, Local,	"	11:40p m

Daily except Sunday. Daily.

Union Depot connections at Washington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Pemberton, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains to and from Peoria, I. & M. Div. for all points north, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. R. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. Ry., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY,
Gen'l Pass. Agt.
Indianapolis, Ind.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R. R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12th and Clark sts.

Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.

Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local P
St Joseph				2:00p m
Hamond	10:23pm	9:07am		3:02p m
Hobart	10:51pm	9:44am		10:10p m
Valpar'o	11:15pm	10:07am		11:00p m
S Ann'n		10:21am		11:15p m
Knox	12:10am	11:00am	6:01pm	1:22a m
Argos	12:35am	11:42am		2:15a m
Ft Wayne	3:25am	2:50pm	6:25pm	4:25p m
Chey L'd	10:30 "	9:05pm	11:41pm
Dudale	4:25pm		3:05am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:00pm		5:35am	Local P
Cleveland	7:15pm	6:00am	10:15am	7:00a m
Ft Wayne	2:00 "	1:15pm	4:50p m	2:00p m
Argos	4:10am	3:22pm		5:00p m
Knox	4:50am	4:01pm	6:26pm	10:10p m
S Ann'n		4:47pm		11:25p m
Valpar'o	5:04am	4:55pm		12:17a m
Hobart	5:30 am	5:17pm		1:20a m
Hammond	6:34am	5:49pm		3:15a m
St Yelfield				4:10a m
Chicago	7:40am	7:00pm	9:00am

Trains leaving Chicago at 8.05 a.m., Cleveland at 6:40 a.m. and local freights do not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet sleeping cars. No charge for sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
B. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt.
Cleveland, O.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid, $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & Co., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Excursion to Atlanta, Ga.

Excursion tickets to the Cotton States and International Exposition, Atlanta, Ga., will be on sale at the Vandalia until Dec. 31, 1895. For further information call on or address the undersigned.

T. A. Downs, Ag'l.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. D. TEMPLETON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD.
WM. RAILSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50
Six Months - - .75
Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLIV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DECEMBER 25, 1895. NO. 48.

Poetry.

What 'tthe Night?

[illegible] called from his watch on Mount S[illegible]:
To the sentry on derision's height,
His accents of mockery filling the air:
"He watchman! what, what of the night?"

The watchers of Israel scarce look reply.
[illegible] saw th' Shekinah's bright light,
And the cloud of Jehovah rising on high,
[illegible] through the night.

"Do we not see both sun and moon to march the night?"
Hark, on the [illegible] hills, air,
[illegible] through [illegible]
[illegible] you, the myriad of the star?"

We will be on our watch-tower who stand on the height
Of prophesy: "Watchman, what of the night?
Angel of the passing away of the night?
Do the signs of His coming is night?"

"The night is [illegible] thousand years
Of night;"
The watchmen respond to our cries—
Shall the morn bring to us our life from on high?
Or night leave upon us its pall?

R. B. PRINCE.

Geneva, Ill., July 24, 1895.

Our Christmas Social Meeting.

Brother Dwiggins is the leader really of this meeting, but after once opening the service there has been such a hearty response by the brothers and sisters, old and young, that no prompting has been needed. While we write this 227 have taken part, and in grateful remembrance of the dear ones gone before, yet whose works do follow them, we have given place to poems from Brothers Choplin and Peirce, and, also reprinted some from Brothers Reed and Eychaner. These with the others written specially for this issue, we have endeavored to scatter throughout the paper, so as to break what might otherwise be monotonous, as songs do in other meetings. We thank you all for the kind interest taken in this "social," and we now invite you to write again, as often as you can, and we will thus have a love feast throughout the year. We have tried to do our part in this, and will still strive to struggle on yet a little while, for we too believe the time of the coming of the Lord draweth nigh. May we each prove faithful till death or till the Lord comes, and be ready for either event, earnestly desiring the latter.

Dear Restitution:

The measure of prophecy is full. The time is at hand. Jesus is coming. He is marshalling his angels preparatory to taking up his abode on the earth and establishing his kingdom in Jerusalem. The Lord hasten the day.

R. S. DWIGGINS.

Editor Restitution:

We are pleased with the thought of hearing from the loved ones of like precious faith. We must all work and live as the Scriptures direct us, and then we have a promise of a crown of life when our Savior comes to reign. Let us do all we can to spread the truth, and work for our paper, (THE RESTITUTION.) We believe our Savior is soon coming to set up his Kingdom on Mount Zion, on the earth. O let us all be ready to meet him when he comes. Pray for us that we may meet you all in that glorious Kingdom.

ROBERT & JANE RAILSBACK.

Dear Restitution:

I am one among those who are looking forth to the glorious era, when the kingdom of men will become the kingdom of our Lord and his Christ. Brethren, let us patiently wait and watch for our King. To them that look for him will he appear without sin unto salvation.

JOHN MICHAELS.

To the One Faith in Christ:

I have been a member of the Church of God for 20 years. I and my companion were baptized by Bro. Hatch, and ever since that time have seen no cause why we should turn to the right or left. But we shall expect to follow that straight and narrow way that leads to life, where we will meet in the Kingdom of God. I believe the time is almost here for the return of the Nobleman from the far country, Luke xix. 12. May the Lord soon come is my prayer.

Yours in hope,

S. T. HUCK.

Brothers and Sisters:

I am looking for the coming of the Lord and the Kingdom as propheciedby the prophets, Christ, and the apostles. I think the time is very near, for we see the nations gathering together to battle as predicted in Zech. xiv. 2, etc. Let us be on our watch so that day may not come on us as a thief in the night, but that we may be ready to meet him and hear the welcome: "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

A. DREW.

Editor Restitution:

Perhaps I may never have another or better time to speak to the people of my abiding faith in the promise of God, and of the return of his Son from heaven. I want to always have my "loins girt about with truth, and my lamps trimmed and burning," and be like those that are waiting for his return. I believe in God's word, not tradition. "He will stand in the latter days upon the earth!"

JAS. P. DAY.

Dear Restitution:

It is with pleasure that I can testify to the return of our Dear Lord and Savior who will come in the clouds of heaven to wake the sleeping dead and change the living and reign in righteousness. What a glorious time it will be when King Jesus reigns in mercy, all wrongs will be made right. His name shall endure forever his name shall be continued as long as the sun; and men shall be blessed in him, all nations shall call him blessed.

Yours in Hope,

MRS. A. OGAN.

Dear Restitution:

In reply to Bro. Dwiggin's request, I would say I strongly and firmly believe in the second and soon coming of Christ. My daily prayer is, "Come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

Your Sister in Hope.

MRS. J. P. JAEGER.

Dear Restitution:

I believe in the soon coming of our Lord and Savior. I pray the Lord to come, that his will may be done. I believe we are living in the latter days, when we should have on the wedding garment, looking and waiting for his second coming.

I am your Sister in Christ.

MARY E. COOPER.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am ready, waiting and watching for the second coming of Christ. I hope he will soon come, and I truly believe he will come and take away all my troubles and trials. I want you all to remember me in your prayers.

Yours with Love,

MARY E. SMITH.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

I feel like I want to say something. I have a true, good hope of the second coming of Christ. I am 45 years old and nothing to do, only to wait and watch for the coming of the Lord. I want you all to pray for me.

Yours with Love,

NANCY J. GRAHAM.

Dear Restitution:

In compliance with Bro. R. S. Dwiggins' request for short letters from the household of faith, I for one can cheefully comply. I can truthfully say that my faith in Christ's second coming is strong and that that event is near at hand. My earnest prayer is that each member may be found ready and waiting.

Yours in Faith,

GEORGE & LOUISE BRADLEY.

Dear Restitution:

I believe the time is near at hand of the coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I believe the time is short, of the soon coming of our Lord and Savior, and those that are sleeping in Christ shall awake and sing that glorious song: "O death where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory. I am you Brother in Christ.

W. A. COOPER.

Christmas Greeting to the loved ones far and near:

Another year has gone, taking one year more from the time when the gladsome words rang out over the Galilean hills "Unto us is born this day a Savior." The signs are more ominous every day that warn us of his return, and it inspires our heart to work on. And I can say the way never looked so bright as now after a service of fifty years.

B. W. WOODWARD.

Editor Restitution:

My good husband and myself are anxiously watching the signs of the times, and looking, and hoping for the coming of our King. Surely the night is fast passing and soon the morning must come. Having been recently raised up from a long illness, which threatened to prove fatal, my heart has been filled with thanksgiving, and my prayer is, that my life may be filled with usefulness. Sincerely in earnest for every good word and work.

ELIZABETH A. REED.

Brothers and Sisters:

My life has been one of many tears, but I have reasons to be grateful today for the assurance of the soon coming of our dear Savior to take to himself his great power and reign. Then justice and equity will be dealt out to all. Even so come Lord Jesus.

In hope.

MRS. SARAH HILL.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I wish to add my testimony on the Lord's side. The surroundings seem to me point to the soon coming of our dear Lord. Pray for me that I may grow in grace and knowledge of the truth.

WM. HILL.

Dear Restitution:

I too want to say a few words in our Christmas Number of THE RESTITUTION. Long years ago I resolved that I never would pass through a social meeting without taking some part in it, and as this is something similar to a social meeting, let us all come to the love feast with some word of encouragement. I want to say to the scattered ones that I can see the gleams of the golden morning so plain in the signs of the times, that I can lift up my head and rejoice, believing that our redemption draweth nigh. I am looking, longing and hoping for the coming of him who has the keys of death and hell, that he may unlock the cold and silent tomb and set all the prisoners free that are under the power of the enemy. Here is where the blessed hope centers.

Your Brother in Christ.

H. F. CORNELL.

Ones of like faith:

We are still looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our Lord and Savior.

RUTH & W. C. NOWLIN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am thankful for the opportunity of saying to you through THE RESTITUTION, that I am looking and waiting for the Master to come and give eternal life to them that shall be accounted worthy of it

MRS. JANE SATTERLEE.

Brethren and Sisters:

We rejoice that we are permitted to express our hope of a soon coming Savior to set up his kingdom on earth and reign forever. War will be over; sickness, sorrow and death will be abolished. What a time of rejoicing! We are striving to make our peace, calling and election sure. Pray for us.

Your Brother and Sister in Christ.

ALEX & AZUBAH SCROGGS.

Dear Restitution:

Greetings of love, gifts of thought, of wills, of brave lives. Who have them to bestow, young men, young women, where are you? The Master is calling for more workers. Never since we began the work of the ministry has there been such calls for helpers, not money catchers, with only the idea of getting a living without manual labor; but men and women of brave heart, who can stand criticism, can endure cold or heat, rain, snow or mud, who can and will keep an appointment when made, who are prayerfully earnest Christians, with clean mouths, free from slang, impure stories, tobacco, or any vile thing, with this one thought always before them, I am the Master's steward, doing the vineyard work, preparing lives for the glorious kingdom, by the help of the Lord, leading my fellows into a sweeter, purer, more hallowed life. Such helpers the Lord wants today. Where are the ones who will offer these gifts to the Most High and await with patience to hear him say, "Thou hast been faithful, enter into the glory of the Lord."

Yours ready, with a heart warm with love to the cause of truth.

M. A. WOODWORTH.

Loved Ones:

I am looking and praying for the second coming of our Lord to take his father David's throne and reign over the house of Jacob for ever, and the increase of his government and peace to have no end. I have believed this precious doctrine for over forty years. May all the loved ones of this precious doctrine be ready at his appearing, is my prayer.

L. P. CLARK.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

As I am a firm believer in the second coming of Christ I would say be of good cheer. You know we are admonished to watch. We can see the signs of the times fulfilled every day. Listen to the war cry in the East. Is not that a fulfilment of Scripture? Let us take heed and watch.

S. E. CLARK.

Dear Restitution:

I am so glad that we have such a grand opportunity to come to this great love feast, that we may hear from so many of like precious faith. I am looking and longing for the glorious appearing of the King of all the earth, that will rule in righteousness, is my prayer.

EMMA EYER.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

I do believe that the Lord is soon coming to establish his kingdom on the earth, and to call his ransomed people home. O may we all have our lamps trimmed and burning and when the cry is heard, "Behold the Bridegroom cometh," that we may be able to meet him with joy and not with grief.

Yours in hope.

SARAH ARMITAGE.

I Will See You Again!

"And ye now therefore have sorrow: but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no man taketh from you." John xvi. 22.

The church in tears of widowhood
Is by the Lord's return;
Jesus, [illegible] here, bereft of good,
The world's contempt and spurn.
With perfect sickening on each hand,
With breaking heart and head,
She treads the desert's scorching sand,
By clouds and pillar led.

'Tis heavenly bread sustains that host
Along the desert, wild way;
Waters from heavenly fount that dart
Her craving thirst allay;
And though her tears bedew the sod
O'er sons and daughters spread,
Unfaltering faith her she, that God
Will raise them from the dead.

Lord Jesus, take the chosen church
To thee in wedded plight;
From death and life, in closest search,
Bring her fair form to light;
Wan crown of glory on her brow,
And regal bridal vest,
Displace the robes that clothe her now,
And take her to thy rest.

S. A. CHAPLIN.

Plymouth Ind., Jan. 8, 1875.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am alone here in the faith, and meet with opposition on every hand, but I have my Bible and THE RESTITUTION, and I draw courage and consolation from them. When I read of the trials and persecutions of others I feel to thank God that we are so favored. May God help us to contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints. I am looking for the Lord to come and that soon, and I am trying to be ready to meet him in peace. Even so come Lord Jesus.

A. B. GRIFFITH.

Editor Restitution:

We will also join in with the brethren and sisters scattered wishing all a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, looking and waiting for that glorious appearing of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who shall come the second time without sin unto salvation, to reward his servants with joy everlasting in his glorious and blessed kingdom.

Yours in faith, hope and love.

JOHN W. SISSLE.

Dear Restitution:

I thought I would write a few lines to the letter drawer. I have been so feeble with this trouble in my chest. I have come to be weak and hardly able to walk. I am thankful to the good Lord I am not confined to my bed. Now, brethren and sisters, I must thank you for your kindness in sending your unworthy brother THE RESTITUTION for so long. It is my only preacher outside of the Bible. The Lord will reward the good. Now, my dear ones in Christ Jesus, let us hold fast the promises of our Lord to the end that he that believeth that Jesus Christ came in the flesh is born of God, and he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God, hath the Father and the Son. Let us have faith in the Master as our only hope of eternal life when he comes to make up his jewels. I need your prayers in my meekness, my thoughts go out for all the one faith every day, that the Master will keep all of you faithful till he comes. May we have new hearts filled with meekness and love to God and man, may our every day life show to the world that we have learnt of Christ that we are in him, the hope of glory. Let us not loiter by the way, but take refuge in the Word of him who spake as never man spake.

This is from your brother looking and expecting the soon coming of the Master.

JOHN DOMENY.

Dear Restitution:

Myself and family enjoy the paper very much. And we can truly say, We believe in the second coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. We are ready, waiting and watching.

Yours for the truth.

MRS. B. COLEMAN.

Dear Restitution:

I have been a reader of THE RESTITUTION for over thirty years. I have seen no other religious paper that kept so close to Bible doctrine. It does one good to read the letters from so many of like precious faith. My desire is, that the Lord may soon come and take his waiting ones from all the cares and sorrows of this life.

Yours in love of truth.

C. E. PERRIN.

Editor Restitution:

A poor frail creature is anxiously waiting the quickening footsteps of our coming King. Just behind the Turko-national tumult Nebuchadnezzar's image toes seem almost visible. The eleventh horn will quickly follow. Then will be "raised up thy sons, O Zion against thy sons O Greece." Much awaits the action of the saints. When the ten virgins go forth; five are left out and the door is shut.

J. M. FYFE.

To the Brethren and Sisters of the faith of the gospel:

Let us watch and be sober for the night is far spent and the day is at hand. Truly the falling away is in the past and present, and the son of perdition not far in the future. The Master says, Behold I come quickly, hold that fast that thou hast that no man take thy crown.

Yours waiting for Jesus.

J. ARMITAGE.

To the Household of Faith:

What a privilege it is to tell each other through the precious columns of our paper, that we are looking for our dear Lord to come again, and that we believe he is even at the door. We want to be patiently waiting for him, and we can say tonight, "Come Lord Jesus and come quickly;" and our prayer is that when the Chief Shepherd shall appear we may all receive a crown of life. Pray for us.

Your Brother and Sister in Christ.

P. J. ALLARD.

To the Household of Faith:

"I am looking for Jesus.
My Savior and King,
To change this frail body,
And teach me to sing."

Because mortality will then be swallowed up of eternal life. The obedient of all ages will be there. Those we have learned to love. Those slumbering eyes will then awake. Those now resting inactive, will walk and those silent tongues will sing praises to Jesus our King. Then he will gird himself and serve us at his own table with blessings provided. Those worthy to sit at that table will be crowned with immortality and never die any more, no pain, no sickness, no sorrow. The inhabitants will never say, "I am sick." Who in all this wide domain would not join in prayer like the one he taught his disciples, "Thy kingdom come?"

ISAAC S. MILLER.

Dear Restitution:

I gladly accept Bro. R. S. D's invitation to his Christmas reunion, though unworthy must add my testimony. I sincerely believe in all things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ. Therefore I believe in his real personal coming again to this earth very soon, that he will stand upon this earth in the latter day, will resurrect the sleeping saints, change the living saints, inaugurate a reign of peace, and bless the world.

Yours in hope of his soon coming and kingdom.

O. B. CADY.

I believe in the second coming of Jesus the Christ and will watch until he comes.

D. DRAKE.

The Restitution.

THE Resurrection and reuniting the [illegible] "sum of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the personal [illegible] mont of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government [illegible] of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the [illegible] eral resurrection of the dead; the [illegible] tion of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also a early belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life necessary for final salvation.

Dear Restitution:

From the testimony of the prophets, Christ, and his apostles I firmly believe that the Lord Jesus Christ himself will soon come to this earth again, to give eternal life to all of God's people and to rule the world in righteousness. O may we all be ready to meet him in peace.

Yours in hope.

DAVID RAILSBACK.

Dear Restitution:

By the time this reaches you, another year will have been swallowed up in the past; and from both the "signs of the times" and the "sure Word of prophecy" the year following will usher in events far exceeding in interest any of its predecessors since the birth of him whose return we now so anxiously await, and whom we hope soon to see! Will he come in '96? We confidently look for that grand event ere the end of '97. Trusting that we may all be prepared to meet him in the assurance of talents well improved."

Yours faithfully.

R. D. LOGAN.

Dear Restitution:

"At the sunset in the mountains
Is most beauteous to behold,
And sometimes forms a mirage
Like a wondrous sea of gold.
And I think while gazing on it,
Of the glorious mount of old,
Where the blest disciples saw Christ
Transfigured shining bright.
His face was like the sun-bire,
And his garments shown like light.
All this glory was a vision
Of Christ's kingdom yet to be,
In which if we are worthy
There is a place for you and me.
Then let us try to form Christ's image,
In this dreary world of sin,
That when he comes in glory,
We will be sure to enter in.
Even now amid life's trials
I shall be satisfied when I awake
In the likeness of the King."

FRANCES TRAVIS DWIGGINS.

To the Brethren and Sisters scattered abroad, Christmas Greeting to all:

Christmas time, the birthday of Jesus, will soon be here once more, which will be celebrated all o'er the land by feasting and giving gifts. But while we are thus celebrating his birth, let us not forget that in just a short time the Lord himself will return to the earth again, and then those who are worthy will receive a greater and more lasting gift, than any that our mortal friends could bestow upon us on this Christmas day. This gift will be eternal life. For he is coming to reward every man according as his work shall be. Let us then be up and doing good, that we may also receive eternal life. The signs show his coming near. The time is far spent and the hour draweth nigh when our Lord doth appear. Are you ready? Do not spend your time longer in the affairs of this world, but prepare to meet your Lord in peace. I want to be an overcomer that I may inherit all things. My only hope is in the resurrection. I want to so live that I may be in the first resurrection, over which the second death hath no power. My prayer is, Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly.

Yours in hope.

DELLA J. MILLER.

To all of like Precious Faith:

I am willing, yea more than willing to testify to the great hope that is sure and steadfast, and reaches to that within the vail. I believe that Jesus is soon coming to take to himself his great power and reign, resurrect his children of all ages, clothe them with immortality, and give them eternal life. Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly. Let us so live that we can say with Paul "that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

ELIZA WEST,

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
H. DOLLE, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, DEC. 25, 1895.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

Awake--He Cometh!

[This is the last poem written by Brother Chaplin, and was composed and written sometime in January, 1892. The exact date is not known.]

Awake thee, O Watchman, arouse from thy sadness.
The Savior is coming. His advent is nigh;
Then herald the news with transports of gladness
And tell the despondent no longer to sigh.
The night has been long, and through blackness like midnight
The path of the saints has been shrouded in gloom;
But now its last watches are wearing to want sunlight
Of that day that 'lumines the depths of the tomb.

Awaken, O virgins, with oil your lamps filling,
Light up the dark midnight, for soon you will hear
The cry, "Lo, the Bridegroom," when if watching, and willing To cease from sweet slumbers till he shall appear,
To the wedding Hall welcome and maidens of light;
Then the long hours of waiting shall ever be past;
Theme forward is rapture and endless delight
With the Savior forever and ever at last.

O, Church of the firstborn, the glory light streaming
Adown the blue azure will soon greet your eyes;
'Tis the King in his beauty, with jewelled crowns gleaming
To circle your temples in God's Paradise.
When you walk with your Lord who from death did deliver,
'Neath the shade of the life-tree in bowers of the blest,
Along the green banks of life's crystal river.
And be in God's Eden forever at rest.

S. A. CHAPLIN.

The Two Advents.

Those who are addicted to the pernicious habit of spiritualizing everything in Scripture which pertains to the second advent of the Messiah, will do well to examine [illegible] find that the predictions of Scripture concerning the first advent of the Christ, do not foretell more literal facts, were not uttered in plainer language, nor fulfilled in a more visible and personal manner, than will be those glorious prophecies, which speak of his second appearing and kingdom.

His glorious incorruptible body will not prevent his second appearance being as literal, visible, and personal as his first. His humiliation on Mount Calvary, was not a greater fact, than will be the transcendent glory of his exaltation on the holy hill of Zion. As certain as he preached the gospel of the kingdom when he was upon earth, so assuredly will he come again to establish the kingdom whereof he then proclaimed the good news.

The second appearance of the Son of God is not merely a speculative theory, or an inferential doctrine to be believed or rejected as fancy or curiosity may incline us, but it is a sure and certain hope, based upon the immutable promise of God; a promise the fulfillment of which all who believe the gospel look forward to with joy. Those who deny this glorious doctrine have yet to learn what the gospel is; for a belief of the gospel is perfectly incompatible with the denial of, or even indifference to the second coming of Christ and the establishment of his kingdom and reign upon the earth. Those who believe the Lord Jesus comes at every man's death, have yet to learn the great object of his coming; which is not to escort the souls of the dying to glory, one by one, as they throw off their "mortal coil," as is generally inferred from Matt. xxiv. 44, but it is to raise those from the dead, and transform those living who shall be counted worthy of joint-heirship with him in his glorious reign over the earth. Then will be salvation first to those who have believed and obeyed his gospel, who are the blessed partakers of the first resurrection; and secondly, to his oppressed people, the Jews, whom he will deliver from all their enemies and re-instate in their own land; thirdly, to the world at large who shall share in the blessed results of his peaceful and righteous reign; fourthly and lastly, to the globe itself, which shall be purified and refined, re-created in more than pristine glory; a fit habitation for the throne of God and the Lamb, a sweet haven of rest and joy for the redeemed to all eternity.

Be Faithful.

For God and truth against tradition a little longer, dear ones, and then the dead in Christ will rise and you if living will together with them be caught up to meet the Lord in the air. Oh! What a meeting! Jesus and his redeemed ones. Jesus and his Bride, Jesus in all the glory of the Father,—Jesus the fairest among ten thousand, Jesus and his saints arrayed in the garments of righteousness as the Bride of the Lamb without spot or wrinkle, or any such thing. —Jesus will then see the travail of his soul and be satisfied, and the harpers will sing, "let us be glad and give honor to him, for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready." Oh, that will be an unending union forever with the Lord. But we must be ready or we shall not get in. We are persuaded that time is short. The day of the Lord hasteth greatly. Let us beware lest a carnal security lull us to sleep, and the Lord come when we are not looking for him. Let us cherish this blessed hope more and more, and keep up our heavenly conversation, be more dead to the world, more alive to God. It is something real we are looking for,—a crown of life and glory,—a kingdom of light and love, a world of joy and blessedness. Let us press on toward the mark of the prize, every one,—that as a complete family we may be found spotless, and sing unto him who loved us, and washed us in his own blood.

Brothers and Sisters:

The Lord is coming soon. This is the blessed hope, and will be voiced and emphasized in all the letters of our love-feast. For forty years I have cherished this soul-inspiring hope, and for nearly this length of time have publicly proclaimed it; and though it is still de[illegible] will, if spared to preach longer, deem no sermon complete that makes no reference to it. To talk of his coming is so natural and childlike. It means every thing to the heart, filled with love, for it brings with it God's abounding love to us, and shows to us the riches of his grace and glory.

JOHN L. WINGE.

Dear Restitution:

How we love thee. We have known thee from thy birth. We have not been a subscriber for many years, but through the kindness of our heavenly Father and good brethren there has never been a weekly issue that we know of but has by many ways found our home, to cheer us in our sad afflictions. Isolated as we are, so far from the brethren so many years. We think heartily with Bro. Dwiggins on the prophecy as to Russia, Turkey and the Holy Land. We have seen these troubles many years coming. Bro. W. H. Wilson's explanation on Rev. xii. 11, expresses a view that we have had for many years as to the man-child and the woman in the wilderness. We have been trying to chasten our vile bodies against the lust and ways of this evil world, to conform to the will of God that we might overcome all things, believing that Jesus will come the second time to this earth; again literally and personally, and will change our vile bodies and fashion them like unto his glorious body, when we throw off the shackels of mortality and put on the white robes of immortality and accompany him to the throne of God, where we can escape all these things that are coming on the earth, and not be ashamed to stand before the Son of Man, where we can put on the white robe and enter the guest's chamber to the marriage supper of the Lamb, where we will witness the archangels transmit the kingdom and dominion of earth to King Jesus and his royal Bride, and have the honor to descend with him to the literal earth again, and have access to the literal throne of David where he will divide the emoluments of the kingdom with his royal staff, who will have the high official authority to rule the nations with power and authority, represented as a rod of iron. His coming is at hand, the morning of redemption has dawned, the hour of tribulation to the world is at hand. We do not know just what we will be, but we know we will be like him, for we will see him as he is, and with this hope we will be pure as he is pure. Let us have patience, keep watching, waiting and longing, for he that is to come will come and will not tarry. Finally brethren, farewell, be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace, and God of love and peace shall be with you. Your brother and sister in the hope of eternal life through Christ and the everlasting covenant.

HENRY & SARAH MEAGLEY.

Editor Restitution:

By your permission I will give my mite of testimony for my Lord and Master. I believe that his first advent fulfilled predictions uttered hundreds of years before his birth, his proof positive that those referring to his second advent will have their literal fulfillment in the near future, and till he does come the many ills and pains to which we are heirs, will never be abated, and my prayers is "Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly." May we all be ready to meet him.

JOHN SANFORD.

Brothers and Sisters:

I for one can say that I believe that our Blessed Savior is soon coming to gather his children home. I can say that I am one of his chosen ones, trying to be ready to meet him and all the dear ones of the one faith. I ask an interest in your prayers. I hope to meet you all in the kingdom.

AMANDA BEEGLE.

Dear Restitution:

We are of the number that are looking for the glorious appearing of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, the Mighty God and Prince of Peace. "And of His Kingdom and reign there shall be no end." We send our greeting to the dear ones who are waiting for their Lord.

BERTHA MURPHIS.

Jesus says "watch and pray." I am watching the eastern question. I do not think there will be any war this winter, as snow is coming to hinder the marching of troops. I hope next summer if it is the Lords time, that war will break out Europe, and bring in the ten kingdoms, and then the anti-christ to be revealed to make the seven years covenant with the Jews, and the resurrection and translation of the saints into the air for the seven years. Yes, Jesus will come as a thief in the night to take his jewels while the world is asleep. How glorious to his saints to hear the voice of the Archangel and the trumpet of God and feel ourselves immortalized in a moment and ascending in the air to meet our Saviour. I often think how grand and glorious, and yet how solemn for poor mortals to be so honored.

SHADRACH WHITE.

Dear Restitution:

Through your columns I will send in my mite, as I love so well to read the letters from the dear brethren and sisters of like precious faith. I thought perhaps there might be some that would like to hear from us. We are sorry to say that our hearts have been much troubled, as four of our little band have left us, and joined the ranks of the Seven Day Advents. There are only eight of us left, but we are as strong as ever in the blessed hope, and meet every first day for our Bible reading, and to partake of the Emblems. We have lived in hopes that we should be able to have a laborer in this part, but as times are hard and prices low, we shall have to be content. Some are looking for better times. We also are expecting good times, but not until we have a righteous government, until Christ shall come and set up his kingdom, when the law shall go forth from Zion, and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem, when righteousness shall cover the earth as the waters cover the face of the mighty deep. Oh, that there were more laborers to go forth and proclaim the glad tidings of the soon coming kingdom that more might be persuaded to obey the gospel and rejoice in the blessed hope of one day having a home where the trials of this life will not come. The signs of the times indicate that Christ will soon come, and oh, brethren and sisters, can we say we are prepared to meet him, have we on the robe of righteousness, are our lamps trimmed and burning, can we go out to meet him with joy and gladness? There are but few of the one faith that we have ever had the privilege of meeting in this life, yet my desire and prayer to God is, that each one of us who have named the name of Christ, may so live that we may meet in the kingdom where there will be no parting, neither sorrows nor crying.

"For God's own Israel shall [illegible]
From its every place,
And death itself [illegible]
And death itself [illegible]."

MRS. M. A. CALDER.

My dear Christian Friends:

I am glad to acquiesce to the proposition of our dear Brother Dwiggins to testify for Christ—believing as I do that the dear Lord will soon return to this earth to reign as King when the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled and a reference of the various quotations of Scripture will probably show to the Bible student that the prophets testify to the fact that the Lord will sit on the throne of David, and sway the scepter of Judah for a thousand years. Both the Old and New Testament writers, warns the Christians to be waiting and watching for our Lord's return, when he shall come with his holy angels, and summon the whole earth to be subject to his diplomacy from the river to the ends of the earth. Our Lord's return will not be as many are teaching to deluge the earth with fire and consume the wicked in the terrible conflageration, but his coming will be at the end of the age, that is when the times of the Gentiles are fully accomplished. Then shall the righteous who are living be changed and the righteous dead be resurrected and together be initiated into his Kingdom to participate in everlasting life and the unrighteous who are living will not be allowed this gracious privilege, they will be cast off from his loving presence and death will reign among them until the thousand years of Christ's reign be ended, then the wicked dead will be resurrected and they, that is the quick and the dead will be brought to judgment and their sentence is death. Rev. xx. 13, 14, 15, verses. Your Brother watching and waiting for our Lord.

SAMUEL FREELAND.

Dear Restitution:

The only hope I have is in the visible and personal coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Proof, Dan. vii. 13, 14; Matt. xxiv. 30; Mark xiii. 26, 27; Luke xxi. 27; John xiv. 3; 1 Thess. i. 10; iv. 16, 17; Rev. i. 7. I believe that no one has received the promised blessings, nor will until he comes again.

GEO. M. TOWNSEND.

Dear Household of faith:

I am watching and waiting with longing heart for my dear Savior to come. May we all be ready to meet him with joy, is the prayer of your Sister in the faith.

SARAH L. LASITO.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

My faith is based upon the promises God made to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. I believe the time is near, and very near at hand, when actual possession will take the place of the promises. By the help of God I am determined to be one of the overcomers. Yes, I can pray, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly." Brothers and sisters pray for me.

P. J. GRAHAM.

Brothers and Sisters:

Blessed thought, Jesus is coming to earth again to set death's captives free, and crown with a glorious immortality the faithful of all ages. "Judgment and justice are the habitation of thy throne; mercy and truth shall go before thy face. Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound. They shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance." Let us be prepared for and waiting, and watching for this coming. Rejoicing in hope.

EDWIN GROAT.

All Things New.

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away." Rev. xxi. 4.

The curse of thorn and plague of pain.
Emblems of death, the bier and hearse,
Possessions long more o'er the plain.
And yet the promised [illegible]
[illegible]
From land and sea the [illegible] wail,
Tidings of death, [illegible]
Sorrow lingers o'er hill and vale.
And yet the promised [illegible]
[illegible]
The desert wild, the ice bound shore,
War, famine, [illegible]
[illegible]
For the have promised no more death.
[illegible]
[illegible]
Have fought and died, and [illegible] grave.
And yet the promised [illegible]
[illegible]
And the wife of [illegible]
Whose absent presence [illegible]
Finds [illegible]
[illegible]

H. V. F. Ed.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the household of faith:

I rejoice in the blessed privilege that our Editor has given us to testify to our faith in the soon coming kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. In looking over the prophecies and comparing them with the times we are living in, who can doubt of his soon return to earth, to sit upon his father David's throne as shown to the Virgin Mary by the angel of the Lord. We are all aware that his birth and death was here on this earth as shown to Mary, and his second coming will be just as literal. This the Bible student cannot fail to see by comparing Scripture with Scripture all through, and with the closing message in Revelations we hear those welcome words, "He which testifieth of these things, saith, Surely I come quickly." Oh, church of the living God, how stands our account? Can we all say, "Even so come Lord Jesus?"

Your Sister.

M. ELIZABETH KNOWLES.

Editor Restitution:

My hope in the soon coming of Christ was never brighter. The signs are unmistakable. "The mighty men of war are waking up." My very being is thrilled with joy, because my redemption draweth nigh." O, that glorious reign of peace. May we put forth every effort to be ready to exclaim, "Lo, this is our God, we have waited for him."

NANCY BARBER.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters of the Faith once delivered to the Saints:

We can say yes, thanks be to God and the Lord Jesus. We are looking for him the second time and for the hope that is within us. Please all look these texts up: Zech. xiv. 4; xiii. 6; Acts iii. 20, 21; xv. 16; i. 11; John xiv. 2, 3; Rev. xxii. 20. Surely I come quickly. Amen. Even so come Lord Jesus, when you get your Bride, and may we be of that family. Yours striving and trusting,

JONATHAN & LIZZIE ANTHONY.

Brothers and Sisters in the Lord:

I thought as there was a chance, I would give in my testimony for the Lord. I firmly believe he is soon coming, and as literal as he went away. I believe the signs are most all fulfilled, and I feel to say, "Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly." Pray for me brothers and sisters that I may meet you all in the kingdom. Your Sister in Christ.

MRS. H. R. CARTER.

Brethren and Sisters:

Our Savior himself has given a direct promise of coming again, in John xiv. 3. I believe it and join with the beloved apostle in his heartfelt exclamation and prayer, "Even so! come Lord Jesus!"

JENNIE COX.

Ones of like faith:

Peter says the "Lord shall send Jesus Christ." Acts iii. 20. I desire his soon coming.

ELIZA M. COX.

Brethren and Sisters:

I believe Jesus will come literally to earth again. Act i. 11. My prayer is that we may be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

ALICE QUINN.

Editor Restitution:

Wife and myself stand up in this great meeting gladly acknowledging our firm belief in the soon coming of King Jesus of Nazareth, to take his kingdom and rule all nations in righteousness. The overcomers to be associated with him in incorruptible bodies. We wish to see the age of peace, happiness and glory inaugurated.

JAS. L. & SARAH A. MUNGER.

Editor Restitution:

I am still permitted to read the good old RESTITUTION. It is a comfort in my declining age. I am sixty-five, and A. J. Herron, my wife is fifty-nine years old. We have eight children living, two dead. All of them are in the one faith. We are getting somewhat feeble. We are all alone here. We have two so-called churches, the Methodist south, and the 1st Baptist second-hand with. Still now and then get in a good shot in their midst. We are very poor in this world's goods but rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he has promised to them that love his second appearing and kingdom. My dear brothers and sisters, I am so glad to read your encouraging letters. I still desire your sincere prayer in our behalf, that we might all meet at the great resurrection morn. Dear loved ones scattered all over the land, be good to the poor, to the destitute of our land. Our time is short. He is coming soon. Let everyone add to our precious faith as the apostle Peter says, add to our faith virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness, charity, if we do these things an entrance shall be ministered unto you into the everlasting kingdom. Yours truly.

C. W. HERRON.

Editor Restitution:

Although I have been a constant reader of THE RESTITUTION for twenty-five or thirty years, and a firm believer in that principle and plan of salvation offered to rebellious man, therein advocated, I may not be recognized as a member of the one Body, for the simple reason that I am not a member of any church although I have been baptized into the all-saving name of Jesus. Nevertheless all my faith, hope and future prospects are centered upon the second coming of our blessed Lord to reward the righteous.

J. A. HORSE.

Editor Restitution:

I will testify of my faith of our Lord and Master. Yes, I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am ready waiting, watching and praying for his coming. Your Sister in hope.

MRS. S. E. W.

Editor Restitution:

I bless God that I can testify to the fact that there is one family in Western North Carolina, numbering ten, father, mother and eight children who believe the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, and have been immersed into this faith and name, and are now hoping expecting, and looking for the literal, personal and speedy coming of our blessed Lord the second time, without sin unto salvation to raise the dead, to judge the world, and give reward. Yours in the hope.

J. M. LYDA.

Christmas Greeting to the dear Household of the Faith:

Are we not all pleased with Bro. Dwiggins' kindly suggestions, giving space for each of us to express our faith in the second coming of our Dear Lord. As we are witnessing some of the many signs he has given us that were to proceed his coming. There is no reason for doubt of the fulfillment of what may yet come to pass and his coming. I do most heartily believe now is the time for uplifted eyes, our redemption draweth nigh. I hope ere long to meet with the redeemed of all ages, yes,

"I want to remember, don't you when he reigns?
I want to cross over on Eden's fair plains.
I want to be gathered on Canaan's bright land,
Yes, over the river, where the ransomed shall stand."

O the glad reunion of both living and dead. Soon may it be. May we each prove worthy. Amen.

ANGIE STEVENS.

Editor Restitution:

We believe that Christ will soon return to the earth to finish the work of redemption. We believe the gospel, the power of God unto salvation, have become members of the "one body," by obedience, baptism and striving to be overcomers, which constitutes the readiness, and are waiting and watching for his coming. Hoping to be found worthy of the promised reward, eternal life.

MR. & MRS. CHESTER WOODWORTH.

Editor Restitution:

You can say in the letter meeting in THE RESTITUTION to the dear brotherhood in general that I and my life companion, Mary Ann Woldmer, both believe surely in the second and glorious personal coming of our Lord Jesus Christ to this earth again, and we are looking for the event to be not far off. Even so come lord Jesus. Amen.

P. H. & M. A. WOLDMER.

Editor Restitution:

As per request of Bro. Dwiggins, for all to contribute their mites to our grand Christmas Feast. I can truly say that I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am ready, waiting and watching for his coming. Your Sister in Christ.

MARTHA HAUSE.

Brethren in Christ, Greeting:

It has been thirteen years since I first heard the "gospel of the Kingdom" preached. Since that I have been studying the Bible and well watching the signs of the times. Also been trying to overcome the trials and temptations of the world, so as to be ready to meet our Savior at his coming. He is soon coming. Pray for me and mine that we may be ready.

NANNIE OSBORN.

Household of Faith Greeting:

We believe that Christ will soon appear. The midnight cry is even now sounding. Amen. Come quickly is our prayer.

J. R. & L. J. BROWN.

Brethren in the Lord:

It is about 50 years since I became interested in the subject of Christianity, and truly I can say, "Now is my salvation nearer then when I believed." I am still looking for that blessed hope when the redeemed will come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads, and sorrow and mourning shall flee away. In view of that glorious time, may we not neglect to watch and pray. Yours in hope.

P. H. BOCK.

Editor Restitution:

As I see the readers of THE RESTITUTION were requested to say a word for themselves, so I thought I would say, I believe in the soon coming Kingdom. I believe Jesus' coming is near at hand, I am waiting and watching daily for his appearing and his Kingdom. Your Sister.

MRS. SARAH BOWMAN.

Editor Restitution:

My hope is in the second advent of our Lord and Savior, who said if I go I will come again. May the time soon come when the dead in Christ and all the worthy living will meet the Lord in the air. This proves he is coming to the earth, for if we went to heaven it would be him coming to meet us.

EMMA FOOTE.

Editor Restitution:

The time has come once more in which we celebrate Christ's birth. As Christ was a present to us, so we should remember each other with gifts of love. Our much prized Sunday school in Chicago is going to celebrate Christ's birth in this way. We are going to have a Christmas tree entertainment. There are seven pupils in my class. Sister Whitehead is our teacher and we all love her very much. She is one of God's willing workers. She has brought several out into obedience of the gospel, and I am one of them. Brother Elmer is our superintendent. Let us watch and be ready for the soon appearing of our Lord. I belong to the Church of the Blessed Hope in Chicago. Two men recently put on Christ in baptism.

Yours in the Faith.

JESSIE M. WILSON.

[illegible] a song begun.
Sung by angels in the heavens: "Peace on earth good will to men."
Message now of joyful tidings came through angels' word,
"To all men is born a Savior, to the world a King and Lord."

Softly falls the morning sunlight on the distant mountain peaks,
And a Christmas morning twilight to the valleys creeps.
Yet a beauteous Christmas morning! Wake, O earth! and join the strain!
Let Judea's hills and valleys ever echo the refrain!
Let the world join in the anthem that the angels sang that night,
"All earth's darkness shall be scattered by the glorious gospel's light,
And the earth be robed in beauty and our Eden bloom again.
And God's will, as done in heaven, shall be done on earth by men.

A. J. Eychaner.

Editor Restitution:

Christmas greeting to all the household of faith. I think the Lord is soon coming to reign on the earth. That now is the time for his people to rejoice for their redemption draweth nigh. Who are his people? All "those who love his appearing." Watch therefore, for in such an hour as ye think not your Lord doth come.

B. F. Seeels.

Household of Faith Greeting:

I believe in the second coming of the Lord Jesus Christ, for he has said, I will come again and receive you unto myself. I am waiting and watching for his coming.

In hope,

Nannie Titchenal.

Brethren and Sisters:

As it is near Christmas, and I like to hear from the dear ones that are scattered abroad over the land, and read of their hopes of the soon coming kingdom, I feel as though I must say a word for my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who will soon appear to gather his dear ones home. Our dear Savior has said, "Behold I come quickly: and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be." What a glorious promise to those that love and serve him.

Your sister in the one faith.

Alice Stedman.

Editor Restitution:

Yes, we believe in God: we believe also in his only begotten Son Jesus, who said, "if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again." Yes, we believe he is coming soon to this earth to restore all things spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets. Amen.

Yours in hope.

D. & J. A. Shaw.

Editor Restitution:

Let us look to our faith, and be careful to maintain good works, for the signs indicate the King at the door, the kingdom of God nigh at hand. Are we watching? Are we waiting? The Church waited ten years ago, fifty years ago, a thousand years ago, the apostles waited, we wait and pray "Thy kingdom."

Even so come.

Walker Perrine.

Household of the Faith:

We are looking for the heavenly King that will come in the cloud from heaven, and who will bestow upon them that earnestly look for him, that which they hope for, "Immortality." Then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, death is swallowed up in victory.

"O death, where is thy sting?
O grave, where is thy victory?"

Amen.

Walter, Frances & Mabel Carpenter.

Brethren in Christ, Greeting:

We are thankful for the privilege offered us by The Restitution. We have hope in the soon coming King to reign over all the earth. That his coming will be literal and visible. For he went away literaly, visibly, and he will so come in like manner as he went away. We believe the time is near, that he will reign on the throne of his father David. We believe in the restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began. We desire and pray, thy kingdom come, and come quickly.

Yours in the Faith,

J. F. & C. B. Carpenter.

Your Sister in Christ.

Mollie Lunsar.

To the dear Brethren and Sisters of the Faith once delivered to the Saints:

We are commanded to be always ready and watching for our Lord's return, Matt. xxiv. 42, 43, 44, Mark. xiii. 26, to end of chapter. For signs of his coming read Matt. xxiv. 5, 6, 7, Luke xxi. 25, 26, 27, 28. "Sing and rejoice, O Daughter of Zion. for Lo I come, and I will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord." Zechariah ii. 10, 11, 12.

Viola Skeels.

Editor Restitution:

I extend a Christmas greeting to all. I enjoy reading the letters of the brothers and sisters of the blessed truth. Brother and Sister Woodward have been holding meeting here at the Pleasant View Church in Warren county for a few weeks, and met with grand success, the meeting closed last Monday evening. Brothers and sisters I ask an interest in your prayers that I may ever be found working in the Lord's vineyard.

Your Sister in hope of eternal life.

Mabuz Barnes.

Dear Restitution:

By your kind permission I will offer a few lines through the columns of The Restitution. It cheers me up to read the many letters, from the believers of the one faith. Brother and Sister Woodward have been here holding a series of meetings here at Pleasant View Church, Warren County, Ind. During which time there were thirty additions to our number, twenty-two receiving baptism, and eight joined, who had previously been baptized. Oh! let us build upon that most holy faith and keep ourselves in the love of God. I extend a kind Christmas greeting to all my friends of the precious faith.

Your Sister in Hope.

Mrs. Nettie Evans.

[illegible] faith, to send in our testimonies in regard to the coming of the Lord. I for one truly believe he is coming, and that very soon to reward all his believing children. Oh what a glorious time that will be when we all get home in the kingdom of God. How glad we are to meet our dear brothers and sisters at our conferences, that is only a foretast of our meeting with our Elder Brother Christ in the kingdom of God. In view of all this, what manner of Christians ought we to be, we ought to count this world all loss if we win Christ, Paul counted it so. So let us be up and a doing while it is called day for the night is coming when our work must be done. Oh let all of us try and do more for the Master this coming year then we have done before, for the time is very short. Oh let us all trim our lamps and have them burning and oil in our vessels, for the call will soon be heard. Oh may he soon come is my prayer.

Your Sister in Christ.

E.S. Gans.

Dear Restitution:

Is it really true that the Lord is coming very soon? Do I desire and love his appearing? Will I stand or fall? Will I be taken or left? Will I rejoice or lament? These are solemn questions to me, and to you all. I certainly desire the reward that he brings. I rejoice in the work of restitution as outlined by his chosen heralds, and beautifully illustrated in parables of his kingdom and glory. My confidence is strong in his ability to cope with the power of darkness, and he will perform all that is assigned him to do even the subduing of all things unto himself. I dare not in view of my unworthiness aspire to high honors in his kingdom: they will be given to those who have suffered with him. I shall be satisfied if I awake in his likeness to die no more, and share in the remnants that fall from his table. Pray in my behalf that I may be with you in the kingdom.

Alfred R. Wilcox.

think it must be a year or more. I have been greatly instructed and benefitted by its teaching of the gospel of the kingdom, and believe in the soon coming Savior. I never heard oral preaching by members of the Church of God, there are none living here, and the orthodox churches know nothing of the gospel or kingdom of God. I am trying to get ready to greet the King when he comes, and long for his coming. My prayer is for strength to overcome and for all his children who are striving.

Yours in the faith.

G. Dart.

Dear Restitution:

I have for several years been looking for the coming of our blessed Lord. My faith grows stronger day by day. I have learned from reading James v. 7, 8, to be patient, therefore, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain. Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh." Dear friends, pray for me that I may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man. Let us be faithful to the end.

Yours in love of the truth.

W. F. Carpenter.

Dear Restitution:

I will try to add my mite to the Christmas greeting. A little more than two years ago I was baptized into the All-Saving name of Jesus. I am now nearly seventy-one years old, but never heard the gospel preached in its purity until two years ago, but it was like a ray of light from heaven. I feel very thankful that the dear heavenly Father permitted me to know the truth, and I mean with God's help to have my lamp trimmed and burning when the Bridegroom comes.

Yours in love of the truth.

Mrs. M. J. Starkweather.

calling of God in Christ Jesus, knowing that all things work together for good to them that love God and are called according to his purpose, and finally have an abundant admittance into the everlasting kingdom, is the prayer of your Brother in Christ.

P. B. Stoffer.

Editor Restitution:

To the brethren and sisters and other readers of The Restitution, I am one that is a firm believer of the precious truths, the second coming of Jesus. I have the privilege of attending Sunday school and church where the Scriptures are read and investigated from time to time. The more I study the Bible the stronger I believe that Jesus is coming. May the time soon come. O let us hold out faithful and be found ready for the time draws near, is my prayer.

Sarah Norris.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:

I do love to read the letters from the sisters and brothers so much that I thought I would send in my mite as Bro. Dwiggins suggested for the Christmas number. Yes, we are looking for the soon coming of our Lord, and Savior, and King, to set up his kingdom here on this earth, and our hope and prayer is, that we will be ready to meet him in the clouds with the loved ones when he calls. For this we wait.

Amanda & George Hazard.

To the Brethren and Sisters in Christ Jesus, scattered abroad, Greeting:

Dear brothers and sisters I want to tell you through The Restitution that I am rejoicing in hope. In Prov. x. 21, it says "the lips of the righteous feed many." Verse 30. "The righteous shall never be removed, but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth." I am trying to live so as to have an entrance in the kingdom when it is set up on this earth after sin is removed, that we may all meet where parting is no more.

E. S. Gibson.

your letters and the sisters' also, soon from time to time in The Restitution. I love those devoted to the truth, but do not claim very great perfection for myself. I have been in the faith for nearly a quarter of a century, and can say that my belief in the soon coming of our Lord is as strong as ever. I believe I can almost discern the coming dawn of that day, I hope that it will be soon, for the enemy is a terror to us all, and he will conquer unless the coming of Jesus prevents. May we all stand firmly and falter not is my greatest desire.

Yours in the Faith,

L. W. Norris.

Editor Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters I will write you a few lines as Brother Dwiggins has requested. We have been having good meetings by Brother and Sister Woodward. We hope to hear from all in the Abrahamic faith. We are trying to live so as to be worthy to meet the Savior when he comes.

Mr. & Mrs. W. H. Thompson.

Christmas Greeting:

Dear ones of the household of God. I can say that I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, and that I am rejoicing in his glorious promises. I believe he is coming literally to this earth. I think the signs indicate that he is soon coming to set up his kingdom, and I hope to meet all the brethren and sisters there. I am striving to be an overcomer that I may have a right to the tree of life and enter in through the gates into the city. My praise is, come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

Your Sister in Christ,

M. A. Calder.

Dear Restitution:

I have started out to be a Christian. I am not sorry of it. Brothers and Sisters pray for me that I may be ready when the Master comes.

Your Brother in Christ,

Charles Conner.

Poetry.

[Written for Christmas Number.]

Christ Is Coming.

Bells are ringing, glad hearts singing.
Music fills the enchanted air.
Golden lamps the message bringing.
Hail the Bridegroom from afar.

Christmas carols gayly pealing,
Borne upon the midnight clear,
Rouse the sluggards from their sleeping,
For his advent draweth near.

Sound the anthem! Christ is coming!
Earth responds with glad acclaim.
Blissful meeting, heavenly greeting,
Choirs angelic join the strain.

Speed the tidings, Christ is coming.
O'er the golden hills ps gleaming,
Holy morning, welcome dawning,
In the East his Star is beaming.

Open wide the hidden portal,
Soon the sleeping saints will rise,
Clothed with youth and bloom immortal,
Fly to meet him in the skies.

Christ is coming, glorious morning
For the sad and sore oppressed,
Sweet the Master's voice is calling,
Lo, I bring you peace and rest.

Sound the trumpet, chant the welcome,
Christ the Lord will come again.
Blessed Savior, oh come quickly,
Over all the earth to reign.

PHEBE C. THOMPSON.

[Written for the Christmas Number.]

Say, Little Ones?

How many birthdays count you now,
Say, little ones, so fair and bright,
Since long ago on Bethlehem's plains,
The Lord's great glory lit the night?

How many years since in the field
The Shepherds heard the news of joy,
Put on and on rolls round the globe,
To gladden every girl and boy?

So many Christmases have gone
Since angel lips the tidings told,
You scarce can think it can be true,
That Christ, our Savior's half so old.

Yet, almost nineteen hundred years,
The clocks of men have ticked away,
Since earth first saw a Christmas morn,
And Jesus in the manger lay!

And though so ag'd, he still is young,
With all these birthdays o'er his head;
None groweth old who come like him,
In life immortal from the dead.

And you, dear ones, who count your years,
On finger tips and pearly thumb,
What think you of a life like this,
That never to an end shall come?

Just such a life you too may have,
Where Christmas morns will come and go,
And praises leap from every tongue,
To hear that never pain may know.

S. ROSANA WINES.

Dear Restitution:

As many of our brothers and sisters are giving in their testimony (in THE RESTITUTION) of their beliefs and hopes, I feel like adding mine. Forty-nine years ago last July I heard the first sermon on the second coming of Christ by Brother Ephraim Miller, of Michigan, and from that time until the present, I have been a firm believer in the literal return of the Master and the establishment of his kingdom upon the earth, and for a little over forty-six years I have been trying to live a Christian life, hoping to have an abundant entrance into his everlasting kingdom, and receive the reward promised to the overcomers. May we all prove faithful and see that no man take our crown.

W. D. THOMSON.

Dear Pilgrims:

I have been waiting, watching, looking for the second appearing of Christ for the past sixty years, and testifying in public and private to this glorious truth, which is just about to burst upon the world in all its majestic grandeur. Although now in my 87th year, I hope to live to be among the number that will be caught up to meet him in the air and never die, as Christ said at the grave of Lazarus, "he that liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

LEONARD ADAMS.

Brothers and Sisters:

I can say that I contend in the faith of the Lord Jesus Christ my Savior. I love him with all my heart. He is ever my guide and strength. It is ever my strife to continue in his love, that at last I may be rewarded with a crown of glory that fadeth not away, but leads to life everlasting. Let us all so live so as to meet at the resurrection morn, when Jesus comes, blameless and without fault, and each one receive their reward according to their works, is my prayer. Pray for me.

Yours in the faith

J. C. DANIELS.

Dear Restitution:

I rejoice in believing that Jesus is coming to earth again, to restore all things to their Eden state. In thought of all this I am trying to live faithfully to prove myself worthy of eternal life. My prayer is, Come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

LIZZIE DICKSON.

Dear Restitution:

Accept our Christmas tribute to THE RESTITUTION. We believe in the second coming of our Lord and Savior, and that it is not far distant. We are watching and waiting; watching the signs of the times, and waiting his soon appearing.

Yours in the Blessed Hope.

D. T. & C. SEELY.

Dear Restitution:

I feel it my duty to write a few lines to let you know that I am looking for the coming of the Lord. I believe his coming is near at hand. Did not two angels in shining garments, say to the men of Galilee, "Why stand ye gazing up into heaven, this same Jesus shall so come in like manner as you see him go away into heaven." So praise the Lord, I am watching and waiting for the coming of the Lord. Pray for me.

Your Sister in Christ.

MARTHA J. GRIM.

Editor Restitution:

You will find enclosed an order of one dollar and fifty cents for the renewal of THE RESTITUTION for 1896, as we can not think of doing without it, as it brings us good news. I will say to the brothers and sisters that I have changed my place of residence for a while to my daughter's and son-in-law, T. C. and Lottie M. Bellows near Newell, Iowa. They belong to the faith, and it cheers us on our way to hear from the scattered ones of the same faith. It is comforting to read the good pieces of brothers and sisters. It cheers us to look forward to the good time coming, where we will all meet in the kingdom of our dear Savior, if we are overcomers. Brother and Sister Bellows join in love to all the dear ones of the precious faith. We crave the prayers of all dear saints in Christ, waiting for his coming.

POLLY M. SPENCER.

Dear Restitution:

I am looking for that grand and glorious appearing of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

KATIE BLACK.

Editor Restitution:

I send greeting, brothers and sisters in Christ. I too am looking for the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ. The signs of the times, the moving of the nations, the return of the Israelites to the land of their fathers, and to Jerusalem and Zion, the holy Mount of God, and such a host of justified ones looking for the speedy coming of the Lord, is a trumpet certainly of no uncertain sound. So I am watching and waiting and looking for the coming of the Lord, and am trying to bring my body into subjection to the divine will of God. Let us be ready, all joining in unison, Come Lord Jesus, come quickly. Amen.

S. V. GRIM.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live. And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this? By these verses the blessed Master has taught us that notwithstanding we may go under the power of death, yet he will raise us up to enjoy immortal life, that he has promised. My hope is centered in this. Yours in hope.

MRS. MILO MCCARTER.

To the Household of Faith:

The world socially and morally is in the condition the Savior said it would be when he would come to reckon with his servants. Yes, the world's greatest event is the coming of Jesus of Nazareth. Amen.

J. P. & E. L. BITNER.

My dear Christian Friends:

It has been suggested by Bro. Underwood that we have a Christmas love feast in the paper. This is a step well taken. We have just had one of the best love feasts that we have ever had. Brother and Sister Woodward has been with us for some time, they found us in a discouraged position, but all have taken on a new life and gone to work with a renewed zeal for the cause of our Redeemer. 29 additions is encouraging to us.

WM. F. EVANS.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I think it my duty to write a few lines. Reading in THE RESTITUTION I saw where the Brother wanted all to write a few lines, who were looking for the Lord to come. I am one who is looking for the coming of the Lord, although I have trials and temptations. The year of 95 will soon be gone and a new year is coming. Some of our intelligent writers are publishing that the Lord is coming in the year of '96. If this be so, how careful we should be. So let us bring our bodies into subjection to the will of God. I want to be one of his children when he comes to make up his jewels. I ask you all to remember me in your prayers.

Your Sister,

MAUD GRIM.

Dear Restitution:

In response to the call for a Christmas testimony meeting in the RESTITUTION. I wish to speak for the Lord and his goodness to me. The words of David express the dealings of the Lord with me and my feelings toward him, precisely. "Bless the Lord O my soul and all that is within me bless his holy name. Bless the Lord O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities, who healeth all thy diseases, who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with loving kindness and tender mercy." O I do bless the Lord that he has led me to a "closer walk with Christ," and to an abiding presence with him has led me to a place where his strength makes me an overcomer in deed and in truth, has taught me that "With every temptation there shall be made a way in institutions before God, even our Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints."

Yours for the coming King.

EMILY E. BARNUM.

Dear Restitution:

I believe in God the Father, in his power, wisdom, justice and mercy. I believe in Christ the Son; that he hath done the will of the Father, that he suffered and died, and that he rose from the dead. I believe that he will return again in this generation, to restore all things, and bring unto the faithful the gift of God, which is eternal life.

L. C. HANNING.

To the One Faith in Christ:

I am as yet a mere babe in Christ, but the way is bright. I am looking for his appearance, and praying that I may be an overcomer and enter the kingdom. I believe he will come in bodily form.

Yours waiting for the kingdom.

LILLIE HUNT.

To the Household of Faith:

I wish to praise God for his great mercy to me in healing me of spirit, soul and body; for when I was sore afflicted in my great pain, I called unto him to heal me in the name of his dearly beloved Son Jesus Christ, and at once my pain was allayed and I began to improve. Some will say the sick were healed in the time of Christ but they are not healed now, but if Christ healed the sick when he was here he will now for in Hebrew xiii. 8, it says, "Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and today, and forever, and also in James v. 14, 16, is a promise to heal the sick. I was as the foolish virgins waiting for my Lord without any oil in my lamp but I was made to see my mistake and I thank God I now stand waiting with my lamp filled so that when my Lord comes I will be ready to light my lamp and enter with him into the kingdom of God unto everlasting life before the gates are closed.

Yours in hope.

CLARENCE E. CORBALEY.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

We whose names are signed below, attending at Chapel Hall, Plymouth, wish to be heard in this Christmas paper, and in this way testify that our faith in the promises of God is still strong, our hope being that the Lord Jesus, our Savior will soon come and wake the sleeping dead and change the living, making all immortal and happy, turning tears of mourning to smiles and songs of thanksgiving. We believe the troubled condition of the world but portends the hastening of the end of this dispensation and the inauguration of the new and better day. Our prayer is for the soon coming of the King.

Yours in faith, hope and love.

Julia A Harsch
Evelyn K Harsch
Esther E Huff
Ettie Hoffman
Ellen Scheurer
Lotta Harris
Merle Logan
Sarah Logan
Sylvester Logan
Eliza B Dickson
Wani Logan
Grace Smith
Rebecca Alleman
Idona Cordill
Hattie Scheurer
Mary E Burch
Mary E Kaufman
Mary Watkins
Mrs Josiah Hoffman
Mrs M E Huff
Mrs E Price
Forrest A Pontious
Vinnie Hoffman
Susie Kaufman
Rose Kaufman
Nettie Kaufman
E K Barnhill
Stella Barnhill
Mrs Matilda Maxey
Hellen Henry
A C Roberts
Mrs A C Roberts
J F Petcher
Mrs Ida Petcher
Loyal Burch
Mary Roberts
Henry Watkins
Mrs Henry Watkins
H W Barnhill
G S Beagle
Herbert Barnhill
[illegible]

Editor Restitution:

We are looking for the personal second coming of the Lord Jesus Christ, to give immortality and eternal life to all his saints who will subsequently reign with Christ in his kingdom over all nations for one thousand years. All kings shall bow down before him, yea, all nations shall serve him. May that time soon come.

RICHARD & JANE CORBALEY.

Editor Restitution:

I wish to add my testimony with those of like precious faith. I want our Savior to come quickly and establish his kingdom, and my prayer is, that I shall have part in the first resurrection and reign with him in the future age.

Your Sister in the faith.

MRS. JNO. ROBINSON.

Editor Restitution:

I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am ready waiting and watching for his coming.

WM. BURGESS.

Editor Restitution:

The Scriptures teach us the Savior will come. I believe he will come. I am ready and watching, and praying "thy kingdom come."

ELIZA BURGESS.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I will try to write a few lines in THE RESTITUTION. I saw where the brother wanted all to write a few lines who were looking for the Lord to come. I am one who is watching for his second coming although sometimes I feel discouraged and have many trials and temptations, but through the grace of God helping me, I want to be one of his children when he comes to make up his jewels. I ask you all to remember me in your prayers.

Your Sister in the hope of eternal life.

NANCY HENDERSHOT.

Dear Restitution:

I too am watching for the Master's return. May we be ready to meet him is my prayer.

ORRIE BROOKS.

Dear Restitution:

Amid the festive Christmas time, we are glad of this opportunity to express ourselves as believers in the second coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The whole Christian world believe that he came the first time, but how few believe in his second coming. Who can doubt the words of Jesus himself: "If I go away I will come again."

Yours for the truth.

EZRA C. & EMMA RAILSBACK.

To the Brothers and Sisters of the faith of the gospel:

I wish to tell you in this grand social meeting how I do rejoice day after day, that the time seems so near when we shall see Jesus coming in the the clouds, and hear the angel say, Behold the bridegroom cometh. What a rejoicing time that will be for the church (the bride) who hath made herself ready, yea the called out ones, to this end remember me in your prayers. Dear pilgrim, gird thy bridal robes around thee, morning dawns, arise, arise.

ELIZA A RAHE.

Christmas Greeting to the loved ones far and near:

I want to do all I can for my Master. I realize the time to work is short. Let us work watch and pray that we enter not into temptation, but walk in that straight and narrow path. What a comfort is derived from living the life of the faithful. I am looking for that blessed hope and glorious appearing of our Lord and Savior.

Yours in hope of his soon coming and kingdom.

MRS. L. M. CORBALEY.

Dear Restitution:

Brothers and sisters as we are requested to write a few lines for the Christmas love feast, I thought I would send in my mite as I know it will be a glorious feast as it is the anniversary of our dear Savior's birth. I can say for one, that I am still strong in the faith, and I am looking for the soon coming King, Christ Jesus, to establish his kingdom on this earth, to raise the righteous dead and change the living saints from mortality to immortality. I put on Christ by baptism by our dear Bro. John Foore, God bless him, he showed me the way or I would be groping in the dark yet. Thank God I have found the truth and will stand by it.

Your Sister in Hope of eternal life.

MARY A. VERMILLION.

Dear Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters of the one faith: Seventeen years ago I turned from all follies and idols to serve the living and true God, and to wait for his Son from heaven, and was baptized by Bro. J. M. Stephenson. I am trying to live that when the Son of God comes in glory and takes the throne of David, and his kingdom fills the whole earth, that I will be there in that bright paradise restored, the blissful kingdom of the Lord. Dear brothers and sisters I ask the prayers of one and all.

You Brother in hope of the soon coming Lord.

W. T. WAGGONER.

Dear Restitution:

I am truly glad to meet among you in my mind and say a few words in favor of my hope. I am no hand to take any chances in any speculation, and take no chances in a firm belief of our Savior's soon coming and kingdom, for it gives more real comfort in time of trouble than all earthly treasures combined could give. So we should be sure that whatever is said against us as Christians is falsely said. Then we can rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is our reward in heaven that Christ will bring with him.

Your Brother in Christ,

G. W. CALDER.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Through the influence of Brother and Sister Woodward I became a follower of Christ. I hope and pray they may still work for their Master, and when their toils of this life is o'er they will receive a crown in the never ending kingdom. Pray for me that I may hold out faithful.

WM. PITZEL.

Brethren and Sisters:

Jesus is coming again. "I will come again and receive you unto myself." Oh let us have faith in his glorious promise and make ourselves ready that he will accept us when he comes. Oh may I be one of that number when this earth, robed in her beauty, will soon be our eternal home, is my prayer.

MRS. NINA PONTIOUS.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

Answers to Bro. Dwiggins' questions: Answer, I do. Second question, Answer, I do believe he is coming literally to this earth. Third question, Answer, I do think he is soon to come. I want to be an overcomer.

Yours in Faith,

T. A. KEMMIS.

Dear Restitution:

Seeing Brother Dwiggins' piece in the paper we thought we would send in our testimony for the Christmas number. We believe that the Lord's second coming is near at hand and desire to be among the worthy ones that go to meet him when he appears, and Oh, how often the prayer comes to mind, Come Lord Jesus, come quickly.

Yours in Faith, and Hope, and his soon coming.

W. & E. CALDER.

Dear Restitution:

I am a firm believer in the soon coming of the Lord to set up his kingdom and reign on the earth, and according to the signs of the times believe the time of his coming is very near and even at the door. I feel the care and burdens of this life so heavy that I pray daily thy kingdom come, and come quickly. I am trying to the best of my knowledge and ability to become an overcomer that I may be accepted of him at his coming.

In Love,

G. T. WILSIE.

Dear Restitution:

I saw a request for all to write something for the paper. We have been having a glorious meeting. Brother and Sister Woodward have been with us and renewed our

Your Sister in Christ,

ELIZA EVANS.

Loved Ones:

We believe that the Bible teaches the second coming of our Lord, and that the signs indicate the time to be near at hand. We are striving to live in readiness.

EMILY M. & HELEN FYFE.

Editor Restitution:

Our Leader (the Son of God) taught his followers to pray thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. This is my daily prayer, and although time is not to the Father as it is to the mortal man, long and weary, yet we pray that we may be filled with the spirit and have grace to sustain us unto the end, that whether we be asleep or awake, we may be found of him in peace, when he returns to gather all that are his, and establish the reign of righteousness foretold by all of the holy prophets since the world began.

Yours in Hope,

R. V. TOWNSEND.

Editor Restitution:

"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you, not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled neither let it be afraid." John xiv. 27.

"When Christ who is our life shall appear then shall we also appear with him in glory." Col. iii. 4. What glorious promises the Lord has given us in his word. Surely we ought to be anxious, glad, to walk "even as he walked," that we may be waiting to receive him at his coming.

LOTTIE BARNUM.

To Be Continued.

It will be necessary to continue the letters next week. We are sorry some delayed till it was impossible to set all up and still get the paper out on time. We thank you for making this Christmas paper a success.—ED.

Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Passmen Riverside Cars on No. 15, Pullman Sleeping Cars on 6, 8 and 9.

Daily. Daily except Sunday. Daily except Saturday.

Westward.	8	12	10	2	4
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 00	4 00		1
Alliance, ar.	9 25	6 25
Canton, lv.	10 36	7 36
Massillon	10 58	7 58
Wooster	11 31	8 31
Mansfield	12 25	9 11
Crestline, ar.	1 25	10 05	6 40
Bucyrus, lv.	1 42	10 22	6 58
Lima	2 37	11 06	7 53
Van Wert	3 11	11 39	8 27
Ft Wayne	4 30	12 55	9 47	10
Arcola
Columbia City	4 53	1 09
Larwill
Pierceton
Eagle Lake
Warsaw	5 21	1 42
Etna Green
Bourbon
Inwood
Plymouth	5 55	2 20
Grovertown
Hamlet
Davis
Hanna
Wanatah
Valparaiso	6 55	3 20
Wheeler
Hobart
Liverpool
Clarke
Chicago, ar.	8 00	4 30
	PM	PM

Eastward.	3	11	5	7	9
	PM	PM	PM	PM	PM
Chicago, lv.	12	4	4	4	4
Clarke
Liverpool
Hobart
Wheeler
Valparaiso	4 22
Wanatah
Hanna
Davis
Hamlet
Grovertown
Plymouth	5 45	2 08
Inwood
Bourbon
Etna Green
Warsaw	6 28	2 53
Eagle Lake
Pierceton
Larwill
Columbia City	7 02	3 42
Arcola
Ft Wayne	7 30	4 10	5	5	5
Van Wert	8 49	5 30	6 25	6 25	6 25
Lima	9 23	6 04	7 00	7 00	7 00
Bucyrus	10 17	6 58	7 54	7 54	7 54
Crestline, ar.	10 35	7 15	8 12	8 12	8 12
Mansfield	11 29	8 08	9 06	9 06	9 06
Wooster
Massillon
Canton	12 32	9 11	10 09	10 09	10 09
Alliance, ar.	12 58	9 36	10 34	10 34	10 34
Pittsb'gh, ar.	2 10	10 50	12 05	12 05	12 05
	AM	AM	PM

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 20, Passenger, Leaves..... ..7:25am
No. 22, " " 10 47pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Passenger, Leaves..... ..7:45am
No. 23, " " 10:40pm
No. 151, Local, " 12:30pm

*Daily except Sunday. †Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and

GEO. K. HALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 32, Ex. Sun..... ..12:14pm For St. Joseph.
No. 58 " 7:34am " "
No. 54, ex. Sun. ..... 10:09pm for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 31, Ex. Sun..... 5:22am For Terre Haute.
No. 33, " .....12:50pm " "
No 97 ex. Sunday 7:27pm " Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. DOWNS, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD, Gen'l Pass. Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE

The Niagara Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:20pm	9:05am	1:30pm	Local Fr
Skyfield				7:30am
Hamlond	10:03pm	9:07am		8:25am
Hobart	10:33pm	9:42am		10:10am
Valpar'so	11:16pm	10:07am		11:00am
S W Jct'n		10:24am		11:40am
Knox	12:12am	11:00am	4:02pm	7:30pm
Akron	2:35am	11:48am		9:35am
Orrville	3:06am	12:07pm	6:25pm	4:20pm
Clev'l'd	10:30am	2:00pm	10:40pm
Buffalo	4:30pm		5:00am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:05pm		8:35am	Local F
Cle'l'd	7:10pm	6:00am	10:20am
P'W'ne	4:05am	1:10pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Akron	6:10am	2:25pm		9:00pm
Knox	8:00am	4:01pm	6:20pm	10:15am
S W Jct'n		4:25pm		11:45pm
Valpar'o	8:42am	4:38pm		12:04am
Hobart	9:07am	5:17pm		1:50pm
Hamm'nd	9:34am	5:45pm		2:45pm
Skyfield				4:00pm
Chicago	7:40am	7:00pm	9:00am

Trains leaving Chicago at 1:30 a.m., Cleveland at 8:00 a.m. and local freights * not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains [illegible] equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
B. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

On Trial Three Months

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

POETRY.

[Written for Christmas Number.]

All Hail the Day.

All hail the day! Auspicious morn!
In Bethlehem a child is born.
In glad fulfillment of the word,—
The great deliverer, Christ the Lord.
To shepherds who their vigils kept,
While other ears in silence slept,
Came the first note of seraph's song,
A melody we would prolong.

"Fear not," the angel said, "I bring Good news." Join every heart and sing
Immortal lips, take up the strain,
"Glory to God—good will to men!"
If angels sing, should man be still?
Should not his heart with rapture thrill,
And for the gift of grace and love,
His thanks be raised to God above?

If beings of a heavenly state
Pour forth their songs to celebrate
The lowly birth of Mary's Son,
'Tis meet that man, by sin undone,
Should bring a gift, an offering,
To lay before the infant King,
We celebrate the Savior's birth,
In token of his heavenly worth;

With song today and heart-felt praise
We gather strength for other days,
We hold in mind the birth and death,
Jerusalem and Nazareth,
And every consecrated spot,
By word or deed; is not forgot.
Remember the Gethsemane,
The Judgment Hall and Calvary.

And the short interval of gloom
That settled o'er his guarded tomb.
To these glad words we come again—
"Glory to God, good will to men!"
The advent's near—let this be sung.
By every joyous human tongue.
He comes! this time in royal dress,
With loving hand and heart to bless.

JOHN L. WISE.

Christmas.

Softly fell the touch of twilight on Judea's silent hills,
Softly crept the peace of moonlight o'er Judea's trembling ills,
Gentle dews distilled their sweetness on the heritage and the flowers,
And the winds made low, sweet music in Euphratah's olive bowers.
Slowly o'er the hills and valleys, from the mountains to the sea,
Night had hung, her somber mantle round the sleepers, bond and free,
And as shades of night grew deeper from the twilight purple hue,
One by one the stars grew brighter in the pearly concave blue.

Shepherds watched their flocks that evening on the verdant plains afar,
When lo! o'er Bethlehem's vales appeared a bright and wondrous star,
Softly beaming, [illegible]

Brothers and Sisters:

I wish to add my testimony with the rest. My faith is strong in the dear Lord's coming. Pray for me that I may prove faithful.

MRS. N. A. TURNER.

Editor Restitution:

I too would like to add my testimony with others of the "little flock," for our Christmas greetings to one another. The "Blessed Hope" is dear to me, and I truly rejoice as I think the prayers of the faithful ones for eighteen hundred years is about to be answered. Yes Lord, "Let thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." Oh! may each one stand steadfast in the truth, is the prayer of your Sister.

C. E. GEORGE.

Brothers and Sisters:

The Lord is at hand. O! how many souls will be lost that might have been saved. If we want a crown, we must work for it. Satan is in earnest; God is in earnest; and shall not Christians be in earnest? My parents, brothers, and sisters are looking for Jesus. We all have only a little while to work; let us do our share of the work, and receive our reward."

Yours in hope of eternal life.

DOVE BROOKOVER.

Dear Restitution:

I believe the Scriptures mean what they say. Therefore, I believe Christ is coming literally to the earth again according to the words of the angel. Yes, the signs of the times all indicate his coming is very near. Yes, the sickness and troubles of this life are so many that I desire his speedy coming and the establishment of his kingdom. I believe THE RESTITUTION is preaching the same gospel that Christ and the apostles did, and which he told his disciples to preach, "and he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." I dare not say that I am ready for the coming of our dear Savior, I feel I am too sinful and unworthy to stand in his presence. Dear brothers and sisters, you that feel you are ready and waiting, O pray for me that I too may be able to pray from the heart, "Thy kingdom

Brothers and Sisters in the Lord:

We are waiting our Lord's return to take the throne of David, established that everlasting kingdom which will be a reign of peace under the whole heaven. Luke i. 32, 33, Dan. vii. 27. The multitudes sleeping in the dust are waiting his return to call them to everlasting life 1 Thess iv. 16. We are waiting his return to destroy death, and him who has the power of death which is the devil. Even so come Lord Jesus, our every hope centers in thy return.

SADIE SKEELS.

Editor Restitution:

As we are nearing the Christmas time it is with pleasure I submit a few thoughts to our much beloved paper. God says come let us reason together and express in childlike simplicity our hope. Surely there is a bright future for all of God's weary waiting ones. As we see the fig tree put forth its buds we are reminded that summer is nigh. Let us look up and rejoice for our redemption draweth nigh. The summer of eternal youth and beauty will be ours if we hold our confidence steadfast unto the end. Let us not be weary in well doing, for in due time we shall reap if we faint not. And when the chief Shepherd shall appear we shall receive a crown of life that fadeth not away.

ANGELINE LENT.

Dear Household of faith:

We feel that a great responsibility is resting on us, for soon the door of the ark will be closed, and Oh! how many who are refusing to enter, will pray for the mountains to fall on them. The Lord is coming. What does this mean? Alas! to many, it means eternal death or destruction. But to a faithful few, it means everlasting life and happiness.

Your Sister waiting for the kingdom.

LAURA M. SKEELS.

Dear Restitution.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ. I will say I am ready for our King's coming for that glorious dawning. I am all alone as [illegible]

Brothers and Sisters Greeting:

I too, would say that I believe in the soon coming of Christ, and that I may be ready to meet him when he comes, and be accounted worthy of a crown of life is the earnest prayer of your sister.

MRS. H. L. COFFIN.

Editor Restitution:

Our Lord's return is drawing near. The signs in the east are unmistakable, the eagles are gathering around the carcass. Then let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works; not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, but exhorting one another so much the more as ye see the day approaching.

Your Brother in Christ,

LEE SUTHERLAND.

Dear Restitution:

I see that my time is about out, and as I do not want to miss a paper I haste to renew. I send $5.00 the balance over my renewal you will please to use in sending the RESTITUTION to some that are poorer than I am. We are taught that he that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord. And I have been striving to so order my life that when our dear Redeemer comes I may receive a crown that fadeth not away. I want if possible to be an overcomer. I think there is a grand deal of force in Bro. Wilson's article on the overcomers. I have been thinking that the parable of the ten virgins will fit in there, the wise are the overcomers.

Your Brother waiting for the Master.

J. B. LENT.

Dear Ones in Christ:

I am looking for the soon coming of our King. It seems that the way is clear, still there are some who will want a hiding place. May they realize their danger and become obedient at once, there is no time to be lost. Then their love is made perfect that they may have boldness in the day of judgment.

Your Sister awaiting our Master's return.

EMMA SUTHERLAND.

Dear Old Restitution:

[illegible]

Editor Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters I will send you all a kind Christmas greeting. May we all walk in the straight and narrow way that leadeth unto life.

Yours in the love of the truth,

CYRUS EVANS.

Editor Restitution:

My husband desires me to say something for the Christmas number of THE RESTITUTION. My faith is identified with his, and my hope is the "Blessed hope of the glorious appearing of my Savior" to judge the world in righteousness, and I believe the time of his appearing is not far away. I am trying to be ready to meet him. Pray for me that I may be able to enter into the marriage feast when he comes.

CALLIE WINCE.

Dear Restitution:

As the money is due on my subscription I will renew and send twenty-five cents for extra papers. Will also add my testimony of the faith in the very near coming of the Lord, the Anointed King of all the earth; but feel unworthy of the exceeding great honor of reigning with him. Still I am trying to overcome my evil passions. I am sure we have most precious promises to make us zealous to overcome the snares of the present evil world. May we all be overcomers, is my prayer.

MRS. A. P. WINGER.

Dear Restitution:

Brothers and Sisters of the Abrahamic faith, I for one will say that I am still watching and waiting for the soon coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I believe that he will come again in due season and without sin unto salvation, and that he will come with power and great glory; that he will come to be King of kings, and Lord of lords. Pray for me that I may ever be found walking in the straight and narrow way that leads to life everlasting.

Your Brother in hope of the soon coming of our Lord and Savior. Amen. So come Lord Jesus.

J. M. THOM.

Editor Restitution:

It is with pleasure that we avail ourselves of the privilege so kindly extended to all to write a few lines expressive of our faith and hope in the soon coming of our blessed Lord. Yes, we believe he is coming again, and that very soon, to raise the dead and change the living and establish an everlasting kingdom on the earth. The signs of the times indicate that it is near, even at the door. Seeing we look for such things, may our heavenly Father help us to so live that when the Master comes he will find us ready so that we may stand before him approved, and not be ashamed. In view of the present state of things our daily prayer is, come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

Your Brother and Sister in hope.

A. & S. M. SEITZ.

Brethren in the Lord:

The thought came to my mind as I commenced to write, What a grand gathering it would be if all the readers of THE RESTITUTION could meet face to face, and talk of the blessed hope and the glory of the coming Kingdom. But greater still will it be when the Lord comes, and we shall all join in singing the glad song of redeeming love. Thou art worthy to take the book and to open the seal thereof, for thou wast slain and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every nation and kindred and tongue, and hast made us unto our God kings and priests, and we shall reign on the earth. Yes, we believe that the same Jesus that was taken up into heaven will soon be here. He comes to those who are looking for him, and he brings his reward with him. Are each one of our lamps trimmed and burning? Is there plenty of oil in our vessels? If so, blessed state.

MR. & MRS. A. BALCH.

Editor Restitution:

I desire to add my testimony with those of like precious faith. Oh! how I long for the fulfillment of the prophecies relating to the coming of Jesus and the establishment of his kingdom. May we deny ourselves of all ungodliness and worldly lust, and keep our lamps well trimmed and burning, and oil in our vessels, forgetting those things which are behind and

To the scattered ones:

I look for Jesus to come at my time. I long to see and be accepted of him, that I may rest from all earthly cares. My faith is strong. Little by little I overcome. I always find God's grace sufficient for me. The way is so bright. I love Jesus and his appearing. He will come in bodily shape, (be flesh and bone, will eat, drink and talk with the saints in the kingdom.) By God's grace I shall enter.

Your Sister firm in the blessed hope.

MARY A. KING.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the household of faith:

My hope is in the coming of our King Jesus to reign on the earth, and the resurrection from the dead to life everlasting with Christ our Lord. To me he is very precious, yea altogether lovely, the Chiefest among ten thousand. May we ever by thought or deed bring reproach upon that sacred name is my prayer.

MARY WOLFE.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am a stranger to most of you, but I am waiting and praying for the coming of the Lord, for he says I am the root and offspring of David, the bright and morning star, and I come quickly.

Your Sister in Christ.

LIZZA SMITH.

Editor Restitution:

When Jesus was talking to his disciples of his second coming, He said unto them, "what I say unto you, I say unto you all, watch." It was he who also said, "I go to prepare a place for you and if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto myself that where I am you may be also." The signs of the times indicate that the time is very near when the promise will be fulfilled, and I am watching and watching for the bright and morning star, the root and the offspring of David to come and sit on David's throne and reign before his ancients gloriously. May we all be overcomers is my earnest prayer, that we may reign with him.

O. M. MITCHELL.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the household of faith:

POETRY.

[For the Christmas Number.]

"Jesus Will Come."

Oh blessed the thought, When Jesus will come
To reign on the earth from the heavenly dome.
The saints will be there in glorious array
And dwell with him through eternal day.

The kingdom so holy and gifted with love,
Sent from the father who reigneth above.
The street paved in gold so radiant above,
Shining on all with celestial light.

The placid waves of the pearly river,
Will flow gently on forever and ever.
The glorified saints will tread its bright shore,
And sing the glad tidings forever more.

"The tree of life" with branches rich and raw,
Reflecting on the waves of the waters so fair.
Sweet rest may be beneath its cooling shade,
The leaves of its grandeur never will fade.

It heals—are the healing of Christ alone,
Raising them in purity, bright as the morning star.
Guiding them home to the haven of rest,
To dwell in peace on Jesus' breast.

Jesus will come, descending from the skies,
Bidding those that love him from their graves arise,
Saying unto them, "I'll go with thee,"
To the realms of the Kingdom, there I'll reign with me.

Friends will be there and join in my meet,
And now at the throne at Jesus' feet
Partake of the joy awaiting them there
Be free from all sorrow, sin and care.

HATTIE J. FANN.

Dear Restitution:

To all who have attained a knowledge of the glorious gospel of the kingdom, and obeyed it from the heart, by being baptized into Christ, and to this adds a holy walk in life, the coming of Jesus means everything. Its blessings are inexpressibly grand, they are so rich, that it is difficult for the human mind to either grasp their scope, or express them as we would wish to others. To all such it means life from the dead, a life in which there are no heart-aches, the pangs of sorrow will find no place in such a bosom, tear-stained faces will be relegated to the past. We will no more follow the solemn peal of the funeral bell, in the mournful march to the city of the dead, Jesus will deal a death-blow to the relentless tyrant. Praise God for victory! At that time the helpless cripple will leap for joy. Blind eyes will feast on the earth made new, and beautiful as only God can do it. The tongue of the dumb will shout for joy, and sing God's praises. The ear of the dumb will feast on the melodies of the songs of the redeemed ones. The hungry will know no want, one shall not plant and another eat. Bless God for his goodness! The inhabitant of that blessed clime shall no more say "I am sick." Strife, fraud, and deceit will exist no more, because we will then love each other; brethren and sisters in the Lord should do so now. Soldiers will no more meet in dreadful conflict on the battlefield, peace and harmony shall then flow as a river. Injustice and misrule will also cease, because our Jesus shall reign in righteousness. All vexatious things incident to this life will be experienced no more, they will be looked upon as former things that used to be.

Reader, don't you want to be there? Believe and obey and God will bless you even now. Yours in hope.

W. H. WILSON.

Dear Restitution:

We love to read it because it tells us plain gospel truths, and gives us good instruction that we may be profitted by. We have no preacher, but we meet on Sundays and have Bible readings so that we and our children may get the knowledge of the truth as it is in Christ Jesus. We, too, desire to be overcomers, so that when our Lord and King comes that we may have a right to the tree of life. We believe the signs of the times indicate that the end of the age is near at hand, for it seems that these are the times spoken of. So let us ever watch to be ready when Jesus comes. Remember us in your prayer. Yours in faith.

JOHN & BOOKER CARPENTER.

Dear Restitutions:

I can truly say to the brothers and sisters that I believe that Jesus is soon coming, who is the Author and Finisher of our faith. My prayer is that we may be ready to meet him.

AGNES DILWORTH.

Dear Restitution:

I am about through my catechism, and I am going through it again. We have Sunday school at our houses every Sunday. I am ten years old. I like to go to Sunday school. I have one sister and four brothers.

FLOYD CARPENTER.

Dear Restitution:

We can not get along without the dear RESTITUTION. It is all the preaching we have here, isolated from any church organization of the one faith. But we still are trusting in the Lord. He is our guide and helper. We hope and pray we will be among the overcomers when Jesus comes. Yours waiting for the Master.

REBECCA & ANNA BALDWIN.

Dear Restitution:

I thought as I saw so many letters of the dear brothers and sisters in THE RESTITUTION there are certainly a few of us in the one faith. Thank the Lord for that, it cheers me on. I am living and hoping that my dear Savior will soon come to this earth and redeem what was lost through the first man Adam. I am quite alone here in the one faith, but am hoping to have an abundant entrance into Christ's kingdom, with all of the worthy ones, is my prayer. Pray for me that I may be accounted worthy to enter in and be saved at the straight gate.

J. SIPES.

Dear Restitution:

In reply to Bro. Dwiggins request, I esteem it one of the greatest privileges to stand as a witness for my blessed Lord, for the loving kindness has been bestowed on me the last fifty-seven years, and the blessed hope planted in my heart. This is my hope and joy and crown of rejoicing, knowing, that the time is not far distant when my blessed Lord will come according to his blessed promise to whom he will appear to them that look for him. Oh, dear brothers and sisters, let us ever be waiting and watching and longing and praying for the coming of the Lord, that each of us may say, Lo, this is our God, we have waited for him and he will save us, so that each of us can safely say,

"There is my home, my portion fair,
My treasure and my heart are there,
And my eternal all."

J. CAUSDALE.

Brother Underwood:

And to all brothers and sisters of the one faith, just a word or two for our Christmas number of THE RESTITUTION. Our beloved Master (Jesus) after foretelling the events that would happen previous to his second coming, spake to the disciples a parable. "Behold the fig tree; and all the trees; When they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your ownselves that summer is nigh at hand. So likewise when ye see these things come to pass the things he had been speaking of, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand."

We are without doubt living in the very times foretold by our beloved Savior; living in times which prophets and disciples looked forward to with joyful anticipation. Why? Because in the words of Jesus, "When these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads for your redemption draweth nigh." Knowing this, and seeing the events unfolding every day, we once again, proclaim the apocalyptic welcome—"Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly." And now brothers and sisters in the Lord, when we know the night is far spent and the day is at hand, should we not give all diligence to make our calling and election sure, ever watching unto prayer that we be not caught napping, but have our lamps trimmed and burning, so that at whatever watch he comes, we will hear his call and go forth with joy to meet him.

That we may be so watching and found worthy of our dear Redeemer when he comes for his own, is the prayer of your brother and sister of the household of faith in Cleveland, O.

D. E. & MINNIE RUSSELL.

Dear Restitution:

I am nearly seventy years old and my wife is seventy-two. We are looking for Christ to come soon, and take to himself his Bride and rule this world in righteousness literally. Our prayer is come and come quickly and put down sin.

MR. & MRS. G. Y. BRYANT.

Dear Restitution:

My daily prayer is, "Thy kingdom come." Matt. vi. 10. I am watching for the signs of, (Matt. xxiv. 29-30) and the soon coming of our Lord Jesus Christ to raise the sleeping saints, and change the living ones, and give us eternal life as the possession of the divine nature, and a place in his kingdom. Come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

FRANK FOWLER.

Dear Restitution:

To, the Abrahamic family, the children of God by faith in the Anointed Jesus our Lord, I send greeting. Being assured of this one thing, that this mortal shall soon, very soon put on immortality, soon we shall see him who is the light of the world, Jesus our Savior. This assurance makes me strong in the faith, and fills my heart with praises to the living and true God. May our God grant unto us freely of his spirit, that we may all rejoice. Pray for me. In hope.

H. MURPHY.

Dear Brethren and Sisters of the Household of Faith:

I wish my testimony to appear in the Christmas Number and can truly say that I believe the events transpiring indicate the speedy fulfillment of "all things spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began;" the close of Gentile times and the dawning of a new era, which shall be ushered in by the personal appearing of our Lord Jesus, the Christ; it is my earnest desire to so live that I may be accounted worthy to be numbered among the glorified ones who shall enter with him into the gates of the city, and possess the kingdom forever and ever. Your Sister in Christ.

MRS. M. E. LAMB.

Dear Restitution:

As I have become a follower of Christ, and on the 22nd of September I with one of my friends was baptized by Elder Moyer of Clarksville, Iowa. Although being a believer for about three years I never obeyed until then. But now I feel more determined than ever in my life, to always be a faithful follower of Christ, and that my daily walks may show to my friends I mean to serve my Lord and Master. Though like all Christians who are journeying toward the Holy City, I have met with some discouragements, but the light of his love seems to shine more brightly when the clouds have cleared away. Now, I wish to thank the correspondents of THE RESTITUTION for the words of encouragement to the young converts. Ever your Sister in Christ.

MILLIE STUFFLEBEAM.

To the Brethren and Sisters in Christ Jesus, scattered abroad, Greeting:

To them of like precious faith, looking for a city whose maker and builder is God, let me assure you dear faithful ones that my faith and hope is firm in the God and Rock of my salvation. There is no need of discouragement. The rays of light and hope and glory, begin to shine over the eastern hilltops. Cheer up weary ones, soon our King will come in all his glory and beauty to rescue his humble, faithful children, and crown them with glory and honor unfading. To you who have been redeemed from your vain conversation with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot. Wherefore, beloved, seeing ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless. Establish your hearts for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh. Look up, and lift up your heads, for your redemption draweth nigh. Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you. Greet one another with an holy kiss.

T. E. ADAMS.

Editor Restitution:

In reply to Bro. Dwiggins request I can say, I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. I think the signs of the times indicate the nearness of his coming. Come Lord Jesus and come quickly and relieve us of the cares and burdens of this world.

JESSE WHITE.

Editor Restitution:

I believe the slaughtering and killing of Christians by the great Turkish Power, and the uprising of the nations all points to the soon coming King, who will set up a kingdom that will destroy all the kingdoms of the earth. Oh, let us all pray for the soon coming King, that he put a stop to cruelties and carnages of war, that we may have our King, our Lord, to rule the whole earth.

MRS. KATY BEES.

Editor Restitution:

I fully believe in the second coming of Christ. Without his coming again every thing in the Bible is blank, useless, vain, misleading. But Christ will come again to this earth, set up the throne of his father David and set thereon and rule the nations with a rod of iron, and the church will be his assistants in blessing all the families of the earth. Can we think or ask a greater reward? My prayer is, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly." Yours in the one hope.

S. D. SPEAR.

Dear Restitution:

Christ is coming, personally coming to reign as our King, as the Prince of Peace, coming to give life to the sleeping saints, to change the living saints from mortal to the immortal state. This is is our hope, and our desire, and our expectation. We believe that the time is at hand, as expressed by the poet:

"We have passed the roads of Babylon, and the Medo-Persian heights,
We have left the realms of Grecia far behind,
We've been sailing down the Roman shore, these eighteen hundred years,
And the chart declares the port we soon shall find

Yes, the King in his beauty will come. In hope.

W. L. & LINDA M. WINSLOW.

Dear Restitution:

I believe that we are now in the harvest of the gospel age, and that the day of the Lord is at hand, also the thief-like stage of his coming to gather his over-comeing saints. When, "one shall be taken and another left." To me the following are important signs, First, the gospel of the Kingdom is published and preached among all nations, Matt. xxiv. 14, Second, the gospel net is now full of every kind, Matt. xiii. 47-50. Third, the tares are now bound in their bundles for the burning, Matt. xiii. 24-43, which are the secret societies, whose root is selfishness, being bound by their oaths and their selfish interests, and they are doing their separating work.

HIRAM SHOEMAKER.

Dear Restitution:

I send you post office order for $1.50 for which please give me credit. I, too, like many others would feel lonely without THE RESTITUTION. Have often wondered if there were very many in our state who welcome its weekly visits. Have seen so very few names with whom I am personally acquainted. If we can only gain a home in the coming kingdom of God, we may sometime become acquainted with those who write for and take our paper.

We are now living in a thriving little village on the railroad which passes from Battle Creek, Michigan, to Goshen, Indiana. I know of no one in the town who believes the good news concerning Christ and his kingdom. But I read a chapter each day in the presence of my children, hoping that they may sometime believe the glorious gospel and prepare to meet the Bridegroom when he comes. I regard the Word of God as a lamp to our feet, and a light to our path. The same promises that cheer and encourage you, dear brethren and sisters, are precious to me. My prayer is "Let the whole earth be filled with thy glory." Yours waiting for the King.

AURORA C. HARTMAN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

I am trusting in Christ, and his promises to help me live right. I am trying earnestly to be an overcomer, that I may enjoy the promises that await the faithful ones. I ask an interest in your prayers, that I may be numbered with the blest when Jesus comes.

MRS. E. MCLENITHAN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I do believe in the literal, visable, and personal coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, to reign on his throne which will be as literal as the throne once occupied by David and Solomon. And from the unrest of nations I believe his coming is near at hand. Even so, come Lord Jesus, O, do come soon, is my prayer.

D. F. BOWLES.

Dear Restitution:

Most gladly do I give my testimony that I am looking for the soon coming of my blessed Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, and am striving to overcome in order that I may be accounted worthy to enter into that rest which remains to the people of God. Your brother, patiently waiting.

J. EMMAH HATCH.

Dear Restitution:

I pen the following for the Christmas number of your paper. I do believe in the personal coming of God's dear Son, the first begotten out from among the dead, he is to be governor over the nations to sway the scepter of his righteousness from the rivers even unto the end of the earth, the signs proclaim him near. Yours in hope.

J. D. SIMONS.

Dear Restitution:

I see that my subscription has run out some time ago. Please find enclosed $1.50 for another year. I enjoy the paper very much and bid it God speed. There are none of like faith in these parts and I would be very lonely if it was not for the papers and books to read. Yours waiting for the coming of the King.

MRS. M. D. MORROW.

Dear Restitution;

We will be glad to write a few lines for the Christmas paper. We are still trusting in the Lord and watching and waiting for his literal coming. Dear brothers and sisters, let us not be discouraged in the good work for the Master, that when he comes we may be permitted to live with him in his kingdom. Yours in hope of eternal life. Pray for us that we may be found worthy.

MR. & MRS. WM. BRYANT.

Dear Restitution:

Yes, I firmly believe the second coming of the Lord Jesus Christ is near. The object of his coming is to raise the dead and change the living saints to be rulers with him in the ages to come. "He that overcometh and keepeth my works to the end to him will I give power over the nations." Rev. ii. 26. (After the last great battle of Armageddon. Rev. xvi. 16.) Let us be overcomers is my prayer.

A. NICHOLS.

Dear Restitution:

Yes, I believe our dear Lord is coming soon. I am ready and long for the time, can do nothing, but wait. Please dear brother, to send me THE RESTITUTION, for that and my Bible are all there is for me. I can see to read for which I thank God and try to wait patiently for the Lord. I am in my 75th year and can hear hardly anything. My health is very poor and I do not think that I shall want the paper long.

MRS. MOLLIE RATHBUN.

Dear Restitution:

Enclosed you will find $1.50 for the paper another year. I watch its coming each week, and read its contents with pleasure. We now have a few Brethren near us of the like precious faith who we meet with quite often. What comfort it is to talk over the grand and exceeding precious promises by which we can become partakers of the divine nature and to read to each other of the soon coming of our Lord. Oh, dear brothers and sisters what will it be when we all meet with our Dear Redeemer never to part any more?

JENNETTA TILLMAN.

Dear Restitution:

I want to thank you and Bro. Dwiggins for the priviledge of expressing my belief in the return of the great King to remove the curse, which is my daily prayer. So come Lord Jesus.

D. J. WOODWARD.

Dear Restitution:

I am looking for the Lord from heaven. His coming means very much to me. I am living among a class of world-wise Christians who know nothing about or care nothing for the coming of our blessed Christ, but my heart exclaims, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly."

MARY ALLMAN.

Editor Restitution:

As Bro. Dwiggins has suggested all to send their testimony, I wish to take part in that meeting. I believe with all my heart that the Lord is coming again, literally to this earth and all signs indicate his soon coming. My daily prayer is "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly." Your Sister in the one faith.

MRS. C. C. RANDOLPH.

To the dear ones looking for Jesus:

What would I say to you if I could never speak to you again this side of the coming of the Savior? Be ready! You have this hope in you, purify yourselves even as he is pure. Single acts may decide your destiny. "The Kingdom of God is nigh at hand." We are certain of this. We see the things hoped for, becoming substance. Live so that others may want to be like you.

S. ROXANA WINCE.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

I would like to join your number, I am nearly seventy two, but I have a living hope that anchors within the veil. With these eyes, I hope soon to behold the King in his beauty. We shall soon see him as he is. O how I long to be there! and join in the glad anthems of the redeemed. While we wait and watch, let us pray, "Come Lord Jesus, come quicky. Amen." Your Sister in hope of an endless life.

NAOMI BLACK.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

We are reminded today of our Lords first advent and are looking for his second coming, because the prophets preached it, the angels declared it, the apostles preached it, the church in all ages has longed for it. He himself said he would come again and our own prayer is, "even so come Lord Jesus and come quickly." Amen. Let us be faithful a little while and he will come.

MR. & MRS. J. MERIDEW.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am happy this morning to join your number in our Christmas love feast. I am raised to a rapture when I realize that we are almost home. Soon we shall meet in our Fathers house. Soon Jerusalem will be forever free, and Gentile times fulfilled. O then what next? Israel's King, our own dear Jesus will come. Luke xxi. 24. His word can not fail. Let us look up and pray in concert. "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly, Amen." Your Sister in hope.

SALLIE BLACK.

Dear Restitution:

I will herewith send you an order of five dollars to pay for another years subscription for THE RESTITUTION, my own and two others, and the balance to the poor fund as I would not like to do without the paper, and suppose others are like me. We have not much true gospel preaching here. They have all kind of views on gospel faith, but it seems to me we are in the times that the apostle tells of, that they won't endure sound doctrine, but are doing according to their own notions. I do not see much Christianity in those church fairs and festivals to raise money to decorate their church houses to make a show and invite the world and all to come and have a good time for it for a good cause. It seems to me that if they had the Lord's cause at heart they would not go tagging to the world. I have not so learned the Lord Jesus Christ. But to keep his commandments and looking for his coming again to judge the world in righteousness. I remain yours affectionately.

JESSE H. BEAM.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I believe that Christ will soon come and set up his Kingdom, and I want to be ready to meet him when he comes. My prayer is, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly." I ask the prayers of the church.

HANNAH GRAHAM.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I believe that Christ's second advent is near at hand even at the door, my daily prayer is "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." Yours in hope of eternal life.

MRS. W. H. HARTT.

Editor Restitution:

I am a firm believer in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ to earth. May we live so that we can say in that day, "Lo this is our God we have waited for him, he has come to save us." Your Brother in Christ.

D. ALGUIRE.

Editor Restitution:

I for one am looking for our Blessed Lord and Master to come to this earth again to raise the sleeping saints and change the living ones. The signs tell us the time is nigh at hand. "Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly" is my prayer.

JANE MASCHO.

Dear Restitution:

I am now with the brethren and and friends at Hammond, La., conducting a meeting in the Congregational church, and am thankful for another opportunity of joining the Christmas feast. Also for Bro. W. H. W's exposition and exhortation on Gen. xii. for Dec. 4th.

O, to be an overcomer;
Let us try, try again."

Yes we verily believe that His second coming is near, even at the doors. See Mark, xiii. 29. And that now is the accepted time to prepare for that grand event. Yours in hope of life, when Jesus comes. Amen.

R. A. HUMPHREYS.

Dear Ones in Christ:

Can we in any other way remember our Savior better, than by testifying before the world our faith in his soon coming kingdom? How eagerly I am watching the signs that tell of the near approach of our Savior who was born so many years ago. When the angels sang, "Glory to God in the highest," and now we can lift up our heads and rejoice for he is soon coming the second time in glory, and to establish the kingdom which shall never be destroyed, but stand forever. Blessed thought, may we soon meet in that kingdom. Christmas greeting to each brother and sister in Christ.

ELLA T. KNOWLES.

Dear Restitution:

My brethren of the twelve tribes of spiritual Israel scattered abroad greeting. "Ye are the body of Christ and members in particular." "Looking for that blessed hope and with me loving the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior Jesus Christ." "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." In unity discerning the Lord's body—that is to be composed of "pure in heart"—those who overcome and are gathered from the four corners of the earth, at the appearing of our Lord. I love you dear brethren because we are all members one of another. Your sister of like faith and hope.

MATILDA WOODBURY.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I hasten to add my mite to the letter drawer for Christmas, for as I am isolated from the household, their letters of admonition and cheer, as well as the instructive and encouraging discourses from the preaching brethren strengthen and help me without measure. I will now answer a few questions proposed in the editorial. Do you think the Lord is literally coming to this earth again? I do. Do you think the signs of the times indicate his soon coming? I do. Are the cares and burdens of this world so heavy that you desire his coming? They are. Do you pray, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," or "Come Lord Jesus"? O for more love and works. Yours in hope.

E. J. RICHARDS.

Thus (a thousand years)
At the time of restitution
Jesus Christ will come again,
To reward his saints and servants,
And with them forever reign.

Chorus.

Yes he is coming, Christ is coming,
To receive his throne and reign,
And the saints shall be rewarded,
When the Christ does come again.

Yes we'll see the Savior coming
Back to this same earth again,
And the saints who are now sleeping,
He'll awake with him to reign.

Chorus.

On Mount Zion in fair Canaan,
He shall rule from Zion to Zion,
And the saints with him be reigning,
They shall rule the world alone.

Chorus.

On David's throne, Oh yes, in Zion,
We shall reign as Kings and priest,
With Judah's King, the mighty Lion,
We shall rule the world in peace.

Chorus.

J. P. GLENN.

Dear Restitution:

"Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life. He that heareth these words of mine and doeth them, etc."

Dear brethren, we are so scattered we cannot see each other, so it is a good thing to meet in the columns of our paper and renew old friendships, some of them over forty years past. When we entered into covenant relation with Christ we agreed to consecrate our time, talents, and means as his agents to represent them in our life work. We believe in his personal coming and are looking for him. Great events are just ahead of us. The warning comes from different sources to keep an eye on 90. And now a suggestion: suppose he should come and send out his angels to gather in the saved ones. Suppose one of those should call on either of us, and propound these questions: what have you been doing with your time and means the past year? Perhaps your reply would be, I have taken our paper, attended meetings when all was pleasant and we had an interesting speaker. Is that all? Suppose you should have lost a cow or a horse, or your wagon or machine had broken down, could you have managed to replace them? Your answer would be, I suppose I could. If your neighbor had some new machine or improvement, or a bridge or a new road was needed, could you have spared time to have gone and seen them? Why, yes certainly. Well now, have you given to those same ones with a warm, loving heart, with papers, tracts and urging them to our meetings. When you hired that poor man or woman to help along with your work, did you pay them in chips and whet-stones, and make them feel under obligations to you for even that, or did you pay them liberally in something real and have them going away feeling that you really was a Christian. Have you treated your family like slaves, or so let your light shine as to make your home a bright and happy one? Have you really been working for Christ as his agent, or for your ownself? Did you really give up all, or like Ananias and Sapphira keep back most, or have you like the foolish virgins let your lights go out? I am looking for the faithful doers, those and those only are such as my Master sent me for. Dear brethren, in view of the above Scriptures and the signs of the times, let us make this Christmas one of a re-consecration of all to the cause we profess so much interest in. As a membership our numbers are quite large, many are poor but many are in moderate circumstances; some have incomes much more over their expenses, adding to their means each year, giving only enough to keep up appearances. This is all wrong, we have ample means, the list of our paper should be doubled. The shelves unloaded of the tracts and books, and sent on their mission. Our evangelists should be doubled in number, and they not kept on starvation pay. Let us not talk so much about being prepared to die, but rather to wake up and be prepared to live, and the Lord will take care of the living. Let us make this Christmas a beginning of a new life, resolve to be his faithful doers and then if our Lord should come we may be among the saved.

Kindly submitted.

D. S. MARROW.

Dear Restitution:

I believe that the Lord will soon come to gather his people, and give them eternal life and a home in the kingdom of God which will be set up at his coming. Let us be ready to meet him in peace.

H. M. RAILSBACK.

Brethren in the Lord:

The "letter drawer" is the best part of THE RESTITUTION for me. My prayer is that God may so order the lives of the contributors to the Christmas Number, that in his soon-coming kingdom we may meet not only each other, but the Savior and all the loved ones he will bring from the enemy's land.

G. M. ALEXANDER.

Dear Restitution:

Jesus is coming. These glad tidings fill our hearts with joy and gladness.

ARTHUR G. SCHUMAN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am looking for the soon coming of our glorious King. The throubles in Armenia point unmistakably to that glorious event. I see in the pillage and slaughter of the Armenian Christians, a fulfillment of Rev. xviii. 6, they are nearly all Greek or Roman Catholic Christians. I am also looking to see an account of Zech. xiv. 2, fulfilled in Jerusalem. There is an undesirable element in Jerusalem, and the Turk has proved himself capable of cleaning it out. This will create jealousies and rivalry. Then what? "Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision."

DANIEL HOWARD.

Dear Restitution:

I believe that the Lord Jesus Christ will soon come back to this earth again, to raise the righteous dead and change the righteous living, and give them a home in the kingdom of God, and rule the world in righteousness. Let us all be ready.

LOURINDA RAILSBACK.

Editor Restitution:

Once more we approach that season of the year when we each one like to think of giving and receiving gifts. Many a friend will sacrifice a little in order to remember another in the way of a token.

But while we are thus wrapping one more chord about friendship to bind it even stronger, do we remember the circumstances surrounding those events nearly nineteen centuries ago for which this day of the year is commemorated? That then there came into the world not an ordinary being, but one who endured many sacrifices that he might present you and I with that great gift, Eternal Life.

And while we would all feel injured to have a friend refuse the token we have labored to procure for them, yet we seem to take little thought of what we are doing when we refuse to accept the gift offered by our Father and his Son.

Yes, many do pretend to accept the offer who actually, as it were, merely reach out their hand and receive the offer and as soon as the giver's back is turned lay the present one side where it will never be of any use to them.

Brethren, sisters, and friends let us be sure that we accept the offer, and cherish it up in good and honest hearts.

F. L. AUSTIN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the household of faith:

It is with heartfelt thanks to God that I am permitted to join in this love feast. Five years ago I heard the glorious gospel of the kingdom. My husband and I obeyed and accepted the true gospel of Christ and ever since, have been striving to walk in the straight and narrow way, looking forward to that great reward if faithful until the end.

Yours Respectfully.

MRS. E. S. GIBSON.

Dear Restitution:

Wishing to have part in the Christmas love feast, will say that I love the Lord because he first loved me, and I am striving to walk daily in the way he would have me go, and I can say like the Seer of Patmos, come Lord Jesus and come quickly, set death's captives free and bring the long promised jubilee. Yours waiting for the Master to give reward unto his servants.

CARROL E. HATCH.

Editor Restitution:

Soon we shall celebrate a new and better day of Christ's coming, a day that will bring no suffering but everlasting joy, good will and peace to all, to all men.

Your Sister loving in his name,

MARY E. SCHUMAN.

Editor Restitution:

There is nothing so much appreciated by me as articles on the soon coming of Jesus. Yes the one we love supremely is soon coming to take unto Himself His Bride and with her restore all things as foretold by the holy prophets, we shall then meet and see all saints of all ages. Dear reader are you ready to take your place as a king and priest in this grand reunion and inauguration of earth's rightful King.

J. Z. SCHUMAN.

Editor Restitution:

I do firmly believe that Christ will come the second time without sin unto salvation, and when he does come, He and His Bride will fulfill the promises made to Abraham to bless all the earth. "Come Lord Jesus and come quickly" is the prayer of an unworthy Sister.

MARY E. HOWARD.

Dear Restitution:

In accordance with the request of Bro. Dwiggins, and as I am looking for the realization of the blessed hope and the glorious appearing of the Great God and Savior Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us. For as Paul says, be always ready to give a reason for the hope that is within you. And when the dividing heaven shall reveal Jesus that I may say with all the saints, "Lo this is our Lord, we have waited for him," is my prayer.

Yours in hope of Eternal life.

JAS. SANFORD.

Editor Restitution:

I am waiting and looking for the glorious appearing of our Lord. I want to so live that I will not be one to whom he will say, depart from me for I have no pleasure in you, but that I may be welcomed with the precious words, "Come unto me ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for thee from the foundation of the world.

ADDIE WALKER.

Dear Restitution:

I am one among those that are looking for that blessed hope, (the establishment of the Kingdom) and the glorious appearing of our dear Savior. For it is then that the righteous shall inherit the land and dwell therein forever. Oh let us all strive to be overcomers, that we may receive the many precious promises made to none others except them.

BETTIE LAWRENCE.

Brothers and Sisters Greeting:

When the Son of Man shall come in his glory, and all his angels with him, I want to be there and behold his glory. When he decends with a shout, and the trumpet of God to raise the dead and change the living from mortal to immortality. I want to experience the change, for when he comes we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is. The Alpha and Omega, the first and the last, and behold I come quickly, even so come Lord Jesus.

WALTER BALES.

To the scattered ones:

Husband and Neice Mrs. B. A. Snyder, who unites with me in praising God for his kindness and mercy in opening up a way that we might have eternal life in his soon coming Kingdom, teaching us that denying ungodliness and worldy lusts, we should live soberly, righteously and godly in this present world, looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior Jesus Christ. Love to all.

A. J. WINCHESTER.

Dear Restitution:

Do I believe that Christ will come? Why certainly I do, for Jesus says in Matthew, xxiv. 30, speaking to his apostles, "And then shall appear the sign of the Son of Man in heaven, and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory."

R. M. FYFE.

To the Brethren and Sisters in Christ Jesus, scattered abroad, Greeting:

Let us all be faithful to the work before us during the coming year, and cultivate a more liberal spirit where we differ. Help the weak and be true to the cause we all so dearly love. Let the fear of God be over us, and the love of Christ constrain us in every work.

A. J. & ANNA K. EYCHANER.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

As I have never written to the RESTITUTION, which I love to read so well, I will try and write a few lines. I can say for one that I am trying to live as near right as I can. I would like to be one of the number that he will say to, Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joys of thy Lord.

Yours in Hope.

FANNIE NORBURY.

Dear Restitution:

Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down upon the beard, even Aaron's beard, that went down to the skirts of his garments. As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion. For there the Lord commanded the blessing even life forever more.

F. & E. MCMILLIN.

Dear Ones in Christ:

I feel it a great privilege to add my testimony for Christ in this Christmas number of THE RESTITUTION. I believe that the same Jesus taken up bodily into heaven will soon come back to establish that heavenly kingdom upon the earth so long ago fortold by God's holy prophets. I believe that he will at that time raise the righteous dead, change the living and they with Christ their head will bless all nations and families of the earth, and so verify the promise made unto Abraham. Even so come Lord Jesus.

You Sister in Hope of eternal life.

S. V. REGAL.

Dear Restitution:

Brothers and Sisters I believe the record of the birth, life, crucifixion, burial and resurrection of Jesus, the Christ of God. And I am looking for his second coming to finish his work he began over eighteen centuries ago in raising the righteous dead, and setting up his kingdom on the earth, and rule the world in righteousness.

D. C. SATTERLE.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the Household of Faith:

My self and five children, four who have just yielded obedience, are now watching and waiting for our soon-coming King, we believe he is nigh even at the door.

Your Sister in Christ.

ARLOA SIPLE.

Editor Restitution:

Bro. R. A. Humphreys has been here at Hammond holding meetings for over a week, and though the attendance was small, his kind, earnest, yet firm way of presenting the truth, had its effect, and two of my brothers and two sisters yielded obedience to the gospel, may they prove faithful and be ready when Jesus comes, which we believe is not far distant.

ALBERT SIPLE.

Dear Restitution:

Dear Brothers and Sisters we are once more called on to send in our Christmas greeting to our loved paper, for one another, now let us each send a few lines, it may be the means of strengthening some brother, and giving him encouragement to hold on to the faith. Let us fight the good fight of faith, that we may lay hold on eternal life.

Your brother, waiting for the coming King.

J. W. BOOTH.

Editor Restitution:

Good news dear ones, our King is coming to establish everlasting righteousness and to break in pieces the oppressor, the grandest news that mortals ever heard. Are we all ready and longing for his return? if so we will help to bless the nations when he comes.

Yours hoping to see the King in his beauty.

NANNIE HOOGS.

Editor Restitution:

We the members of the Church of God of Moorefield, Nebraska, believing that the signs of the times indicate the soon coming of our Lord, that we are looking, watching and praying for his coming and his kingdom. Believing that the same Jesus that was taken up into heaven, shall so come in like manner as he was taken up into heaven, and that he shall change these vile bodies to immortality.

Your Brothers and Sisters in hope.

M D Newell
Mrs Sue Newell
Mrs M H Ealy
Mrs C M Grimm
P J Schultz
A F Schultz
E A Morgan
M E Morgan
R A Shaw
Mrs R A Shaw
Jennie Brown
W T Brown
C T Stedman
L M Stedman
S J Stedman
L J Stedman
M A Stedman
E Stedman
H M Shaffer
Mrs J P Johnson
W S Grimm
Bessie Newell
Clara Morgan
C E Shaffer

Editor Restitution:

I can say for my husband and myself that we are waiting for the coming of our Lord. May God speed the day is our prayer.

ELLA & JAMES HOWARD.

Dear Restitution:

I thought I would like to be one of those who will write for the Christmas number. I believe in the soon coming of the Lord. Jesus says, "Behold I come quickly." Let us all live so that we may be accepted of him when he comes.

Your Sister in Christ.

MYRTA RAILSBACK.

Christmas Greeting:

Dear ones in Christ, we too want to say that we are of the pilgrim band, waiting for the King in his beauty. What a gathering it will be when we meet at his throne. Let us be faithful, only a few more trials and temptations to overcome, then the crown is won, "For behold I come quickly and my reward is with me." Let us be glad and rejoice, and give honor to him for the marriage of the lamb is come, and the wife hath made herself ready.

Love and merry Christmas to all.

HUGH & BANNIE BARNHILL.

My dear Christian Friends:

I believe in the soon coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. We know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that has this hope in him, purifieth himself, even as he is pure. 1 John iii. 2, 3. Let us all be faithful to the end.

MARY J. HATCH.

Christmas:

The birthday of our Savior, the babe at Bethlehem, who is now in Heaven, interceding for us. We have the promise that he will come again, and I believe the signs portend his coming near at hand.

MRS. G. L. GILBERT.

Editor Restitution:

Reading the suggestion of Bro. Dwiggins which I think a good one, I will express a few words in regard to my hope. Yes I am waiting and watching for our Lord and Savior, and I think the time is not far off when we shall see him in his glory. Oh, for more faith, more love, and more light, that we may see our way more clear. Yes I think the time will soon come that we shall see him as he is. Such is my hope and desire.

MRS. D. I. TITCHENAL.

Editor Restitution:

Shall I say that my Lord delayeth his coming? No. O! no, when we see so many of the signs fulfilling in our day, wars, famine, pestilence, earthquakes. Men's hearts failing them for fear. We know that we are nearer than when we first believed. We will pray as our Lord taught us to pray. "Thy Kingdom come, etc. As Christ must come first we pray, come Lord Jesus, come quickly. Amen.

OLLIE E. BRADLY.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

Now is the time to make your plans for your winter California Trip. Ask agents on the Nickel Plate Road about low rates and connections with the fast California trains out of Chicago.—Jan. 1.

Excursion Rates, Atlanta Exposition.

Round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., account the Exposition are now on sale via Pennsylvania Lines at reduced rates. Persons contemplating a trip to the South during the coming fall and winter will find it profitable to apply to Ticket Agents of the Pennsylvania Lines for details. The person to see at Plymouth, Ind., is Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes.

The Nickel Plate Road is the shortest line between Chicago and Buffalo.—Jan. 1.

Nickel Plate Road and Low rates are synonyms.—Jan. 1.

Excursion to Atlanta, Ga.

Excursion tickets to the Cotton States and International Exposition, Atlanta, Ga., will be on sale at the Vandalia until Dec. 31, 1895. For further information call on or address the undersigned.

T. A. DOWNS, Ag't.

Nickel Plate Road, Low Rates, and Perfect Service are all synonyms. A Through Sleeping Car Service between Chicago, Ft. Wayne, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston.—Jan. 1.

Santa Claus.

Has induced the Nickel Plate Road to sell excursion tickets at low rates to all points on the line between Buffalo and Chicago, Dec. 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and Jan. 1st, 1896.

Facts Conclusive.

We expect your patronage because the Nickel Plate Road operates conveniently scheduled trains equipped with unexcelled dining cars and luxurious sleepers between Chicago, Cleveland, Erie, New York and Boston. Lowest rates.—Jan. 1.

Holiday Excursions via Pennsylvania Lines.

On December 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and January 1, 1896, excursion tickets will be sold from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh to points on those lines, valid to return until January 2d, 1896. For details please apply to nearest Pennsylvania Line ticket agent.

Avail yourself of the opportunity to visit your friends while Holiday Rates are in effect between all stations between Buffalo and Chicago on the line of the Nickel Plate Road. Tickets on sale Dec. 24th, 25th and 31st, 1895, and Jan. 1st, 1896.

Winter Resort Excursions,—California and the West, Florida and the South.

Low rate tickets now on sale via Pennsylvania Lines. Variable routes and ample return limit. For details apply to nearest ticket agent of the Pennsylvania Lines. The person to see at Plymouth, is Ticket Agent J. E. Hanes.

California passengers should ask agents of the Nickel Plate Road for rates and connections before purchasing tickets elsewhere.—Jan. 1.

The Nickel Plate Road operates a Dining and Sleeping Car service.—Jan. 1.

Holiday Excursions via Vandalia Line.

For the Holidays the Vandalia Line will sell excursion tickets at reduced rates from all stations, to local points on the Vandalia Line, and also to points on connecting lines. For full particulars call on nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen. Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

The Nickel Plate Road has through Sleeping Cars to Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston.—Jan. 1.

Clergy Rate will Remain the Same

The question of a change in railroad fare charged clergymen has been settled by the managing officers of railways in territory covered by the Central Traffic Association agreeing to continue to allow a rate of one and one-half cents per mile. For the coming year regularly accredited clergyman, who may be entitled to the same under the rules can, therefore, procure reduced rate tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh, same as during 1895. Plymouth, Ind., J. E. Hanes Agent.

The Nickel Plate Road maintains a perfect passenger service with sleepers and diners.—Jan. 1.

Great Reduction in Time to California.

Once more the North-Western Line has reduced the time of its trans-continental trains, and the journey from Chicago to California via this popular route is now made in the marvelously short time of three days. Palace Drawing-Room Sleeping cars leave Chicago daily, and run through to San Francisco and Los Angeles without change, and all meals en route are served in Dining cars. Daily Tourist Sleeping car service is also maintained by this line between Chicago and San Francisco and Los Angeles, completely equipped berths in upholstered Tourist Sleepers being furnished at a cost of only $6.00 each from Chicago to the Pacific Coast. Through trains leave Chicago for California at 6:00 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. daily, after arrival of trains of connecting lines from the East and South. For detailed information concerning rates, routes, etc., apply to agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Jan. 1.

The Nickel Plate Road operates a perfect passenger service composed of first and second class day coaches attended by colored porters. Excellent Dining Cars and Through Sleeping Cars to Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston. Rates always the lowest.—Jan. 1.

ilad trains led dining ns between ork, New ect rates.—

n Penn-

h and 31st,
06, excurrom ticket ania Lines points on urn until or details Pennsyl-pportunhile Holi-tween all and Chie Nickel sale Dec.

and Jan.

rs.—Cal-
Florida

sale via Variable
mit. For ket agent
es. The is Ticket

ould ask its Road s before where.— operates service.

Van-

Vandalia ickets at tions, to lia Line, meeting call on Ticket
rd, Gen.
, Mo.

ad has Chicago,
aton.—

e Same in rail-ian has ing officovered ociation llow a nts per r regu-
, who e under procure Penn-burgh, mouth,

main-service
Jan. 1.

to estern of its nd the fornia made ime of Room daily, nciseo range, arved ourist mainicago geles, n up-being $8.00 acific

Chi-
p. m. rival from nited tates, con-
Vag-lace,

ates om-day por-and ago, and west.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT MILLEDGE,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. S. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RATHBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50
Six Months - - .75
Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

Jennie McDaniel Box 488

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 1, 1896 NO. 1.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life freely through Christ as many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins as pre-requisites to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

OUR CHRISTMAS LOVE FEAST.

We continue this "testimony meeting" that all may have opportunity to speak. Utterly impossible to give all at once.

Dear Restitution:

"Peace on earth, good will to men."
Sang the angels long ago.
Still we echo the refrain,
For we all do wish it so.
I believe Christ soon will come,
And this peace will usher in.
But [illegible] we all must go.
If we would be free from sin.
And be watching all the time.
At the midnight morning prime.
At the cockcrow evening tide,
Watching for the Crucified.

ALMIRA BROOKS.

Loved Ones:

O may our feet keep in the way.
That leadeth unto God! Rev. xxii.14.
And then when Christ, our life appears,
Col. iii. 4.
Our mortal frames will then be changed,
To blest immortal ones. 1 Cor. xv.53; Phil. iii. 21.
He promises to quickly come.
And bring with him reward. Rev. xxii. 12.
A work there will be to be done.
By those who keep his Word. Isa. xl. 9, 10; Isa. lxii.
Then come, my Lord; O, quickly come!
And call thy waiting servants home.

MRS. E. R. BOYER.

Ones of like faith:

We believe that our blessed Savior will very soon come, and establish his kingdom, and rule in justice and righteousness on the earth. Oh may we be prepared to meet him, and share in the glories which will then be revealed.

Is the desire of MR. & MRS. J. E. LENT.

Brothers and Sisters:

I am 82 years old, yet I will add my testimony with that of many others. My husband is 83 years of age, and we are looking and longing for the blessed Redeemer to come and change our vile bodies into the likeness of his glorious body. Signs portend that he will soon come and not tarry. Let us be ready to go forth and meet the Bridegroom.

Your Sister in the hope of eternal life.

ELIZA H. ESTON.

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ:

What of the night? Are you ready to hear the blessed call, that the Bridegroom cometh? Would the sound your souls appall? the things that are transpiring around us, declare his coming near. The admonition to those that are watching for his coming, is to lift up their heads, and rejoice for redemption draweth nigh. Are we prepared for the change that awaits the faithful child of God? If you think you are not, get ready. The night is far spent.

ARTHUR J. CHAPLIN.

Dear Restitution:

In response to the call for a "Christmas Love Feast" Number concerning our faith in the near coming of the dear Savior, I will say, I believe with all my heart that it is near at hand. I long for him to come, for then, "Shall we be like him; for we shall see him as he is." "And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." This is now our work, and how carefully should we live, crucifying the flesh with its affections and lusts, and bringing every thought into subjection to Christ. That we each may be purified by a willing and loving service, and be found of him without spotless and blameless, is my prayer.

MRS. A. S. MILLER.

To the Household of faith:

The morning of joy and gladness is nearing. Jesus is soon coming. The signs of his advent are falling thick and fast around us. Joyful anticipation. Do we fully realize that ere long we shall see Jesus? Are we eagerly looking forward to the time of his coming are questions each should ask themselves. If we are remember the many who are not ready, and let us warn them, and strive to get them to accept the offers of mercy, ere it be too late. Dear brethren and sisters, be faithful, and you will receive the crown of life.

LYDIA CHAPLIN.

Editor Restitution:

Please find enclosed $1.50 for THE RESTITUTION for 1896. I wish I might send it to some of my dear friends, but cannot at this time owing to hard times, but would not know how to do without it myself. I know of no one of the one faith here, so I am all alone, but am asking for the return of the dear Lord Jesus. I do enjoy the dear brothers and sisters letters, and read them with much interest.

Very truly in hope of the soon coming kingdom.

MARY S. WRIGHT.

Editor Restitution:

Words cannot express the gratitude which I owe you for sending me THE RESTITUTION these many years. Your aged Sister is poor as to this world's goods but rich in faith, and she is choosing loving favor rather than silver and gold. My desire is that all who are looking for the Master's return will have their lamps trimmed and be ready to go in with him to the marriage feast. Again I repeat, may we all be ready, for his coming is near.

Yours with love.

JULIA A. ABDE.

Editor Restitution:

I am a little girl, but I am trying to be good, and meet my dear Savior when he comes. Wishing you all a merry Christmas.

Your little friend.

FLORENCE PARKHURST.

Editor Restitution:

Enclosed please find post office order for $2.00 for another year's subscription. I truly believe in the second advent of the Lord. I am waiting and watching for his coming. Pray for me, that I may have on the wedding garment.

MRS. CLARA PHILLIPS.

To the Household of Faith:

I am a believer in the second coming of our Savior to set up his kingdom on this earth and rule with righteousness. O may the glorious time hasten on, is my daily prayer. When the curse will be removed, sickness and sorrow will have an end, and all will be joy and peace if we live faithfully. Lord help us to be faithful and be prepared to meet our Savior in peace.

MRS. EDWIN GARTON.

Editor Restitution:

I will send in my testimony for the Christmas number, which is a privilege we all should make use of. I am glad that I know that my Redeemer liveth. I am trying to live so that I may be ready at any time to say, Come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

Your Sister in Christ in hope of eternal life.

VERONICA A. STRAIGHT.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Dear ones of like precious faith, I greet you all with a Christian greeting, wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, a year in which we may all grow in grace and in the knowledge of the truth. May the bond of love and fellowship bind us close together, so when our King comes we will be of the one faith and ready to welcome him.

Yours looking for the King.

EDWARD T. STRAIGHT.

Editor Restitution:

Yes, Jesus is soon coming. He said just before he went away, I will come again. Peter says, "Heaven must receive him until the times of restitution. Then God will send him. Jesus says, behold I come quickly and my reward is with me to give every man according as his work shall be. Paul says that there is a crown of righteousness laid up for him, and not for him only but for all that love his appearing. The prophet says he was anointed to preach the gospel to the poor, to bind up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives the opening of the prison to them that are bound. Jesus says, I am he that liveth and was dead, and behold I am alive for ever more, and have the keys of hell and of death. He is coming to open the prison house of death and set the captive free. Can it be possible that the dead shall live again? Yes, Jesus is coming, and he has the keys of death. Then thy (God's) dead men shall live with my dead body. Shall they arise? awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust, for the earth shall cast out her dead. What glorious news, can it be thus? Yes, God has promised it, and he cannot lie. Who could help but long for Jesus to come, when the dead in Christ, those that are waiting and longing for him to come shall be made immortal, and the living changed, and made free from death, pain, sickness and sorrow. Who will be ready to stand before him there to meet Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, the good and pure of all ages. Yes, Yes, Jesus is coming to remove the curse and fill the earth with knowledge and glory of God as the waters cover the sea.

Come Lord Jesus and come quickly. I am waiting and longing for thee.

S. C. OLIVER.

Brothers and Sisters:

Many years ago we were shown our sinful condition, and sought the Lord and we found pardon. Five or six years ago we were brought into the secret place where we found we could give ourselves body and soul and spirit into his keeping. He has wonderfully healed us and given us such health as no arm of flesh could, and anointed our eyes with his salve, and made us to see many wonderful things out of his precious Word, viz., the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. We found we were not immortal and now we have a living hope of becoming so and we are striving to be overcomers that we may be able to sit with Christ on his throne. We like THE RESTITUTION and have tried hard to get our friends to read it, but it is too strong meat for most of them.

With love to all of like precious faith, earnestly contend for the faith once delivered to the saints.

Yours in the blessed hope.

IRA D. & SADIE LAMPHEAR.

To the Brethren and Sisters of the faith of the gospel:

Christian greeting to all of like precious faith. What a precious privilege it is to be one in this grand social meeting, speaking words of comfort to each other and telling of our one common faith and hope, this hope is what helps us to live such lives that we may be worthy of being possessors of God's glorious promises which we expect to receive at the appearing of our Dear Redeemer, and may it be that we will all so live that we may see him as he is and be made like unto his glorious body and enjoy the blessings that his coming will bring to those whom he will choose for his own. May that time speedily come. I can heartily say with the Revelator come Lord Jesus come quickly.

SARAH BUTCHER.

Editor Restitution:

I answer to Bro. R. S. Dwiggins' questions concerning the second coming of Christ. We would answer in the affirmative. We are patiently waiting, and hope it may soon come to pass. May we all prove faithful and be ready to meet meet him with joy.

MR. & MRS. L. VON ESCHEN.

Dear Restitution:

My brother is waiting, I will write to-day too. We went into the Church at the same time. There are between seventy-five and one hundred members here. Brother Hatch preaches her every second Sunday and Bro. Wagoner the fourth Sunday. We have social meeting every 1st and 3rd Sunday.

Yours in Hope,

GEO. F. FINNEY.

Christmas Greeting to the loved ones far and near:

You will please find enclosed money order for your valuable paper another year, which records so much Bible truth. As the time is drawing nearer my faith and hope is growing stronger in our soon coming Savior.

Yours in hope to be crowned with immortality at the resurrection of the just.

M. E. DAWSON.

Dear Restitution:

As there are so many dear brothers and sisters writing for the Christmas number. I thought I would like to be one of that number. I have been in the church something over one year, and find by reading the Bible that there is a work to do. As James says, faith without works is dead. So let us use both faith and works and we will be sure of that great reward, (eternal life) which we will get when Christ comes.

Yours in Christ,

ALBERT FINNEY.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

I feel like adding my testimony to the list that are being prepared for the Christmas number, for I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. I believe the signs of the times indicate the nearness of the time when we shall see our King in his beauty. Oh, then let us have on the whole Christian armor and be ready with our lamps trimmed and burning so that when he comes we may be in readiness to go out to meet him, when we can all exclaim with joyful hearts. "Lo this is our God, we have waited for him and he will save us."

Your Sister in Christ,

JULIA M. KEENEY.

Dear Restitution:

I feel it my duty to add my testimony to the Christmas number. I have been in the faith for nearly a year, and am very thankful that I have taken a stand for Christ. I only wish that the many friends could see the light and accept of it. But we must be patient and wait for the apostle says, "All things work together for good for those who love God." We have much to fight against if we are true Christians. Oh may we overcome the many trials and temptations of this life so far that we may be worthy to stand in his presence. Let us put on the whole armor of God and be able to say as Paul did, "I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith, henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge shall give me at that day, and not to me only but unto all them also that love his appearing."

Your Sister waiting for the King.

EDNA E. KEENEY.

Dear Restitution:

My hope is in Jesus, I am looking for his second coming when he gather his children home and hear him say, "Well done good and faithful servant enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." Wishing you all a "Merry Xmas." I remain,

Your Sister for Jesus,

GRACIE M. PARKHURST.

Dear Restitution:

I am looking for Christ to come the second time to this earth, to awake the righteous dead, change his living ones to immortality. How our hearts will rejoice when we hear the joyful sound, behold the Bridegroom cometh. I will try to be ready to meet my dear Savior, and with the ransomed ones to dwell with him in his kingdom forever more. A Christmas greeting to all.

Your Sister in Christ,

MRS. O. L. PARKHURST.

Dear Restitution:

I am a little girl but I know that Jesus loves me. I want to love him and be a good girl, so I can live with Jesus when he comes.

Merry Christmas to all. Your little friend for Jesus.

OLA PARKHURST.

Editor Restitution:

Heb. xiii. 5, last part, "I will never leave or forsake thee." Oh dear reader have you ever stopped to think what that means, it means all to those that love God, to know that we have a Friend and that our Maker will stick closer than a brother. Prov. xviii. 24. So let us lift up holy hands to God, knowing that we have one that that loves us, and the best part is, that he is going to send his only Son, Christ Jesus to earth soon to claim his own. Let us be ready. May God bless all who trust in his name. Christmas greeting to all.

Yours in Faith,

ADELBERT H. PARKHURST.

Dear Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters. Yes I believe in the second advent of Christ. I am trying to be ready, waiting and watching for his coming.

Yours in the Blessed Hope.

SAMMY LAWRENCE.

Dear Restitution:

Yes I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am ready, waiting and watching for his coming.

Your Sister in Christ,

S. V. LAWRENCE.

Brothers and Sisters:

I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am praying thy kingdom come. I am ready waiting and watching for his coming.

Your Brother in Christ.

S. B. LAWRENCE.

Dear Pilgrims:

We believe in the second personal appearing of Jesus. We believe he is coming soon, and are prepared to meet him and have on the wedding garment.

CHRIS ARNOLD.

Dear Restitution:

Enclosed please find one dollar for RESTITUTION for 8 months and 25 cents for 5 numbers of the Christmas number. I have taken the paper for quite a number of years, and the more I read it the better I like it. I have been looking for the return of the Nobleman fifty-three years, and never felt stronger in the faith than I do at present. I love all the dear brethren and sisters of like precious faith. It cheers my heart to read their testimonies in THE RESTITUTION.

Yours looking for the coming One.

D. F. KENDALL.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

In accordance with Bro. Dwiggins' request, I would like to offer my firm conviction as regards my faith in the personal return of the Christ, in short as is foretold by apostles and prophets. Moreover I believe his appearing is not very far, hence as appears by the general move of all nations. I shall submit a few testimonials as a reason why I believe as I do. If too lengthy you may trim it to your liking.

My hope is in the personal coming of Christ, for without it according to God's plan there is no life promised, for he must return to raise the dead according to 1st Thess. iv. 15, 17, verses. Again I desire his return, hoping he may soon come that we may with what our beloved Brother Paul looked for receive at his appearing. 2nd Tim. iv. 7, 8, verses.

Your Brother, in the one hope of his soon return to liberate us from bondage of sin and death that we may be translated into the glorious liberty of the sons of God.

W. D. ROOT.

Dear Restitution:

The apostle Paul in 1 Thess. iv. 13, "I would not have you ignorant brethren concerning them which are asleep, that you sorrow not even as others which have no hope." And in the 16th verse he tells us why, "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel and with the trump of God, and the dead in Christ shall arise first, etc." Thus we see that the second coming of the Lord is an actual necessity, for without it we have no hope of ever again seeing those dear friends of ours that have fallen under the power of death. How cheering the assurance. Although weeping may endure for the night, joy cometh in the morning. Oh glorious morn, when the Son of righteousness shall arise with healing in his wings, and drive away the long dark night of sin and sorrow, and usher in the glad morn of joy and everlasting rest. How grand the thought, that when the King shall come in his beauty, attended by all the holy angels, and shall take to himself his great power and reign, that if faithful we shall share in his reign and glory. What an exalted privilege that will be. Oh, what a good Father we have to provide such things for his children, and what good children we ought to be, that we may be accounted worthy to enter into that rest that remains to the people of God. For Jesus has said behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me to give every man according as his works shall be. May we all so live that by and by we may meet where there will be no more sorrow, pain nor death.

Your Brother waiting for a realisation of that blessed hope.

R. C. RAHLBACK.

Dear Restitution:

As the time has arrived for the Christmas Love Feast I will cast in my mite. Perhaps some of the brethren in Indiana would like to know my whereabouts, and that I am still firm in the faith of the soon coming Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, to establish his kingdom upon the earth. The signs indicate his coming nigh at hand. Brethren, are we ready to meet him; is the question that should interest us all.

Yours in hope of eternal life when Jesus comes.

N. H. HORNADAY.

Dear Restitution:

Yes, I believe that our Savior is soon coming. I am waiting and watching for his coming. I am a boy only fifteen years old, but I have made a start for the kingdom. I want to keep in the straight and narrow way that leads to the kingdom.

LOUIE LAWRENCE.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I must say that I am waiting and watching and am ready for the coming of the Lord and Savior.

Your Sister,

NANCY MARRS.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

We believe that Christ will soon return to earth to waken those who are asleep in him, and to change the living saints from mortality to immortality. He will then take the throne of David, which is upon Mt. Zion in Jerusalem, and with the saints as joint rulers with him will commence the work of subjugating the nations. May we one and all be ready and waiting when he comes, that we may be worthy of an entrance into that glorious kingdom, is our prayer.

Your Sisters,

Lou Sullivan
Emma Gordon
Rena M Gordon
Cora B Gordon
Eva A Gordon
Flora A DeCamp

My dear Christian Friends:

Dear brothers and sisters of the one faith. I wish to give my testimony to my hope in Christ. It has been some two years since I joined myself with the church of God, and am glad and happy to be classed with the soul-sleepers as the world calls it, but the more I read and hear it the more beautiful and satisfying this faith is, and I have no desire to change though we may have trials and temptations and often feel as though we were not worthy to name the name of of Christ, yet we will not despair or give up our hope, so dear brothers and sisters pray for me that I may be one of the overcomers and may be worthy to enter in to his rest.

Your Sister in hope of eternal life.

MRS. LIZZIE JOHNSON.

Dear Restitution:

I had thought I would not write for the Christmas number, but leave the space for the many others who would use it perhaps to a better advantage in expressing their hope. When I contemplate, however, that a part of our duty lies in keeping our light from being hid under a bushel, I am constrained to embrace this opportunity. I want to say to those of like faith that my eye is still "fixed on the prize." Although discouragements, trials, and privations of this life are many, I am yet in the race, and engaged in the Christian warfare against sin and iniquity. How little true Christianity there is in the world today. In the so-called orthodox world if a man will bow to their creeds, possess a little piety, and will help keep up the preacher's salary, he will pass for a Christian, and I am sorry to say that in some localities our people are drifting into the same channel. I endorse the views of Bros Joblin, Wilson, T. E. Adams and others on the practical side of the question. We take the position that vain-conversation, jesting, tobacco, politics, secret orders, and all the worldly pleasures are absolutely wrong, and out of harmony with God's Word. But one brother says, "O you folks try to be too good," another says, "These things are all right, just so you don't have them upper-most in your minds." Did they ever find such expressions in the writings of Paul or any other inspired man. To follow these inspired and holy men in all things will be life to us—eternal life, to neglect them is death, and banishment from his presence. Can we be too careful in our everyday life and actions? If we fail to gain the great prize it will be most likely because we have not lived up to our profession. We are told to write short letters, so I must close hoping I shall ever follow Paul and keep under my body, and bring it into subjection least I become a cast-away.

J. J. CADY.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN. 1, 1896.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

ALL who have sent for Index Rerums and have not been supplied will have attention as soon as we can get another lot from the publisher.

RENEWALS are coming in fairly well, for which we are very thankful. It is necessary, however, that many more take hold, and do their duty in this respect. We want all old subscribers to renew and get new names also. Do not forget the poor—those who are in distress, old and infirm ones, who want the paper and cannot send pay for it. If you can spare enough for one such, or only a few cents to help, send it on, and the satisfaction of making a heart glad will be yours now and the Father will reward hereafter as each deserves.

MAN can no more change his nature than the Ethiopian can change his skin, or the leopard his spots; but he can change his character by taking heed to his ways according to God's word. God will change his nature at the resurrection. •

THE Church of God in Cleveland sends another joyful greeting to the church scattered abroad. The good God has again given the increase. Bro. Willard Hickox, formerly a Methodist, has received with cordial faith the good tidings of the gospel; and he put on the all-saving name of the Lord Jesus Christ, by baptism, on Sunday Dec. 15th, and now rejoices in hope of the glory of God. This, together with the fact that a number of others are enquiring the way to Zion with their faces thitherward is quickening the zeal and warming the hearts of the whole brotherhood; they thank God and take courage. •

THE Rev. Henry Drury, once chaplain of the British House of Commons, preached a sermon some time ago, and surprised everybody by his text which was worded as follows: "We may, we must, we will." "We may" was taken from Gen. iii. 2; "We must," from Acts xiv. 22, and "We will" from Joshua xxiv. 21. From the words combined, the preacher proceeded to argue that we may, we must, we will evangelize the world. The foundation of this discourse is a good specimen of the manner in which the doctrines and commandments of men are attempted to be proved by evidence drawn from the Bible. The theory is first formed, and then the Bible is dissected and perverted to sustain the error taught, and the people believe and love to have it so. Oh, let us more and more shun such pernicious examples and predicate our faith upon nothing but the plain word of the Lord. •

The New Year Has Dawned.

Another year with all its privileges, its mercies, and its opportunities for doing good, together with all its sins of commission and omission are all in the past. How rapidly the wheels of time carry us forward. It seems but a few weeks since 1895 dawned upon us, and now its last sands have run out and we have entered upon 1896.

The record of the past cannot be changed. If the closet, the Bible, the assemblies of the saints, the home of the afflicted, and fatherless, and widows cried out, at the close of the year 1895, "You have neglected me?" If we have not been actuated by, or put on as the elect of God bowels of mercies, gentleness, meekness, humbleness of mind, with long-suffering. If we have not loved God with all our heart and mind and strength. it is both sad and serious. The throne, the family throne of favor is our only resource. We have an advocate with the Father, even Jesus Christ the righteous; thank God.

We have been permitted to enter a year that is sure to bring us new trials, because this is our time of suffering and trial. Every step will be an untrodden step to us. We know nothing of the shape our trials will take, but trials we will surely have. The question is, will our faith hold fast in storm and tempest? Yes; if we are safely anchored; but we must have faith enough to trust God in the dark. He knows all about us; knows all our crosses and losses, our privations and disappointments, and counts all the fiery darts that are hurled against us. We shall need special favors for special trials, but thank God there is not only a plenty for us,—we are welcome to it. Nay, more; we are even called to come boldly to the throne of grace.

But while the year 1896 will bring new trials, it will also bring new mercies. The good Lord has laid up for us new mercies that he never yet laid out upon us. Every new mercy lays us under new obligations. If he gives us health, let us employ it for him. If he give us talents let us write upon every one of them holiness unto the Lord.

The new year will furnish opportunities for new victories. We have promises not quite subdued, habits not quite overcome. We have not so completely overcome the world that we can always despise its sneers and live above its frowns. UP THEN! Let us put on the whole armor of God and go on from conquering unto conquer. God knows all about us;—all our talents and opportunities, and all the professions we have made, and we must remember that we cannot squeeze into the kingdom with a crowd. Every one of us will be held to a personal account, every one will be rewarded according to his works, and we are rushing on toward the reckoning time.

It is our fervent prayer that all our readers who have named the name of Christ, may so live while life lasts as that they may stand approved when the Lord numbers up his jewels. And we can assure them that the year just entered upon will be a happy one for them in spite of the severest trials if they observe the commandments of Jesus. And as this first number of THE RESTITUTION for 1896 goes out we want to give expression to our supreme desire. It is that before another year shall dawn we may see Jesus and be made like him. •

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 2.

Agreeable to our programme we now discuss the second proposition, viz:—

"That since the promise of a Savior to the first pair in Paradise to the present time the same gospel has been in force; and that the idea that the gospel age commenced with the coming or the resurrection of Christ is a delusion."

Since writing the above proposition I have read the debate between Mr. Thos. Williams and a protege of the "Oracle," Mr. Clark Braden, in which the latter said in his fourteenth speech. "The language to Eve in the Garden of Eden, The Seed of the Woman shall bruise the serpent's head, that was four thousand years before Christ came. A long time it seems to me. Why, he ought to have smashed his head right then. It was not done that is all." A most presumptuous and irreverent remark surely.

From this it is doubtful whether he thinks there was any gospel promise at all in that promise. Be that as it may, we maintain that it was the first chapter of redemption's story. It was another appeal to man's faith in God and obedience to him. As life was the inducement to faith and obedience in the first instance, so in this. As death was the result from faithlessness and disobedience in the first instance,—so in the second. But, as faith in the promised bruiser did not enable one to evade death for the first infraction of God's law, clearly it secured redemption from death after the penalty had been paid. And we ask if the assurance of life after death to a death-doomed man was not glad tidings indeed?

This is beautifully illustrated by Heb. xi. 4, where we read that Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous." No reasonable and intelligent person will think that the excellence of the sacrifice of each depended upon their individual judgment as to the fitness of things. The fact that the Lord had respect unto Abel and his offering, but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect is conclusive evidence that there was something back of this. Then, as now, it was with the heart man believed unto righteousness,—in other words: Justified by faith. Abel attained to this righteous standing before God, Cain did not; Abel complied with God's conditions of pardon, Cain did not. Abel believed from the heart something God promised on condition of faith and obedience. Cain did not.

We have infallible evidence in all this that both Cain and Abel were under the law of faith and obedience; that the principle of justification by faith was in force; that Abel took God at his word, and complied with the conditions exacted of him; that Cain did not, but chose his own way of serving God, and became the father of all who say it matters not what we believe, if we are only sincere.

Abel offered the firstlings of his flock, and of the fat, showing that he had slain his offerings as if by an intelligent faith which worked by love. He doubtless knew more of the promised Bruiser of the Serpent than the record shows us. It was through faith he offered this acceptable sacrifice;—faith in what? Is it not plain that his offering testified to his faith in the Lamb of God to be slain? If any one questions this let him show us what else had been promised for faith to lay hold of.

If God had not appointed the means employed by Abel, what constituted its excellence? The intrinsic value of Cain's offering might have been equal to Abel's, but confession of sin was not there,—and faith was wanting.

This action of Cain's set aside the divine principle of justification by faith and salvation by God's favor, and shows the determination to purchase at his own price whatever he may need at the hand of God, and so be not under obligation to him. The result proves that then, as now, without faith it is impossible to please God. The way of Cain, Jude xi., was to set aside God's terms and adopt his own.

Then we are told of Enoch that he so pleased God that he was translated, and by the reference to his prophecy by the Apostle Jude v. 14, we see distinctly that his faith reached forward to the coming one promised, together with the kingdom of God on earth in possession of his saints. It was faith in all this that pleased God.

Following this is an account of Noah's faith, and Abraham's faith and his justification thereby, and Sara's and Isaac's, and Jacob's, and Moses' and a great cloud of witnesses who proved their faith by wonderful works, and patient endurance of intense suffering.

Then comes the Apostolic announcement in Rom. x. 7 that faith cometh by hearing the Word of God,—and in Rom. iv. 21, 22 that Abraham was fully persuaded that God was able to perform what he had promised and therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness; and to this is added the fact that this is written for our sakes as well as Abraham's,—to whom it shall also be imputed if we believe on him that raised up our Lord Jesus from the dead; and continues by saying, Therefore being justified [or the same principle as was Abraham] we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Thus we see that justification by faith in what is promised, has always been the justifying principle with God,—and the fact that those who are of faith are blessed with faithful Abraham (Gal. iii. 9) shows that God only regards those as having faith, who believe what Abraham did.

It positively says Gal. iii. 29 that "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise [to Abraham] not, to some new promises. All who are of faith become heirs to the promise," [to Abraham], and to show that there is no mistake about this it is proven by the fact stated Gal. iii. 13, 14 that Christ was made a curse for us that the blessing of Abraham might come upon the Gentiles"—shared by Gentiles, through Jesus Christ. But how, through Jesus Christ?

1st. Christ is the Seed of Abraham, and full partner with his Father in the promise; see Gal. iii. 16; and by a legal and constitutional union with Abraham's seed, the Christ, Gentiles become joint heirs with him, and by virtue of that relation they, too, become seed of Abraham, faithwise, that patriarch being the father of all them that believe.

2nd. By the blood of Jesus Christ the everlasting covenant made with Abraham was confirmed, or ratified, or brought into force. It had no power to bestow life on Abraham or any other faithful one till the blood of the sinless one was offered for this purpose. It was typically confirmed to Abraham by the blood of animals, but it required a better sacrifice than that, to give life-imparting power to the covenant, even the precious blood of Christ.

3rd. The power of the life-imparting power of that covenant was first demonstrated by the resurrection of Jesus himself. Listen to the Spirit's words in Heb. xiii. 20, "Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus that Great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will. The order of the resurrection is, Christ the first fruits, afterwards they that are Christ's at his coming, I Cor. xv. 23. Christ the first fruits, was brought again from the dead through the blood of the everlasting covenant made with Abraham, confirmed to Isaac, Jacob and David; and this is INFALLIBLE EVIDENCE that they who are his, the full harvest of redeemed ones, will be raised through the same blood of the same everlasting covenant. "This cup is the new covenant in my blood," said Jesus. Blessed Jesus. This shows HOW Abraham's blessing comes upon the Gentiles through faith, and exhibits the hopeless and godless condition of those who are strangers from the covenants of promise. See Eph. ii. 12. The second and third propositions so intertwine that they could not be separated, so that our next will be the fourth, showing that no kingdom whatever was set up at Pentecost. •

(To be continued.)

Unpopular Britain.

"Although Great Britain has been acting to some degree in concert with France, Russia and Germany with reference to the Eastern Question, is about the only matter in which she is not in a striking position of isolation. The London Spectator has an article under the significant heading:—"Is it the Beginning of the End?" treating of the causes why at the present time England is the most unpopular member of the family of nations. "With the French," the writer says "Our unpopularity as a nation, almost passes into actual hatred; while Germany, though she agrees with us in many things, and has many points of sympathy, finds us, all over the world a source of dislike and irritation. By Russia we are still more openly regarded as the disagreeable power whose function is to be stolidly and stubbornly tiresome and unamiable. To Italy alone of the powers we present a pleasant face; but she, while she disavows the feeling for herself, has to admit that her experience is contrary to the rest of mankind, and that, therefore, in the true sense of the word, we are unpopular." The writer amplifies and illustrates his text all round, and concludes by urging that the unpopularity of which he speaks, makes England's duty plain: "We must go on, at all cost, strengthening our navy."

We think the Spectator has hit the nail on the head—that the distrust of England in Turkish affairs so manifest of late, is evidently the beginning of the utter isolation of that power at the end of Gentile times. If we have not been entirely mistaken, in these many years, England is chosen of God to antagonize Israel's oppressors in the latter days; that being so, we may be sure that the powers will be marshalled into position to enable her to act her part. As we approach the crisis we see more and more that intermarriage between the royal families of Europe, no longer cuts any figure at all. Although both the royal families of Russia and Germany are intimately connected with that of England, it weighs nothing in the national scales, now that the powers are rushing on to their destiny. Austria and Russia are certainly holding in with the Northern giant, and as Republican France is already in close alliance with that despotic power, it would seem that little remains to be done before it is the recognized leader of all the great powers except England. And the political writers seem to anticipate what is coming and urge preparations for it. •

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

Let the humble followers of the Master spend the few days left in an unusual effort to teach the truths of the gospel, and thus lead some poor one out of the darkness into the light which brings with it life and immortality. The world is full of error and false teaching, God alone can eradicate it. Truly the world is groping in midnight darkness, with only here and there a glimmering light, which sometimes burns brightly and again very dimly. Sometimes flickering and almost going out, then being rekindled again, giving a light so dim and uncertain that no one can safely follow it.

The readers of THE RESTITUTION know full well who the light-bearers are. "Ye are the light of the world." What is the light for? Is it simply to enable the world to look upon the "city that is set on a hill which cannot be hid," that they may enjoy the beauties of that city, or is it to enable those who are in darkness to flee to that city and thus participate in the blessings vouched safe to all who become members of that body which constitute the city?

May God help us to spend all our energies, all our time, all our strength, and our money in leading those who are in darkness into light. THE RESTITUTION is a good missionary, light-bearer and preacher. If we can't go let us send it.

R. S. DWIGGINS.

Selected.

Foreign News Items.

Constantinople, Dec. 28.—Additional advices from Zeitoun have been made public here. It appears that the Turkish troops only bombarded the barracks at that place, these buildings being occupied by the Armenians. The explosion of the shells set fire to the barracks and obliged the combatants to take refuge in flight. The town of Zeitoun is said to contain many thousands of Armenians, who are at the mercy of the troops.

The dragomans of the embassies of the powers have again made representations to the Porte in the efforts being made to save the lives of the Armenians of Zeitoun, and they have been informed that the Turkish commanders have orders, which have been repeated to them, not to molest the non-combatants, women or children, of Zeitoun.

Nothing is known here of the fate of the crowds of Armenians who were reported to have been caught in the pass outside of Zeitoun.

The departure of the Russian Black Sea squadron from Sebastopol on Dec. 15, for an unknown destination is much commented upon here, and has caused some lively speculation.

Advices received here from Trebizond say that thirty-five Armenians have been tried by court-martial there for taking part in the troubles which broke out in that city in October last, and six of them have been condemned to death. The others of the accused have been exiled, and fifteen of the prisoners have been sentenced to terms of penal servitude varying from five years to imprisonment for life. The condemned men include a priest, a lawyer, two merchants, a professor, a carpenter, and others of all classes, including a protestant professor.

London, Dec. 28.—A Vienna dispatch to the Daily News, reports that a Constantinople telegram received there says a rumor is current that the Americans refuse to recognize the principle upon which foreign warships are excluded from the privilege of passing through the Dardanelles.

The Constantinople dispatch to the Chronicle says: "It is rumored that the Rothschilds have agreed to advance to Turkey £2,000,000 sterling against a new tax of two piastres per case on petroleum."

Paris, Dec. 28.—A dispatch received here from St. Petersburg says that the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Prince Lobanoff-Rostovsky, discussing the situation in Armenia, is reported to have said:

"If invited by all the powers or by at least three of them, of which Great Britain must be one, Russia would be able to pacifically administer the disturbed provinces of Anatolia; but the Czar must be assured of the support of Europe."

Boston, Mass., Dec. 28.—A correspondent writing from Constantinople concerning the recent Turkish atrocities in Asia Minor says that at Arabkir 2,000 Christians were killed and wounded, and that out of some 2,000 houses of Christians fully three-quarters were burned.

"Into the remaining houses," the writer states, "are huddled several thousand survivors, who are living on the refuse grain rescued from their burned houses. The scenes of the worst periods of Saracenic invasion in the seventh century have been repeated over and over. Thousands of Armenian Christians have been forced to accept Mohammedanism at the point of the sword. Christian women without number have been carried off to the harems of Kurds and Turks.

"The apathy of Europe and America, so far as the governments are concerned, is almost as surprising as the cruelty of the Turks. There is still talk of committing reforms to these murderous Turks. They will take care, unless Europe intervenes, to see that there shall be no Armenians left to participate in reforms."

The Loving God.

God loves men: loves them intensely; loves them with a love that finds no parallel on earth. The strongest earthly love is weakness itself compared with the love God bears to man. But real love does not waste itself in empty professions. Real love prompts to loving, kind, beneficent actions. The love of a father prompts him to feed and clothe and shelter his child: the love of a mother prompts her tenderly to watch over and care for her beloved offspring: the love of a child prompts him to care for his parents in the time of their weakness and old age: the love of a friend prompts him to deeds of friendship. Therefore a man is justified in saying "If God loves me, what has he done for me? To what loving deeds has his love prompted him?" Oh that I had the tongue of an eloquent man to speak of God's deeds of love! Oh that I had the pen of a ready writer to indite the wonders of that love! I might begin and speak of the love of God in our creation, in raising us up from sickness, in prolonging our lives, in giving us health and strength and so many comforts, in day by day showering so many blessings upon us. But it is of God's redeeming love that I would speak—of that love that prompted him to send his own dear Son into the world, to suffer, to bleed, to die an accursed death on the cross as an expiation for our sin, that we poor sinning men who, if left to ourselves, must eventually die for ever and become as though we had never been, might have the opportunity of gaining immortality, an eternal life of transcending joy. "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord." "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life." What injustice would there have been if, when the first man sinned, God had suffered the death penalty at once to overtake him, and had thus put an end to man altogether? None whatever. But God suffered him to live, to beget children, and permitted all the world to be peopled, that he might work out the glorious purposes of his redemption. And, remember, the redeeming work of God was a work that cost him immense sacrifice. He is a God of omnipotence; all the forces of nature obey his behest. He maketh worlds by the mere operation of his will; but not thus could he accomplish the work of redemption. He could not say, "Redeeming work, be done;" and forthwith it should be accomplished. No, no, no! if he would redeem man it could only be by the sacrifice of his own beloved Son. If this work was to be done, the heart of God himself must be wrung, if I may so speak, by yielding up his own Son to die for rebellious man. And did he shrink from this? Let Gethsemane's garden and Calvary's cross give answer. No, even from this did he not shrink. "He spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all." Oh, strange, mysterious sacrifice! Oh God! we are amazed when we contemplate thy wondrous, thy disinterested love to us poor guilty denizens of earth. But this undeserved love of thine must have resulted in one thing—it must have begotten a reciprocal love in those upon whom it was lavished. Surely every inhabitant of earth loves thee sincerely, in return for thy great love to him, renders thee the service of his life, and accepts with a bounding heart the priceless blessing this love of thine was manifested to procure him—immortality, eternal life, and eternal happiness. Oh, would to God that it were so! But no, wonder of wonders! the God of heaven, Jehovah himself, holds out to man that gift of gifts, an eternal life of joy,—a gift, with reverence I say it, steeped in the blood of his own dear Son, bought by the agonies of Calvary, the precious fruit of Christ's awful travail, —and begs them to accept it; but many men, I fear the majority of men, instead of, with overflowing gratitude, taking and clasping to their hearts the proffered blessing, spurn it, will have none of it.

Friend, let me in a few words put the issues of all this before you. God, by the sacrifice of his own Son, has opened a way to a happy, a glorious immortality. He asks you to be reconciled to him through Christ, his Son, our Savior; to be his child; and to his children he guarantees, by the resurrection of Christ, a resurrection to immortality and joy. But what will become of those who refuse to be the children of God? who reject the salvation of Christ? Why, if they will not have life forever, they must have death forever. There's no alternative. They must be destroyed in hell.

I pray you ponder these things.

Which Boat are You in?

It is said that years ago there two were large boats to cross a large water, at a certain hour, one was to carry good folks over to a camp-meeting, the other to carry bad folks over to a sporting and gambling convention. There were two passengers that made a mistake and got in the wrong boat. The man bound for the camp-meeting got in the boat that was filled with sports. He soon saw his mistake, and plead piteously to be taken back and let out, but no, was the answer, no turning back, he had to stand the racket, nonsense and vulgarity, which was just awful. The sport got in the camp-meeting boat, where the passengers were singing and praying which soon set him to pleading manfully to be be carried back and let out of such a place. But no, no turning back, you will have to endure it. My brother, my sister, which boat are you in? Look and see before it is too late.

T. E. A.

"It is not in our open, exposed deeds that we need the still voice of the silent monitor, but in the small, secret, every-day acts of life, that conscience should prompt us to beware of the hidden shoals of what we deem two common to be dangerous."

There is many a wounded heart without a contrite spirit. The ice may be broken into a thousand pieces—it is ice still; but expose it in the beams of the Sun of Righteousness, and then it will melt.—Middleton.

"Human sympathy tends to diminish the sharpness of human griefs; and, therefore, so long as sorrow is a condition of human life, it will be obligatory upon the disciples of Christ to 'weep with them that weep.'"

"Melancholy sees the 'latter end' of things—things as they will be, and not as they are. It looks upon a beautiful face, and sees but a grinning skull."

"He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them all, shall have mercy." Prov. xxviii. 13.

POETRY.

New Years Day.

The first of the days of another new year
Has thrown on the world its light;
Has tipped all the mountains and filled up the vales.
And made the creation look bright.

Or whether it snows, or whether it rains,
Or whistles the wind in the street,
Or whether the icicles hang in the air.
This morn we gladly will greet.

And we think, yes, thank, the great Giver of days,
Creator of time and man.
That a new year of grace is granted the world,
And widen'd as yet our span.

Now launch we away in the space all unknown
Its duties and trials to brave;
But God is our help and our company too,
And God is mighty to save.

O, in the blest morning that shortly will dawn.
New light of an endless year,
We pray that immortal and crowned, we may each
In the kingdom of God appear.

Original.

Prophecy.

In former articles we have shown what countries would be engaged in this last great war. We have also shown on which side each would probably be arrayed. We have shown that Gog (the Czar of Russia) with all other nations who follow his lead, would seek the conquest of Palestine ("the mountains of Israel"). That Turkish (England), with all the nations who follow her lead, will resist the efforts of the Czar to take possession of Palestine. Russia cannot make a conquest of Palestine without overthrowing the government of Turkey, so that a conquest of "the mountains of Israel" means a conquest of the entire Turkish Empire. I have shown the number of troops of each country, which will likely be engaged, can put into the field.

We now have the several countries with their mighty armies equipped, drawn up on either side, ready for the fray. It is no fancy sketch which I have drawn. I have simply tried to elaborate the picture drawn by the prophet so as to make it a little more distinct.

The prophet says to Gog, "Be thou prepared and prepare for thyself thou and all thy company." Ezek. xxxviii. 7. Has the Czar of Russia obeyed this command? Is the Russian government prepared for war? Are those countries which are to be the allies of Russia, "all thy company" prepared. What more any of these nations could do to get ready for war is hard to conceive. They have certainly beaten their plowshares into swords, and their pruning hooks into spears.

Has the Czar used any other means to cause the European nations to prepare for war, as he was directed to do by the prophet? He has kept a large standing arm, ever ready to march to the battlefield, should an opportunity present and thus he has compelled the other nations to be prepared to meet him. He is the Northern Bear who is never at peace, always showing his teeth and ever ready for a fight. To be convinced of this read the history of this blood-thirsty nation for the last two hundred years, including the reign of Peter the Great, and then read the prophecy under consideration.

We will now return to the prophecy. "Therefore son of man prophesy and say unto Gog (Czar of Russia) thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safely shalt thou not know it?" Ezek. xxxviii. 14. In all the calculations of the commander-in-chief of a great army, only the forces of the opposing army, are taken into account. So in this case, when the time comes, and it is not very far in the future, the Czar will arrange his plans to meet and overthrow the armies which shall oppose him in his conquest of "the mountains of Israel." In that he will be successful. His armies will defeat the armies which will be arrayed against him. But his armies will be overthrown and utterly destroyed nevertheless. "My people Israel dwelleth safely, shalt thou not know it?" No the Czar will not know that God is behind his people defending and caring for them.

"Thou shalt come from thy place out of the north parts, thou and many people with thee all of them riding on horses, a great company and a mighty army." Ezek. xxxviii. 15. It was not necessary that I should have made an argument to prove that the Czar (Gog) would have a mighty army. We learn from the prophet: "And thou shalt come up against my people Israel as a cloud to cover the land." (This is the second time the prophet has described the army of Gog "as a cloud to cover the land.") "It shall be in the latter days, and I will bring thee against my land, that the heathen may know me when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, (Czar of Russia) before their eyes."

The Lord has three objects in destroying the armies of the Czar. 1st. He desires to break the war spirit of the world. 2nd, To protect his people Israel. 3rd, To convince the nations of the world ("heathen") that he is ruler of this world, as well as of the universe, that he has power to overthrow the greatest army ever mustered, and that when it is necessary he will destroy an army composed of several million troops for the purpose of protecting a few of his chosen people.

When the time comes, and I do not think it is far in the future, Russia will attack Turkey, England will come to the assistance of the Turk, the war will be continued until all the nations named by the prophet, but which I have named, will be engaged, either on one side or the other. It is certain to be a general European war. Nations have been expecting it. It has been delayed from time to time, because the time had not yet come, but it will not be delayed much longer.

The great contest will continue until the Czar (Gog) shall fight his way through to the city of Jerusalem, where the last great battle will be fought for the possession of that city. It will be a battle the like of which the world has never seen.

"For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battle, and the city shall be taken, and the houses rifled, and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city." Zech. xiv. 2. This is the result of the great battle, the last that will ever be fought.

I can imagine the head-lines in the morning papers will be something like the following:

Jerusalem has fallen.
Russia is victorious.
The Jews are made prisoners.
England is defeated.
The ancient city is sacked.
Russia is now mistress of the world.

The ink on these newspapers will scarcely be dry before the news will be flashed around the world that the great and victorious army of the Czar has been miraculously destroyed.

"Then shall the Lord go forth and fight against those nations." Zech. xiv. 3. The manner in which the Lord will fight is as follows: "And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the people that have fought against Jerusalem. (Only those who fought against Jerusalem will be destroyed.) Their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes, and their tongues shall consume away in their mouths. And it shall come to pass in that day, that a great tumult from the Lord shall be among them, and they shall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbor, and his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbor." Zech. xiv. 12, 13.

From the foregoing prophecy it will be seen that God will smite Gog's victorious army with a terrible plague. The horses and other animals in the army, are also to be smitten with the same plague. "And so shall the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel and of the ass." Zech. xiv. 15.

When all the men and all the animals become blind and dumb, they will be in good condition to become panic stricken. The Lord brings about a panic in the following manner: "And I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountains saith the Lord God; every man's sword shall be against his brother. And I will plead against him with pestilence (the plague referred to by Zechariah,) and with blood and I will rain upon him an overflowing rain, and great hailstones, fire, and brimstone." It will be observed that the pronoun him is very frequently used in the prophecy just quoted. It refers to Gog.

Was there ever an army so stricken,—the men and animals, all blind and dumb in the midst of a terrible hail, rain and thunder storm, is it any wonder they become panic stricken and that "every man's hand is turned against his neighbor and every man's sword is against his brother" and so they destroy each other.

"Thou shalt fall upon the mountains of Israel, (remember the prophecy is against Gog and the pronoun thou refers to him,) thou and all my bands, and the people that is with thee: this takes them all in). Thou shalt fall upon the open field."

Thus ends the armies who follow the lead of Gog. The war spirit of the world is thus broken on the "mountains of Israel."

The picture is a dark one, but there is a silver lining to the cloud. The next thing in the chronology of the world is the second advent of the Savior. "And his feet shall stand in that day upon the Mount of Olives." Peace comes with him. "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks and nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." Glorious prospect. "Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly."

H. S. Dwinnell.

What a Pity.

Some fifteen years ago or less, Bro. Kimsey, of Kansas, and Mr. Tatum, of this place, held a discussion at Wheatland, continuing four days. At the conclusion of the debate it was announced by the Universalist pastor that Mr. Manford, of Chicago, would be at Wheatland, six weeks from that date, and the disputants were invited to be present, which they both promised that they would.

The six weeks rolled round, Bro. Kimsey came from his home in Kansas, and was on time. Heard Mr. Manford preach. He (Mr. M.) labored hard to prove that the second coming of Christ was past, that the soul was immortal. That all men would finally be saved. At the conclusion of his service Bro. Kimsey arose and asked him (Mr. M.) if he would defend the doctrine he preached. Mr. M. said he would, and for Bro. Kimsey to arrange his propositions, which Bro. Kimsey immediately proceeded to do. Arranging them thus: Is Christ's second coming past? Does the Bible teach the immortality of the soul? Will the entire human race be saved, irrespective of character?

Mr. Manford declined to discuss the soul question, saying that no man could prove the immortality of the soul by the Bible, for the Bible did not teach it. When asked why he preached it, he answered because everybody believed it. It is tradition. Said he would discuss the other propositions. But afterwards he declined them also. The people of the town made up fifty dollars and offered it to him if he would remain and discuss the proposition that all men would finally be made holy and happy, but he refused.

Now, the reason I headed this article as I have, is this, if Bro. M. had consulted one Joseph Smith, he (Bro. M.) would have known that the soul is immortal, and cannot die, because he says so. Is it not written in the Book of Mormon? If Bro. M. had been acquainted with Josephism and in the latter day work, he would not have needed to have refused to discuss with Bro. Kimsey because forsooth Bro. K.'s hands were too rough. A man endowed with inspiration and wonder-working however, need not fear rough hands. Submitted for what it is worth.

Henderson Murphy.

Men will not take knowledge of us that we have been with Jesus, unless they see that deepening Christ-look in our faces. And no veil will be thick enough to hide the shining of our face from the people, if we have indeed been on the mountain with our glorious Lord.

Live for the Lord today, and look for his coming tomorrow.—Dr. Andrew Bonar.

OUR CHILDREN.

Be Careful What You Say.

In speaking of a person's fault,
Pray don't forget your own;
Remember, those with homes of glass
Should seldom throw a stone;
If we have nothing else to do
But talk of those that sin,
'Tis better we commence at home.
And from that point begin.

And we have no right to judge a man
Until he's fairly tried.
Should we not like his company,
We know the world is wide;
Some may have faults and who has not?
The old as well as young
Perhaps we may, for aught we know,
Have fifty to their one.

I'll tell you of a better plan,
And find it works full well;
To try my own defects to cure
Before all others tell;
And though I sometimes hope to be
No more than some I know,
My own short comings bid me let
The faults of others go.

Then let us when we commence
To slander friend or foe,
Think of the harm one word would do,
To those we little know;
Remember, sin we sometimes, like
Our chickens, "roost at home;"
Don't speak of others' faults until
We have none of our own.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea,—No. 42.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI.

Who gave man the right to own property? It was God. God made this beautiful world, and everything in it belongs to him. All its forests, and rivers, and lakes, and oceans, its rich farming lands and green meadows; its flocks and herds; its orchards of varied fruits; its vine-clad hills, its mines of gold and silver and iron and tin; its wealth of grain, its coal gas and oil; its clay for brick, its sand for cement, its massive stones for pier and building, its flowers, its birds; the fish of the sea, the wild beasts of the jungle, the cocoon of the silk-worm, the wool of the sheep; the ball of the cotton, the fiber of the hemp and of the flax, all are his.

But away back in the beginning God gave to Adam, a formal grant of all the sweet and useful trees of the garden, the seeds of herbs, (or plants) and the fruits of trees, were to be his meat. Gen. i. 29,—ii. 8, 9, 15, 16.

So man's first ownership of property was the ownership of food-bearing plants and trees.

This grant of food-supplies implies some ownership of land. Adam was to dress and to keep the garden. Cain was a tiller of the ground. Noah became a farmer and grape raiser. Other men kept flocks of sheep and of cattle. They must have had farms and pasture lands.

THE RIGHTS OF PROPERTY.

God guards our liberty and our lives with jealous care, but of what use is liberty of life if we can have no homes and no food? What comfort could we take without clothing, without our dear useful animals, our pet birds, our beloved books, our furniture, our tools, our fruitful fields?

If God had made no laws to keep others from taking these things from us, what lives of fear we should live! But he has made such laws, he has guarded the rights of property just the same as the rights of freedom and of life.

He as even made laws to guard the lives of animals. No one has the right to dig deep holes and leave them uncovered for other people's cattle to fall into. And if a man lets cross oxen run loose and they kill other peoples oxen he must pay for all that are killed. We begin another chapter now—the xxii. of Ex. The property laws end at the 16th verse of the chapter. What commandments are they founded on? the eighth? Yes you are right, they are all linked with the words, "Thou shalt not steal."

The Israelites were shepherds. A great part of their wealth consisted in flocks and herds. So cattle and sheep-theives were greatly feared, for this reason. God made several statutes to protect their folds. Under these it was dear stealing for the man who took an ox, or a sheep. If either had been killed or sold he must restore five oxen for an ox and four sheep for a sheep. This was making him pay for the animals and for all the cost and trouble that the owner had been put to. If he was caught while the sheep or oxen were still in his possession, he had to pay double. If he owned neither oxen nor sheep nor asses, the town officers sold him to the man he had stolen the things from, and he had to work until all cost was paid. If these thieves were found breaking into fields or buildings after night, and were smitten and killed, the man who struck them could not be harmed. These cattle thieves are dangerous fellows. They would as soon kill a man as not, if they cannot get his property without. Mr. Thompson who wrote a book about the Holy Land, said, "he had known more than one case, where the Shepherd had to lay down his life in defending his flock." One poor fellow was hacked all to pieces, near Tiberias by Bedouin robbers, and died among his sheep. The sheep-folds are low, flat buildings, with long yards extending out in front of them. These yards are enclosed by wide, high walls, covered on top with a thick layer of thorn brush. The sharp thorns keep thieves, and wolves, and panthers and leopards from climbing over.

But panthers and leopards sometimes do leap clear over the walls, and then the shepherd has a hard fight. Jesus talks of robbers who climb into the fold to kill and destroy the sheep. So robbers must sometimes have got in in that way.

What do you suppose Jesus meant? I think he must have referred to the wicked pagans, who came into the church, bringing all their idol-worshipping doctrines with them. They certainly did not come in by the door of faith in Jesus. And when they were in they put the real disciples—the true sheep of Jesus—to death.

Was it right to smite a thief and kill him after the sun was up? No, it was counted murder, he could be seen then and followed and caught.

We come now to a law that relates to pastures and vinyards. God counts it stealing if we turn our cattle into other people's fields. We must pay back the very best of our own pasture if we have done such a wicked thing.

If we put out fire and it destroys other peoples grain, it is right according to God's law that we pay for the mischief done. I think that this law is valid among men. It was very neccessary that the Israelites should have such a law, for in the land they were going to a kind of thorn groves called beltan. Its branches are closely woven or folded together. Nahum i. 10. You cannot tear them apart. These thorns are all around the wheat-fields. They get very dry by harvest time, and dry tall grass fills all the spans among them. Think with what dreadful fury fire would sweep over such a place. It would fly like it does in our western prairies, and and on the Kankakee marshes. No one could put it out. It would burn up the dead-ripe wheat of many farms and leave the people without food.

The Arabs, who live in the valley of the Jordan, always put to death any person who even accidentally sets the grass on fire.

The Philistines must have had some such law in Samson's time. Hunt up his story and read it. He tied fire-bands between the tails of a lot of jackals and let them go into a lot of grain-fields of the Philistines. They could not catch him to put him to death for setting their fields on fire. So they burnt up his Timnath wife and her father instead.

Men sometimes go on a journey and get other men to take care of their money and household stuff for them. What if the things are stolen?

God's law says if the thief is found he must pay back twice the worth of the stolen things.

If the thief is not found and the neighbor can make oath that he has not touched them he is let off. If animals, or clothes, or other things are lost and the owner thinks he has found them with a neighbor and claims them, and the neighbor says they are not his, both men must go before the judge and the one that is in the wrong must pay double. One cannot be sure that an ox or a sheep is really his, or even a large shawl. Animals and garments often look very much alike. But we cannot go over all these property laws, it would take to long. You will understand the others if you read them. They are all good laws. They teach us to be careful of everything that does not belong to us; that, if borrowed things are hurt, or die, we must make them good.

Mr. Murray places the miscellaneous laws in the rest of the chapter under the head of—

LAWS OF CONJUGAL FIDELITY.

He thinks the relation between God and his people, is something like that between a husband and his wife. God had taken the Israelites to himself to be his people. There was a solemn agreement between them, just as there is between married couples. If the Israelites broke the agreement and went off and worshipped idols, it was like a bad woman who gives up her husband to go and live with another man.

People who worship idols are not a pure people. Their doctrines make them unchaste. So God calls people who forsake the pure faith he has given them, for such an unclean faith as this by the same names that we apply to unfaithful men and women.

Happy marriage under the blessings of a sanctifying religion is what God designed for his chosen nation. No one could deprive a maiden of the right to wifehood.

Auntie Wince.

Report of Labor.

Leaving Plymouth Nov. 21st, we board cars for Noblesville where, when alighting at depot we look for a familiar face, and before seeing it we hear a voice, earnest and full of satisfaction, saying, there they are, Brother and Sister Woodward, and we discover ourselves in the arms of Sister Crickmore, by her side her faithful husband, and Bro. and Sister Bennett. After enjoying a good dinner at Bro. Bennett's we drive out to Olio, six miles distant, where Bro's Hook, Hatch, Wagoner and Conner have each worked and sowed the seeds of truth, which a few faithful souls are striving to maintain against bitter opposition and prejudice all the time. The clouds that had withheld their tears so long began to weep in a slow solemn way, warning us of the size of our congregation, for three days the earth drank greedily the rain which fell, and we all plodded through rain and mud to the "Little Church." Congregations increasing slowly until Thanksgiving, when we had a glorious morning feast at church before partaking of the later feast at Bro. Crickmore's of baked goose, chicken and many other dainties, which we find abound as common daily treats in Indiana. We stayed with these brethren eight days, receiving $6.00 which paid our car fare from Plymouth to Noblesville, with a margin of twenty cents. These brethren need preaching and we have promised to go back in the spring or early summer if possible. Much prejudice was removed, and an opening made for doing good during the few meetings held, but the roads were very bad and urgent calls kept coming from other places, so on Friday Nov. 30th, we started for Warren County. I had written Bro. Evans we would start at 8 o'clock A. M., but neglected to state which A. M. of the week it would be, but as good luck would have it he guessed the right day, and came to West Lebanon after us. It had rained all day, and did not stop for three or four days, and neither did the meetings. We began on Saturday evening and continued 10 days, immersing 28, and taking 29 into the church. A happier company of people were never seen than came from Alvon one day after witnessing the baptism of 11 dear ones, among them Bro.s Harry Evans, J. Crumpton and T. Moyer, men whose wives had been earnestly praying for them for years, now stood with their names so clearly written upon the Lamb's Book of life. Old and young are now banded together in sweet ties of Christian union, earnestly contending for the blessed Bible theme of the soon coming King and kindred truth, and we are glad to know several new names were added to the list for our paper, The Restitution which will be a good teacher for them on all Bible subjects. Today we are sitting in the Monon depot awaiting a train for Rensselaer, where we go to meet "our Fred" and the dear ones of the "Church of God" at that place, back to Plymouth next Sunday, then we bid the brethren here good bye for a time at least, while we work in Michigan. We go first to Fairfield in the southeast of the State where Bro. Chase desires work done. May God bless the effort there, is our prayer.

Yours in Christ.
H. W. & M. A. Woodward.

Dear Restitution:

Bro. D. M. Hudler preached at Plum River, Ill., Dec. 12th and 13th to good congregations, on Sunday and Sunday night at the Union Church. On Monday morning a goodly number met at the house of the writer and went to the water, where an intelligent brother was buried with Christ in baptism, and rose to walk in newness of life. We rejoice to see there still are a few that are willing to accept the truth, for we believe that we are nearing the coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Let us be ready to meet him.

Simon P. Renner.

Dear Restitution:

I desire to say to the brethren and sisters that notwithstanding the opposition by the orthodox churches, the Church of God at Waterville, Wash. is gaining in numbers. Next Sunday there are to be three or four baptized. We have been holding basket meetings at the town of Douglas City in this County on Sundays for some time past. We expect others to come into obedience soon. I expect to hold a series of meetings at Wenatchee and at "Mission" in Kittitas County, Wash. These places are 28 and 40 miles from Waterville. Will write again soon.

R. Corbaley.

OBITUARY.

Sarah Hart was born June 29, 1807, in Fairfield Co., Ohio. Died Dec. 13th, 1895, aged 88 years, 5 months and 16 days. Came to Indiana, April, 1852. About 1865 became obedient to the faith of the gospel, and accepted the Scriptural truth of life only through Jesus Christ. This blessed hope cheered her declining years, and as death approached, her faith grew stronger, and she died in the firm belief of a resurrection to eternal life and an everlasting home in God's coming kingdom to be set up at the second coming of Jesus Christ.

An unusually large audience assembled in the Disciple Church at Macy, Ind., on Sunday, Dec. 15th, where a discourse on the "ancient faith" was delivered by the writer. Foundation, "For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead." The Bible answer to the vexed questions, "What is death?" and "Why was it permitted to enter this once beautiful world?" Showing that the truth is always found between extreme views. Showed how these questions had developed two great parties, both of which ignore the resurrection, "Death ends all," denying it and the other, "There is no death," having no use for it, resurrection the middle ground, the truth.

J. F. Waggoner.

When Christians reach a certain stage of improvement they are tempted to build churches, locate and furnish them to suit their refined tastes, the interests and the needs of those who are degraded. In doing so there is great danger that the churches will drift, away from the people, and become separated from them by a wide chasm. Prosperous Christians should sacrifice their preferences for the sake of the lost. It is vain to sit down in our luxurious churches and say: "The masses are welcome." Jesus came to the people; he did not wait for the people to come to him. Let it not be considered irksome to abandon our luxury for the improvement, elevation and salvation of the lost; it is only by so doing that we can imitate our Lord.—Christian Advocate.

The Bible teaches that there is no future life without a resurrection of dead ones. Science teaches that immaterial existence is non-existence; it does not recognize conscious existence independent of the body.

"The first lesson for childhood should be that of earning its pleasures. To get whatever it craves as soon as it asks for it is the worst training a child can have."

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Poetry.

WHEN.

When shall these blind eyes see,
In mansion fair?
When shall we walk eternally,
Together there?

When shall we be at rest,
In his own time?
With those we love the best,
In that sweet clime?

Oh Lord, thy kingdom haste,
Destroy thy foes;
Till all earth's places waste,
Bloom like the rose.

From east unto the west,
Thy dominion be,
Till all shall own thee blest,
From sea to sea.

Forget us not, we pray,
Who love thy see:
Whose feet oft stray where they Should never go.

Yet glad come back to thee,
The All-wise One;
To whom we bend the knee,
At set of sun.

MARY H. BEHAL.

Selected.

Mr. C. G. Montefiore on Hellenistic Judaism.

Mr. Claude G. Montefiore lectures last night to the members of the Glasgow Jewish Literary and Social Society in the Waterloo Rooms. Ex-Bailie Simons, who presided, said the name Mr. Montefiore bore had always been held in high estimation, had always been in high repute, and he was sure that so long as it was born by such as the lecturer, its fame would never suffer any diminution. Those present were particularly proud, not only as members of the ancient faith, but as citizens of Glasgow, to welcome Mr. Montefiore on the occasion of his visit as president of the Theological Society of a Christian University.

Mr. Montefiore, who was warmly received, had as the subject of his lecture, "Some Reflections on Hellenistic Judaism," by which he explained he meant that Judaism which was touched and influenced by the Hellenism of the time of Alexander the Great, and his immediate successors in his empire. Mr. Montefiore having briefly outlined the career of Alexander and and his conquests, referred to the great dispersion of the Jews. The most important settlement was Egypt, and particularly in Alexandria. For some two hundred years after the founder's death there was no city with grander public buildings or with greater and more elaborate luxury. The consequence was that there was a high civilization and a great deal of vice. There was the best and the worst of the world collected within the walls, and a dozen races or more contributed to its population. To the wealth and splendor the Jews contributed their share. Their synagogue the Talmud described as one of the wonders of the world. What would astonish most, however, was not the magnificence, but the fact that the worship was conducted in Greek. Little or no Hebrew was spoken, but the word Jew was there, as he argued it was now, used to describe not a people of a particular race, but a people of a particular religion; but the race element was of little importance for his purpose. The two determining factors in every man were his nationality and his religion. He was influenced in a thousand ways by being an Englishman, and by being in religion a Jew; but whether his blood was Aryan or Semitic did not affect him at all. It was difficult to say what an Alexandrian Jew was. In Egypt there was a mixture of races, but no real national life, and consequently it would have been difficult to get a nationality even had the Jews desired it. The only real corporate life was a kind of civic life. Nevertheless, the Hellenistic Jews, from the very fact that they spoke Greek, were gradually drawn, to some extent, away from their co-religionists in Judea, where there still existed a Jewish State, with Jerusalem as it metropolis. In the words of the great philosopher Philo, "they regard Jerusalem as their mother city, but the various countries in which their fathers, grandfathers, and ancestors dwelt they regard as their fatherland, for in that they were born and bred." That, Mr. Montefiore remarked, was the attitude of the modern Jew.

If the Alexandrian Jews spoke Greek, they would soon come to write Greek, and consequently those students of the Pentateuch and of the prophets and of the Psalms became also students of a very different class of literature, and yet a very great literature—that of the Greek philosophers—Aristotle, Plato, and the Stoics. That combination had an influence of momentous importance to the history of human civilization What were the religious excellencies—what good religious thing had Greece to offer the Jews? If the mixture of Greek and Jew were bad, it would not be specially interesting to them. Mr. Montefiore pointed out the parallel instance of development of Greeks and Hebrews, that both from regarding all who were not of themselves as barbarians, came to recognize that there was a united human race, that a spiritual bond linked all races. Alexander the Great wanted to proselytise. Under the same influence Hellenistic Jews, without loosing their passionate devotion to Judaism and hatred of idolatry, became filled with an almost equally passionate desire to diffuse beyond the borders of their own race the knowledge of the One and only God, and that pure morality which they possessed. They were inspired with an intensely missionary spirit and the Proselytes to Judaism during the two hundred years before and the 200 years after Christ were numerous. There was one way in which Greek thought affected the Jews, as he believed, for their good. Before the time of Alexander there had been few Jewish philosophers. Judaism had to be expressed in a philosophical way before it could appeal to philosophic minds. The same remains true today. Judaism received at its first philosophic presentation by that coalescence and fusion with Greek wisdom. The Jewish conception of God was also affected. The Jews and the Greek philosophers had alike reached monotheism, although on totally different lines. The Jewish way of looking at God, then, was very personal. He was too national for present-day ideas, for God could not be regarded as a respecter of persons or races. Consequently it was a good thing that God should be tempered with the God of Plato and the Stoics, who was impersonal and philosophic. One reason why they could fuse the Greek and the Jewish conceptions of God was that there were points common to both. Another influence of the Greek on the Jewish religion was in emphasising the opposition of the body and the soul. With some of the Greeks religion, which ought to be a worship of the soul became an inverted worship of the body; but with Plato, to whom the Jews of Alexandria owed a great debt, the opposition was perfectly pure and did not lead to foolish and unspiritual asceticism. The Greek philosophy, too, affected the doctrine of a life hereafter. The Jews had formerly believed that it would take the form of the resurrection of the dead—a bodily existence. Under the Greek influence they came to their present day conception of the immortality of the soul. The idealism of the Hebrew was mainly religious, whereas the Greek idealism was mainly ethical; therefore the latter became an important supplement of the first. It seemed to him that the two could be combined, and each give its help to the other. In fact, they were combined in Hellenistic Judaism. The deeper moral of the Book of Job and the deeper moral of Plato were strangely near each other, and he could not help thinking, although it was a fanciful thought, that the anguish of Job might have been lessened, and the disciples of Plato might have been increased, if either had known and realized the wisdom of the other. The student might with advantage consider how far these excellences, passing over into the side waters of Hellenistic Judaism from the Greek and from Hellenistic Judaism into the main stream of Rabbinical and Mediæval Judaism, were now included in every modern presentation of their common faith. To the lecturer it seemed that to Greek philosophy and to the Hebrew Bible they owed those great truths and maxims by which Scottish and English Jews of the nineteenth century could still work and live.

Mr. E. P. Phillips, minister of the Hebrew congregation in Glasgow, moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer, to whom he referred as one of the brightest ornaments of their faith. The compliment was heartily paid, and the proceedings then terminated.—The Scotsman.

As we pass along the valley of time, in the range of truth, two great peaks rise up before the vision. One of them, the first coming of Christ, lies behind us; the other, the second coming of Christ, looms up in the near future. As one has said: "The second coming of Christ is the great event of the future. From it the flaming beacons of prophecy on every hilltop of the ages have caught their fire. Toward it all the movements of history point the way. In it all the radiating lines of prophecy meet. It is that glorious hope, that morning star of the endless day, which shines clear and serene above and beyond all the darkness and storms of time. The hope of the church is not fulfilled, the salvation of saints is not complete, and victory of redemption is not finished and cannot be until Jesus comes a second time.

After a careful count, 345 verses in the Old Testament are found to teach directly the second coming of our Lord, besides a vast number of allusions thereto. In the New Testament there are 385 verses which distinctly set forth the truth of his return, or more than one verse in every twenty-three. But, plainly and abundantly as it is proclaimed, it is hid from the eyes of the most of his preachers and people.—J. H. Brookes, in the Bible Standard.

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by, Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

Running the Streets.

With all the earnestness we can command we would say to every mother, If you wish to train up your children to be virtuous, truthful and good members of society, do all you can to prevent them from running about the streets and lanes. The great school of vice is the street. It is there the boys learn bad language and vicious ways. For one good lesson learned at the fireside he gets a dozen bad ones in the street. It is there the seeds of falsehood, gambling, lying and theft are scattered broadcast. Mothers, as you love yourselves and those who belong to you, train your children to cling to the home. Live home yourself, and do all you can to sink the roots of it in your child's heart. Never was there a greater error than to let children run wild in the streets night after night, and then suppose you can break them in bye-and-bye. No man expects to break a colt in by that method. No wise gardener allows weeds to grow in his garden for any length of time, saying he can eradicate them after. Nor is it wise for mothers to let their children run wild and then expect to train them up in the best way. Such a mistake makes a harvest of spendthrifts, gamblers, thieves and drunkards. Mothers, do all you can to lead your children to seek their greatest happiness in your home, and never allow them to get into the habit of running the streets.—J. W. Kirton.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$34.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$46.70

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	$309.27

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 384 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 32 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts. per hundred.

Written and for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ. 3. 20,000 Baptists, in 1860. 4. Immortality. 5. The Kingdom of God. 6. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10. Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 10 cts.

YOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 10c; 80 for 15c; 50 for 85c; 100 for 10c. State of Man's Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two uses of these terms, to-wit, a Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the basic points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 11 for 50c. 27 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 64 pages, price 30c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 29, 1879, by Jos. Carter. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 15 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 160 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the Authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to pay.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, two Bible maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 758 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1. post-paid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the readings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican MSS. scripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.50; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, prices $1.65.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 176 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 50 cents; 10 for $1.00; 50 for $4.00. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 12cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 261, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
I. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
H. T. Baker, Decorah, Iowa.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.

THE SPECIAL EVANGELIST FUND.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published,	$281.78
Mrs. M. L. Cherry	3.00

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 688 Wood and Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. O. M. Johnson, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and teaching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 2765 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Rhoe Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome. Pastors residence 801 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m. every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

A church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall on Pleasant corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Wednesday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mill's Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty miles east thereof.

The Church of God in Frontier Co., Neb., meets in the new frame church. We have Union Sunday School every Sunday, and communion once a month as we have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah Sollock Clerk.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

The Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry boats from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brock Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Keifer, or E. L. Lehmeo, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Sigle, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Schools Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grant. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Steele. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in Reamer Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K. of P. Hall, 234 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m.
A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitcraft, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Schools Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 A. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria E. Trescott, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at A. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Custer every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Salem Center is presided over by Bro G. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains Central Time.

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 33, Pullman Vestibule Buffet and Sleeping Cars on 4, 6 and 9. Dark Face Type denotes time Open 12:00 noon to 12:01 midnight.

Eastward.	9	13	39	3	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM
Pittsburgh lv.	7 50		7 30
Allegheny "	8 00		7 40
Canton "	10 50		10 30
Massillon "	11 37		11 15
Wooster "	12 18		11 56
Mansfield "	1 23		1 01
Crestline ar.	2 05	11 40	1 50
Crestline lv.	2 10	11 45	2 00
Dixie Tee "	2 17	12 09	2 07
Lima "	3 50	1 45	3 20
Van Wert "	4 23	2 21	3 57
Payne "	4 43	2 41	4 17
Ft Wayne "	5 25	3 25	5 00
Arcola "	5 33	3 33	5 08
Chamberlain's "	4 59	4 05	5 35
Auburn "			5 47
Corunna "			6 02
Durand "			6 15
North Lake "			6 37
Wayne "	5 31	4 42	6 43
Ellsworth "			6 49
Ross Street "			6 53
Bourbon "			7 00
Syracuse "			7 15
Plymouth "	6 05	5 20	7 20
Cloverdown "			7 35
Hamlet "			7 40
Davis "			7 50
Hanna "			8 00
Wanatah "			8 10
Valparaiso "			8 34
Wheeler "			8 39
Hobart "			8 45
Liverpool "			8 50
Burke "			8 55
Chicago ar.	9 00	8 00	9 55
	PM	AM	PM	PM

Eastward.	20	2	4	6	8	34
	AM	PM	PM	AM	PM
Chicago lv.	7 30	3 00	12 30	12 30	4 30
Burke "
Liverpool "
Wheeler "
Valparaiso "	9 15	4 32	1 50	4 00
Wanatah "	9 30		2 05
Hanna "
Davis "
Hamlet "	10 00		2 25
Cloverdown "	10 10
Plymouth "	10 20		2 45	2 50
Bourbon "	10 45
Donelson "	10 50		3 20
Plain Grove "	11 05
Warsaw "	11 20	5 26	3 50
North Lake "	11 40
Wayne "	11 47		4 12
Ellsworth "	11 53
Epworth "	11 57
Columbia City "	12 05	5 55	4 40
Arcola "	12 13
Ft Wayne "	12 30		5 20
Van Wert "	1 18		6 46
Payne "	1 38		7 05
Dixie Tee "	1 44		7 11
Crestline ar.	2 25	6 40	8 00
Crestline lv.	2 30	6 45	8 05
Mansfield "	3 11	7 26	8 46
Wooster "	3 48	8 02	9 22
Massillon "	4 32	8 46	10 06
Canton "	5 19	9 33	10 53
Alliance ar.	6 10	10 25	11 45
Pittsburgh ar.	7 55	12 05	1 30
	AM	PM	PM

JOSEPH WOOD,		E. A. FORD,
General Manager,		General Passenger Agent,
PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, sleeping car tickets, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent,
Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 32, Passenger, Leaves	12:35pm
No. 22, " "	10:07pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 33, Passenger, Leaves	12:45pm
No. 23, " "	10:15pm
No. 151, Local, "	7:30pm

*Daily except Sunday. †Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, northwest and far west.

Direct connections at Lima, Fostoria, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. & M. G. Div. for all points north, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. H. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address
CHAS. F. DALY,
Gen Pass. Agt.
Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 82, Ex. Sun	12:19pm For St. Joseph.
No. 86 "	7:31am " "
No. 84, ex. Sun.	10:20pm for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 81, Ex. Sun	8:20am For Terre Haute.
No. 85, "	12:20pm " "
No. 87 ex. Sunday	7:27pm " Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. DOWNS, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or
E. A. FORD,
Gen'l. Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Peari st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local Ft Wayne
Ft Wayne				7:00am
Hammond	10:23pm	9:07am		8:35am
Hobart	10:38pm	9:44am		10:10am
Valpar'so	11:16pm	10:27am		11:00am
Kewanna		11:24am		11:45am
Knox	12:18am	11:30am	4:20pm	7:30pm
Argos	12:33am	11:41am		9:55pm
Ft Wayne	2:20am	1:20pm	6:25pm	4:30pm
Cleveland	10:00am	9:00pm	11:45pm
Buffalo	4:55pm		6:00am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:20pm		6:35am	Local Ft Wayne
Cleveland	7:10pm	8:00am	10:35am
Ft Wayne	2:05am	2:15pm	4:10pm	7:30am
Argos	4:10am	4:20pm		9:36pm
Knox	4:50am	4:30pm	6:25pm	10:10pm
Kewanna		4:36pm		11:00pm
Valpar'so	5:50am	5:50pm		12:14am
Hobart	6:9 am	6:17pm		1:50pm
Hammond	6:34am	6:40pm		2:15pm
Stryfield				4:40pm
Chicago	7:50am	7:0 pm	9:00am

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:05 a.m., Cleveland at 8:00 a.m. and local freights do not run Sunday Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address
A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt
B. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt.
Cleveland, O.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., Publishers, 361 Broadway, New York City.

THE RE

The Restitution of All Things which God hat

VOLUME XLV. Read PLYMOU

The Restitution.

ISSUED WEEKLY BY

A. R. UNDERWOOD,

PUBLISHER FOR THE

Christian Publishing Association.

Board of Directors:
ROBERT HAILMANN.
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. H. UNDERWOOD,
WM. HAILMANN.

TERMS:---One Dollar per Year.

Poetry.

Work and Rest.

Weary! Who should be weary? Not he who has life to live;
He to whom aught is given, may still have more thing to give;
And man is made for the battle, and the sword is girt on the thigh.
And the purpose of God is thwarted if we only linger and sigh.
Ay, and we all have been wounded, some more and others less,
And the sorrows our hearts have suffered have taught us tenderness.

Scatter the seed in the morning, and at eve stay not thy hand,
Morning and noon and even, there will still be open land!
It may be but a cup of water, but a gently spoken word,
Above the gift framed, the faintest accent heard;
And the good we do to another comes back to us ever again,
As the moisture raised from the ocean returns in the gentle rain.

For blessing works in a circle, and the water that circle goes,
As it wheels round the throne of God, ever in strength it grows;
And his is the counsel of heaven to be spent in the purchase of love;
Till all the realm of the earth below, is as pure as the realms above.
Then weary not in the struggle; God reigns at for the best,
And at last the wings in the circle shall bear the soul to its rest.

Communicated.

HESAIAS.--[Isaiah C. V.]--Chapter 12.

1. And thou wilt say in that day, I commend thee O Lord, because thou wast wrathful with me and didst turn away thine anger from me and show me mercy.

2. Lo my God, my Savior, I will trust in him and I shall not have feared; because my glory and my praise is the Lord, and he hath become unto salvation.

3 And may ye have drawn water with rejoicing out of the fountains of the instrumental-salvation.

4. And thou wilt say in that day Hymn the Lord; call upon his name; declare his glorious acts unto the nations? Remember that his name hath become exalted.

5. May ye have hymned the name of the Lord, because he hath done high things; May ye have declared them in all the earth.

6. Be glad and rejoice ye who dwell in Sioon, because the Saint of Israel hath been exalted in her midst.

CHAPTER 13.

1. A vision which Hesaias son of Amoos saw in relation to Babuloon.

2 Upon a mountain of a plain lift up a sign; may ye have raised your voice unto them; Help with your hand; disclose ye rulers.

3. I myself am arraying for battle, and I myself am leading them; Giants they come to fulfill my anger, rejoicing together and insolent with pride.

4. A voice of many nations upon the mountains, like that of many nations, a voice of kings and nations that have been gathered together. The Lord of Sabaoth hath enjoined on a nation armed for war.

5. To come from out a land afar off; from a limit of the foundation of the canopy, the Lord and his armed warriors to destroy all the inhabited.

6. Ololu. For a day of the Lord is nigh, and a crushing blow from the Lord will come.

7. Therefore every hand will have become relaxed and every human soul will become cowardly.

8. The elders will have become disturbed and pange will lay hold of them as of a woman who is bringing forth; and they will take counsel with one another and will be astounded and change their countenance like a flame of fire.

9. For lo, a day of the Lord is coming insatiate in anger and wrath to desolate the inhabited, and to destroy the obdurate sinners off from it.

10. Yea, the stars of the heavens and Orioon and all the cosmos of the heavens will not give their light; and it will have continued dark when the sun riseth, and the moon will not give her light.

11. And I am commanding dire things for all the inhabited, and the irreverent their sins. And I shall destroy the haughty pride of the transgressors; and the haughty pride of the contemptuous I shall.

12. And those who are left will be in honor more than the unmelted gold, and a man will be more in honor than the stone in Souphir.

13. For the heavens will have become angry and the earth will have been shaken from off its foundations because of the anger of the wrath of the Lord of Sabaoth, in that day when his anger shall come upon it.

14. And those left will be like a little gazelle that fleeth and like a lost sheep, and there will be no one to gather togeth : so that a man may have returned unto his own holy, and man will be pursued into his own province.

15. Yea whosoever shall be taken will have been dismembered and whosoever shall have been gathered together will fall with a sword.

16. And their offspring will they rend in their sight and their houses will they plunder, and their wives will they have possession of.

17. Lo, I am stirring up against you the Medes who take no account of silver and who have no use for gold;

18. The weapons of young men will they break and your offspring will they show no mercy to, nor will their eyes be sparing of your offspring.

19. And Babuloon called renowned by reason of a king of Chaldeians will be as God overthrew Sodoma and Gomorra.

20. It will not have been dwelt in for the age-everlasting time, nor shall they enter into it for many generations, nor shall Arabians pass through it, nor shall shepherds lie down to rest in it.

21. And wild-beasts will lie down to rest there; and the houses will have been filled with an echo, and siren owls will rest there; and demons will rest there.

22. And thillers-apes will take up their abode there, and hedgehogs will build their nests in their houses.

CHAPTER 14.

1. It cometh swiftly and doth not tarry. And the Lord will show mercy to Jacoob and will again choose out Israel, and they will rest (houses) upon their land, and the bordering inhabitant will have been added unto them, and will have been added unto the house of Jakoob.

2. And nations will take them and lead them into their place, and they will inherit and will have been multiplied upon the land for bond-men and bond-maids; and those who led them away captives will be captives, and those who lorded it over them will have been lorded over.

3. And it will be in that day that the Lord will give thee rest from the woe and the anger of thy harsh bond-service in which thou hast served them.

4 And thou wilt take up this throne over the king of Babuloon. How hath the demander gone to rest and the one who hasted gone to rest?

5. The Lord broke the yoke of the obdurate-sinners, the yoke of the rulers:

6. When he smote a nation with anger with an unappeasable blow, smiting a nation with a blow of anger that did not spare, he rested with assurance.

7. All the earth shouted with rejoicing.

8. And the trees of the Libanos have rejoiced over thee and the cedar of the Libanos. Since thou didst lie down to sleep, the one who was cutting you down hath not gone up.

9. Hades down below was embittered when it met thee: all the great ones who had ruled the earth, who had stirred up all the kings of the earth from out their thrones, waked up simultaneously.

10. They will all have answered and will say unto thee; And thou, hast thou been taken even as were we also? And hast thou been accounted with us?

11. Hath thy glory come down unto hades, thy much rejoicing? Beneath thee will they strew putrefaction, and thy bed be worm?

12. How hath the Morning bringer fallen the One who causeth the morning to arise? the One who sendeth forth unto all the nations, how hath he been crushed to earth!

13. And thou didst say in thy thought, I shall ascend into the heavens; above the stars of the heavens shall I sit down upon a high mountain above the high mountains at the North;

14. I shall ascend above the foundations of the earth

16. When they have seen thee they will wonder at thee and will say; This the man who embittereth the earth, who shaketh kings,

17. Who hath made all the inhabited a waste-place and who hath torn down the cities thereof: who didst not loose those led away captive?

18. All the kings of the nations have lain down to sleep in honor, each man in his own house.

19. But thou wilt be cast away on the mountains like a corpse abominated, in the midst of many dead pierced through with swords that go down into hades; Like an outergarment defiled with blood that may not be cleansed.

20. Even so thou shalt not be cleansed, for the animate-age-time, thou wicked seed.

21. Make ready thy offspring to be sealed with the slay of their father, that they may not arise and inherit the earth and fill the earth with wars

22. And I will arise against them, saith the Lord of Sabaoth and destroy their name and remnant and seed Thus saith the Lord.

23. And I will make Babuloon a waste so that hedge-hogs will dwell in it, and it will be for naught; and I will make it a mud-pit in the way of foes.

24. Thus saith the Lord of Sabaoth, in the way I have said even so will it be, and in the way I have counseled even so will it abide.

25. To destroy the Assurians upon my earth and upon my mountains: and they will be a thing downtrodden and their yoke will have been taken away from them and their renown will have been taken from off their shoulders.

26. This is the counsel which the Lord hath counseled in respect to all the inhabited and this the uplifted hand over all the nations.

27 What the sacred God forsooth hath counseled who will annul? And his uplifted hand who will turn away?

28. In the year that Achaz the king died this oracular word occurred.

29. May ye not have rejoiced all ye other tribes, though the yoke of the one who smiteth you hath been broken. For from the serpent's seed progeny of asps will come forth, and their progeny will come forth flying serpents.

30. And through him beggars will have been fed, and poor men will find rest in peace; but with famine will he take away thy seed and thy remnant will be destroy.

31. Ololu ye gates of cities; May fortified cities have cried out, all ye other tribes that are coming from the North—a smoke and it is not to be.

32 And what answer will kings of nations have made? Because the Lord hath founded Sioon, and through him will the lowly of the laity have been saved.

COMMENT.

Observe the emphasis in the 3d verse of the 12th chapter on the instrumental salvation in contrast with salvation in the abstract in the 2nd verse. Again observe that the hymnal praise culminating in the 6th verse prophesied for "this day" identifies this "instrumental-salvation" as "the Saint of Israel who hath become exalted in the midst of Sioon."

Chapter 13th opens with "a vision which Hesaias son of Amoos (the same Hesaias so far that we started with isn't he?) saw in relation to Babuloon." The thoughtful reader will perceive no doubt that not only this prophecy in relation to "Babuloon" but many more are farther-reaching in their import than merely the old Babylonian Empire. For instance in the apocryptic vision of John the Babuloon he sees is the whole anti-Christian world of intelligence. This pregnant meaning and purpose is in the signification of the Word itself namely "Howling confusion" as opposed to the divine harmony of God's creation and which divine harmony restored in the great and last object of redemption. As old Babuloon in its imperial greatness as an universal kingdom of its day was overthrown and supplanted by something better, so will "the fashion of this whole world" of one day pass away in another mighty convulsion, when "the kingdom of the cosmos of God and his Christ" is ushered in. Therefore keep this thought in mind as you read this and succeeding prophecies that relate to old Babuloon and the kindred nations of that day. Remember that the imagery is not as you have been told merely Eastern hyperbole and exageration. The prophecy was literally fulfilled so far as "old Babuloon" was concerned, and we can confidently look forward still to the greater fulfillment as concerns this modern Babuloon of idolatry and apostasy.

With the overthrow of Babuloon and the picture of its desolation with which the 13th chapter closes, the 14th opens with the renewed promise of mercy to Jakoob and choice of Israel as the divine instrumentality to ameliorate even the judgments upon the nations of "Old Babuloon." Then comes "the threne" or funeral elegy over Babuloon, wonderfully poetic in its imagery and instructive in its subject matter. How "the one who hasted" reminds of "the one who hasteth to be rich" of the later teaching of Christ himself.

Notice the breadth of the statement in the 26th verse and its far-reaching import still unfulfilled. Also the pertinent inquiry of the 27th verse, and the additional significant prophecy and warning in the 29th verse.

The hope of the world "the hope of Israel" as brought out in the concluding 32nd verse. This is "the strong food" not "milk of the word."

CHAS. GARDNER.

EXPOSITORY.

With the editors permission I desire to submit a few thoughts on I Pet. iii. 18-20. It is always wise and safe to keep close to the wording of any given passage or text in the Scriptures, also to notice the context going before and also what follow after. 2nd, The common English scholar must of necessity exercise his reason as his judgment as to doctrine taught in a given text. This he must do in the light of all the testimony bearing upon the subject. It will not do to neglect the exercise of sound and enlightened judgment for the reason that where a man is [illegible] master of the original language nothing else is left him but the exercise of sound common sense and reason. Few only are competent to deal with textual criticisms and are not therefore able to open out the teaching of a text that is more or less obscured by the translators. Nevertheless he can feel reasonably safe and satisfied by comparing Scripture with Scripture—in the mean time being settled in the conviction that the inspired writers were competent to express their thoughts clearly.

3rd. The text reads, "For Christ also hath once suffered for our sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quick-were scattered so that they could not get together, and sometimes in prison. So that as often as they could get together they took it on the first day, Acts xx. 7, 1st Cor. xvi 2. Some claim that the passages have no reference to the communion by the quotations will tell for themselves. I take notice that since we started taking it as we did at the first that some of us are sick and weakly, the same spirit is not there, and as Bro. G. Moyer said when we attended our annual conference at Cambridge two years ago, "that one meal was not sufficient to support the spiritual, and for want we are almost asleep. We have lost our first love. There was a specified time to eat the Passover, there was a set in time to circumcise so, and it is rather strange if there is not a time for communion. I mean a time when the brethren will all be in harmony on, and I think it is the first day of the week, (if not what day is it) is it the only Bible time? I don't see either type nor shadow for taking it at baptism, only the shadow of man that instituted the system. If we do it in remembrance of him who suffered and died for us, I think once a year to have communion is far from the mark. This is something that ought to be an established system and not one taking it once a week, another taking it once a month, another once a year, and last taking it only at baptism, we ought all speak the same thing. I think an article from Bro. Moyer or Wilson or both of them would do good in establishing unity which ought to be. Its you suppose when we get into the kingdom that some will be one way and another the other way. Nay verily, and if we can't be a unit here we will not be there, so brethren let us try and get to unity which is the bond of perfection.

Your Brother in hope

J. W. GAMBLE.

TWO THOUGHTS.

In RESTITUTION of March 25, I read an interesting article with regard to "The New Jerusalem," after reading the following thoughts occurred to me, with regard to the "height" of the city.

First. We read: "The length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal."

Webster gives one of the definitions of the word equal, as "uniform;" now to be uniform, the structure must be proportionate.

The definition of proportion, is: "Comparative relation of one thing to another; equal or just share." And the meaning of "uniform" is: "consistent with itself."

Hence for the structure of the city to be equal "does not require the "height" to be the same as the length and breadth, but must be "uniform," in harmony, not out of proportion, but "consistent with itself," an "equal or just share."

Second. "And the city lieth four-square." If the "height" is to be just as large as the width and breath, it would be a cube. In a perfect cube, we find six equal squares. The Bible says: "And the city lieth four square." What do you think?

W. H. WILSON.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Bro. Underwood:

Please say through [illegible] RESTITUTION, that there will be a meeting held at the Crescent School house, in southeast corner of Sumner County, Kan., near Bro. Randolphs and Bro. Vickerys. This meeting is to commence Friday before the first Sunday in May and hold over Sunday. We have secured the services of Bro. I. E. Conner, and we anticipate a good meeting. And we can have a good meeting if we will. Brethren, do you wish to enjoy one more love feast? If so, you will make an effort to be with us then in the spirit of Christ. This may be the last meeting many of us will ever be permitted to attend. May God's love o'ershadow us with and by his Word. Come with a prayer, with a song, with an exhortation, that Bro. Conner, with all who may attend will be able to feel that they have fallen in among brethren, sought of God, and thus all be made to rejoice together in hope of a glorious future.

I. S. MILLER.

To the Brethren and Sisters of like faith:

As we did not get to write in time for the love feast, please give us a place yet to testify. Dear brothers and sisters we have Jesus Christ formed within us the hope of glory, the hope of the soon coming King to set up his kingdom on the earth. We can say for one that I am looking for his coming, and the thought of his coming makes my heart rejoice for he has promised to change our vile bodies and fashion like unto his glorious body, then there will be no sickness, no sorrow, no pain. Dear ones my hope is in the resurrection, then I will meet my loved ones sleeping in the dust and though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil for thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff do comfort me.

My hope is built on nothing less,
Than Jesus Christ and righteousness.

Your Sister in Christ,

EMMA BRANT.

I Do Not Wish to go to Heaven, and Why.

1. Because I would be so very lonesome, being an entire stranger and in a strange land with not one to it my person I ever met since.

2. Because Father don't want me there he has no use for me there, or he would have said so in his Word.

3. Because being a mortal man of the earth earthy, I would be out of my natural element, as much so as a fish out of water.

4. Because Jesus my advocate is there pleading my cause, and I cannot go.

5. Because he told me to occupy until he would come.

6. Because I cannot go there unless Jesus is invited to go, and I cannot do it, and waiting good was pleading.

7. Because Jesus is the type now remain without until the return of their Lord, baptized, and then receive a blessing. Just so must we remain and wait without until he returns to bless his waiting ones.

8. Because Jesus has said: Behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me to give it to every man according as his work shall be.

9. Because I have no possible way of going to heaven while living, if I deserved it ever so much, and as the dead praise not the Lord, and know not anything, I could not go with dead, or the dead is not dead.

10. Because Jesus told his disciples, that if he were away, he would come again, and receive them unto himself. While Paul chases in by saying: When Christ who is our life shall appear, then shall we appear with him in glory.

11. Because Paul positively states that if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen, and ye are yet in your sins, and those who fell asleep in Christ are perished. Our hope is a hope that hangs on the resurrection.

12. Because the man clothed in linen said to Daniel, Blessed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days.

13. Because Jesus or his apostles never promised any one a home in heaven, and because they never concluded a prayer or a benediction with the common opinion phrase,—"and in heaven ever more." Never, no never.

T. E. A.

Selections.

The Immortality of the Soul.

I think there has been no book written on the immortality of the soul which I have not read. I have perused them, bought them at great prices, studied them with great earnestness, seeking to construct a satisfactory theory to my own mind, seeking to master that great argument. I have spent thirty years at it, hoping some day that possibly, by diligent study and prayerful earnestness, I might be able to convey the argument, to present it with more force, and to make its impression stronger upon the mind and the heart of the world. But when death came to my home and struck down my darlings; when I went and looked into their graves, I saw nothing but utter darkness; I looked up into heaven with a longer I cannot describe, with an anguish I cannot express; I went out on a dark night into the deep woods, and looked up into the great vault above, and beat upon my breast, and cried to my Father, and to the Spirits which inhabit those distant and unseen realms, and prayed until my heart was crushed and broken; until my tongue almost clave to the roof of my mouth; and in speechless silence, with my face upon the earth, to see if I could not hear them, but I found that it was dark and silent; not a ray, not a voice.

I went and sat down by the philosophers whom I before imagined had edified me, but now I found they gave me nothing but husks. I read their arguments, which had once cheered me, but now they broke my heart. They had nothing in them, not even enough for me to hang a conjecture upon. I was desolate with an utter desolation. I sat down and wrung my hands in an agony I could not describe. Nor did I ever find relief until I heard a voice coming through the gloom, and out of the darkness and silence, with more than heavenly music and sweetness in it, and it said: "I am Jesus, the resurrection and the life; thy dead shall live again;" and upon that single idea, that single thought, I found that I could rest my hope and my faith, and upon none other. He has brought life and immortality to light; he has revealed that great doctrine; he has established the truth which the world sighed and longed and wept and prayed for, but which ever eluded mankind till he came down out of heaven, and told the story of the Fatherhood of God, and the immortality of his human children. "Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and the Holy Ghost; as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end." Amen and amen!—World's Crisis.

A False Hope.

To look for a world's complete conquest during this present evil age is to delude ourselves with a false hope, unaltered with prophetic promise, and unsanctioned by historic facts. After nearly twenty centuries "the offence of the cross" has not ceased. Evil still rules this world and Satan is still its god. Yet from all quarters the third is seen being outgathered. Now, in the face of man is still in red. He is not into temple of God the "living stones" are being hewn from the vast masses of bad rock locked in the quarries.

The Church waits for her full salvation, the world for its true transformation, the whole creation for its final redemption, until he comes who maketh "all things new."..... And when that final age shall open, which is the apex of the time we ride, whose eternal noon knows no shadow of sin or death, then the kingdom will have come in splendor, consummate, infinite, eternal. On a new earth, arched by a new heaven, God's name shall be hallowed and God's will shall be done by a redeemed race of humanity, as now before his throne the intelligences of cherubs and the affection of seraphs blend in ceaseless adoration and ecstatic obedience.

Rev. A. T. Pierson, D. D.

Be Not Be A Lazy Christian.

Be busy in your worldly matters, if you will; you will soon find there is one that won't be lazy in your Christian work. Let it be done promptly. Keep up to time with it. It must not lag behind. Don't be late in the house of God. Be not come in five minutes after the service begins to disturb pastor and the worship. Don't be late at the prayer-meeting. You lose much by it. It is the disadvantage of others also. Don't neglect the evening service because you are weary, or it is too warm. Don't let your class believe you are a lazy loggard, because they are there and you are not. Be on hand, be up to time, be energetic, as one determined by the grace of God to succeed, and you will know no failure. The sluggard is the man who says: "Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep."—Christian Instructor.

The very certainty of prophecy should induce to its faithful study. "Hath he said, and shall he not do it?" "These are true sayings of God," declared the angel who opened the prophetic vision to John upon Patmos. The more fully we become penetrated with the conviction of the certainty of prophecy, the higher will be our elevation and enrichment. Nothing is so stimulating to the devout mind as to mark the footprints of God along the highways of the centuries and the distant uplands of coming ages.

What a comfort it is in a changing world to rest the Word of him who says: "I, the Lord, change not." Years may come and go, kingdoms may rise and fall, dynasties may exalt themselves and be humbled into dust and ashes, wealth may despair, applause may change to reproach, friendship's fire may grow dim, yet the Lord changeth not—ever faithful, ever watchful, ever loving, ever long-suffering, tender, gracious, compassionate, almighty.—Ex.

What a fine blessing is pronounced in the expression, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, even so saith the Spirit, for they rest from their labors." Farewell sin, farewell sorrow, farewell distress; all hail, death, for it brings joy everlasting.

In the very thickest of the battle the Christian is ready to cry, "None but Christ!" And when the battle is won, he is ready to sing, "Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ!"

One spark of true virtue and grace in the heart, one soft whisper of a good conscience, one glimpse of the light of God's countenance, is of more value than all the pleasures of the world.

DO YOU WANT
THE BEST GARDEN
in your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS AND PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

Poetry.

The Call to Service

Go deep in the mine, and dig down for the riches
That God, in his wisdom, has buried so deep;
Go out on the white fields and gather the harvest,
For gleaners have gleaned all the reapers have reaped.

Go down to the ocean where billows are flying,
And answer the wrecked cries that float to the shore;
Go dare the mad tide and swim to the rescue
Of those who may sink there to rise never more.

Go climb the rough mountain, shun false retrospection;
Of all the vast multitude calling for bread;
Go buckle your armor and join the great army,
If not as a leader, then strong to be led.

Onward, through the ranks of the multitude, creeping,
Resistless as tides thunder onward your brave hosts,
And lift up the fainthearted, the fainting, the fallen;
Go hallow the pillow of dying and dead.

There's work for all workers, and no time to idle,
For time with him who will ever pass away;
And the hope of the faithful will send his own sunbeam
To cheer up the toiler while he answers the call.

Original.

An Exhortation.

"So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near even at the doors." Matt. xxiv. 33.

This was the answer in part to a question asked by his disciples: "Tell us when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and the end of the world?"

But the question may be asked: How can we know that these things will ever be? By searching the scriptures we can know. It is evident from the tenor of the disciples' inquiry that they knew of Christ's second coming before they asked for a sign, for they could not inquire into precisely that of which they had no knowledge. God in mercy let them have the sign of his coming and the end of the world.

Dan. xii. 1-3; Matt. xxiv. 29; Luke xxi. 25, and on, mention as near unto those things known to the world, as know he is coming again, if he was not coming again, he would not have given these warnings; God did not leave not-believers without a warning of the coming flood, and because they rejected his mercy, they knew not until the flood came and took them all away. Gen. xix. 24; Luke xvii. 28, 29.

Neither did he leave Sodom and Gomorrah without warning, and they were destroyed with fire from the Lord out of heaven, they were left with out excuse; for they made no preparation to avoid the impending destruction and how God has given the world another fearful warning in the earthquake—and in the sun, moon, and stars, foretelling the second advent of Christ, and the end of the world. These signs are of infinite importance and should not be treated with indifference for they were given to point saint and sinner to Jesus and to his glorious coming in the clouds of heaven, those who refuse to hear him or his warnings are asleep to the signs God has given them in his Word. It is no time now for the Church of God to sleep.

Paul admonishes us that knowing the time, that it is high time to awake out of sleep for now is our salvation nearer than when we first believed. The night, the long night of weeping is far spent, the day which is evidently the day of deliverance to the people of God is at hand. Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness and let us put on the armor of light. Surely it is high time to put on the whole armor of God.

More than eighteen hundred years ago Peter said, "there shall come in the last days scoffers walking after their own lust and saying where is the promise of his coming?" 2 Pet. iii. 3). This is another sign of Christ's coming, and when ever this question is asked in a scoffing manner, it is a fulfillment of Peter's prophecy. All such sayings go to prove that we are living in the last days and the scoffers are willfully ignorant for they do not want to know or hear these things. Jesus says: the gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come. Matt. xxiv. 14.

Have they not heard? Yea verily, they have heard the sounds of the last warning message which is now going forth earnestly and rapidly to every kindred tongue, and people, and now the preaching of the gospel of the kingdom is a witness unto all nations and unto the isle of the sea, that the great day of the Lord is near and hasteth greatly even the voice of the day of the Lord. In reply to the question of his disciples our Savior described the signs in the earth, sun, moon, and stars in such a manner that it might be understood from the time of its occurance that his coming was in the near future, and in relation to the fulfillment of these prophecies.

The Son of Man, through his servent John, thus reveals the first of three signs that were to precede his coming. There was a great earthquake and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair and the moon became as blood.

The great earthquake of Nov. 1, 1755, known as the earthquake of Lisbon was we think, the fulfillment of this prophecy, and was the first sign of the second coming of Christ. It pervaded the greater portion of Europe, Africa and America "the greater part of Algiers was destroyed. Houses were thrown down and multitudes were buried beneath its ruins. Thousands of persons lost their lives on that fatal day, the terror of the people knew no bounds, it was beyond description, no body wept, it was beyond tears, they ran hither and thither desirious with horror and astonishment, beating their faces, crying, the world is at an end, mothers forgot their children and ran about loaded with crucifix in hands. Unfortunately many ran to churches for protection, but in vain was the sacrament exposed and poor creatures embraced the altars. Images, priest and people were buried in that fearful vortex of ruin. The earthquake happened on a holy day when the churches were full of people, very few escaped. It is said that the movement was undulatory, and that it took it at the rate of 20 miles a minute. A great wave swept over the coast of Spain, and it is said to have been 60 feet in height at Cadiz, at Tangier, in Africa it rose and fell eighteen times on the coast. At Fundchal in Madeira, it rose to the height fifteen feet above the high water mark. Although the tide which ebbs and flows three seven feet was then at half ebb. Besides entering the city and committing great havoc, it overflowed other sea-ports in the Island.

At 11 o'clock a sound of thunder was heard under the ground, and immediately after a violent shock threw down the greater part of the city. In the course of about six minutes sixty thousand persons perished. The sea first retired and laid the bars dry, it then rolled in rising fifty feet above its ordinary level. The mountains Arabida, Estrella, Tinto, Morevan and Cintra, being some of the largest in Portugal were instantaneously shaken as it were from their very foundations, and some of them opened at their summits which were split and rent in a wonderful manner, huge masses of them being thrown down into the adjacent valleys. Flames issued from the mountains which are supposed to have been electric.

The most extraordinary circumstance which occured at Lisbon was the subsidence of the new quay built entirely of marble at an immense expense. A great concourse of people had collected there for safety as a spot where they might be beyond the reach of falling ruins, but suddenly the quay sank out of sight with all the people, and none of the dead bodies ever floated to the surface. A great number of boats and small vessels in the bason near it were swallowed up as in a whirlpool. No fragment of these wrecks ever rose again to the surface, and the water in the place where the quay had stood is stated in many accounts to be unfathomable but Whitehurst says he never found it to be one hundred fathoms and one hundred feet deep. A sea-port called St. Ubes about 30 miles south of Lisbon was engulfed at Algiers and Fez in Africa. The aggregation of the earth was equally violent, and at the distance of eight leagues twenty-four miles from Morocco, a village with the inhabitants to the number of about eight or ten thousand persons together with their cattle were swallowed up soon after the earth closed again.

The great earthquake of Nov. 1, 1755, was a warning to the world that there is a far greater one coming, and the indications are that it is not a little in the future. The wonderful manifestations of the power of God is seen in the earthquake and in the signs of the sun, moon and stars, point us to the great God of heaven whose voice then shook the mount in the days of Moses, shook the earth.

But now he has promised saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also the heaven, and I shall shake the nations—and then shall the end come. Christ presents to us by which the world can know that his coming is near. He says there shall be signs in the moon, and in the stars, and upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity, the sea roaring and men's hearts failing them for fear looking after the things that shall come upon the earth immediately after the tribulation in those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and then shall appear the sign of the Son of Man coming with power and great glory, and he shall send his angels with a great sound of trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds from one end of heaven to the other.

On the 19th of may 1780 twenty-five years after the great earthquake, appeared the next sign mentioned, by Rev. vi. 12 They were manifested in the darkening of the sun and the moon, and Jesus plainly pointed out the time of their fulfillment. He says immmediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened and the moon shall not give her light. The tribulations of those days was caused by the fearful persecutions against the Christians, they were continued down to eighteenth century. The Reformation under Luther, this put a stop to the tribulations of those days. Then on May 19, 1780, was the prophecy fulfilled, which says the sun shall be darkened and the moon shall not give her light. Thus we see the prophecy was not fulfilled just as Christ had predicted more than 1850 years before. This one fact alone is sufficient to confirm our faith in prophecy, and to show that Christ's coming is near at hand and for our encouragement Jesus says: "When these things begin to come to pass then look up, lift up your heads for your redemption draweth nigh."

The sun shall be turned into darkness. In the month of May, 1780 there was a terrific dark day in New England, when all faces seemed to gather blackness, and the people filled with fear. There was a great distress in the village where Edward Lee lived, men's hearts failing them for fear that the judgment day was at hand, and the neighbors all flocked around the holy man who spent the gloomy hours in earnest prayer for the distressed multitude. The cocks crew as at day break and every thing bore the appearance and gloom of night. The alarm produced by this unusual aspect of the heavens was very great. Candles were lighted in many houses, the birds were silent and disappeared, the fowls retired to roost. It was the general opinion that the day of judgment was at hand.

Dr. Adams says it was midnight darkness at noon day, thousands of people who could not account for it from natural causes were greatly terrified, and indeed it cast a universal gloom on the earth. The frogs and night-hawks began their notes. Herschel, the astronomer, says the dark day in North America was one of those wonderful phenomena of nature which will always be read with interest, but which philosophy is at a loss to explain.

Mr. Tenny of Exter, N. H., an observer of the darkness of the following evening of May 19, 1780, says I could not help conceiving at the time that if every luminous body in the universe had been shrouded in impenetrable darkness it could not have been more complete. A sheet of white paper held within a few inches of the eyes was equally invisible as black velvet.

Dr. Adams says the darkness was as uncommon in the night as it was in the day, as the moon had failed the day before.

Mole Hoffman says my father and mother sat up that night during the latter part of which they said the darkness disappeared, and then the sky resumed as usual, but the moon which was in its full had the appearance of blood.

There shall be signs in the stars, and the stars shall fall from heaven. The third sign in the heavens revealed by Jesus to his disciples was the falling of the stars. This prediction has been literally fulfilled, and the next in order is to see in what manner it was fulfilled. The first display of falling stars worthy of notice previous to the great display of 1833, occurred in 1799. But the grand display of 1833 is said to be the most universal and wonderful which has ever been recorded. From the middle of the Atlantic on the east to the Pacific on the west, and from the north coast of South America to the undefined region among the British possessions on the north the exhibition was visible and everywhere presenting the same appearance.

In the year 1866 another remarkable occurrence of this kind took place this time in the East, nearly as magnificent in some places as that of 1833, and visible as far as ascertained throughout Europe.

Nov 27, 1872, there was still another magnificent display of falling stars in Europe, Asia and Africa.

There are many witnesses yet living who can testify to the stars in 1833. It was a most wonderful and terrific scene, and as terribly grand as terrifying. It certainly was the greatest display of celestial fireworks ever seen, for it was a special sign, a sign of the glorious coming of the Son of Man and his angels in the clouds of heaven.

St. John when in vision saw that the stars of heaven fell unto the earth even as a fig tree casteth her untimely figs when she is shaken by a mighty wind—this was a scene of infinite magnitude and the prophet saw it as it appeared to those who were to see it nearly eighteen hundred years later.

Now learn a parable of the fig tree. When his branches are yet tender and putteth forth leaves ye know that summer is nigh. So likewise when you shall see all these things, know ye that he is near, even at the door. Ah, see my friends, all will readily admit when they see the putting forth of buds and leaves that spring is nigh. Then when you see all these things, can you not know he is near, just as certainly as ye know summer is nigh? What were all these things to be seen after the tribulations of those days? The darkening of the sun and the moon and the falling of the stars from heaven. When ye see all these things what are ye to know that is near, even at the door. These signs were given to those who walk in the light of the prophecies, as a basis of faith in the second coming of Christ. To give the last warning message to the world before the falling stars the parable of the fig tree could not be applied, but now it applies with great force. Therefore we know Christ's coming is near, just as certainly as we know that summer is nigh when we see the trees put forth her buds and leaves.

"Verily, I say unto you this generation shall not pass till all these things be fulfilled. Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my Word shall not pass away." What generation of people is this that shall not pass till all these things be fulfilled? It is the last one, the one that Christ commanded to learn the parable of the fig tree, and that is the one to which he said, when you shall see these things know he is near, even at the door. The signs in the sun and in the moon and in the stars have been seen, and the fact that they have been seen is evidence they have been fulfilled. But there are other things mentioned in connection with these signs which are still unfulfilled that will soon be fulfilled.

The Lord shall roar out of Zion and utter his voice from Jerusalem and the powers of heaven shall be shaken and then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven and then all the tribes of earth mourn. They shall see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory, and he shall send his angels with a great sound of trumpets, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds of heaven from one end to the other. Thus shall the end come, for thus shall all things be fulfilled. This generation shall pass away, heaven and earth shall pass away and shall the earth be desolated, deprived of inhabitants, the sins of the Lord shall be from one end of the earth even unto the other end of earth; they shall not be lamented, neither gathered nor buried.

The way marks and signs which Christ pointed out to his disciples as recorded in Matt. xxiv., apply from the time they were given to the day of his second coming, and all these things have been fulfilled as the years have passed away, and thus will they continue until the last sign of the Son of Man in heaven. We are exhorted to watch, watch for our Lord's return from heaven. Christ says, What I say unto you I say unto all watch. The two angels who remained to comfort the disciples after Christ's ascension exclaimed, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven, this same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven, and this same Jesus whose ascension was visible, literal and personal shall appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

Paul says, We shall not all sleep, but we shall be changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last trump, for the trumpet shall sound and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed, for this incorruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. Then these bodies shall be changed from their earthly nature, and they shall be made incorruptible, immortal. The great day of the Lord will be a glorious time for some and a fearful time for others, for in that day there will be a final separation of the righteous and the wicked and all ends of the earth shall see of the salvation of our God. This is the time of his preparation, and it is of short duration. But as the days of Noah were, so shall the coming of the Son of man be, for in the days that were before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage on it the day that Noe entered into the ark and knew not until the flood came and took them all away, so shall also the coming of the Son of Man be. The world that was then being overflowed with water perished, but the heavens and earth which now by the same Word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men, but the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise and the elements shall melt with fervent heat; the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up, seeing then that all these shall be dissolved, what manner of person ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness looking for and hastening unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire with fervent heat 2 Peter iii. 6, 7, 10, 12.

How thankful we should be for these solemn warnings and that we are not left without hope and without God in the world. The Lord is not slack concerning his promises as some men count slackness, but long-suffering to usward, not willing that any should perish, but all should come to repentance. He is the Propitiation for our sins, and not for our sins only but for the whole world, and all the world might be thus reconciled to God if they would turn to him and accept him as their Savior, for he can save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, but he cannot save any one in their sins. He calls upon all to turn to him that they may escape the impending judgment that is coming upon the ends of earth. I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord, wherefore turn yourselves and live.

And now may all who are interested in these things of God consider these prophecies and see for themselves that they are so. We are yet in the choosing time, we may have eternal life or eternal death. But a little later on there will be no hope, no probation. Alas for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come, and who shall be able to stand? Those who are watching and waiting to see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven, are found keeping the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus Christ.

FRANK BARTON.

Gone to Rest.

Peter Mompiar was born in Belgium, Sept. 27, 1832. When he arrived at manhood he left his native land and went to France where he remained five years, and then emigrated to the United States. He was brought up in the Roman Catholic faith, and never saw a Bible until after he came to this country. After an intelligent belief of the gospel, namely the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, he was baptized into the all saving name of Jesus, July 12, 1863. When asked why he had made such a change his reply was: "I followed the light that I had until I saw a brighter one." He was united in marriage to Miss D. F. Wood, of Staten Island, April 4, 1863. There were six children born to them, three sons and three daughters. A widow and five children survive him. He died at Glenview, (formerly known as Northfield) March 8, 1895, aged 63 years, 5 months and 18 days.

The following is in brief the remarks made by the writer, at the funeral, held in the Methodist Church, based on Rom v. 23: "The gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord."

We can better appreciate the value of this gift, when we are brought face to face with the fearful foe of all mankind, as we are today. One by one they fall both on our right hand and on our left, and we may well enquire: What is to be the end of all this? What is the remedy? The remedy is, "the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord." The fact of its being a "gift," excludes the popular thought that it is the natural inheritance, but the facts are death and not life is the natural inheritance of all. The wealth of the rich cannot bribe him, to stay his onward march. The skill of the scientist and medical practitioner, cannot say to it no farther shalt thou go. The king upon his throne by royal edict cannot stay its onward march, but the sceptre falls from his hand, and like the common beggar returns to dust. It respects not the locks bleached by the frosts of many winters, nor the tenderness of youth, all haste to the one common rendezvous. Today we may be on the mountain-top, basking in the golden sunlight of prosperity, but alas! to-morrow may find us in the dark valley. Today the young may feel strong, stalwart and defiant, but tomorrow death may command his proud heart to stand still.

Death mocks at the wisdom of the wise, destroys the strong, disfigures beauty, disarranges nicely prepared plans, desolates home, snaps the tender heart-string, blights hope, and severs the dearest and tenderest ties of life. Should the Lord delay his coming but a few years, every person in this house must sip the bitter cup.

O, perishing children of earth! flee from this ever-present scene of death and decay! Seek, O seek, the fount of eternal youth! Drink of its life-giving waters and be healed, and then in the sweet by and by you can bid defiance to the king of terrors.

Do you ask where is it to be found? I refer to the language of my text: "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Eternal life is an unending existence which we may receive through Jesus. No one can have this precious gift, unless it is sought for according to God's own plan.

What is there in the whole range of human experience that can compare in value to this precious gift of God's love? It will be an endless life divorced from sorrow, but eternally filled with blessings which only the lavished hand of a loving Father can bestow. The power of human language fails to convey to the human mind the value of this precious gift.

Listen once more to the voice of inspiration: "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." It was God's love which prompted this gift. And in John x. 27, 28, he says: "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me: and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand." No, praise God, they are safe there. "Let him that is athirst come, and whosoever will, let him take of the water of life freely." If you have drank at that fountain, then cry out to your fellows, Come, O come and drink. No trust can monopolize this fountain. Its waters are free to all, the poor as well as the rich may drink. God has written over the gateway to the fountain: "Whosoever will let him take the water of life freely."

Oh precious boon. "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away." Would you live when these things are passed away? then appropriate the gift of God's love.

"Whosoever beareth, shout, shout the sound!
Send the blessed tidings all the world around!
Spread the joyful news wherever man is found,
Whosoever will may come."

O, why not come and let the fervent love of Jesus warm your hearts and pulsate through your veins, and thus banish the chilly damp of death. O, yearing the gospel bell, beloved, let its joyous peals sound merrily through every land, until its sweet music shall thrill every heart. Peals of promise, joy and hope, ring so clear and sweet upon the air, from the blessed gospel chimes.

"Lift the head, O weary pilgrim,
Let the heart exultant spring
As you gladly journey onward
To the palace of the King;
On the steadfast flaming beacon,
Of his truth still keep your eye,
And you soon shall share his glory,
For he's coming by and by."

W. H. WILSON.

GREETINGS.

To those of like precious faith "greetings in our Lord and Master. Grace unto you and peace be multiplied. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his much mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead; to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and that fadeth not away reserved in heaven for us." Beloved or the true Church, heirs of such glorious promises that are in store for you, press toward the mark of the prize of the high calling not with faltering steps, but firmly climb to Nebo's lofty height and by faith, view with Moses those vernal plains, so beautiful, so vast, reaching even unto where the rippling waves of the atmosphere sea are dashed upon its golden sands by the soft zephyrs of that sunny clime.

Child of God be thou not weary even though thy pathway be dark and lonely, while many storm clouds and tempests rise—press on. The harvest is glorious and you shall soon reap. Cheer thee up, the day is nearing when Christ will send his angelic messengers to gather his elect. The summer is drawing near which speaks of the nearing redemption of the faithful watchers. Are you ready? Let your lives be one continued sacrifice for your Master and those you love; looking to Jesus whose mission on earth was complete, though mingled with bitter tears and pierced with many a sorrow, leaving us an example and says, "Come follow me." Are you? Is there a sorrowing heart perhaps whose life's burden is almost unbearable, sit king neath sorrow's wave, who no doubt is looking to you for a helping hand before their brows are pale in death, then why delay? Perhaps one who loves you best silently waits to hear you say: "Come with me from the world's deceitful lorements, the Master needeth thee. Come let us offer one continual sacrifice and gain eternal life and an inheritance in the kingdom thereby proving our love to Jesus and lifting a destructive sorrow from one who would willingly lay his life at your feet. The path of suffering is the path our Savior trod, and sorrow's cup he drained to the dregs. "Yea all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." Yea, oftimes from those who claim to be of the household of faith, who have drifted with the tide of sectarianism, separating themselves from you because your knowledge of the Scriptures do not meet their approbation in every point, thereby making themselves a judger of you, but the Master says, "Judge not." "Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his master he standeth or falleth, yea he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand." Be faithful, God is true, the kingdom is only promised to the little flock and not to the multitude. Paul says, "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrine of devils." Yes, some of those who have been enlightened and received the true Word shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits. Yes, some no doubt will be prompted by their own selfish motives or influenced by others to close their ears to the myth. Think of the many ways in which we can err.

Time and one is to stay away and not to show a willing spirit to investigate and search for the truth. "He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law (or gospel) even his prayers shall be abomination." A few of the brethren enjoyed the privilege of listening to eight instructive lessons the past week in which the goodness and mercy of God was the theme of each. Only a very few attended, but we can not expect those of the world to feed when little prejudice keep the brethren so far away. But this spirit seems to exist, and may God pity such for the coming Master draweth nigh. Noah was a preacher of righteousness and labored long and only eight souls were saved from that destructive deluge and so it will be at the close of this gospel age only a very few "and they without fault," will enter the ark and safely pass over the fiery flood. Purge out therefore the leaven of the Pharisees and strive for the high calling and share in the reign of being Jesus is bearing the nations.

A. J. DAVIS.

"The Soul Destroyed in Hell."

Editor Restitution:

In RESTITUTION of a late date Bro. in Bro. Wilson's article, "The Soul Destroyed in Hell," a partial answer to my question about the soul as an entity. An objector may admit that "body and soul" in Matt. x. 28, and in Isaiah x. 18, mean "substance for substance-form, as substance is the gateway to the fountain: "Whosoever will let him take the water of life freely."

Oh precious boon. "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away." Would you live when these things are passed away? then appropriate the gift of God's love.

"Whosoever beareth, shout, shout the sound!
Send the blessed tidings all the world around!
Spread the joyful news wherever man is found,
Whosoever will may come."

O, why not come and let the fervent love of Jesus warm your hearts and pulsate through your veins, and thus banish the chilly damp of death. O, yearing the gospel bell, beloved, let its joyous peals sound merrily through every land, until its sweet music shall thrill every heart. Peals of promise, joy and hope, ring so clear and sweet upon the air, from the blessed gospel chimes.

"Lift the head, O weary pilgrim,
Let the heart exultant spring
As you gladly journey onward
To the palace of the King;
On the steadfast flaming beacon,
Of his truth still keep your eye,
And you soon shall share his glory,
For he's coming by and by."

W. H. WILSON.

GREETINGS.

To those of like precious faith "greetings in our Lord and Master. Grace unto you and peace be multiplied. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his much mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead; to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and that fadeth not away reserved in heaven for us." Beloved or the true Church, heirs of such glorious promises that are in store for you, press toward the mark of the prize of the high calling not with faltering steps, but firmly climb to Nebo's lofty height and by faith, view with Moses those vernal plains, so beautiful, so vast, reaching even unto where the rippling waves of the atmosphere sea are dashed upon its golden sands by the soft zephyrs of that sunny clime.

Child of God be thou not weary even though thy pathway be dark and lonely, while many storm clouds and tempests rise—press on. The harvest is glorious and you shall soon reap. Cheer thee up, the day is nearing when Christ will send his angelic messengers to gather his elect. The summer is drawing near which speaks of the nearing redemption of the faithful watchers. Are you ready? Let your lives be one continued sacrifice for your Master and those you love; looking to Jesus whose mission on earth was complete, though mingled with bitter tears and pierced with many a sorrow, leaving us an example and says, "Come follow me." Are you? Is there a sorrowing heart perhaps whose life's burden is almost unbearable, sit king neath sorrow's wave, who no doubt is looking to you for a helping hand before their brows are pale in death, then why delay? Perhaps one who loves you best silently waits to hear you say: "Come with me from the world's deceitful lorements, the Master needeth thee. Come let us offer one continual sacrifice and gain eternal life and an inheritance in the kingdom thereby proving our love to Jesus and lifting a destructive sorrow from one who would willingly lay his life at your feet. The path of suffering is the path our Savior trod, and sorrow's cup he drained to the dregs. "Yea all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." Yea, oftimes from those who claim to be of the household of faith, who have drifted with the tide of sectarianism, separating themselves from you because your knowledge of the Scriptures do not meet their approbation in every point, thereby making themselves a judger of you, but the Master says, "Judge not." "Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his master he standeth or falleth, yea he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand." Be faithful, God is true, the kingdom is only promised to the little flock and not to the multitude. Paul says, "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrine of devils." Yes, some of those who have been enlightened and received the true Word shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits. Yes, some no doubt will be prompted by their own selfish motives or influenced by others to close their ears to the myth. Think of the many ways in which we can err.

Shall We Have It?

Have what? Shall we have Bro. Jobling's late article on the kingdom question in tract form to scatter right and left? We are sadly in need of more living heralds to carry the life-message to perishing mortals, and to herald the approach of our coming King. The times and signs are truly ominous. All who have held on the "Life-Line "should now exercise themselves as never before in throwing it out as the only means of safety to a lost world that is fast sinking down. Soon it will be too late. Immortalsoulists can not do this work, as they have no such time, their time is for immaterial souls that need no saving, and of which the Bible knows nothing about. They may sing it, and grow enthusiastically over it, but the "life-line" in Christ, they are strangers too. By corresponding with Bro. Jobling, I learn that he will publish those articles in tract, if the brethren so desire, and will order about forty dollars worth, at one dollar per hundred, and postage. Now brethren, as we claim that a person must hear the Word of the kingdom and understand it before, and in order to adoption, let us be consistent, and do our duty by laying to a helping hand, and thus cast the bread of life upon the waters, that we may find it after many days. I suggest that we have the tract containing the Word of the kingdom of God, to throw out as the "life line." Count me in for two dollars worth or more if necessary. Now brethren speak out at once, and let us know what you will do about it. Who next?

T. E. ADAMS.

The most glorious news ever proclaimed is that Christ died and rose again to save us.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the [illegible] Blessed Hope, 628 Woodland Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at [illegible] Brethren from a distance and [illegible] are cordially invited. Seats free. C. K. Jobilo, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1 45 Logan Avenue, San Diego California.

Church of the Blessed Hope, corner 8th and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Kinsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 0.15 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. Visiting Brethren always welcome Pastors residence 501 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Vincennes Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m. every sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on 36th gas street, as follows: preached by J. F. Wagoner, every 1st Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meets in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us.

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. les east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meet every Sunday at the frame Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Wetzel Secretary. Henry Beck Sup't.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Kahle, Keesler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. A. Shaw, Elder.

Meetings held at Canby church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1 Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grant, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels, 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, a. m.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Benner Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 9-5 Wilson Ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Free hing at Park Hill church in Gladstone, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Powerscreek house, Calhoun co., Ia. by Elder Whitcomb, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 9:30 A. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Mark E. Trundell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Culp's residence, and quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Paterson school house in Forrest Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Sis. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Culp, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks, Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday, Preaching at Brady every two weeks. At Brady on every 2d and 4th weeks. Prayer meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brethren every two weeks, by second as they are evangelists, Hoopes, McBride, Watson and Hyatt who each equally preaching. The church at Dublin Center is presided over by Bro Lee Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Selections.

Where is Hell?

Editor Everybody's Column:

SIR.—In you issue of Saturday 18th top of column, fourth page, you have a question, "Where is Hell?" As there appears some difficulty amongst the wise men to locate this particular place or locality will you allow space in your valuable paper for the Word of God to locate it beyond question or don't.

1st Cor. i xxv. 9. The foolishness of God is wiser than men. Not many wise, mighty or noble are called. He takes the foolish things to confound the wise; why? That no flesh should glory in his presence.

1st Cor i 25, 19. He taketh the wise in their own craftiness The wise men fail to locate hell.

Jer. xxiii. 16, 21. They speak a vision out of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. The 28th verse: The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully. What is chaff to the wheat.

If anyone will take an Oxford Teacher's Bible and turn to Psalm lv. 15 reads hell margin or the grave; also Psalm lxxxvi. 13: Isa xiv 9: Jobah ii 2. Rev. xx 13. death and hell —margin, or the grave delivered up the dead. For fear this may be tried let us reverse the order. Psalm xlix 15. grave margin or hell. 1st Cor. xv. 55. To any candid mind this shows plainly with the rest of the word that hell and the grave are the same thing. God's Word is plain for plain men to read. How can God be love and attribute to him the doctrine of eternal torture.

Jesus Christ preached about the kingdom. Mark i. 14, to be established upon this earth—Acts xv. 14: God is now calling out a people for the purpose of reigning with him as kings and priests or teachers

Rev. v. 10: Rev. xx. 6. After this he will return and build the tabernacle of David; Acts xv. 16. Why? Seventeenth verse that the residue of men might seek the Lord. This is the gospel Christ and the apostles preached: Mark i. 14; Matt. xxiv. 14. The kingdom, read Acts iii. 19, 21. To this end hell or the grave must give up the dead.

Job xiv. 14. If a man die shall he live again?

Isa. xxvi. 19. Thy dead men shall live together with my dead body shall arise, awake and sing, ye that well in the dust, for thy dew is as the dew of herbs and the earth shall cast out the dead.

Turn to Ezekial, 37th chapter and read about the valley of dry bones which show how the resurrection will be accomplished—where is this great valley, all the grave yards in this great valley.

God is going to cause all to come up out of their graves, then will be said. Jer. xvi. 19: Surely our fathers have inherited lies wherein there is no profit.

Theology and man's doctrines are being taught. Matt. xv. 8, 9: In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men, as Paul said, Gal. i. 6, 7: I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel, which is another, but there be some that trouble you and would pervert the gospel of Christ.

As God's word teaches, when we die all go to hell, grave, and at God's appointed time all will be cast out.

First Cor. xv 22: As in Adam all die, so in Christ shall all be made alive; 21st verse, since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection from the dead.

Take your Bibles and test all preaching by this rule. Psalm 119. 130: The entrance of thy word giveth light.

Isa viii. 20: To the law and to the testimony if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in hem.

Respectfully,—Fred Grierer. Niagara Falls Colorado.

A Scotch Lad's Faith

I like the positive faith of that sailor boy that Captain Judkins, of the steamship "Scotia," picked up in a hurricane. "Go aloft!" said Captain Judkins to his mate, "and look out for wrecks" Before the mate had gone far up the rattlines, he shouted, "A wreck! a wreck!"

"Where away?" said Captain Judkins.

"Off the port bow," was the answer.

Life-boats were lowered, and forty men volunteered to put out across the angry sea for the wreck. They came back with a dozen shipwrecked men, and among them a boy of twelve years.

"Who are you?" said Captain Judkins.

The answer was, 'I am a Scotch boy, My father and mother are dead, and I am on my way to America."

"What have you here!" said Captain Judkins, as he opened the boy's jacket and took hold of a rope around the boy's body.

"It is a rope," said the boy.

"But what is that tied by this rope under your arm?"

"That, sir, is my mother's Bible. She told me never to loose that."

"Could you not have saved something else?"

"Not and save that."

"Did you expect to go down?"

"Yes, sir; but I meant to take my mother's Bible down with me."

"Bravo!" said Captain Judkins, "I will take care of you."

In The Time of Need.

Yes, you may die without your Bible in the heyday of prosperity; when the sun shines, and the birds sing, and not a breath ruffles the surface of your summer sea. You may then, possibly, afford to rest satisfied with human poetical views, or the chill of skeptical creed to record the sacred oracles as the effete record of a bygone economy—antiquated sophistries—some writings of Palestine peasants and fishermen, which the superstition of an after age has palmed upon a too credulous world. But wait till the sky is clouded, and the wind moans, and the hurricane of trial is let loose, and where are your current theses described pages then? No poetry, no philosophy, can hush the sorrows and satisfy the yearnings of the crushed and broken spirit, as that Book of books has done. When no other panacea is of any avail, it has put courage into fainting hearts, and peace into the troubled hearts. Word is plain for plain men to read. How can God be love and attribute Every other world oracle is a Delphic one. It is either dumb or its utterances are perplexing, dubious, misleading. But "Thy testimonies are very sure." "The Word of the Lord is tried." "This is my comfort in my affliction: for thy Word has quickened me!"

Items of Interest.

It is reported that two Jews have purchased Babylon.

A Babylonian tablet in the British Museum which has just been deciphered has an account of the death of King Sennacherib almost identical with that in the Bible (2 Kings xix. 35).

A gentleman once told the Rev. John Wilkinson that he was about to write a book disproving the future return of Israel to Palestine. 'Make haste,' replied Mr Wilkinson, 'or the Jews will be back before you have passed the proof sheets.'

It will be possible ere long for the European tourist to go to Damascus—the oldest city in the world—all the way by rail; and when the projected railroad to Jerusalem from that city is completed, to reach the Holy City without the perilous sea voyage and treacherous landing at Jaffa.

The British Museum is said to contain 1,500,000 books. No complete catalogue has ever been made. Fifteen years ago such a catalogue was begun and is now nearly finished. Twenty-three volumes are filled by the titles which begin with the letter 'A,' and thirty-five with those of 'B.' The entire catalogue will number six hundred volumes.

A remarkable Jewish movement is reported from Smyrna. A Russian Jew named Abraham was converted in the hospital at Smyrna, and began preaching to the Russian Jews, who formed themselves into a Jewish Christian Society. Already about two hundred have joined the movement, and it has become sufficiently important to attract to itself vigorous persecution.

Luther's birthplace is going to ruins. Eisleben, the Thuringian town which was the birthplace of the Reformer, is gradually fading from view. One by one the streets are being abandoned, and the houses crack and fall into ruins, owing to the subterranean disturbances brought on by the big hollow spaces made in salt-mining for many centuries. The other day nine houses tumbled in.

A German chemist has made the discovery of a new compound body, said to possess the peculiar quality of solidifying, under the action of heat, and to again revert to the liquid state at a temperature below 32 degrees Fahr. To this substance the name of 'crossine' has been given. It is supposed that up to the present time no body possesses this remarkable property of liquefying when cold and solidifying when hot.

For St Paul and Minneapolis.

The "North Western Limited," sumptuously equipped with buffet, smoking and library cars, regular and compartment sleeping cars, leaves Chicago via the Forth-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) at 6:30 p. m. daily, and arrives at destination early the following morning. All principal ticket agents sell tickets via this popular route. April 4.

Redemption not Exemption

The plan which God has devised for the salvation of men is a plan of redemption. Redemption means according to Webster: "The act of procuring the deliverance of persons or things from the possession and power of captors by the payment of an equivalent; deliverance from bondage, distress or from liability to any evil or forfeiture, either by money, labor, or other means.

It is plain that God would never have formed a redemptive scheme unless the necessity for such redemption existed. He would not have provided a price for the release of captives unless some one had been captured. Unless humanity were already in a condition of bondage and distress, already liable to forfeiture of life, no plan of redemption was necessary; but that such a plan of redemption has been devised proves that the necessity for it existed before the provision was made.

Redemption, when applied to the human race, signifies a release from an already existing condition, and is not, therefore, a means of avoiding something which has not yet been incurred. To illustrate: When Adam and Eve were placed in Eden on trial for their lives, before they had partaken of the forbidden fruit, there was no need for them to be redeemed. They had not yet been "sold under sin," and had not incurred the penalty of death; but when, having disobeyed and having received the sentence, "dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return," then was the necessity apparent that some way of release must be devised, else man was lost forever. The way of release from sin and death is called redemption.

Redemption is not exemption—please remember this—it is release, deliverance; and the very term itself implies that the persons to be redeemed must already be in bondage and under the power of that from which they are to be redeemed.

From what is man to be redeemed? Listen: "I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction." Hos. xiii 14. "But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave; for he shall receive me." Psa. xlix. 15. "Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity." Titus ii. 14. "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us." Gal. iii 13. "Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God." Rom. viii. 21. "Forasmuch then as children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver [from death] them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage."

That from which man is to be redeemed—released, delivered—is "iniquity," "the curse of the law," "the bondage of corruption," "death" and the "grave;" to these he has already been made captive, for all these must exist before there is need for redemption.

Christ died the cruel death of the cross, not to exempt mankind from a "second death"—there's not a word of it in the whole Bible—but to release him from one that already had been incurred; and when this fact is fully understood there will be no more questionings as to "why the purchased sinners die." The purpose of God is not to keep persons from dying, but to release them from death; he is not a preventive of death, but a savior out of it. He came to save (give life to) that which was lost. The race were a lost race before the provision of Christ as a Life-Giver was made. He opened the door of the grave to such as would follow him. "I am the good Shepherd," said he; "the good Shepherd giveth life for the sheep." "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me; and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish." The followers of Christ will never perish because they follow him out of the perishing condition and receive life. All who refuse to be found of Christ must forever remain lost: if they never avail themselves of the way out of death they must forever remain dead. Those who refuse to follow Christ here refuse to follow him out of the grave; for he is the "way" out of death—"the resurrection and the life."

Redemption is resurrection. This is abundantly proven by Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians: which epistle, in its entirety, is an amplification of ver. 20 in chap. 1. "But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption." The apostle follows first with a dissertation on Christ as wisdom, in contradistinction to the wisdom of the world; and then as righteousness and sanctification; ending with redemption, of which he gives a clear exposition in chap. xv. Here he proclaims the good tidings of deliverance, through Christ, the second Adam, from death and corruption which came by Adam the first; how as "by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead." For as all who are in Adam die, even so all who are in Christ shall be made alive. Adam was the way into death; Christ is the way out of it. The victory over death will be through Jesus Christ; for all who rise will "awake and sing." "O death, where is thy victory?.... Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Why are not pardoned sinners kept from dying? First, because, as has previously been stated, it is no part of the plan of God to do so; and second, man's redemption is appointed for a specified day which is not yet reached. The captives under the power of death are not to be released one by one, but in a body; they are sealed unto the "day of redemption" by the Holy Spirit of promise. The price has been paid and the work of sealing is going on; and lo! until this is finished will the whole work of redemption be completed by the grand act of releasing captives. The climax of redemption is not yet reached, but all who have died possessed of the Spirit of God are sleeping with the mark of God upon them, and even while dead, because they are accepted and sealed of God, are said to "live unto him," for the reason that he purposes to raise them up again from the grave. An unrepentant sinner is reckoned dead while yet alive, because of the condemnation he is under on account of sin; and the dead saint is reckoned alive while dead, because of the promise of life which is assured by the pledge of the Holy Spirit given unto him.—Herald of Life.

A Characteristic of Our Times.

As one of the accumulating signs of the end of the age, the condition of unrest among the people is very marked. The introduction of modern facilities of communication in this century, such as the telegraph and the telephone, the steamship and railroad, have been associated with an inspiring spirit of hurry and hustle. People have been apparently, as if in an hour, moving out of the slow, prosy ways of the past into the realities and activities of a new state. Everybody is in a hurry. The days are not long enough, and to appearances the working days are not. Not only in business, but in pleasure, their pursuit must be with a rush. Sabbaths and all. The cheapness of railway travel has led to huge excursions, and they have developed a spirit of restlessness. The exodus of tourists to our shore and the westward tide of our own people show that this unrest is a state of society.

Questions of the time, which press for a settlement affecting the well-being of very citizen, not only in our own land but in all civilized countries, have been agitating the people. Among them we may note the labor, tariff and temperance questions. The religious world has not been free from this unrest.

New departures, new theologues, have been on-rolling many in our day. It seems as if the evil one, knowing his time is short, is hurrying his agents to their work. Liberalism, materialism, and spiritualism are rampant, and their advocates increasingly active and zealous in scattering their pernicious errors.

Is not this condition of things—this accelerated speed, and the spirit impelling and encouraging it, a sure index that things are nearing the climax? As when we near the bottom of the hill, speed and momentum increases, is it not equally true as we near the foot of the hill of time?

Should not the Christian learn a telling lesson from this mark of our day? Should he not hasten in his work, make use of all the improved facilities, be increasingly active and earnest in winning souls for Christ, and in publishing the gospel of the kingdom.—Selected.

Co-Workers With God.

We ought to think much on the honor of being co-workers with God. The builder of a magnificent, and costly structure, builds for a century; but the co-worker with God builds for eternity.

The financier labors for wealth, and may possibly be allowed to enjoy it for half a lifetime, but the co-worker with God labors for the wealth which is imperishable, and will enjoy his riches through the innumerable ages of eternity.

The artist paints with fading colors upon decaying canvas for a generation or two; but the co-worker with God paints upon the undying canvas of the soul for eternity.

The sculptor with laborious efforts cuts a statue from marble, and in course of time it crumbles; but the laborious Christian worker, by winning one soul for Christ, carves an image from the undecaying marble of a human heart that shall live forever.

A hundred thousand men were once employed in Egypt in constructing a pyramidal tomb for a dead king; but there are millions of Christians now engaged in the far nobler work of constructing living temples for a living God from human souls.—Lyman H. Bag. D. D.

OBITUARY.

At 1:30 Tuesday morning, Feb. 25, 1896, Grandpa Southwick quietly breathed his last, and his lamp of life was out. The immediate cause of his death was old age, although he had been laboring under a heavy cold for some little time. The end came peacefully and quietly, without a struggle or an appearance of pain.

Milton Southwick was born in Bridgeport, Vermont, on the 15th day of June, 1800. At the age of 21 he was married to Harriet Chamberlain, of Montpelier. Soon after their marriage they moved to the town of Moers, N. Y., built a sawmill and engaged in the lumber business. Subsequently he moved to the town of Oakland, Wis., where he and the eldest son purchased a farm, and more subsequently another in the town of Summer, where they continued farming until the year 1865, when his wife died from over-exerting herself to quench the flames which consumed the home. Her age at death was 62 years. To them were born ten children, eight of whom are still living, one having died in the late war, the other eight years since. With these children Mr. Southwick has spent his declining years. Both he and his wife died as they lived, in full faith of the soon coming of the Lord to raise them from the dead and give them a crown of immortality.

The funeral services will be held at the Christian church this (Wednesday) afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. Bersell, of Minneapolis, officiating.—Lake Mills, Ia., Graphic.

Prayer is very profitable. At night it is our covering. In the daytime it is our armor. Prayer is the key to unlock the day and the bolt to shut in the night. Prayer sanctifies all our actions.—Christian Work.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Restitution:

"The kingdom of God is like unto leaven that a woman hid in three measures of meal until the whole became leavened." The leaven represents the work of God. The meal the human family, the number of measures is of no consequence, but the meal itself is composed of many particles in one measure. When the gospel is presented to us the leaven is brought in contact with us if we receive the same, the leaven is hid in our hearts, and if the proper temperature is preserved it expands and fills our whole mind. If we allow our minds to become cold the leaven perishes, and our being instead of becoming filled with light, and hope, and spiritual radiance, and capable of leavening our associates with the knowledge of God's great and precious promises, the consequence is, we become like leaf bread, sour, and not absolutely unfit for nourishment, but loathsome to the eye, and disgusting to persons with healthy mental appetites. Whereas on the contrary we should be like the glorious shew-bread placed upon Jehovah's table, fit even for priests to regale themselves with. In my observations, I find that leaven requires to be renewed from time to time, or strengthened by the addition of bitter herbs. So we find that we who are leavened with God's pure and unadulterated word, require strengthening, by his grace or spirit and the addition of bitter herbs. When the Israelites were ready to depart from Egypt, they were required to eat the passover in commemoration of their escape from the Death Angel and their hard bondage to Pharaoh. They were to eat the lamb with bitter herbs, which is a type foreshadowing the Lamb that taketh away the sins of the world. Now we who are partakers of the body and blood of Christ, we also eat our passover or sacrament with bitter herbs of sorrow and affliction. Does some bitter herbs strengthening the leaven of our hopes. When God in his providence, plunges us in poverty, we eat bitter herbs of distress; when sick or persecuted, the herbs of affliction. If we are betrayed by friend or brother upon whom we have lavished our affections we taste the bitterness of misplaced confidence, but the bitterest of all, is when brethren of like precious faith, fall out and serve to contend over minor points of doctrine or belief, such questions as fair chance or future probation. Surely brethren the future state of the wicked cannot affect our welfare if we live worthily, for we are assured that God is righteous in all his judgements. Neither such questions as baptism to the Gentiles for adoption and to Jews, remission of sins. Likewise whether women shall be allowed to speak in church or men wear long hair. Brethren for God's sake let us leave off such vexed and unprofitable questions, and seek after the weightier matters of the law even judgment and mercy. If we continue to judge one another in such heartless fashion, we are no longer doers of the law, but judges, for wherein pictures of the law we condemn ourselves, for we must judge do the same thing. Thou therefore which preachest another teachest thou not thyself. Thou who preachest a man shall not steal dost thou steal? Thou who makest thy boast of the liberty we have in Christ, by taking liberties with the law of Christ dishonorest God. For if any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of his. For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you (that through our actions, and envying, and strife.) If any among you seem religious and bridleth not his tongue (that is, guides not his tongue as it were with bridle, to speak right things) but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain. Brethren let us read the whole of James' Epistle, and take a good look at ourselves in God's looking-glass and see what manner of men we be."

Oh! that he would, the gift'e gie us
To see ourselves as others see us.

Brethren the time is too short for us to waste even a moment in foolish speculations, or envy or hatred. Let us try to love one another as become children of God, for this was our Master's command, to love each other even as he loved us, and how did he love us? Greater love than this hath no man that he will lay down his life for his friend.

JULIUS R. BROWN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Our hearts respond to the one united prayer that has gone out through THE RESTITUTION of late. "Come Lord Jesus, and come quickly." When we send our urgent request for a friend to visit us, how careful we are that everything is in perfect readiness for the arrival of the guest. Dear ones the Royal Guest, our King is coming soon. He has sent us this message "Be ready, and watch." Are we ready? If so, let us not be idle watchers. Though our Lord may tarry, the Husbandman is waiting for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter reign. Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh. Jesus said: "Go work today in my vineyard." Labor, not rest, is the upbuilding element of this life. Did he not say, "Lift up your eyes and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth, receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal, that both he that saweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together. There remaineth a rest to the people of God, but it is after the work is done. We are laboring to enter the promised rest, that we may receive the welcome greeting from our Savior. "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Yours in hope of eternal life.

MR. & MRS. L. A. BOICE.

Dear Restitution:

We believe in the second personal coming of the Son of God from heaven, to reward his people and to establish the kingdom of God upon the earth, and to rule the nations for the period of a thousand years. Also that the distress of nations with perplexity, their great preparation for war, the Turkish power coming forth with great fury to destroy and utterly to make away many. The teaching of the popular churches and other signs of the times indicate that event is at hand even at the door. Let us watch and be ready for the Bridegroom will come in his season.

Your Brother and Sister in hope of eternal life.

A. L. & ANNA COBBLEY.

Editor Restitution:

After reading the many letters of the brothers and sisters I thought I would let you know I was one of the same faith. I believe that our dear Lord will return to his dear children, and I want to be among the righteous ones when he comes to gather his jewels together. Our heavenly Father promised to return back to his righteous ones and sure, sure we must wait and watch for his coming.

On the other side of Jordan
In the sweet fields of Eden,
Where the tree of life is blooming
There is rest for me

Pray for me dear brothers and sisters that I may hold out faithful to the end.

MRS. EMMA MCCLURE.

Dear Restitution:

Enclosed find renewal. Am isolated here, none of the one faith nearer than 30 miles, and Christianity of any kind a scarce. So the Bible and RESTITUTION are the only friends of the one faith I have. When worldly troubles surround one, and the way seems so dark, what a blessing it is to know that God in his mercy to mankind has prepared us plain a path to eternal life, and what a surprise, so few are willing to walk in it. The signs of the times point to the soon appearing of Christ on the earth, and when he comes what will he find? He will find the earth peopled with a vast multitude and they divided in two classes, viz: The seed of Abraham and the nations, and if we are alive when he comes we must belong to one of these classes, it matters no differ see what reason or theory; or how great some faith is in it, if not of the seed of Abraham he belongs to the nations and will be only subject in God's kingdom. I am striving to so live, that the blessed Redeemer will say of me, "Come ye blessed of my Father inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. May God's blessing rest on each and every one, of the household of faith. And the time soon come when we drop the cross and take up the crown.

Yours waiting for the coming King.

E. W. KNAPP.

Dear Restitution:

As I see so many letters in our dear paper of the one faith I can't do without the paper. I want a share in the kingdom. I am a firm believer in the second coming of Christ, I am trying to so live that when the King comes in all his beauty, I may say, Lo this is our God, come Lord Jesus and come soon is my prayer.

J. W. SIMPSON.

—The solid through trains of the Nickel Plate Road, equipped with all modern appliances for safety, speed, and comfort, are a prominent feature of that popular line. Their Fast Eastern Express leaving Chicago at 1:30 p. m. daily, runs through solid to New York City, arriving at that point at 6:30 p. m. the next evening. Experience is the best teacher. After you experience a trip on this train, we are confident of your future patronage.

God's presence is enough for toil and enough for rest. If he journey with us by the way, he will abide with us when nightfall comes, and his companionship will be sufficient for directions on the road, and for solace and safety in the evening camp.

—Numerous favorable comments on the passenger service of the Nickel Plate Road have come to our notice. Their Fast Western Express leaving New York City at 6:00 p. m., Boston 3:50 p. m., Buffalo 2:45 a. m., Erie 8:01 a. m., Cleveland 10:55 a. m., Ft. Wayne 4:10 p. m. arrives at Chicago at 9:30 p. m., affording fast time and splendid connections for all points west. Rates always the lowest.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Heno, Dudley, Worcestershire, England,
J. S. Hatch, Sistersville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eyebaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Fouse, Tempe Arizona.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountaines, Va.
T. E. Adams, Onawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. H. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Lindeo, Okla.
Rep. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farmhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudlar, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Prisamer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lyach Hotel, E. 5th St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.
Mrs. Mollie Rathbun, Cedar Bluffs, Iowa.

Why Not

patronize the Nickel Plate Road on your next trip to New York City or Boston? They operate solid through trains elegantly equipped with palace sleepers, first day coaches attended by uniformed colored porters whose duties require them to look out for the comfort of passengers. Magnificent dining cars. The popular low rate short line.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Div.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 15. Parlor Cars on No. 4, 6 and 8. Dining Cars on Nos. 15, 20, 12, 22.

	8	18	38	2	4
Westward.	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh lv.	7 10	1 00		7 10
Alliance ar.	8 50	2 35		8 50
Canton "	10 25	4 10		10 25
Massillon. "	10 33	4 18		10 33
Crooksv "	11 18	5 03		11 18
Coshocton "	11 57	5 42		11 57
Dresden "	12 20	6 05		12 20
Newark "	1 17	7 01	4 05	1 17	7 45
Buckeye "	1 37	7 21	4 25	1 37	8 05
Delaware "	2 03	7 47	4 51	2 03	8 31
Galion "	2 30	8 14	5 18	2 30	8 58
Crestline "	2 55	8 39	5 43	2 55	9 23
Forest "	3 16	8 59	6 03	3 16	9 43
Lima "	4 05	9 48	6 52	4 05	10 32
Van Wert "	4 37	10 21	7 24	4 37	11 04
Ft Wayne lv	5 35	11 20	8 20	5 35	12 02
	AM	PM	AM	PM	AM
Arcola "	5 55	11 40	8 40	5 55	12 22
Columbia City "	6 15	12 00	9 00	6 15	12 42
Larwill "	6 30	12 15	9 15	6 30	12 57
Pierceton "	6 40	12 25	9 25	6 40	1 07
Leesburg "	6 50	12 35	9 35	6 50	1 17
Warsaw "	7 00	12 45	9 45	7 00	1 27
Etna Green "	7 15	1 00	9 59	7 15	1 41
Bourbon "	7 25	1 10	10 09	7 25	1 51
Inwood "	7 35	1 20	10 19	7 35	2 01
Plymouth "	8 05	1 50	10 49	8 05	2 31
Grovertown "	8 21	2 06	11 05	8 21	2 47
Hamlet "	8 31	2 16	11 15	8 31	2 57
Davis "	8 45	2 30	11 29	8 45	3 11
Hanna "	9 05	2 50	11 49	9 05	3 31
Wanatah "	9 55	3 12	12 05	9 55	AM
Valparaiso "	10 25	3 42	12 35	10 25	4 30
Wheeler "	10 33	3 50	12 43	10 33	4 38
Hobart "	10 38	3 55	12 48	10 38	4 43
Crisp "	10 43	4 00	12 53	10 43	4 48
Gibson "	10 48	4 05	12 58	10 48	4 53
Chicago ar.	11 00	4 15	1 10	11 00	5 05
	PM	AM	PM	PM	PM

	401	3	5	7	39
Eastward.	AM	PM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago lv	12 30	4 00	12 45	11 30	11 45
Clarke "	12 39		12 54		11 54
Liverpool, "	12 51		1 06		12 06
Hobart "	1 01		1 16		12 16
Wheeler "	1 09		1 24		12 24
Valparaiso "	1 15	4 32	1 30	4 01	12 30
Wanatah "	1 25		1 40		12 40
Hanna "	1 39		1 54		12 54
Davis "	1 53		2 08		1 08
Hamlet "	2 03		2 18		1 18
Grovertown "	2 17		2 32		1 32
Plymouth "	2 45	5 02	2 58	5 00	1 58
Inwood "	2 55		3 08		2 08
Bourbon "	3 05		3 18		2 18
Etna Green "	3 19		3 32		2 32
Warsaw "	3 30	5 26	3 43		2 43
Eagle Lake "	3 41		3 54		2 54
Pierceton "	3 51		4 04		3 04
Larwill "	4 02		4 15		3 15
Columbia City "	4 17	5 53	4 30	5 30	3 30
Arcola "	4 32		4 45		3 45
Ft Wayne lv	4 55	6 20	5 05	6 00	4 05
Van Wert "	5 53		6 03		5 03
Lima "	6 26		6 36		5 36
Forest "	6 45		6 55		5 55
Crestline "	7 10		7 20		6 20
Galion "	7 35		7 45		6 45
Delaware "	8 01		8 11		7 11
Buckeye "	8 27		8 37		7 37
Newark "	8 45	7 35	8 55	7 35	7 55
Dresden "	9 10		9 20		8 20
Coshocton "	9 33		9 43		8 43
Crooksv "	10 12		10 22		9 22
Massillon. "	10 57		11 07		9 57
Canton "	11 05		11 15		10 05
Alliance ar.	12 40		12 50		11 40
Pittsb'gh ar.	2 25		2 35		1 25
	PM	AM	PM	PM	AM

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager.
E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agt.
For Time Cards, rates of fare, through tickets, Sleeping car tickets, and further information regarding the business of routes, apply to any agent of the Company.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry.

Chicago depot, corner Clark and Twelfth streets. Ride Cheapest with Erie ticket. Cleveland depot, Broadway near Cross street, and Union depot at Euclid avenue and Pearl sts.

Depart for west	Time Correct	Depart East
No. 5, N. 3	Nov. 24, 1895.	No. 2, No. 4
A. M.		P. M.
8 30	Lv. Buffalo Ar.	5 30
9 55	Cleveland	10 05
12 30	Bellevue	1 25
1 45	Fostoria	3 10
2 25	New Haven	3 50
3 10	Fort Wayne	4 35
5 45	South Whitley	7 05
6 12	Claypool	7 32
	Mentone	11 40
6 32	Akron	12 35
7 20	Kent	1 25
	Wakeman	1 55
8 30	Valparaiso	3 05
9 30	Elkhart	4 05
9 50	Hammond	4 25
10 40	Ar Chicago Lv	5 15
P. M.		P. M.

Read Downward. Read Upward

All the above trains run daily except Newark and Kent, which run daily except Sunday. Local Express going west leaves Kent at 9:50 p. m., going east at 7:25 a. m. to Akron, daily, except Sunday. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffalo Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers in New York, Boston or Chicago. Baggage checked to destination. For rates or other information call on or address

D. P. HORNE, Gen'l Pass. Agt.
A. W. JOHNSON, Gen'l Supt. Cleveland, O.

VANDALIA LINE
TIME TABLE.

In Effect September 29, 1895.

Trains leave Plymouth, Indiana, as follows:

FOR THE NORTH.

No. 52 Mail, Ex. Sun	12:16 p m
No. 54 [illegible] to Accommodation, Ex. Sun	7:34 a m
" 51 Mail and Express	10:05 p m

FOR THE SOUTH.

No. 51 Mail and Express, Ex. Sun	5 25 a m
" 53 Mail and Express, Ex. Sun	12:50 p m
" 57 Logansport Accomdtn, Ex. Sun	7:27 p m

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates through cars, etc., address

T. A. DOWNS, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.
Or E. A. FORD, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Louis Mo.

LOW RATE.

The Popular Route, 365 Days, St. Louis R.R.

Chicago depot, corner Clark and Twelfth streets. Ride Cheapest with Erie ticket. Cleveland depot, Broadway near Cross street, and Union depot at Euclid avenue and Pearl sts.

Depart for west	Time Correct	Depart East
No. 5, No. 3	Nov. 24, 1895.	No. 2, No. 4
A. M.		P. M.
8 30	Lv. Buffalo Ar.	5 30
9 55	Cleveland	10 05
12 30	Bellevue	1 25
1 45	Fostoria	3 10
2 25	New Haven	3 50
3 10	Fort Wayne	4 35
5 45	South Whitley	7 05
6 12	Claypool	7 32
	Mentone	11 40
6 32	Akron	12 35
7 20	Kent	1 25
	Wakeman	1 55
8 30	Valparaiso	3 05
9 30	Elkhart	4 05
9 50	Hammond	4 25
10 40	Ar Chicago Lv	5 15
P. M.		P. M.

Read Downward. Read Upward

All the above trains run daily except Newark and Kent, which run daily except Sunday. Local Express going west leaves Kent at 9:50 p. m., going east at 7:25 a. m. to Akron, daily, except Sunday. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffalo Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers in New York, Boston or Chicago. Baggage checked to destination. For rates or other information call on or address

D. P. HORNE, Gen'l Pass. Agt.
A. W. JOHNSON, Gen'l Supt. Cleveland, O.

VANDALIA LINE
TIME TABLE.

In Effect September 29, 1895.

Trains leave Plymouth, Indiana, as follows:

FOR THE NORTH.

No. 52 Mail, Ex. Sun	12:16 p m
No. 54 [illegible] to Accommodation, Ex. Sun	7:34 a m
" 51 Mail and Express	10:05 p m

FOR THE SOUTH.

No. 51 Mail and Express, Ex. Sun	5 25 a m
" 53 Mail and Express, Ex. Sun	12:50 p m
" 57 Logansport Accomdtn, Ex. Sun	7:27 p m

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates through cars, etc., address

T. A. DOWNS, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.
Or E. A. FORD, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Louis Mo.

SOLID TRAINS BETWEEN SANDUSKY AND PEORIA, INDIANAPOLIS AND MICHIGAN CITY, FT. WAYNE AND CONNERSVILLE.

Through Tickets Sold to All Points

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT ROLLEDGE,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RATLEDGE.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 8, 1896 NO. 2.

Oregon State Library
Oregon, U.S.A.

CUR CHRISTMAS LOVE FEAST.

We continue this "testimony meeting" that all may have opportunity to speak.

[Written for Christmas Number.]

Star of the East.

Tune.—"Bethlehem."

Blessed Redeemer, our Lord and our Master,
Thou who wast slain, that we may live again;
Precious and wise, are thy counsels and warnings.
Gracious and true, are thy lessons of love.
Through thy truth sanctify, through thy truth cleanse us.
That we new creatures, may be Lord in thee.
O may we worship our Lord and our Master!
O may we praise him, exalted above!

Great is the Light that our Father hath hath sent us;
Great are the truths that his word does proclaim;
Precepts and signs, both, should be our instructors,
Deeds of rich love, though they caused hate of foes.
Star of the East, still in radiance shining,
Brightest and best of the Son's of God's love!
O may we worship, our Lord and our Master!
O may we praise our exalted above!

While in this world we will find persecution;
If, by our Savior, we're made free from sin,
If we have come, both by blood and by water,
If we are washed, and are thus all made clean,
In his sweet service may we ever glory;
In it is life, joy and peace, from above.
Come let us worship our Lord and our Master,
Come, let us sing of his redeeming love.

Yes, in this life we will have tribulation;
But will not fear, for the Savior he said
"I'll go away, but I'll come to receive you;
That where I am there you may also be.
Unto the Father we'll then give the glory,
Through Christ our Savior, his well beloved Son,"
Star of the East still in radiance shining.
Beaming through darkness, and giving us aid.

MRS. E. R. BOYER.

To the scattered ones:

While reading the testimonies in "our social meeting" I see many names that take me back to meetings of long ago, where many of our loved ones that are now sleeping were, there always ready to speak of their hope. We are sad now because their place in the church is vacant, but rejoicing in anticipation of the blessed meeting when Jesus comes to take all his faithful children home. May we all be there.

JULIA T. HARSCH.

To the Household of Faith:

We believe Jesus will soon come the second time and reward his servants and restore the throne of David, and reign over the house of Jacob forever. Brethren let our loins be girded about, and our lights burning, "That when he cometh and knocketh we may open unto him immediately. May he soon come is our prayer.

WILLIAM & AGNES DARBY.

Dear Restitution:

I wish to add my testimony with the rest of the dear ones. I am earnestly looking and praying for the soon coming of our Blessed Redeemer. O, with what joy will the faithful ones witness that coming, for who has not some loved one sleeping, waiting for that grand and glorious appearing of our Savior. May we all be among the ransomed is my prayer.

Your Sister in Christ,

GRACIE LAWRENCE.

Editor Restitution:

My hope and faith in the soon return of the great King is strong.

Love to all of like faith,

WM. GOIN.

Dear Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters I believe that the coming of the Lord is near, even at the door. The question is, are we ready. I can say I am trying to be ready. Let us be up and working for the night is coming when man works is more.

Yours in the hope set before us.

FRED EDDY, JR.

Christmas Greeting to the loved ones far and near:

Dear brothers and sisters I am looking for the soon coming of our Lord, whose mission will be to raise the sleeping saints and change the living and rule the nations with justice and equity removes the curse from the earth and fit it with the knowledge and glory of the Lord.

JOHN TEAGUE.

Dear Restitution:

A Merry Christmas to all those of like faith. I esteem it a great pleasure to give in my testimony. I can truly say from the heart, come Lord Jesus and come quickly. It is my greatest delight to read about his soon coming, then all my troubles and trials in this mortal life will be ended, that is, if I am found worthy, if not, whata horrid thought. But I pray the Lord to keep me and direct my steps aright unto his heavenly kingdom that I may meet all the loved ones that sleep, and those that are awake at the last trump. May all that have taken the name of Jesus, and be ready when our Lord comes. Come Lord Jesus and come quickly is the prayer of your Sister waiting and watching.

MRS. W. I. BEEBE.

Editor Restitution:

I want to say to the brothers and sisters of the one faith, yes I believe in the second coming of Christ, I am looking and watching for his coming. I bless and praise the dear Lord for opening my eyes to see the truth, and so unworthy, bless and praise him all ye his saints for this great salvation.

Very truly in hope of the soon coming kingdom.

MRS. H. S. DRESSER.

Dear Restitution:

I am waiting and watching for the coming of our blessed Redeemer. Oh with what joy we will hail his appearing. Let us hoist our banner higher and march onward to victory. May we be brave soldiers of Christ and be found at the post of duty when he comes.

Yours in Faith,

FLOYD LAWRENCE.

Dear Restitution:

It is with pleasure that we greet you in the Lord, brothers and sisters of the one faith. As this year is advancing to a close and I look back over it, how appropriate are those words of the psalmist, "O praise the Lord for he is good, for his mercy endureth forever!" This year has been indeed one in which blessings have been strewn along the pathway of life with his benediction. Yes, indeed, the blessing of God maketh rich and addeth no sorrow. Does the close of this year, brethren, find us no more like the Blessed Christ then when we entered upon it? Are the principles of his truth our daily life? Have we made any advancement toward that glorious likeness or does the world with its pleasures and gain have as much hold upon us as when we entered upon the year? Can we say with the psalmist: "Search me and know me and see if there be any wicked way in me." I am very pleased to see the spirit of those who communicate through the RESTITUTION the word of truth that their aim as well as that of their readers is to grow more and more like him. Yes, indeed, let us hold forth the word of life especially in these days when there is so much deception that some may be led to him who is the Light of the world, and when he shall appear who may be found of him in peace without spot or wrinkle. Dear brethren, may we all look to him, who for the joy that was set before him endured the the cross and despised the shame. That when he who is our life, shall appear, we may appear with them in glory.

Yours in the Blessed Hope.

MARTIN I. ABLAKEEN.

Dear Household of faith:

I am look for the soon coming of the King and kingdom. The outlook is quite promising at the present time. Let us strive to be ready to hail that joyful event. The wars and rumors of war, the crimes and misery of the present day is what we must have in the end of this age according to the word of God.

JACKSON WALKER.

Dear Restitution:

I am a firm believer in the coming of our Blessed Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Love to all the household of the one faith.

MRS. H. C. DEWEY.

Dear Restitution:

We cannot do without the paper as it is our only preaching. We are looking for the soon coming of Christ. There are only a few names of us here. We had a few meetings this summer, Father Garton was here and preached for us.

Your Sister in Christ,

MRS. OSCAR A. GARTON.

Dear Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters the time has come for our love feast. I feel very thankful to be able to say since Bro. Poor began to preach and to teach the gospel of the kingdom of God in Southern Kansas, twenty-three years ago, that I have been trying to fight the good fight of faith, and I want to say that in many a hard struggle the Dear RESTITUTION has come to my aid for which I am thankful to our Heavenly Father for the wonderful light it throws on the holy word. I greatly desire to be counted worthy to have part with you in that glorious meeting in the air at his coming and join with you in singing the new song of redemption, when he shall sit on the throne of his Father David, and reign on Mount Zion and Jerusalem. Having hope in God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Let us all resolve, "as for me I will behold thy face in righteousness. I shall be satisfied when I awake with thy likeness."

In hope,

JOHN W. HULL.

Dear Restitution:

I too believe in the soon coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. I am trying to live so as to meet him with joy.

MRS. F. H. PRENTICE.

Editor Restitution:

As this seems to be the time for revivals and big meetings every where, we will have a little revival through the columns of THE RESTITUTION. We will not expect to get as many converts as most of the churches do, but I know we will hear more truth than in some of the long flowery sermons. But the time has come when people love fables rather than truth. The great and grand truth of Christ's second coming and the nearness of it should be proclaimed to the people by every Christian. Christ's second coming is spoken of in over three hundred verses in the new testament, yet how little we hear it spoken of, except as we read it in the Bible, or hear it from those of the one faith or believers in the gospel of the kingdom.

Your Sister in Christ,

MARY KNOWLES.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

In reading over the columns of the Christmas number, I was made to rejoice to see so many acknowledge the coming of our dear Lord and Savior, who is to be King over the whole earth, and rule righteously with power and great glory. Then every knee must bow to him and every tongue confess, that he is Lord of the whole earth. Oh! heavenly Father help us to lay aside every besetting sin or that which doth offend. Dear followers of Christ I ask an interest in your prayers, hoping to be clothed with immortal life when he comes to set up his kingdom which I believe to be near at hand.

Oh! glorious hour when Christ shall reign,
And make the world his wide domain.

MRS. E. V. BAKER.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

The second advent is close at hand, the Bridegroom will not tarry long. Have we on the breastplate of righteousness and will we be found worthy of a crown of glory so we can hear our blessed Master say, "Well done good and faithful servant?" The little church at Salem has been visited repeatedly by the grim monster death; but there is still a remnant left who join in saying, "Blessed be the Lord who will wipe away all tears." Come Lord Jesus and come quickly is my prayer. The day of the Lord is close at hand, when Christ with his Bride on Mount Zion will stand. We each and all long for that day when Christ shall take all sin away.

Yours in Hope,

MARY I. BARBER.

Dear Restitution:

As we renew our subscription we will say we are still journeying on toward the kingdom which is to be under the whole heavens. For we know our Redeemer lives and ere long will be revealed in the clouds of Heaven. Let us therefore give all diligence to make our calling and election sure, that when our Savior appears we may all be ready for that event, is the prayer of an old Sister waiting for the soon coming of the king.

MRS. S. F. ANDERSON.

Brothers and Sisters:

I perhaps am too late for the love feast, yet would like to say a few words though weakest of them all. We received our beloved paper this evening, and it was a love feast indeed, to read the many testimonies of dear ones scattered in distant lands, many of whom their kind council and words of encouragement helped to guide my youthful feet in the path that leads to eternal life, (among whom is Brother and Sister Corbaley) although I never expect to see them until the King shall come in righteousness, then if faithful we shall know as we are known. My husband desires me to say that he too is looking for the Master. Yes he is coming for Paul says, "The Lord himself shall decend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the arch-angel and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first, then we which are alive and remain, shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words." 1 Thess. iv. 16, 17, 18, verses. O dear ones let us strive to be among the overcomers that we may enter through the gates into the city of our God.

Your Sister for Jesus,

LOUISA D. HEAD.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters of the Faith once delivered to the Saints:

"Behold I will send my messenger and he shall prepare the way before me, and the Lord whom ye seek shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of his covenant, whom ye delight to behold, he shall come saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of his coming, and who shall stand when he appeareth for he is like a refiners fire and a fuller's soap." We all want to "be able to stand" when our Lord shall appear. Each day has its trials but if we follow the pattern of the meak and lowly Nazarene we may be overcomers. May God give us grace and strength for each day. May all the dear ones be more than conquerers. We that ruleth his spirit is greater than he that taketh a city.

WELTHA & GEO. W. MERWIN.

Editor Restitution:

We are thankful for the privilege of joining the love feast, in anticipation of his soon coming. I was past sixty before I embraced that blessed hope of Tit. ii. 13, 3, 7. And now my prayer is "come Lord Jesus." O that all who are dear to me would embrace it and thus hasten his coming, Amen.

MATILDA J. MERRIT.

Dear Restitution:

According to our chart we are nearing our final station. 2 Tim. iv. 1-8. And our chief desire is to be ready when he comes to receive that welcome plaudit. "Well done," etc. This is of more account than any earthly store. Pray for us.

Yours in Christ,

R. C. HUMPHREYS.

Dear Restitution:

In connection with wife and mother, will say that we closed an eight day meeting on the 15th inst, with the best of results. Sister Siple, of Hammond was rejoiced to see four of her household embrace "the faith," and others are deeply interested. And now brethren let's strive to be an "overcomer." As Bro. W. H. Wilson suggests. Amen!

R. A. HUMPHREYS.

Editor Restitution:

I will add an encouraging word to the dear brethren who conducts and write for the paper. I love and prize its weekly visits as ever, and would make considerable of a sacrifice rather than be deprived of its encouraging and strengthening influence, especially in the department of letters from the brethren and sisters in the faith, whom I have never seen, but hope to meet in the soon coming kingdom of our Lord.

Yours Fraternaly,

J. M. OLMSTEAD.

Brethren and Sisters:

Surely we of the truth, may see the handwriting on the wall. It brings to our mind the word in Luke xxi. 28. "When ye see these things come to pass, then lift up your heads (and why pray)? Because your Redemption draweth nigh." As we read of the troublous times in the east, inhuman persecutions in Palestine, the utter failure of man's government to adjust them, the nations all ready for the final conflict and signs in plenty all around us, false Christs, false prophets, an apostate church, pestilence and destitution in the midst of plenty, men's hearts failing them for fear of things coming, jealousies and rivalry oppressions and lack of confidence among all classes, truly our cry is "Come Lord Jesus and come quicky." I thank our heavenly Father through Jesus our Redeemer for his eternal truth. We have a sure hope that Christ will come. We are not left desolate. We know in whom we have believed, 2 Tim. i. 12. "For he that shall come will come and will not tarry." Heb. x. 27. Our sure hope is in him who hath loved us and gave himself for us, and with the confidence of Job. xix. 25-29. "I know that my Redeemer liveth and shall stand at the latter day upon the earth, whom I shall see for my self, and mine eyes shall behold and not another." Job says, "all the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change come." Job xiv. 14.

Love and greeting and congratulation to every brother and sister and waiting one of the household of the faith. Let us hold fast the beginning of our confidence. Jesus is coming. We must be of the number which shall not see death, be changed in the twikling of an eye, made immortal like our living Head. Blessed and happy consumation, blessed is he or she that hath part in the first resurrection, he that endureth to the end the same shall be saved. See Matt. xxiv. 3-13. See 2nd Tim. 3rd chapter. Our hope and trust is in him who cannot lie. "For if ye are Christ then are ye Abraham's seed, and what? Heirs to the promises." May he soon come is our prayer.

CHAS. & LOUISA MOORE.

Ones of like faith:

Brother and Sister Woodward came to Indiana the sixth day of December, from grand Rapids, Michigan, and preached at the Pleasant View Church near West Lebanon. They took in thirty new members. They did a great deal of good.

Yours in hope to be crowned with immortality at the resurrection of the just. I am eight years old.

ADA EVANS.

Dear Restitution,

I thank God for the privilege to speak of my hope. It has been eleven years since I became obedient. My hope has been of great help in all of the ups and downs in life. I believe in the soon coming of my Savior and King to this earth, and the saints will be rewarded at the revelation of Jesus Christ. The righteous will inherit the earth and dwell there forever. Come Lord Jesus and come quickly is the prayer of your sister.

MRS. M. F. COOK.

Editor Restitution:

I am looking for the soon coming of our Savior. He said, If I go away, I will come again. That he finds us watching is my desire and prayer.

RAPHAEL SKEELS.

Editor Restitution:

I am a litte girl fourteen years of age. I have just started recently to try to be a good Christian girl and do all the good that I can now for I won't have long to work, my whole soul is in the work. When our Savior comes back to this earth how glad we will be; but O! the poor sinners who do not claim the Lord they shall cry for the rocks and mountains to hide them, but no they can not hide from our Almighty Savior.

NETTA ARNSPIGER.

Dear Restitution:

Thanks to Bro. Dwiggins for proposing the love feast again; and Bro. Underwood is very kind in letting the brethren and sisters occupy so much of the paper. I want to be in the love feast this time, it may be the last opportunity. I think the time is drawing near when the Nobleman will return to set up his kingdom. My heart responds, come Lord Jesus and come quickly, amen. Without his coming again, there is no future life. He said while here, "I am come that ye might have life, and have it more abundantly." Those word are full of meaning. He has said also "As I live ye shall live also." Blessed words of the Savior although I sleep in death before he comes he has the keys of death and hades, and his words will never fail of having a complete fulfillment. I have all faith in his Word. I feel my weakness and trust him who has promised to be my help and strength in every time of need. I am so glad that I was spared to learn the way, the truth, and the life, the great plan of salvation, that has been so plainly revealed in God's Word to all who are teachable. I love so well to read the letters of so many of the dear ones of the household of faith. We may all speak the same things. May we contend earnestly for the faith and be ready at all times to give a reason of our hope. I pray that my heavenly Father may bless all connected with the dear paper, and all the readers, especially the young of the fold, may they study God's Word much and pray much, and not love the world or the things of the world, for if we love the world, the love of the Father is not in us. May we all be kept faithful that when the Master comes we may hear the, "Well done, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." I would love to write often, but I am so afflicted with my head it prevents me from writing much to any one. I fear I have made my letter too lengthy.

Your Sister in the faith and hope of the gospel, waiting for his Son from heaven. Soon may that blessed day come.

ELIZA CARSKADEN.

Editor Restitution:

Being absent from home we did not get our testimony in in time for the Christmas number. It came to us last night as a love feast indeed. We are glad all can speak the same things, and hope that more and more as we learn the higher truths, we may make our lives accord, for surely as we are a marked people in our faith, we ought to be in our lives, for the promise is to him that overcometh. God grant that as we grow in knowledge we may grow in grace, and above all things let us have fervent charity among ourselves.

H. D. & LIZZIE PALMER.

Dear Restitution:

Brother and Sister Woodward have been with us for two weeks, and we had a nice meeting and several started for the kingdom.

May God keep them by his own loving care.

JOSIE PENCE.

To the One Faith in Christ:

I rejoice in an undoubting faith in the many promises of Christ's coming again to establish the restitution age. Acts iii. 19; John xiv. 3. "I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am ye may be also." Matt. xxiv. 27. "For as the lightning cometh out of the East and shineth unto the West, so shall also the coming of the Son of Man be." Matt. xxiv. 30. "They shall see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory."

Yours watching and waiting.

MRS. J. F. COOPER.

Dear Restitution:

I thank God that I am permitted to testify for Christ. I believe in him and trust his holy name. I am a firm believer in the coming kingdom. I pray that I may do something for the Master while we wait for his coming; and that I may be found with my loins girded and lamp trimmed when the Bridegroom cometh. To God, through the name of the Lord Jesus, be all praise. Amen.

H. E. PADDOCK.

Editor Restitution:

We have not had any minister to preach for us since Bro. Conner went away, until Bro. and Sister Woodward came to visit us, and it was so unexpected to the people to have them come and preach, that we can scarcely get done rejoicing over the good meeting. We are so thankful for the good it did for all. May God keep us all pure until he shall come, is my prayer.

AMANDA PENCE.

Oregon State Library
Oregon, U.S.A.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN. 8, 1896.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

WE WANT YOU TO

Take notice that our mail list will be revised Feb. 1, 1896, and we want your renewal before that time. If you cannot send for the whole year, send part, and not be delinquent. If you must have time beyond that time, write and let us know your intention. It must be evident to you each that we should hear from every one in order to know where we stand. We shall endeavor to make THE RESTITUTION worth $1.50 during the year. Though everything may not be exactly as you wish and think, yet you cannot afford to be without the information you will get in the old RESTITUTION for the price asked for it. Let each one heed this call.

The Gospel of the Kingdom. -A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 3.

The Oracle says we are "ignorant of the difference between the gospel of the kingdom which John, Jesus and the disciples preached before the crucifixion, and the gospel of Christ which nobody preached until the day of Pentecost and afterwards."

We think we showed conclusively that only one gospel was offered to man. But we are willing to take more pains with the Oracle man and, if possible, lead him into the truth as it is in Jesus. As this can only be done by leading him out of the theories of Mr. Campbell, we seriously ask him, if, in his judgment the gospel of the kingdom preached by John, Jesus and the disciples was set aside because it proved inadequate to save people? If not, why does he think it had to give place to another?

If it was able to save, must it not have been the kingdom Jesus said it was the Father's good pleasure to give to the Little Flock? Must it not have been the kingdom of which James says, "Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which he hath PROMISED TO THEM THAT LOVE HIM? Must it not have been the kingdom the throne of which Jesus says he will sit upon when he comes back to earth, (Matt. xxv. 31-34) and to which he will welcome the saints by saying, "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world? Unless the Oracle man can show promises of the kingdom to be inherited, this was the kingdom John, Jesus and the disciples preached of. And if men's faith in THAT kingdom was invited, and if men were invited to repent and be baptized for the remission of sin, before the crucifixion, in view of the coming of THAT kingdom, which in God's purpose has been prepared for those who love him from the foundation of the world, will they not surely inherit it, if they complied with the conditions exacted of them?

If those who believed the gospel of THAT kingdom will inherit the kingdom prepared for them and promised to them, what will those inherit, who, as alledged, believed a gospel nobody preached until the day of Pentecost? As believers before Pentecost had to believe in just what they were to inherit, do not believers after Pentecost also have to believe in what they are to inherit? Or, does the Oracle man suppose they believe in and hope for one thing, and inherit another?

Does not the Oracle man and his co-workers teach, that the kingdom preached before the crucifixion came at Pentecost? If so, the only difference we see, is, that in one case, it was to come, and in the other that it had come, but it was the same kingdom. So that from their own premises we prove that a gospel of Christ after crucifixion did not take the place of the gospel of the kingdom preached before crucifixion.

The inevitable conclusion from the above, is, that the words "Gospel of Christ" mean the gospel Christ preached, and of which he, as the One Anointed—Christed—to be the King of the kingdom he announced, was the central figure.

If further proof of this be called for, it is furnished by the words of Jesus uttered BEFORE CRUCIFIXION, and recorded in Matt. xxiv. 14, "This Gospel of the kingdom [which I am preaching, and you are preaching] "THIS gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness." The Oracle man cannot claim that what Jesus calls "this gospel of the kingdom," was preached in all the world before the crucifixion. Jesus meant for them to do it after the crucifixion, we know. They could not do it in 30 days,—indeed he did not allow them to begin preaching in his absence, until he had sent them their preaching out-fit. And several years elapsed before the first Gentile was invited to God's kingdom and glory, by Peter. And only a miracle seemed adequate to teach him that Jesus meant what he said. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature,—he that believeth, and is baptized shall be saved." This was the gospel of the kingdom Jesus said should be preached in all the world. The same gospel of the kingdom was preached before and after crucifixion and Pentecost.

The intelligent and honest of heart, we believe will see that the "gospel of Christ" was not another gospel, but one of numerous designations of the same gospel, -such as the "gospel of God," "gospel of the grace of God," "gospel of salvation and gospel of peace." And when Paul speaks of "our gospel," he refers to the gospel which he and his co-laborers proclaimed: and when he speaks of "My gospel," it is explained in Gal. ii. 2 as "the gospel I preached."

We are told of a difference between the gospel of the kingdom before crucifixion, and the gospel of Christ after Pentecost. Oh, what the exigencies of a human theory will cause men to say! How it does blind them! Did the writer never read Mark i. 1, "The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ the Son of God." We have the impression that this was before the crucifixion.

(To be continued.)

The Only True Faith.

"The only true faith is in God the Father, Almighty Maker of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ his only Son, the Lord (of all true Christians), who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried; he descended into hades (the grave); the third day he rose again from the dead, and ascended into heaven, (Acts i. 10, 11), and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty. From thence he shall come to judge the living and the dead." Do you believe in the Holy Spirit? (the wonderful and terrible power of God by which he fulfills his purpose). The holy and universal assembly (church) of true believers? The communion (fellowship) of faithful saints, and their partaking of the symbols of the body and blood of Jesus, every first day of the week (Sunday)? The forgiveness of sins? The resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting, on this earth, after the Resurrection, and the Lord Jesus the Messiah? Rev. x. 10.

The foregoing is almost word for word the same as the Apostles' Creed, which was the belief of the Church of Christ in the year 120. Why then believe in the Nicene and Athenasian creeds? Considering that they were inventions of the Romish Church, which had become paganized, and therefore antagonistic to the Holy Scriptures. Besides this they contradict the Apostles' creed, and were not introduced into the Christian system until a long time after. Let us, then, accept the faith of those who were anti-pagan, and not the belief of Rome, which makes their preaching of none effect by a mixture of heathenism and tradition. The true faith is a belief in one personal God, (Isa. xlv. 5, 6;) I Tim. ii. 5; the things concerning the future kingdom of God on earth (Ez. i. 32, 33), and also those things pertaining to the Lord Jesus Christ. Luke xxii. 28, 29, 30; Gal. vi. 8. If you humbly walk under God's directions all the days of your life and submit to baptism for the remission of sins, (Acts ii. 41, 48) having faith in the blood of Jesus you will gain immortality at the return of Jesus, who will then reign on the earth, which he transforms into the Paradise of God, (Rev. xi. 15, 17; Acts iii. 20, 21; I Cor. xv. 21, 22, 23, 52, 53, 54."

WE had the pleasure of assisting another trusting soul to take upon him the saving name the last Sunday of the old year, after having tested the baseless systems of religion all around. Bro. Alexander Russell is herewith introduced to the church scattered abroad. May he sacredly guard the name he has taken.

Original.

Sundry Thoughts.

For the past few months all eyes have been turned towards the suffering Armenians. It is estimated that 100,000 have been slaughtered, including men, women, and children. It is impossible to estimate the untold misery and woe that must follow such a fearful destruction of human life and property as has attended these Turkish massacres. The great powers of Europe look on protesting it is true, but otherwise scarcely lifting a finger to stop the cruel slaughter of a defenseless people, and yet one can hardly doubt that if prompt and earnest efforts were made this bloody work could be ended in a very short time.

The European powers are apparently acting in concert, but at the same time maneuvering for whatever advantages events may evolve. The Turk got a foot-hold in Europe by war and conquest about the middle of the 15th century, and seated himself upon the throne and in the capitol of the great Constantine. The perplexing question now is how to get him out of Europe.

The Ottoman power is not so strong that it cannot be driven out, for it is no longer what it was in the days of the crusades when all Europe combined to wrest the holy land, and Jerusalem from the infidels, for at that time all Europe could only resist or check its westward progress temporarily, but now in its old age and degenerate weakness, it takes all Europe to hold the Turk up, and keep him politically alive. Temporarily the great powers may succeed possibly until they can agree upon a division of spoils.

Concert of action upon the part of the great powers, and a peaceable solution of the Turks stay in Europe is in my judgment probable. The combinations appear to be such that no great struggle will at present result from the Turk's demise. When the hour arrives that delay and postponement can no longer meet the exegencies of the case, then a call for a European conference will be in order, and the future of the Sultan and his dominions will be peacably fixed and settled by the great powers.

It is not impossible that events underneath the surface are moving in that direction at the present moment. It is difficult to forecast the turn events may take, for as yet nothing has been done to practically better the condition of the Armenians. Armenia is now the disturbing element, the source of irritation, and until that irritation is removed, no settlement can come. The Bible student however, must look at the situation from the stand-point of the prophets. The time has come when Jehovah will favor Zion, Jerusalem and her people. The Turk is today in possession of the Holy Land, and exercises lordship in Jerusalem. As a civil power it is too feeble to protect either life or property in any of its provinces, and yet it is strong to be held in check, or controlled by an unarmed and scattered community of people, dwelling in its dominions. Jewish colinization cannot progress rapidly in Palestine while the present condition continues. Some kind of a change must soon take place that will be a guarantee of security to life, otherwise the fate of the Armenians will threaten the Jewish colonies of Palestine with death and destruction. When the great powers determine the future of Armenia, it seems to me probable that the future government of Syria and Palestine will also be definitely settled. The course of events in the Sultan's dominions will from this time onward hardly be otherwise than disturbing, until some provision is made to establish order and safety from human life and property. Whatever therefore is done for the security of Armenia, will only open the way to do the same for all Syria.

It is by no means certain that the Turk's government in the city of Constantinople will speedily collapse, or be forcibly removed. It is true that the course of events point in that direction, as seen by the outside world. At the same time however, it must be borne in mind that in the providence of God the unexpected occurs. Israel's God knows what is necessary to work out the pre-determined end. Russia covets doubtless the Ottoman's capitol city, but it is not certain that she will take possession thereof in the immediate future. It may for ought we know, be necessary to keep the Turk in Europe for a time, as constituting an open door whereby Jewish exiles may enter peaceably the land of their fathers. When Russia and England go forth to battle for the empire of the East, the Holy land will have reached a high degree of agricultural prosperity. Ezk. 38 chapter as well as large accumulation of cattle and goods, silver and gold; a condition of things that may be speedily accomplished when once the tide fully turns in that direction, to which even the weakness of the Turk may providentially contribute.

G. MOYER.

"Law and Gospel."

Editor Restitution:

I would like to answer through THE RESTITUTION, a letter written by Alonzo Carter, criticising my article in RESTITUTION of May 15, 1895, headed "Law and Gospel." Mr. Carter says, I seem to carry the idea that Christ was a lawgiver. Let us see. Paul said we were under "Law to Christ.' I Cor. ix. 21, fulfill the "law of Christ." Gal. vi. 2. And the tales shall wait for "his law." Isa. xlii. 1-4. But Mr. Carter in his blind zeal for the Seventh Day "Sabbath," seems to think Christ has no "law," simply because he never taught the sabbath binding with the gospel.

No, Christ never taught like "Modern Sabbatarians" teach. Christ said, "Ye will not come unto me, that ye might have life." John v. 40. The same is true yet. Mr. Carter next says, "Now I should be pleased to have one text that Christ enacted one single law in and of himself." That is a strange question for any one acquainted with the Bible to ask. Christ said, "If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments." John xv. 10. Christ said if we keep "his" commandments. Now if you will turn to Deut. xviii. 17, 18, you will see the Father said, I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, (Moses) and will put my words in his mouth; (when raised up) and he "shall speak unto them all that I shall command him. This teaches positively that God would put his words in "his" (Christ's) mouth, after Christ was raised up, and that this prophet, (which was Christ,) shall speak unto them all that I (God) shall command him, (not that Christ should speak, and teach what God had taught the people through and by Moses,) which agrees with Heb. i. 1, 2, which agrees with Christ's own language in John xiv. 10. "Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me?" The "words that I "speak" unto you I speak not of myself; but the Father that dwelleth in me," he doeth the works. To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself. 2 Cor. v. 19, 20; also John v. 19. The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he "seeth" the Father do: for what things soever he doeth these also doeth the "Son likewise." Then the Son could say, Now ye are clean through the "Word," which "I have spoken" unto you. Jno. xv. 3. Then Mr. Carter goes on to say, the ordinance of baptism, the Lord's Supper, the Shedding of Blood, etc., I find in the old Jewish law as you are pleased to call it. I would ask Mr. Carter for one text showing they were while under the law God gave the people through Moses, or any other lawgiver before Christ, commanded to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins. Acts ii. 38, or be buried with Christ in baptism. Rom. vi. 5. But I fear Mr. Carter was meant in Gal. v. 4. "Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace. The "Lord's Supper," in the old Jewish law. It is strange how people will persist in trying to get back under the old law, and not "get" there either. My friend says he finds the ordinance of baptism, the Lord's Supper in the old Jewish law. He doesn't say where. I suppose he means in Ex. xii. 2-17, where they were to take a lamb without blemish, from the sheep or goats, roast with fire; his head with his legs. v. 9, "Ye shall eat it in haste; it is the Lord's passover. This was to commemorate their deliverance from Egypt. Has my friend been in Egyptian bondage and if it is now, as then, why not get the lamb, and eat it with bitter herbs? "After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this do ye in remembrance of me." See I Cor. xi. 2-26; Matt. xxvi. 26-29; Luke xxii. 15-20. A different institution, and commemoration altogether. This cup is the "New Testament;" not the ten commandments, as some would like to have everything mean. My critic says, Christ was not a lawgiver, but a pattern and guide to lead us into all truth. (Gives us no proof). Christ said, "Howbeit when he the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth." John xvi. 13. My critic said Christ was a guide to lead us into all truth, and if Christ was to lead us into all truth, where did he lead us to keep the sabbath, seeing he said he was the way, the truth, and the life. "No man cometh unto the Father but by me." John xiv. 6. "If ye love me, keep my commandments." v. 15. Seeing we are to be judged by his Word. John xii. 48, "I am the Door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved." John x. 9. Will Mr. Carter come in by the Door, or does he prefer the ten commandments of Ex. 20? "He that entereth not by the Door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber." John x. 1. My friend will do well to come in by the "Door." He further says, God is an unchangeable being and has promised to save man by obedience to his law. I ask for the proof. Paul said, and he is better authority than my critic, that the "gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Rom. i. 16. Christ said, "Preach the gospel to every creature, he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." Mark xvi. 15, 16. Seems Mr. Carter's assertions are not in harmony with Christ and Paul. My critic says: All this controversy is only for the purpose of destroying God's Holy Sabbath. That is another wrong assertion. If Christ is the "Door," and he never commanded the sabbath's observance, how are you going to get in by the Door, and teach what the Door never taught, or gave any one authority to teach such doctrine? Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever "I have commanded you." Matt. xxviii. 18-20. What authority has any man to teach what Christ never taught? Then my critic says, Did Christ say keep the commandments? If he did that is good enough for me. Yes, Christ said keep the commandments, but he failed to say keep the ten commandments. One of them was, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Another one was, "Go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor." Matt. xix. 19-21. Neither one of these in the ten words of Ex. xx. Why not be content with what Christ commanded?

Once again he says, Now I am here to say, that God's law, the ten commandments, is binding on all Christians. I expect eternal life for my obedience to God's holy law. I suppose he means the ten words of Ex. xx., when he says "God's holy law," or he may mean the "Book of the law," which is called "God's law. See Josh. xxiv. 26; Neh. viii. 1, 8, 18; x. 29. To walk in God's law, which was given by Moses the servant of God. He read in the "Book of the law of God." I challenge critic to show where the ten commandments is called "God's law," separate from the book of the law. "And being made perfect, he became the Author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." Heb. v. 9. If righteousness come by the law, then Christ is dead in vain." Gal. ii. 21. For if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law. Gal. iii. 21. But their minds have been blinded; for until "this day" remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the Old Testament; which vail is done away in Christ. But even unto "this day," when Moses is read, the vail is upon their heart. 2 Cor. iii. 14, 15, 16.

Our Sabbatarian friends' way of reasoning is not good. They ask, where has the sabbath or ten commandments been repealed? 1st they just simply stand repealed, by Christ not teaching them to be observed. 2nd, They stand repealed by the teaching of Paul. Rom. xiv 5; Gal. iv. 10, 11; Col. ii. 16. 3rd, they stand repealed by Christ and the Apostles never teaching their observance. See instructions from Christ. Matt. xxviii. 20. I might ask where is Ex. xx. 24; Ex. xxxv. 3, 4-7, repealed?

I stand for the defence of the gospel of Christ.

M. L. ADAMS.

The Call of Abraham.

"Now the Lord said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee. * * * So Abram departed, as the Lord had spoken unto him."—Gen. xii, 1, 4.

Did Abram obey the call of God, or did he say, "I think, Lord, you had better let me stay here with my idolatrous fathers, for if I remain with them and worship with them, although I do not believe as they do, I can in this way do more good and perhaps be the means of converting them." No, he obeyed the call of the Lord and "came out," and Paul and James say "Abraham believed God and it was accounted to him for righteousness"—Gal. iii. 6, Jas. ii. 23.

If it was of so much importance that Abraham should "come out" and separate himself from idolatrous kin and country, we of this day who hold the faith of Abraham and believe in the promises of God made to him should also "come out" and "be separate," and not expect to convert they who pervert the word of God by mixing with them and seemingly conforming to their false ideas.

Lot received a call from the Lord to "come out" of Sodom, saying: "Arise, take thy wife and thy two daughters," and he obeyed, though he was compelled to leave his daughters and sons-in-law and his home behind, and sunder all the ties that bound him to that home he loved. He was not even allowed to look back. His wife disobeyed the divine command and cast a glance behind her, and for this disobedience became a pillar of salt. Jesus taught the importance or coming out and remaining aloof from all that is not of God, and he says: "Remember Lot's wife."

Let us now turn our attention to the calling out of the disciples by Jesus: "And Jesus saith unto them (Peter and Andrew) follow me and I will make you fishers of men. And they straightway left their nets and followed him"—Matt. iv. 19, 20. He also called out James and John (Verses 21, 22,) and they left their father and their ships and occupation and followed Jesus. His disciples forsook all and followed him, and all who have come out and believe on Jesus and have linked their destinies with him must forsake all and follow him.

Paul was called out by the Savior (Acts ix. 3, 9.) and he went not back again, but from the day of his conversion remained a zealous worker in the cause of Christ, enduring many things, and at last gave up his life for the truth's sake. His words, left on record for our guidance, are these: "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers; for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God. * * * Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you."—2 Cor. vi. 14, 17.

They who pervert the word of God are "unbelievers," and we cannot, as true "yoke-fellows" and "fellow-laborers" in Christ, be yoked together with unbelievers. They who pervert his word are "unrighteous" and walk in darkness," and are in "concord with Belial," and are "infidels," because they deny and pervert God's holy word, and are worshipers of idols, and God's command, spoken through the mouth of his servant Paul, is: "Come out from among them, and be ye separte, * * * and I will receive you."

Paul again says (Gal. v. 1,): "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." There must be no going back and entangling ourselves again with the yoke of bondage after the glorious light of truth has entered our souls. "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

If Paul had not rebuked Elymas for seeking to turn away the deputy from the faith. (Acts xiii. 6, 12,) but allowed the sorcerer to use his arts against the truth, the deputy would never have believed (Verse 12). But Paul would have no fellowship with any save those who spoke the truth, and his terrible rebuke to the sorcerer by smiting him with blindness for a season, showed that he would not permit for a moment anything which was contrary to the truth which is in Christ Jesus, and the deputy was saved. Paul withstood Peter to his face, because he was to be blamed for causing a dissimulation among the brethren. Gal. ii. 11.

Christ, in his prayer for his disciples, (John xvii. 9,) prayed: "I pray for them; I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me, for they are thine." He prayed "not for the world," but for his disciples who had been "taken out" and "separated" from the world.

From all the forgoing we can clearly see that there was no compromise on the part of any who held the truth sacred, and the pointed rebuke of the SAVIOR to the Jews is another proof of the uncompromising spirit of the word of God, which is written for our learning. John viii. 44: "Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in truth, because there is no truth in him. * * * For he is a liar, and the father of it." The devil is the father of the lie, "Thou shalt not surely die," and we can have no fellowship with any church or sect which teaches his lie (soul-immortalism) and other perversions of God's holy word.

"If there come any unto you and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed. For he that biddeth him God speed is partaken of his evil deeds."—2. John 10, 11. "Whoso transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ hath not God."—Verse 9. Showing that they who abide in the doctrine of Christ cannot have fellowship with or bid God speed, any who have not the doctrine of Christ, but some other doctrine.

Paul says: "But though we or an angel from heaven preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed"—Gal. i. 8, 9.

"Come out of her (Babylon), my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues, for her sins have reached unto heaven."—Rev. xviii. 4, 5. Christ's people are commanded to come out of Babylon, the babel of religions of today, and be not partakers of her evil deeds. We cannot serve God and remain with them. With the disciples of Christ there can be no "compromise."

Submitted in love,

J. E. HATCH.

Poetry.

A Song of Love.

Love on, love on, ye favored sons of clay:
Freely ye have received, then freely give;
The flowers of love, the more ye give away,
The more, the fairer in your hearts will live;
Love on, love on.

Love unto death; profoundly, gladly pour
Your fragrant treasure from its living urn:
Taking no thought lest ye should waste your store;
Asking no question, asking no return;
Love on, love on.

—Augusta Moore.

Original.

PSALM. 134.

(135 COM. VER.)

1. An allelouia. Praise the name of the Lord: Praise the Lord, ye bond-servants,

2. Ye who stand in the house of the Lord, in the courts of the house of our God.

3. Praise ye the Lord because a good Lord is he: Exalt the strain unto his name, because it is a good thing.

4. Because the Lord chose out Jakob for himself, Israel for his own surplus.

5. Because I have comprehended that the Lord is great, even our Lord as compared with all the gods (the disposers).

6. All that the Lord hath willed hath he done (lit. caused) in the heavens and in the earth, in the seas and in all the abysses.

7. Leading up clouds from the earth's farthest limit he hath caused lightnings for rain, leading out winds from his store-houses.

8. And he smote the first-born ones of Aiguptos from man unto domestic animal.

9. He sent forth signs and prodigies in the midst of thee, O Aiguptos, unto Pharos and unto all his bond-servants.

10. And he smote many nations and slew controlling kings,

11. Seeon king of the Amorraites and Oog king of Basan and all the kings of Chanaan,

12. And gave their land as an inheritance, an inheritance for his laity Israel.

13. O Lord thy name is forever and the remembrance of thee unto generation and generation.

14. Because the Lord will judge his laity and will have furnished advocacy to his bond-servants.

15. The idols of the nations are silver and gold, works of men's hands,

16. A mouth have they and they will not talk, eyes have they and they will not see,

17. Ears have they and they will not have heard; for neither is there breath in their mouth.

18. May those who make them and all those who trust in them have become like them,

19. O ye house of Israel commend the Lord; ye house of Aaroon commend the Lord;

20. Ye house of Levi commend the Lord; ye who fear the Lord commend the Lord.

21. The Lord in Sion be commended, he who dwelleth in Hierousalem.

PSALM 135 (136 COM. VER.)

1. An allelouia. Confess unto the Lord that he is good, that his mercy is forever;

2. Confess unto the God of the gods that his mercy is forever;

3. Confess unto the Lord of the lords that his mercy is forever;

4. Unto him who alone hath caused great wonders, that his mercy is forever.

5. To him who created the heavens in understanding, that his mercy is forever:

6. To him who stayed up the earth upon the waters, that his mercy is forever;

7. To him who alone created great lights, that his mercy is forever;

8. The sun for qualification of the day, that his mercy is forever;

9. The moon and the stars for qualification of the night, that his mercy is forever;

10. Unto him who smote Aiguptos along with their first-born, that his mercy is forever;

11. And who led Israel out of their midst, that his mercy is forever;

12. With a controlling hand and an uplifted arm, that his mercy is forever;

13. Who went down through the Red Sea in between separated portions, that his mercy is forever;

14. And led Israel through the midst thereof, that his mercy is forever;

15. And shook out Pharao and his host into the Red Sea, that his mercy is forever;

16. Who led through his laity in the wilderness, that his mercy is forever;

17. Who smote great kings, that his mercy is forever;

18. And slew controlling kings, that his mercy is forever:

19. Seeon king of the Amorraites that his mercy is forever;

20. And Oog king of Basan, that his mercy is forever;

21. And gave their land as an inheritance, that his mercy is forever;

22. An inheritance unto Israel his bond-servant, that his mercy is forever;

23. Because in our humiliation the Lord remembered us, that his mercy is forever;

24. And redeemed us from our enemies, that his mercy is forever;

25. Who giveth sustenance to all flesh, that his mercy is forever;

26. Confess ye unto the God of the heavens, that his mercy is forever.

PSALM 136 (137 COM. VER.)

1. To David; Hieremias' (psalm). By the rivers of Babuloon there we sat down, and lamented when we remembered Sioon.

2. Upon the willows in the midst thereof we hung our instruments,

3. Because there they had asked us, those who led us away captive, for words of odes, and those who had led us away (had said) Sing unto us a hymn from among the odes of Sioon.

4. How shall we sing the Lord's ode in an alien land?

5. If I ignore thee, O Hierousalem, may my right hand have been ignored;

6. May my tongue have cleaved to my larynx if I do not remember thee, if I do not account Hierousalem chief joy (lit. if I do not array Hierousalem as it were in command of my joy).

7. Remember, O Lord, the sons of Edoom in the day of Hierousalem, those who say, leave her desolate leave her desolate even to her foundations.

8. O thou daughter of Babuloon thou wretched one, blessed-happy he who shall repay thee with the payment with which thou hast paid us.

9. Blessed-happy he who shall seize thee and dash thy children against the rock.

PSALM 137 (138 COM. VER.)

1. A psalm to David, by Aygaios and Zacharias. I shall confess unto thee with all my heart, and in the presence of angels shall I exalt the strain unto thee, because thou hast heard all the oracular words of my mouth.

2. I shall worship at thy inner-sanctuary, and I shall confess unto thy name for all thy mercy and thy truth, because thou hast magnified in respect to all thy sacred name.

3. In the day when I shall invoke thee, mayest thou have quickly hearkened to me; Thou wilt provide me with thy ability in my soul.

4. May all the kings of the earth have confessed unto thee, O Lord, because they have hearkened to all the oracular-words of thy mouth;

5. And may they have sung with the odes of the Lord, that the glory of the Lord is great,

6. That he is an exalted Lord, and looketh upon the lowly things and recognizeth the exalted things from afar.

7. If I shall have gone my way in tribulation, thou wilt make me to live; against the wrath of mine enemies thou has stretched out thy hands, and thy right hand hath saved me,

8. O Lord, thou wilt repay for me; O Lord, thy mercy is forever; the works of thy hands do not disregard.

PSALM 138 (139 COM. VER.)

1. Unto the end; David's psalm. O Lord, thou hast proved me and known me.

2. Thou hast known my down-sitting and my up-rising; thou hast understood my thoughts afar off.

3. My path and my line limit hast thou traced out, and all my ways hast thou foreseen,

4. That there is no unjust word on my tongue; Lo, O Lord, thou knowest all,

5. The last things and the ancient things; Thou didst mould me and didst place thy hand upon me.

7. Thy comprehension hath been wondered at by me; It hath shown controlling-power; No, I am unable for it,

7. Where shall I have gone my way from thy spirit? And from thy face where shall I have fled?

8. If I shall have gone into the heavens thou art there; If I shall have gone down into Hades, thou art present;

9. If I shall have taken my wings at dawn and shall have pitched my tent down in the farthest parts of the sea,

10. Yea, indeed, there thy hand will guide me and thy right hand sustain me.

11. And I said, surely darkness will hide me, and night in my delight was an illumination:

12. Because darkness will not have been rendered dark from thee, and night will have been illuminated like day as it were; as the darkness thereof, even so also is the light thereof.

13. Because thou hast possessed my inmost thoughts, O Lord; Thou hast intervened for me from my mother's womb.

14. I shall confess unto thee that thou hast been regarded fearfully with wonder; wondrous are thy works and my soul knoweth it right well.

15. My bony structure was not hid from thee, which thou didst create in secret, and my being in the lowest forms of the earth.

16. My unwrought (condition) thine eyes did see, and upon thy book will all men have been written; days will they have been moulded and no one in them.

17. And thy friends have been exceedingly honored by me, O God, their authorities have received exceeding control.

18. Should I number them out they will have been multiplied even more than the sands of the sea; I have awakened and still thou art with me.

19. If thou art going to slay obdurate-sinners, men of blood, incline ye away from me.

20. Because thou wilt say in thy thought, they will take thy cities in vain,

21. Have I not hated those who hate thee, O Lord, and have I not consumed away on account of thine enemies?

22. With a complete hatred have I hated them; They have been accounted enemies by me.

23. Prove me, O God, and know my heart: Try me and know my paths;

24. And see if there be any way of transgression in me, and guide me in an everlasting way.

COMMENT.

The 134th psalm is not only an allelouia of praise; but a causal rationale for faith "Praise the Lord because" is the constant first premise, and the reasons given are fundamentally good reasons and appeal to the highest enlightened intelligence of humanity, to the sense of moral obligation resting upon the creature in his true relation to his Creator. God's praise and commendation is the creature's first duty and should be his intelligent delight. Moreover if the creature is not doing this he is not squaring himself with his highest duty and obligation for this life and the life to come. This is the numerical signification of this psalm in its simplest import as a fourth or as a major.

The 135th psalm, also an allelouia but an allelouia of confession, is appropriately a minor, a confession of "mercy" experienced notwithstanding sin, transgression and failure to rise to this higher sense of duty and obligation. The confession illustrated with signal instances, of the divine merciful intervention. It no doubt was used as a responsive chant, the leader chanting the recitative and the choir appropriately responding with the refrain "That his mercy is forever," to which the final response of the congregation would be an "amen."

The 136th psalm is dedicated "to David" by the Author Hieremias (Jeremiah) and is a double-major of faith and assurance in captivity and the direst tribulation. The emphasis is on "an ode" which is destroyed in the C. V. and R. V. by translating the word meaning "an ode" "a song." We make the same distinction in English. An ode is a song; but a song is not necessarily an ode. Their enemies were taunting them, in their humiliation with this request, that they should sing them "words of odes." For these odes as we have seen are songs of triumphant victory over all their enemies under the glorious leadership of their God Javah and national peans of patriotic rejoicing. "How shall we sing the Lord's ode in an alien land?" An appropriate answer to this taunting request. Then follows the triumphant protest of faith and assured hope.

The sixth verse is especially instructive, as it is the only place in the whole range of the Greek Scriptures where the idiomatic phrase "ε αρχη" has been correctly rendered by the translators or the revisers thus far in this nineteenth century of scholarship and intelligence. This phrase constitutes the first two words of the Bible so-called and the first two words of John's gospel, and in both instances is improperly rendered "in the beginning." This phrase simply makes the creation God's authoritive creation and his Word the authoritative Word. "If I do not make Hierousalem my chief joy" is a smooth translation of one idiom into another idiom that fairly expresses the same thought in each case; but it is very far from being a literal rendering. I have parenthetically given a more literal one to illustrate the matter to the inquiring reader. "In authority" would be absolutely literal.

The 137th psalm is also a confessional and dedicated to David. In each case no doubt the double significance of David and "David's Greater Son" is a part of the spiritual import.

While the confession is strictly unto God, the place in the psalmist's view is "the tabernacle of David" the particular spot on earth where God had placed and sanctified his name in the sight of men. This accounts for the expression "in the presence of angels."

Then "I shall worship at thy inner-sanctuary" is the full assurance of hope. Bear in mind that Aggaios and Zacharias were prophets of "the captivity" and that this psalm no doubt was written while they and their were people in captivity, and looks forward to the ultimate triumph of the Redeemer from all captivity. See the import of the 4th verse "May all the kings of the earth," etc., and again the fifth verse "And may they have sung with the odes of the Lord" etc. Its numerical significance is completion.

The 138th psalm with that familiar heading "Unto the end" is identified as one of David's psalms and has been made specially familiar to Christians of all denominations as rendered in the Com. Ver. Being an "eighth" it is a full harmonic and correlates with the 8th psalm in its spiritual import. Of course it is specially Messianic in illustrating the intimate and wonderful relation existing between the Divine and the human, the Creator and the creature, the infinite attributes of the former and the infinite limitations of the latter in this mundane sphere; but the infinite possibilities of the human under conformity to the divine will more than hinted at.

There is no pantheism in this psalm. The relations here, spoken of are all personal. It is "I" and "thou" and "they" constantly. I shall confess unto thee. "All men will have been written, etc."

I think there has been a grave misapprehension of the 15th verse as rendered in the C. V. This verse has been laid hold of as a proof-text to prove the pre-existence of mankind even before their generic creation, while it is evident I think that the pre-existence taught is only in the plan and purpose of God and not an actual pre-existence meant. What God can do with us in the present and the future as well as what he has done with us in the past, the whole ground covered in this psalm and the how of the present and the future wonderfully brought out in the 23d verse, which sings with the full octave chord of the gospel salvation.

CHAS. GARDNER.

"Two things characterize the model prayer meeting committee. It should meet weekly and pray daily."

Are You Friends of the Mammon of Unrighteousness.

Brother W. H. Wilson: Will you be kind enough to give through THE RESTITUTION, an explanation of the above subject as it is found in Luke xvi. 9, and you will confer a favor on an anxious inquirer to know what the Savior intended to be taught in the lesson.

Truly your Brother in Christ.
JARED BENJAMINE.

The above text reads as follows, in the common verson: "And I say unto you, make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that, when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations."

The context which leads up to this is the story of the unfaithful steward.

It was reported to his employer that the steward was transacting his business in a questionable manner. He called the steward, and questioned him about the matter, and told him he wanted him to draw up a statement as to how the business stood, and that he should have no further use for his services, and that he may consider himself discharged.

The steward says to himself, now I am in a bad fix, I am not strong enough to dig, and I am too proud to beg. Now I have hit it says he, before I draw a balance sheet I will call a meeting of the debtors, and cut down their bills, so that when I am discharged they will fix the matter all right with me. So he says to Mr. Rosenthall, how much do you owe? Well, says he, I owe "hundred baths of oil." Now, I tell you what to do, change the hundred to fifty, and whoever succeeds me cannot collect more than the face of the bill, and of course you will see me fixed right when I am out of a job.

Then the advice comes to the "children of light," "make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that when ye fail, they (the mammon of unrighteousness) may receive you into everlasting habitations."

The phrase, "the mammon of unrighteousness," is personified, when read in connection with the plural pronoun "they." The way the matter stands in the Common Version, it would seem that the Savior advised the "children of light" to cultivate friendship with unrighteous men, who possess wealth, that they may receive you etc. "when ye fail."

The fact is, the Savior always taught the reverse of this, the above text don't teach it either. The fault lies in the translation. Most of the original manuscripts from which our translations are made don't bear the rendering given by the King's translation.

I will give three translations which agree with each other, but all are adverse to the Common Version.

"And I say unto you, make for yourselves friends with the deceitful wealth, that when it fails, they may receive you into aionian mansions."—Diaglott.

"Make to yourselves friends by means of the mammon of unrighteousness; that, when it shall fail, they may receive you into the eternal tabernacles."—Revised Version.

"Therefore I say unto you, with the deceitful riches procure to yourselves friends, who, after your discharge may receive you into the eternal mansions."—Campbell.

There is a great deal of difference between making friends "by means of" or "with" the use of deceitful wealth and making friends of unrighteous mammon.

With these translations before us, the teaching is clear, beautiful, and harmonious.

Those whom the Savior has purchased with his precious blood belong to him, together with their wealth, time and talents. The thought is that those of his purchased servants who possess wealth are required to so use their "deceitful wealth," or "deceitful riches," that "by means of," or "with" the "deceitful wealth," you may "procure to yourselves friends," "make for yourselves friends," who has the power "when it fails," "when it shall fail," (not "when ye fail," C. V.) to carry you beyond the use of wealth, "into aionian mansions," "eternal tabernacles," or "eternal mansions."

The "friends" we are to "make" by a proper use of "deceitful riches," are "friends" that have the power to "receive you into the eternal mansions." Men who possess "unrighteous mammon," or unrighteous wealth, have no power to admit any one into "eternal mansions."

The lesson the Savior intended to teach is: "The children of this world (or age) are more prudent in conducting their affairs than the children of light. Therefore I say unto you, with the deceitful riches procure to yourselves friends, who, after your discharge, may receive you into the eternal mansions."—Campbell.

He brings to view two classes—"the children of this world," and "the children of light." the former are shrewd or cunning "in conducting their affairs," when they see that the "deceitful riches" is about to slip from them, they will attempt in some way to "feather their nest," like the unfaithful steward, who symbolizes "the children of this world." He desires "the children of light," to take a lesson from this, and be equally wise in godly matters. If he possesses "deceitful riches," not to "trust in uncertain riches," but by its use, procure friends, who are able, "when it shall fail," to receive you into the eternal mansions." "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you." He is a friend that sticks closer than a brother.

This lesson may be illustrated by the rich young man who came to Jesus and wished to know what to do to inherit eternal life. He had been a proper young man, and kept the commandments from his youth up. What lack I yet? Just one thing thou lackest. Sell what thou hast and relieve the poor and come and follow me, and you shall have treasure in "the eternal mansions." He went away sorrowful, was never heard of again, he preferred to hang on to the "deceitful riches," he could not pay the price—"make for yourselves friends with (or by means of) the deceitful wealth, that when it fails, (it is no value when death claims its possessor) they may receive you into aionian mansions."

Says Jesus: Amass not for yourselves treasure upon the earth, where moths or rust may consume it, or theives breaking in may steal it. But provide for yourselves treasure in heaven, where are neither moths nor rust to consume it, nor theives to break in and steal it." "Behold I come quickly, and my reward is with me, to give to every man according as his work shall be." These shall inherit "the eternal mansions," with all its attendant blessings, which those who have trusted in "unrighteous mammon," "when it fails" them, can never experience.

Dear reader, if you possess "deceitful riches," don't trust in it, but use it faithfully, as the Lord's steward, and "with the deceitful riches procure to yourselves friends who after your discharge (from your stewardship, at death) may receive you into the eternal mansions," when the Lord comes with his reward.

If you are poor, you still have time and talents committed to your trust, and the Nobleman will require an account of your stewardship when he returns to reckon with his servants. There is not a single child of God but what has a trust committed to his or her use, and will be held accountable for its use.

May God bless you all and help you to be faithful stewards.

W. H. WILSON.

Impressions and Reflections at the End of '95.

My interest was such that I could hardly wait for the Christmas number of THE RESTITUTION to come with its cloud of witnesses and refresh my poor lonely heart. I drove three miles twice to get it, while the world and others with less interest—who know us not, because they know him not, stood and gazed in amazement at our action. And when I saw and heard the unanimous testimony of "so great a cloud of witnesses," my strength almost went for me, and in wonder and ecstasy I listened to their thrilling testimonies and said, God bless this brother and keep him from falling. "And may our God bless and sustain this sister until Jesus comes." God bless thy dear children that have come up so nobly to the help of thy Lord, and said by word and action that they are on the Lord's side." This is only a foretaste of those things which God hath in store for those that love him. Then I was led to inquire, will I meet all these brothers and sisters, in Fathers house, and know them there? And where is brother and sister.—I do not see or hear them, and why are they not here?

Could they not come to the "Love feast" as well as not? Ah, my Lord, thou knowest all things, and thou knowest them that are thine. Remember brethren, while Jesus tarries, there is mercy, you may choose and prepare, but soon, yes very soon the King in his beauty will come for his jewels, and then he will choose the worthy ones, and refuse those who refuse offered mercy now. Soon this world with all its vain allurements, will fail to satisfy. Soon the great judgment day will come, then one shall be taken and another left. And if we fail to choose life now, fail to bend our wills and ways. Jesus will have other work to do, and we will be left behind. We are now about home.

Ring out, ring out, old year
Our kingdom home is very near,
Weeping endures the night of warning
But joy cometh in the morning.

T. E. A.

OBITUARY.

Died at her home in Woltenborough, N. H. Mrs. Mary J. McDonald, very suddenly of heart failure, Dec. 26, 1895, in the 66th year of her age. She was a daughter of Jedediah Witham, (for some years deceased) and a beloved sister of the writer. Her father being a firm believer in the doctrines advocated by your paper, having always been a subscriber since the first issue under the name of "Millennial Harbinger," thus giving our sister an early opportunity of searching and seeking for the gospel preached to Abraham, yes, the gospel of our salvation, and thus continued through life, firm and unshaken. Nothing could change her belief, even as it is in Jesus. Amidst falling tears we are hoping for her a glorious resurrection beyond the grave where sin and sorrow shall never invade.

J. WITHAM.

And still the ranks keep filling up. Another has fallen a victim to that fatal disease, cancer. Our beloved sister in Christ, Martha Chase, in the 47th year of her age fell asleep Nov. 29, 1895. Martha Pallette was married to Samuel Chase Nov. 20, 1873. Three daughters were born to them who are now left alone, for Bro. Chase died suddenly several years ago. We were telegraphed to preach the funeral sermon at Martin, Mich., where Sister Chase lived, but did not receive it in time and a Methodist minister was employed at the last moment. Sister Chase died as she had lived, in full hope of eternal life at Christ's coming.

M. A. WOODWARD.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Mrs. S. F. Anderson	.50
Mrs. J. Wilson	.50
J. T. Carpenter	.50
Levy Gunn	1.50
Mrs. H. N. Simonds	.50
E. C. Byers	1.50
W. D. Root	.35
S. T. Shirley	1.00
A. Balch	.35
Jennie Cox	.25
D. C. Satterlee	.75
N. Robles	1.50
W. D. Townsend	.50
Mrs. L. C. Johnston	1.50
Helen Fyfe	.50
J. M. Thorp	.25
J. B. Lent	3.50
Mrs. A. L. Tichenor	.50
Mrs. R. G. Riggs	.75
Gertrude Carpenter	3.00
Ida Overholt	3.00

POETRY.

The Covenant Meeting.

They rose in the "covenant meeting,"
And told of their hopes and fears;
Of the friends they longed to meet again
Beyond this vale of tears.
And they spoke of "godly parents,"
Of a "saintly mother's prayer;"
And hoped in the covenant blessings
Their souls would have a share.

But one who sat in the shadow,
'Neath a heritage of shame,
Caught a glimpse of sweeter truth that day,
As writ by a pen flame.
And arose in the covenant meeting
And said: "I praise His name.
That He came, not to call the righteous,
But sinners to reclaim:

"That he gave his life a ransom,
For sinners vile as me;
To break the chains of sense and sin,
And set the captive free.
And I by trusting his gracious Word,
And walking the path he trod,
May find a peace the world cannot give
And become a son of God."

"'Tis good to have godly parents,
And a 'covenant of grace;'
But I, who have neither, still can be
The head of a godly race.
And so, I renounce the World
And all his works' today."
And the leader said with a husky voice:
"My brethren, let us pray."

—Albina Murilla Letts.

Selected.

The Old Year Abroad.

The old year abroad has been characterized by stirring events of political and military importance. In Great Britain the government has changed hands and the Tories are in power again. June 23rd Lord Rosebery resigned the Premiership and the Marquis of Salisbury was summoned to form a new ministry, which he accomplished, calling to his side as his leading Lieutenants the Duke of Devonshire, Balfour, Chamberlain, Hicks-Beach, Goschen, and the Marquis of Lansdowne. Parliament was dissolved July 8, and in the ensuing election the Tories were triumphant, the government total being 411; total opposition, 259; government majority, 152; and Conservative majority over all, 12. Mr. Gladstone retired to private life July 3, and has since that time devoted himself to occasional literary work. The two events of leading importance connected with the new government are the disappearance of Irish home rule issue, which the Irish party leaders have sold out for a mess of pottage in the shape of a Catholic University in Ireland and some minor school concessions, and the radical position taken by the Marquis of Salisbury in refusing to arbitrate the boundary dispute with Venezuela at the request of the United States. The dispute still remains unsettled, but as the Tories have shown a disposition to recede from their original menacing and insulting position towards this country there is hope that a satisfactory settlement will yet be reached.

The record of France during the year is mainly confined to Cabinet changes. Jan. 14 the Dupuy Cabinet resigned upon a question of the superiority of the Chamber of Deputies to the courts. In the meantime, Jan. 17, M. Felix Faure, who had been Minister of Marine in the Dupuy Cabinet, was elected President of the Republic, following the resignation of M. Casimir Perier, President ad interim and the successor of M. Carnot, who was killed by an Anarchist assassin. M. Ribot formed a new ministry under the new President Jan. 27, but resigned in October, the government having been defeated on a question of investigating railroad scandals, and M. Bourgeois succeeded in forming another ministry, which is still in power. In Germany the young Emperor has had the Reichstag on his hands. It repealed the anti-Jesuit bill, refused to congratulate Bismarck on his birthday, and rejected both the anti-revolutionary and tobacco tax bills. At present the Emperor is engaged in an earnest struggle with the Socialists, who have gained much strength during the year. The young Emperor, however, has had his play spells and has gratified his love of the spectacular at the opening of the Baltic and the North Sea Canal, as well as at the numerous celebrations of the victories of his grandfather in the Franco-German war. Italy and Austria have had a quiet year, except that the former in the closing days of the year has met with a serious reverse in Abyssinia which will require fresh additions to its financial burdens. Spain is still engaged in the effort to put down the Cuban revolution, which is referred to elsewhere in this article. All has been serene in the Netherlands, Switzerland, and Portugal. In Scandinavia the old quarrel between Sweden and Norway still remains unsettled.

In Russia the Czar early in the year made the public announcement that he would uphold the autocratic policy, which has been followed by a revival of Nihilist agitation. The conspirators have made one or two attempts to take his life, but undeterred by conspiracies he is still seeking the aggrandizement of Russia by pushing his trans-Siberian railroad, gaining fresh influence over Japan and China, and holding England off from any interference with Turkey. In The Tribune of Jan. 1, 1895, it was written: "In Turkey the event of overshadowing importance is the Kurdish massacres in Armenia, for which the powers are preparing to call the Sublime Porte to account." These massacres have continued at intervals all through 1895 and they are still in progress, and yet the great powers have failed to stop them, owing to the jealousies of England and Russia over the balance of power. While they hesitate to act, 100 000 Armenians have been slaughtered by the unspeakable Turks and the civilized world has been shocked. The first demand of the powers for reforms in the Sultan's Armenian policy was made June 4, but the policy still remains unchanged. Bulgaria has been in an uproar since the assassination of Stambuloff in July, and numerous plots have been discovered to secure the abdication of Prince Ferdinand, with Russia standing in the background.

The war between China and Japan, which broke out in June, 1894, as the outcome of a dispute between the two powers as to the rights of suzerainty in Corea was continued through the month of January last, the Japanese winning victory after victory in such rapid order that the Chinese were compelled to sue for peace After long negotiations a treaty of peace was made and ratified in May, by the terms of which Japan secured Formosa and the Pescadore Islands, the autonomy of Coren, the opening of Chinese ports and rivers to commerce and industry, and an indemnity of $100,000,000, which has been guaranteed by Russia.

In Africa the French have invaded Madagascar during the year, overcome the Hovas, and established a protectorate over the island. The Italians have been engaged in a war with Abyssinia, and of late have met with severe reverses. As the year closes, a speck of war has been developed in the Transvaal, where the foreigners, especially the English, are rising against the Boers to secure equal political rights. As rich diamond and gold fields exist in the Transvaal, it would not be surprising if the trouble grew out of another attempted English grab.

Central America has been unusually quiet for that center of disturbance. Nicaragua has settled the claims made against her by England, and Guatemala avoided war with Mexico by timely concessions. A treaty of union has been made between Honduras, Nicaragua, and Salvador, which may yet lead to a general union of the American republics. The trouble with Venezuela has already been referred to. Brazil has had some slight contentions with France and England, which may be settled by arbitration. The other South American republics have had their fair share of revolutions, but they have been speedily quelled as a rule, and the military adventurers in power have kept their control. The great uprising in Cuba against Spanish oppression began in February last, and for nearly a year, with comparatively no outside help, unrecognized by this country, as they should have been long ago, the Cuban patriots have more than held their own. They have compelled Spain to send an army there of 100,000 men. They have overrun province after province until they now dominate three-fourths of the island and are now at the very doors of Matanzas and Havana. They have established a provisional government. They have earned recognition of belligerent rights. When will they have it?—Chicago Tribune.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

The Bible allows no slovenliness in business. Christianity encourages invention, promotes refinement, suggests method, insists upon order, promptness, regularity, good humor, good manners and good living. The resources of the earth are abundant for all. If manual labor were made a part of education—an essential in every school and college curriculum—the world would be brighter and cheerier for the change. It is because labor has been dumped out as toil for a livelihood—underpaid, overtaxed, unfashioned, that so many toilers are worn and weary, and forced to be illiterate and melancholy; whereas, if their work and position were properly rewarded, they would be strong, intellectual, religious and happy and contented with their lot.

A wonderful goblet.—Rev. Dr. Guthrie delighted to relate a story of a wonderful goblet which the genius of the heathen fashioned, teaching a moral which many a death-bed has fearfully illustrated: "Having made the model of a serpent, he fixed it in the bottom of the cup; and there, with eyes gleaming in its head, and fangs raised to strike, it lay, coiled for the spring, beneath the ruby wine. The cup is raised, the draught is quaffed, the dregs are reached, and now that dreadful head rises up, too late to warn. And so, when pleasure's cup is nearly emptied, and the sinner with unwilling lips is draining its bitter dregs shall rise the ghastly terrors of remorse, and death, and judgement on his despairing soul. A serpent lurks at the bottom of guilt's sweetest pleasure."—Christian Herald.

Any man can sing by day; but only he whose heart has been tuned by the gracious hand of Jehovah can sing in the darkness. The things of earth may satisfy for the hours of prosperity; but only the peace of God can give gladness in the darkness of adversity. God gives joy in sorrow; and when sad one sings through his tears, then the Lord comes out to him with new and more tender assurances, so that by his very hymn he is made more gladsome. That which is born of trust rises into rapture.—William M. Taylor, D. D.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by, Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$40.70

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

On Trial Three Months

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 288 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 35 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 ages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts. per hundred.

Written and for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

If nature teach bees, not only to gather honey out of sweet flowers, but out of the bitter, shall not grace teach us to draw, even out of the bitterest condition, something to better our souls?—Samuel Purchas, A. M.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 30,000 Baptists, in 1860. 3. Immateriality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10. Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages of 10, 10 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 10c; 80 for 15c; 50 for 25c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man's Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement on the contrast of the two ones of these terms, in-wit, a Theological and Bible one.

Can you Believe? a series of questions on the main points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 12 for 50c, 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidences upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 64 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., Jn 19, 1879, by Jos. Lester. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 8 for 25c. or 18 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 160 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 576 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief harmonistic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. J. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 50 cts. or four for $1. postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is two well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 178 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible, for the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 35 cents single copy; 3 for 65 cents; 12 for $1.30; 50 for $4.50. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 12 cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sirclaville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
H. T. Baker, Decorah, Iowa.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.

THE SPECIAL EVANGELIST FUND.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published,	$281.78
Mrs. M. L. Cherry	3.00

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 606 Wood and Auditorium, Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. C. M. Johns, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunda at 3 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1645 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 301 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Van Buren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month. Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 11 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. All brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. ies east thereof.

The Church of God in Frontier Co., Neb., meets in the new frame church. We have Union Sunday School every Sunday, and communion once a month as we have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah Selleck Clerk.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by letter of introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Keesler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, Ia., meet every Sunday at 3:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Silas Siple, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month, 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Groat, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, a. m.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Reuwer Hall, on Willoughby Avenue near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 238 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting or Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitcomb, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria M. Trundell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Bld. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Center Grove every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Beulah Center is presided over by Bro L. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Div.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Westward.	9	15	29	3	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsburgh, lv.	7 00			1 30
Allianc'e, arr	9 40			4 15
Orrton, lv.	9 55			4 30
Massillon, "	10 35			5 10
Wooster, "	11 18			5 53
Mansfield, "	11 58			6 33
Crestline, arr.	12 40			7 15
Bucyrus, lv.	12 55		6 42	7 30
Lima, "	2 45		9 03	9 30
Van Wert, "	3 23		10 17	87
			25
Ft Wayne	4 30		11 30	11
Arcola, "				7 26
Columbia'y, "	4 53	4 05		7 49
Leavitt, "				7 52
Pierceton, "				8 05
Eagle Lake, "				8 14
Warsaw, "	5 31	4 42		8 30
Etna Green, "				8 36
Burton, "				8 43
Inwood, "				8 48
Plymouth, "	6 05	5 20		9 05
Grovertown, "				9 20
Hamlet, "				9 28
Davis, "				9 31
Hanna, "				9 35
Wanatah, "	6 58	6 12		10 03
Valparaiso, "	7 21	6 36		10 25	8 34
Wheeler, "				10 33
Hobart, "				10 39
Liverpool, "				10 48
Clarke, "				10 53
Chicago, arr.	8 00	8 07	4 55	11 15	9 55
	AM	AM	PM	PM	PM

Eastward.	30	8	4	6	30	38
	AM	PM	PM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago, lv.	9 20	4 00	10 10	2 45	11 30	10 45
Clarke, "	10 13		12 57		12 30	11 30
Liverpool, "	10 18		1 02		12 35	11 35
Hobart, "	10 24		1 08		12 41	11 41
Wheeler, "	10 31		1 13		12 47	11 47
Valparaiso, "	10 39	4 47	1 21	4 01	12 55	11 55
Wanatah, "	10 57		1 39		1 13	12 13
Hanna, "	11 03		1 45		1 19	12 19
Hamlet, "	11 09		2 31
Grovertown, "	11 17
Plymouth, "	11 32	5 45	2 46	5 05
Inwood, "	11 52			5 15
Bourbon, "	11 57		3 27	5 18
Etna Green, "	12 11			5 33
Warsaw, "	12 20	6 25	3 55	5 38
Eagle Lake, "	12 36			5 44
Pierceton, "	12 49		4 12	6 00
Leavitt, "	12 57			6 08
Columbia City, "	13 15	6 58	4 40	6 15
Arcola, "	13 20			6 20
Ft Wayne	13 30	7 10	5 00	6 30
Van Wert, "	14 37	8 22	6 23	7 35
Lima, "	15 11	8 55	7 00	8 10
Bellefontaine, "	15 55	9 39	7 44	8 54
Crestline, arr.	16 40	10 23	8 28	9 38
Mansfield, lv.	16 50	10 33	8 38	9 48
Wooster, "	17 31	11 14	9 19	10 29
Massillon, "	18 13	11 56	10 01	11 11
Orrton, "	18 53	12 36	10 41	11 51
Alliance, arr.	19 08	12 51	10 56	12 06
Pittsb'g, "	21 00	2 45	12 50	2 00
	PM	AM	PM	AM	AM	PM

Daily. Daily except Sunday.

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.

GEN'L OFFICES: PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANER, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

SOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 20, Passenger, Leaves	11:05pm
No. 24, " "	10:07pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 23, Passenger, Leaves	10:45am
No. 29, " "	10:40pm
No. 161, Local, "	11:05pm

‡Daily except Sunday. †Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Sonora, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. & M. Div. for all points north, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. S. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY, Gen Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 55, Ex. Sun.	12:15pm For St. Joseph.
No. 53 "	7:34am " "
No. 54, ex. Sun.	10:30pm for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun.	8:35am For Terre Haute.
No. 53, "	12:50pm " "
No 57 ex. Sunday	7:17pm " Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. Dowse, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E A FORD, Gen'l Pass. Agt. St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R R

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and Water stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local F
Cleveland				7:00p m
Hammond	10:39pm	9:07am		8:05a m
Hobart	10:55pm	9:23am		10:10a m
Valpar'o	11:15pm	10:07am		11:00a m
Wanat'h		10:24a m		11:25a m
Knox	12:15a m	11:20a m	6:40pm	7:32a m
Argos	12:35a m	11:42a m		8:15a m
Peru	2:05a m	1:20p m	8:05pm	4:30p m
Cleveland	10:20a m	9:00pm	11:15pm
Buffalo	4:30p m		3:00a m

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:20pm		1:35a m	Local F
Cleveland	7:15pm	5:00a m	10:54a m
Peru	2:50a m	1:10p m	4:10p m	7:00a m
Argos	4:10a m	4:00p m		8:30p m
Knox	4:30a m	4:47p m	8:30p m	10:15p m
Wanat'h		5:05p m		11:05p m
Valpar'o	5:00a m	5:30p m		12:15a m
Hobart	5:27a m	6:17p m		1:00p m
Hammond	5:44a m	6:40p m		1:45p m
Hyrtaba				4:30p m
Chicago	7:40a m	7:50p m	9:00a m

Trains leaving Chicago at 9:30 a.m., Cleveland at 9:00 a.m. and local friends do not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Modern Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers in New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

E. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
E. T. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. S. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD.
WM. RAILSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50
Six Months - - .75
Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 15, 1896. NO. 3.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTIONAL advocates the full "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortalized saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins preequisite to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

OUR CHRISTMAS LOVE FEAST.

We continue this "testimony meeting" that all may have opportunity to speak.

DEAR RESTITUTION:—Thou ship of joy,
Rich laden with the glad refrain,
From ports impelled by faith's alloy
With love, while hope and truth remain.
Thrice lading with a message rare,
From north and south, from east and west,
The Lord is coming, and in mid-air
He'll soon appear, to bring sweet rest
To waiting ones, who long and hope
For that blest day, when sins darkest
Shall end, and all will that invoke.

Oh mystic tie! that binds our hearts
To one grand theme, one gospel hope,
That life, and joy, and peace impart.
No one in darkness left to grope.
All learning the same song to sing,
All following on to learn the truth
And all their former errors bring,
And change them for eternal truth.
God's Book, alone our guide and chart
Our councilor and friend,
To lead each humble trusting heart
Gladly all former theories rend.
We take our Father at his word, for
A funeral wail is in the air,
The year is dying, sure but slow,
Step by step with silvered hair
He to eternity must go.
While the New Year comes with glad refrain
Full of hope for the coming days,
Shall we give them joy, or give them pain,
Shall we live to give, or live to gain.
It may be the last the Master will give,
To finish the work of those who live
This side of his coming back
To bring reward; to those who lack,
Shame and sorrow, and those who abound,
A mantle of life to throw around
And cover them close from the raging storm
Of judgments fierce; until his royal form
Shall peace inspire, all sin remove,
And the whole earth fill with heavenly love.

"Be patient brethren, stablish your hearts for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh."

LIDDIE PALMER.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am looking and waiting for the coming of our King, the Lord Jesus the Christ. O may he soon come and reign in righteousness on the earth.

C. P. ALGIRE.

Dear Restitution:

I too am glad to testify as to the coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Oh, may we all hold out faithful so that we may meet our loved ones, is my prayer.

JENNIE THOMPSON.

Dear Restitution:

I was greatly benefitted by the meetings held in our little church, by Brother and Sister Woodward. May they continue their good work with as much success as they met with in our midst.

ALBERT R. PENCE.

Editor Restitution:

Well brothers and sisters as we are to have a love feast I thought I would add my voice with the rest. I have faith in Christ the only name by which we can be saved, that he died for our sins and rose the third day according to the Scripture. I expect his return back to this earth soon to gather his saints. Let us look around and see if we are ready, and ask ourselves if we are sure we are ready. We don't want to say I believe I will be saved, we want to be sure. We expect to hear the welcome call, come ye blest of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you. Submitted in Christian love.

MRS. HARRIET ADAMS.

Brethren and Sisters:

As Bro. Dwiggins requested some one to write for THE RESTITUTION in the Christmas number, I thought perhaps a few words would encourage some one in this great and grand cause of the soon coming of our beloved Master. I feel as though I were weak in the cause but am trying to live right and when he comes I may be gathered among his faithful ones.

Yours in Hope,

DESSIE MCDONALD.

Dear Restitution:

I feel as though I ought to say a word for my dear Master. I believe in the second coming of Christ and think that he is coming soon. Pray for me that I may be faithful until he comes.

Your Sister in the faith and hope of the gospel, waiting for his Son from heaven. Soon may that blessed day come.

GERTRUDE EYRE.

Dear Restitution:

Lord who shall abide in thy tabernacle, who shall dwell in the new earth. Who shall attain to immortality. Answer, He that has heard the word of the kingdom and understood it and with a good and honest heart bareth much fruit. Now the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, meekness, faith. Dear ones in the faith, can we say from every day experience that we have the fruit of the spirit, if so we can hope to meet each other in the sweet bye and bye. Oh meet me there, meet me there in that world so bright and fair. Soon may it come. Amen.

J. T. PRIME.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters of the Faith once delivered to the Saints:

Yes this "same Jesus is coming." What a rebuke to the skeptics, question "where is the promise of his coming?" Over 200 sermons answering the question direct. Were the Bible destroyed, this truth would live in thousands of hearts. "Some sweet day" while we sing "Jesus soon is coming" waiting ones will shout "Lo this is our God we have waited for him." Having this hope let us purify ourselves even as he is pure.

J. F., R. J. & CORA WAGONER.

Dear Household of faith:

I want a share in this Christmas number. I am a firm believer in the second coming of Christ. I am trying to so live; that when the King comes in all of his beauty I may be able to say: "Lo this is our God, whom we have waited for."

Your Sister in Christ,

MRS. JENNIE MCDONALD.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

I am glad to say that I am watching for the second coming of our Savior, and hope the time will not be long until we can all sing glory to God in the highest, peace on earth, good will to men.

We know the kingdom is drawing near,
All things proclaim it nigh,
We watch to see the sign appear,
With glory in the sky.

We long to see thy saints awake,
A pure and spotless throng;
And that bright morn of glory break,
And join the choral song.

Your Sister in Christ,

EMMA HART.

Dear Restitution:

"For the favor of God that bringeth salvation, hath appeared unto all men, teaching us that denying ungodliness and wordly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously and godly, in this present age; looking for that blessed hope and glorious appearing of Christ. Titus i. 2-11. It would take much space to even quote the inspired testimony that shows the blessedness of this hope. It is the one hope of the Christian calling. Jesus saith unto Martha, "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." Then Peter said, "we have left all and followed thee." Jesus said, that there is no man that hath left all for the sake of the kingdom of God, who shall not receive manifold more in this time, and in the age to come, life everlasting." As recorded by Mathew. Jesus said "verily I say unto you; that ye who have followed me, in the regeneration, when the Son of Man shall sit on the throne of his glory, ye shall also sit upon twelve thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel." "And every one that forsakes all for his name's sake shall inherit everlasting life." Again, he said, whosoever shall save his life shall lose, it but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake the same shall save it. For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own life." Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me in this sinful generation, of him also shall the Son of Man be ashamed when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels." Mark. xiii. 35. "Jesus will appear the second time without sin unto salvation." "Now this I say brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." "We shall not all sleep, but all be changed in a moment and this corruption put on incorruption."

E. HOYT.

Editor Restitution:

Another year has almost gone with all our good and evil deeds recorded. As I pen these lines I think how little I have done toward the spreading of the good news of the kingdom, and of the near coming of our dearly beloved and glorious King. I feel that the year has been nearly wasted, but how I rejoice to see the signs so fast fulfilling that proclaim the return of our absent Lord. May we all be found faithfully doing our work for the Master when he comes that he may find us worthy.

Yours in hope of the soon coming King.

EMMA F. SMITH.

Dear Restitution:

Brothers and sisters of the one faith, one Lord, and one baptism.—Like a scattered family we are permitted to meet again through the letter drawer in a grand reunion as witnesses for our absent Lord and with words of good cheer and encouragement to comfort and strengthen each other in the pilgrimage of the prize of our high calling. Think of it for a moment. A poor mortal under the sentence of death to be called to the exalted position to be a joint heir with the Lord Jesus Christ in the kingdom of God when he comes and sets up this kingdom. He has promised to receive us and bestow on us this honor. Blessed be his name. He suffered and died for us, that he might redeem us from sin and death. We have his word for it, we have the prophesies for it. We have the promise of our heavenly Father for it, that he will come again personally and visibly and in great power, and he has plainly given us the signs of his coming, and surely it will not be long now before we see him. Yes our eyes shall behold the King in his beauty. Oh yes, when he comes he will settle all the unhappy, discordant state of things. Finance will no longer trouble; capital and labor differences will all be adjusted and the black threatening war clouds whose thunders are shaking the nations and whose lightnings are visible from every quarter of the globe, all these things shall then give place to the righteous reign of Christ and his saints. Jesus is coming, and Oh what a gathering will be of the dead and of the then living saints, for together shall they be caught up to meet the Lord in the air. Oh what rejoicing when we shall sit down with father Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the ancient worthies together with our loved ones in the kingdom. Our shouts and rejoicings will never end. Oh that we may be found worthy of redemption, immortalization, eternal life. Lord help us that we may be obedient and faithful. We want to see Jesus. We are watching for his coming. We would be glad to meet each and all of you and together rejoice in this blessed hope. Though hard pressed in many ways of late our failure and seeming disadvantages do not discourage us. We feel that it is all right and we lean the harder on Jesus. Yes these adversities strengthen our hope and our faith brightens under them, for we feel that the everlasting arms are under us.

Very truly in hope of the soon coming kingdom.

B. Y. & M. A. FORTWELL.

Editor Restitution:

My paper has come very prompt all the year. I like the paper. Wish I could send you some new names. I am quite an old lady, not able to get about much. I am glad to lend my papers to any one that will read them, so few care to read them. The truth is very unpopular. Well the Master says, "Fear not little flock, it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." The gospel is the way of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. It does seem strange that more do not accept the truth. There is so much reading broad cast.

Yours in hope of eternal life through Jesus Christ, the life giver.

MARY ANN BARNES.

Dear Restitution:

I certainly believe that we are living in the momentous times of the closing of this age, and the signs of the times indicate that Christ's second coming is very near at hand. Let us not be found sleeping. Sound the glad tidings to those who are yet out of the ark of safety. Teach them the way before it is too late. Many are not willingly ignorant. Christ is soon coming—and the present age will soon be merged into the beauties and joys of his kingdom. May it soon come.

HATTIE E. RUSSEL.

Dear Restitution:

As we have been away from home for some two months, we haven't kept in reading of the dear old RESTITUTION, but seeing the last numbers we are delighted to see so many encouraging letters from the dear ones scattered abroad, but we only can say we are growing stronger every day in the glorious truths as delivered by the prophets, Christ and Apostles, and we are looking for Christ's return very soon. We think the signs show it very near. May we all be ready is our prayer.

WM. MILLS.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the Household of Faith:

I, too, want to add my testimony in belief of the soon coming of Christ to raise the sleeping saints, and change the living to immortality. For just as sure as Christ was ever on earth, just so sure he is coming. Acts i. 11. But I don't believe Christ was born on the 25th of December, for he was born at a time when they all must go to be taxed. And the shepherds were abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night, which would not be likely in the winter time. Speaking of the destruction of Jerusalem, Christ said, but pray ye that your flight be not in winter, on account of bad, cold weather, most surely. The Master's disciples put the question to him to know the sign of his "coming" and the "end of the world." Matt. xxiv. 3, and he tells them what should come to pass before his coming. And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the "end come." v. 14. Finally brethren and sisters, stand firm in the gospel of Jesus Christ, which is the power of God unto salvation. Rom. i. 16.

It seems the nations are getting very angry, and men are certainly proving themselves incapable of running governments much longer, and it seems that the time for Rev. xi. 15, to be fulfilled. Hoping I may meet you all in the kingdom when Christ comes. Matt. xxv. 31-34.

M. L. ADAMS.

Editor Restitution:

We will try and send in our mite to the dear old paper, which we love to read so much. We truly believe the time will soon come when the saints will be gathered together to sing of our blessed Redeemer. Oh, may the Lord hasten his return, for we have many promises assuring us that he will come in like manner as he went away. Now, let us live and work more earnestly and honestly in the coming year than in the past.

Come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

JAMES & IDA HOWARD.

Dear Restitution:

I will be eighty years old my next birthday, and today as I was reading the letters of the brothers and sisters to THE RESTITUTION it carried me back to the days when the Millerite doctrine was preached so strongly, if they couldn't think how vividly the coming of Christ is portrayed in the Scriptures. From that time I have been looking forward to the glorious time of his coming. What a disappointment it would be to have him say, "Depart I never knew you." But I fear it not as long as "the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers.

Farewell,

MRS. H. L. VICKERY.

Brothers and Sisters:

As I sat reading the many letters of the many brethren and sisters of the one faith, I am also prompted to write as to the soon coming of our King that is to be King of kings, and unto his kingdom there shall be no end. Dear brothers and sisters, if we can believe the testimony of those men in shining apparel as to his literal ascension, can we not also believe them as to his coming again in like manner. Its the same that say he want that say he will come again, if we can believe that he came first as a Lamb, Jno. i. 29, can we not also believe that he will also come the second time as a Lion. Rev. v. 5. If we can believe he came the first time made of the seed of David, Rom. i. 3, can we not also believe that he shall come again to receive and reign on the throne of his father David. Luke i. 32; Isa. ix. 7. If we can believe Paul as to his first coming to put away sin, Heb. ix. 26, can we not believe Paul as to his second coming without sin unto salvation? Heb. viii. 28. Many are they that believe in the first advent, but few are they that believe in the second. Does not the same Book that teaches the first also teach the second? If the first is true, is not also the second? We have not the privilege as do many. We are isolated and alone in the faith.

Looking for the soon coming King. Yours in love.

E. A. SINGER.

Happy New Year:

Especially to those throughout the land who have lately started out on the Lord's side. May this year be more to them than any past year of their lives. May they be so filled with the light and love of Christ that discouragements may find no places in their hearts. Many of you are blessed with Christian influences in your homes and surroundings. The young Christian has a hard row to hoe who receives little if any sympathy at home. There are many such. They live in an irreligious atmosphere. The Church is heavily discounted. Preachers are ridiculed. Christians are criticised. No cheering words of encouragement are ever spoken. The voice of prayer is never heard. While the very attitude of such a home may some times serve to stimulate, yet to most young persons it will prove a serious damper to zeal and activity. Dear young hearts, may you be steadfast and true. You may find stones in your pathway, your friends may sometimes turn against you; and more, sometimes those whom you love and would suppose to be much interested in you, but your Lord and Master will not; and turn not from them. Christ says: "Father forgive them they know not what they do." Pray for them, love them, speak kindly to them. Cultivate cheerfulness in your heart, and willing toil for One that suffered so much and died that he might save us. So long as we follow godly example and teaching we will do well, but when we lean wholly unto our own understanding there is great danger of disaster. The steady, solid, every-day workers are pleasing in the sight of the Lord. Steady pulling takes the load to the top of the hill, and may God bless those who have started with their load, give them strength and joy. My husband and I are striving to do the Lord's work. We feel our unworthiness, but it is our most earnest desire to so live, that when the faithful ones are gathered together, we may not be left out; but may then join our mothers near and dear, and all others gone before. We ask an interest in your prayers.

MRS. A. C. ROBERTS.

Brothers and Sisters:

I feel thankful to our kind Father for the good things that are given to us every week in our dear paper, and thankful to the dear ones who have labored and given of their means to make it what it is, and sorry I have not done more to help. I am glad we are to have another love feast. I hope it will be one indeed. Surely our hearts ought to be running over with grateful love to God for all he has done in the past, is doing now, and is going to do in time to come, for us whom he has called and chosen in Christ, and for all the world beside. I want to try to tell you a few things I have been thinking about. Love first to God and then to man. Love, "the bond of perfectness," Jesus said if ye love me ye will keep my commandments. Love one another. By this shall all men know ye are my disciples because ye have love one toward another. Love your enemies, and if them, surely we may love every one. Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets. This is all very well to talk and sing about, but, dear ones, what we need is to put it into practice. I am convinced that active, Christ-like love is the main thing wanting in the Church of God today. In fact, it seems to me that when we love perfectly we will be almost perfect. Let us study 1 Cor. xiii., and then examine our hearts carefully and prayerfully. Let us test our love by the standard given there and all through the Word and if we find we are wanting let us cry to God who is able and willing to give good gifts to his children and he will help us. Let us cruelly self. Of course we will suffer because we will receive hatred for our love. We shall be accounted as fools and despised, but let us look to him. He hid not his face from shame and spitting. Let us when we are smitten on the one cheek turn the other also, and sometimes (I say this for encouragement) they will be ashamed to strike the second time. Love will win. It will melt the hardest heart. When those we love turn away, and treat us coldly or worse in return let us never mind. Just keep a warm place for them in our hearts and they will be sure to come back. I know this is true, I have tried it. Let us forgive seventy times seven if need be. Just think what God has done for us, and how long-suffering he is. The reason, I think, why the world is not melted by the love of God is they don't believe in it. When he is ready he will cause them to see it but now he hides a little longer. Arise, shine, for thy light is come, will be said if it has not already been said to the church, and when she does shine all nations will see the light and love of God. Why may it not be now. The world is starving, dying for love. Oh, let us stir ourselves up and cry to God that he will empty, cleanse and fill us with his own precious fulness till there shall be no room in us for any thing selfish or evil. Dear ones come. We know the feast must be almost ready. Let us purge ourselves and put on our beautiful garments and watch. Oh, let us watch while we work and wait for the enemy is so subtle, so deceitful, and while we watch let us pray for ourselves and for one another and for our enemies and love them, and love one another with pure hearts fervently. Let us pray more faithfully, or with more faith for this lost world for whom Jesus died. Jesus said what things soever ye desire when ye pray believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. Surely it is not presumptuous to pray with earnest desire and even with faith for anything we have been taught to pray for. The dying prayers of Jesus and of the apostle Stephen are shining examples of how we should pray for our enemies. Father forgive them, they know not what they do. Lord lay not this sin to their charge. Those prayers were the fruit of love for the lost. Does any one think they will be unanswered. Let us not be the accusers of the wicked but rather their advocates. Let us plead for them and make excuses for them as we do for our precious selves. It may be God loves them, and if he does it must be enough for him to bear their conduct without our continually reminding him of it. Oh, if we had them in our hearts as God must have had them in his when he gave his own Son to die for them, how could we bear to see them go down to endless night? Would we not as though they were our own children, like Rachel cry out and refuse to be comforted because they are not, and does God chide her for weeping. No, but comforts her with the promise that they shall come again from the land of the enemy. Let us agonize with Jesus for the lost. He says I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance and to seek and save the lost. He shall see of the travail of his soul and be satisfied, and we may be able if we have suffered with him to rejoice with him in that hour. God spared Ninevah and I believe if the world would repent he would spare it and save it from the coming judgments, but if he did it looks sometimes as though there would be many Jonahs to be vexed with God for repenting him of the evil and allowing their predictions to fall of fulfillment. But I did not intend to write this way when I commenced this letter. I fear it is too long to find a place now. I have often wished I could induce all the faithful to join their prayers with those who are pleading with God for his heritage, that he will not leave it forever in the hands of the enemy, but deliver with a mighty hand, a stretched-out arm as in days of old. To all who are pleading thus I would say, hold on, have faith and the mountains of difficulty will be removed. Perhaps not in our way, but in the Lord's which is better. Hoping and praying and loving and desiring an interest in your prayers I remain your affectionate sister in Christ.

ALICE ADAMS.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
E. JORLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN. 15, 1896.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

WE WANT YOU TO

Take notice that our mail list will be revised Feb. 1, 1896, and we want your renewal before that time. If you cannot send for the whole year, send part, and not be delinquent. If you must have time beyond that time, write and let us know your intention. It must be evident to you each that we should hear from every one in order to know where we stand. We shall endeavor to make THE RESTITUTION worth $1.50 during the year. Though everything may not be exactly as you wish and think, yet you cannot afford to be without the information you will get in the old RESTITUTION for the price asked for it. Let each one heed this call.

THE extra supply of the "Christmas Number" is exhausted. Do not send any more orders.

"THE gospel invites men and women to become landholders and gives them an inalienable right to the soil, and by obedience thereto will qualify them to possess it for ever in the age to come." •

THE true believer goes with an unprejudiced mind, truly, humble, honestly, desirous of knowing what is true. No matter who lives or dies, who go up or goes down, what is truth must be and ever is, the supreme inquiry of honest and teachable spirits." •

"THE Humor of the Bible" was the subject of a lecture delivered from one of the city pulpits on Sunday Jan. 5. The speaker said, according to the morning paper report. "That the Bible had a humorous as well as a serious and sacred side. It may not be humorous from a modernized American standpoint, but from a Jewish stand point. "Among the things pointed out as bits of Jewish humor were the story of Adam and Eve, the story of Jonah and the whale, and the story of Samson. The story of Samson was compared with "Jack of the bean stock," and "Hop O my thumb," and it was said "he had his prototype in the giants mentioned in those tales." Thak God the day is not far distant when then wolves in sheep's clothing,—these gospel nullifiers, —these blind leaders,—these enemies of God, and truth, and righteousness and faith and obedience, will, as long ago predicted, lick the dust. Ps. lxxii. 9. •

DURING the past month a shipment of oranges was received in Chicago from Joppa, Palestine. They were sound and said to be very fine, and brought a high price. "Westward Ho! the star of the empire goes," says a cotemporary, has been the cry for many years; but the star of the empire will soon sparkle in the eastern sky, and then the universal cry will be Eastward Ho! This will be when the Jews, their land and affairs will be very different from what they now are. Then the memory of the babe in Bethlehem will be dimmed by the appearance of the glorious King in Salem, whose mercy, justice and peace shall command the the respect and love of the world and awaken a real and pure pairiotism in every heart. "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem, they shall prosper that love thee. Peace be within thy walls and prosperity within thy palaces." Oh why should we not thus pray, since the realization of those beautiful words will be a glorious land and a happy people, where now the loving mother and tender babe are dashed to death by [illegible] fools." •

A letter from Jerusalem to the "Advocate" dated Nov. 22, 1895, says the Druses are in rebellion in Syria, and are killing the Moslems every day; the Pasha has requested all English and American to remain in their houses until the soldiers are gone. The poor Jews are in much trouble, as all business is at a stand still, and many may starve with the coming winter,—the whole empire (Lur Rish) is in a state of anarchy. We are in perilous times, and no one can learn the truth of the situation." We are waiting and watching with much interest to see what the next move upon the political chess-board will be. As time goes on it becomes more and more apparent that there is no harmony between the great powers, and their suspicions of each other make it extremely dangerous for any one power to take independent action, and so the butcheries go on. But there is one thing certain. England is rapidly becoming, from one cause and another, the isolated nation we have long expected her to be in the last days. It is easily seen that Russia and France would glory in seeing England's attention drawn off to south Africa or South America or any other place so that they could settle the Eastern Question to suit themselves. •

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 4.

In resuming our reply we first refer to the proof offered that our ignorance of the difference between the gospel before and after Pentecost is inexcusable, because that before Pentecost, the disciples were forbidden to preach that Jesus was Christ, Matt. xvi. 20, 17, 9, and therefore, "whoever keeps that truth back does not reach the gospel of Christ.

We assure the Oracle man we have no desire to suppress that fact or any other fact—want all the facts brought out, and especially the facts

1. That Jesus was Christ, before the crucifixtion although the disciples were forbidden to preach that he was. Proof, John iv. 25, 26. "The woman saith unto him, I know that Messias cometh, which is called Christ, when he is come, he will tell us all things." "Jesus saith unto her, I that speak unto thee am he;" and

2. That he was spoken of as the Christ, by the people, as is proven by John vii. 27, 27. "Do the rulers know indeed, that this is the very Christ? that is, seeing they allow him to speak boldly without molestation, and

3. That the ruling Jews knew that he was considered to be the Christ. Proof, John ix. 22. "For the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue;" and

4. That he clearly proclaimed himself as the Christ at the very outset of his public ministry by quoting Isaiah lxi. 1, in the synagogue at Nazareth, and declaring he was the person the prophet spake of; and

5. That the angel of the Lord announced to the shepherds the birth of a Savior, which is Christ the Lord; and

6. That it was revealed to the just and devout Simeon by the holy spirit that he should not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ." and he saw him and was ready to die; Luke ii. 26, 30; and the same is recorded of Anna the prophet ; and

7. That one of John's disciples said to his brother Simon Peter soon after Jesus' baptism, "We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, the Christ," and the day following Nathaniel said "Thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Israel." John i. 45, 48, and

8. That wise men from the east enquired "Where is he that is born King of the Jews?" Matt. ii. 2. The fact that he was to be King of the Jews as was announced by Gabriel to Mary before his birth, is proof that "King of Israel" in Nathaniel's confession is synonymous with the phrase "King of the Jews," and not as asserted by the Oracle people that he is now reigning over spiritual Israel; and

9. That Jesus himself confessed before Pilate that he was born to be a King, and it requires but little intelligence to discern that it was because he was a King de jure that he was annointed to that office, and that made him a Christ; and

10. That he was not born a Christ, although born to be a King. Jesus was born, and sometime after he was born God annointed him with the Holy Spirit and with power, and

11. That after anointing he was the Christ, and being the Christ and having the power, he went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil, —for God was with him." Acts. x. 38; and 42th., That this anointing with Holy Spirit and power took place at his baptism, Luke iii. 21, 22, Mark i. 10. Matt iii. 16; proving that Jesus became the Christ at that time; and

13. That after his temptation, which immediately followed his baptism, he returned in the power of the spirit to Galilee, where at Cana he attended a marriage feast, and the hitherto 30 year old and comparatively private unknown man performed his first miracle, and his disciples believed on him.

The Oracle man accuses us of keeping back the one truth, that Jesus forbade his disciples to preach that he was the Christ. Most abundantly have we proven that he was the Christ although they were not allowed to preach it. And we ask him if those who keep back the above 13 truths preach the gospel of Christ?

And we want to know what his assertion of the coronation in heaven stands upon when all through his public ministry he was by his own assertion the Christ, and was doing the work which he had been anointed to do at his first advent.

Is it not about time he laid aside Alexander Campbell's "coronation sermon" and studied out the truth as it is in Jesus for himself?

If he would do that he would hardly make such an egregious blunder as to talk about Jesus being owned as Christ. Will he allow us to inform him that Messiah in Hebrew and Christos in Greek, is expressed in English by the word Anointed. And that his anointing made him heir apparent to a crown. Evidently there is a kink in his theory or else he would never have an heir to a throne crowned as an heir. What would he think if he heard that the Prince Wales had been crowned as an heir? If he were crowned would he not be a king? rather than an heir?

This matter is easily seen through. There is no Scripture which says Jesus has been coronated,—no Scripture except a home-made article, which says he is now a king, and so the word Christ is made to answer the purpose of the word king to suit his theory.

But if he is determined to make the official title "Christ" stand in place of King, why then, on his own hypothesis, his Kingdom was set up at his baptism, and he is at sea without rudder or chart to steer by.

We would remind him that the throne of his father David was promised him. Luke. i. 30, 32. But his own word for it, he is not seated upon it, but upon God his Father's throne. Rev iii. 12. His own throne, he is still an heir to, and all true believers are joint heirs with him. Rom. viii. 17.

The throne he calls "my throne" is the throne he offers over-comers, —not his Father's. And the Oracle man can see in Matt. xxv. 34, where it will be, and when he will invite them to be joint-possessors of what they are joint-heirs to. And if he will bear in mind that God his Father has appointed him HEIR OF ALL THINGS, Heb. i. 2, and that he is expecting or waiting for his enemies in the dominion promised him to be made his footstool, it will help him if he is not past help. •

(To be Continued.)

Selected.

Threatened War Between Old Friends.

Should war break out between Great Britain and Germany over the seemingly insignificant issue of the rights of Uitlanders in the Transvaal Republic it would be deplorable from one point of view at least. It would be a war between two nations who have been friends almost from time immemorial. From the days of Martin Luther and Henry VIII. until now whenever England and Germany have been at war at the same time they have been allies. At no time have their troops been arrayed with arms in their hands against each other. They are substantially of the same blood. The Anglo-Saxons of England and Scotland, in the Lowlands of the latter, are cousins by blood. They emigrated into Great Britain out of Holland and Holstein and the low countries about the mouth of the Elbe, some from Northern Belgium and around Bremen, Hamburg, and Lubeck, and some from Denmark. They crossed the North Sea and, collecting in England, drove back the native Kelts into Wales and the Highlands of Scotland. They occupied four-fifths of the east side of the island. They are just as German in blood as the Germans. They are both Teutons—a hard, stout, grasping, fighting race and greedy for land ownership. Were the Germans in as good position and insular by location they would grab land as eagerly as the English. To the extent of their restricted ability they have already done so. They have recently divided islands in the South Seas and millions of square miles of territory in Africa. They have reached out for territory wherever they could grasp it and they have grabbed according to their restricted ability. Should these two great nations be drawn into a war it would be for the first time since the days of Luther. It would not be a delectable spectacle in these days of alleged progress, peace and Christianity. If such a war should come and the other powers should keep their hands off Germany would be the heaviest sufferer. If, on the other hand, the young Emperor of Germany has Russia and France behind him no one can foretell the result of a struggle which might necessitate changes in the maps of Europe, Asia and Africa.—Tribune.

A Moslem Prayer.

At the Mosque of Azhar in Cario there is a missionary university where between six and eight thousand Mohammedan students are assembled for the purpose of receiving the necessary training preliminary to teaching the Moslem faith in Asia and Africa. As a part of their training these students offer the following prayer each evening:

"O Lord of all creatures! O Allah! destroy the infidels and the polytheists, thine enemies, the enemies of thy religion. O Allah! make their children orphans and defile their bodies. Cause their feet to slip, give them and their families, their household and their women, their children and their relations by marriage, their brothers and their friends, their possessions and their race, their wealth and their lands as booty to the Moslems, O Lord of all creatures."

This savage invocation, which is in such marked contrast to the spirit of universal brotherhood which characterizes the Christian prayer, suggests two considerations. First, that the basis of the Moslem faith is the same now as when Mohammed spread abroad his doctrines with fire and sword, and that hatred of all unbelievers is its principal and inflexible attribute; and, second, that the horrible massacres in Armenia are inspired by the savage spirit which dominates this prayer. Considering the bloody doctrines imbued by these thousands of students and emphasized by daily invocations to Allah, it is not remarkable that the brutish and half-savage followers of these Moslem priests carry out their instructions to the very letter, destroy the so-called "infidels and polytheists," make their children orphans, and strip them of their possessions as booty for their Moslem masters.—Tribune.

Pictures taken through Flesh.

Scientists are greatly interested in the reports of the experiments at Wurzburg, repeated at Buda-Peath, by which a positive picture is obtained by the agency of Crooke's tube through barriers of wood, cloth, and flesh, and whole rows of books, bones, and metals alone remain opaque. But even of the latter aluminum is now discovered to form an exception.

Prof. Thompson calls it a registration of shadows rather than a photograph, and it is curious that it can only be done without a lens. Photographers see no point in it for them, but its use in obtaining the minutiæ of a skeleton through any amount of flesh and muscle promises to effect a revolution in surgery and medicine.

Original.

Infidelity in the Pulpit.

It is no uncommon thing these days for infidelity to masquerade under a clerical garb, and to force itself upon our attention from the pulpit.

The Rochester, N. Y. clergyman who a few Sundays ago "gave expression to some pointed remarks" on the history of man's creation and fall, is not a rare exception in the business of aiding the devil in falsifying God's word. What he says may be taken as a sample to show the length to which the higher criticism has pushed its destructive method of interpretation. The Rochester preacher shocks the ears of his audience by saying: "The story of Eden, if interpreted literally, is not only utterly useless, but it becomes supremely ridiculous, morally involved, unchristian and unjust." Here is a statement, though aimed at the historical reality of Moses' account of the temptation and fall of the first pair, involves the whole question of Bible history from beginning to end; the statement followed out to its logical conclusion would land the Rev. gentleman high and dry on the barren and blasted shore of avowed infidelity. He belongs to a class of ministers that do not wish to be considered infidel. These men pose as preachers of the gospel(?) and profess to have at heart a burning desire for the salvation of men. By education and ordination, and church ritual they are set apart to a holy office, to handle sacred themes, and do sacred things. All this will not save them from the charge of handling the Word of God deceitfully(2 Cor. iv. 2.) of preaching or teaching for doctrines the commandments of men; (Matt. xv. 9.) of corrupting the word of God; (2 Cor. ii. 17.) of speaking lies in hypocrisy; (1 Tim. iv. 2.) and of preaching another, or a perverted gospel. Gal. i. 7.

Speaking of the literal interpretation he further says: "No wonder it (the Edenic narrative) has been made a fit subject for burlesque."

Out and out infidels find a great deal in the Old Book to burlesque; and about which to make a display of their wit, and get paid for it at the rate of $500 a night—more or less. These infidels in holy vestments may not get so much for turning facts into fiction but are, undoubtedly fairly well paid; which means there is infidelity in the pew as well as in the pulpit. The Ingersols find plenty of company with respectability and broadcloth, and high sounding titles. Infidels may not think these clerical apologists as honest as themselves, but what is lacking in this respect is more than made up by the popularity gained over to the heretofore unpopular side.

"Dealing hanging on the bite of an apple." Apologists and infidels are very apt to say apple instead of "The tree of the knowledge of good and evil." The destiny involved in eating the forbidden fruit was not eternal torture but consignment to dust from whence man was taken. In wisdom and mercy he was barred from the tree of life. Immortality was not an attribute of his being denied access to the only source of perpetuating life beyond the period to which his stock of vitality would carry him he must in consequence die. It was no part of God's original purpose to immortalize sin. Sin is only incidental and temporary. God's ulterior purpose is to have none of it in the wide universe, but righteousness has the divine promise in its favor of endless years. In the very act of sentencing Adam and Eve, God spake a word of hope and restoration through, "the seed of the woman." And while every one of the children of the primal pair down to the present generation has been involved in the consequences of the Edenic transgression no tree of life having been provided for them, this does not fix unconditionally, their final destiny. The offer of eternal life and happiness to the human race through God's anointed Son is a part of the beneficent scheme of redemption. This fact, out-weighs, infidelity, an evil condition, an inheritance brain of weakness and sorrow, and ending in death. All this, dreadful as it appears, viewed from a merely human stand point, is temporary, and imposed in mercy and wisdom. Whatever portion of mankind shall finally and irrecoverably be lost, the fact of the failure must be ascribed to man's abuse of his freedom in making the choice between good and evil. To ancient Israel God said "I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life." Deut. xxx. 19. In this passage man's freedom and power of choice are clearly set forth; and while the primary application is to Israel as a nation and in view of temporal life and good, blessing and prosperity, the same principle holds true in the matter of individual salvation. It is plain to every one not blinded by Calvinism, that it is in recognition of man's freedom of will that the gospel is addressed to him, and that he is held responsible for its acceptance or rejection.

"Knowledge forbidden to God's children." This conclusion from the premises in question, is silly, to say the least and places this Rochester preacher before us as a fit subject to ridicule and burlesque. The prohibition of the one tree with its peculiar properties was not on the ground that the eating of its fruit would impart general knowledge and intelligence, and that God wished to keep Adam and Eve in childish ignorance, but on the ground that eating the fruit of this tree would lead to or cause them to come to a conscious distinction of good and evil. "The good" says Delitzsch "is obedience with its good; the bad is disobedience with all its evil consequences." The moral contrast may be the main thing and physical evil grows or flows out of the moral evil. Taking this view of the case the knowledge gained by this act of disobedience was at a fearful cost. To know good and evil in contrast was the painful experience in the lives of our primal ancestors, and the bitter inheritance of their descendants down to the present day. We deem all forms of sin today then why as some theologians do, regard Adams transgression as very useful, and under the heading of "The Blessing of evil" write long dissertations to show what a blessed thing sin is in general and Adam's sin in particular. Hilarius said, "Not to know good and evil, is the sign of infantile childishness or senile obtuseness; the conscious free choice of one or the other indicates the most mature period of life."

If this is so, the worst sinners are the most mature; a kind of maturity or manhood none of us would wish to attain to. "The Gnostic Ophites held that only through the eating of this tree was man enabled to attain to his conscious free developement, "An Hegel"—That sin is a necessary transition-point to good." The fact that our Savior, who knew no sin, reached the highest point of moral excellence and goodness, utterly refutes these human opinions.

In this overt act of disobedience Adam exercised his freedom of will just as his descendants do today in the commission of all the sins and crimes in the long list of human transgressions. He was not impelled thereto by some overpowering force against which it was useless to offer resistance. It was on the ground of his power of choice that man was sentenced. The probation tree was hedged about by a divine prohibition, and a warning given in love by the highest authority in the universe. The motive to loyalty was amply sufficient. Here is where and when sin entered our world—and death by sin. Those who deny the historical value of Moses' account of man's fall have a very perplexing problem on hand.

JOHN L. WINCE.

"Dwell Together in Unity."

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. It is like the precious ointment upon the head, that ran down the beard, * * * for the Lord commanded the blessing, even life for evermore." I have read all the letters in our dear paper as far as is published, and I can see all the dear ones, talk the same way, all have been to the same school, learning from the same Book, and that is God's Book the dear Bible. Years ago when I was a member of one of the popular churches, we were called upon to tell our prospects of going to Heaven, and if we could say our prospects for heaven and immortal glory, was bright, then we were encouraged to go on in the service of the Lord, and we soon would all land safe in heaven, but now all of the dear ones that write in our paper talk of the coming of the dear Lord, to reward them in the earth made new. Oh what a difference there is between truth and error. Many of those dear ones that have written are young in the cause, and yet they talk Bible. Thank God we have a faith that is founded on "thus saith the Lord." We have all the same like precious faith. We are looking for that blessed hope, that Paul talks of, the appearing of the glory of God and our Lord Jesus Christ, coming to change our vile bodies and fashion them like unto his glorious body. That was Paul's, Peter's, Jame's, and all the faithful ones faith then, it is the Christian faith now, it is the faith once delivered to the saints, it will be the faith till Jesus comes, it is the old paths that Jeremiah spoke of, it is the way. Oh let us all walk therein. The dear Lord will soon come, let us all be ready.

J. S. HATCH.

REPORT.

Dear Restitution:

If you will be so kind as to allow me space in your columns, I will write a few lines as to what we are doing out here in South Frontier County, Nebraska. Our Evangelist Eddie A. Adams began a series of meetings at the Rathbun school house on Friday evening Dec. 13th, and held over three Sundays. Preaching nineteen discourse, which were ably handled. Surely he is a workman who needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of truth, and showing the beauties of the coming time in all its simplicity. We held some Bible readings through the day from house to house which created a good interest in the work. Although we had some opposition to the truth, yet we had good interest and good attendance throughout the meeting. There were five persons made the good confession on the side of truth, and put on Christ by baptism, who also arose to walk in newness of life in the narrow way to the kingdom. We trust they each may prove worthy of an abundant entrance therein. There were others almost persuaded who we would yet like to see step out on the Lord's side. The entire meeting was one of interest and good feeling, and harmony among the brethren and sisters. All feel encouraged to press on toward the mark for the prize of the high calling in Christ Jesus. Therefore, brothers and sisters, as we see the beauties and glory before us let us not be weary in well doing, for we shall reap if we faint not. But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light. Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims abstain from fleshly lusts which war against the soul, having your conversation honest among the Gentiles that whereas they speak against you as evil-doers, that they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels. May we all be able to stand in that day and realize things which we now hope for.

Yours in hope of the soon coming King.

MRS. W. A. MOORE.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	22.70
Mrs. Wm. Hadricke	1.50
Mrs. R. H. Cobbs	3.50
J. H. Koontz	1.50
J. M. Rohrer	1.00
Peter Stahl	.50
Geo. M. Siple	2.50
Peter Jaffrey	1.50
S. B. Baker	1.50
E. F. Gesin	3.50

Poetry.

Deeds, Not Words.

"Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the thing I say?"

Not forever on thy knees
Would Jehovah have thee found;
There are burdens thou must ease,
There are griefs Jehovah sees;
Look around.

Work is prayer if done for God,
Prayer which God delighted hears;
See beside you upturned sod;
One bowed 'neath affliction's rod:
Dry her tears.

Not long prayers, but earnest zeal
That is what is wanted more.
Put the shoulder to the wheel;
Bread unto the famished deal
From thy store.

Not high sounding words of praise
Does God want 'neath stone grand dome;
But that you the fallen raise,
Bring the poor from life's highways
To thy home.

Worship God by doing good.
Works, not words, kind acts and deeds;
He who loves God as he should,
Makes his heart's love understood
By kind deeds.

Deeds are powerful, words are weak,
Battering at high Heaven's door;
Let thy love by actions speak;
Wipe the tear from sorrow's cheek;
Clothe the poor.

Be it thine life's cares to smother,
And to brighten eyes now dim
Kind deeds show to one another
God accepts as done, my brother,
Unto Him.

Original.

PSALM. 139.

(140 COM. VER.)

1. Unto the end; David's psalm.

2. Deliver me, O Lord, from a wicked man; from an unjust man rescue me;

3. Men who have reasoned unjust things in my heart, who all day long have been devising wars;

4. They have whitted their tongue like a serpent's as it were; a poison of asps is beneath their lips. Interlude.

5. Watch to guard me, O Lord, from the hand of an obdurate-sinner, from unjust men deliver me, who have thought to trip my steps.

6. Haughty ones have hidden a snare for me, and stretched out lines as snares for my feet; have placed things as a stumbling-block to hold my path.

7. I have said unto the Lord, my God art thou; Regard, O Lord, the voice of my supplication;

8. O Lord, O Lord, thou ability of my salvation overshadow my head in a day of wars.

9. Deliver me not up to an obdurate-sinner, O Lord by reason of my inordinate desire; They have reasoned against me; Forsake me not, lest perchance they become uplifted. Interlude.

10. Thou Head of their environment, the toil of their lips will cover them.

11. Coals of fire will fall upon them on the earth, and thou wilt cast them down in wretchedness, they will not withstand.

12. A chattering man will not have been restored to uprightness upon the earth; calamities will hunt an unjust man unto destruction.

13. I know that the Lord will judge the beggar and enact the right of the needy ones;

14. Moreover justified ones will confess unto thy name; the upright will dwell along with thy face.

PSALM 140 (141 COM. VER.)

1. David's psalm. O Lord I have cried unto thee; Mayest thou have heard me; attend unto the voice of my supplication, when I have cried unto thee.

2. May my votive-prayer have been accounted upright like an incense offering as it were in thy sight, the uplifting of my hands an evening sacrifice.

3. Place a guard over my mouth, O Lord, and a door of environment about my lips.

4. Do not allow my heart to incline out unto wicked words, to make pretenses in acts of sin, along with men engaged in the transgression, and I shall not be leagured with their elect ones.

5. A justified one will chasten me and reprove me in mercy and let not the olive-oil of an obdurate-sinner anoint my head; Because still even my votive-prayer is in the midst of things satisfactory to them,

6. Their controlling ones have been submerged nigh to a rock; They will listen to my oracular words because they have become disabled.

7. As though the earth's thickness had been rent asunder upon the earth, have our bones been scattered beside hades.

8. Because unto thee, O Lord, O Lord, are my eyes; In thee have I hoped; do not in return take away my soul.

9. Watch to guard me from the snare which they have set for me and from the stumbling-blocks of those who are engaged in the transgression.

10. Obdurate-sinners will fall into their own net; By myself alone am I until I shall have passed by.

PSALM 141 (142 COM. VER.)

1. David's votive-prayer for understanding when he was in the cave.

3. With my voice have I cried unto the Lord; with my voice have I beseought the Lord.

3. I will pour out my behest before him; my tribulation will I declare in his sight.

4. When my spirit is departing from me, even thou knowest my paths; In this way in which I was going have they hid a snare for me.

5. I was contemplating and looking to the right-hand, because there was no one who recognized me; Flight was lost to me; and there is no one who seeketh out my soul.

6. Unto thee, O Lord, have I cried, and said, Thou art my hope, my portion in a land of the living.

7. Give heed unto my prayer, because I have been humbled exceedingly; Deliver me from those who are pursuing after me, because they have received controlling-power above me.

8. Lead my soul out of a prison, that I may confess unto thy name, O Lord: Justified ones will wait for me until thou shalt have requited me.

PSALM 142 (143 COM. VER.)

1. David's psalm, when his son was pursuing after him. O Lord, hear my votive-prayer; Mark my supplication in thy truth; hearken unto it in thy righteousness.

2. And mayest thou not have entered into judicial-trial with thy bond-servant, because no one living will have been justified in thy sight:

3. Because the enemy hath pursued after my soul; He hath humbled my life to the earth; He hath seated me in dark places, like the dead of an age as it were,

4. And my spirit hath become discouraged in respect to me; in me my heart hath become terrified.

5. I have called to mind days of a beginning, and I have meditated in works of thy hands; my soul is as it were an earth thirsting for thee. Interlude.

7. Mayest thou have heard me speedily. My spirit hath failed: Do not turn away thy face from me, and I shall have become like to those who go down into a pit.

8. Cause thy mercy to be heard by me in the morning, because in thee have I hoped: Make me to know the way in which I shall go, O Lord, because unto thee have I lifted up my soul.

9. Deliver me from my enemies, O Lord, because unto thee have I fled for refuge.

10. Teach me to do thy will, because thou art my God; Thy good spirit will guide me in the way that is upright.

11. For thy name's sake will thou make me to live, O Lord; In thy righteousness will thou lead my soul out of tribulation.

12. And in thy mercy wilt thou destroy my enemies, and bring loss to all those who are troubling my soul, because I am thy bond-servant.

PSALM 143 (144 COM. VER.)

1. David's psalm in relation to Goliad. The Lord my God be commended, who teacheth my hands to war, my fingers to do battle.

2. My mercy and my refuge art thou, my intervening-helper and my deliverer, my protector; and in thee have I hoped, thou who dost array my laity subject to me.

3. O Lord, what is man that thou hast recognized him, or a son of man that thou dost account him?

4. Man hath been likened to inutility; his days pass by like a shadow as it were.

5. O Lord, incline thy heavens and come down; Touch the mountains and they will have smoked.

6. Lighten and thou wilt scatter them; send forth thy bolts and thou wilt confound them:

7. Send forth thy hand from on high and take me out and deliver me from many waters; from the hand of alien sons;

8. Whose mouth hath talked inutility and whose right hand is a right hand of iniquity.

9. O God, I shall sing a new ode, with ten-stringed psaltry shall I exalt the strain unto thee,

10. Unto him who giveth the salvation to the kings; Unto him who redeemeth David his bond-servant from a wicked sword.

11. Mayest thou have delivered me and taken me out of the hands of alien sons, whose mouth hath talked inutility and whose right-hand is a right-hand of iniquity;

12. Whose sons are as it were newly-planted shoots becoming established in their youth, whose daughters have grown beautiful, adorned like an image of an inner-sanctuary; (or a temple niche).

13. Their inner-chambers filled with things emptied from this place into that; Their sheep with much progeny multiplied in their ways out;

14. Their cattle fat; There is no breaking down of hedge nor way through or out, nor clamor in their farm-yards.

15. They have accounted blessed-happy the laity whose things these are; Blessed-happy the laity whose Lord is his God.

PSALM 144 (145 COM. VER.)

1. David's praise. I shall exalt thee, O my God, my King; and I shall commend thy name for the animate-age and for the animate-age of the animate-age.

2. Day by day each day shall I commend thee, and praise thy name for the animate-age and for the animate-age of the animate-age.

3. Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised, and of his majesty there is no end.

4. Generation and generation will praise thy works, and thy ability will they declare.

5. And of the majesty of the glory of thy sanctity will they talk, and of thy wonders will they discourse.

6. And of the ability of thy fearful acts will they speak and of thy majesty will they discourse,

7. The remembrance of the plenitude of thy useful-goodness will they search out, and in thy righteousness will they be glad.

8. The pitiful and merciful Lord art thou, forbearing and full of mercy.

9. A useful-good Lord is he for all those who wait for him, and his feelings of pity are over all his works.

10. May all thy works have been confessed unto thee, O Lord, and may thy holy ones have commanded thee.

11. Of the glory of thy kingdom will they speak and of thy ability to rule will they talk,

12. To make known unto the sons of men thy ability to rule, and the glory of the majesty of thy kingdom.

13. Thy kingdom is a kingdom of all the animate-ages and thy sole sway unto every generation and generation.

14. Faithful is the Lord in all his words and holy in all his works: The Lord stayeth up all those who are falling down, and he restoreth to uprightness all those who have been cast down,

15. The eyes of all hope in thee, and thou art the One who giveth their sustenance in due-season.

16. Thou openest thy hands and every living creature dost thou fill with satisfaction.

17. Just is the Lord in all his ways and holy in all his works.

18. The Lord is nigh unto all those who invoke him in truth.

19. The will of those who fear him will he do (lit. cause) and to their entreaty will he hearken and save them.

20. The Lord watcheth to guard all those who love him and all the obdurate-sinners will he destroy.

21. My mouth will speak the Lord's praise, and may all flesh commend his sacred name for the animate-age and the animate-age of the animate-age.

PSALM 145 (146 COM. VER.)

1. An alleluia of Aggaios and Zacharias. Praise the Lord, O my soul!

2. I will praise the Lord in my life-time; I will exalt the strain while I exist.

3. May ye not have trusted in rulers and sons of men in whom there is no salvation.

4. His breath (or spirit,) will go out and he will return to his earth on the day when all their thoughts perish.

5. Blessed-happy he whose responsive-helper is the God of Jacob, whose hope is in the Lord his God,

6. The God who created the heavens and the earth, the sea and all the things in them; Who watcheth to guard truth forever;

7. Who judgeth for those who are being unjustly treated; who giveth sustenance to the hungry. The Lord looseth those who have been bound hand and foot.

8. The Lord maketh blind one wise: The Lord restoreth to uprightness those who have been cast down. The Lord loveth justified ones;

9. The Lord watcheth to guard the proselytes; orphan and widow will he take up; and a way for obdurate sinners will he cause to disappear.

10. The Lord will rule as King forever, thy God, O Sion, unto generation and generation.

COMMENT.

The 139th psalm, being a 9 significant in a general way something consummated or fulfilled, and the most casual reading of the psalm will verify this. The opening prayer of the psalmist is to be delivered from the consummate wickedness of man; from man's injustice and the snares, pitfalls, stumbling-blocks and hindrances to a life of righteousness. It is the despairing cry of the merely human to contend single-handed with the wiles of the adversary, ending with t. · plea of the 8th and 9th verses followed by the "interlude." Then beginning with the tenth verse begins "the full assurance of faith" running through the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th verses to the close of the psalm, a consummate expression of "the hope of Israel." When analyzed the numerical import of every verse is as true when they are considered as factors as is the whole psalm when considered as an integer; but there is not time nor space to go into this now.

The 140th psalm according to its number is conjunctive being a 10 and significant of judgment as it is also a 4. The 5th verse gives us the psalmist's idea of how the judgment will be "tempered with mercy" though, as it will be the judgment of "the justified one" or the one who has experienced judgment and learned mercy in his own experience, and not the judment of "the obdurate-sinner," whose mercy even is cruelty. We have a picture in the psalm of this transition from the rule and the oppression of the wicked over into the rule and righteous sway of the justified—of course a picture drawn "in faith." The 10th and last verse depicts the solitary condition of the walk by or in faith until the "realization" of the saints according to God's covenant promises and "the sure mercies of David."

The 141st psalm is the 1st step in faith for the saint to take who has realized the signification of the pictured vision of the preceding psalm namely—"the votive-prayer unto the Lord" for understanding, the understanding requisite to meet all the exigencies that arise from day to day in this walk by faith. The 8th verse fully brings out the Messianic import of the psalm as you would naturally expect from the number. "Will wait for me" can point to only one person. Can it in any true Christian theology?

The 142nd psalm is the true 2nd step namely, the plea for mercy, which the extent of the humiliation and failure of all human effort brings the supplinnt saint unto; David's experience, remember is a typical experience, and we learn in the 4th verse that there is even a spiritual discouragement. We all of us reach the point and depth of humiliation where we no longer want judgment, but mercy. Then we can say, as in the 10th verse, "Teach me to do thy will"—"Thy good spirit will guide me in the way that is upright." And if there is any destruction of enemies the herding with the ... ship of Aggaios (Haggai Co... Ver.) and Zacharias—and is ... special value in what it unequiv... cally teaches of the intermedia... state and of the issues of life as w... as of who and what the God of Isra... is in his character of Creator a... Potentate. The minor key an ... proprinte key too when you rec... to mind the fact that these prope... were sharing the captivity of the... people.

CHAS. GARDNER.

Who are Led by the Spirit

"For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.... And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified together." Rom. viii. 14, 17.

This leading is essential to s... vation, for the heirship depends ... being children of God, and bei... his children or sons depends ... being led by the Spirit. The ... traordinary leadings of the Spi... were by immediate inspiratio... making men prophets and apostl... and were frequently evidenced ... miracles. But the ordinary le... ings are such as now occur in t... enlightenment and conversion ... men. On this great and import... subject, observe

1. This leading is done by ... instrumentality of the Word ... God; written by holy men of ... "as they were moved by the H... Spirit." 2 Pet. i. 21. If to hear ... written Word of Moses and ... prophets is the same as to "h... them," surely to be led by the w... ten Word of the Spirit is the sa... as to be led by the Spirit. Lu. ... 29. In converting and leadi... men the Spirit of God is ever p... sent with his written Word—... Holy Scripture. "Where the w... of a king is, there is power." Ec... viii. 4.

The Spirit in the written Word,
Supplies us with a sure record,
To guide our erring steps aright,
And lead from darkness into light.

When a lawyer inquired, "M... ter, what shall I do to inh... eternal life?" the Master did ... answer, "What say thy feelin... and thy inward light?" but, "W... is written in the law? how rea... thou?" And when the law... quoted the summary of duty fr... Deut. vi. 5, the Master add... "This do, and thou shalt live." ... x. 25-28. Since then the N... Testament Scriptures have b... added to the Old; enabling us w... still clearer light to read what ... must do to inherit eternal life. ... proving to Sadducees a coming ... urrection, our Lord said, "Have ... not read that which was spo... unto you by God, saying, I am ... God of Abraham, and the God ... Isaac, and the God of Jaco... This quotation from Ex. iii. 6, ... was written about 1500 years ... fore those Sadducees were b... and it shows the delightful t... that GOD speaks in the Bible, ... speaks "to you." How greatly

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

"Be ye therefore ready also; for the Son of Man cometh at an hour when ye think not." Luke xii. 40.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$46.70

COVENIENT AS CASH.—

Mileage Tickets Issued by the Pennsylvania Lines.

Persons who travel will find mileage tickets issued by the Pennsylvania Lines west of Pittsburgh great conveniences, as well as money savers. Principal cities and towns in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are reached by these lines, which also extend to Pittsburgh, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Wheeling and other important places. Over one-half the counties in Ohio are traversed by the Pennsylvania Lines, the county seats of nearly all of them being located thereon. They also traverse forty counties of Indiana, touching at county seats. Holders of mileage tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines can conveniently reach any leading city or town between Pittsburgh on the east, the Mississippi River on the west, the Great Lakes on the north, and the Ohio River on the south, these tickets being available over the several trunk lines of the Fort Wayne and Pan Handle Routes, as well as over the numerous branches. The cost of a 1000 mile ticket is $20.00, a rate of two cents per mile making the saving on a 100 mile ride $1.00, with proportionate larger amounts saved on longer distances. This convenient money-saver may be obtained at ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Lines. The person to see at Plymouth, Ind., for information about it is J. E. HANES, Agent.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom. Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 288 pages, 6th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy: leather gilt $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts per dozen, 75 cts. per hundred.

All the above for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by, Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 60,000 Baptists, in 1866. 3. Immateriality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Misused Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10. Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 9, 10 cts.

YOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 10c; 20 for 15c; 30 for 20c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two uses of these terms, to-wit, a Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the main points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 13 for 50c. 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical Historians. 64 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 29, 1879, by Jos. Lacier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 2 for 20c. or 15 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 140 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 775 pages, price $1.60

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the canonals; including a brief harmonistic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 100 pages, price 50 cts. or four for $1. postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 176 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 50 cents; 12 for $1.50; 30 for $3.60. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 146 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper-covers, and sells for 15 cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silus Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Circleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
H. T. Baker, Decorah, Iowa.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.

THE SPECIAL EVANGELIST FUND.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published,	$281.78
Mrs. M. L. Cherry	3.00

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 836 Wood and A. e., Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. O. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God meet for worsh and searching the Scriptures every Sunda at 3 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1845 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsay Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 301 Huntingdon Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Van Buren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. les east thereof.

The Church of God in Frontier Co., Neb., meets in the new frame Church. We have Union Sunday School every Sunday, and communion once a month as we have no regular preaching. Jason Walton Elder; Sarah Selleck Clerk.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Keefe, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 4:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Siple, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Elmira Groat. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Steele. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Rennwe Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 854 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitesitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 A. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria E. Trandell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Custer Grove every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, Mc Bride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Bro L. G. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money lost in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 384, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'gh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 15 Pullman Vestibule Sleeping and Dining Cars on 4, 6 and 8.

Westward.	9	15	29	5	7	—
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsburgh, lv	7 00	4 00		7 10
Allegheny, arr	9 10	6 00		9 10
Carlton, "	10 22	7 00		10 22
Massillon, "	10 53	7 31		10 53
Wooster, "	11 30	8 00		11 30
Mansfield, "	12 15	8 40		12 15
Crestline, "	1 05	9 25		1 05
Fort Wayne, arr	3 50	11 40	6 20	3 55	3 45
Ft. Wayne, lv	4 00	11 50	6 30	4 00	PM
Van Wert, "	5 14	1 15	7 50	5 20	1
Delphos, "	5 37	1 37	8 13	5 43	1
Lima, "	6 05	2 05	8 40	6 10	2
Kenton, "	6 55	2 55	9 30	7 00	2
Upper Sandusky, "	7 25	3 25	10 00	7 30	3
Arcola, "				7 55
Columbia City, "	4 59	4 05		7 42
Larwill, "				7 51
Pierceton, "				8 05
Eagle Lake, "				8 14
Warsaw, "	5 31	4 42		8 24
Etna Green, "				8 32
Bourbon, "				8 42
Hibbard, "				8 50
Plymouth, "	5 53	5 20		9 06
Grovertown, "				9 21
Hamlet, "				9 31
Bass, "				9 41
Union, "				9 49		49
Wanatah, "				9 59		58
Valparaiso, "	6 39	6 12	7 51	10 09		8 08
Wheeler, "	7 11	6 39	8 19	10 37	8 34	7 20
Hobart, "				10 53		7 32
Liverpool, "				11 03		7 43
Clarke, "				11 09		8 00
Chicago, arr.	9 00	8 07	9 55	12 15	9 55	9 40
	PM	AM	PM	PM	PM	AM

Eastward.	30	8	4	6	20	24	—
	AM	PM	PM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago, lv	7 30	2 00	11 30	2 45	11 30	4 40
Clarke, "	8 39		12 35		12 39	5 48
Liverpool, "	8 45		11 19			5 54
Hobart, "	8 51		1 16			6 01
Wheeler, "	9 01		1 23		12 49	6 10
Valparaiso, "	9 20	4 32	1 40	4 08	1 50	7 10
Wanatah, "	9 34		2 03		PM	7 23
Union, "	9 46					7 35
Bass, "	9 56					7 45
Hamlet, "	10 02		2 31			7 51
Grovertown, "	10 10					7 59
Plymouth, "	10 25	5 45	2 53	6 03		8 15
Inwood, "	10 34			6 10		8 24
Bourbon, "	10 41		3 27	6 25		8 31
Etna Green, "	11 12			6 55		9 02
Warsaw, "	11 30	6 26	3 53	7 13		9 20
Eagle Lake, "	11 40			7 23		9 30
Pierceton, "	11 51		4 12	7 35		9 41
Larwill, "	11 58			7 42		9 48
Columbia City, "	12 13	6 56	4 40	8 00		10 03
Arcola, "	12 21			8 06		10 11
Ft Wayne, ar	12 55	7 35	5 23	8 40		10 45
Ft. Wayne, lv	1 15	8 00	5 40	9 00		11 00
Van Wert, "	2 30	9 15	6 56	10 15		12 15
Lima, "	2 58	9 43	7 24	10 43		12 43
Kenton, "	3 46	10 31	8 12	11 31		1 31
Upper Sandusky, ar	4 20	11 05	8 50	12 05		2 05
Mansfield, lv	4 40	11 25	9 10	12 25		2 25
Crestline, "	5 30	12 15	10 00	1 15		3 15
Massillon, "	6 08	12 53	10 38	1 53		3 53
Canton, "	6 30	1 20	11 00	2 20		4 15
Alliance, "	6 40	1 30	11 10	2 30		4 25
Pittsb'gh, ar	8 15	3 05	12 45	4 05		5 50
	AM	AM	PM	PM		PM

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.

11-4-'95 PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent,
Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 22, Passenger, Leaves..... 12 03pm
No. 82, " " 10 47pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Passenger, Leaves..... 9 45am
No. 23, " " 6 40pm
No. 151, Local, " 11 05pm

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Fostoria, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and I. & M. G. Div. for all points north, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on G. R. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address
CHAS. S. DALY,
Gen Pass. Agt.
Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 59, Ex. Sun.... 12:40pm For St. Joseph.
No. 25 " 7:34am " "
No. 54, ex. Sun. ..... 10:05pm for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun..... 8:23am For Terre Haute.
No. 53, " ..... 12:20pm " "
No 57 ex. Sunday 7:27pm " Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. DOWNS, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or
E. A. FORD,
Gen'l, Pass. Agt.,
St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st., and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local Ft
Hayfield				7:00am
Hammond	10:22pm	9:07am		8:05am
Hobart	10:35pm	9:48am		10:10am
Valparaiso	11:16pm	10:37am		11:00am
Bellefontaine		12:51pm		1:25pm
Knox		1:15pm	4:01pm	7:25pm
Argos		1:41pm		8:35pm
Ft Wayne		3:05pm	6:05pm	4:30pm
Cleveland		7:10pm	9:00pm
Buffalo		11:45pm

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:05pm		6:35am	Local F
Cleveland	7:15pm	5:00am	10:35am
Ft Wayne	10:05pm	1:15pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Argos	11:10pm	2:30pm		9:00pm
Knox	11:50pm	3:01pm	8:05pm	10:10am
Bellefontaine		4:19pm		11:45pm
Valparaiso	2:40am	6:48pm		12:45am
Monart	3:37am	5:17pm		1:20pm
Hammond	4:24am	5:59pm		4:05pm
Hayfield				4:40pm
Chicago	7:40am	7:00pm	9:00am

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:05 a.m., Cleveland at 9:00 a.m. and local freights do not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address
A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt
B. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt.
Cleveland, O.

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. B. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors
ROBERT ROLLHOUSE,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. B. UNDERWOOD.
WM. ROLLHOUSE.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

Jennie McDonald
Box 183

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JANUARY 22, 1896. NO. 4.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution and restore the final" restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked (eternal life only through Christ) and many other kindred truths. Also the early belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins as pre-requisites to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

OUR CHRISTMAS LOVE FEAST.

We continue this "testimony meeting" that all may have opportunity to speak.

His Christmas Gift.

To Miss Mary Babcock, National W. R. C. Home, Madison, Ohio.

Let this thy song
Of rapture be,
"His Christmas gift,
Has come to me!"

"His gift has come
No more I need,
For this is health
And wealth indeed!
For this is health,
And wealth indeed!"

"The gift God gave
On Christmas morn,
When Jesus as Babe was born!"

"When angels sang,
Yes! angels sang!
And wise men came,
And wise men came,
To offer gifts
To His dear name!"

Yes! He is thine!
And thou can't bring,
Though sick,
And suffering,

All thy pains
To his dear feet:
All thy cares,
And find them sweet
All thy cares,
And find them sweet.

All thy griefs
To His dear ears,
All thy griefs
To his dear ears!
Tell him all,
Thy sighs and tears!

S. ROXANA WINCE.

Household of Faith Greeting:

We believe in the second coming of our Savior to set up his kingdom on the earth and rule with righteousness. O may the glorious time hasten on, is my daily prayer. We are trying to live so that we may be ready at any time to say. Come Lord Jesus,] come quickly.

Very truly in hope of the soon coming kingdom.

MR. & MRS. F. EDDY.

Dear Restitution:

Our hope depends on the promise made to the fathers. "A resurrection to eternal life at the Lords coming'." Dear friends, one and all, let us be up and doing, and be ready when the Lord comes, that we may inherit life eternal. We are isolated from those of like precious faith, yet we do not feel so lonely, as the good RESTITUTION comes to us once each week, then we have the Bible, too, besides we are busy telling the glad tidings of the gospel to all those that will listen. Good bye until another Christmas or until Christ comes.

ELLIOTT & MARY E. FARLEY.

To the Household of Faith:

It is my good pleasure to say to you that it is my determination to press on for the high calling in Christ Jesus. Let us be ready when the Bridegroom comes. O the morning of joy and blessedness is nearing when the curse will be removed. Sickness, sorrow, pain and death will have an end.

Yours in Hope,

GEO. W. HAYNES.

Dear Restitution:

A love feast, indeed as we read the letters from the brothers and sisters scattered abroad. It gives us courage and awakens new interests. We love to dwell upon the thought expressed in all the letters, that Jesus is coming again, he has promised to come and bring the reward to all that love his appearing. We are striving to overcome and be ready to meet him in the kingdom. God's word is sure and we firmly believe that the kingdoms of this world will soon become the kingdom of our Lord and Christ.

Submitted in love.

W. O. & ALMA STEFFA.

Dear Restitution:

I like Bro. Dwiggins' suggestion and will testify that I believe in the literal coming of Christ the Lord to this earth, and of the literal resurrection of the righteous to an eternal life, and that the immortalized saints will reign with him in his kingdom on this earth.

C. W. WILLEY.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters of the Faith once delivered to the Saints:

This is a grand Christmas greeting to all the loved ones scattered throughout the land. I to am looking and waiting for the return of the nobleman that went to the far country, soon may he return, and say, "Come ye blessed of my Father inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Our recollections are often called back to where and how we got our first lessons in the school of Christ. I feel very thankful to my heavenly Father and our dear old Bro. R. Corbaley as an instrument in his hands, that my poor blind eyes were made to see and my understanding was enlightened and I was made to see and understand the beauty and grandeur there was in the gospel of the kingdom of God. These memories are very dear to me, and I would like to see my dear old Bro. Corbaley once more. But my prayer is that we all may meet in the kingdom. While we wait let us all watch, and be ready to go out to meet him. In the Lord a happy New Year to all.

J. L. BARNES.

Brothers and Sisters:

After reading so many testimonies I feel as though I must write a little too, perhaps the editor will permit it if it is late. I believe my Redeemer will soon come and call us to meet him. Oh won't that be glorious to meet him who has done so much for me. What a glorious thought to meet all that die in the Lord, never to part any more when death and all its doings have an end. Oh, who will be there? I have many trials to endure that but few know any thing about, but my Savior knows it all and I trust he will give me strength to overcome every thing that comes in the way. Pray for me that I may hold out faithful to the end and gain a crown that will never fade life eternal. Well I will have to tell you as before I cannot pay for the paper, I feel as though we could not do without it but we can not pay for it now but will as soon as we can. We do sincerely thank the Brother that paid for it last year, it is all the preaching we have.

Your Sister in Christ,

MRS. D. F. MILLER.

Editor Restitution:

We see our subscription has run out, will send $1.50 to renew another year. We have no preaching here and we can't do without the dear paper. It tells us of the the soon coming of our blessed Redeemer. O that we may have our lamps trimmed and burning when he comes and go out to meet him. What a glorious time it will be to meet our dear brothers and sisters there.

Yours in the faith,

VIRGIL & FANNY TILLMAN.

Dear Restitution:

I am ready for Christ to come and I am waiting. I am a little boy. I am eleven years old. Mamma belongs to the church.

Your friend in Christ.

EVERT LUNAU.

Dear Restitution:

I am watching and waiting for Christ when he shall come to reign on this earth. I am a little girl 13 years old. I believe in the resurrection of Christ.

You friend in Christ.

MINNIE LUNAU.

Dear Household of faith:

I too want to send in my mite. I too am a strong believer in the soon coming Lord and in this hope I love, how much comfort it brings to the weary. Oh dear ones that that are all alone and have no one to talk to how I long to meet with you.

Pray for me, ever yours,

E. COLLETT.

Brothers and Sisters:

I have never written, but my heart has often been made to rejoice by reading the dear letters in THE RESTITUTION. Surely we need all the encouragement we can get in the days of peril. We are certainly living in the time when men's hearts fail them, looking after the things coming upon the earth.

My prayer is that we will soon meet in the kingdom of God.

SARAH J. GARTON.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters:

I am glad that I am permitted to join the love feast, and testify that I am looking and longing for the coming King, and trust in the glorious promises made to the overcomers.

Your Sister in the blest hope.

INEZ GARTON.

Ones of like faith:

As the request has come out in THE RESTITUTION that each one write a few words we will send this. We are watching and striving to be found faithful when our Lord shall come to gather his loved ones. Blessed thought that we shall be like him at that time, for we shall see him as he is. Dear ones, let us work the more diligently as we see the day approaching.

In hope of the kingdom we are

L. C. & CARRIE ANTHON.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

In answer to Bro. Dwiggins' request, I am glad to give in my testimony. Yes, I believe in the second advent of the Lord Jesus Christ. My greatest desire is to be ready when he who is our life shall appear, we can appear with him in glory. My prayer is, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven."

Yours in hope.

MRS. N. G. CALKINS.

Editor Restitution:

We need the light and encouragement from the brothers and sisters abroad while meeting with opposition from the churches. Surely the signs of the times tell us the coming of our dear Lord and Master is near, and I am trying by the grace of God our Father, to so live that I may be found worthy of an abundant entrance into his glorious kingdom, and my prayer is, Come Lord Jesus.

Your Sister in hope.

MRS. F. W. CHAPIN.

Dear Restitution:

We have been reading the many testimonies of the brethren and sisters, and feel that it is our duty to write a few words. We can say that we are watching and waiting for the return of our Savior the King, when he shall rule in righteousness and truth. We believe that time will soon be here, when he will reward every man according as work shall be.

Your Brother and Sister.

ARTHUR & LUCY ZESCH.

Editor Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters of the true faith of the one gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, scattered abroad, but not lost, I greet you all in the name of the Anointed. After belonging to the faith for over twenty years, I just begin to realize how proud I am, as one of the members to this royal band, that shall if found worthy help to wield the scepter that shall rule the nations in the near future. All the pride and pomp and power of any earthly potentate vanishes to mist, with comparing it to one moment's privilege in the glorious kingdom that shall be established on David's throne, a royal priesthood with King Jesus as the leader, the redeemed host taken from the dross all along the gospel dispensation. He that hath the Son circulates the best blood of earth throughout their veins, and performs their duty toward God and man with a lighter heart and better results than the highest official of earth. The greatest transaction that any mortal can execute in this life is to get possession of the title of the gospel deposite for eternal life with assets paid to date. Dear brothers and sisters, are we ready for judgment? This is the question that comes to my mind very often. Oh solemn thought, if we think that we have done our duty, and then should come short, what a failure this life would be to those that have not formed a character worthy to be admitted among that heavenly concourse. We cannot grasp the blessed privileges that the Alwise has in store for those that make that calling and election sure, Eternity. Poor mortals, cannot realize the gift (cycles of ages) in addition to it all the sands of the sea shore multiplied by the stars of heaven, all of the plants of the universe reduced to particles not larger than a mustard seed, one particle representing the above innumerable sum every million years. Immortality, eternity sweeps it by as easy as one moment. What a comforting thought it is to cast our minds in the future, and to think of meeting our dear dead ones that are slumbering in their quiet graves waiting for that great resurrection morn, when sickness, death, sorrow and all troubles shall end, and all things will be made new. Dear one of the faith, this is the time I am waiting for, and I hope to, by the grace of God, anchor my frail bark on that bright evergreen shore.

Yours in the faith.

J. C. VENABLE.

To the Household of Faith:

Although I am a stranger to the most of you, I love to read the letters telling of your faith in the coming of Christ to reign on David's throne. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, to order it and to establish it with judgment and justice from henceforth, even forever. But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth. What a glorious time that will be. Let us all strive more earnestly to make our calling and election sure. It seems to me his coming is nigh, even at the door.

SARAH L. GRIGGS.

Dear Restitution:

As Bro. Dwiggins proposed that all should write something for the paper, I will just say to the brethren and sisters that I am alive and in tolerable good health. Thank God for his many blessings. I am eighty years old and nearly blind. My faith in the promises of God is unshaken, for I truly believe that God will perform all his promises to the very letter, which he has foretold by all his holy prophets since the world began. We are all interested in the promises made to Abraham, or ought to be, for the promise to Abraham and his seed that they are the heirs of the world, and that seed is Christ's, and we must be Christ's to become heirs of the same promise, and Christ was promised a kingdom, and if we are Christ's then we are heirs of a kingdom which each will possess when the Lord comes to raise the dead and change the living, and give us eternal life, change these bodies and to fashion them like his own glorious body. Is this not enough to induce us to press on toward the mark of the prize of the high calling in Christ Jesus our Lord and to be an overcomer? I hope we will all meet in the kingdom of God.

Your Brother waiting till the Lord comes.

A. T. PURCELL.

Dear Restitution:

We are still looking for Christ to come and establish his kingdom, for we see from all indications that his personal coming to reign on earth is near at hand. Then the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads. They shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. So we join the family of the one faith and say, "Even so come Lord Jesus and come quickly." Amen.

MR. & MRS. W. A. MOORE.

Dear Restitution:

I have read your columns and believed the doctrines set forth in them for this seven or eight years, but never appeared in print before. Being baptized into Christ, having the same faith in the promises made to Abraham, we become the children of Abraham. Gal. iii. 7. And Christ being the seed of Abraham, we by putting on Christ are the seed also, and heirs according to the promises. Gal. iii. 20.

Yours waiting for coming of our Lord.

J. HARRIS.

Dear Restitution:

How much we enjoy reading the letter drawer. It gladdens our hearts to hear from those of like precious faith, and when we realize what the signs of the times are teaching the children of God, we feel thankful for the blessed hope set before us in the gospel of the kingdom. We pray for the peace of Jerusalem and the people of God, and the soon coming of his Son to redeem his people. May we all be found worthy of a place in his kingdom, is the prayer of your Brother in Christ.

FRANK GREEN.

Brothers and Sisters:

Though young in the cause of the blessed Master, I do feel an interest in the "Love Feast" that has come out in the Christmas Number of THE RESTITUTION. Hoping it may prove of interest to the many that may read it, I add my little testimony. Last October during a series of meetings held here by Brother and Sister Woodward, I with six others obeyed and was baptized and arose to walk in newness of life. My short experience has taught me it is no vain thing to serve the Lord. I ask an interest in all the prayers of the dear brothers and sisters, that I may not grow weary but may prove faithful, knowing that the promises are to the overcomers.

Your Sister in hope of the soon coming kingdom.

CONETTA GIBSON.

Dear Restitution:

I am thankful we are given the pleasure of testifying for Christ through the paper. I love to read the letters from the brothers and sisters, how it gladens our hearts to see so many of the one faith and one hope. I can say for one that I am trying to walk in the strait and narrow path that leads to life everlasting, looking for our Savior the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile body that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself. Oh, dear ones let us not be weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not. I want to be amongst the number that shall hear these words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of the Lord."

Your Sister in Christ.

MRS. F. GREEN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the Household of Faith:

The coming of Christ in his kingdom is close at hand, when he will raise the dead and change the living, and give them power as kings to reign with him on the earth. Oh glorious day, oh glorious hope, may it soon come.

Fraternally yours,

H. B. FOWLER.

Editor Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters scattered abroad, and of like precious faith with us, grace and peace be multiplied. The disciples asked God, "Wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?" Acts i. 6. Also x. 2, men in white apparel. vs. 11. This same Jesus shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go up into heaven. 1 Thess. iv. 16. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven. Yes, Bro. Dwiggins your Bible class is too short to learn any thing. I am still preaching, the gospel being the only power of God that saves, and may God bless you all, is my prayer. Amen.

JOHN FOORE.

Dear Restitution:

Dear Lord, how I do long for thy coming. It will indeed be a day of joy when we can see thy glory, and say, this is my Lord, we have waited for him and he will save us, where we can sing that unknown song, is my prayer.

S. SHERLAND.

Editor Restitution:

Please find enclosed money to pay for the paper another year. I, too, am watching for signs of the soon coming of the blessed Master. May he not delay, for we sadly need a better ruler.

A Sister in the true faith.

AMY MOON.

Editor Restitution:

Many thanks for those extra copies you sent. I got them New Year's day, so they came as a blessing. Oh yes, I believe that Christ is soon coming. I teach my children the same. Every thing proclaims him near, and soon we shall behold our King in his beauty.

Your Sister in Christ.

MOLLIE LUNAU.

Editor Restitution:

Enclosed find renewal for RESTITUTION for 1896, together with many good wishes for its usefulness and prosperity. I praise God for the good news it often brings of the success of the Word. May it run and be glorified.

Yours in the blessed hope.

J. L. SCHENCK.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the one faith:

We whose names are signed below do join in the love feast by sending our names, and please let us know through THE RESTITUTION if there are any of like faith in Detroit, Mich., as we would be glad to meet with some. Our time is not quite out for THE RESTITUTION, but will renew soon.

MRS. L. DASHWOOD.
MRS. JOHN MILLER.
SARAH DASHWOOD.

[No others in Detroit that we have address of.—ED.]

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I have been reading the Christmas greetings from the different ones. Some of the brethren and sisters I have known in times past, and some of them I know by their writing in THE RESTITUTION. Years ago I heard Bro. Stephenson and Reed preach, and have wished many times I could hear them again. In 1843, when there was so much excitement about the Lord's coming, I remember it well, I was but five years old. We sang and prayed all day, and I have never given up looking for that same Jesus that was taken up into heaven and will return in the same form. Sometimes it seems that my faith is at a low ebb, but there has always been that expectation that the King was coming again soon. And I fully believe the time has come that it speaks of in Luke xxi. 28. My prayer is, that I may do my duty as it is required of me, that I may have an abundant entrance into the kingdom that is to be established here on this earth.

L. W. CUMMINS.

Editor Restitution:

I will now write and let you know that it will be impossible for me to pay for the paper. When I signed for it in May we had fair prospects of a good crop, but the drouth destroyed it again, it has for three years. I should have written sooner to you, but thought may be I could raise the money to pay for it, but as we have every thing to buy for the family and stock, I just am not able to take THE RESTITUTION although I long so much to get it every week. I read it and then give it to my neighbor to read. No matter how bad one feels the good old paper will cheer us up and make us feel as though there is something better to think of than that we have lost or what we cannot have. So if some good sister or brother will send me the paper for awhile I shall be very thankful, and if it is possible will pay for what time I have taken it. The bereaved brothers and sisters have my sympathy in the loss of their loved ones.

Your Sister in the hope of the soon coming kingdom.

MRS. V. E. S.

[This is but a sample of the letters we get. Many are just so situated, and must be furnished the paper by those who can spare a little from their store. Do not forget the poor ones.—ED.]

Dear Restitution:

I desire to say to the brethren and sisters that the church of God at Marathon are having some good meetings. Bro. Russel preaches three times on Sundays, at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. at Griffiths hall, at Marathon. At the school house 4 miles south at 2 p. m. We have prayer meetings every Thursday evening. Owing to the opposition by the orthodox churches the attendance is not very large but some are becoming interested and I think some will soon obey the gospel. We rejoice to see there still are a few that are willing to listen to the truth, for we believe we are nearing the coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Let us be ready to meet him having on the wedding garment and oil in all our vessels, then we can lift up our heads and rejoice saying, lo, this is our Lord we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation for he will save us.

MRS. EDWIN GARTON.

Dear Brethren of the Precious Faith:

As I have never given in my testimony for the one faith to the social love feast, I will now on this 63rd anniversary of my birth, the 4th of January, 1896, try to add my mite. I know that we have reason to "Lift up our heads and rejoice inasmuch as the signs of the times point to the drawing near of our redemption. Although heart broken, and cast down with the troubles of this life, yet are we rich in the blessed hope of a resurrection from death to life eternal, if we are faithful. Circumstances have combined to place us, my husband and I, once more among strangers, but our welcome visitor THE RESTITUTION, has not failed to reach us and thus have we once more met a few of the loved ones whose faces we have heretofore known, and we enjoy the good things written by so many excellent teachers.

Your Sister in the one faith.

LUCY A MCCREHENEY.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, JAN. 22, 1896.

Please Renew, Our List will be Revised on Feb. 1, 1896.

Help Lord.

"Help us to build each other up, Jude 20.
Help us ourselves to prove, 2 Cor. xiii. 5.
Increase our faith, confirm our hope, Luke xvii. 5.
And perfect us in love, 1 John iv. 17, 18, 19.

Words cannot tell what sweet relief
In prayer for every want we find, 2 Thess. v. 17;
What strength for warfare, balm for grief
What peace of mind. Rom viii. 6;

Take courage, then, ask and believe,
Expecting mercy from the Lord;
The promise runs "Ask and receive" Matt. xxi. 22.
And Christ is faithful to his word. 2 Thess. iii. 3."

THIS month has five Wednesdays. Next issue of THE RESTITUTION will be on February 5, 1896.

PASSIONS are like floods and streams: the shallow murmur, but the deep are dumb.

EVERY man in the apostle's days was able to produce three witnesses to his Christianity—the water, the spirit and the blood. He was able to show that the doctrine concerning them all concentrated in him. The witness of the water in baptism, that of the spirit is belief of what the spirit taught, and that of the blood, an understanding of the doctrines pertaining to Christ's crucifixion when he poured out his blood on account of sin."

WE take great pleasure in being able to say that two more young people have decided for Christ, and were on Sunday Jan., 19, buried with him in baptism. Leona and Earnest Logan, daughter and son of Brother Gideon Logan are now among those who are striving for the kingdom. The Church at Plymouth welcome them, and though they live some distance from here, and cannot meet often with us, we hope to be with them in spirit. May God bless them and keep them "even unto the end."

BROTHER L. H. Chase used to say "The glorious gospel needs no vamping; it needs no extra spirit to back it up to the heart to make it effectual; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believes it." The old sword of the spirit works effectually; it conquers the enemy; it sweeps away the fog of modern mysticism; it reveals God in his true character; it reveals light in God's light; it rescues our feet from the horrible pit of sectarian nonsense and mysticism, and plants them on Christ the sure Rock that the gates of hell (hades) could not prevail against."

The above is as true now as it was when that graduate of "Bush College" said it. Now is the time to preach the saving power of God, —and there is time to preach nothing else. The Lord is at hand, and those who waste their time and talents on fads will have to give an account. Not long since we came in contact with a company who knew all about the affairs of the next age (or thought they did) and were exceeding zealous to mistrust others, but entirely ignorant of what people must do to be saved now. When we spoke to them about the gospel of the kingdom of God, they did not know what the Kingdom of God was, and of course had neither believed it nor obeyed it,—but had been baptised, and they were satisfied with that, as if there were nothing particular to be believed in order to be saved themselves. The gospel is God's saving power.

Don't be Anxious About the Future.

1. Because all the future is in God's hands. An infinitely wise and good being is Sovereign over all its events.

2. Because you have no right to put into one day what belongs to another. The future will have its own cares and anxieties—plenty of them, likely—and they will come along in due time; but they have no business among the cares and anxieties of the present time. You must not put them there.

3. Because it is ill-treatment of the best advice. Just read the following advice, and remember who gave it. "Wherefore, take no thought for the morrow, for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

4. Because it implies want of confidence in God. Has he not always dealt well with you? Could you have taken as good care of yourself as he has taken of you? Surely if you can reflect on goodness you can anticipate goodness? Has not God laid a noble basis for confidence in all his faithfulness?

5. Because it will needlessly augment present trouble. Are you so well out of trouble now that you need some by the way of variety? Or would you like more than you have now? Do you wish a new stroke of the lash on a place already sore? If so, go into fidgets about the future, and you will be accommodated. But all this is a superfluous addition to present troubles. It makes all present burdens heavier, while Christ and reason and experience bid you do such thing.

6. Anxiety about the future can do you no possible good. It cannot better fit you to meet it; but contrariwise. It will not change anything appointed to overtake you.

Therefore all there voices in your ears proclaim to you, that it is very poor business to tease and trouble yourself about the future. Do your duty, and trust in God—then come what may, all will be well."

Christians Without Baptism.

The Rev. Harris R. Cooley of the Christian or Disciple Church on Cedar Avenue, Cleveland, defended his course in admitting members without baptism last Sunday; the burden of his contention being that no one who came to Christ was ever cast away. In the course of his remarks he said "Voting to shut men out of the church! Think of it! Why I would as soon cut off my right arm as do that. He must set a big price on that arm." Later an official meeting was called when out of 92 votes 59 expressed confidence in the pastor. In the resolution passed to that effect the officials admitted that it seemed at first like a departure from the old way; but that sermons of their pastor upon the new thought had removed the mists from their minds so they can now admit those who wish to help them build up the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ without the outward form of baptism."

Just a word or two here,—the pastor must have been rather misty himself when we talked about people coming to Christ never being turned away if he thought people who refused to obey one of his conditions of pardon, came to him. It looks to us very much as if such people made Christ come to their terms,—or thought they did. We suppose they think they can make it up to the Lord some other way, such as helping to build up his kingdom for him. Another point is, that this once Bible searching people are now led, as they say in their resolution, by the wise conscientious, and Christ-like teaching of their beloved pastor; oblivious of the fact that Christ said "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed." Rev. Cooley evidently thinks he is not working under the great commission,—in this he is right. Under that instrument he would exact faith in the gospel of the kingdom of God before baptism, and would never call men faithful Christains who had never put on Christ by baptism, and after baptism would teach the observance of all Jesus has commanded.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 5.

Having disproved the idea of two different gospels,—one before the crucifixion and the other after, —we now examine the next sentence in the Oracle article. It says: "The gospel which saves, Rom. i 16, quoted by THE RESTITUTION, contains certain facts, namely, the death, burial, resurrection, ascension to heaven in presence of witnesses, (Acts i. 11) (?) coronation as Lord and Christ, Acts ii. 36; 1 Cor. xv. 1-4. These were not preached by anybody before Pentecost. But they were preached then and afterward constantly, and by some of the preachers who no longer preached "the kingdom of heaven is at hand," because they were under a new commission, Matt. xxviii. 19; Mark xvi. 15, 16; Lu. xxiv. 46-47, and had a new message called "the Gospel of Christ to preach," Eph. iii. 5-7.

True, the gospel which saves does contain certain facts, namely the death, burial, resurrection and ascension to heaven in presence of witnesses. This statement suits us very well. The greater contains the less. The gospel contains the facts,—the facts do not contain all the gospel,—although as the engrafted Word they now form part of the gospel which Christ preached before his crucifixion.

We are determined to make the Oracle man see the truth if possible, so we repeat: Matt. iv. 17 says "Jesus began to preach, and to say, repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand;" and at the 23rd verse we read,—"And Jesus went about all Galilee teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom." Are we taught in one chapter that Jesus taught two different gospels in one province, only a few days apart? Mark shall decide this question in his first chapter, where he describes the same preaching tour. Acts v. 14 he says, "Now after that John was put in prison Jesus came into Galilee preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God." But Mark will you please tell us something he said in preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God? Why yes; of course he will; it is in the same sentence, only separated by a comma, as follows, "And saying, the time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent ye and believe the gospel;"—that is, the glad tidings just mentioned.

In the above, we have proof that Jesus preached only one gospel,—so the kingdom of heaven at hand in Matt. iv. 7 is the same as the gospel of the kingdom in the 23rd verse.

Will any reasonable and honest person say that when Mark reports Jesus as saying in chapter 14, v. 9, before his crucifixion, "Verily I say unto you, wheresoever THIS gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world this also that she [the woman who had anointed his head] hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her,"—will any dare to say that this was another gospel than that of the first chapter?

If that claim be made we again turn to Matt. xxiv. 14 where the gospel to be preached in all the world is plainly defined by the Lord himself. He says:—"And THIS GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM shall be preached in all the world. And if he be told the truth the gospel of the kingdom was preached in all the world after Pentecost, —the Oracle man to the contrary notwithstanding. This is a veritable Gibraltar that has never been taken. Let him bring on his heaviest artillery. This is JESUS contradicting the Oracle man; we want him to know who he is firing at.

Our readers will now see that the Oracle man does not speak the truth as it is in Jesus, but as it appeared to Alexander Campbell, and that constitutes Campbell the founder of his church. We do not impugn his motives or make any harsh or low charges against him. He simply does not know what he is doing, and so we say, Father, forgive him. The apostles did preach the gospel of the kingdom after Pentecost if Christ told the truth, and if the apostles obeyed his command. Instead of a new commission, then,—in the light of the words "This gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world," from the same Jesus who gave the great commission, we have divine authority to read Mark xvi. 15, 16 thus:—"Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel of the kingdom to every creature; he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be condemned." It is Jesus who gives the commission to preach the gospel to every creature, and it is Jesus who tells us what gospel is to be preached to every creature.

We now call the attention of the Oracle man to a fact that was not mentioned by him. It is a fact that between thirty and forty years after Pentecost Peter declared that there had been given unto us exceeding great and precious promises that by these [promises] ye might be partakers of divine nature." Will he assert that a new dispensation has dawned since, say A. D. 66? We think not; we take it for granted he will not, and therefore ask, if there are any promises in the facts concerning the death, burial, resurrection and ascension of Jesus?

We want to know if facts do not refer to what is already accomplished on our behalf, and in no sense subject matter of promise? Very well, then, the death, burial, resurrection and ascension of Christ alone, will not make us partakers of Divine nature: these facts stand related to certain exceeding great and precious promises; and provide the means for us to accept or employ in order to realize those promises. Divine nature of existence is one of those promises, and God's kingdom and glory to which he calls us is another, of those exceeding great and precious promises.

We now call attention to another important Scripture bearing on this question. In Rom. xv. 8 we are informed that Jesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the truth of God." What for? "To confirm the promises made unto the fathers." And when we read in Gal. iii. 8 that the promises of God to Abraham were gospel to him, and that Christ came as a servant to the Jews; to confirm those promises, we see that instead of being set aside or superceded by certain facts, we see the blessed Jesus, coming midway between the making of those promises and their fulfillment, announcing that God has neither changed his mind nor altered his purpose, but was determined to fulfill his promises. They had been confirmed before typically with the blood of beasts, —but a better sacrifice than this was necessary, and so he shed his precious blood for that purpose, and hence his own words, "this is my blood of the new covenant." And Heb. i. 20 being God's truth, Jesus was brought again from the dead through that blood confirmed covenant.

If Jesus the Head was brought again from the dead through the blood of that covenant, must not all the members of his body be also brought again from the dead by it? If so, then surely the promises are now in full force, and not only ensure life from the dead, but the kingdom of God under the whole heaven (Dan. vii. 18, 27) in which to enjoy that future life.

We suppose it will not be questioned that he who believes whatever is styled gospel, and repents, and then obeys in baptism becomes Christ's; but what comes of this? Does he by and by shuffle off his mortal coil and hie off to glory in heaven? Why no; Paul does not fix it that way, but this way, "And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." This shows us what Jesus confirmed the promises for.

Does the Oracle man claim to be an heir of God, and a joint-heir with Christ? Does he hope for what he is heir to? If so, why does he hope for something? Has God promised him something? Is the promise of it found in the facts he enumerates? If not, where is it? In Heb. vi. 18 we are told of a hope set before us, and which the apostle and his brethren had laid hold of. Has he laid hold of it? If so he can explain How the hope is set before us? Does not v. 17 show that it is set before us in an oath-confirmed promise? And are not the believers of it then called heirs of promise? If he is a joint-heir with Christ, is not Christ an heir instead of a possessor?

If the Oracle man is an heir will he ever be anything else, we want to know? Will he ever receive what he is heir to? If so, how does he know it, if the facts do not say so, and, as he says, it is "exceedingly stupid" to say that belief of what God covenants to give, is reckoned to man for righteousness? Was not Abraham justified or reckoned righteous by believing the promise of future blessing? How does he prove his claim if God has not promised what he hopes for? Has he merely taken a notion to something he would like? If so, where is his Bible reason for his hope?

If like Paul in Acts xxvi. 6, 7 he hopes for the promise made of God unto the fathers of the Hebrew nation," he owes it to himself, to God and to us, to retract the above assertion. He certainly cannot hope for what he does not believe in; and certainly cannot believe without evidence. In our next we propose to prove the Oracle man does not believe the facts he calls the gospel which saves, and that we do.

(To be continued.)

OUR CHILDREN.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea.—No. 44.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI.

LAWS OF CONJUGAL FIDELITY CONCLUDED, Ex. xxii. 21.

Our lesson on witchcraft, took all the time of our last meeting. Yet we were not tired. We did not feel as if we had learned half as much as we wanted to about it.

We should like to read about Simon, the Sorcerer, and Elymas, and the witch-books that were burnt at Ephesus, and the damsel that made so much money for her masters at Philippi, of the wizards of Syria, and the bird-seers of Rome, but we must go on to our next lesson. I do not think though that any of us after this, will ever have our fortunes told, even in tea grounds. It is not best. It makes us superstitious. We soon come to think that there is some truth in this, and in all the varied ways of fortune telling.

Our lesson begins at Ex. xxii. 21. It says, "Thou shalt neither vex a stranger nor oppress him: for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt." Can you see why this statute, and the nine other statutes of the chapter, counting from the fifteenth verse, are classed by Mr. Murphy under the head of laws relating to married people? I could not at first, for there is but little in them to make one think of such a thing. But as I have explained to you before about idol-worship, —how it made the Israelites like a bad wife, who forsakes her husband, so it is about these. They have agreed to keep them just as the wife agrees to keep the laws that bind her to the companion of her life. If they break them, they break the relation between themselves and God.

They must not ill-treat the stranger who comes to live among them. He must be welcomed and naturalized, and share with them in the blessings of keeping the ordinances and the day of rest. They must not forget they have been strangers under the cruel Pharaohs.

The woman that has lost her husband, and the child that has no father, must not be made sad nor oppressed. God has put himself in the place of the lost one, to protect and sustain the widow and her lonely brood. Can you think how he does it? He preserves the corners of the fields, the forgotten sheaves, the scattered heads of wheat and barley and part of the grapes and olive-berries for them. Deut. xxiv. 19, 20, 21, 22; Lev. xix. 9, 10, and for the stranger and the poor. He made it a law, that something must be left of everything that was raised, so that the needy ones might have food.

"He doth execute the judgment of the fatherless and the widow, and loveth the stranger in giving him food and raiment." Deut. x. 18; Psa. lxviii. 5. If they are afflicted and cry to the Lord, he will surely hear their cry and will bring "the sword of war," upon their oppressors.

How good he is. What a loving God! He thinks about every body. He forgets no one. Even the little child is not left out. The helpless ones are near to his heart. He guards, protects and cares for all. None that trust in him need feel forsaken, nor cast down, nor desolate, for he delivereth the righteous out of all his troubles.

It is love, love, love all the way. 25 verse. Here is another law,—God's people are not to take anything for the use of money or food loaned to the poor. It is wrong. 26 v. What is a pledge? We say when you promise your little schoolmates to give them something, that "you have pledged your word." What do we mean? That a pledge is a promise. When the poor Israelite gives up his cloak to the creditor, it is a promise, that the loaned money and food will be paid back. But the cloak, large shawl or plaid worn by Eastern people in the day time, becomes a bed-quilt at night. It must be taken home at sunset. The poor man cannot spare it through the chilly hours of darkness. He sleeps in his clothes, and has nothing to throw over him but his cloak. You see how much the dear Father above thought about the comfort of his children.

We come now to the eighth of these laws. The loving God has set good, kind men over the Israelites to watch and punish those who trouble the poor, or who break any of his statutes. They are the judges (see margin) and the rulers of the nation. No one must revile, nor curse them. It is the same as blaspheming the great God who has given them their authority. No one who loves God will do it. The loving God is only too glad to keep his laws.

What do the little ones think of the 29th and 30th verses? They talk of a time when the fruits are ripe when the sweet "tears" of the grapes can be pressed out, and when there is many a beautiful, first-born son in the ranks of Israel, and little bleating, first-born lambs and calves. That must be when the people reach the land of Canaan. But what would you do with the first flowers from your garden beds? With the first peaches that grew mellow on trees that were your very own? With the first crimson berries from the autumn woods? "Save them for papa and mamma! Save them for papa and mamma!—because we love them best!" is the exclamation of many a dear child. And so you would. You would run as quick as your little feet could carry you, and put the treasures in their hands. That is just the way God wanted his people to feel and do. They must make haste to take the first of everything, as a gift of love to him. How happy they would be to do it, if they loved the kind friend, who had done so much to bless them. And yet, people hate to give to God! But we must leave this lovely subject now, and look at the last statute in the chapter. It is about what his people shall not eat. Animals that had been killed by cruel beasts of prey, were not fit for the tables of men; they must be thrown to the dogs. Cattle and sheep and goats that are full of fear and rage when they die, have the juices of their flesh turned to poison. The blood is all left in their veins. God wanted his people to eat good food, so that they might have clean, pure blood, and be more healthy than other people. Men and women who have perfect health have the power to think and act as people cannot think and act who are sick.

AUNTIE WINGE.

OBITUARY.

Died Jan. 7th, 1896, Sister Elvira Fisher at Levy, Polk County, Iowa, aged 83 years, 8 months and some days. It has been about seven years since Sister Smith became converted to the gospel of the kingdom through the preaching of Bro. Jessie Smith and was obedient to the call. Some six years since Visa (as we called her) had an attack of erysipelas and la grippe from the effects of which she lost her eye-sight, since which time she has been a great sufferer, yet through it all she remained true to Jesus and was firm in the faith of a resurrection at the coming of the Lord Jesus. She leaves a husband and three young children to mourn, besides many dear friends and relatives. We laid her to rest in the Avon cemetery till Jesus will awaken her in that glorious morn. Words of comfort and instruction were spoken by the writer from John xiv. 14, also Job xix. 23-27. And my prayer is, that I may not be called on on many such occasions till the Lord comes and takes his waiting ones home.

Yours for the true faith.

J. ANTHONY.

We regret to announce that Grandma Seright has passed from this world of cares and is now sleeping in the narrow channels of death. The dissolution occurred Sunday morning Jan. the 5th at 7 o'clock at the residence of her younger son. A. F. Seright in the presence of her three sons, three daughters and grandchildren. She seemed to feel confident that she was prepared to die, and when the grim messenger of death came she gently yielded to the unexorable decree with a sweet and pleasant smile on her lips and her face radiant with the hope of immortality at the second coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in whom she devoutly believed and trusted.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at her late residence, conducted by Elder J. C. Kimsey, after which the remains were laid to rest in Eureka cemetery until the great judgment day when the grave shall give up its dead. The funeral procession was one of the largest that ever entered the portals of that silent city.

She was an old, old settler of Pobasi township, highly respected for her motherly admonition, love and kindness, known to almost every one, and the friends and neighbors attended in immense numbers to attest their love and devotion to a venerable mother's sacred remains.

Mrs. Lucretia Seright was born in Harrison County, Kentucky, in 1811, where she spent the early days of her childhood. She moved with her parents to Indiana about the year of 1831. They built a home in the forest—endured all the hardships, vicissitudes of a frontier life, Indian savages, exposure and disease peculiar to the State in those days. She and her husband came to Kansas in 1858 before the State was admitted into the union, and settled on the farm where she passed away. About that time the border warfare was raging, and they being opposed to the extension of slavery in the (then) territory were often despoiled and robbed of their goods and chattles by marauding bands of pro-slavery men, cut-throats, robbers and murderers. During that time, or shortly thereafter a company of these bandits, who were in search of plunder and blood, stopped at their humble cabin, which is still standing, and asked for water to drink. It was freely given to them by a decrepit, harmless, old gentlemen. When leaving the cabin, one of these heartless fire-eating, depraved, villainous fiends, whirled around in his saddle and drawing a revolver, shot the old patriarch and killed him in the presence of his family! Cruel, cowardly inhuman wretch.

Deceased has had her full measure of trouble incident to frontier-life, but she bore it with patience and Christian fortitude. Grandma Seright was a consistent member of the Church of God and died in that faith. She leaves three sons, J. M., G. W. and A. F. Seright and four daughters, Mrs. Poff, Mrs. Samples, Mrs. Foured and Mrs. Heron, and many grandchildren as a rich heritage to her country. A good, old mother in Israel is gone, but her kind words and actions are treasured in grateful hearts as a memento to a true, pure and loving mother.

MRS. J. O. ADAMS.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	39·70
L. H. Lincoln	.50
Mrs. D. M. Arnot	.50
Stephen Hogarth	1.00
Mrs. D. Hogarth	.50

Even when most dissatisfied with God's allotments, the truest wisdom is to present ourselves before him. To get away from God is to get into deeper trouble. To draw near is to be lifted up.

"Blessed are those servants whom the Lord when he cometh shall find watching." Luke xii. 37.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

Poetry.

One Day.

Give me joy, give me joy, O my friends;
For once in my life has a day
Passed over my head, and out of my sight,
And my soul has naught to usay—
No querulous word to the fair little child
Who drew me from study to play:
No murmuring word to the beautiful wife,
The angel who walks by my way;
No snappish reply to the hundred and one
Who question me gravely and gay.
No angry retorts to those who misjudge
And desire not a nay, but a yea:
No word to the beggar I fain would take back,
No word to the tenant at bay;
No word, though I know I remember them all,
Which I would, if I could, e'er unsay,
Give me joy, give me joy, O my friends,
For the patience that lasted all day!

—Caroline A. Soule.

Original.

PSALM. 146.

(147 COM. VER.)

1. An alleluia. Aggaios' and Zacharias' psalm. Praise ye the Lord, because a psalm is a good thing. May praise have been pleasing unto our God.

2. The Lord who buildeth Hierousalem will also gather together the dispersions of Israel:

3. He who healeth the broken-hearted and bindeth up the broken parts;

4. Who numbereth multitudes of stars and calleth them all by name.

5. Great is our Lord and great his strength, and of his understanding there is no number.

6. The Lord who taketh up the meek and humbleth the haughty to the earth.

7. Lift up unto the Lord with confession; exalt the strain unto our God with cithera;

8. To him who mantleth the heavens with clouds, who maketh ready rain for the earth; who causeth grass to spring up on the mountains and verdure for the bond-service of men;

9. And who giveth to the domestic-animals their sustenance and to the young ravens who invoke him.

10. Not with the ability of the horse will he purpose nor with the shins of the hero (man) is he satisfied.

11. The Lord is satisfied with those who fear him and with all those who hope in his mercy.

PSALM 147 (148 COM. VER.)

1. An alleluia, Aggaios' and Zacharias' (psalm). Praise the Lord, O Hierousalem, praise thy God, O Sion,

2. Because he hath strengthened the bars of thy gateways, he hath blessed thy sons in thee.

3. He who hath disposed thy boundaries to be peace and who filleth thee with fatness of wheat.

4. Who sendeth forth his instrumental-word (oracular word) until his word (general term) shall run swiftly.

5. (The word) of him who giveth snow like wool as it were, who streweth mist like ashes as it were:

6. Who casteth his ice like morsels as it were; Who will stand before the face of his cold?

7. He will send forth his Word (general term) and melt them; his breath (spirit) will breathe (or his wind will blow) and they will flow as waters.

8. He who announceth his Word (general term) to Jakob, his statutes and verdicts to Israel;

9. He hath not done in this wise to every nation and his verdicts (judicial renderings) he hath not revealed to them.

PSALM 148

1. An alleluia, Aggaios' and Zacharias' (psalm). Praise ye the Lord from out the heavens; praise him in the highest places;

2. Praise him all ye his angels; praise him all ye his hosts; (lit. abilities).

3. Praise him sun and moon; praise him all ye stars and the light;

4. Praise him ye heavens of the heavens, and the water that is above the heavens.

5. May they have praised the name of the Lord; because he spake and they came to pass; he commanded and they were created (the word for the generic not the causal creation here).

6. He stood them for the animate-age and the animate-age of the animate-age; He set a decree and it will not pass by.

7. Praise ye the Lord from out the earth ye dragons and all abysses;

8. Fire, hail, snow, ice, the cyclone's breath, that do his word:

9. Ye mountains and all ye hills, ye fruit-bearing trees and all ye cedars;

10. Ye wild-beasts and all ye domestic-animals; ye creeping things and winged things that fly;

11. Ye kings of the earth and all ye laities, ye rulers and all ye judges of the earth;

12. Ye young men and virgins, ye elder men with younger;

13. May they have praised the name of the Lord, because his name alone hath been exalted, the confession of him is upon earth and heaven:

14. And he will exalt the horn of his laity. A hymn for all his holy ones, the sons of Israel, a laity that draweth nigh unto him.

PSALM 149.

1. An allelouia. May ye have sung unto the Lord a new song, his praise in a church of holy ones.

2. May Israel have rejoiced in the One who created him and many sons of Sion have been made glad in their King.

3. May they have praised his name in choral song; with tympanum and psaltry may they have exalted the strain unto him.

4. Because the Lord is satisfied with his laity and he will exalt the meek in salvation.

5. Holy ones will boast in glory, and will be glad on their couches,

6. With the exaltations of God in their throat and two-edged swords in their hands,

7. To execute requital on the nations reproofs on the laities,

8. To bind their kings with fetters their ennobled hand and foot with iron,

9. To execute on them a verdict that hath been enwritten. This glory is for all holy ones.

PSALM 150.

1. An allelouia. Praise God in sacred places,—Praise him in a firmament of his host (ability).

2. Praise him for his able acts of rule; praise him according to the fullness of his majesty:

3. Praise him with trumpet's echo, praise him with psaltry and cithera,

4. Praise him with tympanum and choral song; praise him with stringed and wind instrument;

5. Praise him with cymbals of pleasing sound; Praise him with cymbals of alala.

6. May every breath have praised the Lord.

This psalm in David's own handwriting and outside the number: when he fought Goliad single-handed.

I was small among my brethren, and a younger in the house of my father; my hands had made a wind-instrument and my fingers had put together a psaltry; and who will tell my lord? The Lord himself he hearkeneth; He sent his angel and took me out from among the sheep of my father, and anointed me with the olive-oil of his anointing.

My brothers are noble and great and the Lord was not satisfied with them.

I went out to meet the alien (the other-tribe man) and he cursed me in the names of his idols; but I snatched away his sword and cut off his head, and took away reproach from among the sons of Israel.

COMMENT.

The 146th psalm is a double major harmonic—an allelouia of praise put in the mouth of all "those who fear his name and hope in his mercy." The name moreover is the name of Him "who created the heavens and the earth." "Israel's God," "The God of our fathers." The One who hath said "my glory will I not give to another." The One whom Jesous worshiped and taught us to address as "Our Father who art in heaven."

This psalm therefore being in the spirit of Christ is Messianic and "to the glory of God the Father."

The 147th, also an allelouia of praise emphasizes as its number would indicate completeness of some sort. This completeness we find to be completeness of power as exemplied in his creative word and works as well as completeness of oracular delivery and revelation. This summed up appropriately in 9th verse, "He hath not done in this wise to every nation and his verdicts he hath not revealed to them." We are to infer therefore that the divine record is complete.

Those who tampered with the original numbering of these psalms probably did not see the absurdity of making a 8th and a 7th into one. No more absurd however would it be for a musician to join a 8th and a 7th in the musical scale and call it a chord.

The 148th psalm also an allelouia of praise is a full octave in number and in thought as well. For it is the full chorus of creation animate and inanimate, of the heavens and the earth put into the mouth of his holy ones. These can be no others than "the Royal Priesthood" and the vision therefore looks forward to the realization of "the hope of Israel" and promised redemption through the resurrection—the rule of Christ and his saints asserted here on the earth. "A hymn for all his holy ones."

It echoes the final edict that has gone forth. "Praise him ye kings of the earth and all ye laities, ye rulers and all ye judges of the earth." The King and the kingdom have both come evidently have they not? And to the earth too, not to some limbo of a theological imagination.

The 149th psalm, also an allelouia of praise is, as its number would imply a song of songs, a song of his praise in a church of holy ones, not merely sanctified ones here and now—the sanctification has been consummated and is full, and when full is holiness. Satisfaction has come at last as we learn appropriately in the 4th verse. For it is a legal satisfaction, "Because the Lord is satisfied with his laity." The vision looks forward to the subjugation and requital through, the hands of his "holy ones," a subjugation of and requital on all the obdurate of the earth—the execution of "a verdict that hath been enwritten." Where do you suppose "enwritten?" In the Scriptures. Where else? This is a part of "the glory" that Christ prayed for, when he said "And now O Father, glorify me with the glory, etc."

The 150th psalm and last by number is also an allelouia of praise and as its number would indicate conjunctive in its thought. For it is the conjunction of the heavenly spiritual laws and agencies with the earthly and natural laws and agencies, as asserted in the 6th verse "may every breath have praised him—the spiritual as well as the natural breath of life and all that this implies as given us in revelation.

The closing psalm with the heading "outside the number" though "in David's own handwriting" emphasizes of course the importance of the numbering; but carries also with it a spiritual lesson of its own aside from its interest as a historical and biographical record. Why was it omitted from all the versions in the English translation?

CHAS. GARDNER.

Trusts and Mistrusts.

At the present time we have in our midst a countless number of trusts, both commercial and religious. Commercial trusts are selfish and fearfully iniquitous, formed for the purpose of enriching themselves at the expense of the consumer, and crushing to earth any tradesman, or manufacturer, who refuses to enter their unholy combination.

The religious world has also its monster trusts, who, in time past committed to the sword, prison and flame, those who steadfastly refused to enter their combine. A practice still in vogue in the Mohammedan trust.

Their various religious trusts all offer its stockholders a sure passport for their immaterial neverdying souls to mansions in the skies.

The said mansions are said to be located somewhere in the etherial regions beyond the bounds of time and space. The said soul is to emerge from the body at its dissolution, and unfold a pair of immaterial wings and cleave the skies until it reaches the above mansions promised to these stockholders.

Oh what a serious mistake those people make, who contribute of their hard earnings, waste precious time, and give it their intellectual and moral support, without first investigating upon what ground these promises are based.

Agents for these companies in order to give the people confidence in the things their trusts promised, tell them that God who cannot lie, made the promises and recorded them in his Holy Book, we call the Bible, and they have accepted their statement as being true without investigation, and as a consequence have been fearfully deceived, God never having made such promises, and no such record is found in the Bible.

Solely as an initiatory ceremony into their several associations, some immerse them in water, some pour, and others sprinkle it upon their heads. They call these three different actions by the one word baptism, although the word baptise is from the word bapto; pour, cheo; and sprinkle from raino; three different actions taken from three different words.

There are precious promises recorded in God's Word, but they are very different from what these trusts promise its stockholdes. God confirmed with an oath promises to an inheritance in the land of Canaan, he also made oath unto King David, that his (Gods) only begotten Son should reign as perpetual monarch upon his restored throne, over Israel, and extend his dominion to earth's remotest bound. And also that he would put down all misrule, and bless the nations in a manner they little expect. And that those people who believe his promises, and live as he directs, he will bestow upon them life eternal at the awakening to life of the holy dead, they having previously believed his message of life, become united to his Son, and by this means become joint heirs with him by being immersed for the remission of sins, a very thing from an iniatory ceremony into an association.

Many previous members of these trusts have discovered their promises were fictitious and utterly without foundation, and have forsaken these combines, yet steadfastly refuse to become united to his Son, after believing God's promises, insisting that the initiatory ceremony they submitted to when they united with one of these association holding false and baseless promises, will be counted in place of an obedience required after believing God's sure promises. In doing this they take a hazardous risk, especially after God has pronounced anathams upon these who promulgate false promises in place of his unfailing promises. Is it reasonable to expect God will accept obedience required by these baseless heathen dogmas as being the same as obedience to his own holy will! It is all a delusion which they will find to their sorrow if they persist in it. It will be of no use to call "Lord, Lord, open to us," at that time, for the only response they will hear will be, "I know you not."

He will accept none, except those who unreservedly surrender their will to his, and say: "Thy will be done." His will is plainly recorded in the Bible, and none need mistake it, if they will only deal honestly with the Scriptures and cease to pervert it, that you may make it conform to your will, like a preacher I recently heard quote Mark xvi. 15, as follows: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature he that believeth (and is baptized he omitted) shall be saved but he that believeth not shall be condemned." It occured to me that a person will lay themselves liable to sure condemnation just as quick by a wilful dishonest use of God's Word, as by a disbelief of it. Take for instance the above quotation, which is in brief a clear statement made by Christ, as to what man must do, in order to be saved. When a person who claims to be a minister of the gospel, makes the above quotation before a congregation, and deliberately omits from the quotation, the above words, "and is baptized." (one of the conditions named by Christ, that must be observed by all who wish to be saved,) he is wresting the Scriptures to his own destruction, and such a one richley merits such a punishment. It is a serious matter to lead people away from Christ's own way of salvation. It is a sure thing that men who claim to be ministers, are not ignorant with regard to the above clause being in Christ's commission, and when omitted, is by a wicked design.

When this kind of work is done by so-called spiritual instructors of the people, is it not time the people started some mistrust associations, and examine the Word for themselves and put little trust in guides who corrupt God's Word by design.

Another minister I was acquainted with took a text for a sermon from Rev. v. 9: "For thou wast slain and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred and tongue, and people and nation; and hast made us unto our God, kings and priests," (and omitted "and we shall reign on the earth,") an preached the blood washed and reigning as "kings and priests" in heaven. The omission of the words, "and we shall reign on the earth," could not be otherwise than by design, and to preach them reigning elsewhere than where the last part of the sentence he omitted from his text names, could not be anything else than knowingly changing the place for their reign, his own eyes had read in his text.

Is it not time to start mistrusts, and test these preachers by the Word.

I know other preachers who confess that personally they believe the Scriptures teach life eternal only through Christ, and yet keep their congregations in ignorance about it saying the people are not ready for it yet. So we see but little confidence can be put in these spiritual guides.

There is one thing we can trust implicitly, and that is God's Holy Word. Search it studiously, and continuously, and marvelous light will dawn upon your mind day by day, and the more you study it, the more light you will receive, and less trust you will place in popular so-called spiritual guides.

"Unshaken as the sacred hill.
And firm as mountains stand;
Firm as a rock the soul shall rest,
That trusts the Almighty hand
Not walls nor hills could guard so well
Fair Salem's happy ground,
As those eternal arms I love.
That every saint surround."

W. H. WILSON.

Selected.

Power of Their Navies.

In view of a possible conflict between England and Germany, one in which other nations might become involved, and which, if waged, would be largely a naval war, the following facts and figures, showing the relative naval strength of the European powers and their respective preparations for such a war, have been compiled by the Tribune.

They have been taken from the latest and best authorities and are in every way up to date.

The idea on which the British navy is conducted is it must always show an equality of strength with if not superiority to, the combined navies of any two foreign powers. The two nations which the British Naval Office has generally made comparisons are France and Russia, as not only being fairly representative of the European powers, but the ones England would most likely have to fight where it to be embroiled in war.

Incidental to this fundamental idea is the further one that England must always maintain in the Mediterranean a naval force stronger than that of any other nation, but as France has of late years concentrated much of its fleet in these waters this last policy in great measure has been abandoned. Its channel fleet, which is its home guard, it has, however, always kept up to its full strength, and it is in the channel most of the fighting would have to be done were England and Germany to get to loggerheads over the present Transvaal difficulty.

Under present circumstances the old comparisons the English were wont to make in estimating their naval strength will have to be thrown aside and new ones used. These should include a comparison of the relative strength of England and Germany and Russia allied and of England and Germany, Russia, and and France allied. A still further comparison can be made of England and Italy allied and Germany, Russia, and France allied. The possibilities of such a general war are too remote, however, to make this last comparison anything more than interesting from a statistical point of view.

The following tables gives the comparisons indicated:

GREAT BRITAIN.
Armored vessels	89
Unarmored "	205
Total	294
GERMANY.
Armored vessels	32
Unarmored "	39
Total	71
RUSSIA.
Armored vessels	35
Unarmored "	31
Total	66
FRANCE.
Armored vessels	59
Unarmored "	89
Total	148
ITALY.
Armored vessels	23
Unarmored "	49
Total	72
RUSSIA AND GERMANY
Armored vessels	67
Unarmored "	70
Total	137
GERMANY, RUSSIA AND FRANCE.
Armored vessels	126
Unarmored "	159
Total	285
ENGLAND AND ITALY.
Armored vessels	102
Unarmored "	248
Total	350

In using the foregoing table to estimate the relative strength of the various navies, the tonnage and armament should be taken into consideration. None of the powers except Italy has any battleships to match the English ones of the first class, and most of the ships of this description they possess rank with the English ones of the third class.

In the English navy the first class battleships, like the Revenge, the Empress of India, the Royal Oak, and Royal Sovereign cary 67-ton guns, ten 6-inch guns, and others in proportion, and are over 1,100 tons measurement. The Brandenburg, the heaviest ship Germany has, is 12,500 tons measurement, and its heaviest guns are six 28-inch ones. In the Russian navy the Catherine II., of 10,180 tons, is the most powerful boat. It carries six 56-inch guns and seven 6-inch ones. France's most formidable battleship are the St Louis, Massenna, Neptune, Gaulois, and Hoche. The Hoche, the heaviest armed, carries two 52-ton guns, and the others the same armament. They are all a little over 10,500 tons measurement. The Indomptable and Requin; however, comparatively small boats, being each of 7,000 tons, each cary two 75-ton guns.

Italy has the heaviest armed battleships of any of the powers. The Andrea Doria, of 11,000 tons, carries in addition to other cannon, four 105-ton guns; the Dondolo and Duilio, of 11,208 and 11,138 tons respectively, each carries four 100-ton guns, as do the Italia, of 14,387 tons, and the Lepanto, of 14,400 tons, while the Ruzzeriero di Lania and Francisco Morosini, of 11,000 tons, each have four 105-ton guns.

England's coast defense ships are armed with guns ranging from eighteen to twenty-five tons and and its first-class cruisers carry batteries of from nine ton to twenty-four ton guns. Germany's coast defense ships carry guns ranging from nineteen tons to thirty-four tons and its cruisers three and one-half tons to nine tons. France's cruisers are also lighter armed, as are Russia's, but the Italian cruisers carry as high as twenty-five-inch guns.

Comparing these tables with the explanation of the armaments it will be seen England excels Germany in naval strength about four to one; Germany and Russia allied nearly two to one, and its strength compared with the combined navies of Germany, Russia, and France is about that of ninety to 100. The allied of England and Italy, however counting ships and weights of guns both, would exceed those of Germany, France, and Russia, by about 15 per cent. France is England's most formidable European rival on the seas, Italy ranks third, Russia fourth, and Germany fifth.

England has now ten ships building, aggregating 140,450 tons, as opposed to eighteen ships being built by France and Russia, with an aggregate tonnage of 187,202 tons. Emperor William of Germany was unable to persuade the Reichstag of 1895 to vote him the money for naval construction he asked and the only important ship Germany is now building is a battleship of the first class to replace the Prussen.

In one respect, however, the other European powers have an advantage over England in being able to mass almost all of their ships should a war break out, while England's diversified interests in all quarters of the globe would keep a good part of its navy away from the main scene of conflict. Still it has a tremendous fleet of unarmored and third-class vessels which could be used for this far distant police work and the best part of its navy would be available for home and active fighting.

At this time England has near at home the following navy:

CHANNEL FLEET.
Battleships	4
Cruisers	3
Torpedo boats	2
Total	9
COAST GUARD FLEET.
Battleships	10
Cruisers	6
Torpedo boats	5
Total	21
MEDITERRANEAN FLEET.
Battleships	10
Cruisers	8
Torpedo boat	5
Torpedo ram	1
Total	24

The remainder of its navy is scattered all over the seas of the world; but thirteen cruisers and one battleship are in American waters and quickly available.

The full strength of the German navy is practically all in European waters. Russia has two battleships, one armored cruiser, three coast defense ships, and two gun boats in the Baltic, and four battleships and one cruiser in the Black Sea. The rest of its navy is out of commission.

France, however, has seven battleships, six cruisers, and three torpedo boats in European waters.

Italy's navy is practically all at home and available, although about one-half of its vessels are out of commission.

In the way of coaling stations, dock-yards, and naval depots England is well supplied. It has coaling stations every ten or fifteen miles of its coast, all the way from Penzance around to the Shetland Islands.

At Queenstown, Ireland, there is a dock-yard: another and larger one at Keyhorn in Plymouth Bay; a depot at Portland, a dockyard at Portsmouth, and another one at Chatham. At all these dock-yards there are naval depots and coal yards, and a special supply of coal is kept at Gibraltar and Malta.

Germany has a number of coaling stations in the North Sea, but they would not prove especially valuable if England, as it probably would, should dominate this territory. It has a dock-yard and naval station at Wilhelmshaven, and another at Kiel in the Baltic.

Russia has its single naval station and dock-yard at Cronstadt in the Baltic, with coaling stations along this and the Arctic Sea.

France has a naval depot at Dunkirk, one at Tancarville, and a dock-yard and depot at Cherbourg, dock-yard and depot at Brest, dock-yard and depot at Toulon. It has small coaling stations all along both of its coasts. Italy's dock-yards and naval stations are at Toronto and Brindisi, and there is a naval arsenal at Venice.

In South Africa, should a possible naval war be waged there, England has a large coaling station at Simon's Town, near Cape Town, as well as a dock-yard and a coaling station at Zanzibar. France has a coaling station near Mozambique and five in Madagscar. Neither Germany nor Russia has any. There are, however, private coaling stations used by steamship lines at Massedes, a Portuguese settlement on the west coast, and Mossel Bay, Port Elizabeth, East London, and Durban, English settlements on the east coast; and on the same coast, Delagoa Bay, which is a mixture of all nations; Johanna, a Boer settlement, and Helliville and Majunga, under the control of France.

A naval war between England and Germany or England and Germany and Russia allied, would doubtless be fought in the North and Baltic Seas, where England has had so many naval battles in other centuries. It would be its endeavor, of course, to keep the enemy's ships shut up in these seas and in this it might easily succeed, not even permitting any of them to get out of the Baltic. Were France in the fight, however, England would have its Southern coast line to defend, and then the struggle would take another complexion. In this contingency Italy's help would be valuable to England, for, with its own coasts to defend, France would not have so much time or so many ships to harass its insular neighbor. On the other hand, England would have to supply Italy with troops to prevent a trans-Alpine invasion by way of France, and the war would be a merry one.—Tribune, Jan. 13, 1896.

POETRY.

The Reward.

"Say ye to the daughter of Zion, Behold thy salvation cometh; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him." Isa. lxii. 11.

Unto each saint who loves the Lord,
Who to the end obeys his Word,
He will, with blessings rich and rare,
Reward him, in a home most fair.

God's kingdom is that blessed home,
Which, by the Spirit is made known:
More bright than gold, e'en though refined;
More precious, too, than rubies fair.

Then on Mt. Zion they shall stand,
A heavenly host—a royal band;
Their King, all glory to behold,
His wondrous work will then unfold!

E. K. Boyer.

Original.

Paul's Farewell Address.

2 Cor. xiii. 11.

"Finally brethren farewell." After the apostle had written a good long letter to the brethren at Corinth, which by the way was his second letter unto them, in which he labors faithfully to instruct, reprove, rebuke and exhort them unto a better and higher mode of living, he finally concludes his last loving letter to them by saying, "finally, brethren farewell." Although he had much learning, and was a skilled logician, yet he had a tender heart, and his strong emotional feelings were stirred when he comes to bid his brethren adieu. This was a sense natural, as he was filled with the good spirit of his Master, who laid down his life for his brethren. Paul had labored long and hard in setting forth the way of life and salvation. Yea, he had endured many hardships, and bore in his body the marks of his blessed Master. And Oh, how careful he was to feed, and instruct, and look after the welfare of his brethren in Christ, and to warn them of danger without and within. Yea, his hope and joy, and his crown of rejoicing was his brethren in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming. God bless and save the old apostle. Then after he bids his brethren an affectionate farewell, he bids them, be perfect. His brethren, like us, were poor frail erring mortals, and were in need of much exhortation and encouragement, that they be not lazy Christians, or drones, or a set of do-nothings. But that they awake as it were out of sleep, and arise from the dead, and receive more light and life from Christ our living head, and this go on to perfection, and be more God-like. Be of good comfort, be of one mind. Although the brethren at Corinth had many hardships and many trials, many unruly and headstrong brethren who were bent on having their own way right or wrong. Yet Paul would advise them to be of good comfort, and to be of one mind. Oh, what a source of comfort it would be if the brethren would all strive harder to be of one mind, all possess and cultivate the mind of our blessed Master, then all wrangling and all strife would cease. There is no more sense in brethren wrangling and backbiting one another than there is in family quarrels, all such things are a shame and disgrace to the community, and such things would not be, if there was more unfeigned love, and less envy and hatred. Live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you. Now all these duties enjoined by the apostle, are the dictations of the holy spirit, the will of God, and to ignore them, is proof that we are not led by the spirit, and God is not with us. Brethren in Christ, can we not restrain and subdue our own wills a little more, and live in peace as brethren, and not as enemies. "Follow peace and the things which make for peace, with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord. Looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled. Farewell.

T. E. A.

The Word of God.

What is it, and where is it? These questions occurred to me, after hearing of a remark made by a minister, who claims to have been called by God, as was Aaron. Called to proclaim the everlasting gospel. He is reported to have said, "that the book called the Holy Bible, was a dead letter, and and consequently was powerless, of this he himself was a witness. In order to support his testimony in the matter he introduced Col. Bob Ingersoll as witness. No. 2. Now if he had come to me I could have pointed him to another minister, who, like himself claims to have been called, as was Aaron, who also testifies that the Book is a dead letter, and this witness is just as reliable as Bob Ingersoll, or the gentleman that made the statement.

Now brother Publisher, what shall I do? Shall I repudiate the testimony of these three living witnesses. Mr. Sawley, Mr. Ingersoll, and Mr. Tatum? Would it be safe for me, an unlearned and unlettered mortal, to repudiate the testimony of these three learned witnesses, who have been called as was Aaron, for in rejecting their testimony I say to the world that their testimony is false, and that they have not been called of God as was any body.

This is just what I will do, prove them false apostles. Rev ii. 2, and 2nd Cor. ii 13, 14. Because I have tried them by the standard, the Bible, and have found them immersed in error, and tradition. They teach that the soul of man is immortal and cannot die. The Book teaches the opposite. The soul that sinneth it shall die. Eze. xviii. 4, 20. James v. 20. That the dead are conscious, and very active. The Book teaches that the dead know not any thing. Ecc. ix. 5, 10. Psa. 115. 17. That the church and the kingdom are synonymous terms. But the Book does not say that the church was set up by John, on the day of Pentecost. That it was reorganized by Joe Smith. The Book says nothing about these pet theories. Hence I repudiate the testimony of these gentlemen, and pronounce them false apostles, and believe them to be deceitful workers, are transforming themselves into apostles of Christ.

The word of the Master is not dead as these gentlemen testify, but on the contrary it is declared to be living, and energetic and more cutting than any two edged sword. Cutting through even to a separation of life, and breath, and of joints, and marrow, able to judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart, and no creature is concealed from the sight of him who gave the word as described in Heb. iv. 12. Which word alone is found in the Book, hence in discarding the Book they discard the only means of becoming wise unto salvation, the foot lamp discarded and they walk in darkness, no guide to their path, without any hope of being converted, seeing the perfect law which converteth is discarded, is counted dead, it being a part of the Book. It seems to me to be folly for the Christian Endeavor Society to pray for the conversion of any of the gentlemen named in this article seeing they have trampled upon God's way of converting, have repudiated the means of becoming wise unto salvation. But more of this later on. The Lord willing, I will write more upon the Word of God as recorded in the Book I love.

Henderson Murphy.

"HONORING THE SON."

I have just published an eight-page tract with the above title. Elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen. Please send orders to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

No one ever thought of introducing so expensive a feature as lithographic color work in the days when the leading magazines sold for $4.00 a year and 35 cents a copy. But times change and the magazines change with them. It has remained for The Cosmopolitan, sold at one dollar a year, to put an extensive lithographic plant capable of printing 320,000 pages per day (one color). The January issue presents as a frontispiece a water-color drawing by Eric Pape, illustrating the last story by Robert Louis Stevenson, which has probably never been excelled even in the pages of the finest dollar French periodicals. The cover of The Cosmopolitan is also changed, a drawing of page length by the famous Paris artist Rossi, in lithographic colors on white paper takes the place of the manilla back with its red stripe. Hereafter the cover is to be a fresh surprise each month.

John xiv. 12.

Brother T. E. Adams writes to me, "Please give an explanation of Jno. xiv. 12, in Restitution.... What are the greater works?"

It must be understood in the first place that the miracles which Christ had already done were the "works," and that the "greater works" were those to be done by believers, through the power of Christ.

Many commentators have thought that the greater works were "the conversion of thousands in a day" under the ministry of the Apostles.

But the promise seems general—forever one "that believeth." The miracles which enabled the Apostles and some others under their ministry to do, were but a taste—a foretaste—of "the powers of the age to come." See Heb. vi. 5 where Revised Version reads, "age to come," instead of world to come.

Hence, I think the "greater works" are those which the Lord will enable all true believers to do in their immortal state, after the resurrection of the just. Being "raised in power" they will be "equal to the angels," and cannot die any more. 1 Cor. xv. 43; Luke xx. 36. Our Savior's going to the Father was a preliminary needful to this consummation.

Wiley Jones.

Please write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into The Restitution for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to The Restitution office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$46.70

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 283 pages, 6th edition. Cloth, 75 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruptible, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 48 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 15 cts. per dozen, 75 cts. per hundred.

Written and for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without The Restitution for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send The Restitution to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

COVENIENT AS CASH.—

Mileage Tickets Issued by the Pennsylvania Lines.

Persons who travel will find mileage tickets issued by the Pennsylvania Lines west of Pittsburgh great conveniences, as well as money savers. Principal cities and towns in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are reached by these lines, which also extend to Pittsburgh, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Wheeling and other important places. Over one-half the counties in Ohio are traversed by the Pennsylvania Lines, the county seats of nearly all of them being located thereon. They also traverse forty counties of Indiana, touching at county seats. Holders of mileage tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines can conveniently reach any leading city or town between Pittsburgh on the east, the Mississippi River on the west, the Great Lakes on the north, and the Ohio River on the south, these tickets being available over the several trunk lines of the Fort Wayne and Pan Handle Routes, as well as over the numerous branches. The cost of a 1000 mile ticket is $20.00, a rate of two cents per mile making the saving on a 100 mile ride $1.00, with proportionate larger amounts saved on longer distances. This convenient money-saver may be obtained at ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Lines. The person to see at Plymouth, Ind., for information about it is J. E. Hanes, Agent.

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by, Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 80,000 Baptists, in 1880. 3. Immaterialists. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 8 cts., or assorted packages 6, 10 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

6 10c; 20 for 15c; 50 for 25c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and comment of the two uses of these terms, to-wit, a Theologican and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the main points of our doctrines.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 4-page tract. Price 5c. each, 15 for 50c., 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 48 pages, price 30c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 17, 1892, by Rev. Lacher. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c, or 15 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 140 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from The Restitution office, or of the author ess Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 776 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1. post-paid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott, B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlinear word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 128 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents: single copy; 5 for 60 cents; 12 for $1.20; 50 for $3.60. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Author at San Diego, Cal.

"Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, had of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 12c10 each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chinnville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson. 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
H. T. Baker, Decorah, Iowa.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.

THE SPECIAL EVANGELIST FUND.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published,	$284.78

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 426 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. C. M. Perkins, Evangelist.

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 3 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1548 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia, C. C. Hussey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 9.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome. Pastors residence 601 Huntingdon, street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Van Buren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preachi ng by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 9 a. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us.

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. its east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the Jenne Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and social meeting every two weeks. We have no regular preacher. Jason Weldon Rider; Sarah S. Beck Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 10:00 a. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by letter or testimony letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beech Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday School. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Leonard, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 9:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Siple, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland; each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jequith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Groat. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. A. Steele. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11 A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in Rennar Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K. of P. Hall, 258 Wilson Ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of the precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting of Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitesitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria M. Trundell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Haslan and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Centerview every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Wooden and except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Dyson have no regular preacher. The Church at Rabbit Center is presided over by Bro L. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "The Restitution," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "The Restitution."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 384, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Rlw.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

	8	12	30	6	7
Westward.	AM	PM	AM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 00
Allianee, ar.	9 50
Canton, "	10 56
Massillon, "	10 56
Wooster, "	11 13
Mansfield, "	12 02
Crestline, "	12 51	11 40	6 20	3 25	7 45
Bucyrus, "	1 12	12 09	6 45	3 50	8 13
Leiest, "	1 30	1 25	7 05
Van Wert, "	2 31	2 25	8 10
Ft Wayne, "	3 30	3 31	9 17	5 10	10
Arcola, "			11 15	7 02
Columbia City, "	4 58	4 47	12 15	7 42
Larwill, "			12 38	7 58
Pierceton, "			12 50	8 10
North Lake, "			1 05	8 25
Wawaka, "	5 31	5 42	1 30	8 50
Silver Lake, "			1 45	9 05
Bourbon, "			2 00	9 20
Inwood, "			2 15	9 35
Plymouth, "	6 05	6 10	2 40	9 55
Bremen, "			3 00	10 15
Hamlet, "			3 11	10 26
Wanatah, "	6 55		3 40	10 50
Valparaiso, "	7 21		4 05	11 20
Wheeler, "			4 20	11 35
Hobart, "			4 30	11 45
Crown Point, "			4 45	12 00
Kensington, "			5 00	12 15
Chicago, ar.	9 00	8 40	5 30	12 45	9 55
	PM	AM	AM	PM

	20	8	4	6	30	3
Eastward.	AM	PM	PM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago, lv.	12 55	3 00	9 15	12 45	7 05	3 45
Hobart, "	1 30		9 57		7 45	4 30
Hobart, "	1 45		10 10		8 00	4 45
Wheeler, "	2 01		10 26		8 16	5 01
Valparaiso, "	2 15	4 31	10 40	4 40	8 30	5 15
Wanatah, "	2 43		11 08		8 58	5 43
Hamlet, "	3 13		2 00		9 28	6 13
Hamlet, "	3 27
Bruce, "	3 42
Inwood, "	3 51		2 35
Plymouth, "	4 05	5 45	2 50	5 00
Bourbon, "	4 30		3 15	5 19
Silver Lake, "	4 45		3 27	5 32
Wawaka, "	4 57			5 45
North Lake, "	5 12		3 55	6 00
Pierceton, "	5 27		4 10	6 15
Larwill, "	5 34			6 22
Columbia City, "	5 50	6 25	4 30	6 38
Arcola, "	6 05		4 45	6 53
Ft Wayne, "	6 30	6 55	5 10	7 20
Van Wert, "	7 28		6 05	8 15
Leiest, "	8 13		6 50	8 58
Bucyrus, "	8 31		7 08	9 16
Crestline, ar.	8 56	8 10	7 30	9 40
Mansfield, "	9 40		8 10	10 20
Wooster, "	10 29		8 55	11 05
Massillon, "	10 46		9 12	11 22
Canton, "	10 56		9 22	11 32
Alliance, "	11 03		9 29	11 39
Pittsb'gh, ar.	12 05		10 30	12 40
	PM		AM	PM

W. ATTERBURY, Gen'l Manager. E. A. FORD, Gen'l Pass'r Agent, PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, sleeping car reservations, and further information, apply to any Agent of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway.

J. E. HANES, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table,

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 20, Passenger, Leaves		11:05pm
No. 22, "	"	10 Wpm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Passenger, Leaves		10 35am
No. 23, "	"	11 05pm
No. 151, Local,	"	11:05pm

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

Union Pas. connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Fostoria, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. E. & W. Div. for all points north, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. H. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. Ry., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY, Gen Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 32, Ex. Sun.	12:14pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 38, "	7:51am	"
No. 54, ex. Sun.	10:38pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun.	8:38am	For Terre Haute.
No. 53, "	12:26pm	" "
No 57 ex. Sunday	7:42pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. Dowse, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Ford, Gen'l Pass. Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. Local trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

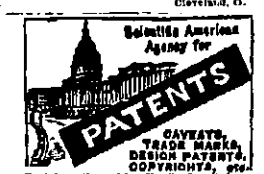
Chicago	9:00am	8:00am	1.45pm	Local Pl
St. Ft'ld				2:20pm
Harmond	10:39pm	9:07am		3:00am
Hobart	10:58pm	9.47am		10:10am
Valpar'so	11:36pm	10:37am		11:00am
Kan'kee		10:51am		11:46am
Knox	12:12am	11:00am	4:20pm	1:24pm
Argos	12:53am	11:24am		2:14pm
Ft Wayne	2:05am	2:40pm	6:25pm	4:20pm
Cleveland	10:00am	9:30pm	11:41pm
Buffalo	4:45pm		5:30am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:05pm		8:35am	Local P
Cleveland	7:15pm	6:00am	10:35am	2:00pm
Ft Wayne	4:45am	1:15pm	4:30pm	7:00am
Argos	4:10am	3:39pm		8:00pm
Knox	4:50am	4:20pm	6:25pm	10:10am
Kan'kee		4:05pm		11:45pm
Valpar'so	5:51am	4:39pm		12:47am
Hobart	6:27am	5:17pm		1:50pm
Harmond	6:46am	5:36pm		2:15pm
St. Ylsland				4:40pm
Chicago	7:40am	7:00pm	9:30am

Trains leaving Chicago at 8.35 a.m., Cleveland at 6.00 a.m. and local freights do not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Pullman Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
E. F. HOENER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.



CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., Publishers, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
HARRY RALSTRACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD.
WM. RALSTRACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50
Six Months - - .75
Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 5, 1896. NO. 5.

Poetry.

Waiting.

Throughout the silent darkness of the night,
When faith is dim, and swift uncertainty
Falls on the spirit's sin-beclouded sight:
I wait, Oh Lord; wait patiently for thee.

And when the glories of the new-day dawn,
Sweet from the heart out o'er life's boundless sea
To sink again when sunset's crimsons play,
I wait, Oh Lord; wait patiently for thee.

Teach me to wait, in patience hold my soul,
Until swift death reveal thy face to me;
Until beyond the portal's of earth's goal,
I wait, Oh Lord; wait patiently for thee.

Original.

Spirits in Prison.

A Sister writes, asking an exposition of 1 Pet. iii. 18-21. I will give the quotation as translated from the original Greek, by Doctors George Campbell, James Macknight, and Philip Doddridge, that we may get nearer the fountain head, and the real teaching of the Spirit of God, as revealed through the holy men of old.

"For even Christ once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God; being put to death indeed in the flesh, but made alive by the Spirit. By which also he made proclamation to the spirits in prison, who formerly were disobedient, when the patience of God once waited in the days of Noah, while an ark was preparing, in which few, that is, [illegible] were effectually saved through water."

Now, the usual teaching given us from this passage is, that the word prison means hell, and the spirits in it, are the immaterial, immortal spirits of those who perished in the flood, who are in this prison suffering the torments of hell fire. And that Christ went and preached to these spirits in prison.

As yet I have seen no philosophy that could demonstrate how literal fire can prey upon, and burn that which is immaterial, or not material; and furthermore how any thing can be literally burned, and yet not be consumed?

We are also taught that when once these spirits enter this prison, it is a finality, and repentance can no longer avail in their behalf. Such being the case, I never could see the sense in preaching to an audience that is beyond redemption.

But the question is, what does this passage really teach? It will be necessary in the first place to ascertain the meaning of the word "spirit," seeing the apostasy has created a almost universal impression, that it is a deathless inner man which escapes from the body at death.

The word spirit in either the English, Greek, or Hebrew languages is a word that is largely generic in its application, and has various applications but among them all it is never once used as taught by the apostasy. I quote the definitions from "Twelve Words."

The study of this word requires us to consider three Hebrew words, ob, neshamah, and ruach; and two Greek words, phantasm a, and pneuma.

The first of these (ob) occurring 16 times, is the only word rendered "familiar spirit," and in the singular and plural, is so rendered 15 times. It is usually translated in the Septuagint, by a term which signifies a ventriloquist; "and rightly," says Gesenius' Lexicon, "Since among the ancients this power of ventriloquism was often misused for purposes of magic. In Job xxxii. 19, the plural of ob is rendered "bottles,' probably because the ventriloquists in throwing their voice would so inflate their bodies as to resemble tightly filled bottles, which, in those days, were made of skins. This ob seems to have been the same kind of witchcraft called among the Greeks pneuma pythonos," a spirit of divination."

"It was a common idiom among the Jews to put spirit before any quality ascribed to a person, whether it be good or bad, mental or corporeal. Thus the spirit of fear, the spirit of meekness, the spirit of slumber, the spirit of jealousy, etc.

Neshamah occurs 24 times, and is rendered "breath" 12 times; "blast" 3 times; spirit twice; souls once (Isa. lvii. 16); "inspiration" once; and in the remaining five places it denotes concretely a thing that breatheth" or "hath breath," as Deut. xx. 16, 17, (and refers to mortal men that can be slain).

Ruach occurs about 386 times, and is rendered "spirit" about 235 times; wind 95 times; "breath" 28 times; mind 8 times; "blast" 4 times; "air," "anger," "courage," once each; and the balance in ten different different ways.

Phantasma is rendered "apparition," in R. V., and occurs only twice.

Pneuma occurring about 404 times, is rendered "spirit" about 275 times. Ruach and pneuma are employed to denote wind, air, breath, temper, disposition, affections, feelings, inclinations, and mortal men, as in 1 John iv. 1; 1 Pet. iii. 19; the last one, is the text under consideration. We find among the multitude of ways "spirit" is rendered, that it never once refers to dis-embodied immortal ghosts, but it does refer both to mortal men, and beasts.

Now, then, we are prepared to come directly to the exposition of the text 1 Pet. iii. 18-21.

The Diaglott reads: "Being put to death in the flesh, but made alive by the Spirit; by which also he preached to the spirits in prison." This harmonizes with the rendering given at the head of the article.

Who was it that preached to the spirits in prison? We are told that it was Christ, but the text don't say so. The nearest antecedent in the text, is "the spirit." "Christ" was the subject acted upon, and "made alive by the spirit," and "by which" "Spirit" "also" (he) God "preached to the spirits in prison."

It was God who made "him alive by the Spirit," and the phrase, "by which also," refers back to the same power which made Christ "alive by the Spirit." Hence, we have it, God made Jesus alive by the Spirit, and by the same spirit, God preached to the spirits in prison.

Peter says, "Holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit." Noah was the man whom God by means of the Holy Spirit "preached to the spirits in prison," and not Christ.

Notice, also, that there is a great deal of difference between preaching to spirits (or persons) that are already in prison, and preaching to them before they entered prison.

He is speaking here of an event that had already taken place, was in the past tense, "preached to the spirits (or persons) in prison," he did not enter the prison to preach to these spirits, or persons, but was simply relating the fact, that these spirits that were then in prison, had been preached to previously.

When did the preaching take place? "When the patience of God once waited in the days of Noah, while an ark was preparing." Christ was not born at this time, and consequently could not do any preaching to them. But God "made (Jesus) alive by the Spirit. By which (spirit) also he made proclamation to the spirits in prison, who were formerly disobedient when the patience of God once waited in the days of Noah," through whom, God by this Spirit preached to them.

The word "spirits" in this text, is the same as in 1 John iv. 1: "Beloved, believe not every spirit (person) but try the spirits (persons) whether they are of God: for many false prophets are gone out into the world." These "false prophets," are the spirits or persons we are to "try." The word "spirit" occurs also in verses 2 and 3, and relates to mortal people. In verse 6, we have the word "spirit," in a different sense. In James ii. 26, in a different sense still. "For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also." See the margin and you will see that the meaning of this word "spirit," in the Greek, is "breath."

What are we to understand by the word "prison." A prison is a place where captives are confined. The Bible uses these words with reference to death and the grave. See Isa. lxi. 1: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek, he hath sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, (prisoners) and the opening of the prison (grave) to them that are bound."

Isa. xlii. 7: "To bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison-house."

Job iii. 17, 18: "There the wicked cease from troubling; and there the weary are at rest. There the prisoners rest together."

There is no foundation in the passage under consideration for the common belief that Jesus entered hell-fire to preach to the supposed wicked immaterial, immortal spirits of those who are supposed to have entered this pit of fire when drowned at the flood. It would be folly to preach to those who are past redemption. Jesus was never guilty of such nonsense.

The facts are that God did preach to these people by his spirit, through Noah, at the time the ark was building, and that is all there is in it, except the impressive lesson to us, that in the day when the Son of God shall be revealed, the condition of things will be similar, and that the people will pay about as little attention to God's true message of life, as they did then. Nevertheless, it is our duty to faithfully proclaim the message, and not be discouraged, even if we do not have any better success than Noah did.

W. H. WILSON.

"Let Your Women Keep Silence."

[Written by Request.]

Again the question comes up, "Has woman any right to speak in the public congregation?"

I shall take the position, that she has the same right to let her voice be heard now, that Miriam had to lead and to sing; Deborah, to rule, Hannah to pray, and Huldah, to prophesy, in the assemblies of Israel in olden times. Music "was consecrated to its highest service in the worship of Jehovah," and "damsels, playing with timbrels" were in the choir of the temple, when psalms of thanksgiving and praise were sung.

Anna, the prophetess, spoken of by Luke, spake of Jesus to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem. Phoebe was a servant of the church at Cenchrea, Priscilla and Aquila, were Paul's helpers in Christ Jesus, they expounded the way of God to Apollos. Tryphena and Tryphosa and Persis labored much in the Lord, and Paul had other women-helpers, who labored with him. Acts xviii. 2, 18, 26; 2 Tim. iv, 19; Rom. xvi. 1, 2, 3, 4, 12; Phil. iv. 3. The Greek word for "labored" in Phil. iv. 3, is "sunathleo" and means "to strive along with any one." In Roman's xvi. 12, it is "Kopiao,"—"to labor," "to be wearied out."

It is the same word that is used by Paul when he says, "I labored more abundantly than they all," "not run in vain, neither labored in vain," "we both labor, and suffer reproach," etc.

A "helper" is "sunergos" "a fellow," or "joint worker." Phoebe was a "diakonis" or "minister." Her business was manifold, but whether a speaker or not, we cannot tell. The other cases carry weight. They are cases of one who spake of Jesus, in public, of others, who strove along with Paul, in the same kind of labor that he was laboring in, and who were his followers or joint workers. Priscilla traveled with Aquila and Paul, to Syria, and back to Ephesus, where she helped to instruct Apollos. In this case, she was suffered to teach, whether other women were or not.

The apostles, after the ascension of Jesus, continued in prayer and supplication with the women, and Mary the Mother of Jesus. Acts i. 14. Some of the Galileans, who spoke to the multitude on the day of Pentecost, must have been women, for Peter says: "This is that which was spoken of by the prophet Joel. And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh, and your sons, and your daughters shall prophesy * * * And on my servants and on my hand-maidens, I will pour out in those days of my Spirit and they shall prophesy."

The cloven fiery tongues, sat upon each of them, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak with tongues (or in other languages) as the Spirit gave them utterance. Acts. ii. 17, 18. The four virgin daughters of Philip, the evangelist, prophesied, Acts, xxi. 8, 9.

If these women might speak in tongues in public, and prophesy in public, why might not those of Corinth and of Ephesus? They certainly might, for Paul in the eleventh chapter of 1st Corinthians says, "But every woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered, dishonoreth her head." Women of the east are closely veiled when they go abroad, the eyes are the only part of the face that can be seen. It was the custom of the country in Paul's day that women be veiled. It was not thought a comely or proper thing for women to pray unto God without this customary veil. But if any man was contentious about not adhering to the custom it could be given up.

Yet the passage proves that women did pray and prophesy, with Paul's knowledge and consent, and that too, in the public gatherings, else would there be no sense in saying they dishonored their heads if they were not covered. "There is neither male nor female but ye are all one in Christ Jesus." says Paul in Gal.

How then are we to interpret the 14 chapter of 1st Corinthians, and 1 Tim. ii. 12, 13?

We have found that women may speak in tongues and may prophesy, or speak "unto men to edification and exhortation and comfort."

About what then, are they to keep silence? Upon what subject are they not permitted to speak? Of what must they learn of their husbands at home, that it was shameful to ask about in the church? I answer frankly that I do not know. But I do know that Paul would not contradict himself. He would not make regulations about women praying and prophesying in the church, and then, turn right around and say they must "not pray nor prophesy, but keep silence in the churches. Mosheim in his "History of Christianity" says, "In Rom. xvi. 12; the apostle describes Tryphena and Tryphosa, as laboring in the Lord; and Persis, another woman as having labored much in the Lord, or which is the same thing, for the sake of, or in the cause of the Lord [illegible] gives obedience."

CHARITY.

"Though I speak with the tongues of men and angels and have not charity I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." 1 Cor. xiii. 1.

Dear reader, did you ever seriously think how utterly useless and insignificant that person was in the sight of God, who lacks charity? The beloved Apostle Paul compares them to sounding brass or tinkling cymbal. Why is charity such a priceless treasure? Listen. Paul will tell you, "Charity suffereth long and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself; is not puffed up. Doth not behave itself unseemly. Seeketh not her own; is not easily provoked; thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the Truth. Beareth all things, believeth all things, endureth all things." Let us go back now to what Paul first says that charity does for the individual in possession of it, "They are long-suffering and kind." How often is seen the lack of this first principle. How few there be that are long-suffering and kind. We more often are the opposite, but Paul would have us know that one of the great needs we have is mercy, mercy toward our brethren. So let us be very careful not to judge hastily, but to entreat with kindness and patience. "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." "He shall have judgment without mercy, that hath showed no mercy." They are not envious, of all things to be dreaded it is envy. It is a root of bitterness that has caused countless sorrows. Charity cleanseth the heart from this dread fear. "They are not puffed up." It is not an unusual thing in these days to see people puffed up. People that think they are just a little better than nearly any one else, and delight in the uppermost seats in the synagogues. But charity vaunteth not herself, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own. If charity rules the heart, each will esteem others better than themselves and will by love serve one another. "They are not easily provoked. Oh, what a blessed thing it would be if we were all free from this fault. How many are provoked on the slightest pretext, and often say harsh, cruel things. Truly the "Tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity." But the "Fruit of righteousness is sown in peace." And where charity aboundeth, peace will also abound. "They will think no evil." It is a fact—that a great deal of trouble that arises finds its origin in evil thoughts. Some one imagines that another has done something wrong, they think so, and they tell their thoughts to some one else, and likely, that individual reports the matter as a truth, with more additions, and so the trouble begins. Let us, if we have not done so, at once, put evil thoughts far from us. Charity thinketh no evil. They will not rejoice in iniquity. Will not find pleasure in relating a story, that is vile, or using uncouth language. No wonder Paul says that charity never faileth, and he that lacks it is like sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal. Dear reader, as I write these lines, I wonder how many of us have charity. Without it Paul said he was nothing, or his work would profit him nothing. He might do every thing he could do outwardly, even to giving his life, yet if he had not charity it would be of no profit to him. Love must prompt our every action in the service of God, to be acceptable in his sight, and if that love abideth in our hearts it will burn out all dross. Then we can do just as the beloved apostle has said. But until then let us be sure that love is not perfected in our [illegible] hearts, and let us see to it that [illegible] get a supply of this oil before [illegible] too late.

R[illegible]

Warm prayers cannot come from cold hearts.

"Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous; and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart." Psa. xxxii. 11.

The Ripening Harvest.

The harvest is fast ripening for the sickle of judgment, both nationally and individualy. There are two crops to be gathered, first the earthly, then the heavenly. "And the angel thrust in his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast it into the great wine-press of the wrath of God." Rev. xiv. 19. "The Son of man shall send forth his angels and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend and that do iniquity and shall cast them into a furnace of fire, there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth" Matt. xiii. 41. All earthly governments must give way and become like the chaff of the summer's threshing floor, "And the wind carried them away that no place was found for them." "And the stone that smote the image become a great mountain and filled the whole earth." Thank God there is coming a mighty change to this poor groaning earth. Man, an enemy to his God and his fellowman as well as to himself will be friendly to all. Tyrany, oppression, and misrule is the order of today. Human greed to a great extent rules the world nationally and individually today, the few hold nearly the entire wealth of the world while the untold millions are asking out a miserable existence in poverty, hunger, and want, but thank God, there is a time coming when the "poor of the people shall be regarded and the children of the needy, and the oppressors be broken to pieces" "and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom." A host of murdered prophets and untold millions of martyrs looked forward as the remnant of the church are looking today to this grand gathering, out from the heartless past, out from tho martyrs graves, out from the briny deep, out from the fiery furnace of affliction, out of all the sorrow, crying and tears, and broken hearts, God will redeem a mighty host to himself, that he will claim as his own, for they have been faithful and true, their robes are washed white and clear in the blood of the lamb, they have come up through great tribulation. What a noble company of overcomers to begin the new creation. O how clean, how pure, standing without fault before the throne of God. Dear reader will you and I be ons of those gathered at that harvest as the jeweled ones.

Yours working for eternal life.

B. W. WOODWARD.

Life is a building. It rises slowly, day by day, through the years. Every new lesson we learn lays a block on the edifice which is rising silently within us. Every new experience, every touch of another life on ours, every influence that impresses us, every book we read, every conversation we have, every act of our commonest days, adds something to the invisible building.—J. R. Miller, D. D.

Learn to entwine with your prayers the small cares, the trifling sorrows, the little wants of daily life. Whatever affects you—be it a changed look, an altered tone, an unkind word, a wrong, a wound, a demand you cannot meet, a change you cannot notice, a sorrow you cannot disclose—turn it into prayer and send it up to God. Disclosures you may not make to man you may make to the Lord. Men may be too little for your great matters, God is not too great for your small ones. Only give yourself to prayer —whatever [illegible] that call[illegible]

Please Renew, Or write and say how soon you can remit.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

"THE example of good men is a visible philosophy."

"THE counsel thou wouldst give to another first keep thyself."

"POVERTY is the burden of one, wealth the burden of another."

"To have high thoughts of self is to have low thoughts of God."

"You must not expect the wind at your back in the voyage of life."

"FROGS cease from croaking when the light shines on them."

"THE world thinks little of God's people, but it expects much of them."

"HE who comes up to his own idea must have an exceedingly low standard."

IT is worthy of note that the wicked line of Cain became extinct at the deluge, while the line of Seth was continued down to Christ.

"ROUSSEAU, a noted infidel, observed that the supposition of the four gospels, in which the character of Jesus is delineated—being a forgery, is more incredible than what they relate. Men forge the character of Jesus! They may with equal plausibility be suspected of forging the universe."

"IF Christ did not rise, we have not only to explain how the belief in his resurrection came to be received without any previous hope which could lead to its reception, but also how it came to be received with that intensity of conviction which could invest the life and person of Jesus with attributes never before assigned to any one, and that by Jews who had been reared in the strictest monotheism."

DR. BAYLEY in the "Morning Light" says the resurrection of the body has no foundation in Scripture." The Scriptural doctrine says he, "was that man never died. This grand truth is implanted in our nature. Talk to children about heaven and the angels and they will listen for hours." Just so Mr. Bayley; children will listen with remarkable interest to any thing in the shape of a fable; see 2 Tim. iv. 4. Your grand truth, however, is unfortunately, only the grand murderous lie of the serpent. Gen. iii. 4.

BRETHREN and Sisters, in Eph. i. 17-23 we have the subject matter of Paul's prayers for the church at Ephesus. And among many other rich blessings he desires them to know what is the exceeding greatness of God's power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power which he wrought in Christ when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heaven, far above every authority and government and power and Lordship and every name being named, not only in this, but also in the future age, and subjected all things under his feet, and constituted him a Head over all things for the congregation which is his body—the full development of him who is filling all things with all." What a sublime thought it is that God's power will be exerted toward us and raise and exalt us as he did the Anointed One,—as stated plainly in 1 Cor. vi. 14 "And God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise us up, by his own [illegible] for sin- [illegible] that Gospel of the Kingdom.

A Reply to "The [illegible]stian Oracle." No. 6.

[illegible] what is supposed to be the gospel of Christ, and which is further supposed to have superceded the gospel of the kingdom preached before the crucifixion, in the 15th chapter of first Corinthians. The gross error that there is no resurrection of the dead had crept into the church at Corinth, and this part of the Apostolic letter was written to correct that error. And when he says he declares, unto them the gospel which he preached unto them, it did not mean that the whole gospel, was summed up in the facts relating to the death, burial, resurrection and ascension of Jesus, but that these were among the first things preached to them, and that they then accepted the facts which they had now rejected.

Jesus commanded the apostles to preach the gospel of the kingdom in all the world, and that included Corinth. And the apostle Paul called the Thessalonian brethren to God's kingdom and glory, see chap. 2. v. 12. And he expounded, testified and preached the kingdom of God at Rome for two whole years, see Acts xxviii. 23, 31. In the 8th of Acts we are informed that Philip went down to the city of Samaria and preached Christ unto them;" and at the 12th verse, it says, "But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and," —something more—"the name of Jesus Christ they were baptized both men and women."

This is infallible testimony that there is a great deal more to the gospel of Christ than the facts mentioned. Evidently the Corinthians were not astray on the things of the kingdom and the name of Jesus Christ, and needed no correction on those points, hence no reference is here made to it.

We suppose the Oracle man will not deny that it was just as necessary for the Corinthians to obtain the name of Jesus as it was for the three thousand Jews on the day of Pentecost, because equally necessary for them to obtain remission of sins. We presume also, that he will hardly say that it was not as necessary for the Corinthians to believe the things concerning the kingdom of God as it was for the Samaritans, although it cuts his theory in two. But if he should say that the things concerning the kingdom of God preached to the Samaritans related to, and announced, that the kingdom had come, and was set up on the day of Pentecost, it would be only his say-so, because Jesus in Matt. xxiv. 14 positively says that it was the gospel they were preaching before Pentecost, that was to be preached in all the world after Pentecost; and that settles it. He said, "This gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world."

That that gospel which Jesus said should be preached in all the world, was so preached, we have absolute proof in Col. i. 23. It says, "If ye continue in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to every creature which is under heaven, whereof I Paul am made minister."

The gospel that had been preached to every creature, must have been the gospel of the kingdom which Jesus said should be preached;—the gospel he himself preached, because the belief of it begat a hope in the believer. If the kingdom had come, how could they hope for it to come? They certainly hope for the kingdom to come. It was future. It had not been set up.

It was because the kingdom was future that they needed a resurrection from the dead to inherit it. And it was the resurrection of Christ, that begat in them a hope of resurrection for themselves, see 1 Pet. i. 3 for positive proof. Why was Paul so anxious to correct this error of some in the church at Corinth? Answer. James ii. 5 says, "Hearken, my beloved brethen, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world, rich in faith and," and, what? Possessors of the kingdom [illegible]ich he set up on the day of [illegible]cost? Is that the way it reads? [illegible]ndeed no, but; HEIRS of the [illegible]gdom which he hath promised to them that love him"

Where did God promise a kingdom to those that love [illegible] [illegible]bly in Daniel vii. 18, 27. The saints of the Most High are those that love him. They are to "possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever."

Where is the promised kingdom to be located? Dan. vii. 27 answers, "that the kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom and all dominions shall serve and obey him.

WHEN shall the saints—those that love God—come into possession of that promised kingdom? The answer is given by Jesus in Matt. xxv. 31-34 "when the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the holy angels with him.....Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father" [because they loved him] "inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

So we have found the kingdom James says was promised to them that love God,—the kingdom which those who love God are heirs to, and the kingdom the Collosians hoped for, and the kingdom Paul says God had called the Thessalonians to,—and the kingdom Jesus said it was the Father's good pleasure to give the Little Flock, and the precise time when he will give it to them.

The Oracle man would have us believe that nobody preached the coming of that promised kingdom after Pentecost. If he does not this is to be entertained for a moment, let him explain how people could have believed it and hoped for it in all the world if it was not preached?

The "facts" do not contain the gospel of the kingdom; the gospel of the kingdom contains the facts, —the facts do not teach of themselves, the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins and obtaining the name of Christ, nor the gospel of the kingdom. And therefore the three-fact gospel is a mutilated gospel, and of itself useless.

What is the use of a sacrifice for sin and a resurrection from the dead if no kingdom has been promised of God where the blessed can enjoy blessedness. Where does the Oracle man expect to go to, seeing he says it is exceedingly stupid of us to say that "belief of what God covenants to give is reckoned to us for righteousness?" Does he expect to go wherever he pleases?

And by the way this suggests the inquiry if it is necessary to believe the facts? If so, why? Can any benefit be derived from them if they are not believed? If not, then do they not contain promises of resurrection life to the believer? If so, all to pieces goes another of his assumptions. If he is ever justified,—by faith—he must be justified,—justified by faith in what God promises to give, and, of course, what he has already given and done, as well.

The 15th of 1 Cor. says the Anointed One died for our sins, according to the Scriptures. That the Anointed One was buried, and that the Anointed One rose again the third day according to the Scriptures, Isa. liii. 5-10; Acts ii. 25-31; Psa. xvi. 8-11. And the Anointed One was seen of Cephus, then of the twelve and 500 others at one time. We believe this out and out; we believe it with all our heart. But the Oracle man, poor soul, does not believe what he thinks is the veritable gospel that saves,—the facts. According to him the person who died had to rise, ascend to heaven to be crowned as Christ(?) In direct opposition to much testimony above that the Anointed One died and rose again. Can he tell us what virtue there would be in his death if he had not been anointed?

In our next we propose to show that no kingdom of God was set up at Pentecost.

(To be continued.)

Original.

"Follow Me."

"If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me." John xxi. 22.

The power that enabled the prophets to foretell future events, enabled them also to forgive future [illegible] [illegible]d for the purpose of [illegible]used them [illegible] [illegible] and heard the declaration that the whole earth is filled with his glory. vi. 1-4. This will be fulfilled in the appointed times. The three disciples on the mount saw the Son of Man coming into his kingdom. Matt. xvi; xvii 1-14. They beheld the majesty and glory in which he will come. Now Jesus did not say that John would not die. "But if I will that ye tarry till I come, what is that to thee?" Now that disciple whom Jesus loved, wrote the book the title of which is, "Revelation of Jesus Christ." In this book he bares record of the Word of God whatever things he saw. Here we have a record of the manner of his coming. i. 7. In the Book we have also a record of the events that immediately precede his coming, that John might witness his coming and the events that precede his coming. He was in spirit in the Lord's day. He was borne away in spirit into this noted day, as he was borne away into the wilderness. xvii. 1-4. As he was borne away in spirit to a great and high mountain. xxi. 3 and 10. Now as he was in spirit in the Lord's day and heard and saw and wrote from this standpoint, he that reads to understand must read from this standpoint. The book must not only be studied from this standpoint, but it must be considered also in the light of the covenants of promise, and the types of the old covenant and all other types. He we find golden lampstands, golden crowns, golden bowls, a golden altar and a golden censer. Here we find the plagues, the wilderness and the woman—the church in the wilderness—here we find the Asia, the great River Euphrates and Babel the great. Now the book of the vision was written in sections or parts, and written mainly by Daniel and John. From Daniel's standpoint it was an unfinished book. Words were sealed up. From Rev. x. 4, we learn how words were sealed up. They were not written. The finishing words of the vision were withheld from Daniel and revealed by God the Father to Jesus Christ, and written by John till the book was finished, and as the words were sealed up until the time of the end, John to finish the book must needs write from this standpoint. It will be seen that the portion written by John in a special sense concerns the servants of Jesus Christ, and that said servants are to be found in the churches of the vision, for the book is addressed to them. i. 4-11; xxii. 16. The case stands like this, the time comes when the end is at hand, and a special work is to be done. Hence a special message to the workers. It was not necessary for servants of past generations to understand these things, for they could take no part in this closing work. The harvest could not be kept, the testimony could not be finished and the trumpets could not be sounded until these things were due, and now he that reads to understand, must dismiss tradition, superstition and false interpretations, and hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

J. C. KIMBEY.

A New Discovery.

The lately discovered manuscript of the gospels—written in Syriac—is causing some discussion among scholars. It was discovered in the library of the convent of St. Catharine on Mt. Sinai. The very place where God gave the commandments to Moses—ages before. This convent is a very old one. It was built by the Emperor Justinian nearly one thousand four hundred years ago. It was in this same library that Lischendorf discovered the oldest Greek uncial of the New Testament in A. D. 1842. In 1892 two cultured ladies from Cambridge visited the sacred spot, called there largely by the hallowed associations surrounding it, and partly cherishing a hope that they might be so fortunate as to add to the wealth of Scripture lore already in the possession of scholars—by new discoveries. In this last desire, as the sequel proves they were wonderfully successful. One day in their search they came upon an old Syriac Palimpsest of three hundred and fifty-eight pages. It was so old that its leaves were glued together by time, and the least [illegible] to crumble. The question naturally arrives here in the minds of our readers—as to what a palimpsest is? It is an old manuscript that has been partially erased by scraping or rubbing with a pumice stone, and then used a second time. This is accounted for the fact that writing material was scarce in those days. The second writing in this case bore the date A. D. 778—and was a biographical sketch of female saints. Many of the words of the older writing were totally erased. But the ladies were able to trace out the words—"da Mathe," "da Marcus" "da Luca," etc. They photographed the entire manuscript and returned to England. The learned men of the English University were so excited over the find, that several of them returned to the convent with the two ladies. Upon the application of hydrosulphate of ammonia, the letters of the original manuscript were sufficiently restored to enable the experts to copy the entire work in forty days.

Now as to the results thus far reached. This manuscript is variously dated from 350 to 500. The hand writing nearly agrees with another Syriac manuscript in the British Museum, written A. D. 411. All scholars agree that it was not written later than the fifth century. The manuscript cannot in any sense be called a rival of our Greek Gospels for no scholar doubts but that our gospels were written originally in Greek, with the possible exception of Matthew. There are some very curious things found in this manuscript. I will quote a part of one text here. John iii. 6: last sentence, "That which is born of the Spirit is Spirit—because God is a living Spirit."

One other thing is causing some comment, especially among those who would make the Savior naught but a sinful man, and that is the statement in the manuscript concerning the paternity of Jesus. The manuscript says—Matt. i. 16: "Joseph (to whom was betrothed the Virgin Mary) begat Jesus who is called Christ, and Joseph took his wife, and she bore him a son." Joseph is here distinctly called the father of Jesus—and forthwith some will have it, that the story of the miraculous conception of Christ is a myth. Let us read a little farther, Matt. i. 18-20, "And the birth of Christ was on this wise; when Mary his mother was espoused to Joseph. When they had not come near one to another—she was found with child of the Holy Ghost. Then Joseph her husband, because he was just, did not wish to expose Mary, and was minded quietly to repudiate her, but while he thought of these things the angel of the Lord appeared unto him." Here we have a direct affirmation of the miraculous birth of Christ, and that two in the same chapter contains the statement that Joseph begat Jesus. Now the question is—which is the interpolation. Here the text critics are alone competent to speak—and they have spoken in no uncertain tones, and their decision is against the first statement. And so the mouths of the gainsayers are stopped. Such Mr. Editor is in brief a statement of a competent authority. I might have written much more, but will have to put it off until another time. But I will give you an article later if this finds admission into your columns.

CHAS. W. RUSSELL.

Conference Report.

Editor Restitution:

The first Quarterly Conference of the Church of God in Nebraska was held in South Frontier Co., beginning Dec. 5th, as previously published, Elders Adams and Prime doing the preaching. We had a splendid meeting throughout with good attendance and good attention. Quite a few were in attendance both from Furnas County and North Frontier. The business meeting was held Dec. 6th. The following are the minutes of the same. Meeting called to order by President. After singing Elder J. T. Prime offered prayer. In the absence of Secretary C. T. Story was chosen secretary pro. tem. Evangelist having been sick during the last quarter, had no report of labors to make. Assistant Evangelist's report as follows: number of discourses preached thirteen; number baptized five; number of days labor 17. New business: Moved we allow Bro. Adams half pay for last month. Carried. A report of North Frontier County Church by S. J. Steadman was read, [illegible] a letter from Sister Etta Johns of Blair. In the absence of the secretary of the Church in South Frontier Bro. Jason Welton gave report of same. Bro. Newell also gave a short additional report to North Frontier. All were in good order and holding fast the words spoken. It was moved and carried that we hold the next quarterly conference at Moorefield. Moved and carried we adjourn. By request of President the minutes of meeting were withheld until secretary and treasurer could send in their report. As yet we have no report from secretary. The following is the report of the treasurer to Dec. 1, 1895. Amount received as follows: Sept. 10th, $68.40; Nov. 27th, $0.41; Sept. 10th, expense fund $15.10; total $89.91. Paid out Sept. 10th evangelist $5.00; Oct. 20th, $60.00; Sept. 10th, expense fund Elder Myers $15.10; Sept. 18th evangelist $1.90; total $82.00; amount on hand $4.01. Will say in conclusion we had as good a meeting as we ever attended. How good it seems to see brethren dwell together in unity. May we ever so live is my prayer. Yours in hope.

C. T. STORY, Sec'y, Pro. Tem.

OBITUARY.

J. A. Griffith was born in Wells County, Ind., May 27, 1838; died Jan. 10, 1896. In 1876 Brother Griffith, wife and daughter became obedient to the faith through the ministry of Bro. Halstead. Since then his membership has been with the church at Roll, Indiana. His earnest devotion to the cause of his Master had endeared him to the brotherhood. Being of good report to them without. A large audience assembled at the house of worship and listened while the writer showed how Christ solved the problem of future life through a resurrection to eternal life. The church has lost an earnest worker, and the community a worthy citizen. The wife and daughter sorrow, but not as those who have no hope. Now, we are filling out the record and may a loving Father help us to fill the pages with good deeds.

J. F. WAGONER.

Mariah C. Musselmen, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Clemmer, was born Feb. 10th, 1843; died Jan. 18th, 1896. Age 52 years, 11 mo. and 2 days. Was united in marriage to Cyrus Musselman Oct. 1, 1863. To this union four children were born, three of whom survive. Sister Musselman became obedient to the faith in 1875, accepting the law of pardon, faith and obedience, the divine process wrought through that beautiful symbol of a resurrection to eternal life, baptism into the Anointed Name, which relation she sustained until her death. The death of Sister Musselman was due in a great measure to intense grief through the loss by death of a loved daughter. This with the silent working of that dread enemy typhoid, was too much for the sensitive and sympathetic nature, and death came quietly to her relief. In her delirium tender inquiries were made about Synthia whom her fancy painted as being restored to life. Let us hope that this was a view of that glorious resurrection to eternal life seen through the dimness of mental and physical suffering. Blessed thought! May this fancy become a glorious, living reality. Jesus will come, the righteous dead will be raised incorruptible, not to become a prey to grief, not a victim for typhoid to slowly consume, but to glow for ever with the vigor of immortality. Words of comfort were suggested by Bro. Musselman's tearful question, "Bro. Wagoner can you show me a picture to help me bear my deep grief?" Yes, inspiration has painted it. Rev. xxi. It is the silver lining of a dark cloud that covers human history.

J. F. WAGONER.

Do not dare to live without some clear intention toward which your living shall be bent. Mean to be something with all your might. Do not dare to think that a child of God can worthily work out his career, or worthily serve God's other children, unless he does both in the love and fear of God their Father.—Phillips Brooks.

PORTRAITS.

To the many friends of Brother and Sister Woodward we are pleased to announce that we have arranged with Tuttle & Petcher, Artists, to make for us pictures of these two earnest workers. We will have them in two sizes. Cabinet size is familiar to every one, post paid to any address for 50 cents. The larger size about 5x8 inches are $1.00 a pair. These pictures are fine, mounted on the best cards, and every body who has seen them say they are excellent likenesses—the best Brother and Sister Woodward ever had taken. Friends who are personally acquainted will all want them, and many who know this couple by report will want to get acquainted in this way. Send to this office and we will mail them to you.

Dear ones in the Faith:

Some one will want to know where we are, and what we are doing. We are at a town called Fairfield, in Lenawee County, Mich. Mr. Grandy an influential man in the town owns the church building which was once occupied and owned by the "Christian" denominations. It is a good, large, comfortable building. Last evening Sunday 20th, it was packed full, and many had to leave who could not get a seat. The interest is intense and people are studying the Bible and asking questions, as never before. The question has been asked several times, "Why do not our preachers tell us these things?" This is virgin soil, the gospel never finding its way here before. Our prayer is that God's promises to the children of men may find lodgement in the minds of the people, and they be found inquiring the way to be saved.

M. A. WOODWARD.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by [illegible] known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	42.10
Job Banes	2.50
Mrs. F. E. Bowles	.50
Mrs. J. Skinner	.50
C. E. Hatch	3.50
Mary M. French	.50
Sarah Hadden	3.00
Arlos Siple	3.00
Alice Kerr	.50
Mrs. F. H. Prentice	.50
Mary A. Patchell	.50

THE SPECIAL EVANGELIST FUND.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published,	$284.78
Mrs. C. W. Russell,	4.00
Mrs. A. M. Siple	5.00

Cripple Creek, Colorado,

Is now attracting attention in all parts of the world, on account of the marvelous discoveries of gold which have been made in that vicinity. The North-Western Line, with its unrivaled equipment of solid vestibuled trains of palace sleeping cars, dining cars, and free reclining chairs, daily between Chicago and Colorado, offers the best of facilities for reaching Cripple Creek. For tickets and full information apply to ticket agents, or address W. B. Kniskern, General Passenger and Ticket Agent Chicago & North-Western Railway, Chicago, Ill.—Feb. 19.

"'All things are yours.' Verily, it is no small property into possession of which thou hast come, O Christian! The manifold treasures make them serviceable to you; then use them also for your salvation. All are yours; try all, learn from them all, make use of all, and let their manifold gifts and the fruits of their labors help you to the good fight of faith."

POETRY.

Consolation.

There is a land where beauty can not fade,
Nor sorrow dim the eye;
Where true love shall not droop, nor be dismayed,
And none shall ever die!
Where is that land? Oh, where?
For I would hasten there;
Tell me—I fain would go,
For I am weary with a heavy woe!
The beautiful have left me all alone;
The true, the tender, from my path have gone!
Oh! guide me with thy hand,
If thou dost know that land.
For I am burdened with oppressive care,
And I am weak and fearful with despair.
Where is it? Tell me where!

Friend, thou must trust in him who trod before
The desolate paths of life:
Must bear in meekness, as he meekly bore,
Sorrow and pain, and strife!
Think how the Son of God
These thorny paths has trod;
Think how he longed to go,
Yet tarried for thee, the appointed hour;
Think of his weariness in places dim,
Where no man comforted or cared for him!
Think of the blood-like sweat,
With which his brow was wet;
Yet how he prayed, unaided and alone,
In that great agony: "Thy will be done!"
Friend do not thou despair;
Christ from the heaven of heavens, will hear thy prayer.

Original.

Intolerance.

"One thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see.—They answered Him and said unto him, Thou wast altogether born in sins, and dost thou teach us? And they cast him out." John ix.

A Baptist pastor asked the writer why certain life believers teaching in his Sunday school would not unite with his church, especially as his denomination had no man-made creed and permitted all teaching based on Scripture. The writer accepted an invitation to preach in their pulpit, received this statement in good faith. Two discourses were delivered on different occasions to full houses, mostly from other churches, (the regular attendance being small) and many expressions of appreciation were tendered.

The sermons mainly consisted of viva voce quotations from Scripture, personal views being purposely suppressed. In a week or so, the minister, (perhaps under pressure from his denominational superiors) concluded that "such" "Anti-Baptistic views" would break up his congregation, as all good Baptists go directly to Heaven at death, and are expected to believe that the Kingdom of Heaven is in them (just as it was in the wicked Pharisees to whom Christ addressed the words, and who crucified him.)

The moral seems to be that, (after all assurances to the contrary,) there are "Baptistic Views" but that they shun the light of Scripture, and no presentation of conflicting Scripture is tolerated. Our pastor in fact, like the Gideonites of old, "does work willily" when "making a league" with his victims, and apes tolerance even to extent of (professedly) permitting free thought and "Scriptural Views:" but once ensnared, "Baptistic Views" replace these "Scriptural views" and the silly butterfly is blindfolded, gagged, and bound hand and foot, perhaps in preparation for the "outer darkness" reserved for those without a wedding garment, when the King comes. Math. xxii. 13.

With the spirit of emulation forbidden by the Word of God (Gal. v. 20.) this church has incurred a heavy debt in building its meeting house, the members are poor, there is a mortgage to pay, and the "borrower being servant to the lender," there is no freedom or escape but in secession.

The second sermon was on the kingdom and it was made clear that Scripture upholds the views held by the late Dr. J. A. Gordon, a noted Baptist authority, who, with other prominent Baptist preachers, reject "Baptistic Views," as here set forth, as unscriptural.

No reply was attempted from the pulpit, but the pastor (perhaps ignorantly) made the astounding assertion that the late Dr. Gordon suppressed his views. If this be true he was guilty before God and man of believing one thing and teaching another that he knew to be false, which is incredibly shameful, whether it be true the public who have Dr. Gordon's writings can judge for themselves.

Here is a "church of the five foolish virgins," who have no oil in their lamps, may not use what little they have or are not permitmitted to go and buy from them that sell. Its policy is, not to make growing and inteligent Christians, but subservient church members, who hold their peace and help to pay off the mortgage and build up a large and fashionable congregation. No desire is encouraged to search the Scriptures, or preach the Scriptures, and as a result they do not know and so can not believe the Scriptures. The desire is to suppress anquiry or free thought, to say as little as possible and nothing that can offend sensitive sinners or wealthy worldlings, or endanger that spurious "cherubic harmony" that can only exist where spiritual growth and individuality are stifled in conception.

In such churches the sermons are mumby-pamby written essays, the prayer-meetings (chilled at the outset by tedious and rapid addresses from the pastor (degenerate into parrot like assertions of salvation without point, based (not on faith, founded on intelligent belief, but) on a "Baptism of the Spirit" neither understood nor explainable, the blind unbelief which is sure to err. No wonder outsiders are employed to teach their Sunday Schools. The marvel is they have schools at all.

Such churches are following the downward path of the "Christian Church" at Cleveland, Ohio, which has inaugurated a "new movement" and receives into fellowship unbaptized persons. Probably on this "liberal" basis the "Union Church," of Anti-Christ will be founded, where salvation will be (promised) freeand saint and sinners alike will be "cordially invited" to step in "pay their money and take their choice" of belief.

There are immersed "professors" in the sprinkling churches in this same town; but these decline to renounce the present membership, saying, they can pursue the silent policy where they are, that they saved, for the spirit tells them so; they don't want to enquire, they cant understand the Scriptures any more than their pastors; and they havn't time to search for themselves, I don't want to, any way; that studying the Scriptures disturbs the conscience and leads to discussion and unpleasantness; that their members and ministers are too apt to quarrel among themselves as it is, they want to be left alone; and that disturbers, like Christ should "depart out of their coasts," it does not signify what they believe, they are doing the best they know how, and somehow it will all come right, and that God is good, and winks at card playing, dancing and worldliness generally, because in his infinite wisdom and goodness he has provided a law of salvation he knows we can neither understand nor obey.

What is the mark of the beast? Dense darkness, gross ignorannce, and violent opposition to the truth and enlightment. These "Shepherds who cannot understand" (Is lvi. 11,) shut up the Kingdom of Heaven against men; for they neither go in themselves nor suffer them that are entering togo in. As for the sheep, they act like sheep. When the wolves in sheep's clothing fight the Lord's watch-dogs they make no effort to save themselves. If the wolves win, they fall an easy prey; if the dogs win they scatter on the mountains and are devoured one by one.

It never seems to occur to the sheep, except in individual cases, that the contest to them means life eternal or death, and if the many who strive (Luke xiii. 24,) shall fail to enter in, that the silly or indifferent sheep, who do not strive, will surely be sufferers.

Friends! Your own personal church may possibly be less intolerant than others (all are not alike) atany time there may be a change, or you may have to move.

Suppose the new minister, or church, objects to your "Anti-Baptistic" or "Anti Methodistic" views and bring pressure to bear!!! —"The simple believeth every word but the prudent man looketh well to his going." Prov. xiv. 15. "Be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves; but beware of men." Mark x. 16.

HENRY T. BAKER.

Prepare for Death—Prepare for Life.

Today, and as far back, and farther, as any who read this can remember, the ministers of the denominations have been sincerely and earnestly exhorting their flocks to "prepare for death." They sincerely exhort to prepare for death because they sincerely believe (most of them) that death is the gate to immediate endless joy; but they who understand the gospel and God's plan of salvation for fallen man, and "seek for glory, and honor, and immortality, everlasting life," and expect to put it on at the resurrection, are "preparing to live" and not to die.

There are two deaths, the first and second. Adam, by his disobedience, has already prepared mankind for the first death: "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned"—Rom. v. 12. And all shall die this death except they that are alive at Christ's coming. The first death none are exempt from, except those that are alive at the Savior's coming; but the second death we can escape if we be "overcomers" "He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death." Rev. ii. 11. It is the second death, then, that we must strive to escape from, and not prepare for, but prepare to live. We will give a few references, as to how to "prepare for death," and "prepare for life."

PREPARE FOR DEATH.

"Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetuess, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, back-biters, haters of God, despiteful, proud boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful; who, knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death."—Rom. i. 29, 32. These are some of the many steps to be taken to prepare man to be "worthy of death," and James i. 13-15, reads. "Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God; for God cannot be tempted, neither tempteth he any man; but every man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then, when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death."

Rom. vi. 20, 21, 13: "For when ye were the servants of sin ye were free from righteousness. What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death, for the wages of sin is death." The "end of those things is death" the second death. The first death comes to all as a heritage from Adam, though we may hasten it greatly and shorten our lives by disobedience of natural law, which is God's law also, and should be kept as sacred as his written law; but the second death is the death which we must prepare to escape if we would live always. The forgoing quotations point out the way of preparation for the second death, and we refer the reader to many more, not wishing to occupy valuable space in quoting them in full Rom. xii. 2; 1 Cor. iii. 10, 17; read Gal. v. 19,-21; vi. 7. 8. Eph. v. 3-5, 11, 12.

PREPARE FOR LIFE.

"To them who by patient continuance in well doing, seek for glory, and honor, and immortality, eternal life"—Rom. ii. 7. "But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life. For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord." Rom. vi. 22, 23.

"That ye put off, concerning the former conversation, the 'old man,' which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind, and that ye put on the 'new man,' which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness; wherefore, putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor."—Eph. iv, 22,-25.

"Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry. But now ye also put off all these; [illegible] filthy communication, [illegible] mouth, and have put on the 'new man,' which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him."—Col. iii. 5, 8, 10.

Peter (i. 5-8,) enumerates many things which should be followed after in order to "prepare for life." "If ye do these things ye shall never fail," he says, "for so an entrance shall be administered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." Verses 10, 11. See also Rev. ii. 7, 11, 17, 26-28; iii. 5 12, 21; xxi. 7; xxii. 14.

"If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he hath robbed, walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die. None of his sins that he hath committed shall be mentioned unto him; he hath done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live."—Ezek. xxiii, 15, 16.

The two ways are open to us—life and death. Which will we choose? "Blessed and holy is he that hath a part in the first resurrection, on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years"—Rev. xx. 6. If we are accounted worthy of having a part in the first resurrection, we will escape the second death; and, think of it, be worthy to reign with Christ in that blessed restitution age. "Straight is the gate and narrow the way that leadeth unto life," and "broad is the way that leadeth unto death." Few walk in the "narrow way," but many travel the "broad road." The narrow way travelers are the righteous, the separated, the overcoming ones, and in their straight walks and godly lives they receive a "recompense now in this life and in the world to come eternal life," if they continue faithful; but the broad road, so easy to walk in, leadeth unto death, and they that walk in it are worldly and their pleasures are shallow and fleeting and soon come to an end.

Reader, which will you choose? Which road will you travel? The night is far spent, the day is at hand. The beloved Savior calls to you today. He is soon coming after his waiting bride, and then the door will be shut. Come into the fold ere it is too late. The signs of the times tell us his advent is near. Put on his sin-covering name and "prepare to live."

Yours in hope,
J. S. HATCH.

A Protest.

Dear Restitution:

In behalf of what I think to be my duty towards my Savior, and as THE RESTITUTION is the only medium through which we (who have had the all-saving name named upon us, have of expressing our unshaken faith in the testimony which God (who cannot lie) Jesus, Peter, John and others who spake as they were directed by the Holy Spirit, and testified to the fact that Jesus is the Son of God, and today in the 19th century, and in the enlightened State of Iowa, we find men and brothers in Christ carried away with the apostate Anti-Christian doctrine which is now being promulgated by those who are trying to teach us to believe that recent developments have brought to light certain gospels which teach the dogma that Jesus is only the son of Joseph, and yet those [illegible] scripture proof [illegible] and prepare yourselves and establish your hearts and stand firm against this last effort of Satan's to crowd Jesus out of God's plan of redemption. The first lie of Satan's is doing its work, and we who are blessed with the true gospel know too well how many of our hearts have bled to see those of our dear friends going down to the silent grave deluded with the old, old lie, "Thou shalt not die." Now brothers and sisters, this last device of Satan is his master stroke, and if he can work this in the Church of God, and [illegible] to count the atoning blood of Jesus as nothing more than any other martyr then it is his blood does not cleanse us from sin, and we count the precious blood of Jesus an unholy thing, and we all know what the consequence will be. I do hope all our Church who will not be deceived by this last cunning device of the evil one, will enter their earnest protest at once, as I am certain the advocacy of Josephism will result in a breach in the Church of God. If Jesus is not the Son of God then I am not an adopted child of God from the fact I was not baptized into the name of Father, Son and Holy Spirit. If Jesus is not the Son of God the Jews are exonerated from the charge of killing the Son of God, and it follows they (the Jews) knew just what they were doing. If he was not the Son of God then the Jews ought to have killed him, as he was nothing but an imposter. If he was not the Son of God, then the Jews may be right in looking for the Christ yet to come.

Dear RESTITUTION, I sound this warning in behalf of the few of the one faith here in Polk County, Iowa.

The reason which calls for the above is from the fact of the appearance of a letter in a certain paper published in Iowa, giving an account of the discovery of the four gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. And it occurred to my mind that the find was so much like the Joseph Smith find, which deluded so many credulous people. Now, as THE RESTITUTION is the only medium through which I can file my disapprobation to any curtailment of the merits of God's only begotten Son, I hope you will give this a place in your paper, as I know you to be true to Jesus, our coming King. When I think only a few days since we or, the sectarian preachers and Father Nugent held what they termed a ministerial association, and for what? For the establishing of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, and thus deprive Jesus and his atoning blood of any part in the redemption plan. No immersion, no contact with the blood that cleanses from sin. Yes, the only name given that will ever save.

Yours for the right.
J. ANTHONY.

Answer to Questions.

Dear Brother, by your permission I will answer the letters of the many brethren concerning this territory. Tempe, Arizona, is my Post Office address. I was in this place all through last March and I only saw one cloudy day, and the wind did not blow hard enough to blow a straw hut off a man's head. On April 3rd I left here and went back to Kansas, stayed there until the latter part of August. I again came to Arizona, and today is the 19th day of Dec. 1896, which makes me nearly 5 months here and in all this time it seemed to me like May days in Texas except no windstorm. The many questions asked by the brethren and no stamps sent would nearly take all that a man could get for preaching especially if he would preach the truth. So by your permission I will give a brief history of the territory.

1. Is the country healthy? Yes, there is no healthier county in the world for old chronic trouble such as weak lungs, catarrh, rheumatism, consumption, and all other complaints.

2. How is it for fruit? The second to any in the United States for all kinds of fruit that it has been tried with. Apples and cherries have not been tried but little, had some good apples and cherries this year. All kinds of small fruit grows. Garden good the year [illegible] lots of fine garden truck growing now. Wheat the finest in the world, a good yield every year. They can raise any [illegible] here that they can raise [illegible] country.

3. How about schools [illegible] system is good. We pay [illegible] teacher $70 a month for teaching and an 8 month school at that, for a country school teachers get from $50 to $125 per month. We have a large Normal School building at Tempe, when completed will cost $50,000.

4. Does it rain any there? Yes, we had inside of three months three good rains. But we don't depend on rain for our crops. We irrigate which is lots better and more sure.

5. What is the country most adapted to? Well, alfalfa clover seems to be a natural growth there.

6. How does stock do there? Well it is just a natural stock raising country. Cattle, horses, and hogs, and they all keep in spendid good order right out on the clover without any grain, both winter and summer.

7. How do bees do there? Good, a man that can handle bees can come here and go into the bee business, and inside of three years can be well off. Honey is just as good as it can be, a man can eat all he wants and it dont hurt him.

8. How about fowls, ducks, geese, turkeys and chicks? The best place in the world to raise them, and eggs ready sale at a good price.

9. How is the water? Well at first I did not like it but now I can drink a quart at a time and it wont hurt a man at all.

10. What is the price of land? From $20 to $150. The average grove land is high, it ranges from $20, $30, $40, $60, $75 to $150.

11. Can a poor man make a living there? Wages is $1.00 a day at this time of the year. A man need not to have much capitol here to make a living if you can get 20 cts. per pound for butter and 25 cts. for eggs per dozen, and $3 to $5 per dozen for chickens, 8 to 10 cts. per pound for turkeys.

12. How is society? About as good as any new place, very good in our vicinity.

13. Have you any church there? Yes, we have a membership of 19 members right here at Tempe, or rather at the school house on my ranch.

14. Do you preach any yet? I preach twice a month and some time more than that in two different places and we aim to have Bible class every Sunday and the prospect is good for more additions we have a very good attendance and are trying to live our religion so that people can know that we have religion or rather do religion.

15. Would you advise any body to move there? No, I would not on my say so, but if I was where you are, and knew just as much about the climate as I know now I would surely come to Arizona, and now in conclusion any man with a weak constitution or lungs better not wait long but come immediately, health is better than wealth. Now if any one wants to know more if they will send me stamps for return mail I will answer all communications or questions. This is not paradise at all, but it seems to me that it is the most delightful climate that I ever lived in. The best of pasture for stock the whole year around. No winter to stop alfalfa from growing, always green just as the garden of Eden will be.

As ever I remain yours in hops of eternal life when Jesus comes,
JOHN FOORE.

"To Die is Gain."

"For me to live is Christ—to die is gain." Phil. i. 21.

As Sister Dow has called for an explanation on the above named text. I thought by your permission I would venture a few thoughts. The first sentence is, "for me to live is Christ." We wish to remark first, that there are two sides to even this question, that Paul was under a great fire and doubt that, while he preached to others that he himself would be a castaway. 1 Cor. ix. 27. That it is an every day struggle to conquer the old man with his deeds. Rom. [illegible] Eph. iv. 22; Col. iii. 2. "Be [illegible] ed by the inner man [illegible] which is Christ, in us, [illegible] glory." Col. i. 27. "Grow [illegible] and love in knowledge [illegible] Jude [illegible] something that [illegible] he says "to live is Christ." Do we understand what is meant by the word Christ? You will please notice nearly all through the New Testament that it is used as the surname of our Savior which is a grand mistake. The word Christ ought not to be used in the Bible for that purpose at all, nothing could be farther from the truth. The word Christ is not a properly translated word for it is teken from the Greek word (Christos), which means the anointed one, and should always be used that way, then we would fully understand it if we knew what that meant, and to have a full understanding of it, we must understand from a Jewish standpoint. We ask who were anointed under the Jewish law? None but priests and kings. Then we can see what our Savior was anointed for, to be priest and King. And who saw him thus anointed? and when was it done? At the time he was immersed, when he came up out of the water the apostles and those that were standing around saw the heavens open, and the spirit of God descending like a dove and lighting upon him, and lo, a voice from heaven saying, "this is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." Matt. iii. 16, 17. Peter says that he also was a witness of this affair. See 2 Pet. i. 16, 17. The cause of this saying of the Apostle Paul is brought about by his being in bonds, and that on account of his bonds some were preaching about the anointed one with envy, strife and contention supposing to add afflictions to his bonds and some of free will, but now understanding that Paul was at this time in bonds for preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and suffering so much that way and yet that not being enough, others were preaching for contention and envy and strife to add yet more afflictions to his bond. No wonder he could say, for me to live is for the anointed One, and to die gain, and he says in every way whether in pretense or in truth the anointed One is preached, "I therein do rejoice," and he says, "Yea, and I will rejoice." v. 18, and then branches out and says I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and the supply of the spirit of Jesus the anointed One, and then adds in the 20th verse, "According to my earnest expectation and my hope that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness as always, so now also the anointed One shall be magnified in my body whether it be by life, or by death." We notice that the great aim of the Apostle was that the anointed One, should be magnified in his body at whatever cost whether by life, or death, and then breaks out in ideas as gathered in our text as follows, for me to live is for the anointed One, and to die gain, that throughout all his suffering for him to live would be for the anointed One, but to die would be gain, that he would cease to suffer any more. Hence, gain to him, but he says still further on, but if I live in the flesh this is the fruit of my labor. What is the fruit of his labor? To magnify the anointed One through his body, that is, to preach and make more converts, but which to choose he wot not. Choose what? Why, between life and death, and that with regard to it he was in a straight betwixt two, did not know which one to choose, but a third idea he did know, which was to depart and be with Christ, which was far better than life or death, for he was working for the future state of existence any how, for the crown that lies at the end of the race, for when he knew that his course was about run he says. "For I am now ready to be offered, the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight. I have finished my course. I have kept the faith, [illegible]

...discouragements, trials, temptations, sorrow and death; but the ... a year at hand when all such ... will be known no more. Oh, ... brother and sister which ... the name of Christ, ... the whole armor of God. ... and as we have started in on another year, let us all try and live so if it be our lot to fall asleep we can be laid to rest with full assurance of coming forth from the grave at the sound of the last trump, for the trumpet shall sound and the dead in Christ shall rise. This is my hope if I prove faithful. May we all strive to enter the kingdom without the loss of one, is my prayer.

Yours in hope.

MRS. ALMUS ARAMS.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

It has not been long since we wrote for the letter drawer, but we will write again for we have good news to communicate. We always rejoice when to our little band is added to the ranks of the faithful followers of Jesus. This time it is Mrs. Dora White, daughter of Bro. and Sister Bristow. On Thursday Jan. 2nd, father led her into the cold, cure water and there immersed her in its clear depths, from which she was raised, we trust, to walk in a new life and be among the number who will meet their Savior with joy and not with grief. We hope others will soon follow her example before it is too late, for the time to work is short, as signs indicate. May we all prove faithful and meet our Savior, is the prayer of your Sister

AMORAH M. HATCH SCHOOLS.

Dear Restitution:

Enclosed you will find a postoffice order for $1.50 my subscription for THE RESTITUTION for one year. About eight years ago I became a member of the church of God at Lake Shore, Wash., but I have been the most of that time isolated from the brethren, but thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ, I have not been isolated from him. Wherefore brethren, seeing we are also compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses let us lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, for the race is not far. By the signs of the times we can almost see the portals of the Kingdom of God. The Turkish power or thesick man will come to his end and none will help him. Men's hearts are failing them for fear for looking after those things which are coming on the earth. Therefore brethren let us lift up our heads for our redemption draweth nigh. Oh what a comfort it is to the writer to know the promises to the church are soon to be realized. When the the blood-washed throng will look back and say. "Oh! death where is thy sting? Oh, grave where is thy victory? To be one of the over comers is the hope of your brother.

JOHN E. MCIRVIN.

Brethren and Sisters:

After reading over the united testimony of so many, and of some that we personally know, we are somewhat stirred to renewed energy to add a few words along this line. I will not let it pass without adding our testimony also. We believe in the second personal coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus the Anointed Messiah, because first as a thief to take away his saints. Then after that to come with all his saints in great power and glory, and as the crown jewels of that bright world to come to restore, bless and beautify this earth of ours. Then in view of this we repeat I long to see my Savior and grasp him by the hand, and look him in the eye, and swing my arms around his neck to hug and kiss him just where he was betrayed and cover the foul stain that was implanted there, and join his blood washed throng in rolling back the tide of sin, and unfurling the glory of God throughout the endless years of eternity as onward they roll.

J. A. MOYER.

Dear Restitution:

I have entered into a new ... with the blessing of God resting ... me, I am truly grateful ... the many blessing bestowed upon me in the past fifty-seven years ... Christ's promises ... desire is to love him more and serve him better. I feel that I have been edified while reading the many testimonies of the one faith, so I can see that I am not the only one that is depised for the truth's sake. What saith the Word. Hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown. Rev. iii. 11. I have tried to prevail on people that God's Word is truth, but they will believe the devil's lie he told the woman in Eden. I have given the paper to the Baptists, good people, they say it hurts the church. I wish I could have at the head of the paper. "The Baptist Christian Times," then they would read it. I read it all every week as it is all the good news I have outside of the Bible, and it seems to me I cannot do without the welcome visitor what little time is allotted to me as my time is short at the longest. I have entered my 70th year, so my days are few and painful, but amidst all I can say. Come dear Lord, come quickly.

JOHN CAUSDALE.

"HONORING THE SON."

I have just published an eight-page tract with the above title. Elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen. Please send orders to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$40.70

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one ... page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 312 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 85 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract. 15 cts. per dozen. 75 cts. per hundred.

Written and for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moucrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

CONVENIENT AS CASH.

Mileage Tickets Issued by the Pennsylvania Lines.

Persons who travel will find mileage tickets issued by the Pennsylvania Lines west of Pittsburgh great conveniences, as well as money savers. Principal cities and towns in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are reached by these lines, which also extend to Pittsburgh, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Wheeling and other important places. Over one-half the counties in Ohio are traversed by the Pennsylvania Lines, the county seats of nearly all of them being located thereon. They also traverse forty counties of Indiana, touching at county seats. Holders of mileage tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines can conveniently reach any leading city or town between Pittsburgh on the east, the Mississippi River on the west, the Great Lakes on the north, and the Ohio River on the south, these tickets being available over the several trunk lines of the Fort Wayne and Pan Handle Routes, as well as over the numerous branches. The cost of a 1000 mile ticket is $20.00, a rate of two cents per mile making the saving on a 100 mile ride $1.00, with proportionate larger amounts saved on longer distances. This convenient money-saver may be obtained at ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Lines. The person to see at Plymouth, Ind., for information about it is J. E. HANES, Agent.

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by ... Manchester, Va.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Feasts, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists, in 1866. 3. Immortality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10. Baptism. Two copies 5 cts., or assorted packages of 10, 90 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 100; 20 for 15c; 50 for 25c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two uses of these terms, to-wit, a Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the basic points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 32-page tract. Price 5c. each, 12 for 50c. 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 40 pages, price 40c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 22, 1877, by Jno. Lacier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 15 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 140 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and geneal maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 776 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. G. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1. postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott, B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $3.50; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance; bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 125 pages, cloth bound, for 13 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address post-paid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 60 cents; 12 for $1.80; 50 for $6.50. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation; Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 25cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sirclerille, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
E. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

On Trial Three Months

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

One dark cloud can hide the sun, and one foul deed darken a whole life.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 606 Woodland Ave. Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. C. M. Joblin, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worsh and searching the Scriptures every Sunda at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1545 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsay Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 601 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at ten o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty to ten east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame church, to study their Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and social meeting every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah S. Heck Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Rolfe, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Siple, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Groat, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in Scenar Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K. of P. Hall, 58 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitesitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Martin H. Trendell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria H. Trendell, Sec'y. A. F. Harlan and Eld. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty to ten east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame church, to study their Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and social meeting every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah S. Heck Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Rolfe, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Siple, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Groat, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 A. M. in Scenar Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K. of P. Hall, 58 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitesitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Martin H. Trendell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Martin H. Trendell, Sec'y. A. F. Harlan and Eld. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Rly.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Westward.

	9	19	39	3	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 00
Allianee, ar.	9 20
Canton, "	10 35
Massillon, "	10 53
Wooster, "	11 18
Mansfield, "	12
Crestline, ar.	1
Bucyrus, lv.	1
Galion, "	1
Van Wert, "	3
Ft Wayne, lv.	4 30
Arcola, "
Columbia City, "	4 59
Larwill, "
Pierceton, "
Eagle Lake, "
Winona, "	5 31
Etna Green, "
Bourbon, "
Inwood, "
Plymouth, "	6 08
Grovetown, "
Hamlet, "
Ivanhoe, "
Hanna, "
Wyanet, "
Valparaiso, " Wheeler, "
Hobart, "
Liverpool, "
Clarke, "
Chicago, ar.	1 00
	PM

	20	8	4	6	50	38
Eastward.	AM	PM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Chicago, lv.	12 30
Clarke, "
Liverpool, "
Hobart, "
Wheeler, "
Valparaiso, "
Wanatah, "
Hanna, " Travis, "
Hamlet, "
Grovetown, "
Plymouth, "
Inwood, "
Bourbon, "
Etna Green, " Winona, "
Eagle Lake, "
Pierceton, "
Larwill, "
Columbia City, "
Arcola, "
Ft Wayne, lv.
Van Wert, "
Lima, "
Bluffton, "
Crestline, ar.
Mansfield, lv.
Wooster, "
Massillon, "
Canton, "
Alliance, ar.
Pittsb'gh, ar.

JOSEPH WOOD, General Ranger, Pittsburgh, Pa.

E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent, Pittsburgh, Penn'a.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 32, Passenger, Leaves		11 08pm
No. 52, "	"	10 07pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 33, Passenger, Leaves		12 48am
No. 59, "	"	10 40pm
No. 151, Local,	"	12 05pm

†Daily except Sunday. ‡Daily.

Union depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Fostoria, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. & M. G. Div. for all points north, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. R. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. P. DALY, Gen'l Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 82, Ex. Sun.	12:14pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 56 "	7:34am	"
No. 54, ex. Sun.	10:20pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun.	5:23am	For Terre Haute.
No. 53, "	12:50pm	" "
No 57 ex. Sunday	7:37pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. DOWNS, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD, Gen'l. Pass. Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	1:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local F
Ft Wayne	5:55pm	12:15am		7:00am
Pittsburgh	2:50am	4:10pm		4:10pm
Argos	4:10pm	6:20pm		3:36pm
Knox	4:50pm	6:47pm	6:30pm	10:10am
N Castle		7:07pm		11:00am
Valpar'o	5:40am	7:55pm		12:55pm
Hobart	6:01am	8:17pm		1:20pm
Hammond	6:24am	8:40pm		1:45pm
Garfield				4:00pm
Chicago	7:40am	7:40pm	9:00am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:30pm		8:45am	Local F
Cleveland	2:15pm	8:20am	10:15am
Pittsburgh	2:50am	1:15pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Argos	4:10am	6:20pm		3:36pm
Knox	4:50am	6:47pm	6:30pm	10:10am
N Castle		7:07pm		11:00pm
Valpar'o	5:40am	7:55pm		12:55am
Hobart	6:01am	8:17pm		1:20pm
Hammond	6:24am	8:40pm		1:45pm
Garfield				4:00pm
Chicago	7:40am	7:40pm	9:00am

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:00 a.m., Cleveland at 8:00 a.m. and local freights do not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
E. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., Publishers, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
— FOR THE —
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. B. DWIGGINS,
J. H. WILLIS,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

Poetry.

God's Near His Children.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.
PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEB. 12, 1896.

Please Renew, Or write and say how soon you can remit.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

HERE are three wishes of Paul, all about Christ. To be found in him; to be with him; and that he might magnify him.

"ANCIENTLY, among the heathen, professors of Christianity were called, not Christiani, but Chrestiani, from chrestus, a word signifying sweetness and benignity of disposition;" so says Tertullian.

"THE man, who, possessing the truth, holds his tongue in deference to other people's feelings, gives evidence that he is not in earnest, but that, as a mere formalist, he has a creed as worldly people have their creeds; and, like them, is not going to let his creed interfere with his business or spoil his neighborliness."

"No more, no less. Moses strictly charged the people, "Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish ought from it:" Deut. iv. 2. xii, 32. And almost the last utterance of Holy Scripture is like a solemn admonition neither to add unto nor to take away from the words which God has revealed."

STILL they can learn war. A Prussian engineer named Paul Brand, has invented a new military rifle which is worked by compressed air. Its magazine contains a great number of bullets, and the projectiles have a perforating force 145 per cent higher than those of [illegible] Mauser rifle. A [illegible] commission is now studying the weapon.

"THE charity of science is directly opposite to the charity of the Bible. Science says, "The supreme law of nature is the survival of the fittest, and that law, applied to human morals, means the remorseless crushing down of the unfit. The strong and gifted shall inherit the earth, and the weak and simple go to the wall. Blessed are the merciless, for they shall obtain useful knowledge. Blessed are the self-asserting, for theirs is the kingdom of this world, and there is no world after it! The Bible says the strong ought to bear the infirmity of the weak. Blessed are the merciful, the tender-hearted, humble-minded."

THE Commonwealth says:—"Dead faith is the curse of Christiandom. Why, we heard the other day of a London preacher who was so trouble with the mass of dead faith he had on his hand that he was moved to adopt a rather novel expedient. Numbers of hearers were present, who he felt assured would not pretend that they were saved "and yet" said he, you not only do believe the gospel but you do not remember the time when you did not believe it! He then said he would with their permission, put the matter to the test. As many of you as do not believe the gospel, please hold up the right hand! Not a man in a decidedly promiscuous congregation of several hundred hearers, held up his hand."

KNOWLEDGE is still increasing. About four weeks ago it was reported that Prof. Routgen, of Wurzburg University, in Austria, had made a marvelous discovery in photography. It was said that the professor had invented a process by which he could take photographs of substances concealed within organic bodies. For instance, that he had photographed metal weights which were shut up in a wooden vat, and bones through the living flesh. This statement seemed incredible, but later developments seem to warrant its acceptance as truth. Mr. Thos. A. Edison says the thing is quite possible. And a despatch from London asserts that the experiment has been successfully tried there. The New York Journal the other day furnished an object lesson on the effects of this discovery. It gave a picture of a dignified and handsome young couple sitting together, and beside it a much larger picture of the same couple in the same attitude, only in this second picture no part of the man was visible except the skeleton. And the New York Witness remarking on the above, says, "It looks as if God was preparing the world for a glorious metamorphosis, by the wonderful changes brought about in man's relations to nature during the present century."

SUNDAY, January the 19th was another joyful day with the church of the living God in Cleveland. Another has forsaken her old religious associations in the Episcopal church, and all things else, for the Christ, whose saving name she has taken, and now rejoices in hope of the glory of God does Sister Toghill. May she prove faithful to the end, and receive an abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom of God, we pray. Every fresh evidence that the gospel is still the power of God unto salvation to every one that believes it, rejoices our hearts greatly and encourages us to scatter the seed, and it makes waiting pleasant when we are reminded that the long-suffering of the Lord is salvation to a few. Others are under instruction and we hope to gather more fruit soon. Thank God.

The Gospel of the Kingdom,—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle."
No. 7.

Agreeable to promise we proceed to show that no kingdom of God or church was set up on the day of Pentecost. At the outset we are disposed to let the Oracle man have his way about it, and see how it comes out.

He begins away back in the 2nd of Daniel where it says the God of heaven shall set up a kingdom that shall never be destroyed. Then he leaps forward to the day of Pentecost and points to the events of that day as the fulfillment of the prediction in Daniel. We hold that the gentleman is certainly mistaken, because,

I. A far greater light than he, Talbot Fanning, says on pages 94 and 95, of his "True Method of Searching the Scriptures," that the kingdom set up at Pentecost was "SET UP AGAIN some seven years afterward at the house of Cornelius. Any one can see at a glance that this does not answer the description given of the Kingdom of God predicted. Only ONE kingdom was predicted, and when once set up it would stand for ever, because so determined, and because properly set up with that purpose in view. Plainly the gentleman is not talking about the predicted kingdom of God.

II. Because a greater light than Talbot Fanning, even Alexander Campbell, assures us that the church or kingdom set up at Pentecost died clean out, somewhere in the 3rd century, so that not a soul was left to proclaim the gospel that called out the thousands which constituted the Pentecost Kingdom. About the year 1823 or 1827, he claimed to have been the divine agent that set it up again; the 3rd time it was set up. And, from present appearances, it may soon need to be set up again, such being the declension from their first principles all along the line. At the beginning they were ostracised because they thought that there was no remission of sins without baptism but now they fellowship others without reference to baptism.

III. Because one B. W. Stone claimed the honor of setting up the kingdom of God the last time, but Mr. Campbell denied his claim, saying, "We cannot think that the cause which we plead was pleaded either by him or any one else twenty years ago." And in Millennial Harbinger Vol. 5, p. 105 he says the proselytes of the orthodoxy when made, are two-fold more the children of hell.

IV. Because the interpretation of the image, of the dream, Dan. ii. makes it impossible for the kingdom of God to have been set up at Pentecost. The way of the Oracle man and his co-laborers is, to speak of just FOUR parts of the image, head, breast and arms, belly and thighs, and legs, representing Babylon, Medo-Persia, Grecia and Rome, and without stopping to take breath, skip over three verses and quote the 44th, "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, making it appear (fraudulently) as if the words "these kings," refer to the kings of these four successive powers. This is using the Word of God deceitfully.

V. Because verses 41, 42, and 43 give a description of a FIFTH portion or division of the image before any reference is made to the kingdom which the God of heaven shall set up? If so, by what authority are they ignored? By what authority, save Alexander Campbell and his Millennial scheme, do they introduce the kingdom of God without reference to the feet and toes? Is it because the 34th verse says the stone is to smite the image upon his feet, and knowing that the image had no feet for several hundred years after Pentecost, tries to throw dust into the eyes of the average reader?

Why not tell their readers the plain truth of God as they find it, viz., that it says "the kingdom (the 4th) shall be divided, before anything is said about God's kingdom being set up. Do they think the prophet got confused along here, and so misarranged the order of events, and that it devolves upon them to straighten him out? Do they not know that when a kingdom is divided there are two or three or five or ten kingdoms, as the case may be, where there was but one before? We think they would come to this conclusion if they would take off the Campbell spectacles, and put on the Daniel and common-sense spectacles.

They would see, too, that as there was only ONE kingdom to be divided, three having at that time disappeared, there would be only ONE king before the division, and that Daniel was not ignorant enough to say "these kings" respecting one King.

If Daniel said the God of heaven would set up a kingdom before Rome was divided, he spake lies in the name of the Lord, we know by applying the divine test for such cases. The thing did not come to pass. Deut. xviii. 20–22.

VI. The kingdom alledged to have been set up did not break in pieces and consume any other kingdoms whatever, whereas God's kingdom is to break in pieces and consume "all these kingdoms." How could it break in pieces and consume Babylon, and Medo-Persia and Grecia, seeing they had already been broken to pieces and and consumed? By their own highest authority we prove that the kingdom alledged to have been set up, went down in the 3rd century; and had no existence till set up again in or about the year 1820, or 1827, if we mistake not, by Mr. Campbell. Mr. Campbell set up his own kingdom, if any.

VII. Because in Daniel, vii. the same history in romance is outlined by other symbols, viz. four beasts. The fourth beast is the fourth kingdom; and the ten horns are ten kings that should arise out of the beast, then another little horn arises and plucks up three of the ten, and speak great things against the Most High, and he wears out the saints until his dominion is taken away—all this before any references to God's kingdom in the explanation. This proves that our positions taken in regard to the image are correct, and proves that the Oracle man and his people do not know what the kingdom of God is. It is after the dominion of the persecuting power has been taken away that the spirit makes the first reference to God's kingdom. The dominion of that power has been taken away and the kingdom of God is now impending. The next great event after the taking away of that dominion is, "The kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominion shall serve and obey him"—God Thy will the prayer, thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven, have been answered. What a consummation to wait for! What a prize awaits the victors! It is a far more, exceeding, and an eternal weight of glory. Then the little flock inherits the kingdom, the weary find rest, the faint refreshment, tears be dried, pains cease, sorrows banished, and death destroyed. Would to God we could beget, with the word of truth,—the hope of all this blessing, in those who vainly worship without truths.

VIII. Because, as Daniel v. 28, proves that the Medes and Persians were represented by the breast and arms of silver, and succeeded Babylon, and as Daniel viii. 21 proves that Greece was the kingdom represented by the belly and thighs of brass, and succeeded that of the Medes and Persians, (which history shows was the redemption of Sapiticaan in the year before Christ, 328; and as verse 22, shows Greece ovided up between four of Alexander's generals which in the nature of things weakened it and paved the way for the fourth kingdom, Rome, the nation of fierce countenance v. 23; and inasmuch as Deut. xxviii, 49, 50, mentions this nation of fierce countenance as the destroyer of Jerusalem, we submit that the sequence of events is just what we would expect from the prophets explanation. And we pity the theorist who is obliged to ignore the division of the kingdom given, and assert the setting up of the kingom of God before there are any feet to smite as any kings to destroy.

Just imagine the kingdom of God being set up, and then allowing the establishment of ten rivals, to give an opportunity to destroy them!!! The thing is most preposterous.

Preaching of the gospel has annihilated no one of the kingdom of men, and never will! Christ in the day of his wrath has to strike through kings, and wound the heads as rulers over great countries. The day of his wrath has not come yet, and hence the stone which the builders rejected has not yet smitten the feet. Unless we are greatly mistaken, the preparations for war of late, on an unparalleled scale, are in preparation for, and discloses the method by which the smiting will be done.

In our next we propose to show that the Christian kingdom of men smote the kingdom of God, instead of the kingdom of God smiting the kingdom of men—that is if on the Oracle man's hypothesis the church be the kingdom.

(To be continued.)

Report of Labor.

I went to Eagle Creek, Stark Co., Dec. 6th, and held meeting till the 18th. While I was there Bro. Fish came and helped me. I preached eleven discourses and got three converts. I closed the meeting to go to Horner School to hold meeting there through vacation. Held meeting one week, then closed as school was to commence. The meetings were good all week, and some said they saw the Bible different from what they had ever seen it before. None came out at this meeting to obey the gospel. I think that there can be some good done there as many seem to be earnestly seeking for the truth. I went back to Eagle Creek and commenced meeting there Jan. 9th and closed the 26th, and fourteen put on Christ by baptism, and six united with the church that had been baptized. The meeting was well attended and the Lord was with us and that to bless, for many were made to rejoice and joy ran from heart to heart. The Word of God is sharper than a two-edged sword. On Sunday the 26th the house would not hold all that came, and Sunday night the same. The meeting closed with good interest and they wanted me to hold longer, but I thought it best to close and go home as my baby had fallen on the stove and burned himself badly, but is getting along nicely. My wife has been sick and did not let me know for fear it would spoil the interest of my meeting. I will stay at home the rest of this week. I have calls at three other places asking me to come and hold meeting for them, just as soon as I can. I have received in money and provision $12.40 My car fare has been one dollar and thirty-five cents.

Yours looking for the soon coming of Jesus.

O. W. SMITH.

Original.

The "Morning Star."

When I had finished reading all the letters in the Christmas Number of THE RESTITUTION, I thought surely part of the promise of Rev. ii. 26-28 is fulfilled. "And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations:.....And I will give him the Morning Star." Does not the giving of the Morning Star imply that the dark night of error and ignorance is nearly past, to all that have given heed to the sure Word of prophecy. 2 Pet. i. 19. And that the Day Star, that harbinger of the coming millenial day has arisen in the hearts of a goodly number of his overcoming children, giving assurance that the glorious Sun of Righteousness whose appearing in all his glory is only hidden from our view by a very small portion of that which is earthly, and as the light of the Morning Star is but the reflected light of the sun, so all the light we have is from our blessed Lord, the Sun of Righteousness, and O the light, and the joy of heart which his indwelling presence gives, how far it surpasses the joy of the Wise Men of the East at his birth, to us it is the grapes of Eshcol, a foretaste of the fruits of the goodly land, for Isa. xliv. 4, assures that "men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, besides thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him," and our Savior has assured us that he is the "Bright and Morning Star," (Rev. xxii. 16) and in the sunlight of that day all hidden things shall be revealed.

H. SHOEMAKER.

The Lord's Coming.

There is no other doctrine more plainly taught in the Holy Scriptures than the coming of the Lord in power and great glory. The prophetic Scriptures, with the sharpness of an eagle's eye pry into the remote future and tell us of their visions of glory, and of a place on earth emanating from the God of love, where will it be done on earth as it is now done in heaven. They tell us of how the knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth, when man shall learn war no more and be at peace with his brother man, and with his Father, God, when oppression and injustice shall cease and nothing can hurt man any more.

The poetic Scriptures are full of song and sweet expressions of earth's golden age when a King shall rule the world (of mankind) in righteousness. "In his day shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace so long as the moon endureth," of how "all kings shall fall down before him" and "all nations shall serve him. He shall deliver the needy when he crieth, the poor also, and him that hath no helper. His name shall endure forever, and man shall be blessed in Him. All nations shall call him blessed. His throne (the throne of his father David. Luke i. 32,) shall be as the days of heaven and his sceptre, a sceptre of righteousness forever.

The Historical Scriptures point us in types to the victories that must be won while passing through the wilderness of sin and oppression to the promised land of peace and rest in the glorious world to come. They testify to the dark ages of earth during which sin and the king of terror, death, reigned supreme. That after the last great conflict with sin and satan, who hath the power of death will be destroyed by the Prince of Peace. The long ages of war, oppression, and injustice, will now make room for the grand ages of eternity, these will be ages of peace and never ending happiness during which the blessings of the Lord will come down like showers. Death will be no more, all tears will be wiped from off all faces, while the earth will yield her increase and man will rejoice with songs of praise. "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ (anointed) and he shall reign forever and ever." Rev. ii. 15.

Dear reader we are upon the threshhold of eternity. The signs of his coming are multiplying. The morning is dawning, it is no more time for sleeping but to watch and pray. These are the early morning hours of "the world to come." Satan knows it and he will yet use all his energies to deceive the people of God. Therefore be on your guard, put on the whole armor of God

"And trust not the sweetest frame
But only build on Jesus' name."

"The end of all things is at hand," let us rejoice and lift up our heads for our salvation draweth near." The Lord—the hope of the world—is coming and will not tarry, are you ready to meet him as a member of His Body? Ask the Lord for strength. He will help you in the early morning to withstand the fiery darts of satan and his host of deceivers.

J. Z. SCHUMAN.

OBITUARY.

Died on the 14th of Dec., 1895, little Ethel J. daughter of James H. and Annie Trotter; age five years, five months and fifteen days, of typhoid pneumonia. Little Ethel was sick eighteen days. She wanted to get well. She was so good and kind, she never made any trouble. She wanted her younger sister to be good too. She was with one of us all the time, if we were in the garden or any where near the house. It is hard to give up one so good. We have to submit to the grim monster death. We will have funeral sermon preached in the future. There is no consolation in what the orthodox preachers say.

JAMES H. & ANNIE TROTTER.

From a copy of the Milwaukee, Wis., Sentinel sent us, we learn that our old time friend and brother, Robert Harper of that city died Jan. 20, 1896. Bro. Harper was born Sept. 10, 1819, in Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, the birthplace of Robert Burns. He came to this country in 1845, settling in Milwaukee in 1847, and in 1849 with his brothers established the firm of Harper Brothers, in the paint business. This business has been conducted by him since then, though the firm name was changed later to Robert Harper & Sons. Brother Harper was not so well known by the younger members of our churches, but many of the older ones will remember him. He has been in poor health for several years, and gradually became weaker, till death came. He was a firm believer in the gospel of the kingdom, and was one of the old able defenders of the faith. One by one the old warriors pass away. May we each prove worthy of meeting him when the Master comes to call his own.

A. R. U.

Announcement.

The second quarterly conference of the Church of God in Nebraska, will be held at the school house in District 30, five miles south-east of Moorefield, and will begin on Friday March, 5, 1896, and hold over Sunday. All who can possibly attend this meeting are cordialy invited to do so. We need your presence and your help in order to make the meeting a success. Be ready and willing to work for your Master, and come prepared to enjoy a blessed meeting in his name.

Yours in hope of Eternal Life,
RENA M. GORDON, Sec'y.

Reduced Rates to Hot Springs, Ark.

The Vandalia Line has on sale excursion tickets, good ninety days, to the Famous Hot Springs of Arkansas, at very low rates. Hot Springs is the only health resort owned, indorsed and conducted by the United States Government. Climate like that of Italy. This is the best season to go. Over 300 hotels and boarding houses at rates to suit all visitors. The hot waters have for fifty years been found unexcelled for the cure of rheumatism, blood and skin diseases, female complaints, troubles of the stomach, liver and kidneys, insomnia, nervous prostration, etc. For illustrated pamplets and full information call on the nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 1.

California in four days via the Nickel Plate Road. Our Express trains connect with through lines at Chicago. Lowest rates.—Mar. 1.

We find life's greatest battle-field in our own heart.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	57.10
W. G. Rothe	3.50
Mrs. Lannie Lovelace	.50
W. W. Lincoln	1.50

NOTICE.

To those who have ordered Index-Rerums and have not received them, we say, be patient. We will send as soon as we can get a supply from the Author. This is the best we can do. We will not delay sending when we get them.

Cripple Creek, Colorado,

is now attracting attention in all parts of the world, on account of the marvelous discoveries of gold which have been made in that vicinity. The North-Western Line, with its unrivaled equipment of solid vestibuled trains of palace sleeping cars, dining cars, and free reclining chairs, daily between Chicago and Colorado, offers the best of facilities for reaching Cripple Creek. For tickets and full information apply to ticket agents, or address W. B. Kniskern, General Passenger and Ticket Agent Chicago & North-Western Railway, Chicago, Ill.—Feb. 10.

Smooth roadway, quick time, perfect passenger service, uniformed train porters for the convenience of first and second class patrons. Through sleeping cars between Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston. Unexcelled dining car service. No change of cars for any class of passengers between Chicago and New York City via the Nickel Plate Road.—Mar. 1.

We must let go of error before we take fast hold on truth.

Address any agent of the Nickel Plate Road or B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., for lowest rates to California. Our Express trains connect at Chicago with through lines reaching California points in three days.—Mar. 1.

Prayer is the magnate that draws spiritual blessings.

Low rates anywhere via the Nickel Plate Road any time.—Mar. 1.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL AND SCIENCE OF HEALTH for February is exceptionally bright. Sarah Bernhardt is closely analized by Dr. Beall from a personal examination. She is a fine example of the "nervous" temperament, and a subject that will interest all students. Three photo-engravings are given. Prof. C. T. Parks discusses character in thumbs and fingers in a thoroughly practical manner. Sixteen engravings accompany the article showing nearly every type of development having relation to mental qualities. Prof. J. W. Shull writes learnedly on "Conditions of Happy Marriage." His ideas are illustrated in fine portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, Miss Ellen Terry, and Sir Henry Irving. Occultists will be interested to read a phrenograph, by the editor, of the celebrated psychist, Mrs. E. L. Dearborn, of Brooklyn. "Practical Psychology," by H. S. Drayton, is consistent with the title. It is pointed and instructive. Prof. Nelson Sizer describes a number of bright children. In the Science of Health Department, "Hip Disease," "Effects of Alcohol," etc., are well considered. In the editorial columns phrenology is defended against popular misrepresentation. Friends of the science are invited to a national convention in New York to celebrate the centenary of Dr. Gall's first lectures. It is expected that this will be a gala year for phrenologists everywhere. It is also announced that the editor of THE JOURNAL, Dr. Edgar C. Beall, and Col. N. W. Fitz-Gerald, late of West Virginia, have purchased the controlling stock of the Fowler & Wells Co., and propose to create a national revival of interest in phrenology. The subscription price of THE JOURNAL has been reduced to $1.00 per year, and special improvements are promised. New York: Fowler & Wells Co., 27 East Twenty-first street.

POETRY.

Are You? Have You? Will You?

Are you happy Are you trusting,
Are you washed and cleansed and bright,
Have you given all to Jesus,
Are you leaning on his might?
Is. i. 18; Mark xii. 44; Col. i. 11.

Have you brought your gait to Jesus,
All your sins, your acts, your deeds,
Are you buried now forever,
He supplying all your needs?
Col. xi. 13. 14; Phil. iv. 19.

Is that will of your surrendered,
Are you plastic in his hand,
Will you go where e'er he leads you,
Whether it be sea or land?
Rom. ix. 21; Ps. xxxii. 8.

Is your heart contrite and broken,
Given to him who says in love,
A new heart I'll put within you,
Then will fill it from above?
Ps li. 17; Ez. xxxvi. 26. 27.

Have you given your mind to Jesus,
Will you let him think for you,
Let your brain be just a channel
For his thoughts so pure and true.
2 Cor. iii. 5; 1 Cor. ii; 16.

Have you given your voice to Jesus,
Will you always sing his praise,
Will your words, and looks, and actions,
Speak for him through all the days?
1 Cor. x. 31; Ps. xxxiv. 1.

Are your talents all for Jesus,
It is now the one great theme
How you can for him do all things,
He in all, and he supreme?
Col. iii. 71; Eph. i. 22. 23.

Have you given your gold to Jesus,
Have you given your silver too?
O it is so very listless
Think of what he's done for you!
Josh. vi. 19; 2 Cor. viii. 9.

Do you see you need his wisdom
Do you want to have his love,
Flowing through you to his creatures,
Not from self, but from above?
Col. ii. 9; Jno. xvii. 26.

Does his peace take full possession
Of your heart, your mind, your soul,
Peace that passeth understanding,
Peace of God, who makes you whole,
Jno. xiv. 27; Phil. iv. 7.

Is his joy in you exultant,
Will you let it overflow,
Let it bubble o'er to others,
Make life bright where e'er you go?
Jno. xv. 11; Ps. xvi. 11; Acts ii. 28.

Will you give to him all questions,
All you cannot know and see,
Will you wait, and watch, and listen,
Just a little child to be?
2 Cor. v. 7, Luke xviii. 17.

Just to be an empty vessel
For the Master's use made meet,
Just to show the world you're nothing!
But in him you are complete?
2 Tim. ii. 21; Col. ii. 10.

Just to hide away in Jesus,
Just to sink right out of view,
Just to be a little nothing!
Just to let him dwell in you?
Rom. vi. 4; Gal. ii. 20.

Poor—yet in him having all things,
Rich indeed! A princely son!
And the secret of it all, is—
Not my will, but thine be done.
Jas. ii. 5; 2 Cor. vi. 10.

E. M. Mason.

Original.

The Resurrection.

ESSAY READ AT VANCOUVER, WASH., DEC. 22, 1895.

This subject is one of most profound interest to all Bible readers, who believe that man is by nature entirely mortal, subject to death, and not that the soul or spirit of man is a separate conscious entity, which leaves the body at death, to forever live in bliss supreme, or in eternal torment.

We read in Genesis, ii. that God having created man in his image, placed him in a garden, where was the "tree of life," as was also "every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food, "and gave him a command, by obeying which he was to live. But he disobeyed and was therefore driven from the garden to prevent his eating of the "tree of life" and living forever in sin.

In pronouncing the sentence upon the man, (Adam) no exception was pointed out to him of a conscious soul or spirit, which should take its departure from his "earthly casket" at death. But the Lord addressed these words direct to Adam —"dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return." We being descendants from Adam, must necessarily be under the same condemnation. Therefore, all who have fallen asleep in Jesus have as yet, not entered into their reward.

It is a very plain fact, taught us by inspiration, that there will be a literal resurrection from the dead, and we see that the work of death has been literal. Concerning this subject, we have very clear testimony that the Old Testament saints believed in a future release from death.

Abraham, when called upon to offer up his son Isaac, did as he was commanded, "accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead." Heb. xi. 19.

Job, in asking the question, "If a man die shall he live again?" saw, as will be seen in his answer, a future life, not in death, but beyond the grave. He says, 14th chapter and 14th verse, "All the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change come." And in the 17th chapter and 13th verse, he says: "If I wait the grave is mine house."

Isaiah says, xxvi: 19. "Thy dead men shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise."

David asserts in the 17th Psalm and 15th verse: "I shall be satisfied when I awake with thy likeness."

Daniel affirmed, xii; 2, "Many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake."

In Ezekiel xxxvii: 12–14, we read: "Thus saith the Lord God: Behold O my people, I will open your graves, and cause them to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel. And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves, and shall put my spirit in you, and ye shall live."

A literal resurrection is here made plain: The "dead men" shall live; the "dead body shall arise; many of those that "sleep in the dust" are to awake;" the Lord,s "people" are to "come up out" of their graves.

This subject is also made clear by the New Testament Scriptures. We must of necessity believe that Jesus Christ is the all-atoning power, and that he made the atonement on the cross, as a propitiation for the sins of the whole world 1 John 2 and iv. 10.

The resurrection of Christ is not a matter of conjecture; but a positive fact, for proof of which he refers to over five hundred witnesses at once, as recorded in the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians.

As we believe that Jesus died and rose again, the first fruits of the saints who have fallen asleep, so we believe that all the righteous dead will be bring with him when he comes "to execute judgment on all," and to bring in the "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began."

In John vi. 40, Jesus states: "This is the will of Him that sent me that every one that seeth the Son and believeth on Him may have everlasting life, and I will raise him up at the last day."

Paul questions, "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?" Acts xxvi. 8.

Death is not the time at which the resurrection is due, but at the last trump; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." 1 Cor. xv. 52 and 53.

This will occur at the coming of the Lord, for "The Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel and with the tramp of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1st Thes. iv. 16.

"In death there is no remembrance of Thee." Isa vi; 5.

The resurrection is indispensably necessary to future life.

We believe the promise of an "eternal inheritance," made unto the Fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, as recorded in the Blessed Book, and we also believe that a resurrection of God's chosen people, together with the fathers, is necessary in order for these promises to be fulfilled. "And he gave him none inheritance in it, no, not so much as to set his foot on," Acts, vii. 5. "And these all having obtained a good report through faith received not the promise. God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect." Heb. xi. 39, 40.

The Savior has said, Luke xiv. 14. "Thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just."

Paul, through all his conflicts and struggles, expected to reap no reward, "if the dead rise not." 1st Cor. xv. 32. He was willing to endure all "sufferings" in hope of the resurrection of the dead." Phil. iii. 11.

The resurrection is the time when the reward, "eternal life," will be bestowed upon the righteous dead. It is 'the time of the dead that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants, the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great. Rev. xi. 18. "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." John xi. 25.

Though many righteous have entered the realm of death, the resurrection will bring to them eternal life, and they can then joyfully shout their victory won. "O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?"

In hope of the soon coming of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Mabel E. Fike.

DEBATE.

Dear Bro. Underwood:

I have been away from home six weeks holding meetings and engaging in defence of the Bible. While away I held a discussion in Vancouver with the "Champion of Liberalism," Mr. C. B. Reynolds formerly of the Seventh Day Adventists, but now a ranting, blasphemous atheist. Our question was, "Is there a Supreme Being, and has he made a revelation of his will through the Bible?"

We held the discussion in the Christian (Campbellite) church, beginning Jan. 7th. The second evening we had to remove to the spacious theater building, continued 5 evenings. The attendance in all became a multitude of attentive listeners, estimated from seven hundred to a thousand. Our brethren think that good was done. We learned that numbers were saved from infidelity. The clippings I send you from the Vancouver Press will explain the present situation. You may receive a report of my arguments farther on.

The city of Vancouver, Washington is a place of about four thousand inhabitants, situated a few miles from Portland, Oregon. Several hundred U. S. Soldiers are stationed at the beautiful garrison of this place. The people of city and garrison seem to be about equally divided between Catholics, Protestants and infidels. We have about fifty brethren in and near the town, including an earnest and intelligent young brother in the army.

C. B. Reynolds was placed forward as a second only to Ingersoll as a lecturer and disputant. Greater excitement attended the contest than I ever before saw in either religious or political controversy. Prolonged and loud applause followed the points made by each disputant throughout. Mr. Reynold's courtesy to me personally was as good if not better than that of any opponent that I ever met, but his irreverance for and blasphemy of the Supreme Being went beyond any thing I thought possible. It is my opinion if controversies must be held we should confine the work to fighting infidelity rather than engaging in debate with professed believers of the Bible.

Affectionately,

W. L. Skeels.

Clipping mentioned above is as follows:—"The debate between Rev. W. L. Skeels, of Scholls' Ferry, Oregon, and Mr. C. B. Reynolds, of Seattle, is attracting the greatest attention in this city. Rev. Skeels takes the affirmative on the proposition, "Is there a Supreme Being, and has he made a revelation of his will through the Bible?" Mr. Reynolds supports the negative. Mr. Skeels is a representative of the Church of God, and his opponent is a leader of the Secular Union. The debate opened at the Christian Church on Tuesday evening, and the building was taxed to its fullest capacity to accomodate the audience. This lead to a change of base, and the debate was held at the Standard Theater last evening, where it will continue for three nights, closing on Saturday. No admission fee is charged. but collections are taken up to defray the expenses. Messrs. James A. Smith, J. M. Pike and H. C. Leiser are the moderators, and Mr. Smith presides as chairman. The debate is being conducted in the most courteous and gentlemanly manner, and all who have attended speak words of praise for both contestants, who are really very able and earnest men along their respective lines of argument. The debate will naturally increase in interest as it nears its close."

The following was published in a paper of the place:—"Vancouver, Wash., Jan. 14th, 1896. To the public in general, and Mr. Reynolds in particular:

On the last evening of our discussion, (last Saturday evening,) I challenged Mr. Reynolds to renew our contest. After the meeting adjourned, he and his friends claimed that it would be necessary to charge admission fee in order to meet expenses.

I have an abhorrence of making money out of defending the Bible. But in order that it may not be in that light, I make the following proposition:

We shall have the following questions:

1st. "Is there a Supreme Being and has he made a revelation of his will through the Bible?"

2nd. Are the forces of nature the only God, and science the only revelation?

We will debate ten or twelve evenings. I will affirm the first and Mr. Reynolds the second question on alternate evenings. The discussion shall be held at Portland. The committee may charge a small admission fee, providing it shall be disposed of in the following way:

1st. For advertising and hall rent.

2nd. For a good shorthand reporter.

3rd. The disputants may receive a compensation of two dollars a day while the meetings are in progress, to meet their expenses.

4th. Any surplus must be used toward publishing the discussion book form.

Most respectfully submitted."

W. L. Skeels.

To Brother Kimsay.

I have been a diligent reader of Bro. Dwiggins' prophetical expositions, and have just read your letter of inquiry to Bro. Dwiggins in The Restitution of Jan. 15th. I hope [illegible] not think me presumptuous [illegible] seem to forestall him by this writing. See Job, xxxii. 6, 7, 8. Therefore hearken to me, I will also show my opinion. The prophecy of Ezekiel 38, 39 and Zechariah xii. to my mind are one and the same. The fulfillment of which usher in the millenial age. The Euphrates of Rev. represents the Turkish Dominions. The four angels of Rev. 7th are Russia and France (they being one by the dual alliance) Germany, Austria, and Italy the triple allience, are one, England one, Turkey one. These control the winds of war. They are the ones who can hurt the earth with their land forces and the sea by their navies. These are bound in the great river Euphrates, bound by agreement made to preserve the power of the Sultan. To preserve the peace of Europe, Rev. ix. 14. Saying to the sixth angel which had the trumpet, Loose the four angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates. I think the loosing process is taking place now. In order to stop the massacre of Christians (and the Jews which will follow after the Christians are disposed of) it will become a vital necessity for the powers to dethrone the Sultan and assume control by protectorate, or by diversion of his dominions. The English press are already favoring to give Russia a protectorate over Armenia. England in return will expect a protectorate (which means annexation, for the English Lion never uncloses his jaws when there is a juicy morsal between them) over the southern provinces of Turkey including Palestine. I believe that in the division of this great spoil, the powers will come to war. Which will last according to Rev. ix. 15, a year, a month, a day and an hour. (literal time) and result in slaying the third part the forces engaged. Result Russia (Gog) gets Turkey in Europe and a slice across the Black Sea and Marmora. England will get the Lion's share, viz Palestine and all the land surrounding the Suez canal. The rest will be parcelled betwixt Germany, France, Austria, etc. Now we see the Jews returning from all nation's whither they have been scattered and then will they dwell safely under British rule, (which is not the case at present, neither is there a spoil there at present to tempt the Gog, to fulfill Ezekiel.) But when there is a sufficient guarantee for life and prosperity (under British rule) then shall come to pass the saying, an nation shall be born in day, for the Jews are anxious to return, and when they go with their immense portable wealth, (gold, stocks, bonds, and merchandise, it will create a boom such as we have never witnessed,) for they shall bring all your brethren for an offering unto the Lord out of all nations, upon horses and in chariots, and in litters, and upon mules, and upon swift beasts, (by railroad and steamships) to my holy mountain "Is. lxvi, 20." Then the Jews will assume a national capacity with its attendant, a military organization. Then will be the time that Gog (Russia) will think an evil thought and say etc. Ez. xxxviii. 10, 11, 12. Then England (Tarshish) Sheba and Dedan (British India) and all the young lions thereof (that is all her colonies) will say art thou come to take a spoil and a prey? Now Russia (Gog) confederates the principle tribes of Europe to conquer the holy land, he will come like a storm (resistless in power) Then will God's jealousy and wrath be manifested and he will plead against him with pestilence and blood, and rain upon them an overflowing rain and great hail storms, "fire and brimstone" (modern bomshells and gun powder) Ez. xxxviii. 27, and the Lord will save the tents of Judah first "Zech. xii. 7, 8, 9," and I will turn thee back and leave but the sixth part of thee "Ez. xxxix. 2." Now comes the advent of the Savior and reign for one thousand years during which time satan is bound. After that he (satan) is loosed for a little season, and by that time the sixth part of Gog that was left after the battle which Ezekiel foretold, will have grown into a powerful army, and Gog (Russia under Satan's) generalship will gather all nations of both hemispheres together to that great battle of Armageddon Rev. xvi. 16, which will be the last battle on this earth.

Summary. There are to be three great battle's. Yes, the first is close at hand which is the one spoken of in Revelation which is the loosing of the four angels that are bound. This must take place first, because the Jews are not living there in safety at present, and have no military organization, consequently no tents, and it is positively declared that he will save the tents of Judah first. Therefore Judah must have tents before they can be saved (that is the tents) and there is no wealth or spoil to tempt the great Northern Bear. The last paragraph of Zech. xii. 1, should be read first, this shows the Jews restored, menaced with the approaching host of Gog, now the veil is taken from their faces and they will acknowledge that they slew their Messiah and will look for him whom they pierced, and will go into mourning as recorded in Zech. xii. 12, 13, 14. and the result of this mourning will be the return of the Christ whom they crucified, and to their extreme joy, he will go forth as in the day of battle and fight for them and save them. Brethren watch the political movement, for the world is a chess-board and God is the player, watch his movements and you will not be ignorant that that day should find you sleeping. Blessed is he that watcheth and keepeth his garments.

Submitted in love,

J. R. Brown.

Letter Drawer.

Brothers and Sisters:

What a glorious love feast awaits the faithful followers of the Lord Jesus Christ. Let us lift up our heads, for our redemption draweth nigh. I am rejoicing in hope of eternal life in the kingdom of God, and anxiously waiting the return of the King who is to reign on the throne of his father David in Jerusalem, whose mercy, justice and peace shall command the respect and love of the world. "He that overcometh shall sit with me in my throne, even as I have overcome the world, and am set down with my Father in his throne." What a blessed promise, is it not worth laboring for? Let us look forward to the marks of the prize of the high calling in Christ Jesus. Give me your prayers that I may be classed with the overcomers.

Your Sister in the blessed hope of our soon coming King.

Mrs. P. A. Neff.

To the Household of Faith:

I am glad to have an opportunity to confess our Lord, for if we are ashamed to confess him before men, he will not confess us before his father and the holy angels. I am trying to serve the Lord with meekness and fear, laying aside pride and vanity. I think that the testimonies of the scattered flock helps to strengthen our faith. Now dear brethren and sisters, I ask you to remember me in your prayers, and let us watch for our absent Lord will soon return.

Mary J. Craton.

Dear Brethren in Christ:

We love to read the letters of testimony of your faith as published in The Restitution. And that you may know of our love for God and his truth we also write a few words for publication. In our zeal to let the light shine which God has given us, we have become pilgrims and strangers on the earth in fact, and now have no permanent abiding place, but we are living in a small house or car built on a wagon, and move from town to town, and preach on the streets, and sometimes in schoolhouses and churches. And as we believe that the coming of the Lord is very near, we devote much of our time in warning the people of the judgments of God which are soon coming on a guilty world. As God's prophets warned Israel before he punished them. We are now Jan. 20th, '96 in Oswego, Kan. If any in S. E. Kansas, or S. W. Mo. want us to call their way let them write us and direct to Carthage, Jasper Co., Mo., and we will order our mail from there to wherever we may be. As Paul said we become chargeable to no man, we go trusting in God, and sell books and labor with our own hands and thank God he supplies our daily wants, and having food and raiment we are therewith content. "Thy mercy, O Lord, endureth forever." Psa. cxxxviii. 8.

J. B. Craton.

Editor Restitution:

What our Sister Mrs. V. E. S. says in The Restitution of Jan. 22nd is the same case with us. We did not get any corn this year, drouth cut it off so that we did not harvest five bushels per acre. We would have had enough to pay for the paper but typhoid fever got in our family the second of October; first a boy sixteen years old; then our little girl who would have been six years old next April died; then Annie who will be eleven years old in March next. Annie has been sick seven weeks and the end is not yet. We have to set up with our children yet. The lamp has not been out since the first one was taken sick. Our resource of revenue was not large in the first; now after nearly four months we have no money left. Our taxes and interest are $86 00, which have to run until next fall, if we cannot sell our land and pay up before that time. We will have to let The Restitution go, we will miss it. It is so well freighted with good things concerning the coming and kingdom of Christ and his saints. When we get the paper I look through it for the news from Jerusalem and the East. I put confidence in what our brethren write touching the prophecies concerning the Jews and Palestine. You will use your own pleasure about sending us The Restitution. We cannot send any money now.

Yours in hope of the coming and kingdom of Christ and his saints.

James H. & Annie Trotter.

Dear Restitution:

I, a son of Mrs. Mary A. Herriman (wife of J. L. Herriman, of Ainsworth, Neb.,) am a strong believer in The Restitution, a paper wich is full of the Word which has been preached during the past ages and which shall be declared as long as this world (age) shall last by God's children. Dear brethren are we sowing seed that that will bloom and yield a harvest in eternal bliss, or are we dormant as the stones, merely staying, not working for the Master who gave his holy undefiled life upon Calvery Cross, that sinful humanity could be redeemed from the curse brought upon him by his own disobedience, a violation of God's sacred law, so just, that no error could be found, giving man in his God-like image, power and dominion over this whole universe, to use and inherit throughout countless ages. Had he not violated so sacred a law, by partaking of the forbidden fruit, and since he has disobeyed that glorious realm has through God been removed from him so that his God-like nature (holy) is no more nor will it be restored until God has overthrown Babylon and given Christ (the Mediator of man) the throne of his Father David which throne has been declared by the holy angels and prophets of old. Dear brethren of the one faith who have had your souls purchased by Christs blood (shed on Calvery's cross) and baptised in the name of Christ (the legitimate head of the church) and are working and praying for the establishment o his kingdom, when this world will shine with glory as the noonday sun, can you say with me, how long gracious Lord, Oh how long must suffering humanity endure the trials and tribulations of this sinful world (age).

James B. Herriman.

Editor Restitution:

And all the brothers and sisters of like faith. As I saw so many good letters from the brothers and sisters in The Restitution, I thought a word or two from me would be of interest, especially those of Argos and vicinity. We have been in the sunny south over a month and are delighted with the climate and beautiful scenery. St. Petersburg, Florida, is a pretty town, situated on Tampa Bay. It is a great health and pleasure resort. Many people from all over the world visit this place during the winter season, which is like summer season to us.

We found Bro. Hugh Raitsback's family pleasantly located just outside the corporation, and very glad to see us. They are still faithful believers while not having the great privilege of attending church of their own faith, they read the good sermons that appear weekly in The Restitution. On Christmas morning we took the boat for Manatee to visit Bro Geiselman and family. He lives thirty miles south of here on the Manatee river in a very fine country. He met us on the wharf and how glad we felt to grasp his hand once more and hear his welcome voice. We visited with them over a week and never spent a more pleasant time then we did with them. We found them all in excellent health and him to be as earnest a worker in the faith as ever. I will close for perhaps I have already written too long an article. It is my earnest desire to so live that I may be accounted worthy to be numbered among the glorified ones who shall enter the gates of the celestial city and possess a crown of glory.

Your Sister in Christ,

Hattie Vorein.

QUESTION.

Dear Restitution:

As far as I know it is generally believed that the Church is the Bride, and the Lord is the Groom. If this is correct, will some one tell us who are the friends of the Bride-Groom?

Yours truly,

A. G. Lombard.

Low rates to New Orleans and Mobile, Feb. 13th to 16th via the Nickel Plate Road, account the Mardi Gras Festivities.—Feb. 13.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN
In your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS and PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

Selected.

"Preach the Word."

What a solemn charge Paul gives here, and it is a very important one. How little of The Word do we hear in all the preaching! We read in Neh. viii. 8: "So they read in the Book of the Law of God distinctly, and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading."

Do you wonder that Paul now comes forward with this charge to Timothy and others, and that the Prophet says: "Ye that make mention of the Lord keep not silence." Isa. lxii. 6.

Paul makes it still stronger to us all, (2 Tim. iv. 1-4):

"I charge thee therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom;

2. Preach the Word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.

3. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears;

4. And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables."

Our Savior says: "The words I speak unto you, they are spirit and life." Jno. vi. 63. "The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple." Psa. cxix. 130. How important it is then we should have The Word. Coming into a dark room without a light we can see nothing, so without The Word we have no light.

"If they speak not according to this Word, it is because they have no light in them." Isa. viii. 20.

"He that hath my Word let him speak my Word faithfully, what is the chaff without the wheat" Jer. xxiii. 28.

When we go to men for doctrine we are led astray. Our Savior says: "My words, they are spirit." We should then follow his words. He says:

"In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." Matt. xv. 1-9.

We are not to handle the Word deceitfully, but by manifestations of the truth commend ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God. 2 Cor. iv. 2.

We hear quite frequently about speculative truth, or only your idea 2 Pet. i. 20: "No prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation." The Bible was written plain, for plain men to read. Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God, unto them without in parables, etc. Mark iv. 11. The spirit is to teach and bring all things into remembrance, and the spirit is given to us at baptism. Acts ii. 38, 39: "To all that are afar off, is this given," which means you and I, if we comply.

We are told sometimes we are to be guided by the New Testament only—the Old is given as a record or a history. "Be ye mindful always of his covenant; the Word which he commanded to a thousand generations" (2 Chron. xvi. 15), repeated again in the Psalms. "But if ye believe not his (Moses) writings, how shall ye believe my words." John v. 47. Paul taught in like manner, (Acts xxviii. 23); and to believe this he says they called it heresy. Acts xxiv. 14.

We are commanded by Jesus to search the Scriptures. John v. 39; "He that is of God heareth God's words." John viii. 47; "Thy Word is truth." John xvii. 17; "Lay aside everything, as new born babes desire the sincere milk of the Word." Why? "That ye may grow thereby." 1 Peter ii. 2. Read James i. 21-25. In Deut. viii. 3, and repeated by Jesus." Matt. iv. 4. "Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Read Deut. xviii. 17-21, with 1 John iv. 1-3.

Wherein that a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to thy Word. Psa. cxix. 9.

Quicken thou me according to thy Word. Psa. cxix. 25.

The Word is perfect, sure, right, pure, clean, true. Moreover, by them is thy servant warned; and in keeping of them there is great reward. Psa. six. 7-11.

Jesus explains how it is received. Mark iv. 14-20. Those that are taught in The Word should speak without fear. Gal. vi. 6; Phil. i. 14. If I speak to please men I should not be the servant of Christ. Gal. i. 10; 1 Thess. ii. 13. What is the condition of them that fail to draw on the Word, unskillful, etc. Heb. v. 11-14.

God's Word in all its fullness shall come to pass, and we do well to take heed. 2. Pet. i. 19. So let us put on the whole armor. Take the helmet of salvation, the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God. Eph. vi. 14-17; Heb. iv. 12.

Now what is the Word of God? It is likened to Seed. Luke viii. 11.

A sword. Eph. vi. 17.
A fire and a hammer. Jer. xxiii. 29.

The character of it?
Powerful. Heb. iv. 12.
Pure. Prov. xxx. 5.
Unalterable. Isa. xl. 8.

What are we to do with it?
Desire it. 1 Pet. ii. 2.
Receive it. Jas. i. 21.
Keep it. John xvii. 6.
Hold it fast. Tit. i. 9.
Preach it. 2 Tim. iv. 2.
Remember it. Luke xxiv. 8.
Be doers of it. Jas. i. 22.

What is the effect of the Word?
We are
Quickened. Psa. cxix. 25.
Born again. 1 Pet. i. 23.
Cleansed. Psa. cxix. 9.
Sanctified. John xvii. 17.
Strengthened. Psa. cxix. 28.
And we Overcome by it. Rev. xii. 11.

"I commend you to God and the Word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all which are sanctified." Acts xx. 32.

"If you continue in my Word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the Truth and the Truth shall make you free." John viii. 31, 32.

—Fred Greiner, in The Lookout.

Use of the Tongue.

WE SHOULD NOT USE OUR TONGUES,

1. To rail or brawl against any one.
2. To speak evil of others in their absence.
3. To exaggerate in any of our statements.
4. To speak harshly to the poor or to the inferior.
5. To swear, lie, or indulge in impure language.
6. To make random or improper assertions.
7. To speak rashly and violently on any subject.
8. To deceive people by circulating false reports.
9. To offer up lip service to the Lord.
10. To take the name of God in vain.

WE SHOULD USE OUR TONGUES,

1. To convey useful information to mankind.
2. To speak kindly of every one.
3. To be truthful and simple in our statements.
4. To comfort and console the afflicted.
5. To cheer the timid and fearful.
6. To defend the innocent and the oppressed.
7. To reprove and admonish the wicked.
8. To congratulate the success of the virtuous.
9. To confess our faults one to another.
10. To pray and speak the praise of God.

Keep a List.

1. Keep a list of your friends, and let God be the first on the list, however long it may be.
2. Keep a list of the gifts you get; and let Christ, who is the unspeakable gift, be first.
3. Keep a list of your mercies; and let pardon and life stand at the head.
4. Keep a list of your joys; and let the joy unspeakable and full of glory be the first.
5. Keep a list of your hopes; and let the hope of glory be the foremost.
6. Keep a list of your sorrows; and let sorrow for sin be the first.
7. Keep a list of your enemies; and put down the "old man" and the "old serpent" first, and pray for all the rest.
8. Keep a list of your sins; and let the sin of unbelief be set down as the first and worst of all.

PORTRAITS.

To the many friends of Brother and Sister Woodward we are pleased to announce that we have arranged with Tuttle & Patcher, Artists, to make for us pictures of these two earnest workers. We will have them in two sizes. Cabinet size is familiar to every one, post paid to any address for 50 cents. The larger size about 5x8 inches are $1.00 a pair. These pictures are fine, mounted on the best cards, and every body who has seen them say they are excellent likenesses the best Brother and Sister Woodward ever had taken. Friends who are personally acquainted will all want them, and many who know this couple by report will want to get acquainted in this way. Send to this office and we will mail them to you.

"HONORING THE SON."

I have just published an eight-page tract with the above title. Elegantly printed, clear type, good paper. 25 cents per dozen. Please send orders to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$48.70

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. not to this office.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 281 pages, 5th edition. Cloth, 35 cts. a copy; leather $1; $1.00.

"Twelve Words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 ages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 15 cts. per dozen, 75 cts. per hundred.

Written and for sale by Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

Increased knowledge of God means an increase of consolation and spiritual joy.

Couple the engine of prayer to your load of troubles and take them to the throne of grace.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want [illegible]'s

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

COVENIENT AS CASH.—

Mileage Tickets Issued by the Pennsylvania Lines.

Persons who travel will find mileage tickets issued by the Pennsylvania Lines west of Pittsburgh great conveniences, as well as money savers. Principal cities and towns in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are reached by these lines, which also extend to Pittsburgh, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Wheeling and other important places. Over one-half the counties in Ohio are traversed by the Pennsylvania Lines, the county seats of nearly all of them being located thereon. They also traverse forty counties of Indiana, touching at county seats. Holders of mileage tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines can conveniently reach any leading city or town between Pittsburgh on the east, the Mississippi River on the west, the Great Lakes on the north, and the Ohio River on the south, these tickets being available over the several trunk lines of the Fort Wayne and Pan Handle Routes, as well as over the numerous branches. The cost of a 1000 mile ticket is $20.00, a rate of two cents per mile making the saving on a 100 mile ride $1.00, with proportionate larger amounts saved on longer distances. This convenient money-saver may be obtained at ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Lines. The person to see at Plymouth, Ind., for information about it is J. E. HANES, Agent.

WHO ARE LED BY THE SPIRIT?

This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts per hundred. Written and for sale by, Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 20,000 Baptists, in 1866. 3. Immateriality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion 8. The Rest of the Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 6 for 10 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

6 10c; 10 for 15c; 50 for 35c; 100 for 60c.

State of Man's Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement as I contrast of the two uses of these terms, to wit, e Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the main points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath! and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 4-page tract. Price 5c. each, 45 for 30c. 90 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism, as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 44 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 29, 1879, by Jos. Marler. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 15 for $1.

The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 160 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with numerous full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 726 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 150 pages, price 50 cts. or four for $1. postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlinear word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of sixteen critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $3.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is two well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordances to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 128 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. C. H. Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 50 cents, 12 for $1.00; 50 for $4.00. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 25 cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sirceleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farmhouville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held in the Church of the Blessed Hope, 836 West 3rd Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Scripture text. C. M. Joblin, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 345 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome. Pastors residence 811 Huntingdon Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Vanhorn Hall, located on the corner of Madison and California Streets, Ashland Avenue. They meet at other hours as follows: every Sunday Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Angola, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every 2nd Sunday in the month, Sun Sunday school every Sunday, and prayer meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in hall northwest corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of Christ Salem, Ohio, meet every 3rd day of the week at Decker & Gardner's Sunday School at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of Christ Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen. Only a few east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Indiana, Ills., meet every Sunday at the Evans church, to study God's Word. Come Sunday 86 and every Sunday, and Send in your prayer requests. We have no preacher. Jesus Christ is our Leader. Isaac S. Beck Secy.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday services every Sunday at Mr. Feney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beach Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and expressions are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Kolls, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder: Silas Sipie, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland, each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Ingalls. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grout. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Hanover Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K's of P. Hall, 624 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church every Sunday, 11, every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitsell. Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria B. Treadell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Sis. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fish every four weeks. At Commerce every four weeks. At Dunn meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Bro L. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 384, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Wabash, St. L. & Pac. Wheeling & Lake Erie, Wabash Western and Wheeling & Lake Erie Railways.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Eastward.	19	18	39	35	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 45
Allegheny, "	8 00
Canton, "	10 28
Massillon, "	10 38
Wooster, "	11 10
Mansfield, "	12 13
Crestline, "	1 10	10 16	6 05		1 40
Bucyrus, "	1 37	10 43	6 35		2 08
Galion, "	1 53	11 00	6 50		2 25
Van Wert, "	3 21	12 30	8 17	7 37	3 52
Ft Wayne, "	4 40	1 45	9 35	8 55	5 10
Arcola, "
Auburn, "	4 59	2 04	9 54	9 14	5 29
Leavitt, "
Avilla, "
Ft. of Lake, "
Wilcox, "	5 33	2 42
Elkhart, " Burlington, " Bristol, "
Ft Lapelle, "	6 05	3 15
Lawrenceburg, " Hamilton, " Wabash, " Converse, "
Peru, "
Kokomo, "	6 53	4 03
Westfield, "	7 21	4 31	10 40	9 34	7 15
Noblesville, "			11 00		7 35
Tipton, "			11 30		8 05
Elwood, "			11 45		8 20
Alexandria, "			11 55		8 30
Anderson, "			12 05		8 40
Chesterfield, "			12 15		8 50
Muncie, "			12 30		9 05
Hartford City, "			12 45		9 20
Montpelier, "			1 00		9 35
Bluffton, "			1 15		9 50
Decatur, "			1 30		10 05
Geneva, "			1 45		10 20
Portland, "			2 00		10 35
Winchester, "			2 15		10 50
Ridgeville, "			2 30		11 05
Muncie, "			2 45		11 20
Selma, "			3 00		11 35
Chicago, "	9 00	6 05	5 15	12 55	9 55
	PM	AM	AM	PM	AM

Eastward.	30	8	6	50	38
	AM	PM	PM	PM	PM
Chicago, lv.	3 00	11 35	2 45	10 35	3 05
Cedar Lake, "			3 27		12 04
Lake Grand, "			3 37		12 14
Hebron, "			3 50		12 27
Wheeler, "			4 00		12 37
Valparaiso, "		4 32	4 25	1 05	1 03
Wanamaker, "			4 35		1 13
Kouts, "			4 50		1 28
Hanna, "			5 00		1 38
Kniman, "			5 10		1 48
Medaryville, "			5 25		2 03
Monon, "			5 45		2 23
Lee, "			5 55		2 33
Francesville, "			6 05		2 43
Brookston, "			6 20		2 58
Reynolds, "			6 30		3 08
Monticello, "			6 40		3 18
Idaville, "			6 50		3 28
Wolcott, "			7 00		3 38
Rensselaer, "			7 10		3 48
Remington, "			7 25		4 03
Fair Oaks, "			7 35		4 13
Wheatfield, "			7 45		4 23
Kersey, "			7 55		4 33
Dunnell, "		5 45	8 05	2 45	5 00
Berea, "			8 15		5 10
Morrison, "			8 25		5 20
Carpenter, "			8 35		5 30
Kankakee, "		6 35	8 45	3 35	5 50
Momence, "			8 55		6 00
Kinsey, "			9 05		6 10
Grant, "			9 15		6 20
Wilmington, "		6 55	9 25	4 00	6 30
Verona, "			9 35		6 40
Braidwood, "			9 45		6 50
Godley, "			9 55		7 00
Joliet, "		7 35	10 05	4 40	7 10
Ft Wayne, "	11 15	6 15	4 40	6 05	9 40
Van Wert, "	1 10	7 45	6 35	7 10	11 10
Delphos, "	1 30	8 05	6 55	7 30	11 30
Spencerville, "	1 43	8 18	7 08	7 43	11 43
Elida, "	1 53	8 28	7 18	7 53	11 53
Ft Wayne, "	2 30	9 05	7 55	8 30	12 30
Crestline, "	5 50	11 45	12 10	10 35
Galion, "	6 10	12 05	12 30	10 55
Bucyrus, "	6 25	12 20	12 45	11 10
Leesville, "	6 40	12 35	1 00	11 25
Orrville, "	7 05	1 00	1 25	11 50
Wooster, "	7 20	1 15	1 40	12 05
Canton, "	8 00	1 55	2 20	12 45
Alliance, "	8 30	2 25	2 50	1 15
Pittsb'gh, ar.	11 10	5 00	5 30	3 55
	PM	PM	PM	AM

E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent, PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For Time Cards, Rate and Folders, Through Tickets, Sleeping Car Reservations, and further information, apply to any Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 39, Passenger, Leaves	12:05pm
No. 33, " "	12:17pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 38, Passenger, Leaves	10:45am
No. 98, " "	6:40pm
No. 134, Local, "	12:05pm

Daily except Sunday. Daily.

Close connections at Bloomington for Peoria, for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Kenova, Pleasant's or Shanley for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. & M. C. Div. for all points north, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. H. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. Ry., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY, Gen'l Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 32, Ex. Sun.	10:14pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 38 "	7:31am	" "
No. 34, ex. Sun.	10:05pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 33, Ex. Sun.	3:21am	For Terre Haute.
No. 35, "	12:30pm	" "
No 37 ex. Sunday	7:42pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. Downe, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD, Gen'l Pass. Agt., St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The Nickel Plate, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts. Buffalo Depot with Belt Ry. Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Grant st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local Freight
St. Ylelind				7:00am
Hammond	10:27pm	9:07am		8:00am
Hobart	10:45pm	9:45am		10:10am
Valparaiso	11:16pm	10:27am		11:00am
Knox		11:30am	4:01pm	12:55pm
Argos	12:33am	11:47am		2:55pm
Ft Wayne	3:05am	2:40pm	6:55pm	4:50pm
Cleveland	10:36am	9:00pm	11:16pm
Buffalo	4:30pm		6:00am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:45pm		5:35am	Local Freight
Cleveland	7:15pm	6:00am	10:50am
Ft Wayne	12:04am	1:15pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Argos	4:10am	3:22pm		8:20pm
Knox	4:30am	4:01pm	6:29pm	10:10am
Walkerton		4:50pm		11:45pm
Valparaiso	5:40am	5:45pm		12:40am
Kouts	6:31am	6:15pm		1:30pm
Harwood	6:51am	6:40pm		2:45pm
St. Ylelind				4:40pm
Chicago	7:40am	7:05pm	9:00am

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:05 a.m., Cleveland at 8:30 a.m. and local freights do not run Sunday. Other trains are daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping Cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
B. F. BORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT HAMBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD.
WM. HAMBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50
Six Months - - .75
Three Months - .40

Poetry.

Jesus Christ our Savior.

Jesus will come in his glory and power,
Each saint to reward in that triumphant hour.
Sound the glad tidings from far and from near,
Under the whole heavens, then, no one will fear—
So sound the glad tidings afar.

Christ is our refuge, our strength and our shield,
His royal order on earth he will wield;
Reject not the offer of life he now gives—
In him we have life, in him each soul lives.
Seize now the hand held so lovingly forth;
To him who believes 'tis a pearl of great worth.

Other than his there is no saving name,
Unto his presence come the halt and the lame,
Righteous and sinner have heard of his fame.

Saved by his precious blood from all sin,
All unto rest may then enter in,
Vision of glory—we'll be freed from all pain
In the day when our Savior in justice shall reign
On mount Zion, clothed with all power and might,
Robed in our garments all shining and bright.

J. EDGAR BATEN.

Original.

Sum and Substance of the Word of God.

"In vain they worship God, teaching for doctrine the commandments of men." Matt. xv. 8, 9.

To illustrate I ask the questions: Is it necessary and essential to salvation, that we should believe all the Scriptures say, and teach? Do you believe the Scriptures to be the Word of God? If the Scriptures are the Word of God, Christ says man shall live by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Matt. iv. 4; Luke iv. 4.

Christ says, we "must observe all things whatsoever he has commanded us." Matt. xxviii. 19, 20. Therefore, it is right, and necessary for us to believe all; and not cast any to the dogs; it is necessary for us to believe all, because it is impossible to please God without faith; and put on the breastplate of faith and charity. Without faith and charity, we can do nothing. 1 Cor. xiii.

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Heb. xi.; James ii.

"Charity is the bond of perfectness." Col. iii. 14. "Charity is the end of the commandment, out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned, and sincere." 1 Tim. i. 5, 6, 7. "Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up. Charity doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the Truth; charity beareth all things, believeth all things, endureth all things." 1 Cor. xiii. 4-8. "Above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins." 1 Peter iv. 8.

"Faith without works is dead. As the body without the spirit is dead; so faith without works is dead also." Heb. xi. 6; James ii. 20, 26. "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing." 1 Cor. xiii. 1, 2. "So faith without works is dead." "The devils believe, and tremble." Will their faith save them?

"Now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three, but the greatest is charity." 1 Cor. xiii. 13.

Our Master says, "As you would that others do unto you, do ye even so to them, for this is the all children. But in Isaac shall law of the prophets." (This is true thy seed be called." Rom. ix. 6, 7, charity.) He also says, "Enter in 8; Heb. xi. 18.

at the strait gate, for wide is the Therefore, it is right and necesgate, and broad is the way that sary that we should believe all the leadeth to destruction, and many Scriptures say:—"And put on the there be which go in thereat: Be- whole armor of God; that we may cause, strait is the gate, and nar- be able to stand against the wiles row is the way that leadeth to life, of the devil." Eph. vi. 11, 12-16. and few there be that find it." Matt. vii. 12, 13, 14.

Christ commanded the apostles after he arose from the dead, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved. He that believeth not shall be damned." Mark xvi. 15, 16. "The devils believe and tremble." Will they be saved on faith alone? "As the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead." "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." Matt. xxviii. 19, 20.

"Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many I say unto you, will seek to enter in and not be able. When once the Master of the house is risen up, and hath shut the door, etc." Luke xiii. 24-30.

Paul says, "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all believe, and speak the same thing, (he does not say things, but thing) and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment." 1 Cor. i. 10, 13. "Till we all come in the unity of of the true faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ: that ye henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive." Eph. iv. 13, 14.

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say unto me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: Depart from me, ye workers of iniquity." Matt. vii. 21-23.

"He that climbeth over some other way, and not through the strait gate, into the sheepfold, is a thief and robber. But the sheep did not hear them." John vi.

"Many are called but few are chosen." Our faith cannot be right, and according to Scripture, until it agrees and harmonizes with all the Scriptures say and teach; or rather, Scripture agrees with what we believe.

To believe all the Scriptures say, and teach, is a pearl of great price: it will not go side by side with worthless pearls. Therefore, we had better get rid of our worthless pearls, and buy the Pearl of great price. The sum and substance of the teaching of the old and new will of God. Death reigned from Adam to Moses. Romans v. 14, 21. Moses gave the law. John i. 17; Acts iii. 22, 23.

The law and the prophets were until John, (and Christ) since that time the kingdom of heaven (or kingdom of God) is preached, and all men press into it; that is, people of all nations, tongues and kindred. The kingdom of God, (or kingdom of heaven) is offered to all men of all nations, tongues and kindreds of people: no respect of persons with God. Luke xvi. 16; Rom. ii. 11; Eph. vi. 9; Mark xvi. 15, 16.

The kingdom of heaven (or the kingdom of Israel) suffereth violence, and is taken by the violent by force. Matt. xi. 12, 13; Luke xvi. 12.

The kingdom of heaven (or the kingdom of Israel, or David's kingdom) will be trodden under foot until the fulness of the times of the Gentiles be come in, and the time for the restitution of all things, (as they would have been, if Adam had not transgressed and disobeyed God. Rom. xi. 25, 27; Acts iii. 21, 22, 23; Luke xxi. 24. When the fulness of the times of the Gentiles be come; and the time for the restitution of all things: then will Christ come and restore again the kingdom of David, or kingdom of Israel; Israel, who are the saved and all God's elect. Who will inherit all things. Eph. i. 9-12; Rev. xxi. 7. Then Christ, and Israel, or God's people who are saved, will reign in life and righteousness forever. For the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his Father David, and he shall reign over the house of Jacob (or Israel) forever, of his kingdom there shall be no end, it shall stand forever. It shall break in pieces and consume all other kingdoms." Rev. ii. 26, 27; Luke i. 32, 33; Daniel ii. 35, 44.

With regard to all literal Israel being saved, we must remember and believe as God says, and not make his Word contradict. God says, "they are not all Israel which are of Israel. Neither because they are the seed of Abraham, are they

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 19, 1896. NO. 7.

the just are raised first, perfect and immortal, and cannot die any more. If they were raised mortal, they would be subject to die again. But Christ the first fruits from the dead, and our forerunner, says, 24 35, 36.

"And Jesus answering said unto them, the children of this world marry: (now,) but they which shall be accounted worthy to obtain that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry nor are given in marriage: neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection." Now if they are equal to the angels, and are the children of God, and cannot die any more: are they not immortal? Some one may say, Adam was the Son of God, and he died. Yes, Adam was mortal, and God told Adam if he disobeyed him he should die. Adam disobeyed God, and did die, and is dead now, and will remain dead. God tells us the very same he told Adam. But we don't believe him any more than Adam believed. If we don't obey we must expect to fare like Adam. Adam disobeyed in one single point, we disobey in many. Now what is to become of us? If we strive to enter in at the strait gate, Christ will intercede for us, and we will be safe. God tells the just, "It is appointed to man to die once: and after that they cannot die any more."

He tells them "He will raise them incorruptible at the first resurrection. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying, that is written, death is swallowed up in victory." 1 Cor. xv. 53, 54. "God is not a God of the dead, but of the living." Luke xx. 37, 38; Acts vii. 32.

Christ told the Pharisees he would be perfected the third day. He said "go tell that fox, behold I cast out devils, and I do cures to-day and to-morrow, and the third day I shall be perfected, or immortal; Herod can't kill me then." Lu. xiii. 32.

Paul says, "Awake to righteousness and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame. But some man will say, how are the dead raised up; and with what body do they come? Thou fool, that seed that thou sowest is not made alive except it die." 1 Cor. xv. 30. "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." John xii. 24.

"That grain which thou sowest, thou sowest not that same body (or grain) that shall be, but it will bear grain, it may chance of wheat or some other grain; but God giveth it a body as it pleased him, and to every seed his own body. So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption: It is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory: It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power: It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body." You see it is raised changed every time; from mortal to incorruptible, spiritual, and with power, to live, etc., but the very same body that lived and sowed during the mortal life. 1 Cor. xv. 34-37, 42-44. Now, to illustrate. Suppose you buy a new kind of wheat and sow it, and it comes in appearance, like wheat you bought and sowed; would you not say it is the same wheat? If some one was to say to you, that is not the same wheat you bought, you would be very apt to say, I know better, it is the very same. Yet it is not identically the same grain; but fruit of the same brought to perfection. Just so about the body you sow, it dies to bring fruit to perfection. Eph. v. 27; Luke xiv. 14. "If the spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you; he that raised up Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortal bodies, by his spirit that dwelleth in you, because the creature itself shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God." Rom. viii. 17, 21; Titus ii. 14.

Now, as Paul has shown that the just are raised immortal and incorruptible, he also tells that the just who are living when Christ comes, are changed. He says, "Behold, I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, (both living and dead in Christ) in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump. For the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we (the living) shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." 1 Cor. xv. 51, 52, 53. "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thess. iv. 13-18; 2 Thess. ii. 1-17; John v. 24, 25; John v. 28, 29. "He that hath an ear let him hear, etc." Eph. v. 14. "Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power." Rev. xx. 5, 6. The second resurrection the opposite.

"But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear." 1 Peter iii. 15.

WM. B. PARRISH.

Selected.

The Blessing, the Baptism, the Prayer.

These three dispensational forms of truth are of paramount importance. "Their entrance gives us light." They are grouped together now for the mutual support they furnish to faith in "the common salvation."

1. "On this wise ye shall bless. The Lord bless thee and keep thee. The Lord make his face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee and give thee peace!"

"Aaron and his Sons (high priests) shall put my name upon the children of Israel, and I will bless them." Num. vi. 23-27. Yet in the record of 1500 years, this "form of sound words" finds no formal repetition! However the doctrine, the need and the loving kindness of this blessing, remained in all its integrity and strength.

2. The baptismal form of words belongs to us till the end of our gospel age. The mystery to the Jews, couched in their high priest's blessing, may be disclosed in this gospel ordinance. Israel saw "the shadow of good things to come," Heb. viii. to x., but in Christ we have (and are to have) the "more enduring substance." Hence the commission, "Go ye, teach, baptizing them into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, etc." Matt. xxviii. 19-20.

Note. This range of truth, "Father, Son and Holy Ghost," shines out in its incomparable splendor to irradiate the apostolic baptismal scenes with its divine authority! The doctrine is therefore analogous. This verbal doctrinal and associated truth of "the commission" gleams through Acts ii., viii. ix., x., xi., etc.

Note also that the objection to "the commission" seems to lie in some latent disregard to "the Holy Ghost," however covert and varied this may be. Please read Acts xix. 2-6. The record of John's baptism is attended with a three-fold mention of "the Holy Ghost!"

Please ask yourself (your objection) why the old Roman word "Spirit—Holy Spirit," be more divine than our own emphatic Saxon-English? Can reason see even a straw here for faith to stumble over? It was a favor from God that "every man in (his) own tongue" could hear the gospel. Acts ii. If so then it must be so now, except to prejudice, self-will and unbelief.

3. The Lord Jesus prayed! The disciples saw in his prayer their need and asked for instruction. He gave them, doubtless, the sum of his own prayer. Matt. vi. 9-13; Lu. xi. 1-4. This prayer comprehends "our age and the one which is to come," with the kingdom, the inheritance of the saints, and its glory!

Why quote this? I answer to arrest attention; to show the analogy between its doctrine and the blessing, the baptism and the prayer, neither of which appears again in their full "form of sound words." 2 Tim. i. 13. Yet they belong to "the book." Like syllables in a sentence they are essential to its entire make up. They are indispensible. The doctrine, their spirit, their sum of "good will to men," is maintained to the outcome of all at the end—the consummation.

The three-fold form of blessing may find confirmation in Isa. xlviii. 16. "The Lord God and his Spirit hath sent me,"—in the baptismal formula, "Into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:" in the benediction, "the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God and the communion of the Holy Ghost;" and to crown this testimony with a text on the level of sanctified humanity, "The God of peace, sanctify you wholly, spirit and body, blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." 1 Thess. v. 23.

The "faith that comes by hearing the Word" takes this in without dictating changes. Its form, its matter and measure are divine.

The Word of God has all authority. A repetition would add nothing. True, the apostles do not repeat the three-fold name in the commission, but they maintain the doctrine of "Father, Son and Holy Ghost." Acts ii. 23-36. "This Jesus hath God raised up, and being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and hear." "They that gladly received his Word were then baptized."

The condensed record of apostolic practice in baptizing has no determinate "form of words." In two successive cases the words are the same. In other two cases no name is used. The facts of teaching and baptizing believers is recorded. Acts xvi. 30-34; xviii. 8. "The Corinthians hearing, believed and were baptized."

We speak of Christian baptism in this same condensed way, with no thought of disparaging "the baptism of John," or Jesus, or that of the apostles. The phrase "Christian baptism" is as definite as it is comprehensive, and throws our minds back to the Bible for details. Thus they "came together to break bread," Acts xx. 7; 1 Cor. xvi. 2, as this breaking of bread embraced the entire Lord's Supper service, of course. So as to baptism. Why stumble in such light!

The commission alone bears the form of authority, solemnity and completeness, for "the work of the ministry and the edifying of the body of Christ, till we all come into the unity of the faith, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." Eph. iv. 11-13; 1 Cor. xii. 12, 13. ("The" emphasizes both texts.)

This is to mid those who will have no prayer except in the closet, no baptism except in the one name, Jesus, and no worship except where all are head, by turns, to a few. Such will, on that line, prune away the personal and divine Sonship of Jesus; and others will not allow "the Father of the whole family in earth and heaven" a place or name in the adoption of his children into his own household. But let this suffice to hold our faith to "the Word." Diversity in terms is not denial but confirmation. In the fear of God and love to all.—J. B. Cook.

[The above article was published in this paper April 10, 1886, and is now reprinted at request of Bro. R. A. Humphreys.—ED.]

Russia's Great Railway Line.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 9.—Dr. W. L. Hoenock, chief engineer of the Irkutsk and Vladivostock division of Russia's great railroad, says that feeders will be built from the main line—one, on an understanding with the Persian Government, to Herat, another into Afghanistan over the Thibet Mountains, a third into Beloochistan and Afghanistan and Persia. This will take the Russian road into the center of the Asiatic powers and right to the doors of India.

The Russian Government is building several merchantmen to ply between Vladivostock and Alaska. We are now building three at Vladivostock and three more are to be built at Cronstadt. All will be finished within a year or so. It is not decided which port we will go to. Perhaps one will be made, for the United States will build a railroad to some point in North Alaska, and wherever it makes its terminus that we shall make our port.

This is a part of the grand strategetic plan and is being carried out through an understanding between the two countries. The United States will build a line north to Sitka, cross the Bering Sea Islands as far as practicable, and from that point make connection with the ships Russia is building, making the journey from Alaska to Vladivostock in twenty-four hours.

Sincerity Not Enough.

At a meeting in Glasgow, Scotland, the Rev. Mr. Glendinning remarked: "A young man said to me, 'If a man is sincere it is enough.' 'Is it?' Yes; if a man is in earnest it is quite sufficient.' 'Is it?' 'Then if a man was sitting in a burning house from which there was only one way to escape, would he save his life if he did not take the right way to do so? no matter how earnest he might be to get out?' 'Oh, well, no! but you see it is different.' 'It is absurd to say so; you are in danger, from which there is only one way of safety, and you refuse to take it. No man is in earnest who refuses to go in the right way when it is pointed out to him. Many are like this man; they ease their conscience with the false plea, "I am in earnest, and I do the best I can."'

The one thing which makes the name of Jesus unspeakably precious is the fact that though perfectly divine he was yet perfectly human; that he really did stoop to take upon himself our nature; that he took it with all its limitations, and that having once accepted these limitations, he was subject unto them to death, refusing to make use of his divine power to lessen his sorrows or sufferings, or even to save his own life. Such a life is not an ideal to be admired so much as it is a practical model to live by. This is the key to the gospels as Christ himself is the key to the Old Testament.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.

M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEB. 19, 1890.

Please Renew, Or write and say how soon you can remit.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

If you want extras containing your articles please order when the article is sent. Obituaries the same.

"THE truth must permeate and purify the whole man, and fire the heart as well as enlighten the head." *

THE latest news from England to date is to the effect that that country has decided to spend forty million dollars for more war vessels. *

WE were much pleased this week to have Bro. L. C. Chase of Michigan with us for a short time, too short, but we made the most of it and will be pleased to see him again.

"BROTHER and Sister, it takes courage to act the part of the high calling. We are always in danger of playing the coward, and bowing to the weight of respectability, and the greatness of numbers." *

"To be baptized into the name of Jesus Christ is the same as to be baptized into the name of the Father, Son and Spirit, because Jesus was the manifestation of God in flesh, by means of the spirit." *

"READER, meditation upon the Word will develop faith; and the more an honest-hearted man understands of the Word, the more enlarged and stronger will his faith become; and the more valiant will he be for the truth, and the more efficient for the work before him." *

"THE disposition to serve ourselves is intuitive to the natural or animal man, and is one of the primitive instincts intended for our self-preservation. If regulated by divine law is has its place, and is good in its place; but if it is allowed to become the lord of our life, we get into an evil bondage from which we cannot deliver ourselves, and it will certainly alienate us from the regard of Christ." *

ERRATA. In article "Gospel of the Kingdom—A Reply" No. 7. 2nd col. part VII 2nd line, for "history in romance," read "history in advance."

In 3rd Col. part VIII last two lines, for "any feet to smite us any kings to destroy," read "Any feet to smite or any kings to destroy."

In 3rd Col. 2nd paragraph from the end, 6th line, for "wound the heads as rulers, read, "wound the heads or rulers." *

"THE truth concerning Christ is simple and perfectly glorious. He is offered to men for justification unto eternal life, on condition of faith in the good things which God has said about him, that he was the Son of God, to take away sin, that he was raised from the dead to immortality, and became the great High Priest over his own house; that he will return to set his house in order, set upon the throne of his glory long promised, to be King over all the earth, and to give his people honor, glory, and immortality in the kingdom he will establish." *

TALMADGE is continually talking religious nonsense, and worse. One of his latest baseless assertions is that to kill a Christian is glory; another: "The worst thing that can happen a child of God is heaven." And still another, "I tell you plainly, that one minute after a man has become a child of God, he is as safe as though he had been ten thousand years in heaven. He may slip, he may slide, he may stumble, but he cannot be destroyed. Kept by the power of God through faith, unto complete salvation. Everlastingly safe." [Plain enough, 'tis true, but but as false as plain. Happily the last part of the sentence contradicts the first part. This may protect the careful reader. It says, "Kept by the prayer of God, through faith. What if the man's faith fails? Is he as safe then, as if he had been in heaven ten thousand years? The foolish notion that God must give the man faith to believe with, is about the same as asking God to believe for him. The words of Jesus to Simon in Luke xx. 32. "I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not," spoils the Talmadge utterance.] Another groundless assertion in the same sermon, was; "The body is only the old slippers that he throws aside just before putting on the sandals of light." His soul, you cannot hurt it. No devils can capture it."

If this is not an endorsement of the serpent's assertion, "Thou shalt not surely die, what is it? And when we think of the tremendous consequences of believing that first lie, it makes us shudder to hear it is continually taught as God's truth, instead of the serpent's lie. They, as others of old, speak lies in the name of the Lord, and they will never see life, because they make God a liar by not believing God's record of his Son (1 John v. 10, 12.) "He that hath the Son hath life."

Discrimination.

One of our Cleveland dailies on Monday the 1st inst. published an article under the above caption. It said: "On being asked to take $50,000 to the relief of the Armenians, the Rev. Talmage declined because the man who would start up through the mountains of Armenia with $50,000 and no government protection would be guilty of monumental foolhardiness!

Miss Clara Barton, however having the courage to try it, Talmage gave her his blessing as a send off, in which he prayed:

May the ships that carry her across the Atlantic and Mediterranean seas be guided safely by him who trod into sapphire pavement beforme Galilee! The Turkish government is bound to protect her, and the chariots of God are 20,000, and their charioteers are angels of deliverance, and they would all ride down at once to roll over and trample under the hoofs of their white horses any of her assailants! "Why the 20,000 chariots of God and the angels of deliverance would not all ride down at once and roll over and trample under their hoofs the assailants of Talmadge on such and errand, as well as the assailants of Talmadge on such an errand, as well as the assailants of Miss Barton, he does not explain. Being in Washington he might refer the question to one of the blind chaplains of congress, who are more intimate in the counsels of the Almigthy than even Talmadge is."

"The Old Man" and "The New Man."

Some one has said that the "Old man's wisdom of God can rise no higher in conceptions of God than the Zenith of its own halo. He thinks as he feels, and his feelings are blind. Being a creature of earth and sense and sin, his conceptions of God are earthy, sensual and devilish, and proclaim him to be an incomprehensible existence without body or parts. While the new man's wisdom is made by the teaching of God.—not by direct spirit-affiliation, but by the direct operation of heavenly ideas of God upon his brain-flesh. These ideas are the living spirit,—the divine agent in conversion, which, when understood and believed, inscribe upon the tablet of the intellect and affections the law of the spirit of the life in the Anointed Jesus, which spirit he says, makes alive; and the words which I discourse to you is spirit and life. That is, spirit is the words, and life is the words discussed. The spirit or power of the words is in the ideas they represent, and these ideas generate intellectual and moral, that is, spiritual life; which life having been fully developed in a character approved of him from whom the ideas emanate or originate, is permanently manifested in the crown of life, the reward of righteousness, which is received by the resurrected.

The germ of the new man is the ideas of God, and aggregated in what Peter terms the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord. The new man of the spirit is the mental likeness of God in Christ daguerreotyped, so to speak on the fleshly table or sensorium by the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make wise unto salvation, through faith which is in the Anointed.

These only thus enlightened are taught by God and know him. None else are made alive by the spirit: and none others know God; for he and all the deep things of God are spiritually discerned." *

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 8.

The theory we oppose teaches that the kingdom of God predicted in Dan. ii. 44, that was to break in pieces and consume "all these kingdoms" and stand forever, was set up at the first of Pentecost after the crucifixion. It has been shown already, that although more than (800 hundred years have passed since that Day of Pentecost, no kingdom of men has been broken in pieces and consumed by what is called the kingdom of God, viz., the Church.

Granting (for a moment) that the church is the kingdom, then we claim that Rome smote the kingdom of God, and the kingdom of God did not smite Rome. And,

I. The prediction of Jesus in Matt. x. 16-19 precludes the idea of the kingdom of God long predicted, being set up in the life time of the apostles. He forewarns them that they would have to suffer, not reign. Said he, "They will deliver you up to the councils and they will scourge you, in their synagogues, —and ye shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gentiles....And ye shall be hated of all men, for my name's sake, but he that endureth, ENDURETH, ENDURETH unto the end, SHALL BE SAVED.

Their sufferings would last till the end of probationary life. Then what? We find what next in Rev. ii. 25-27, "But that which ye have already, hold fast till I come,—and he that overcometh and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations; and he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers, even as I received of my Father." Here, some 60 years after Pentecost the members of the church were told to hold fast till he came, and then the tables would be turned,—the smiting predicted in Dan. ii. 44 would be in order, and the smiters are pointed out to us.

II. The history of the Church abundantly verifies our Lord's prediction. Who imprisoned the beloved John on the Isle of Patmos for the Word of God and for the testimony of Jesus? It was Rome!

Who 40 years after Pentecost destroyed Jerusalem, the city of the Great King? Matt. v. 35. It was Rome that did the smiting; it was the Church that was smitten.

Coming down the stream of time two hundred years, we ask, who threw Justin Martyr into prison for the crime of being a Christian? It was Rome! And it was Rome that put Cyprian to death for the same cause in A. D. 248. Read the history of Rome under Nero and other monsters of cruelty who occupied its throne and smote the brethren of Jesus, and it will be soon discovered that all the smiting was done by Rome. And that the Church does not begin to fill Daniel's bill. It has done nothing that the prophet said the kingdom of God should do.

III. The most destructive work of Rome against the Church was of a very different character. Judaism to some extent crept into the Church in apostolic times,—and this adulterated Christianity was soon mixed with something worse. "Paganism was infused into susceptible minds in all the countries it subdued; and the already adulterated Christianity became further adulterated with it. The mixture of Judaism, Christianity and paganism was palatable to the masses, —popular—and became the religion of the state; and Constantine commenced to make converts by the sword, in a hurry. Rome did this, and more too. It set over this Christianity, as it was called, one that usurped the place of the Eternal One; whose system is called "The Mother of harlots, and abominations," by the Spirit's own Word. This epithet exposes to view an incurably corrupt system, in which not a trace of Christianity can be found,—yes; incurably corrupt, so that its doom is fixed; it is to be consumed, is the apostacy so designated, by the Lord Jesus with the breath of his mouth, and annihilated by the appearing of his presence. See 2 Thess. ii. 3-12.

It is astounding to think that we should be writing about the apostasy from the faith which Paul predicted should take place before the day of the Lord's coming and kingdom. (2 Tim. iv. 1(and Mr. Campbell and his followers writing of the same apostacy from the faith as One dying out of the kingdom predicted in Dan. ii. 44, which was never to be destroyed, never left to other people [i. e. change hands] but break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms and stand forever, after ONCE set up. Yes; it is astounding, that men should have the hardihood to claim that the congregation of God called out the world to be Heirs of the kingdom of God was ITSELF the kingdom;—to have the effrontry to say, that the company called out for God's name, which became so utterly apostate that not a soul was left to proclaim the truth, was the veritable kingdom of David, the government of which was to rest upon the shoulders of the child born and the son given and which he should order, and establish with judgment, and justice forever, and which the zeal of the Lord of Hosts will surely perform. An everlasting kingdom comes to an end, and has to be started again; —could we have stronger proof that those who thus argue have been sipping the cup which has befuddled the religious world, and who because they received not the love of truth, are under a strong delusion and believe a falsehood? 2 Thess. ii. 10, 11.

But enough in this direction having been said, we trust, to induce the honest hearted to search the Scriptures to see if these things be so,—we conclude this article by introducing another claimant of the honor of having again set up the kingdom of God, between sixty and seventy years ago. In The Protestant Unionist, of Feb. 23, 1848, was published Mr. Walter Scott's declaration concerning the re-establishment of the kingdom of God. He says, "Our Reformation is the practical application of a great religious truth to its original, evangelical and ecclesiastical purposes. This truth it was not Mr. Campbell's fortune, either first to introduce to practice, or to control after it was introduced. It was subject to society without him. But although it did not fall to the lot of Mr. Campbell to propound the great truths of our religion to society, for its proper purposes, and thereby rectify all the first principles of the kingdom of God; although it was not given to him to restore the original advocacy of the gospel....and cut out from among the innumerable sectaries with which Christendom swarms, a new people, a new knowledge, and new manners and customs, and place them on the exclusive and infallible basis of the Messiahship alone, saved, justified and sanctified,—although he was not called in our Reformation by Divine Providence to act the part of Peter, and encounter the shame and insult and difficulties associated with the almost superhuman, protracted and personal effort for years, necessary to RE-ESTABLISH THE KINGDOM OF GOD, as at the beginning,—yet he has doubtless, by divine Providence been invited to the performance of a certainly no less distinguished work—the work of Paul....and by his admirable powers and grand superintendency of mind, give consistence amplitude and sublimity to the people that had been born ....He adds, however, "Any history of the Reformation not embracing the work of Peter will be like the Acts of the Apostles with the Acts of Peter left out by request."

Mr Scott felt that the sole honor of re-establishing the kingdom belonged to him, but that he was being eclipsed by the brilliant talents of Mr. Campbell, and was in danger of losing his place in ecclesiastical history. We have found three claimants: Mr. Stone, Mr. Scott, and Mr. Campbell. If judge us in such holy days, it has only been set up at once during the 19th century, than for certain some of these claims are false. If Mr. Stone set up or re-established the kingdom then neither Mr. Campbell nor Mr. Scott did. If Mr. Scott did, neither Mr. Campbell nor Mr. Stone did; if Mr. Campbell did, neither Mr. Stone nor Mr. Scott did. Of course we hold that neither did, but from their stand-point, may we be allowed to suggest an amicable settlement that would do full justice to each claimant? It seems that the figure-heads in that movement have considerable authority to fix things to suit. For instance, as Mr. Talbot Fanning had authority to say that the kingdom of God which was set up at Pentecost was set up again some seven years later, at the house of Cornelius; why does he not arrange this matter on the same principle. Mr. Stone may have set it up, and it tumbled down again, and Mr. Scott may have set it up again. Again it may have come down and Mr. Campbell has re-established it. No stretch of Mr. Talbot's original authority would be required to arrange it thus, and then the coveted place in the history of apostate Christendom would be secured to each of these gentlemen. *

(To be continued.)

Original.

Should Gentiles Keep the Seventh Day?

"At that time Jesus went on the Sabbath day through the corn, and his disciples were a hungered, and began to pluck the ears of corn, and to eat. But when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto him, Behold thy disciples do that which is not lawful to do on the Sabbath day. But he said unto them, Have ye not read what David did when he was a hungered, and they that were with him; how he entered into the house of God, and did eat the show-bread, which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only for the priests? Or have ye not read in the law how that on the Sabbath days the priests in the temple profane the Sabbath, and are blameless? "Matt. xii. 1, 2, 3, 4. For we read in the book of Numbers that they offered burnt offerings every Sabbath day, although the nation of Israel were strictly commanded to do no work on the Sabbath day. They also on the Sabbath day circumcised a man, and then they condemned Christ for healing on the Sabbath day; but he tells them not to judge according to the appearances but to judge righteous judgment. John vii. 24. He also says, "In this place is one greater than the temple for the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath day. But if ye had known what this meaneth, I will have mercy, and (will) not sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the guiltless. Matt. 7-8. But our Advent brethren say, "This is not the issue between us. We know the Lord taught men to do good on the Sabbath day, but we also know that he further established the keeping of the seventh or Sabbath day by keeping it himself as did also his disciples." This in part is very true, for how could Christ fulfill the law, had he not done this. For he was born under the law, and became to his followers the end of the law. Therefore, Paul the apostle to this the Galatian brethren says: "Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labor in vain." Gal x. 11. To those at Rome he says, "one man esteemeth one day above another another esteemeth all days alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind. Romans." xiv. 5. To the brethren at Colossia he writes. "Let no man judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of a holy day, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath-days, which are a shadow of things to come, but the body is of Christ." Col. ii. 16, 7. The shadow is not the real substance, but Christ. Therefore to all that receive him, he is become the end of the law, blotting out the handwriting of ordinances which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to the cross." Therefore we should be careful that we give none any room to drinks, Sabbath-days or any thing that are simply shadows of the real substance, because by doing this we may hinder many who would enter the kingdom. Now that we can not find in the teachings of our Savior any particular day that he commanded his apostles to meet for worship, we therefore conclude that they chose the first day of the week. Our reason for believing this to be the day, is because we read in the Acts of the Apostles xx. 7, "And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow." Their object in coming together to break bread, was for what purpose? For the purpose of showing forth the death of our Lord and Redeemer, as recorded in 1 Col. x. 16., which reads, "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" Also in the eleventh chapter, 23, 24, 25, 26. "For I have received of the Lord, that which also I delivered unto you, that the Lord Jesus, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread: And when he had given thanks, he broke it and said, Take, eat, this is my body, which is broken for you, this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood, this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come" To break bread and for prayer is the purpose for which they met, and this they did upon the first day of the week, and as we find more proof in the Word for so doing we feel safe in meeting for the same purpose upon the same day, feeling assured that God will be well pleased with those who meet upon the first day of the week, to worship him in spirit and in truth. Amen, Amen.

R. V. TOWNSEND.

Selected.

Natural and Spiritual.

"There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body." 1 Cor., xv. 44.

Paul in this fifteenth chapter of first Corinthians appears to be dealing with a new thought. The religious people of his day evidently never heard any one dilate on this theme before they heard Paul. "And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead some mocked and others said we will hear thee again of this matter."—Acts xvii. 32. "He seemed to be a setter forth of strange Gods, because he preached unto them Jesus and the resurrection."—Acts. xvi, 18. The resurrection and Jesus was Paul's chief topic. Doubtless he could have preached on other new subjects, including the new woman; but—well, he was not put up that way.

In the fourteenth verse of this same chapter he says: "And if Christ be not raised, ye are yet in your sins." Eighteenth verse: "Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished."

Paul could not have studied the Presbyterian catechism, for that little book informs us that the souls of believers do not have to wait for resurrection. They pass immediately at death into glory. The great majority of believers now believe that Christians have very little to do with Paul's theory of resurrection. The old "mortal coil," or "tenement of clay" was never much use any way. The catechism says "at death our souls are made perfectly happy and do pass into glory," etc. Evidently the Christians of the present time side with the catechism rather than with Paul, because one rarely ever hears anything from the pulpit on Paul's ideal of resurrection. The up-to-date preacher has a plan now of getting the good into heaven by sections. The verse which heads this letter says there is a natural body and there is a spiritual body. Two, not three, and to make the generally received idea clear there must be three, for between death and resurrection the souls of believers are described as doing various acts that would be impossible for immaterial ity to do. One of our most familiar hymns reads thus:

Then in a nobler, sweeter song,
I'll sing thy power to save,
When this poor lisping, stammering tongue
Lies silent in the grave.

The author of this poetry evidently believes there is one more body than Paul mentions. How I would like to have some of our big preachers take up this neglected Scripture topic. The great fault of our modern sermons is the have not enough Bible in them.

"They prophet that hath a dream let him tell a dream and he that hath my word let him speak my word faithfully what is the chaff to the wheat, saith the Lord. Is not my word like a fire, saith the Lord, and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?" (Jer., xxiii. 28.)

Yes, yes; God's Word has more potency for good than our words. D. L. Moody well illustrates the thought I wish to convey. The results attending his labors confirm the quotation from Jeremiah. If Moody has any dreamy theory about the third body he keeps it to himself, and instead he gives his hearers the Word. And the Word as spoken and quoted by him has been just what Jeremiah said of it, viz., a fire and a hammer to melt and break down all before him, not in one place, but everywhere he goes.

Preachers who are talking to empty pews Sunday after Sunday would do well to study men like Moody.

One more word about the natural and the spiritual body. Paul tells us the first is natural. Much of my time when I first set out to be a Christian was spent in trying to change my nature—be a spiritual body instead of a natural body. I have learned, however, that I cannot change my nature. Prayer will not do it; fasting will not do it; nothing that I can do will change my nature. God will answer to fervent, persistent prayer in Jesus' name, change my character, but not my nature during mortal life. I am now a natural body. The spiritual body, if faithful until death, I receive at the resurrection, not before.

Not long ago I heard a young preacher describe the Transfiguration. He said that it was a picture of what the church ought to be if all the members lived on the higher plane of Christian life. I said he was too young; in fact he was too young to be a teacher of Christian truth. I have been taught that Transfiguration was a drop picture of the resurrection life, the glorified state, when God's people will be in possession of the other body, which Paul calls the spiritual body. I will add, in conclusion, the best way to obtain the spiritual body is to be faithful in the natural body —Isaac McCurry, Sr. in Methodist Protestant, Baltimore.

An Old-Fashioned Fine.

One of the ways of our fathers of ye olden tyme had of dealing with an evil, much more prevalent now than then, is shown in the statement made that in the year 1632, Robert, of Massachusetts, was fined £10 for "abusing himself shamefully with drink," and sentenced to stand with "a drunkard" in great letters on a white sheet on his back "soe longe as the court thinks meete." If the courts of the present day and generation were to adopt the same mode of punishment for similar cases, what a tremendous "standing" army there would be.

The young Czarina flatly refuses to conform to certain Russian customes—smoking, for instance. She has requested her ladies-in-waiting not to approach her if there is an odor of tobacco on their clothes. All the Russian Grand Duchesses smoke like chimneys, including the Czarina's sister, the Grand Duchess Sergius. On entering a room one day where several of these ladies were enjoying cigarets her Imperial Madjesty looked reprovingly around and said: "I consider a cigaret in a woman's mouth is as bad as an oath in a man's."—New York World.

How many lay up riches which they never enjoy, to provide for exigences that never come; sacrificing present comfort and enjoyment in guarding against wants of a period that they may never live to see.—Jay.

POETRY.

He's Coming Back Again.

Our Lord the "King of Glory,"
From God's white throne above,
Is coming back to earth again,
To reign in peace, in love.

The signs are thick around us
That tell his coming near,
When kings of earth and mighty men
Will tremble, quake, and fear.

Oppression, sin, and sorrow,
From the earth will fade away,
When the "Lamb of God" the Conqueror,
Holds universal sway.

The saints of all past ages
Will be brought forth from the tomb,
The living changed, to endless life
To dwell in their Eden home.

Are you ready or this great event?
Are your garments spotless white?
Are you at your post of duty?
Are you always for the right?

Have you "left all" to follow him?
Who is the Truth the way,
Or are you walking in the ways of
And serving every [illegible]

Do you want a home in your bright
Home?
With all the saints of light?
Then come from sin, and enter in.
And serve him with all your [illegible]

J. J. Cox.

Original.

The Soul Destroyed in Hell.

"Fear not them which kill the body, but are able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." Matt. x. 28.

There would not be the least particle of trouble in understanding this passage, were it not for the mysticisms of the apostacy, which have led people to believe that the soul is a distinct organized entity capable of endless existence apart from the body, and that hell is a place of endless torment for wicked immortal souls. No such teaching can be successfully sustained from the above Scripture.

With regard to the indestructibility of the soul, this passage says, God is able to destroy the soul, and has decreed by the Prophet Ezekiel, "the soul that sinneth, it shall die," and the above passage says he is "able," to "destroy" it.

What is the meaning of the word soul in this passage? It is from the Hebrew word Nephesh, this word is translated soul 471 times, life 150 times; also men, person, self, body, they, breathe, appetite, lust, creature.

With regard to this word in the Hebrew language, the learned scholar Parkhurst, says: "Nephesh (soul) as a noun, has been supposed to signify the spiritual part of man, or what is called his soul. I must for myself confess that I can find no passage where it has undoubtedly this meaning.

The word soul, in the above passage signifies "life." I will give a few passages where the words soul and life are used interchangeably as meaning the same thing. I quote from the Revised Version, and if you will refer from the text to the margin you will learn that the two words are interchangeable.

Luke xii. 19, 20: "I will say to my soul, (margin life) soul, (margin life) thou hast much goods laid up," etc. "Thou foolish one, this night is thy soul (margin life) required of thee."

Matt. x. 37, 40: "He that finds his life (margin soul,) shall lose it; and he that loseth his life (margin soul) for my sake shall find it." See Mark viii. 35-37: Whosoever would save his life (margin soul) shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life (margin soul) for my sake and the gospels shall save it. For what doth it profit a man, to gain the whole world, and forfeit his life? (margin soul). For what should a man give in exchange for his life? (Margin soul).

150 samples might be cited, but the above is sufficient to show that the words life and soul, are interchangeable words.

"Nephesh (soul) is also rendered "person," and "body." Souls (persons) came out of Jacob's loins. Gen. xlvi. 26. No soul in Egypt was permitted to eat blood. Lev. xvii. 12. Israelites were unclean after touching a dead soul, or body.

Lev. xvii. 10-15 gives reasons why souls must not eat blood. ver. 10: "I will set my face against that soul that eateth blood." ver. 11: "For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls." Souls are not to eat blood, because it is to be offered upon the altar to make atonement for souls. Ver. 15, forbids souls from eating an animal which dies of itself, or is torn by other beasts.

Isa. liii. 10, 12, speaking prophetically of Christ, says: "When thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin." Ver. 12: "He hath poured out his soul unto death."

The (life) of the flesh is in the blood." "I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your "souls," (yourselves or lives) Christ shall "make his soul an offering for sin," upon the altar. Isa. liii. 10: "He hath poured out his soul (life which is in the blood. Lev. xvii. 11,) unto death." Isa. liii. 12.

Now if any one can get an immortal soul, existing as a separate entity distinct from the body, out of all this, they can find more than I can. The above quotations are a fair sample of some 300 instances where the word soul occurs in the Bible.

Our text tells us to "fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body," or the life and the body also. A similar expression to this, is found in Isa. x. 18, 19, and refers to the "soul and body" of trees: "And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful field, both soul and body: and they shall be as when a standard-bearer fainteth. And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may write them." Dr. A. Clark says this is a "proverbial expression," ("soul and body" which signifies that they should be "entirely and altogether consumed." If to "consume" the forest "both soul and body," means that it shall be "entirely and altogether consumed," why may it not also in Matt. x. 28?—"is able to destroy both soul and body in hell—Gehenna?" Why should not this also, be a "proverbial expression" signifying that it shall be "entirely and altogether consumed?"

I will now quote Matt. x. 28, from the Diaglott which is a more exact translation of the original: "Be not afraid of those who kill the body but cannot destroy the (future) life, but rather fear him who can utterly destroy both life and body in Gehenna."

The word translated hell, in this text, is from the Greek word Gehenna, and not hades, and is made up from two words, Ge, signifying earth, and Himnom, which refers to the valley of Himnom, lying southeast of Jerusalem. In this hell, Moloch was worshiped, and constant fires were kept up to burn carcasses of animals and dead bodies, and worms preyed upon that which the fire failed to consume. So it was a place where "the fire is not quenched," but kept continually burning, and "where the worm dieth not," but both were constantly at work in this hell (Gehenna) which was located southeast of Jerusalem. This word Gehenna occurs twelve times in the New Testament, and refers to this spot. The brazen image Moloch was put there, and animals sacrificed upon it. Living children were thrown upon its arms, and fell into the fire, and drums were beaten to drown the shrieks and groans of those being tormented in hell-fire (Gehenna-fire). In the fires of Gehenna, men were able to "kill the body," but God is able to do more than this, God is able "to destroy both soul (future life) and body." When men have destroyed this life, that is all they can do, but God can deprive of the future life also.

In Luke x. 27, we have the command to love God with the "heart," "soul," "strength," and "mind," here we have four attributes of the body, that must be employed in our love to God." One of these is the "soul," we are told that the soul is not an attribute, but a distinct entity from the body. Then if this is an entity, the remaining three are entities also. Hence man must be a compound of four entities which can exist when the body is dissolved.

We will now consult a few more passages where the word "soul" occurs and any honest student of the Bible can see that immortality is not a present attribute of the soul.

Ezek. xviii. 4: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

Job vii. 15: "My soul chooseth strangling and death rather than life."

Josh. xi. 11: "And they smote all the souls that were therein with the edge of the sword, utterly destroying them; there was not any left to breathe."

Psa. xxii. 29: "None can keep alive his own soul."

Psa. lxxviii. 50: God "made away to his anger, he spared not their soul from death."

Eternal life is to be attained in the future, but God has it now, and can give it to others, as well as destroy it.

1 Tim. vi. 16: "Who only have immortality."

John v. 26: "As the Father hath life in himself."

John xiv. 19: "Because I live ye shall live also."

John vi. 40: "This is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day."

2 Tim. i. 10: "Brought life and immortality to light through the gospel."

Rom. ii. 7: "Will render to every man according to his works: to them that by patience in well doing, seek for glory and honor and incorruption, eternal life."

God grant that we may earnestly seek for, and as the Scriptures say "lay hold on eternal life," and hold it fast, and spurn the serpentine theology which teaches that man has by nature, that which Jesus promises to give upon the condition of faith and obedience.

W. H. Wilson.

"All Nations Blessed."

"And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." Gen. xx. 18.

This is the promise of God to Abraham. All the nations of the earth were to be blessed by the Seed, which was Christ. Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. "He saith not and seeds as of many; but as of one, And to thy Seed, which is Christ." Gal. iii. 16. I would ask:—Where were all nations blessed by the Seed, Christ? It was not surely during his ministry prior to his crucifixion, for we have the Master saying, "These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not." Matt. x. 5. This is proof that the time had not yet come for "All nations" to be blessed by the Seed, Christ, but after Christ was risen from the dead we find "all nations" blessed, blessed by obedience to the gospel of Christ, the Seed. "Go ye therefore and teach all nations." Matt. xxviii. 19. This was after he rose from the dead. Teach "all nations." "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature." Mark xvi. 15. "And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem." Luke xxiv. 47. Thus we find the grand commission to teach "all nations," after he rose from the dead, which you will find were being fulfilled on the day of Pentecost. Acts ii. 5-11; viii. 25-27; x. 34, 35; xi. 18. We will take Paul's evidence in regard to this matter. "Which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit; that the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel." Eph. iii. 5, 6. Thus we find in thy, Abraham's Seed, "all nations blessed." We will follow this blessing of "all nations" to its final consummation. "After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of "all nations," and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands. And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, Who are these which are arrayed in white robes? And whence came they? And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said unto me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb (Seed)." Rev. vii. 9-14. Here we have the saved ones that have been blessed of "all nations" by the Seed, Christ, during the gospel age. All that are saved from the time Christ left the earth, till he comes again will constitute this company of Rev. vii. 9-14. And not the 144,000 of v. 4-8, which Sabbatarians claim, for themselves, and sealing them with the Sabbath. There never was a worse case of wresting Scripture. Just how they claim to be the hundred and forty-four thousand of "all the tribes" of the "children of Israel," is a mystery to me.

M. L. Adams.

Spirit Birth.

As the brothers and sisters have all been writing more or less, so I will try my hand. I have not written for a long time. My letter will be on the "Spirit Birth." "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." Jno. iii. 3. These words spoken by Christ to Nicodemus have been the subject of much controversy, yet, to my mind are very plain. Many claim that they are born again at conversion, but do the words warrant such a conclusion? Let us search the Scriptures and see. Christ further tells Nicodemus in his reply to his question, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit he cannot enter into the kingdom of God," verse 5. This is very plain language. We are born of water at baptism, and of the Spirit at the resurrection, this is the teaching of the Scriptures. Let us proceed to the next three verses which read thus, "that which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is Spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, ye must be born again. The wind bloweth where it listeth and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell when it cometh and whither it goeth. So is every one that is born of the Spirit." Jno. iii. 6, 8. He concludes by telling him in the following forcible language, "If I have told you of earthly things and ye believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you of heavenly things," verse 12. The birth of the Spirit must be in the future and at the resurrection. Paul in speaking of the resurrection of the dead is very explicit and uses unmistakeable language. "It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body, howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural and afterward that which is spiritual?" 1 Cor. xv, 46. That the spiritual pertains to an other life when as we "have borne the image of the earthy we shall also bare the image of the heavenly," verse 49. We are not born of God at conversion for various reasons. If we were we could not sin, we would not be accountable for sin, consequently would not be punished for sin. If born of God we would possess the divine nature for "as is the earthy such are they also that are earthy and as is the heavenly such are they also that are heavenly." 1 Cor. xv. 48. "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what he shall be, but we know that when he shall appear we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is." 1 John iii. 2. Who can say we are now like him? If we are now like him why a resurrection? But the Apostle makes it still plainer, "Then this we know that whatsoever is born of God sinneth not, but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself and that wicked one toucheth him not." 1 John v. 18. We are begotten of God at conversion not born of God for remember we read that "whatsoever is born of God sinneth not." This same apostle says, "If we say that we have no sin we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us. If we say we have not sinned we make him a liar and his Word is not in us." We are not overcomers at conversion, nor through life; not until death and not then unless true and faithful. "To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life which is in the midst of the Paradise of God. He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death and he that overcometh and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give a crown of life that fadeth not away." Oh, dear brethren and sisters, let us one and all be "overcomers" for the Prize is not at the beginning or the middle, but he that "endureth unto the end shall be saved in the kingdom of God."

Mrs. E. S. Gans.

In possessing Christ we possess all things that are his. His name is the key to the treasury of heaven.

OUR CHILDREN.

"Touch not the Wine"

Sparkling gaily in the golden cup,
Is the amber colored wine.
Tempting so softly the human heart,
As its colors brightly shine.
Glittering beneath its ruddy glow,
Lies a monster so grim.
Bringing with its poisonous breath
A world of death and sin.

And in the many happy homes,
Where reigneth love and light,
It casts upon their aching hearts
A sad and withering blight.
Breaking asunder the tender chain
Of peace, truth and love,
Causing the angels to sadly weep,
From their homes above.

Then touch not the amber wine,
Let it dazzle not your eye,
Nor gaze upon its sparkling depths,
But quickly pass it by.
Turn aside from the tempters voice
Do not listen to his call.
Solemnly vow in your inmost heart,
Forever shun King Alcohol.

Hattie J. Frost.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea.—No. 45.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI.

LAWS OF VERACITY OF SET TIMES, ETC., Ex. xxiii.

Veracity means truthfulness. "Thou shalt not bear a false report." Ex. xxiii. 1. What do the little boys and girls think of such a law as that? It is a good law, you think? Of course it is. It is dreadfully wicked to tell lies about people, you know what it is to go to court, and have witnesses, and be tried. If you were grown up, and were charged with doing some dreadful thing. You would not think it right, if men were to come before the jury and tell false stories about it, would you? Their stories might be believed, and you be sent to prison, or be put to death though you had never done what you were charged with doing.

There are three different words used in our little phrase about the false report, "raise" in your Bibles —"receive," in the margin—and "bear" in Mr. Murphy's translation. So you must not make up a lie about any one; must not "receive," or listen to a lie that some one else has told, nor bear, or carry it to some one else. We call it slander to do this whether the wrong stories are told in court, or out of it. Young boys and girls have been known to grieve themselves to death because some schoolmate had told a wicked untruth about them. Our reputation is almost as dear a thing as life. To blacken it with a slanderous tongue is next to committing murder. "Put not thy hand with the wicked to be a wrongful or unrighteous witness."

1. v. When some wicked person is trying to make it appear that a poor, innocent man has stolen something, or murdered somebody, you must not say "I will go into court with you and tell the same story you are telling! I give you my hand on that." For no amount of money must you do it; it is bearing false witness against your neighbor. 2nd, v. You must not do anything that is wrong, because a great many people are doing the same thing, nor must you bear witness with the many "to wrong the righteous in his cause." 3rd, v. Neither is it right to tell a story for a poor man. If he has committed a crime, pity must not try to make him appear innocent. 6, v. But if the needy man's cause is a just cause, you must be on his side; nothing must be done that will make him loose his case. 7th, v. "Keep thee from a false matter, and the innocent and the righteous slay thou not, for I will not justify the wicked." You see from this verse what false testimony is to result in—that it slays people, and that God will never justify the wicked person who thus testifies. No Christian will even cast the slightest shade of suspicion upon another; much less will he hold him up before the world to be tried and pronounced guilty, when maybe never there has been a thought of wrong in his heart. It blights lives, it ruins homes, it breaks up churches, it makes life-long enemies; this raising of false reports; —be careful what you say, "life and death are in the power of the tongue."

Appearances may be against the neighbor, or a friend; things may look as if he had committed some awful crime,—shall we say he is guilty? What must love do in such a case? Do as it would like to be done by. Wait and be silent till the shadows clear away. We make many a mistake in judging others, only "because we do not understand other peoples' errands," nor see the true, pure purposes within.

A young man in Germany quarreled with a friend about a dog. Their quarrel ended in a fight. They were parted by the onlookers, and each went his way to a distant mountain with his flock of sheep, for they were shepherds. Some time during the day the young man's friend got into another quarrel. It was with a man about a faithless girl. They fought and the shepherd lad was killed. Just as the murderer was springing upon his horse to ride away, the other shepherd came up, and seeing what had been done, cried out in terror, "My God! You ride away and leave him dead, and it will be I who killed him, for this morning we fought until they had to tear us apart!" Remorse came into the bad man's heart, he stopped and helped to throw the dead body over the precipice, thinking it would never be found, and then, tried to persuade the young man to go home with his sheep. But his fear was too great. He fled to the sea and took passage for America. When here, he changed his name, and found work on a farm. He proved honest and faithful and was greatly beloved in his new home. But one day he was sent by the farmer to a distant dwelling to do an errand. The people were newcomers,—they were from the young man's old home. Just as he opened the door the woman recognized him, and cried out that, "he was the man who had killed the shepherd." The poor fellow heard the words, but paid no attention. He did his errand and returned to his employer. All through the evening he was gay and talkative, but in the morning Wilhelm was found dead—he had taken his own life! Shortly afterward a man and woman drove rapidly up, and enquiring for the workman, who had been sent to their house the day before, accused him of murder.

The body of the shepherd had been found, and it had turned out just as Wilhelm thought it would; every one supposed him to be the murderer. But nothing could be done by his accusers save to blacken his character, poor Wilhelm was beyond their reach; the false accusation had slain him.

Several years passed away, and then a letter came from over the sea, with the joyous tidings "that Wilhelm was innocent,—the wicked murderer had confessed that it was he who had killed the shepherd on the mountain. But it was too late as it has been in many a case in the past, and may be in many another in the future. And there is no person, no matter how pure and good, but who may, at some time in his life be entangled in just such a web as this, and be just as cruelly misjudged. The very thought of such a thing, makes us feel thankful to the dear Lord for making laws to protect us from "unrighteous witnesses."

All the judges and officers of the tribes of Israel were to judge justly, they were not to respect persons, they were to take no bribes. Deut. xvi. 19; Ex. xxiii. 8. Do you not see God's love in this? I can, and it makes me feel sure that when Jesus comes to reign upon the earth no wrong will be done. No wonder that David loved God's law better than thousands of gold and silver. Psa. cxix. 72.

But we are through with the six statutes that relate to veracity and will go back to the 5th and 6th verses. They teach kindness to enemies. If the animals of our foes are straying away, we must take them back,—if they have fallen down in the road, we must leave our work and help to get them up. Forgiveness and brotherly kindness must mark all our acts. 9th, v. The stranger must get his rights in court, the same as an Israelite, 10th and 11th verses.

SET TIMES.

Would it not seem strange to us if for six years farmers were to plow and sow their lands, and leave them lying idle the seventh? God saved, or reserved what grew the seventh year for the use of the poor, and for the beasts of the field. Whatever grain sprang up of itself and all the grapes and olives of the orchards were for the needy ones. For a whole year, the land and the people might rest. It was the sabbath of the land unto the Lord.

God would command an universal blessing upon his people in the sixth year; three times as much grain and fruit would be produced as in any ordinary year;—they would have enough to eat of the old store until the ninth year. Lev. xxv. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 20, 21, 22.

12th, v. And every seventh day all work must be laid aside. The poor oxen and asses, the servants and the strangers must have time for repose. It must be a hallowed day; a day given to God, just as the first-fruits of field and vine were given. God, who gives us time, has the right to say what part of it shall be set aside, for merciful and holy uses. And the loving, grateful heart will use the sweet day of rest, just as he designed it to be used. 14th, v. When the Israelites get to the land of Canaan they are to keep three great feasts every year,—The Feast of the Passover, or Feast of Unleavened Bread, in the month Abib, about which you have already been told—The Feast of Harvest, or Pentecost fifty days from the morrow after the Passover, when the first ripe grains and fruits, and the first-born lambs and calves were brought to the Lord. And The Feast of the Ingathering or Feast of Tabernacles—in the end of the year, when all the grains and fruits had been gathered in. None were to come empty before the Lord in the Feast of the Passover. The Lord was going to choose a place in the land of promise to put his name there, and in that place all the feasts must be kept. Deut. xii. 5, 6, 7, 11, 12, 17, 18.

Auntie Winge.

OBITUARY.

Died of membranous croup Feb. 3, 1896, Nannie, youngest child of Bro. F. M. and Sister Lydia B. Self, aged 4 years, 8 months and 27 days. Nannie was a very bright and affectionate child and loved by all who knew her. Her death came as a sore affliction to the bereft, being the third out of five children. Words of comfort were spoken at the grave by Bro. H. B. Fowler, when she was laid away to await the summons of him who hath said, of such is the kingdom of God."

Frank Fowler.

Goldie Shaw was born March 13, 1895, died Jan. 18, 1896, aged 10 months and 5 days. She had whooping cough and took cold which resulted in lung fever and bronchial trouble, which soon proved fatal. Funeral services were conducted on Sunday afternoon, at Olive Branch.

Mrs. Hannah Shaw.

Make the best of it! Surely that is what we are to do with every circumstance of life. Whether it comes to us in the guise of joy or sorrow, by God's grace we can make it over into what shall be for us the highest good, the very best thing possible.

Only those whose faces shine with the glory of some inspiration which lifts them out of themselves shall ever do abiding work in this earnest world, and themselves shine in the memory of those who come after. To press toward the mark of the high calling is the secret of all true success.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	62.60
A Friend,	2.50

Personally Conducted Excursions to California.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line, in upholstered tourist sleeping cars, leave Chicago every Thursday via the North-Western Line. Low rates, picturesque route, quickest time and careful attention are advantages offered to those who join these excursions. Cost of berth $6.00. Ask your nearest ticket agent for full particulars or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7, Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Mar. 14.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Restitution:

I wish to add my testimony with the rest. My faith is strong and I am looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

MRS. WM. STILL.

Editor Restitution:

Enclosed find P. O. order for the renewal of my subscription. I like the paper very much for it teaches more than any other religious paper I know of, and I should think we are living in the last days for perilous times are surely here and wars and rumors of wars and earthquakes.

Yours truly,

MRS. W. M. WILLIAMS.

Dear Restitution:

Dear brothers and sisters as I see the social meeting is still in session I thought I would add a testimony. I believe according to the signs of the times, and prophecy that the Gentiles times is near to the end. We have good meetings here. Elder R. Corbaley preaches to us nearly every Sunday.

Yours in the one faith.

J. P. MEITLEN.

Editor Restitution:

Please find enclosed renewal for THE RESTITUTION for 1896, together with many good wishes for the prosperity of your valuable paper. I believe the Lord will soon come and call us to meet him. Oh, what a glorious thought to meet all that die in the Lord, never to part any more when death and all its doings have an end. Oh, who will be there? My Savior knows, and I trust he will give me strength to overcome all.

Your Sister in Christ,

MRS. N. J. PRUITT.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I send my New Years greeting to all the dear ones scattered abroad. Let us give this year to the Lord, he gave his life that we might live, bless his holy name. I am looking for him soon. So come Lord Jesus, come soon and take thy throne and reign.

Yours in the faith once delivered to the saints. Your old brother and sister, one of us is eighty-one, the other seventy-eight. We have been in the faith fifty years.

JAMES & E. A. CANE.

Editor Restitution:

I noticed in my last RESTITUTION you had kindly allowed space in your valuable paper for any comments any subscribers might wish to contribute. I have been a constant reader since its first publication, and will continue until death. The print is large and I can readily read it as the good Lord has kindly allowed me my eyesight to read his holy words. I am in my 62nd year and my faith in our Lord Jesus is as firm as in my early boyhood when I first found "The Rock of Ages," the support of my declining years.

Very truly yours,

GEO. JOHNSON.

To the scattered ones:

I certainly believe,

"We are living, we are dwelling
In a grand and glorious time.
In an age on ages telling
To be living is sublime."

How it does cheer and comfort me to see so many dear ones looking for our precious Savior's return to earth to claim his Bride, and to know there are so many longing for his coming, for "unto them that look for him, he shall appear the second time without sin unto salvation." As a family, we believe he is coming very soon. Glorious expectation.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH M. SPRINKLE AND FAMILY.

Dear Restitution:

By hearing the X'mas depositions of the the band of like faith, it seems like a great meeting, casting the rays of its sunshine over my shadowed path. But through this vale of gloom, we can "see the gleams of the golden morning," that "is fast approaching," when this earth shall be made free from its sin and folly, and he "filled with his knowledge and glory, as waters that cover the sea." I am glad that I embraced the truth; am glad to be a sacrifice for the work of the Lord. Pray on my behalf, that I may prove brave under this veil of affliction, and that I may be worthy of a crown when the Redeemer comes in his glory to make up his jewels.

Is there joy beyond earth's sorrows?
Is there light beyond sin's gloom?
Are there hills beyond death's river?
Is there life beyond the tomb?

God says there is, it is enough.

Yours in hope of the soon coming kingdom

CAR IE GLADYS CRAIG.

Dear Restitution:

As my subscription expires in Feb. I will renew at once with order for $1.50 for 1896. I can not do without my paper, as it is all the gospel we have here. I enjoy our love feast very much, it is a treat indeed. It thrills my heart to know that we are nearing home. O what a thought. Is it possible that we poor erring mortals may attain to that glorious state? Yes we shall soon meet our loved ones again, and all the saints of old, and Jesus, the crowning glory of all.

Your Sister in hope of eternal life.

MRS. M. L. FULBRIGHT.

The duty of the preacher is not to dazzle the flocks with oratorical fireworks, but to feed them with living bread—the Word of God.

Announcement.

The second quarterly conference of the Church of God in Nebraska, will be held at the school house in District 30, five miles south-east of Moorefield, and will begin on Friday March, 5, 1896, and hold over Sunday. All who can possibly attend this meeting are cordialy invited to do so. We need your presence and your help in order to make the meeting a success. Be ready and willing to work for your Master, and come prepared to enjoy a blessed meeting in his name.

Yours in hope of Eternal Life,

RENA M. GORDON, Sec'y.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 263 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00

"Twelve words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts per hundred

"Who are led by the Spirit?" This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts. per hundred.

"Honoring the Son." An eight page tract, elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth bindings; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. [Do not send to "The Restitution," for any of these. Ed.]

Low rates anywhere via the Nickel Plate Road any time.—Mar. 1.

PORTRAITS.

To the many friends of Brother and Sister Woodward we are pleased to announce that we have arranged with Tuttle & Petcher, Artists, to make for us pictures of these two earnest workers. We will have them in two sizes. Cabinet size is familiar to every one, post paid to any address for 50 cents. The larger size about 5x8 inches are $1.00 a pair. These pictures are fine, mounted on the best cards, and every body who has seen them say they are excellent likenesses—the best Brother and Sister Woodward ever had taken. Friends who are personally acquainted will all want them, and many who know this couple by report will want to get acquainted in this way. Send to this office and we will mail them to you.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$46.70

Reduced Rates to Hot Springs, Ark.

The Vandalia Line has on sale excursion tickets, good ninety days, to the Famous Hot Springs of Arkansas, at very low rates. Hot Springs is the only health resort owned, indorsed and conducted by the United States Government. Climate like that of Italy. This is the best season to go. Over 300 hotels and boarding houses at rates to suit all visitors. The hot waters have for fifty years been found unexcelled for the cure of rheumatism, blood and skin diseases, female complaints, troubles of the stomach, liver and kidneys, insomnia, nervous prostration, etc. For illustrated pamplets and full information call on the nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 1.

NOTICE.

To those who have ordered Index-Reruns and have not received them, we say, be patient. We will send as soon as we can get a supply from the Author. This is the best we can do. We will not delay sending when we get them.

Address any agent of the Nickel Plate Road or B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., for lowest rates to California. Our Express trains connect at Chicago with through lines reaching California points in three days.—Mar. 1.

Cripple Creek, Colorado,

Is now attracting attention in all parts of the world, on account of the marvelous discoveries of gold which have been made in that vicinity. The North-Western Line, with its unrivaled equipment of solid vestibuled trains of palace sleeping cars, dining cars, and free reclining chairs, daily between Chicago and Colorado, offers the best of facilities for reaching Cripple Creek. For tickets and full information apply to ticket agents, or address W. B. Kniskern, General Passenger and Ticket Agent Chicago & North-Western Railway, Chicago, Ill.—Feb. 19.

Smooth roadway, quick time, perfect passenger service, uniformed train porters for the convenience of first and second class patrons. Through sleeping cars between Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston. Unexcelled dining car service. No change of cars for any class of passengers between Chicago and New York City via the Nickel Plate Road.—Mar. 1.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN
in your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS & PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

California in four days via the Nickel Plate Road. Our Express trains connect with through lines at Chicago. Lowest rates.—Mar. 1.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ. by 30,000 Baptists, in 1666. 3. Immortality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 9, 90 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 10c; 20 for 15c; 50 for 35c; 100 for 60c.

State of Man's Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two uses of these terms, (o-am, 4 Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe? a series of questions on the basic points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c., each, 15 for 50c. 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 44 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where Is It? What Is It? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 29, 1879, by Jos. Lacier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 75 for $1.

The Note of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 160 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams., San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 776 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1 postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlinear word-for-word English translation, based on the rendering of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance; bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 175 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our childre at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 8 for 50 cents; 18 for $1.00; 50 for $2.50. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 25 cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glann, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, 112 S. Lawrence Ave., Wichita, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Counway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.

JUST TRY IT!
THE RESTITUTION
ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS
—FOR ONLY—
Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 108 Wood and Ave. Orreland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. O. M. Foblio, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1445 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. G. Ramsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastor's residence 801 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 A. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. ten east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and Social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching Junior Welton Elder; Sarah Silcox Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m, followed by services at 3:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be kindly welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beach Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. For Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Sigle, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland; each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Goat, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Brewer Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 958 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting or Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia., by Elder Whitesitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria E. Treadell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Bld. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Constance every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother Foster Woodward and Smith, as they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Bro Lee Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 384, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule at Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Westward.	9	15	19	3	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 00	4 55
Allegheny	7 20
Canton	10 05
Massillon	10 58
Wooster	11 31
Mansfield	12 25
Crestline	1 05
Bucyrus	1 37
Galion	1 52
Van Wert	3 20
Bourbon	3 55
Ft Wayne	4 55
Arcola
Columbia City	4 55
Larwill
Syracuse
Warsaw	5 31
Simm Street
Bourbon
Inwood
Plymouth	6 05
Grovertown
Hamlet
Davis
Hobart
Wanatah
Valparaiso	7 21
Wheeler
Hobart
Liverpool
Clarke
Chicago	9 00
	PM

Eastward.	10	8	4	6	60	58
	PM	PM	PM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago	12 55	3 30	4 30	8 25	11 30	4 55
Clarke	1 33			12 57		5 33
Liverpool	1 35			1 10		5 35
Hobart	1 54			1 15		5 54
Wheeler	2 04			1 25		6 04
Valparaiso	2 15	4 22		1 40		6 15
Wanatah	2 37			2 05		6 37
Hamlet	2 50			2 31		6 50
Grovertown	2 55					6 55
Plymouth	3 10	5 45		2 56		7 10
Inwood	3 14					7 14
Bourbon	3 19			3 22		7 19
Simm Street	3 25					7 25
Warsaw	3 30	5 25		3 33		7 30
Eagle Lake	3 36					7 36
Syracuse	3 42					7 42
Larwill	3 47					7 47
Columbia City	3 52	6 05		4 00		7 52
Arcola	3 57					7 57
Ft Wayne	4 15	6 25		4 20		8 15
Van Wert	5 50			5 55		9 50
Lima	6 30			6 35		10 30
Bucyrus	7 58			7 58		11 58
Crestline	8 30			8 30		12 30
Mansfield	9 03			9 03		1 03
Wooster	9 55			9 55		1 55
Massillon	10 28			10 28		2 28
Canton	11 02			11 02		3 02
Alliance	11 30			11 30		3 30
Pittsb'gh, ar.	1 15	8 50		1 15		5 00
	AM	AM		PM		PM

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry. Pennsylvania Lines. Solid Trains between Pittsburgh and Chicago. Fast Time. Through Cars. Superior Service. Stopping Cars on Fort Wayne Division between Pittsburgh and Chicago. Trains marked thus * and ‡ run daily. Trains marked thus † run daily except Sunday. Trains marked thus ‖ run daily except Saturday. Trains marked thus ¶ run Sunday only. Trains marked thus § run Saturday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Monday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Tuesday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Wednesday only. Trains marked thus § run Thursday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Friday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Saturday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Sunday only. Trains marked thus § run Monday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Tuesday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Wednesday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Thursday only. Trains marked thus § run Friday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Saturday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Sunday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Monday only. Trains marked thus § run Tuesday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Wednesday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Thursday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Friday only. Trains marked thus § run Saturday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Sunday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Monday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Tuesday only. Trains marked thus § run Wednesday only. Trains marked thus ‡ run Thursday only. Trains marked thus ‖ run Friday only. Trains marked thus ¶ run Saturday only. Trains marked thus § run Sun

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. E. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
HENRY ROLLENBACK,
W. D. TROYER,
J. H. WILEY,
A. E. UNDERWOOD.
WM. ROLLENBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEBRUARY 26, 1896 NO 8.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the Holy Bible "restitution of all things which God has spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end we establish the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the total destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins; pre-requisites to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential after final salvation.

Poetry.

"Overcome."

Would you eat of that tree,
The "Tree of Life?"
Would you from pain be free,
Free from all strife?
Then "overcome."

Would you escape that doom,
The "second death?"
Would you in Eden "bloom,"
As Scripture saith?
Then "overcome."

Would you eat of that manna,
"Hidden" and sweet?
Would you cry out "Hosanna!"
And loved ones greet?
Then "overcome."

Would you receive a "white stone,"
With a "new name?"
Would you be not alone,
"Turned out" in shame?
Then "overcome."

Would you, with Christ the King,
The "nations sway?
And to his presence bring
Incense each day?
Then "overcome."

Would you the "morning star"
From him receive?
Would you come from afar,
And fame achieve?
Then "overcome."

Would you "wear raiment white,"
Spotless and pure?
Would joy and delight
In mercies sure?
Then "overcome."

Would you hear your Lord say:
"I will confess,
Nor your name blot away;
It will I bless?"
Then "overcome,"

Would you in his temple be
A "pillar" bright?
Have a name placed on thee,
"City of Light?"
Then "overcome."

Would you sit with him there,
His "throne" upon,
And with faithful ones share
In mercies won?
Then "overcome."

Would you "inherit all things"
And be his son?
Would you be "priests and kings,"
The race well run?
Then "overcome."

EDGAR HATCH.

Original.

HESAIAS.

(ISAIAH S. C. V. & R. V.)

1. Lo, forsooth the sole Lord, the Lord of Sabaoth will take away from Hierousalem and Joudaia their strong man and strong woman, their strength of bread and strength of water.

2. Their hero (or giant lit.) and strong man and man of war and diceast and prophet and philosopher and elder.

3. And ruler of fifty and admired fellow-counselor, and wise architect and understanding hearer;

4. And I will establish young men for their rulers and mockers will lord it over them.

5. And the laity will fall into ruins, man against man and man against his neighbor; the boy will struggle against the elder, the man without honor against the one in honor.

6. Because a man will lay hold of his brother or a member of his father's household, saying, Clothing hast thou; do thou become our chief-leader; and let my food be subject to thee.

7. And he will answer on that day and say; I will not be thy Chief-leader; for there is no bread nor clothing in my house: I will not be a chief-leader of this laity

8. Because Hierousalem is gone up and Joudaia hath fallen into ruins; and their tongues are in the midst of transgression, while they distrust the things that pertain to the Lord; Wherefore their glory hath been brought low.

9. And the shame of their face hath withstood them; and their sin have they declared like Sodoma as it were and manifested. Woe unto their soul, because they have counselled a wicked counsel against themselves.

10. In having said, Let us find the justified one, because he is worse than useless to us; Therefore the products of their doings will they eat.

11. Woe unto their transgressor; Bad things according to the deeds of their hands will occur to him.

12. O my laity, your collectors of taxes will glean you and those who demand will lord it over you. O my laity, those who account you blessed-happy are leading you astray and the path for your feet are they disturbing.

13. But now the Lord will restore in a judicial-way and will establish his laity in a judicial-way.

14. He, the Lord, will come in a judicial-way in the midst of the elders of his laity and in the midst of his rulers: and ye why have ye burned my vineyard with fire, and why is the plunder of the poor-man in your houses?

15. Why are ye wronging my laity and putting to shame the face of the poor.

16. Thus saith the Lord; Because the daughters of Sioon have become lifted up, and have gone their way with a high neck and with approvals of eyes and at the same time swinging their skirts in the movement of their feet, disporting with their feet likewise.

17. God will also humble the ruling daughters of Sioon; and the Lord will uncover their scheme.

18. On that day; and the Lord will take the glory of their fine underapparel, their braids and their edgings and crescents.

19. And the necklace and the cosmos for their face and the fashion of the cosmos of their glory and their anklets and their bracelets and their plaiting and finger-rings and their armlets for the right-arm, and their ear-rings.

21. And their robes with purple-borders and mingled purple.

22. And the superfluous ornaments throughout the house and the Lakonian transparencies;

23. And the fine linen things and the hyacinth and scarlet things and the fine linen interwoven with gold and scarlet, and summer-couches.

24. And fine dust will there be instead an odor of sweet-smell, and instead of a girdle thou wilt gird thyself with a rope, and instead of the golden cosmos for thy head thou wilt have boldness because of thy doings, and in the place of the skirt of mixed-purple, thou wilt gird thyself around with sack-cloth

25. And thy most beautiful son whom thou lovest will fall with the sword, and your strong men will fall with the sword and will have been humbled.

26. And the receptacles for your cosmos will mourn, and thou wilt have been left alone and raised to the ground.

CHAPTER 4.

1. And seven women will lay hold of one man and say, Our bread will we eat and our clothing will we put on; only let thy name be called upon us; Take away our reproach.

2. And in that day God will flame in counsel with glory over the land to exalt and glorify that which is left of Israel.

3. And there will be the remnant in Sioon and the residue in Hierousalem;

4. Because the Lord will wash away the filth of the sons and daughters of Sioon, and the blood will he cleanse away from out their midst with a spirit of judgment and a spirit of burning.

5. And he will come, and every place of Mount Sioon and all the places round about it will a cloud overshadow by day, and as it were of smoke and of a light of fire that burneth by night, and with all the glory will it have been sheltered.

6. And it will be in shade from scorching-heat and in shelter and in hiding from severity and shower.

CHAPTER 5.

1. I will sing forsooth unto my Beloved a song of my Beloved's vineyard. My Beloved obtained a vineyard in a fertile place, in a horn-shaped valley;

2. And I set a hedge about it and planted a vine of Soreek, and built a tower in the midst thereof, and in it dug a wine-vat in front of the press, and waited for it to produce grapes and it produced akanthai.

3. And now ye dwellers in Hierousalem and thou man of Joudas, judge ye between me and my vineyard.

4. What shall I do more for my vineyard, and I have not done it? For I waited for it to produce grapes and it produced akanthai.

5. And now I will tell you what I am going to do unto my vineyard, I am going to take away the hedge thereof, and it will be spoil, and I am going to take down the wall thereof and it will be in the way of being trodden down.

6. And I am going to let my vineyard go and it shall not be pruned nor tilled, and akanthai will come up in it as in a waste place, and I am going to give directions to the clouds not to rain on it.

7. For the vineyard of the Lord of Sabaoth is the house of Israel, the man of Jouda, a beloved newly-planted; I waited for him to do in a judicial-way and he did transgression and not righteousness but clamor.

8. Woe unto you, ye who join house to house and get field nigh to field, that ye may take something away from your neighbor: Are ye going to dwell alone upon the earth?

9. For these things have been heard in the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth. If though houses become many, great and beautiful, they will be for desolation, and there will be no dwellers in them.

10. For where ten yokes of cattle are working it will yield one kerasmon and the one who soweth sue artabai will produce three measures.

11. Woe unto those who arise in the morning and pursue after the strong-drink, who continue late; For the wine will consume them with fire.

12. For with cithara and psaltry and tympana and flutes do they drink the wine; but the works of the Lord they do not regard, and the works of his hands they do not contemplate.

13. Therefore my laity have become captive because they did not know the Lord; and have become filled with dead by reason of famine and thirst for water.

14. And Hades hath made wide his soul and opened his mouth so as not to leave off, and their nobles and their great and their rich and their scourges will go down.

15. And man will have been humbled and the man of influence will have been dishonored, and the uplifted eyes will have been brought low.

16. And the Lord of Sabaoth will have been exalted in judgment and the Sacred God will have been glorified in righteousness.

17. And the robbed will have been pastured like bulls and lambs will eat the waste places of those who have been carried away.

18. Woe unto those who drag their sins as with a long rope and their transgressions as with the leather-thong of a heifer's yoke;

19. Who say, let what he is going to do draw nigh speedily, that we may see it, and let the counsel of the Sacred One of Israel come that we may know it.

20. Woe unto those who say the bad is good and the good bad, who account the darkness light and the light darkness, who account the bitter sweet and the sweet bitter.

21. Woe unto those who understood in themselves and have exact knowledge in their own eyes;

22. Woe unto your strong ones who drink the wine and your able ones who mix the strong drink.

23. Who justify the irreverent because of bribes and take away the justification of the justified.

24. Therefore in the way that a reed will have been set on fire by coals of fire, and will have been consumed by an unrestrained flame, will their root be like dust, and their flower ascend like fine-dust; for they have not desired the law of the Lord of Sabaoth; but the o acular word (or instrumental-word) of the Sacred One of Israel have they provoked.

25. And the Lord of Sabaoth became angry with wrath at his laity and he laid his hand upon them and smote them; and the mountains had a paroxysm, and their bodies became like dung in the midst of the highway, and with all these things his anger was not turned away; but still the hand was uplifted.

26. Therefore will he raise a concerted-signal unto the nations afar off, and whistle for them from the end of the earth, and lo, speedily, nimbly are they coming.

27. They will not hunger nor will they grow weary, nor will they slumber, nor will they lie down to sleep, nor loose their girdles from off their loins, nor shall the latchets of their sandals be broken;

28. They whose arrows are swift and their bows stretched. The feet of their horses have been accounted like a hard rock, the wheels of their chariots like a cyclone.

29. They will show wrath like lions and stand by like lions' whelps. And he will lay hold and call like a wild-beast and he will cast out and there will be no one to deliver them.

30. And for their sakes will he call on that day like a voice of a billowy sea; and they will look unto the earth, and lo, stubborn darkness will there be in their loss of way.

COMMENT.

There is much in this picture drawn here of Joudaian municipal and national corruption and degeneracy that it would be well for reformers and teachers of sociology to study and reflect upon now. It is easy to see the same social and moral forces at work now toward degeneracy and one could safely predict a similar result of desolation unless these forces are arrested. History is constantly repeating itself, and much detailed history is, but prophecy fulfilled and the evidence of God's warning, disregarded written in characters of blood.

Read the 12th verse of the 3d chapter if you want to know one of the ways in which God brings retribution upon a nation or a municipality whose chief-leaders disregard and neglect their public duties to gratify their ease or selfish purposes merely; and forget that "we are all brethren:" moreover who seem to forget or at least ignore the fact that all God's ways though beneficent "are judicial-ways." Read what the 13th, 14th and 15th verses say about this in a particular case, here under consideration.

Observe that the men alone are not held responsible, but the women of influence, "the daughters of Sioon" play an important part for which they are held fearfully accountable.

From the 3rd verse of the 4th chapter the strain changes from one of coming retribution to one of consolation and hope for "the remnant," "the seed," "the new organic life" national as well as individual in and with which "all the nation of the earth are to be blessed."

Now, I for one do not imagine these phenomena depicted in the 5th and 6th verses are mere tropes and poetical illustrations of coming spiritual blessings. I think these will be corresponding physical changes as specifically stated here.

The fifth chapter opens with the very familiar parable of "the vineyard," made familiar to the Christian church by the emphasis placed upon it by "the Christ" himself who is "the Beloved" of course here referred to. Observe the far-reaching import of the parable in the light of our later revelation. "The hedge" and "wall" are of course the law and its restraints human and divine. "The watch-tower" was for the watchmen in Israel, distinctively "the prophets" as teachers as well as foretellers of coming events. The wine-vat, the organic church as the receptacle and carrier of the wine of life or the spiritual product which passes into the higher and better utility of life.

"The akanthai" the vicious growth which labor and a proper care might have kept the back vices that beset national as well as individual organic life. In short we have a clear teaching here that God purposes to and does co-operate through all the natural forces with our good endeavor and against the opposite as well as carelessness and neglect. God expects us and waits for us to act "in a judicial-way" in all the affairs of life, and if we do not do it he lets us take the consequences just as we all learn in our experience of life. Read the 11th and 12th verses, ye mere pleasure-seekers. Read the 8th ye grinders of the faces of the poor and ye selfish graspers.

Read the coming retribution and the nature of it depicted in the 13th and 14th and the balance of the chapter. Observe that the results are all brought about through natural agencies and instrumentalities—in short that God rules, whether we recognize it or not, in the counsels of men, and we are all of us consciously or unconsciously it may be, accomplishing his divine purposes in blessing or retribution here and now on the earth.

CHAS. GARDNER.

REST.

"Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Here is an invitation of our Lord to rest, which would seem to have a double signification. Apparently a universal invitation: and yet only to the soul that realizes the burden under which it groans, the load with which it labors.

Another case of "To him that hath ears to hear, let him hear." Designed to reach the ear of the tired, sin-burdened soul, that has toiled long and patiently; endeavoring to bear his own burden, until almost ready to fall by the wayside. With what a blessed sense of relief, does the Master's voice then fall upon the ear. It is the loving Father reaching out that arm, that is mighty to save, and strong to deliver in the person of Jesus Christ.

"Come unto me and I will give you rest." To rest in Jesus: how comforting. But does this end the care, the turmoil, and the strife? To be in Christ, to abide in him, and to rest in him, is this all there is of the rest? Did the Christ himself, while here on earth, have respite from his toil and strife? Was he not foot sore and weary? To the very end was he not called upon to suffer, even unto death? By what law then do we, who have taken upon ourselves that blessed name, hope to escape? "If we suffer we shall also reign with him." "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely for my sake." No signs of rest here: and did we not have the more sure Word, we might well with the poet ask,

"O, where can rest be found?"

"There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God." The true rest is in the sweet bye and bye. Psa. cxxxii. 13, "For the Lord hath chosen Zion, he hath desired it for his habitation; this is my rest forever: here will I dwell, for I have desired it." Where the Lord's rest is, there will be the rest that remains for his people. When the great day of the Lord comes, the thousand years reign of Christ and his saints; then will come the sabbath, the antitypical rest period that remains to God's children. Now we rest secure in him by faith; then we will be among the number that will be "changed from mortality to immortality in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye; that will be caught up in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so to ever be with the Lord." These are in indeed comforting words. But Jesus said, "take my yoke upon you and learn of me." The yoke is put upon the ox for labor, and he grows weary because he has no love for his work. We take the Master's yoke upon us, and the yoke is easy, and the burden light, because we love him, and we love his work. If it bring reproach and persecution, and sometimes even death; what is there to bear for Christ's sake? Did he not bear all these, and even more for us: ought we not then to take joyfully the spoiling of our goods like the Apostles and to rejoice that we are counted worthy to suffer? With what joy will one bear a burden for loved ones; and how the heart will rejoice even while laboring under the most grievous burdens. So ought it be for Christ's sake. The yoke is easy and the burden is light with the love of God and Christ in our hearts, and we rest even while we labor. But, Oh, how much of the human is in the best of us; how we shrink from anything that humiliates, or causes us to suffer for his sake. Even Jesus said, "Let this cup pass," but he adds, "nevertheless not my will, but thine be done." What a victory we would gain over self, if we could always from the heart utter this prayer.

"Let us therefore fear, lest a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it." Paul was addressing "holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling," how could they seem to come short of it? Why, just in the same manner that the children of Israel came short of it. The same gospel was preached to them that is preached to us, but it was not mixed with faith in them that heard it. They doubted God's Word and they were destroyed. This is given to us as an example. How important then that we lay aside every particle of unbelief and take God at his Word. Has he said, "repent and be converted that your sins be blotted out?" Has he said, "believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved?" Has he said, "arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord? let us heed it as the commandment of the living God, and obey each and every injunction. Jesus said, "If ye keep my commandments ye shall abide in my love?" Has he promised that "the righteous shall inherit the land and dwell therein forever," that they shall never be removed, but be recompensed in the earth, as well as the wicked? Let us believe it with our whole heart. Don't let us cherish that spirit of unbelief that would cause us to endeavor to fix up some other plan; that he was never revealed to us as his plan. Has he through his apostles admonished us to lay hold on eternal life whereunto thou art also called; let us do so by laying hold on Christ, for he has informed us, that the life is in the Son, and that he that hath the Son hath the life. We can only lay hold on Christ by faith. It is only by a patient continuance in well doing, and seeking after glory, and honor, and immortality, that we can obtain eternal life. Let us then invite the Christ to dwell in our hearts, for he that hath the Son hath the life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not the life. Without faith it is impossible to please God; and it comes by hearing his Word, then we have that faith and have become obedient to it. Let us add to our faith virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, Godliness, brotherly kindness and love. For if these things be in us and abound, they make us that we shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. * * For so an entrance shall be ministered unto us abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. "Come unto me." How can the weary burdened soul come to Jesus? By humbling himself and becoming as a little child. "Except ye become as little children ye can in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven." A little child is teachable. It has no preconceived notions of its own, which it will insist on setting up instead of what the parent teaches, but in the simplicity of its mind and heart it accepts the Word of the father or mother as law, and if rightly taught it obeys it. Learn of me said Jesus. First learn his will, then do it. He himself was taught of the Father; and learned obedience by the things he suffered; and if this be true of him, how much more necessary that we should be taught of Christ, not only the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus; but learn obedience, for God will not overlook a single act of wilful disobedience. Obedience is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams. Then we can look forward with joy, knowing that there remaineth a rest for us! Only let us be faithful till Jesus comes.

WALKER PERKINS.

A Few Cold Hard Facts.

It is a physiological fact, admitted by all candid thinkers, that the brain is the organ of thought, and that the mind and all intelligence emanates from, and is the result of organized matter. A well developed active brain, a good head, a clear mind, and a good thinker. This is the order and result in life, as observation and experience fully demonstrate. While in death those organs are inactive, and as a result the mind is suspended. No living organism, no intelligence, no active brain, no thought. Then to say the dead are not dead, and that man in the death state thinks, acts, and wills, is an absurd monestrosity that outrages both reason and revelation, and no salvation in it.

Bible—"The dead know not anything." Eccl. ix. 5.

Bible—"In the day of death, his thoughts perish." Ps. cxlvi. 4.

Bible—"No work, nor wisdom in the grave whither you go." Eccl ix. 10.

Bible—"In death no remembrance of the Lord." Ps. vi. 5.

Bible—"The dead praise not the Lord, but are silent." Ps. cxv. 17.

Bible—"The dead are in the grave." Jno. v. 28, 29.

Bible—"The dead in the sea and grave will be judged," hence responsible. Rev. xx. 13.

Bible—David has not gone home to heaven. Acts. ii. 34.

Bible—David's hope was in the resurrection. Ps. xvii. 15.

Bible—All judged and rewarded at the same time. Rev. xi. 18.

Bible—No resurrection, no future life, no reward. 1 Cor. xv.

T. E. A.

Great ideas move slowly.

Faith is our spiritual digestive organ.

Some Christians are like poor timepieces—unsafe to regulate our life by.

The question is not—are we living up to our light?—but, are we living up to the light God has given us?

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association.
M JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.
PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, FEB. 26, 1896.

Please Renew, Or write and say how soon you can remit.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

"ISAIAH xx. 1, was the sole witness to Sargon for twenty-five hundred years, till the Assyrian monuments confirmed his statement." •

"THE very musicians who founded the sacred music were inspired, prophesying with harps. Chron. xxv: 1. much more the Psalmists themselves, for the spirit of the Lord spake by the Hebrew poet, and his word was upon his tongue, 2 Sam. xxiii; 2." •

WE urge our friends to write us some short, practical articles. We have long ones but the short ones are scarce. One thought brought out clearly and distinctly is much better remembered than several thrown together in one great heap, covered with many words.

"FARRAR says Gehenna is a corruption of the Hebrew Gi Hinnom the valley of Hinnon, outside of Jerusalem, which had been rendered infamous by Moloch worship, then defiled with corpses, and lastly saved from putrefaction and pestilence by enormous fires. It thus became a type of all that was terrible and disgusting." •

"LOVE in the truth is a high thing in every respect, high in the condition it requires for itsactivity—high in the nature of its actions, and withal delicate, enduring, refined and tough. It mounts to God, stretches to futurity, and strikes most deeply into the very foundations of beings." •

WE are pleased to say that Brother F. L. Austin has been conducting a series of meetings at Mt. Ayr, Ind., a place where there are but few who are in sympathy with our faith. Part of the expenses of this meeting are to be paid from the "Special Evangelist Fund." Although no one obeyed there was good seed sown which we hope will be the means eventually of bringing some dear ones to Christ. We hope that Brother Austin will be able to do more of this work; and that all efforts put forth by him will be abundantly blessed.

Prayer.

How much is there in this one word! Much indeed to those who love our Father in heaven, and have faith in his word. Listen to the words of the Spirit in David. "I cried unto thee and thou has healed me;" "Jehovah will hear when I call unto him." "Jehovah hath heard the voice of my weeping; Jehovah hath heard my supplication;" "the Lord will receive my prayer." Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the humble; thou wilt prepare their heart; thou wilt cause thine ear to hear." "I have called upon thee O God, for thou wilt hear me." "Unto thee, O Jehovah, do I lift up my soul."

"Blessed be Jehovah for he hath heard the voice of my supplication." "The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous and his ears are open to their cry." "The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth." "Delight thyself in the Lord and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart." "I waited patiently for the Lord and he inclined unto me and heard my cry." But observe the conditions: It is to the righteous, the humble, the trustful, the faithful, that these promises are made. The more faith we exercise in every detail of our lives, the more blessed will the path of probation be, both to ourselves and to all with whom we may come into contact. Surely this blessedness is worth striving after, and at the end will be peace and joy unspeakable. •

What is an Infidel?

The dictionary says an infidel in common usage, is one who denies Christianity and the truth of the Scriptures; and adds that some have endeavored to widen the sense of infidels so as to embrace atheism and every form of unbelief. So much for common usage; what of Bible usage?

The word infidel appears but twice in the common translation of the New Testament; in 2 Cor. vi. 8. The original word is apistos, and in four times rendered faithless; four times unbelievers; five times unbelieving; three times believeth not; four times which believeth not; once a thing incredible; twenty-three examples of Bible usage. And, while the common usage may be right as far as it goes, does it go far enough? Would it not be better to profit by Bible usage? Close study of these twenty-three passages will surely enable us to see what the mind of the Spirit is on this subject.

We are persuaded that every candid investigator will conclude that there are at least two classes of infidels; one pious, and the other im-pious. The defender of the faith once delivered to the saints must study the whole field before he plans his mode of attack, or points his heaviest artillery. He must know which of the different classes is armed with the most destructive weapons, the most poisonous darts; the deadliest foes of the religion of Jesus.

As of old one class of unbelievers or dis-believers says there is no God. Of course they could not be expected to believe in him, unless they can be convinced of their grand mistake. It is perfectly horrible to hear them pour forth torrents of blasphemy against the God of love; and we ache to lead them to the lamp of life which alone can scatter the darkness that has alienated them from the life of God. For some six weeks we have been fighting this grosser, so to speak, kind of infidelity, and the end is not yet. But the more we come in contact with this class, the more convincing is the proof that the great tide of this infidelity, now rolling over Bible lands came from deadly seed sown by the other class. One who has a word to say against Jesus is seldom found; but, taking for granted that the Bible is responsible for the abominable, and God dishonoring teaching about hell torment forever, they will have nothing to do with it.

It is true we seldom hear of hell-torment now, as we used to; but why? If true then, it is true now, and shame on them for not teaching it, if true. Spurgeon, the late great pulpit orator of London, preached it as long as he lived. This is what he is still saying in his published sermon.—"When thou diest thy soul will be tormented alone; that will be a hell for it; but at the day of judgment thy body will join thy soul, and then thou wilt join thy soul, and and then thou wilt have twin hells—body and soul together, each brimful of pain; thy soul sweating in its pores drops of blood—thy head tormented with racking pains; thine eyes starting from their sockets with sights of blood and woe; thine ears tormented with "Sullen moans and hollow groans,

And shrieks of tortured ghosts."

Thy limbs crackling like the martyrs in the fire, and yet unburnt, thyself put in a vessel of hot oil, pained, yet coming out undestroyed; all thy veins becoming a road for the hot feet of pain to travel on; every nerve a string on which the devil shall forever play his diabolical tune of hell's unutterable lament, thy soul forever aching." etc.

We ask if it is any wonder that something like two million pages of infidel literature issues from the press every week in the city where those blasphemous utterance were made? And shall we allow such teachings to go unchallenged,—allow them to sow the seeds of infidelity right on without a protest, and add to the already enormous harvest, and devote all our time and strength and means to undoing what we allow them to do? Would it not be madness!! Would it not be highly culpable? As long as we have life and strength, we mean to "contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints." This cannot be done with those who deny the existence of the very God who offers us something to believe; and adopting something like the Irishman's motto. "Wherever you see a head hit it," we intend to hit every head of that kind with the sword of the Spirit that we can reach. Tens of thousands call themselves Christians but what good will that do if Jesus told the truth when he said, "In vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrine the commandments of men?" •

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 9.

We now propose to show that God once had a kingdom on earth; that it was the kingdom of Israel; and that God has promised to set up a kingdom in the future, and that that, too, will be the kingdom of Israel restored.

Some 430 years after Abraham was justified by faith in the promise that in him and his Seed (the Christ, Gal. iii. 16) "all the families of the earth should be blessed;" and the promise of God, "To thee will I give it [the land] and to thy seed forever," (Gen. xiii. 15:) we find that in the third month after the children of Israel left Egypt under Moses the Lord called to that great prophet out of the mountain and instructed him to say to the children of Israel. "Ye have seen what I have done unto the Egyptians, and how I bore you on eagle's wings and brought you unto myself. Now, therefore, if you will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people; for all the earth is mine; and ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an HOLY NATION."

These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel"—and when Moses came and called for the elders of the people and laid the matter before them, "all the people answered together, and said, all that the Lord hath spoken we will do."

The assent of the people to God's proposition being all that was required, God's kingdom of Israel was set up. Right here thousands blunder. They suppose that the people thus organized as God's nation—God's kingdom stood in the same relation to him as the church now does. This is a great mistake. The Apostle Paul informs us in the 3rd of Galatians that the covenant made to Abraham 430 years before, and by belief of which he was justified, or counted righteous, was not disannulled by this national covenant,—but that the original promise stood the same as before this national covenant was made. This is absolute proof that justification by faith was still the divine principle for justification unto eternal life,—arbitrary commands and carnal ordinances related to matters of this life, and the rewards of obedience to them were reaped in this life. But what was the occasion of this codicil to the original will of God? Paul comes to our assistance again; he says, in answer to the question, "Wherefore then serveth the law," or wherefore then the law? Says, "It was added, because of transgressions,"—how long, Paul? Ans.

"TILL THE SEED SHOULD COME to whom the promise was made." Christ would not come for many centuries, and to fulfill God's promise that Abraham's seed should bless all the families of the earth, they must be kept apart from other people,—hence this separated nation to span the interval, and when the promised One came the law expired by statute of limitation;—"till the Seed should come," no longer. But, those in that nation who believed the promise of God to Abraham were justified by faith as was Abraham, and this in no way clashed with the national ordinances,—one looked for and secured everlasting life and possession of the inheritance beyond the grave, while the other service secured and national favors such as bountiful harvest and protection from their enemies, and long life, etc. For some 400 years God's kingdom was ruled by judges appointed by God, he being their King. At the end of that time they became dissatisfied, and wanted a man as king like other nations, and made their wishes known to Samuel the Judge. This displeased him, and he told the Lord about it. The Lord, however, told him to hearken to the people and grant their request, for said he, "They have not rejected thee, but

TEMPORAL BLESSINGS

THEY HAVE REJECTED ME, that I should not reign over them." But the Lord did not disband or subvert his kingdom. He appointed Saul as his deputy, so to speak. This will be seen when Israel was challenged by Philistia to settle their differences by single combat, and put forward Goliath as their representative. The armies of Israel are repeatedly called "the armies of the living God;" and David who accepted the challenge, said "I come to thee in the name of the Lord of Hosts the God of the armies of Israel whom thou hast defied." See 1 Sam. xvii. 26, 36, 45. Saul was set aside and David was seated as king, and after a long and prosperous reign,—being about to abdicate in favor of a Son, he informed his princes that God had selected Solomon from amongst his sons "To sit upon the throne of the over Israel." 1 Chron. xxviii. 5. And chapter 29: verse 23, says, "Then Solomon sat on the throne of the Lord as king, instead of David his father, and all Israel obeyed him." This is infallible proof of our proposition, that the kingdom of Israel in the past was the kingdom of God on earth. To go back to David's reign a moment,—we remark that the 89th Psalm records the promise and oath of God that David's Seed should be

KINGDOM OF THE LORD

ESTABLISHED FOREVER,

and his throne built up to all generations,"—endure "for ever as the moon." And subsequent to this Jehovah assures him that he will not turn from this oath-confirmed covenant; but, that if his children keep God's covenant their children shall ALSO sit upon thy throne for evermore;" this was a conditional promise in addition to the previous one in the 89th Psalm, and secured in case of obedience, an unbroken succession of mortal sons till the everlasting heir should appear. But he was forewarned as follows in Psa. lxxxix., "If they break my statutes, and keep not my commandments, then will I visit their transgression with the rod, and their iniquity with stripes." This is precisely what happened. The kingdom soon divided. The ten tribes, or rather nine and a half, had Samaria as their capital city; the two and a half tribes retained the throne of David at Jerusalem. The nine and a half tribes have filled their first and their throne and kingdom were utterly subverted. The kingdom of Judah eked out an existence till Tesikiah was placed on the throne, and then it was the decree from God went forth, which is recorded in the 21st chapter of Ezekiel:—"Thus saith the Lord God; remove the diadem, and take off the crown; this shall not be the same, exalt him that is low,—the king of Babylon—and abase him that is high—the king of God's kingdom, Zedekiah; I will overturn, overturn, overturn it,—and it shall be no more until he come whose right it is, and I will give it him." Coming to the first chapter of Luke we find Gabriel announcing that the Lord God would give to the Son of Mary the THRONE OF HIS FATHER DAVID.

CUP OF INIQUITY

This identifies the rightful owner, for us, but designates no time for the gift. Was it to be given to him immediately after the close of his thrilling and eventful life, on ascension to heaven? Let us see: The 110th Psalm, written a thousand years before his birth shows that Jesus foresaw he would come to his own, but they would receive him not; that he would be put to death and raised again, and so invited him to a seat at his own right hand till his foes are made his footstool. What next? That time having arrived Jehovah shall send the rod of the Son out of Zion—the stronghold of David—and rule in the midst of his enemies,—and adds, as if anticipating gospel nullifiers, "Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power;" and then, too, he will

STRIKE THROUGH KINGS

in the day of his wrath—just what Dan. ii. 44 leads us to expect.—and judge among the nations, and wound the heads—rulers—over many countries." The truth lies right on the surface, and requires no twisting or turning. And how striking the Spirit in Hosea harmonizes with the Psalm just referred to. Jesus said their house should be left unto him desolate,—and oh, how desolate it has been—"For I say unto you, ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." When will that be? Why, as says the Spirit's words, "In

THE DAY OF THY POWER."

When will that be? Answer by the same Spirit, "When he sends the rod of his strength out of Zion. When will that be? Listen: "For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without a teraphim; afterward—after these many days of desolation Jesus predicted—Afterward shall the children of Israel return—they have begun to return—and seek the Lord their God, and David their king, and shall seek the Lord and his goodness in the latter days," when Jesus predicted they would say when they see him again and say, "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." For fear of unduing this sublime testimony, we close our article here. •

(To be continued.)

OUR CHILDREN.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea.—No. 46.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI.—SET TIMES.

Can you get hold of the names of the three great yearly feasts of the Israelites? It is a hard thing for little people to do, because each feast has several names, and there are other feasts beside these. Unless we are careful we shall get them all mixed up. We will go over them again.

1st The Passover, or feast of unleavend bread.

2nd The feast of Pentecost, Feast of weeks, Feast of wheat harvest, or feast of first fruits.

3rd The feast of ingathering or feast of Tabernacles.

I think you will remember them now.

It looks in Ex xxiii. 17, and in several other places, as if only the men and their little sons, were to appear before the Lord in the Passover feast, when they get to the land of Canaan. What do you think about it? I think that the women want too, and the servants, and the little girls. The hired men who had not been adopted into the nation could stay at home and take care of things. God did not allow them to taste of the feast. If you will turn to Deut. xii. 17, 18—xv. 19, 20. You will see that when the firstlings of the flock were killed year by year, the whole family must be there.

Hannah, the mother of Samuel and Mary, the mother of Jesus, went to the Passover feast with their husbands. Mizpeh and Shiloh were the places of worship during the rule of the judges and the reign of Saul. David moved the Ark to Jerusalem. Solomon kept the passover here, (2 Chron. viii. 13.) and Hezekiah, (2 Chron. xxx. 15-27) and Josiah (2 Chron. xxxv. 1-20) and Jesus, (Luke. ii. 41-42)

Usually not less than ten persons sat down together at a table. Guest-Chambers were provided for their use. There would often be from one to two million people in Jerusalem to attend the Passover.

Do you think Jesus ate of the lamb that was slain at the time of his crucifixion? How could he? At the very time the lambs were being killed, he too must die. This was foretold at every one of these meetings of the Israelites. If the lamb died on the afternoon of the 14th day of Abib or Nisan, then must Jesus also die on the afternoon of the same day, for the death of the one, is a type, or picture of the death of the other. And Jesus did die at the ninth hour of the fourteenth day. Matt xxvii. 25.

But did not the disciples make ready the passover? Yes, they made the same preparation that all the householders of Judea were were making on that day. It was the 13th of Nisan, "the first day of, or the beginning of unleavened cakes." All through Judea, the people were collecting and putting the leaven out of their houses, making, or buying unleavened bread, getting ready the wine and other things that were needed for the feast. The Jewish day began at 6 o'clock in the evening, instead of beginning at midnight as our days do. After 6 o'clock it would be another day, or the 14th of Nisan.

And another curious thing about it, was, that all that part of the afternoon that came after twelve o'clock, was considered as belonging to the next day, in the sense of being its "eve."

It was called by the Israelites "the beginning of unleaven."

But the whole feast lasting until the one and twentieth day of the month was sometimes called the feast of the Passover, because during that time the lamb was killed and eaten. Luke xx. 1.

Then to eat the very first meal, would in some sense be ending the Passover. It is after 6 o'clock, and Jesus and his disciples have gathered in the large upper room. Peter and John have done all that could be done towards preparing for the feast, that will not come until after the death of the Master. And the evening meal is also ready. It is of unleavened cakes, some kind of "sodden," or boiled food and wine. It was at this meal, that the Israelite householders went through the ceremony of pronouncing the houses, unleavened. We find this out from a Jewish book, called the Talmud. (Mishna Pesachim i. 1. Talmud Pesachem, Fa Maimonides, iii. 6.) The householders, went through all the rooms with a lighted candle that no leaven might escape them. And even Jesus found some hidden leaven in that upper room. It was in the heart of one who had long been his companion and seeming friend.

Judas loved money better than he loved Jesus, and he was angry because Jesus rebuked him for his avarice the night they were all eating supper together at the house of Simon the leper, in Bethany on the beginning of the 10th of Nisan. It was when Mary used that costly box ointment on the head and feet of Jesus.

You remember that leaven or feast, symbolized sin, and that putting it away meant that we must leave off doing wrong things and must put away all wicked companionship? So Jesus gave Judas a morsel of bread, dipped in some kind of mixture and he went out and the supper went on!

And "As they did eat he took bread and blessed and broke it and gave to them and said, take eat; this is my body." He did the same with the cup of wine, calling it the blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many."

A new feast had taken the place of the old, one dispensation was ending, another beginning. No little firstling of the flock was on the table, and none was needed, for the real Paschal Lamb was at the feast, (already slain in the minds of the wicked priests and pharisees, and the disciples ate of him in symbol. He was henceforth to be their Passover and ours!

That this was not the supper at which the little lamb was eaten, becomes still more certain. When we read of what the disciples thought, when Jesus bade Judas do quickly that which he had to do;—they imagined that he had told Judas to go and buy those things they would have need of against the feast."—What feast is meant here, if not the Passover feast that would come on the night of the 14th, which was the beginning of the 15th of Nisan?

Jesus seems not to have tasted of the bread and wine that was used in the communion supper, but we cannot stop to explain this now. The hymn was sung and they went to the garden of Gethsemane. Here the dear Master was arrested, taken away to be tried and condemned; at nine o'clock in the morning of the 14th he was crucified, and at three in the afternoon he was dead!

"It is expedient that one die for the people, that the whole nation perish not."

The wicked rulers of the Jews were in haste but they know not why! They thought only of being ready for the solemn festival of the night, but God over-ruled all, so that their malice should bring about the death of his Son at the appointed time;—when the Israelites are thronging the temple-courts, and the Paschal Lambs are dying, (Deut. xvi. 6.) "at even at the going down of the sun."

The day of the Passover beginning at sunset is a great Sabbath of rest. It is not the weekly Sabbath, that will come on the next day; and the day after, Jesus will rise from the dead, Ex. xxiii; 19. Lev. xxiii. 10, 11, 14. On the first day after the weekly Sabbath that followed the Passover a handful or sheaf of the first ripe grain was to be waved before the Lord, barley was the first grain that ripened.

This wave-sheaf referred to the resurrection. See 1 Cor. xv, 20 23. "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first-fruits of them that slept." etc.

Many wise men think, that the saints who came out of their graves after the resurrection of Jesus, (Matt. xxvii, 53.) belong also to the first-fruits, and "ascended with him as a Wave-Sheaf to his Father." Professor Totten, half believes that all "who had ever died in the faith," previous to this time, arose from the tomb, with Jesus, "to live and minister."

There was another Passover called the Little Passover. It came in the next month after Nisan.

It was for those who were unclean at the first Passover, and who did not dare on this account to taste of the Paschal lamb. Every person who touched a dead body or the dead carcass of an unclean animal, was unclean. Numbers xvii. 11-22.

Seven weeks, counting from the day when the first ripe sheaf was waved before the Lord—the feast of Pentecost was to be kept. Lev. xxiii. 15, 16. And another offering of first-fruits was to be made. Deut. xxvi. 2.

AUNTIE WINCH.

QUESTION.

What had Cain believed or done that caused God to reject his offering, and why was Abel's received? Was it not that Abel believed God's Word while Cain believed Satan's lie or immortality of the soul? If I am correct, how can any man or woman be accepted who believes Satan's lie? Has God changed his mind? How fearful!

H. B.

When you get the plan of the Bible, you find that it is something more than a book of detached sentences, good maxims and comforting words. It is a book which unfolds the divine purpose, and not only reveals the way of salvation, but marks the pathway of the people of God through this wilderness, and foreshows the destiny of the world which he has made and the church he has redeemed.—Hastings.

All lines of prophecy indicate that we are near a crisis in our world's history. The precise time when it will come we know not. The golden moments of probation are fleeting, and what is done for God and his cause must be done quickly. Nothing short of an affectionate, practical confidence in Christ will deliver us from the gathering storm of divine wrath. —Light Bearer.

Disagreeable Sundays sift church members as honestly as the test of lapping water sifted the ten thousand troops under Gideon. Those who really want to go to God's house on a wet or wintry Sunday, confess that all the trash of skeptics, from Renan down to Ingersoll, does not inspire such misgivings for Christianity as are awakened by the spectacle of delinquent Christians in bad weather.—Dr. T. L. Cuyler.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On March 10 and April 7, 1896, the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa; Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hill district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Apr. 7.

POETRY.

Saith Love.

Suppose, saith Love, I lead thee
Forth from quiet ways,
Suppose I stirred with one strange word
Thy peace-protected days,
Wouldst thou be willing still to be
A follower of me?

Suppose, saith Love, I lured thee
Across the desert sands,
And crucified, and pierced thy side,
And spiked thy helpless hands,
Wouldst thou be willing still to be
A follower of me?

Suppose, saith Love, I led thee right
Into a garden where Grim agony would stamp on thee
Its signet of despair,
Wouldst thou be willing still to be
A follower of me?

Suppose, saith Love, I mocked thee,
Derided and denied;
Suppose for years I dealt thee tears,
And thinned thy wounded pride,
Wouldst thou be willing still to be
A follower of me?

Suppose, saith Love, I pledged thee
Bright bliss with every breath
And then bestowed the cross, the good,
The darksome door of death;
Would-t thou be willing still to be
A follower of me?

Because, saith Love, I warn thee
That thus and thus I do,
And never yet can they forget
Whose hearts I once endue,
Now art thou willing still to be
A follower of me?

Susie M. Best.

Original.

Who are to be Baptized?

Our Lord authorized first the teaching of the gospel, and then the baptism of such as believed in him as the Redeemer and accept the gospel call to become his followers. The apostles followed this rule and we have no testimony any where that they baptized others, neither unbelievers, nor infants, nor idiots. True it is recorded that several "households" were baptized, and from this it is argued that probably there were infants in some of those families, and therefore it is probable that infants were baptized though none are mentioned. But we answer, some families may contain idiots and some families number one or more unbelievers; shall we therefore conclude without further evidence that the apostles disregarded our Lord's command and baptized unbelievers? Nay, verily! It is far more reasonable to conclude that in the few cases where households are mentioned they consisted of only adult believers, or that since the custom or general usage would prevent misunderstanding it was proper enough to say household, even if there were in them children too young to be believers and who therefore would be understood as not included among those baptized.

WHO MAY IMMERSE?

No limitations are mentioned in the Scriptures as to who shall perform this ceremony of baptizing believers in water, though only the Church was ever commissioned either to teach or to baptize although knowledge on the part of the one performing the ceremony is not required it is of course desirable; but both faith and knowledge are necessary on the part of the one immersed. Sometimes the one performing the ceremony may be far inferior in every way to the one for whom it is performed, Matt. iii.-14, and he might even if necessary be a believer not of the kingdom or church class. Matt. ii. 11. Certainly all who are authorized to teach are equally authorized to baptize, and that includes every true follower of Christ,—even to the end of the age according to the general call to the ministry commission and ordination of Matt. xxviii. 19. 20 and John xvii. 14-23, and this commission evidently does not exclude from this service the females of the body of Christ. Gal. iii. 28, only that modesty, convenience, etc. indicate that they should avoid such public services, except in rare cases of necessity.

THE SIGNIFICATION OF IMMERSION.

In considering the signification of immersion the change from the Jewish to the Gospel dispensation must be recognized. The Jews by their covenant, the law, occupied a relationship toward God very different from that of the Gentiles who were without God or hope. Eph. ii. 12: For by God's arrangement they were recognized and treated under the provisions of the typical sacrifices as though they were justified from Adamic guilt and penalty, and were as a nation consecrated to God and treated as though they were to be made the Bride of Christ. The provision, too, was that when the true Lamb of God should come those truly consecrated among them, Israelites indeed, might by accepting the true Lamb and true sin Sacrifice and Atonement enter upon actual justification and carry with them their former consecration. In other words an Israelite, consecrated indeed, living at the close of the Jewish age when the real sacrifice for sins was made by our Lord, would be treated as though he had always had the reality whereas really he had up to that time only a typical justification. Therefore in the opening of the gospel age Jews were not preached to in the same manner as Gentiles. The latter were told. "Ye who were once aliens and strangers have been brought nigh, and may now have access to God and may enter into covenant relations with him." Therefore come to God by Christ, who has abolished distinctions between Jews and Gentiles, not by taking favors from the Jews, but by ushering believers, whether Jews or Gentiles into the blessings and favors of the new covenant which the law merely typified. Eph. ii. 13 19.

The Jews were told the opposite: "Ye are the children of the prophets and of the covenant which God made with our fathers... Unto you first God having raised up his own Son Jesus, sent him to bless you in turning away each of you from his iniquities: Repent and be baptized each one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit; for the promise is unto you belongs to you; and to your children." Acts iii. 25, 26; ii. 38-41. The point to be noticed is that Israelites were already consecrated and heirs according to the law covenant, and the only reason they as a nation had not been merged at once out of the Jewish typical state into the gospel realities, as the apostles and other individuals had been, was that they had not been living up to their covenant relationship. Hence they were told to repent and turn back into the true covenant relationship with God, and enjoy their privileges as children of the covenant. They had sinned in not living up to what they could of their covenant, and they were to show that they renounced their previous state of sin by immersion—washing away their transgressions in symbol, after praying in the name of Christ. Acts xxii. 16. In like manner baptism by John and by Christ's disciples when confined to the Israelites signified repentance for covenant violations and a return to covenant relationship, and was intended as a preparatory work for those who fully received John's testimony and reformed and became Israelites indeed, did receive Christ and did pass into higher favors of the gospel age. John v. 45-47; Matt. xxi. 31, 32. To these, already children of the covenant, and already heirs of the promised blessings, water baptism meant a renouncing of sins of unfaithfulness, and more, it meant their renunciation of the national sin of crucifying Christ—for the rulers representing that nation had said his blood be upon us and upon our children. Hence Peter exhorted saying, "Let all the house of Israel know that this Jesus whom you crucified, God hath made both Lord and Messiah." And when in view of this national sin which each shared they inquired, Brethren, what shall we do? Peter answered, "Reform and be baptized each one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins and specially for your share in this national sin of crucifying Messiah and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." Acts ii. 36-39. To those who accepted it it meant not only a renunciation of their national error of crucifying Christ, but a stepping out from the dispensation and control of Moses into that of Christ, because, in acknowledging Jesus to be the true Messiah they were acknowledging him to be the long promised Savior, Law-giver and Teacher, greater than Moses and typified by him. But baptism could not mean repentance in either of these senses to the Gentiles who had never been under the Jewish covenant and who had no direct responsibility for the death of Christ. Here (after the elect remnant of Israel had been received and the gospel message went to the Gentiles to select out of them the number necessary to complete the body of Christ) in the epistles to the Gentile churches we hear no further exhortation to be baptized as a sign of repentance, or as a symbol of washing away of sins, and since we by nature are not Jews but are of the Gentiles whose fathers were aliens and foreigners so far as God's covenants and promises were concerned, therefore we should not apply to ourselves that idea of baptism which was applicable only to the Jews but that idea which the Apostle unfolds in Rom. vi. 3-5; Col. ii. 12. The full import of baptism the reality of which immersion in water commanded by our Lord is the symbol is clearly shown by the Apostle in the above cited passages. "Know ye not that as many of us as were baptized into Christ were baptized into his death." Those who know this fully and they alone, truly appreciate the water immersion commanded, and its weighty and appropriate significance.

IMMERSED INTO CHRIST.

They who see the high calling of the gospel age to joint-heirship with Christ Jesus our Lord as members in particular of the body of Christ of which the Redeemer is Head and Lord—know that our attainment of that high honor depends upon our acceptableness as members in that body of Christ. Rom. xii. 1, 3, 17, 18. They also know that no one is "called" or invited into this body of Christ—the Church of the first-born except those who already are believers, who own Christ as their Redeemer or Justifier, and who are therefore justified freely from all things by faith in his blood. Such and not sinners are invited to become joint-sacrifices and joint-heirs with Christ. Under the law blemished of the flock were not acceptable on the Lord's altar. Typifying God's rejection during this age of all imperfect offerings our Lord was the actually spotless, unblemished, perfect Lamb of God, sacrificed for our sins, and in inviting some to join him in sacrifice and afterward in glory and honor, the Father accepts only such as are first made whiter than snow and who because of faith in and acceptance of the redemption which is in Christ Jesus are reckoned perfect and hence are acceptable to God as joint-sacrifices.

WERE IMMERSED INTO HIS DEATH.

This is given as the true significance of water immersion. The real baptism therefore is this immersion into a sacrificial death with Christ, and the water immersion, though a beautiful figure which graphically illustrates the real baptism is only its figure or symbol, but how much is meant by the expression immersed into his death? In what way was our Lord's death different from that of other men? His death was different from that of other men in that theirs is a penalty for sin while his was a sacrifice for the sins of others, to release others of Adam's family, involuntarily share Adams death—the wages of sin and we with all the Adamic family were redeemed by Christ's death and granted a right to a probation for a restoration to all the human rights and privileges which Adam lost for us. We who believe this good news accept those redeemed rights and privileges even now, and begin by faith to enjoy them believing that what Christ died to secure and has promised to give is as sure as though already possessed. We have joy and peace in believing these good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people, and by faith we already reckon ourselves as in possession of those good tidings which at the second coming of our Lord Jesus are to be brought unto all who hate sin and love righteousness. Note how pointedly the same writer mentions this in the passage under consideration. "Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in a new life. Our new natures are reckoned as begun now and are to be perfected at our resurrection in the Lord's likeness, "For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death then we shall also be sharers in the likeness of his resurrection." Rom. vi. 4, 5.

Wm. H. Denson.

Stand Fast.

Are you doing just that, dear ones, since we left you with the vow of a better life upon you? Are you standing fast? How often we think of the dear, earnest ones at Plymouth who said with such heart earnestness, "It will be hard work, Sister Woodward, to keep from doing and saying the old wicked things, but God helping me I will be a Christian. I am determined to try." God bless them and as long as you try in God's strength he will stand close by you. He may let you be tried very seriously some times to bring you out polished and purified, refined almost as by fire, but he has promised "never to forsake those who put their trust in him." How vividly they all appear before me today, at Argos, Warren County and Plymouth. I can see every face, every earnest look, and note the falling tears, some of deep contrition, others of gladdest joy, falling from eyes unused to such sweet peace, that peace that "passeth all understanding," and our voices echo the amen springing into utterance from glad hearts of wives, sisters and friends. Why should we not rejoice? These dear ones have taken upon themselves the All-saving name of Jesus. Now, if they but "stand fast" all is well. O friends, are we beautifying that name, are we adding glory to it? It is so easy to become indifferent, so easy to drift along with the world, so easy to let pride get the ascendancy in our hearts; so easy to let Satan in to abide with us instead of that better, sweeter guest, "The Lamb of God," that hath taken away our sins. Are we all "workers together with him," dear hearts, or do you sometimes let the golden moments, precious opportunities slip by. Yes, loosing a blessing, and God loosing the glory. What does it mean, "May grow up into him in all things?" Sister Wince touches the thought exactly in a recent letter to me. "It is only to commune with Jesus every day; to talk with him in his sermon on the Mount; to go around with him in all his journeys and listen to his speech that we drink in his spirit; we cannot be influenced by him unless we place ourselves in the sphere of his influence; the Bible must be the daily companion and guide of them who start in the beautiful life, else the thorns will choke out the good seed sown in their hearts, and they will be pointed at by the world as being no better than themselves. And it is not the fault of God, for his Book and the life of his dear Son, not imitated but mirrored will bring about perfecting of character. Christ's love to humanity was only the outpouring of what he himself believed. We must not only believe and obey the gospel in order to be saved, but we must be changed inside and out, and God has put the means whereby the change can be brought about in our hands. We must look at Jesus every day, looking at him one day and forgetting all about him the next and the day after will not do. We grow most like the people whom we live with. So dear ones, live with Jesus in his Word, in religious reading, in the company of his true people. Then, O loved in the Lord, we will be sure to stand fast, compassed about with his witnesses, "growing up into him." O what a growth, and by and by what a reaping of the precious fruits of the earth. "Wherefore take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all to stand." Eph. vi. 13.

M. A. Woodward.

Report of Labor.

We left Fairfield the last of January, after working for nearly four weeks in that place. We had a good meeting. We went there by request of Bro. Chase. We found every thing as he had represented. He had preached a funeral sermon, perhaps more than one, a goodly number had become more or less interested after hearing the hope of the gospel in its simplicity and purity, and with the votive eloquence which Bro. Chase presented it. Then Bro. Burt, Bro. Chase's son, taught school there, and we soon learned that father and son had many warm friends in those parts. Bro. Chase and others did nobly by way of helping with their substance to sustain the meeting. May God bless their noble effort. While no one obeyed, we promised to go back in due time and immerse some, then we hope to perfect an organization. We shall never forget the kindness received at the hands of Bro. and Sister Grandy and their amiable children. Every thing was done that was possible to make us comfortable, and help make the meeting a success. We could only say to that dear family while parting in tears, "God be with you till we meet again." We came to Vicksburg, stopped over night with Bro. Barney's people. Wife was quite sick with la grippe or its twin sister, so it was necessary for her to go home and rest and recruit, and I came on to Brady, found Bro. Harper's people the same, earnest, faithful workers as ever. Every thing already and alive and anxious for the meeting, ready to make any necessary sacrifice. We commenced our meeting the first Sunday in February, have preached eleven discourses, have had the best of interest and large congregations, and as the immediate result last Sunday morning we baptized seven dear souls into the All-saving name, one old gentleman sixty-four years old and his wife about the same age. Bro. and Sister Pain from Mendon, and Bro. Richard Worthington's family have rendered good assistance being present most of the time. We expect to remain here for a little to try and gather in a few remaining sheaves, if there be any remaining ungathered. Don't get discouraged, dear fellow workers, the gospel has not lost its power, and a few can be persuaded to take hold of the blessed hope. May the dear Lord keep us in the love of the truth, and we will finally reap if we faint not.

Yours striving for the final inheritance.

B. W. Woodward.

Editor Restitution:

At the request of Bro. W. M. Cross, of Mission, Kittitas Co., Wash, I commenced a meeting in a hall at that place. The Presbyterians having refused to let the meetings be held in their church house, and the members were warned to not go to hear me; and they obeyed orders very well—only one or two breaking over the orders. The meeting began on the evening of January 23rd. The first night there was a fair audience. The next there were more, and the numbers and interest increased to the close. The members of the Baptist Church did nobly, assisting in the singing, and their two ministers gave their influence in every way they could, publicly approving the things spoken and insisting that the people should accept what was presented as the Word of God. Several persons who were called infidels, attended and some became very much interested in the things they heard, saying that the Bible had heretofore been misrepresented to them. That they had laid it aside because they could not find what theologians taught. I learn that some are doing as did the noble Bereans: "searching the Scriptures to see if these things are so." In all I preached twelve discourses at that place. I think some are almost persuaded to become obedient. There is a good class of citizens in that vicinity. A number of persons urgently requested that I should return and give another series of discourses, and think I will in the course of two or three weeks. After closing the meeting at Mission I went to Wenatchee in the same county and gave two discourses in a hall. The attendance was large; good attention was given. I should have staid another night there only for the reason the hall was engaged to other parties. On Thursday I baptized Fred Patterson and his wife in Columbia river, in the presence of a number of the citizens of the town. I have promised to return and preach there again soon. These towns are ten miles apart and I think good results may be reached. The church at Waterville is gaining some in membership, and thus far we have not had any hobbies to contend with, and we fondly hope we may escape such things, and adhere firmly to the oracles of God. It is true we have opposition in the matter of false representations as to what we believe. But we may expect such things. We are living at an important time, when the armies of the world are being gathered and equipped for the terrible time predicted by the Prophets. It is of the utmost importance that we have on the armor of God, and be ready with our lamps trimmed and burning to meet the Bridegroom at his coming. We should not allow the opposition of our adversaries to divert our feet from the path of duty. Let the world take care of its own affairs; while we should remember that we have professedly come out of the world. Are any such still toiling with political parties, while they claim that they belong to the Household of God? Remember we cannot serve God and mammon. We cannot take Christianity on one shoulder and the world on the other. We are called upon to lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us. We cannot reform the world, for its destiny is written. Let us learn our true position and occupy it.

In hope.

Richard Corbaley.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Restitution:

I am so glad Christ the Lord died to save us, for when the people are made alive again, them that have done good will have a crown of life.

Christ said, "I come and my reward is with me to give to every one according as his work shall be.

"Rejoice and be glad the Redeemer has come!"

If we hold fast to the life, (the true life,) we shall gain the crown.

Omar Clover.

Dear Brethren in Christ:

We too desire to hand in our testimony for the love feast. We are looking for the return of the Nobleman from a far country to take to him his kingdom raise up the tabernacle of David which is fallen down, and build the ruins thereof. Dear ones let us be overcomers that we may sit down with him in his kingdom. We have reached our three score years and ten, poor in this world's good, but rich in faith, and the language of our hearts is, come Lord Jesus and come quickly. Bless the Lord Oh my soul and all that is within me bless his holy name.

Edward & Hannah Stephens.

Dear Restitution:

You have been a welcome visitor under your different names at our home for about forty years, during those years the world has been full of sorrow, crying and disappointment, a generation and more has come and is no more. Our loved ones, many of the younger has come and gone, and the older ones have fallen. Some desired to place you in a combination that they might number you with the things of the past. Others very anxious to fill your column with the things that is not the gospel. But through it all you have gone to yours, many readers filled with the things you advocate in your north-east corner and many other Bible truths. God said he would send his Son Jesus Christ, Jesus said: "Behold I come quickly." Our desire is that all your many readers will be ready and watching for his soon coming.

Wm. & Melissa Ratlsback.

Dear Restitution:

I would like to say a few words to the brothers and sisters of the household of the faith. That it is a pleasure for us to read so many faithful and encouraging letters from the like ones of precious faith. We are living in a time of trouble, when every thing seems to be in an unsettled condition in the world, men's hearts failing them for fear and for looking for the things that are coming on the earth, but we are not in darkness that the day of the Lord should overtake us as a thief in the night. But dear brothers and sisters let us be up and doing as those who wait for their Lord, that when he comes he may find us watching with our lamps trimmed and our lights shining, that we may be ready to go in to the marriage of the lamb, and may God forbid that any of us should be found with no oil in our vessels. Now unto him that is able to keep us from falling, and to present us faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God, our Savior, be glory and majesty dominion and power both now and ever, Amen.

Jesus from thy heavenly place
Thy dwelling in the sky,
Fill our church with righteousness
Our want of faith supply.
Faith our strong protection be
And godliness with all its power
Stablish our prosperity,
Till time shall be no more.

Your brother and sister in Christ waiting for the Kingdom,

H. & L. Robinson.

Editor Restitution:

As it will be two years next May since you have sent us your paper without pay, we will send $1.50 and it may be by the time this year is up we can pay the rest. Times are awful hard but they cant put their hands to the plow and work, have plenty to eat for the stock, but cannot get but little for what we have to sell. I did not get my mite in the Christmas number but can say now that I believe that Christ's second coming will soon be here and will be fulfilled as literal as his birth. My faith is the faith of Abraham. My hope is in the resurrection, living and reigning with Christ forever, and that God will fulfill all his promises that has been made by his holy prophets, and then I stop and cry out as I have heard our Brother Prime say in his sermons on the restitution age, will I be among the worthy ones that will sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. I am living, waiting, and watching for the time to come. It done me so much good to hear from so many of the household of faith, looking for the soon coming of our Savior back to this earth. My prayer is that he will hasten while there is faith, and works with it, for faith without works is dead. Sister Woodward in the Christmas number spoke my sentiments on the kind of men we should send out to preach. For fear of making my letter too long, I will close by asking an interest in all your prayers that I may hold out faithful to the end.

Your Sister in Christ,

Mrs. H. Cramer.

Editor Restitution:

Enclosed find 20 cents for which please send me one copy of "The Doctrine of Baptism," as taught in the Holy Scriptures. I have greatly enjoyed reading the many letters in The Restitution, but had not thought to write. I believe I would like to add my mite, though I fear I can say nothing that will either edify or encourage. Heretofore I have been alone in the faith at this point. Almost all the preaching I have received has come through The Restitution, but Bro. Austin has been holding a series of meetings here, and it has indeed, been a blessed season to me, for although my health would not permit me to attend all the meetings, I was very thankful that those who are dear to me were hearing the good Word, and although no one was "fully persuaded" to become obedient to the faith, yet I am very sure much good seed was sown that will yet bear good fruit. I know that some are searching the Scriptures, and that is one good evidence. I have been asked how we could reconcile the statement that "none could be saved without baptism," with Christ's promise to the thief on the cross, who they claim was never baptized. I am sorry I could not give a satisfactory answer. Will you please answer it for me? I have been, like many others I presume, longing for some great work I could do for the Master, while we probably overlook many small opportunities, forgetting that even the little things count, and I fear we are too much inclined to "Spread our couch with ease,

And sleep through the summer day.

Forgetting that

"The soul that in sloth reposes,
Is not in the narrow way."

Dear friends, let us take a lesson from Nehemiah's plan of building. Each one using the material and doing the work nearest their own doors, and trusting God for the result. "The day is far spent, and the night is at hand, wherein no man can work."

"If we follow the chart that is given.
We need not be at a loss,
For the only way to the kingdom,
Is the Royal way of the cross."

S. J. Stulen.

POETRY.

Winners.

And is he great alone who sings
In measured word the glowing thought,
Or strikes from out the stubborn stone
The shape his soaring spirit caught?
Whose rosiest brush makes love to smile,
Or, crimsoned, scores with horrid war,
Or in the panting close with death
Has snatched the wreath he wrestled for.

No! there are those whom stars have spoke
Who heard, yet speak it not again:
On whom the angels set their seal
Who see, yet paint them not to men.
The sun has flashed a million hues;
They, knowing, have, yet do not yield.
Some victors, when the fight is done,
Lie dead, unknown, upon the field.

Charles Mackinnon.

Selected.

[Selected by I. M. Curry.]

Have Angels Wings?

The popular notion that angels have wings has received a rude blow from the conclusions of science. It is now conceded by science, and by the better class of aeronauts, that navigation of the air by means of wings is impossible, and those experimenters who are seeking to solve the problem of aerial navigation never look elsewhere for a means of propulsion. With birds wings take the place of arms. Man has arms and hands, which are far more useful than wings, but he cannot, like birds, propel himself through the air. He has overcome his misfortune, if such it can be called, to the extent of rising in a balloon, and taking a precarious sail at the mercy of the winds, but genuine navigation of the air is yet a problem to be solved, and it cannot be solved by wings. How this idea arose of the possession of wings by angels is not very clear. There is really nothing in the Bible to justify it. There are many references to wings, but they are in nearly every instance allegorical or symbolical.

The prophets made free use of the term to convey their warnings, and numerous poetical expressions in the Psalms use wing tipped, as it were. "The rustling of wings," "I take the wings of the morning," "hide me under the shadow of thy wings," "wings of a dove covered with silver, "who walketh upon the wings of the wind," are some of the beautiful expressions which have served the poets and the prose writers for more than three thousand years, but they do not justify the popular inference that angels have wings. Christ, so far as recorded, used the term but twice during his ministry on earth, and then in a purely figurative sense. From the earliest ages angels have been represented with wings, and the strangest part of it is that the wings have always been placed where they could not be of any use. They are usually put in the middle of the back, between the shoulder-blades, and to be of use for flying they would have to be accompanied with a huge bunch of muscles that would be a deformity. But, even were they supplied with such an unsightly hump, it is doubtful if the wings could be used to advantage, and certainly not for the flights they are supposed to make.

Man, we are told, is made in the likeness of God, and the angels, while higher than man, are believed to have physical resemblance to man. They are, at any rate, presumably as beautiful to look upon as man, but if they were disfigured, as they would have to be to make their wings of any use to them, they would be distinctly inferior to man in appearance. From all the accounts of angels' visits in the Bible, we know that this is not so. There is frequent mention of angels' visits by the earlier writers of the Old Testament but not a word is said of their wings, or of any difference between them and their hosts, except that the conviction of the superiority of the angels gradually dawned upon those whom they visited. It was not sudden, but gradual, and sometimes the persons thus favored were not aware that they had entertained angels until the latter had departed. Had the angels really possessed wings it would have been impossible for them to have concealed the fact from their entertainers. That they possessed some power of propulsion through the air, which is not supernatural, is as yet beyond the knowledge of mankind, goes without saying, but it was not wings. Wings for men and angels is a purely human idea, and science has demonstrated that it is essentially erratic, and that, instead of improving, it would grossly disfigure the human form.

There is a lesson in this. It is that men can foster popular fallacies in religion as in anything else, and religion is not responsible for the error, and cannot be injured by the discovery and exposure of the error. Ninety-nine men out of a hundred will accept without question the dogma that angels have wings, and yet there is not a particle of basis for it in the Scriptures, nor is there the slightest support to be found for it after the closest and most searching examination of the works of God. The latter prove that wings would be an absolute deformity, and they could not possibly be of use to their possessors. Men may learn to navigate the air, just as they have learned to navigate the waters, or talk through thousands of miles of space, but it will not be accomplished by imitating the imaginary wings of angels. It may come through the discovery of the very power employed by the angels to convey themselves through space. Though this power at present seems supernatural, it may be just as natural a force as steam or electricity. God works by natural laws. An investigation of the footsteps of the Creator on this earth shows this with the utmost clearness. The angels, of course, have some permanent abode, and this may be in a planet where some of the natural forces which are still concealed from man may be perfectly familiar to the inhabitants.—Baltimore American.

Announcement.

The second quarterly conference of the Church of God in Nebraska, will be held at the school house in District 30, five miles south-east of Moorefield, and will begin on Friday March 6, 1896, and hold over Sunday. All who can possibly attend this meeting are cordialy invited to do so. We need your presence and your help in order to make the meeting a success. Be ready and willing to work for your Master, and come prepared to enjoy a blessed meeting in his name.

Yours in hope of Eternal Life,
RENA M. GORDON, Sec'y.

Address any agent of the Nickel Plate Road or B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O., for lowest rates to California. Our Express trains connect at Chicago with through lines reaching California points in three days.—Mar. 1.

What a difference it makes with some church members as to what they spend their money for. If it is to beautify their homes or for the pleasures of this life, it is used as though it were a necessity. But if the church needs a window pane, or any incidental expenses needs to be met, it is like pulling teeth for them to contribute their share. It is as much the duty of a church member to keep up his part of the church expenses and to keep the church and grounds in nice condition as it is to take care of his own home and beautify it.—Ex.

Smooth roadway, quick time, perfect passenger service, uniformed train porters for the convenience of first and second class patrons. Through sleeping cars between Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston. Unexcelled dining car service. No change of cars for any class of passengers between Chicago and New York City via the Nickel Plate Road.—Mar. 1.

It is better to wait hungry at wisdom's gate than to feast at folly's table.

Personally Conducted Excursions to California.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line, in upholstered tourist sleeping cars, leave Chicago every Thursday via the North-Western Line. Low rates, picturesque route, quickest time and careful attention are advantages offered to those who join these excursions. Cost of berth $6.00. Ask your nearest ticket agent for full particulars or address A. H. Waggoner, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Mar. 1.

Let God weave into your everyday life some Christian grace

PORTRAITS.

To the many friends of Brother and Sister Woodward we are pleased to announce that we have arranged with Tuttle & Fetcher, Artists, to make for us pictures of these two earnest workers. We will have them in two sizes. Cabinet size is familiar to every one, post paid to any address for 50 cents. The larger size about 5x8 inches are $1.00 a pair. These pictures are fine, mounted on the best cards, and every body who has seen them say they are excellent likenesses—the best Brother and Sister Woodward ever had taken. Friends who are personally acquainted will all want them, and many who know this couple by report will want to get acquainted in this way. Send to this office and we will mail them to you.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$24.60
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$16.70

Reduced Rates to Hot Springs, Ark.

The Vandalia Line has on sale excursion tickets, good ninety days, to the Famous Hot Springs of Arkansas, at very low rates. Hot Springs is the only health resort owned, indorsed and conducted by the United States Government. Climate like that of Italy. This is the best season to go. Over 300 hotels and boarding houses at rates to suit all visitors. The hot waters have for fifty years been found unexcelled for the cure of rheumatism, blood and skin diseases, female complaints, troubles of the stomach, liver and kidneys, insomnia, nervous prostration, etc. For illustrated pamphlets and full information call on the nearest Vandalia Line Ticket Agent, or address E. A. Ford, Gen'l Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 1.

NOTICE.

To those who have ordered Index-Rerums and have not received them, we say, be patient. We will send as soon as we can get a supply from the Author. This is the best we can do. We will not delay sending when we get them.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 283 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00

"Twelve words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts per hundred.

"Who are led by the Spirit?" This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts. per hundred.

"Honoring the Son." An eight page tract, elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. (Do not send to "The Restitution," for any of these.—Ed.)

Low rates anywhere via the Nickel Plate Road any time.—Mar. 1.

The three essentials for human happiness are something to love, something to do, something to hope for.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Monerieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns such issue—have a love-feast all the year.

California in four days via the Nickel Plate Road. Our Express trains connect with through lines at Chicago. Lowest rates.—Mar. 1.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN
in your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS AND PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of 2 cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ. 3. 80,000 Baptists, in 1666. 4. Immortality. 5. The Kingdom of God. 6. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 7. The Two Advents. 8. What is Religion 9. The Restitution Age. 10. Destiny of the Wicked. 11. Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 6, 25 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 sort; 20 for 15c; 50 for 25c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement as to conflict of the two ages of these terms, from a Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the main points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? Ans. What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16 page tract. Price 1c. each, 12 for 10c, 30 for $1.00

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 44 pages, price 30c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., Jan 19, 1879, by Jos. Locher. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 10 for $1.

The Hair of All Things. Caren Williams. This little book of 140 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 776 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—Being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 50 cts, or four for $1 postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $7.00; Library binding $8.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is one well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance; bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 176 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School. By Mrs. Cassie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 65 cents; 12 for $1.80; 50 for $6.60. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 12 cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sireleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chisnville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Havan, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Feore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 186 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. O. M. Jobilis, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1249 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsay Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 507 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preach'g by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also a Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. les east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Weston Elder; Sarah S Beck Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 3:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Birch Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Bessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 3:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elnss Sipla, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Orcutt. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, a. m.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Seaman Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 936 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 10 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Forster school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitsell, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria R. Trendell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Sis. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks, Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fish Creek every four weeks. At Cashmere every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother Jesse Wooden, assisted by such as they are evangelizing. Hezekiah McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Ralph Center is presided over by Bro Lee Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 284, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule of Passenger Train—Central Time.

Westward.	9	11	29	3	7
	AM	AM	PM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 05	9 55		1 15
Allianee, ar.	8 10	10 55		2 15
	8 10	11 00		2 20
Canton	10 35			4 45
Massillon	10 55			5 05
Wooster	11 18			5 28
Mansfield	12 05			6 15
Crestline, ar.	12 35		10 05	6 45	4 50
Bucyrus, lv.	12 50		10 20	6 55	5 05
Leipsic	1 25		10 55	7 30	5 40
Van Wert	2 10		11 40	8 15	6 25
Ft Wayne	3 35		1 05	9 40	7 50
Arcola			1 15	9 50	8 00
Columbia City	4 53		1 35	10 08	8 18
Larwill			1 45	10 18	8 28
Warsaw	5 21		2 03	10 36	8 46
Silver Lake			2 10	10 43	8 53
Bourbon			2 20	10 53	9 03
Inwood			2 30	11 03	9 13
Plymouth	6 05		2 50	11 23	9 33
Grovertown			3 00	11 33	9 43
Hamlet			3 10	11 43	9 53
Davis			3 20	11 53	10 03
Hanna			3 30	12 03	10 13
Wanatah	6 35		3 40	12 13	10 23
Valparaiso	7 01		4 05	12 38	10 48
Wheeler			4 15	12 48	10 58
Hobart			4 25	12 58	11 08
Liverpool			4 35	1 08	11 18
Clarke			4 45	1 18	11 28
Chicago, ar.	9 00		5 55	2 30	12 40
	PM		PM	PM	AM

Eastward.	20	8	4	6	60	22
	PM	AM	PM	PM	PM	PM
Chicago, lv.	12 30	7 00	2 45	11 30	4 30	12 01
Clarke	1 53			12 57		1 32
Liverpool	2 05			1 10		1 44
Hobart	2 54			1 56		2 30
Wheeler	3 05
Valparaiso	3 15	4 22		2 06	6 01
Wanatah	3 30			2 02
Hanna	3 40
Davis	3 58
Hamlet	4 08			2 31
Grovertown	4 18
Plymouth	4 38	5 45		2 58	6 03
Inwood	4 54			3 15
Bourbon	5 05			3 27	6 15
Silver Lake	5 12				6 22
Warsaw	5 18	6 26		3 37	6 28
Larwill	5 36				6 44
Pierceton	5 45			4 12	6 53
Larwill	5 49				6 57
Columbia City	5 59	6 58		4 40	7 07
Arcola	6 17				7 25
Ft Wayne	6 35			5 05	7 45
Van Wert	7 55			6 25	9 05
Lima	8 40			7 10	9 50
Bucyrus	9 55			8 25	11 05
Crestline	10 30			9 00	11 40
Mansfield	11 05			9 35	12 15
Wooster	11 53			10 23	1 03
Massillon	12 15			10 45	1 25
Canton	12 35			11 05	1 45
Alliance, ar.	12 55			11 25	2 05
Pittsb'gh, ar.	2 10			12 40	3 20
	PM			AM	PM

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 16. Pullman Vestibule Dining and Sleeping Cars on 6, 8 and 60. Pullman Vestibule Cafe Cars on 20 and 22. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 4, 8 and 22. Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars on 20 and 60. Pullman Vestibule Sleeping Cars on 2 and 16. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 18. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 24. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 26. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 28. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 30. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 32. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 34. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 36. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 38. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 40. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 42. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 44. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 46. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 48. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 50. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 52. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 54. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 56. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 58. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 60. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 62. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 64. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 66. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 68. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 70. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 72. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 74. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 76. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 78. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 80. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 82. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 84. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 86. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 88. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 90. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 92. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 94. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 96. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 98. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 100. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 102. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 104. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 106. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 108. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 110. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 112. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 114. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 116. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 118. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 120. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 122. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 124. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 126. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 128. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 130. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 132. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 134. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 136. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 138. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 140. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 142. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 144. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 146. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 148. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 150. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 152. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 154. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 156. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 158. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 160. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 162. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 164. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 166. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 168. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 170. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 172. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 174. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 176. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 178. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 180. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 182. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 184. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 186. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 188. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 190. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 192. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 194. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 196. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 198. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 200. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 202. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 204. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 206. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 208. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 210. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 212. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 214. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 216. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 218. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 220. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 222. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 224. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 226. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 228. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 230. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 232. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 234. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 236. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 238. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 240. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 242. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 244. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 246. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 248. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 250. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 252. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 254. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 256. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 258. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 260. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 262. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 264. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 266. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 268. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 270. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 272. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 274. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 276. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 278. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 280. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 282. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 284. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 286. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 288. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 290. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 292. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 294. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 296. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 298. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 300. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 302. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 304. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 306. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 308. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 310. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 312. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 314. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 316. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars on 318. Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sle

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT RALLSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM RALLSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

Poetry.

The Missionary.

Look where the missionary's feet have trod—
Flowers in the desert bloom; and fields, for God,
Are white to harvest. Skeptics may ignore;
Yet on the conquering Word, from shore to shore,
Like flaming chariot rolls. Ask ocean's isles
And plains of bud, where ceaseless summer smiles;
Speak to far-frozen wastes, where winter's blight
Remains; they tell the love, attest the might,
Of him whose messengers across the wave
To them salvation bore, hope, freedom gave.
These are thy first-fruits. Ride, O Christ, ador.
Not death, and not the gates of hell, can bar
Thy way. Ride on till every tribe shall fall
Low at thy feet, and own thee Lord of all!

Horatius B. Woodley.

Original.

The Sons of God.

Dear Bro. Underwood:

Will you give me space to give a few thoughts on the subject of "The Sons of God?"

I was reading in The Hope the other day an article headed, "The Sons of God." When I first saw it I thought that I had come across something interesting, as I always feel when thinking or reading of the Sons of God, that I want a part or lot in the matter. But before I had read far I found that I wanted nothing of the kind that he was talking about. The writer spent all his eloquence trying to prove that the sons of God were angels who had lost their first estate and had been cast down to the earth, and when they saw that the daughters of men were fair to look upon, they took to themselves wives, and that their children were were great giants, etc.

Well, in all this I could not see any thing to cheer or help a person seeking after light. In the first place just the idea is absurd to think of. It is not reasonable. We all have our opinion about this and that; but how foolish it is to spend time to write an article of no consequence, then ask the editor to print it, expecting people to take time to read it, when after all it may be so, and it may not. We should be careful to not give our opinion to the world, but write on matters of faith which is far better The sons of God that I want to know about are the sons that Paul and John were talking about. We all want to become sons of God and an heir with Jesus the only begotten Son. How can we become one? Let John tell us. Speaking of Christ, he says, "He came to his own and his own received him not. But as many as received him to them gave he power to become the sons of God. (That is they had the right) even to them that believed on his name."

Paul in writing to the Corinthians says, "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers, for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness, and what commission hath light with darkness, and what concord hath Christ with Belial, or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? For ye are the temple of the living God, as God hath said, I will dwell in them and walk in them; and I will be their God and they shall be my people. Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separated saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters saith the Lord Almighty."

We see by this, although those Corinthians were Gentiles, yet they were to have the same promise as had been given to the Jews. We can only become a son through faith in the Christ the only begotten Son and be willing to be led by him. "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God they are the sons of God." Sonship included heirship to the inheritance that God has provided for his children. "He that overcometh shall inherit all things, and I will be his God and he shall be my son" Rev. xxi. 7. We cannot be an overcomer unless we successfully resist temptation and continue steadfast until the end. John says "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called the sons of God." We know that we can become a son of God now at the present time, because John further says, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God," but as to our future existence and bliss, John did not fully understand himself, for he says, "it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him and see him as he is."

Paul in some of his writings says, "For now we see through a glass darkly; but then face to face. Now I know in part, but then shall I know even as I am known."

Now our knowledge of God and his great plan for the future is very limited to what it will be when we reach that time that Paul was speaking of when he said, "then shall we know." So if we cannot become Christ-like now we cannot be like him, or see him as he is, and know as we are known. There is so much to be said on this subject that we could fill pages, but as we have been admonished to write short articles I will only say may all our dear brothers and sisters so live that we shall all inherit the promise.

ALMIRA BROOKS.

"To the Law and to the Testimony."

"Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life; and they are they which testify of me." John v. 39.

There is a growing tendency among our modern clergy to ignore the literal interpretation of Moses and the Prophets; thinking to evade the force of the infidel's sneers and gibes by so doing. It to them would seem easier to shelter behind some undefined mystical meaning; than to use thought unlearned by our "Higher Criticism." They regard the ancient lawgiver as filling the measure of the human intelligence of his age, and give him credit of having written an ingenious allegory, suited to the capacity of that undeveloped race. Rabbi Wise of Cincinnati in replying to Ingersoll's ridicule of Bible Stories, says, "That concerns literalists only, not us." W. F. Craft says, "It is absurd for Ingersoll to interpret the poem about the sun and moon standing still by the rules of prose." These and many more such sayings serve to illustrate the departure from what has been considered a faithful record of events, and what has been sanctioned, and quoted by the sacred writers of a later period, including Jesus Christ and his inspired apostles. When once the clergy begin with the scientific pruning knife (borrowed from our wise skeptics) to cut out, and dispose of all supernatural phenomena, we expect to see such competition among the lecturers of atheism, as will give all a chance to hear at a very trifling expense. But is not truth progressive? Yes, but it never runs off from its statements of facts. It never goes back in its record; nor ignores the old survey. We may outstrip it so it may never overtake us, until a wreck shall mark the end of every one who presumes to voyage without its blessed light. Thank God, eternity is long enough to verify his Word, and perhaps a thousand years is a sufficient time to put all things in subjection to the King of kings, when once he begins to reign. It stands us in hand as defenders of the Bible, not to give away to the literal interpretation, nor the inspiration of the blessed Volume as a whole; lest we destroy the foundation of apostles and prophets, and reject the chief Corner Stone. We do well to remember, that Moses wrote of our Christ, and all the prophets gave witness of him, thus welding link by link, one continuous golden chain of truthful events from the beginning in the garden of Eden to the coming of the just One, and lengthening onward as the prophecies meet their time of fulfillment, until it shall embrace the grand purpose of God in Eden restored. Thus truth progresses according to original lines drawn by him who changes not; nor varies as a shadow. "Trust in the Lord, and he will bring it to pass."

A. B. WILEY.

"The Great Book."

In commencing the first pages of the great and good Book we glance over all the proceeding different parts and books, comprising the Old and the New Testaments, and what manifold greatness do we not find in the hidden wonders of its innumerable pages?

Ah! who is there can fathom all that here is revealed unto us. And we take them in such a form, as our own judgment and ability are in capacity of doing.

And as we continue in our daily researches, and study of the Holy Book, I think our minds in penetrating throughout will become gradually subject to a more perfect and sure understanding of the hidden truths, and we also become more versed in all the many tangible forms which at the beginning of our study of the Word did seem an utter impossibility.

And as in each glimmer of light we can faintly gleam the brighter beams of a surer word of prophecy, and which at first did seem unto us a study, has now become unto us a delight and also a necessity to administer to our well being. And who is there among us, the dear readers of THE RESTITUTION, can find a greater pleasure and pastime than in study of the "Great Book." It elevates the mind, ennobles and brings forth all the purity of the heart, we can with the eye of patience, bear on with the more troublesome course of life, and in looking through a glass darkly, to the far beyond, we can almost grasp the silent echoes of the joys unknown.

Then let us hasten and perfect ourselves with a more sure understanding of the "Great Book," that we at all times can be ready to answer the belief that is within us. In all the lives of great men, pertaining to their heroic deeds upon the earth. In all the ancient histories of Greece and Rome, and the modern sciences of the world, there is no book in all its manifold greatness can in comparison in one single instance, commingle with this God's own Book.

You will find it in the abodes of wealth, perchance, as only an ornament on the table of luxury. You will find it in the student home, its leaves soiled and worn with the stamp of perseverance on its pages, and again, you will find elsewhere on the shelf among old relics, covered with a mantle of dust, its pages unknown to those who daily gather 'round it, but every where you find it, even in the remotest heathen lands, rising as unto the morning star, or a beacon light to the poor benighted minds of the darksome race.

Every where you may feel the influence, and breathe into your hearts the great love which is even proceeding from the "Great Book."

HATTIE J. FEAR.

Cherish Good Thoughts.

Is there any thing that will help us more in the Christian race, than to cherish good thoughts? How often have I been thankful while engaged about my work, that I could lift my heart in trust and confidence to my heavenly Father; and where temptation comes say in my heart, "Lord help me to overcome." If we are thinking good thoughts will we not be more likely to gain the victory over the evil tendencies of our natures; and that "unruly member," our tongue, than we would if our minds were filled with worldly thoughts? "Where our treasure is there will our heart be also." Oh! "The peace that passeth all understanding" that comes to us when we feel that we through Christ have overcome some temptation. Let us remember that "Each victory will help us some other to win."

In Isaiah xxvi. 3 we read, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee, because he trusteth in thee." Then let us, dear brothers and sisters, think often of the goodness, love, and mercy of God; and strive more earnestly day by day, to live nearer to the standard that Christ has given us; that we may not bring disgrace on the precious name of Christ; under whose banner we have enlisted.

Your Sister in hope of eternal life in the soon coming kingdom.

CARRIE JAQUITH.

Selected.

[Selected by Daniel Howard.]

The Jews and the Lord's Coming.

"Simeon hath declared how God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name. And to this agree the words of the prophets; as it was written. After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up. That the residue of men might seek after the Lord and all the Gentiles, upon whom my name is called, saith the Lord, who doeth all these things." (Acts xv. 14–17.)

I believe it is hardly necessary for me to speak about or against the spiritualizing method of the Word of God. A great many good Christian people have in these days completely spiritualized the Old Testament and thereby taken all the promises which were given to God's ancient people away from them and appropriated them to themselves, to the Christian church, and left to the poor Jews only the curses, which were contained in the Old Testament. I believe most of us have got beyond this, and we all know the place which God's ancient people hold in the plans and purposes of God for the ages to come. Let me remind you first on speaking on this question of the promises which God gave to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. We find them in the book of Genesis. "In the same day the Lord made a covenant with Abraham, saying, Unto thy seed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates." And again we read this word, "I will give unto thee and thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession and I will be their God." Again, listen to these words of promise given to Isaac, "Sojourn in this land and I will be with thee, and I will bless thee for unto thee and thy seed I will perform the oath which I swore unto Abraham thy father," and to Jacob when he saw the ladder. "And behold, the Lord stood above it and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham, thy father, and the God of Isaac, the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it and to thy seed." Thus throughout the Old Testament we find reassuring promises of God to Abraham, speaking of the wonderful restoration which shall take place after a long time of trial and captivity and tribulation.

Now, when Christ appeared precisely at the time predicted and in the manner spoken of by the prophets, His own received him not, they rejected him, and this also was spoken of by the prophets. Jesus found as his enemy the Pharisees—men full of zeal for the law and a deep national self-consciousness, united with hatred towards the Romans, and wild hopes for the establishment of a world-wide kingdom by a Messiah. They did not understand his blessed mission to suffer and die for us, they therefore rejected him.

The words we have read, clearly show us that it was and is the place of God, after the Jew, Jesus of Nazareth, to visit the Gentiles, and take out of them a people for his name. After this is accomplished God will return and build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down, and make good all the promises which he gave to Abraham and to David. This building again of the tabernacle of David means national restoration and national conversion. If we study the New Testament we find this again and again, "For I would not brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits, that blindness in part is happened to Israel until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in," (Rom ii. 25.) The Master said, "And they shall fall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led away captive into all nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled." (Luke xxi. 24.) The fullness of the Gentiles does not mean that all the brethren must be converted. It means a certain number, the elect, and when that number is full, then God will turn again to his ancient people.

We believe that the times of the Gentiles are about to be fulfilled, and think we have a good reason for thinking thus in the wonderful movement which is going on among Israel. The Jews are a kind of spiritual barometer. By their movements, and by that which is going on among them, we may find out that the time is drawing near when he, our Bridegroom, will come. Now learn a parable of the fig-tree: "When the branch is yet tender and putteth forth leaves you know the summer is nigh. So, likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it is near, even at the doors." (Matt. xxiv. 32, 33.) This fig-tree is Israel. Once cursed and unfruitful, but now again putting forth leaves.

One sign of the times is, that many thousands of Jews come to the places where Christ is preached, and they listen attentively to the gospel. New York City is especially blessed in this respect. But it is world-wide. I am in correspondence with many workers among Israel in different lands and they all speak of ever-increasing numbers of Jews who come under the preaching of the gospel.

There is a movement going towards Christ. A spirit of enquiry is every where to be seen. Thousands read the New Testament in Hebrew. Christ our Messiah, willing and ready to save, is being preached by more missionaries than ever before, but above all, we also must preach Christ the coming King, the restoration of the nation which will precede his coming.

Will there be a large ingathering of Jews now? Will many join Christian churches at the present time? These questions I am often asked. Let me answer: "I say, then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid * * * at the present time there is a remnant according to the election of grace." (Rom. xi. 1, 5.) God puts us missionaries among them, that the remnant may be laid out to the light, and thus the coming of the Lord is hastened. But what about the large masses who attend your services? We are witnessing before them for Christ. We cry out as John did, "Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sins of the world." The time will come when they will be in their own city, Jerusalem.

The city is surrounded by armies of the Gentiles, the Jews are in the deepest distress, when, all at once, the glorified Christ will appear! And then they will look upon him whom they have pierced—and they will no doubt then say, "It is the same Jesus who has been proclaimed in New York and Chicago, in Russia and England, it is the same Jesus of Nazareth."

Israel will be restored in unbelief. This restoration to the land of the fathers is now going on. You have heard or read of the "Chovevu Zion Society." Choeva means lovers of Zion. About four years ago, this society was formed in the east end of London. Its object is the colonization of Palestine and the cultivation of the Hebrew language. The society was formed by a dozen Jews, but it soon spread almost everywhere where Jews were found. The society is now to be found in Russia, in Poland, Germany, Austria, France, in Asia and Australia. In our very city the Chovevu Zion are very numerous. I know many of its members. They will tolerate no Hebrew Christian among them. Not long ago, one of our converts was expelled for the reason of his faith in Christ. Israel will be restored in unbelief. It seems that this society will hasten the fulfillment of the prophecies concerning the restoration of the Jews. And don't forget that the restoration is already going on. There are now about 100,000 Jews living in Palestine, twice as many as returned from the Babylonian captivity.

In our mission, "The Hope of Israel Mission," here in this city, we have preached to many thousands of Jews during the past year. A number have been brought to a saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ. We have not taken them into a Gentile Christian Church. I do not believe that the Jews should be denationalized or Gentilized. I like to see them formed, after receiving Christian baptism, into a distinctive Hebrew, or Jewish Christian body. My idea is to keep Jewish converts separate, they should not take the name of any denomination, and they must not sever their connection with the nation. To denationalize the Jews is contrary to God's plans and purposes. They can also do more for their brethren, if they are not scattered in ten or fifteen different Gentile churches.

Such a Jewish Christian congregation for the sake of the brethren could continue certain ceremonies as national holidays, like Passover, or the feast of Tabernacles, and others, as far as they do not conflict with the essentials of the Christian faith. Did not Paul have this in mind when he said: "To the Jews I became as a Jew." Thus a number of our converts assembled on the Passover night in our mission house. Some of them had, according to the old law, held their Passover with their respective families; after that we came to the Lord's table in our mission, to break the bread and partake of the cup, remembering Christ, our Passover Lamb. It was a time never to be forgotten.

Some months ago, and old Jew invited me to be at his house on the first day of the feast of Tabernacles (Sucoth.) He had a small

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 4, 1896. NO. 9.

THE RESTITUTION of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a message to this one the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion into the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins preparatory to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life and essential for final salvation.

but built in the yard of his house to dwell therein. In the course of conversation, I said, "Why do you allow a Gentile to come to the feast of the Tabernacles?" He pointed out to me the fourteenth chapter of the Prophet Zechariah, where it is stated that the Gentiles shall keep at the time when the Messiah is King in Jerusalem, they shall come to Jerusalem to keep the feast of the Tabernacles. This feast has a deep meaning We do not antagonize the keeping of this feast.

We preach Christ is our personal Savior for body and soul, and as our coming King, and it pleases God to set his seal of approval more and more upon our work.

In conclusion do not forget that the movement of the Jews toward Christ, and their restoration as a nation has a great meaning for us. We do not know the exact time of his coming, but according to this spiritual barometer the day when he shall come is not far away. The rapture of the saints may take place at any time. Are we ready for him when he cometh?—A. C. Gaebelein, in Christian Alliance.

Critical Edition of the Bible.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 16.—[Special Correspondence.]—Prof. Paul Haupt of the Johns Hopkins University, editor-in-chief of the new critical edition of the Hebrew Bible, states that one-half the edition is in type and that several parts, including Genesis, the Psalms, Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel, will appear soon. The completed work will appear, it is expected, in 1897.

The new English translation is also well under way. Four parts are in type, and three of these will appear about April. They are, like the Hebrew text, printed in colored backgrounds to show the approximate dates of the origins of the various portions, emendations, interpolations, etc. The three to appear shortly are: Isaiah, in three colors, translated by Canon T. K. Cheyne, of the University of Oxford; Judges, in six colors, translated by Prof. George F. Moore, of the Andover (Mass.) Theological Seminary; and the Psalms, the critical German prose translation of which was made by Prof. Wellhausen of the University of Gottingen, the poetical translation from this by Prof. Furness—this latter, however, appearing only in the completed work. Three other parts are in type. The English volumes will be published by the printing company in this city that does the university work, new fonts of type have been especially cast for the purpose. The paper and presswork are to be the finest obtainable, and the completed work will be imbellished with many illustrations collected by Prof. Haupt from the most authentic sources.

The three English parts already in type, besides those above named, are Leviticus, translated by Canon S. R. Driver, of the University of Oxford; Ezekiel, translated by Prof. C. H. Toy, of Harvard University; and Kings, by Prof. B. Stade of the University of Glassen, Germany.

The life and light of a nation are inseparable.

Prayer is a necessity of our humanity, and not a mere duty.

By doing the duty nearest to us we clear the pathway to the next one.

Focussed sunbeams burn, and focussed truths burn deeper than those which are diffused.

If every one would strive to be perfect as he thinks others ought to be, this would be a delightful world to live in.

A good violinist always puts his instrument in tune before playing in public, and a wise Christian gets his soul at concert pitch in the closet before praying in public.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the O. P. Association.
M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.
PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MAR. 4, 1896.

Please Renew, Or write and say how soon you can remit.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

Looking for His Appearing.

We cut the following lines from an old English paper, and thought them to too good to be lost:—

Ages ago in Eastern Lands
They watched for him.
Listening oft for his clarion wheels
As the day grew dim.
Expecting that he would come again
To Olivet.
On the strength of parting promises they looked
And he tarried yet.

Every year across the winter snows,
With wistful eyes
Eager disciples have watched for him
Who mounted the skies;
Every year under summer suns
They have sung his praise.
And cried for him from their yearning hearts
But he still delays.

They have died at their watch on the lemon height
And we take their place;
We long as they longed in the olden days,
For the sight of his face:
The sad earth wants him in her deep woe
To give her rest.
But the years pass on and he comes not yet.
God's time is best.

Courage, ye waiting here! we have his word.
And he will not fail;
Let us be patient, and watch and wait
Till the times prevail.
He will surely come, as he said he would:
He cannot forget.
When we see his face, this preparing time
We shall not regret.

"THERE is a good deal of soreness in Talmage's church in Washington and among the Presbyterians there generally—at least so it is said—over his success in freezing out one of his co-pastors in order that he could have the pulpit all to himself."

Do not fail to read the article on the Eastern Question, and note the prediction of a Turkish general, based upon his knowledge of the condition of affairs, and the cunningness and duplicity of statecraft, employed to gain advantages, and the serious sickness of the Desolator.

TOLSTOI says that "not only is patriotism a bad disposition, but, he claims, it is unreasonable in principle to love in preference one's own nation above all others. He contends that patriotism is counter to the first principles of Christ's teaching and that Christianity makes patriotism superfluous and a hindrance, like a lamp in day light."

"IF men desire an immortal existence, they must become favorably related to the Lord Jesus by belief and obedience of the Gospel in the way he has appointed. For God has given to him power over all flesh that he may give eternal life to as many as the Father has given him. In Adam all die a real death, and the only means of deliverance from it, has been provided by God in Christ.

DR. Henry M. Ladd, Pastor of the Euclid Ave., Congregational Church is about to publish a book entitled "Christ's Spiritual Death." In view of the fact that spiritual death is defined in the "Theological Dictionary" as "That awful state of ignorance, insensibility and disobedience, which mankind are in by nature, and which exclude them from the favor and employment of God," we confess that we are a little curious to know what is to be said respecting Chist's spiritual death.

IT is said that there is "—No wonder there are horrors in Armenia when it is the daily duty of the Mohammedans to offer up such prayers as this against the "infidels": O Allah! make their children orphans, and defile their abodes! Cause their feet to slip; give them and their families, their house-holds and their women, their children, and their relation by marriage, their brothers, and their friends, their possessions and their race, their wealth and their lands as booty to the Moslems, O Lord of all creatures!

"HENRY C. BOWEN, editor and proprietor of the New York Independent, died Feb. 24, at his home in Brooklyn.

Mr. Bowen was 82 years old last September. He had been in poor health for a long time, and during the last three weeks his condition grew steadily worse until the end came.

While in his youth he embarked in the mercantile life, but at the outbreak of the war of the rebellion the dry goods firm of which he was at the head suspended. Later on Mr. Bowen was appointed Collecter of Third Internal Revenue District of New York. He took great interest in church matters, and was one of the founders of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, and of the Church of the Pilgrims and Plymouth Church, Brooklyn.

He was also active in the anti-slavery cause, and with a view to providing a congregational exponent of such principles established in 1848, the Independent. Mr. Bowen's three associates in the publication of the paper soon withdrew and since then he has been sole owner."

ON account of the action of the United States Senate in recognizing the provisonal government of Cuba as belligerants, and in calling upon President Cleveland to use his office with Spain to secure the independence of Cuba, the hatred of Spain has been fully aroused, and on Sunday March 1, a mob attacked the United States Consulate, at Barcelona, breaking the windows and shouting "Long live Spain!" and "Down with the Yankees!" The police charged upon the crowd and dispersed them, some were wounded but with no fatal results. Crowds gathered in many places and the day was characterized by many manifestations of public wrath. At Valencia the university students paraded and then gathered before the United States Consulate shouting, "Death to Uncle Sam." Viva Spain," and long live the Army." Just what action the United States will take, we do not at this time know, but news from Washington seems to be that if Spain insists on it there will be trouble, but the hope is that diplomacy will be brought into action in this case as well as has been with England, and that no serious result will follow.

WE clipped the following from the Chicago Tribune of Feb. 27, and give it to our readers as many of them know Sister Reed, and will be pleased to hear of the honor conferred upon her.

"The London newspapers, in giving an account of the January meeting of the Victoria Institute, say the paper of the day was furnished by Elizabeth A. Reed, A. M. of Chicago. This is the first time a woman's work had been thus honored by this distinguished body.

It first passed the Honorable Council, consisting of twenty-eight learned men, and then copies were sent throughout the world of scholars to the best specialists in that line of work, and these men returned it with their written criticisms to the Institute, and it was finally accepted, after passing through this crucible of criticism for two years.

The subject of the lecture is "The Ethics of Buddhism—Were They Derived from Semitic Sources?" The author presented many historic facts, showing it to be possible that some of the sentiments of Buddhism had been derived from the earlier writings of the Hebrews, or from some people who were familiar with these writings. In the author's absence the paper was presented by Dr. Theo. G. Pinches of the British Museum.

Mrs. Reed is known in Europe and America as the author of "Persian Literature" and "Hindu Literature." She is also the President of the Illinois Woman's Press Association and one of the editors of the magazine for the University Association."

A Prayer Before Congress:

Think of it! The chaplain of congress prayed a few days ago "That we might be swift to resent injuries!!! and well does the Philadelphia city and state, say:—"To speak with gravest seriousness, we urge that the House amend its chaplain or get rid of him. And if the congressional tone and spirit get into the prayers, we suggest that it abolish the chaplaincy. The grotesque vulgarity of a "devotional service," of this sort, to say nothing of its indecency and blasphemy, is, beyond expression, painful to genuine hearts everywhere, and is a disgrace to the nation so gratuitous and uncalled for, that it ought to be easily cured." The weekly N. Y. Witness commenting on the above says, "The hypocrisy of offering to God stump speeches as prayers which has so often been perpetrated by those appointed to conduct the devotional service of legislative bodies, is beyond measure wicked and injurious to the moral tone of the whole people. That is the devil's devotion,—not the doctrine of him who preached the sermon on the mount."

The Eastern Question.

Interesting news from the East comes to us through a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, England, dated Constantinople Jan. 7. He says:—"This evening I had a long interview with one of the leading men in Turkey, a general officer who did good and gallant service in the last war, and who is looked up to by the party of reform in Turkey as one of its ablest supporters. His view of the future of his country was sombre in the extreme, and he did not scruple to say that he fully expected to see the Russians in Constantinople, and that, too, at the invitation of the Sultan, before the close of the year. This officer, who holds the highest rank in the army, is, and has been, in the closest possible touch with the constitutional party in Turkey, says...."But it is not in Armenia that I see the gravest danger; it is in Macedonia. There the Revolutionary party is far stronger than the Huntchak. The men are drilled, officered and organized, and they are supported by the good will of the Bulgarian nation. In the spring armed bands will cross the frontier; they will be repulsed; our commanders will retaliate on the Macedonia Villages in our territory. There will be the usual cry of Turkish Atrocities. Prince Ferdinand will be compelled to give into the voice of Public opinion, and he will support his revolutionary bands with his disciplined army, and though I am a Turkish officer who saw how well my men fought in 1877, I am reluctantly compelled to admit that we could not under present circumstances prevent the Bulgarians reaching Adrianople. We have no means of mobilizing our reserve The attempt to do this last autumn signally failed, and we did heat up the privates we have no officers to lead them. We have absolutely no cavalry in the modern acceptation of the term in the whole army. Look at the regiments here in Constantinople, badly horsed, badly armed, badly equipped, destitute of all training. Do you think we have one single commander who could maneuvor a brigade, or a dozen who could conduct a reconnoissance? Our artillery is without practice, and without drill, except in the barrack square. Not an officer has gone through artillery practice, not a man has cut a fuse, there is not a range finder in the army, and if there were there are no men who know how to use the instrument. Our infantry possesses good material but bad officers, and on entering on a campaign they would be served out with the Mauser rifle, of the mechanism of which they would be ignorant. They would be face to face with an admirably drilled and well equipped army, which has been trained to perfection in peace maneuvers, led by a Prince who believes in his future. In less than a fortnight he would be in front of Adrianople, and the Sultan, not daring to denude the capital of troops, and having Servia and Greece on the one hand and an insurrectionary Armenia on the other, would have to do what, alas, our Sultans of late years have ever done—he would have to call in foreign aid. He would not appeal to England. The Palace party is pro-Russian to a man, from the Sultan down to Raghet Bay. Nelidoff's charm of manner, and Nelidoff's roubles have done what Sir P. Currie has failed to do. Russia will be asked to intervene; a Russian army would land in our capital, ostensibly for its defence, a corps would occupy Varna and Bourgas, and moving westward, drive the Bulgarians out of Eastern Roumelia, and Ferdinand would have to fall back on his capital. But Russia once here would never leave. Our Empire would last a little longer under a sort of semi-Russian protection, but, mark my words, Abdul Hamid will be the last Sultan of Constantinople .....Know thousands, tens of thousands know that this Russian alliance (it will be announced before long) means the ruin of our country, but I see no help for it unless you English adopt a radically different course from that you have followed for so many years. You have driven Abdul Hamid into the arms of Russia, and you have caused thousands of those who believed in you to curse you..... The Macedonians will stir in the spring, and before the summer is ended you will see the Russians in Constantinople and Diarbekir—at the invitation, mind you, of the Sultan War? No, there will be no war. England is isolated; she will not fight alone. The Sultan will lose the best chance he has ever had of re-establishing his power and prestige, but M. Nelidoff and the fates are too strong for us. And I shall take an apartment in Paris, and trust that my bones may be laid at rest among the French—the people I love. Once I had faith in you, and studied your language and admired your customs, but now I can understand neither! Don't forget what I say—the Russians will be here before the year closes. If you do not believe me, ask Nelidoff. "Saying which the general strode out of the room.

That a Russo-Turkish alliance is pending I (says the correspondent) am convinced that this has been brought about by Nelidoff's diplomatic encouragement of Sir. Philip Currie's strangely worded demands. All through the Armenian negotiation our Ambassador has been put forward as the spokesman whenever anything unpleasant had to be urged, while Nelidoff has not hesitated to assure the Sultan of his perfect indifference to the question—the consequence is, the Sultan looks upon England as the champion of Christianity versus Islam, and has learnt to view Russia as his only ally."

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 10.

If our memory serves us correctly, our last reference was to Hosea iii. 4, 5, where the prediction is recorded that the "children of Israel should be many days without a King, prince, sacrifice, image, (standing, statute or pillar, margin) and without an ephod, and without teraphim; and that after this long period—many days—the children of Israel should return, and seek the Lord their God, and David their king; and should fear the Lord and his goodness in the latter days." Clearly those many days commenced after the destruction of the temple, where alone sacrifices could be offered. This was about the year 70 since which they have had no king, or priesthood; the days have been many truly but the last event of the series is still future. The children of Israel shall return and seek the Lord their God and David their king, and shall fear the Lord and his goodness in the latter days.

In harmony with the above Scripture we find the Israelitish people set forth as dead, dead nationally, and buried, and then resurrected, in the 37th of Ezek. And while we have no hope of convincing many of the truth as it is in Jesus, seeing it would disrupt their whole religious system, and place them at a great disadvantage socially, we do think we can convince the honest of heart by the contents of this chapter, that the long promised kingdom of God will be the kingdom of Israel restored under the immortal and glorified Son of God. The whole house of Israel is represented by a valley full of bones. In themselves considered there is no life in bones. They were lifeless; see the proof of these two two points in verses 11, 8, 5. Secondly, the death was not the loss of life individually, we are certain, because the people represented by these bones, say—

"OUR BONES ARE DRIED, and our hope is lost,"—their hope was the coming of the promised One in whose day, the power and prestige of the kingdom of David would be restored. But the destruction of their temple and city and expulsion from the land and the scattering among the nations of the earth caused them to give up all for lost. Our bones are dry and our hope is lost, and we are cut off from our parts,—that is, forcibly expelled from the land. Having come to that conclusion, Jehovah discloses his purpose toward them, thus, "Behold, Oh my people, I will open your graves and cause you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel.... And shall put my spirit in you, and ye shall live and I shall place you in your own land." Then follows the parable of the two becoming one in the land of the prophet, and explained to mean that the two nations of Israelites should become one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel, and one King shall be King to them all, and they shall not be two nations and two kingdoms any more at all." Be it noticed, also, that the Israelites are buried among the nation. Their extraction therefrom is their resurrection to renewed national existence. We submit it to the candid if these events have ever yet transpired? If not, is it not plain that the restoration here predicted is the same as that intimated in the 21st chapter where it is shown that the throne and dynasty of David is to be overturned until he comes whose right it is and I (Jehovah) will give it him? No unprejudiced reasonable person can fail to see that both passages refer to the same restoration. Satisfied of this we pay no attention to the unreasonable, but proceed to show that instead of the children of faith and constituting the subjects of the kingdom of God, in the future, the natural seed of Abraham are the subjects of it. Hosea says the children of Israel after many days without a king or a priest shall return and seek the Lord their God, and David their king, and shall fear the Lord and his goodness in the latter days. Bearing in mind that Gabriel shows in the first of Luke, that having once received the throne of his father David, Jesus ever retains it, and reigns over the house of Jacob forever, and then turning back to the 37th of Ezek. and reading Jehovah's promise that the servant David shall be their prince for ever," we are furnished with infallible evidence that it is Jesus who is spoken of as my servant David." The popular idea about God's kingdom could not be farther from the truth.

THE TWO STICKS

HOPE IN THE GOSPEL

JESUS CONFESSED

that he was born to be King of the Jews; if that be so, what power can frustrate God's purpose? Depend upon it he will be King of the Jews. But they have to be gathered all of the twelve tribes have to be gathered—out of the nations and organized into one nation and one kingdom, not two as before, and all is to transpire in the land upon the mountains of Israel. An everlasting covenant of peace is to be made with them, and God's Sanctuary is to be in the midst of them forevermore, and his Tabernacle shall also be with them,—and God

WILL BE THEIR GOD,

and they shall be his people. See verse 25, 27. And the folly of claiming that he has been seated upon the throne of David in Heaven since his ascension is very manifest for his subjects are neither gathered nor organized yet. And besides that, we have unmistakable evidence in Rev. xi. that he does not take to himself his great kingdom and reign till the time when the nations are angry, and God's wrath is come, and the time of the dead that they should be judged, and the time to give rewards unto God's servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear God's name great and small, and the time to destroy the corruptors of the earth. And moreover Ezekiel in the closing words of his prophecy makes it clear that Jesus is to be reigning in for, says he, "The name of the city from that day shall be "The Lord is there;" and in the description of the new temple to be erected there in the future. We read in the 43rd chapter and 5th-7th verses, "So the Spirit took me up and brought me into the inner court, and behold the glory of the Lord filled the house....And he said unto me, Son of Man, the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel forever." etc. And in Jeremiah iii. 14, we read of the gathering, of Israel God's invitation, "Turn, O, backsliding children saith the Lord, for I am married unto you, and I will take you one from a city, and two of a family and will BRING YOU TO ZION."

JERUSALEM, NOT HEAVEN

But where is Zion? Is it above the skies?....Verse 17 furnishes the answer. "At that time they shall call JERUSALEM THE THRONE of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered unto it, to the name of the Lord to Jerusalem; neither shall they walk any more after the imagination of their evil heart." Then read Is. xxiv. 23. "Then the moon shall be confounded and the sun ashamed when the Lord of Hosts shall reign in Mount Zion, and in Jerusalem, and before his ancients gloriously:" and Jeremiah xxiii. 3. "And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds, and they shall be

FRUITFUL AND INCREASE, and I will set up shepherds over them, which shall feed them and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking with the Lord. Behold the days come saith the Lord that I will raise unto David a righteous branch and a king shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. In his days Judah shall be saved and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the name whereby he shall be called, The Lord our righteousness." Clearly this refers to the same gathering of the same people to the same land, and is to be signed over by the same King as is called in Ezekiel xxxii. And when to all this divine testimony that the house of Jacob constitutes the subjects proper of the kingdom of Christ and of God on earth, it prepares us for the fact that the saints are nowhere promised that they shall be mere subjects of the kingdom of God and of Christ, but according to Daniel "they take the kingdom and possess it, and that, too, for ever, even for ever and ever;" and according to Jesus himself, "they live and reign with, him, are to be seated with him upon his throne," and have "power over the nations, and rule them with an iron sceptre, and reign on the earth, which he said the meek shall inherit.

"MY SERVANT DAVID"

(To be Continued.)

NEWS ITEMS.

Cape Town, South Africa, Feb. 24.—(Copyrighted, 1896, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.)—The political association of Rustenburg, in the Transvaal, President Kruger's pet organization, has adopted resolutions substantially as follows:

"Whereas, Public opinion in England regarding Jameson's treacherous attack shows that Great Britain is the arch-enemy of the South African Republic; and

"Whereas, The English as a people are the sworn foes of the Dutch Afrikanders, as is proved by the efforts of the former to humiliate the Boers and to destroy them; therefore

"Resolved, There should be no fraternity between the Boers and the English.

"Resolved, that the Boers must prepare for continued and even more serious strife.

"Resolved, That the Transvaal Government may count upon the members of this society as being prepared to seal their words with their blood."

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 24.—A large number of the most prominent and influential clergymen in the city met today and discussed a scheme whereby Armenians may be induced to take up homes in the Canadian Northwest. It is understood the government will make a grant for this purpose and that this will be further supplemented by a subscription fund, which already amounts to a considerable sum.

Rome, Feb. 24.—A telegram has been received here from Cairo stating that Great Britain has begun negotiations with France for the evacuation of Egypt. It is added that Great Britain is inclined to make concessions. The visit of N. Cambon, the French Ambassador at Constantinople, to Cairo, is reported to be connected with the negotiations for the evacuation of Egyptian territory.

That Russia intends to establish a protectorate over Corea is no longer doubted on the continent. It is evident from every move of the Russian army and diplomacy.

The St. Petersburg Gazette, which is in close contact with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, says editorially:

"Neither the United States nor England nor Germany have any right to oppose Russia's advance in Corea, as this will only promote their commercial interests. The powers ought also to see that a Russian harbor on the Corean coast, near the terminus of the trans-Siberian railroad, means invaluable advantages to the three powers."

Odessa, Feb. 22.—During the recent storms on the Black Sea seven steamers and eighteen sailing vessels foundered and a hundred lives were lost.

A startling piece of news comes from Brussels. Prince Albert, heir presumptive to the throne of Belgium, the only surviving son of the Count of Flanders, has received a threatening letter, warning him not to be present at the festive inauguration of the four large railroad systems, which will occur at Mons in a few days. The letter informs him that the Socialists have perfected a plot to murder him on that occasion.

The young Prince, who has just reached his maturity, nevertheless has announced his intention to brave the assassins and be present at the inauguration. Numerous arrests have been made, and the police are now confident that they have nipped the plot in the bud.

Mr. Holman Hunt has astonished his friends by writing a long letter on the return of the Hebrews to Palestine in fulfillment of the dream of ages. The scheme involves the purchase of the country from the Sultan on a basis of capitalized revenues, with a liberal margin. Mr. Hunt expressed confidence that if the offer were made for the widest extent of land defined by Moses the sum could easily be raised under the guarantee of leading Hebrews.

London, Feb. 24.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Daily News says:

"There is a persistent rumor here of a fresh massacre at Urfa

"The government objects to Miss Clara Barton, President of the American Red Cross Society, going to Zeitoun to distribute relief."

Russia is dangerously extending her power. This week saw her reassert her control of the Balkan States. The week before saw her establish her practical suzerainty over Turkey. The meager news from Corea announcing her occupation of Seoul indicates that she means to defy Japan, as well as British influence in China. The Italian reverses in Abyssinia presage the fall of Great Britain's only powerful friend.—Crispi.

France has given new and splendid assurance of her stability and strength, and may be counted upon to side with Russia, unless, indeed, Great Britain has made an alliance with the Czar.

Germany remains sullenly hostile.

Vladivostock, Feb. 23.—The newspapers announce the arrival here of the agents of an Anglo-American company with a capital of £5,000,000 ($25,000,000) to work the alluvial gold deposits of Eastern Siberia. They intend to purchase abandoned claims, hoping to extract gold by improved machinery and processes.

Men may make wealth enough to sink them into perdition, but not enough to save them in glory.

POETRY.

The Lord's Prayer.

(The following beautiful composition was found in Charleston, S. C., during the war; it was printed on very heavy yellow paper, and is quite a literary curiosity.)

Then to the mercy-seat our souls doth gather,
To do our duty unto thee—OUR FATHER,
To whom all praise, all honor, should be given.
For thou art the great God WHO ART IN HEAVEN;
Thou, by thy wisdom, rul'st the world's wide frame.
Forever, therefore, HALLOWED BE THY NAME,
Let never more delay divide us from
Thy glorious grace, but let THY KINGDOM COME;
Let thy commands opposed be by none,
But thy good pleasure and THY WILL BE DONE
And let our promptness to obey be even
The very same ON EARTH, AS IT IS IN HEAVEN.
Then for our souls, O Lord, we also pray
Thou wouldst be pleased to GIVE US THIS DAY,
The food of life, wherewith our souls are fed,
Sufficient raiment, and OUR DAILY BREAD;
With every needful thing do thou relieve us,
And of thy mercy pity AND FORGIVE US
All our misdeeds, for him whom Thou didst please
To make an offering for OUR TRESPASSES;
And forasmuch, O Lord, as we believe
That thou will pardon us AS WE FORGIVE,
Let that love teach, wherewith thou dost acquaint us,
To pardon all THOSE WHO TRESPASS AGAINST US;
And though, sometimes, thou find'st we have forgot
This love for thee, yet help, AND LEAD US NOT Through soul or body's want to desperation,
Nor let earth's gain drive us INTO TEMPTATION,
Let not the soul of any true believer
Fall in time of trial, BUT DELIVER,
Yea, save them from the malice of the devil,
And both in life and death keep us FROM EVIL.
Thus pray we, Lord, for that of thee from whom
This may be had, for THINE IS THE KINGDOM,
This world is of thy work, its wondrous story,
To thee belongs THE POWER AND THE GLORY,
And all thy wondrous works have ended never,
But will remain forever and FOREVER.
Thus we poor creatures would confess again
And would say eternally, AMEN.

Original.

HESAIAS.

(ISAIAH 6. C. V. & R. V.)

1. And it came to pass in the year that Ozias the king died I saw the Lord seated upon a high and uplifted throne, and the house was filled with his glory.

2. And Seraphim stood round about him, each one having six wings; and with two they covered their face, with two they covered their feet and with two they flew.

3. And one cried out to another, and they said sanctified, sanctified, sanctified is the Lord of Sabaoth; all the earth is full of his glory.

4. And the upper-door was lifted up with the voice with which they cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5. And I said woe is me, because I feel compunction that I am a mere man and have unclean lips and dwell in the midst of a laity that hath unclean lips; and have seen the King the Lord of Sabaoth with my eyes.

6. And one of the Seraphim was sent unto me and he had in his hand a coal which he had taken from off the altar.

7. And he touched my mouth and said; Lo this hath touched thy lips, and it will take away thy transgression, and it will cleanse away thy sins.

8. And I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go his way unto this laity? And I said, Lo, I will, send me.

9. And he said, Go thy way and say unto this laity; With hearing will ye hear and ye shall not understand; and looking will ye look and ye shall not see.

10. For the heart of this laity hath become gross with fat and with their ears have they heard heavily and their eyes have they closed lest perchance they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, and with their heart understand, and turn and I should heal them.

11. And I said, Until when, O Lord? And he said, Until cities shall be laid waste so that they are not dwelt in, and houses so that there are no men, and the land shall have been left forsaken.

12. And after these things God will put man far away and those who have been left behind upon the land will have been multiplied;

13. And still there is upon it the one and one-tenth; and again it will be for ravage like a terebinth and a chestnut when it falleth out of its burr.

CHAPTER VII.

1. And it came to pass in the days of Achaz the son of Jotham the son of Ozias king of Joudas, that Hrasin king of Aram and Phakee, son of Hromelios king of Israel went up against Hierousaleem to war against it and they were not able to blockade it.

2. And it was talk the house of David saying, Aram hath conspired with Ephraim, and his (Achaz) soul stood out (with fear) and the soul of his laity, in the way that a tree in a forest is shaken by wind;

3. And the Lord said unto Hesaias; Go out to meet Achaz thou and thy remaining son Jasoub at the pool that is above the way the field of the fuller.

4. And thou shalt say unto him, Be on thy guard to keep quiet and fear not, nor may thy soul have become enfeebled by reason of these two fire-brands that are smoking; For when the wrath of my anger hath come to pass I shall heal again.

5. And the son of Aram and the son of Hromelios, because they have counseled wicked counsel, (in saying)

6. We will go up into Joudain and when we have talked with them, we will turn them away unto us, and make the son of Tabaeel king thereof;

7. Thus saith the Lord of Sabaoth, This counsel shall not abide nor will it be;

8. But the head of Aram is Damaskos, and the head of Damaskos is Rasin; Moreover there are sixty and five years yet and the kingdom of Ephraim will fail of laity.

9. And the head of Ephraim is Somoroon and the head of Somoroon is a son of Hromelios, And if ye do not put faith in it neither shall ye understand.

10. And the Lord added to talk with Achaz saying

11. Ask for thyself a sign from the Lord thy God in depth or height.

12. And Achas said I will not ask nor will I test the Lord

13. And he said, may ye forsooth have hearkend ye house of David; Is it a little thing for you to sustain a contest with men, and how are you going to sustain a contest with the Lord?

14. Therefore will the Lord himself give unto you a sign. Lo the virgin will receive in womb and will bring forth a son, and thou wilt call his name Emmanouel (Mercy—abiding—in)

15. Butter and honey will he eat before he hath comprehended or preferred bad things, that he may have chosen the good;

16. Because before the child hath comprehended good or bad, he will distrust wickedness so as to choose the good; and the land about which thou art fearful before the face of the two kings will have been forsaken.

17. Moreover God will bring upon thee and thy laity and upon the house of thy father days that have not as yet come since the day when Ephraim took away from Joudas the King of the Assarions.

18. And it will be in that day that the Lord will whistle for dog-fleas, the one that will lord it over a part of the river of Aiguptos, and for the bee that is in a province of Assurians;

19. And they will all come in the ravines of the country and in the holes of the rocks and into the caves and into every rift.

20. In that day the Lord will shave with the hired razor from across the river, with the razor of the king of Assurions, the head and the hair of the feet and the beard will he take away.

21. And it will be in that day that a man will support a heifer of the cattle and two sheep;

22. And it will be that for the most part to drink milk; Butter and honey will every one left upon the land eat

23. And it will be in that day that every place, where there are thousand vines worth a thousand shekels, will be for waste and skauthoi.

24. With spear and arrow will they come there, because all the land will be waste and skauthoi.

25. And every mountain that hath been ploughed will (not) have been ploughed; Fear shall not come there; For it will be by reason of the waste land and skauthoi a feeding-place for sheep and a treading-place for cattle.

COMMENT.

The 6th chapter opens with another vision—a vision of the Lord seated upon a high and uplifted throne surrounded by "Seraphim," or spiritual beings of some sort about which very little has been revealed in the Scriptures. They are not "Cherubim" evidently or if the same kind of spiritual beings they have a different office. From the derivation of the word "Cherub" we might infer that their office was in some way to express so rour and deprivation; while from the derivation of the word "Seraph" we might infer that their office was to express joy in worship.

"The upper-door" here was the upper-door of the temple.

The importance of the message committed to the prophet is emphasized by its quotation and interpretations in the New Covenant as oracular and Messianic and just then fulfilled in the blindness of God's people and their inability to recognize the person and mission "of the Son of his love." We can see that the prophecy has been fulfilled to the letter and it should be a wonderful help to our faith. Observe the pregnant significance of "the epidekatos" or the one and one-tenth seed reserved—"the hope of Israel."

The 7th chapter speaks for itself to every thorough student of prophecy and contains the most important single prophecy in the whole range of the Old Covenent Scriptures as you all know. The Old Hebrew Rabbis saw the importance of this prophecy as a Messianic oracular word and tinkered with the Hebrew text to discredit the evidence in its relation to Jesous of Nazareth as "the Messiah" and undertook to do the same thing with the Greek text of the Septuagint; but failed for the reason that the Septuagint was "the Bible" of the early Christian church for at least two hundred years.

The King James Version reflects the apostasy of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy which through its Latin Version served as the basis for the most of the Early English translations and which had incorporated into its own Latin translation most of these Rabinical textual tinkerings.

Read the 14th, 15th and 16th verses of this chapter in the light of this comment. For they have a special oracular import explanatory of why the child Jesous grew up to manhood "without sin."

The rest of the chapter is more particularly valuable in its historical import giving as it does Israel's environments national both then and at the coming of "the Messiah," as prophesied and fulfilled, moreover confirmed by profane history of contemporaneous times.

CHAS. GARDNER.

A Practical Lesson.

I wish to call especial attention to the good lesson Brother Wilson has given us, of making friends with, or by means of the mammon or riches we possess. His exposition is a grand success, and every child of God by faith, should read it over, until they can feel and know that the Master meant them, and feel deeply concerned about present duty in this matter. So much so, that their life, their words, and their means be called into action at once, for each and every one is entrusted with talents and means more or less, and with these comes our responsibilities. Oh, that we could all feel deep down in our souls, that all the talents and means we hold and think to be ours, belongs to the Lord, and that we ourselves have been sold out under sin, and have been bought by the Lord, and that we are not our own, but are simply stewards, entrusted with the goods of him who has called us and appointed us to this trust, moreover it is required in stewards that a man be "found faithful." Then to be found faithful as a steward of God, we will not only look after our own interest, which is pure selfishness, but we will be deeply concerned in the welfare of others. The Captain of our salvation, sought not his own glory, sought not his own will and way, but the will, and way, and glory of him that sent him. Thus he overcame self and sin, and retained his Father's favor, and attained to an honorable position at his Father's right hand. Thus he sacrifices his own will and way, and and thus had God his Father for a fast friend, and when he failed on earth himself, he could confidently commit himself into his Father's hands, who received him to glory. Jesus has left us a self-sacrificing example, and tells us to use this worlds goods, as not abusing them. (am sorry to say many are doing this) but rather to God's honor and glory, and thus make fast friends of God our kind Father, and his dear Son, our Savior, then when our substance is spent, and our means all have failed, they alone will be able and willing to care for us, and receive us into an eternal habitation, when Jesus comes to gather his people home. Uncle Sam has provided homes called the Soldiers Home," for all his faithful servants whose means of support have run out. This is only a temporary home for the needy ones, while the servant of God who has by himself and his means on the Lord's altar, and fought the good fight of faith, will in the world to come receive eternal life in an eternal home. Now a few practical hints in conclusion. Jesus says in connection with the text the dear Brother has so ably explained. "He that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much. If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches? And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another mans, who shall give you that which is your own? No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon." Can we say we are ready for our King and suffer our actions to contradict us? Can we say we love the Lord, when our heart is far from him? Can we say we are on the Lord's side, when in fact we are serving mammon? Will we continue to say Lord, Lord, and not do the things he commands us? Can we say we have been converted, when our life says no? Can we walk with the Lord, and lock arms with the world? Can we do a good deed and not sound a trumpet? Will we be content to work ourselves almost to death to hoard up riches, and not use them to God's glory, and secure his friendship, and that of our Blessed Master, and have an eternal home in the world to come? Can we keep the first, and great commandment, and spend the Lord's money for the poisonous weed, to consume it on our lust? Can we keep the second commandment, and not turn a hand or spend a penny to help them to that eternal mansion? Can we lavish our means on secret oath bound combinations and let our honest debts go unpaid, and not be an unfaithful and unjust steward? Can we? Kindly in behalf of the Master and his cause.

T. E. A.

Christs Kingdom.

"Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and showeth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; And saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me." Mat. iv: 8, 9. A very liberal offer for Satan to make to the Son of God, but it came from the wrong source for Christ to accept the proposition, but in some sense the wicked are in possession of Christ's kingdom at the present, and will be until he comes and takes the kingdom, and the time comes for the saints to possess the kingdom, which we will now prove.

"And I say unto you, that many shall come from the east and the west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven. But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness, there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth." Matt. viii. 11, 12. The children of the kingdom are to be cast out, this kingdom is not the church, but it shows that the wicked, will be in the kingdom when the time comes for Abraham and the saints to possess the kingdom.

"The Son of man shall send forth his angels and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity. So shall it be at the end of the world, the angels shall come forth and sever the wicked from among the just, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth." Matt. xiii. 41, 49, 50. Gathering out of his kingdom and severing the wicked from among the just, takes place at the same time. See Luke xiii. 28, 29. Now we will give more proof to sustain our position."

"And the seventh angel sounded, and there were great voices in heaven, saying, "The kingdoms of the world are become the kingdoms of the Lord, and of his Christ, and he shall reign for ever and for ever." Rev. xi. 15. Yes it is out of the kingdoms of this world the wicked will be gathered out, the wicked severed from the righteous, then will be fulfilled what Daniel saw. "But the saints of the Most High shall take the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever even forever and ever. And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him." Dan. vii. 18, 27.

There will be fulfilled what God promised Abraham. "For all the land which thou seest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed forever. Gen. xiii. 14, 16, and Paul in Gal. iii. 16, tells us Christ is the seed spoken of here. And this same Christ says, "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." Matt. v. 5. "And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." Gal. iii. 29. The position I have taken in regard to the wicked being now in Christ's kingdom, I never heard advocated before. So please bear with me, the truth is all I want, if those Scripture citations do not mean what they say, some one must explain.

I am waiting for the kingdom.

M. L. ADAMS.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Brethren and Sisters one and all.
I will write some now for the Christmas call;
"For all to write who love the Lord,
And believe he will come and fulfill his word."

To come and gather his people home
When he shall reign on David's throne.
When he shall reign, all wars shall cease.
And man with man shall be at peace.

The saints all robed in garments white.
Shall live in that land where there is no night.
Where the golden fruit of life's fair tree
Will on either side of the river be.

Yes brother Prime, I will meet you there.
In that beautiful land so bright and fair.
Where no sickness or death will ever come
To disturb the dwellers of that happy home.

I have loved ones sleeping I hope to meet
Where we can worship at the Savior's feet.
And thus it is my daily prayer.
To be prepared to meet you there.

MRS. DR. L. HUSTED.

Dear Restitution:

I enclose an order $1.50 for renewal of subscription. We think we cannot do without the paper. We have taken it for a number of years.

Your Sister in Christ.

ELLEN WHITE.

Brother Editor:

I notice in THE RESTITUTION of 8th inst. an article headed "The Call of Abraham" signed J. E. Hatch, which I wish to emphasize by responding with a hearty AMEN.

Yours for the truth.

W. J. OREM.

Dear Restitution:

Brothers and sisters, I can say that I am looking for the Lord Jesus to come and reign on the throne of his father David. I am growing stronger in the glorious promises every day. Bro. Elder John Foore helped me to put on Christ Oct., 1884.

Yours in the faith,

A. T. MORRIS.

Editor Restitution:

You will find enclosed $1.00 to apply on the paper. With the impure air of infidelity all around, it is hard to live perfect, and especially to have our children guided in the way they should go; but by taking the Word of God as the man of our council, being guided by his Holy Spirit, we hope to reach that heavenly kingdom with all the redeemed.

Yours waiting and watching.

F. C. & M. MYERS.

Editor Restitution:

Dear brother, as I failed to pay for my paper last year I now send you three dollars by post order. We have a little band here of about twenty that meet every Sunday for prayer and conference meeting. We also have two brethren that preach the Word of truth to us. One formerly a Baptist, but now a firm believer in all the prophets have written. Pray for us.

Your Brother waiting for the return of Christ to establish his kingdom on the earth renewed.

C. HATCH.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I will say I believe in the personal return of Christ to reign on the earth. I believe when he returns he will resurrect the saints, change the living that has lived worthy, and obeyed from the heart the gospel requirements. I believe the signs show his coming near at hand. We read of wars and rumors of wars, of famine, of pestilence, of distress of nations, know that the end is near even at the door. I will say so come Lord Jesus and come quickly.

Yours for the truth.

MARY M. FRENCH.

Dear Restitution:

Please find enclosed $1.50 in postal order to pay on THE RESTITUTION for 1886.

Now one word, I find in reading over the many letters of the brethren, that they have ignored the great image of Daniel and they all say that Jesus may come at any moment, when in fact the eastern limb of the image has never matured therefore the ten symbolic toes has never been in existence. Now will some one tell us how Jesus can come until the ten kings. We want nothing but truth.

Yours looking for the ten kings.

H. BURDICK.

To the Household of Faith:

I want to hear my testimony also in the love feast. I believe in the covenants of promise made to the fathers, in the restoration of the kingdom to Israel, and in our redemption through Christ as heirs to this kingdom in which he will reign personally in Jerusalem, which I believe will come in the near future. We hear of "wars and rumors of wars," and see trouble gathering on every hand, but let us not be troubled, but take courage for the battle of life. May we all prove faithful, and be overcomers of the things of this life, that we may be acceptable in that great resurrection morning.

Yours in hope.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS.

Dear Restitution:

We have taken THE RESTITUTION for over thirty years, and cannot think of doing without it, so find enclosed $1.50 for subscription. I see a great many familiar names in the letters, and would like to see one more—that of Benjamin Wilson, as I claim him as my father in the gospel having learned the truth through his writings. I was baptized by Bro. Joseph Wilson, in Illinois, and we are down here in Kansas now.

"Je- -s soon is coming.
It is in my song;
It cheers the heart.
When joys depart,
And sorrow presses strong."

Love to all the brothers and sisters.

ELIZABETH WILLIAMS.

Dear Restitution:

As so many brothers and sisters are writing for THE RESTITUTION I thought I would add my mite. THE RESTITUTION is the only preacher we have outside of the Bible. I believe in the soon coming of Christ to establish his kingdom under the whole heavens. I am trying to walk in the strait and narrow path that leads to eternal life. Let us all strive to enter in at the strait gate, because strait is the gate and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life and few there be that find it, for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat. I believe that the signs of the times indicate that the Lord is nigh, even at the door.

"The coming King is at the door.
Who once the cross for sinners bore.
But now the righteous ones alone,
He comes to gather home."

Yours in hope of eternal life.

JOHN DICKINSON.

Dear Restitution:

Please send me THE RESTITUTION for one year and at the end of the year I will try hard to pay you, as I am willing to pay for it but am poor and don't have means to spare, but I do want your paper, and I know a goodly number that will read it. I read them and let others read them. I think I can pay for it at the end of the year. Please send if willing to do so and oblige,

MRS. J. M.

[This Sister lives in the West where crops have failed. She is willing to try and pay. We will trust her. But if any one feels like helping her to the extent of paying for her paper, we know it will be appreciated.—ED.]

Dear ones in Christ:

I remember the time when I could meet with some of you and hear the gospel of the kingdom preached, and my heart cries out with a longing that cannot be explained, can it be that I will ever again have the privilege of enjoying the company and conversation of the children of God as a body? And it only echoes back as a thing of the past, at least for the present, but I know the salvation of the Lord is nigh them that fear him, and "Righteousness shall go before him, and shall set us in the way of his steps." Therefore, I long for the time when knowledge shall have become a virtue; and the glory of God shall fill the whole earth, while we are encompassed round about with mercy and judgment.

"O, let us all be ready for the work we have to do,—
Toiling late and early in the cause divine and true!
Reaping as instructed in the morning light;
Reaping in the harvest-field,—toiling for the right!
All things are onward moving,—let earth's jubilee begin;
The Old is swiftly passing, and the New is coming in!
It is coming! O, 'tis coming! My raptured eyes behold!
The light is on the hill-tops, the Shepherd with his Fold.

What a sight! Grand and glorious! Which we may behold by the eye of faith. Let our lives be a continual song of joy and gladness in the Holy Ghost; for we have the promise,—"To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." Rev. iii. 21. Brothers and sisters, don't fail to send in your testimonies; I enjoy them so much, as I have no other way of conversing with you now, but I pray always that we may so live that we may all meet in the kingdom of God.

Your Sister in hope of eternal life.

CLEMENTINE OVERMAN.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On March 10 and April 7, 1886, the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa; Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hill district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Apr. 7.

Personally Conducted Excursions to California.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line, in upholstered tourist sleeping cars, leave Chicago every Thursday via the North-Western Line. Low rates, picturesque route, quickest time and careful attention are advantages offered to those who join these excursions. Cost of berth $6.00. Ask your nearest ticket agent for full particulars or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7, Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Mar. 14.

Original.

Exhortation.

Brothers and Sisters who have also been lead to the Light:

It is a great pleasure to read even just the few words which many of the RESTITUTION letters contain. Mine isn't much, but it is a satisfaction that I may say a few helping words, although the time may grow long we never grow weary. There is no one that makes a resolution for the better, but what are made so by that one small act, for it will lead them to bright deeds and also to think and may lead some one else do the same, although we should take an example from no mortal, we all do to some extent, some more than others, and how do we know, may be some one is watching to see how we are doing. Surely mankind is not created in vain. After our misery, the first stage of our existence, setting out for eternity. Although the clouds may be black, so dark that at times our weak sight cannot see that the lining sometimes farther away is always made of gold.

But when such times come to each of us, if we earnestly in prayer ask for aid, we will receive it for it is said in the Word of our God, all those believing that they will receive what they ask for shall also receive, also we must be born in spirit as we were in flesh and walk wholly by God, and not by the sons of men, and not setting our hearts on anything on this earth, but on our Creator who surely is greater and more sublime than all, for he created all them, both earth and heaven. Therefore it is required of each of us that we should walk in remembrance and fear of the mighty powers of the unruly at the judgment day. Therefore each day we must overcome trials easily, and be ready for we might be called just at the moment we strayed, and for fear we might be called to our rest from work, to the sleep which knows no self-waking. Human life in this stage of existence is like a copious stream with a mighty tide called eternity, flowing into a vast ocean dividing it into two parts, one side has not been explained for its sufferings are so diversified, the other side seems to be an enumerable number of islands covered with flowers and fruits, and is not lit by the sun but by the power and strength of one who is going from one islet to another, and is in all their midst. According to the degrees and kinds of virtue in which they excell are distributed among these many islands pleasures of different kinds, suitable to the relishes and perfections of those who are settled in them. Every island a perfect paradise, accomodated to its respective inhabitants. We may see persons dressed in glorious habits with garlands upon their forsheads passing in among the evergreens, lying down by the sides of fountains, resting on beds of flowers, and could hear a confused harmony of human voices, singing birds, falling waters, and musical instruments, gladness grows in us at the discovery of so delightful a scene. There is no passage for us but through the gates of death, is life worth living, is it worth while for us to build up what we call "our bright prospects" and have them torn down? Can we afford to be faithful through all these trying ordeals? If we succeed with every thing we undertook we would never be tired. O give me trials to overcome that I may be proved in my faithfullness, besides we would become selfish and hard-hearted. We must learn to give up all ungodliness not build too big castles for ourselves, for he cometh to judge the earth with righteousness, judge the earth and people with his truth. But we will let this lesson sink deeply into our heart for human life is but the journeys of a day. We rise in the morning of youth, full of vigor, full of expectations, we set forward with hope and spirit, with gayety and diligence, and travel on a while in piety toward the mansions of rest, in a short time we remit our favor and endeaver to find some intimation of our duty, or some more easy means of obtaining the same end. By degrees we let fall the remembrance of our original intentions, we entangle ourselves in business, immerge ourselves in luxury and rove through the labyrinths of inconstancy, till the darkness of old age begin to invade us. We then may look back upon our past life with horror, sorrow, and with even deep repentance, and wish that we had never forsaken the paths of virtue. Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth.

When is the golden time, you ask,
The golden time of love,
The time when earth is green beneath
And skies are blue above;
The time for sturdy strength,
The time for happy play;
When is the golden hour?
"I answered you," "today."
Today that from the Maker's hand
Slips on the great world-sea,
An atom in as ever ship that launched to sail eternity.
Today that wafts to you and me
A breath of Eden's prime,
That greets us glad, and large and free
It is the golden time.
For yesterday has veiled her face
And gone us far away as Sands that swept pyramids of Egypts ancient clay
Forever gone her toils, her prayers, her conflict and her pain,
No man shall look on yesterday or tryst with her again.
Tomorrow is not ours to hold,
May never come to bless or blight us is so with weal or ill
With gladness or ill-tress,
No man shall clasp tomorrow's hand
Or catch her on the way,
For when we reach tomorrow's land
She'll be by then, today.
You ask me for the golden time,
I bid you seize each hour
And fill it full of earnest work
While yet we have the power.
To by the golden time for joy.
Beneath the home-hold eaves.
Today the royal time for work,
For "bringing in the sheaves."

Yours walking in bright hopes,
JESSIE GOODWINE.

Editor Restitution:

Find enclosed money order for $1.50 to renew, and while I am at it let me say a few things to the household of faith; let me tell you some things I like and some things I don't like. I like THE RESTITUTION, it is a good evangelist, it can travel cheaper than a preacher, it talks on all Bible themes, and is likely to touch the theme uppermost in your mind for all Bible students are anxiously watching coming events. Bro. Joblin says lots of good things, Bro. Wilson writes with the zeal of a new convert, Bro. Wagoner and Corbaley remind us of the disciples that the dear Savior loved, Sister Wince has labored long and hard in reviewing the history of God's ones favored people, we as a people cannot afford to loose sight of these people, and Bro. Dwiggins, God bless your kind and affectionate heart, your name will become a household word, Bro. Wince never compromises his subject, Bro. Hatch hews close to the line, Bro. Baker is a deep thinker and close observer, write often, Bro. Moyer thinks twice before he speaks, Bro. Gardner holds before us continually the greatness and goodness of Jehovah, his mercy to them that love him, and the great danger of disloyalty to God. Time would fail me to tell of the many good things that is said in a year in THE RESTITUTION. I reckon Bro. T. E. Adam's work is done for if any brother is using tobacco yet, he is past reform. Bro. W. J Orem does a good deal of hard work here in the west and says nothing about it. I reckon he thinks he will be found out in time. One leading thought rewarded all of the "Love Feast" letters, to-wit: Loyalty to God, yes that will be prominent among the things that will give an abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom. Had a good long letter from Sister Carrie Williams, of San Deigo, Cal., Her health is very poor. In closing up the letter she expresses a desire to tarry until the consummation. I said, Oh yes, how often I too have desired the same, and how many poor pilgrims desire his coming, but his will, not ours. I want all the good work done this year published in THE RESTITUTION, we need encouragement for there is dander of the weak ones, for whom Christ died, falling by the way. Now there are some things I don't like. I don't like to read of preachers telling about getting the use of some sectarian house to preach in unless they tell of being turned out after preaching two or three sermons. I don't like to hear of some sectarian preaching the funeral of a deceased brother or sister, because none of the preaching brethren could be had, for some good brother or sister could read a portion of the 15th chapter of Cor. that would express the faith and hope of the deceased. Never compromise God's truth. I don't like when an obituary is written for the writer to tell how many sectarian churches he belongs to before he found out the truth. I don't see how it is a credit to any one, for if any body lives longer than me and preaches my funeral I don't want them to tell it on me. Let us continue to say like that good old saint, "As for me and my house we will serve the Lord." Now brethren, let us move forward all along the line, supporting the weak. Encourage all you come in contact with. Journey with me to a city whose builder and maker is God. Amen.

J. P. BITNER.

PORTRAITS.

To the many friends of Brother and Sister Woodward we are pleased to announce that we have arranged with Tuttle & Petcher, Artists, to make for us pictures of these two earnest workers. We will have them in two sizes. Cabinet size is familiar to every one, post paid to any address for 50 cents. The larger size about 5x8 inches are $1.00 a pair. These pictures are fine, mounted on the best cards, and every body who has seen them say they are excellent likenesses—the best Brother and Sister Woodward ever had taken. Friends who are personally acquainted will all want them, and many who know this couple by report will want to get acquainted in this way. Send to this office and we will mail them to you.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1896, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$34.00

EXPENDITURE.

Previously used	$46.70

Announcement.

The second quarterly conference of the Church of God in Nebraska, will be held at the school house in District 39, five miles south-east of Moorefield, and will begin on Friday March, 5, 1896, and hold over Sunday. All who can possibly attend this meeting are cordialy invited to do so. We need your presence and your help in order to make the meeting a success. Be ready and willing to work for your Master, and come prepared to enjoy a blessed meeting in his name.

Yours in hope of Eternal Life,
RENA M. GORDON, Sec'y.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 283 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00

"Twelve words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts per hundred.

"Who are led by the Spirit?" This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts. per hundred.

"Honoring the Son." An eight page tract, elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. [Do not send to "The Restitution," for any of these.—Ed.]

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put lovesalve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

Sin acts on the conscience as cold on the flesh. At first it is keenly felt, and avoided; but after a little while it is borne with delight.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN
in your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS and PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 30,000 Baptists, in 1866. 3. Immortality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 8 cts., or assorted packages 9, 10 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

6 10c; 50 for 15c; 90 for 25c; 100 for 40c. State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two uses of these terms, to-wit, a Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe? a series of questions on the main points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 12 for 50c. 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 44 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 29, 1879, by Jos. Lacier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 6 for 50c. or 12 for $1.

The Hair of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 160 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 35 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 778 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. J. C. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1. postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlinear word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is two well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance; bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 176 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 20 cents single copy; 3 for 55 cents; 12 for $1.50; 30 for $4.00. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 12 cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Hann, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chisnville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte st. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. C. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. D. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
H. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Lindon, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church a the Blessed Hope, 286 West 3rd Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. C. M. Joblin, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for work and searching the Scriptures every Sunde at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 3746 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsay Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 801 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Van Buren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday school and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. les east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday. And Social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. JASON WALTON Elder; SARAH SCHLECK Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Beach Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Kenslee, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. Wm. H. Wilson, Elder; Elias Sipla, Secretary.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grost, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels, 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Rowan Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 956 Wilson Ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitesitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. m. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria E. Trisdell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at H. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks, Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Centerview every four weeks At Union meeting on every Sunday There churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Bro L. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Fitchburg, Pt. Wayne & Chicago Ry.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Westward.

	2	10	20	8	7
	PM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'g, lv.	7 00
Allianee, ar.	8 50
Union, lv.	10 26
Massillon, "	10 39
Wooster, "	11 13
Mansfield, "	12 12
Crestline, "	1 05		10 35
Bucyrus, lv.		12 05	11 45
Lima, "	3 00	3 45	2 30
Van Wert, "	3 57	4 22	3 17	12 37
Ft Wayne, ar.	4 50	5 15	4 10	1 30
			AM	AM
Arcola, "			11 35	7 24
Columbia, "	6 55	6 00	12 17	7 56
Larwill, "			12 30	8 07
Pierceton, "			12 45	8 20
Eagle Lake, "			1 00	8 35
Warsaw, "	5 35	6 42	1 20	8 50
Lake Greek, "			1 30	9 00
Fairfield, "			1 40	9 10
Inwood, "			1 50	9 20
Plymouth, "	6 06	7 25	2 05	9 35
Tamerpeach, "			2 11	9 41
Hamlet, "			2 21	9 51
Davis, "			2 31	10 01
Hanna, "			2 48	10 18	4 40
Wanatah, "	6 38	8 17	3 00	10 30	4 52
Valparaiso, "	7 23	8 50	3 30	10 10	5 34
Wheeler, "			3 37	10 17	5 41
Hobart, "			3 50	10 30	5 54
Lake, "			4 00	10 40	6 04
Liverpool, "			4 10	10 50	6 14
Clarke, "			4 18	10 58	6 22
Chicago, ar.	9 00	10 00	5 55	12 40	7 55
	PM	AM	PM	PM	AM

Eastward.	20	8	4	6	60	38
	AM	PM	AM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago, lv.	7 30	10 00	12 45	4 30	10 30	2 45
Clarke, "	9 35		2 57			5 25
Liverpool, "	9 45		3 10			5 35
Hobart, "	9 51		3 15			5 41
Wheeler, "	9 59		3 23			5 49
Valparaiso, "	9 15	6 37	3 39	6 01		6 05
Wanatah, "	9 35		3 50			PM
Hanna, "	9 48
Davis, "	9 58
Hamlet, "	10 09		4 21
Tamerpeach, "	10 17
Plymouth, "	10 33	8 45	4 36	6 52		6 56
Inwood, "	10 47
Fairfield, "	10 57		4 47	7 03
Lake Greek, "	11 06
Warsaw, "	11 20	9 06	5 03	7 16		7 19
Eagle Lake, "	11 28		5 11	7 24
Pierceton, "	11 45		5 27	7 42
Larwill, "	11 59
Columbia, "	12 15	9 58	5 46	8 12		8 08
Arcola, "	12 31			8 28
Ft Wayne, lv.	1 20	7 35	6 25	8 50		8 50
Van Wert, "	1 10	8 45	5 40	7 00
Lima, "	2 01	9 48	6 32
Bucyrus, "	3 45	11 30	8 15
Crestline, ar.	4 30	12 15	9 00
Mansfield, lv.	5 40	12 20	9 01	11
Wooster, "	6 05	1 20	9 55
Massillon, "	6 39	2 05	10 30
Union, "	6 53	2 20	10 44
Alliance, ar.	7 00	2 35	10 50
Pittsb'g, ar.	8 50	4 15	12 40
	PM	AM	PM	PM

Through cars between Pittsburg and Chicago on No. 10. Pullman Vestibule Dining and Sleeping Cars between Pittsburg and Chicago on Nos. 2, 4, 8 and 9. Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 10. Pullman Vestibule Dining and Sleeping Cars between Pittsburg and Chicago on Nos. 2, 4, 8 and 9. Pullman Sleeping Cars between Pittsburg and Chicago on No. 10. Pullman Vestibule Dining and Sleeping Cars between Pittsburg and Chicago on Nos. 2, 4, 8 and 9.

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.

GEO. K. PITTENGER, PENN'A.

For Time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the routes of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANES, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria
AND
Indianapolis & Mich. City
Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 82, Passenger, Leaves	6:17pm
No. 86, " "	66 7:07pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 85, Passenger, Leaves	10:01am
No. 87, " "	66 6:49pm
No. 105, Local, "	66 7:10pm

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, northwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Fostoria, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tiffin with trains on main line and L. & M. C. Div. for all points south, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on O. R. HUGHES, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. Ry., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY, Gen Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 53, Ex. Sun	10:10pm For St. Joseph.
No. 55, "	7:34am "
No. 54, ex. Sun.	10:05pm for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 54, Ex. Sun	8:35am For Terre Haute.
No. 52, "	12:50pm " "
No 57 ex. Sunday	7:31pm " Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. GWYN, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD, Gen'l. Pass. Agt. St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm	Local Ft
St. Yland				7:00am
Elkhart	10:45pm	9:37am		8:25am
Hobart	10:53pm	9:44am		10:10am
Valpar'so	11:19pm	10:07am		11:00am
S. Bend		10:25am		11:35am
Knox	12:16am	11:00am	6:01pm	2:36pm
Argos	12:33am	11:18m		2:54pm
Ft. Wayne	3:05am	2:01pm	6:26pm	4:30pm
Cleveland	10:25am	9:00pm	11:10pm
Buffalo	4:55pm		5:30am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	10:20pm		5:25am	Local Ft
Cleveland	7:15pm	6:00am	10:25am
Ft Wayne	2:04am	1:15pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Argos	4:10am	3:20pm		9:36pm
Knox	4:30am	4:00pm	6:25pm	10:10am
S. Bend		4:45pm		11:42pm
Valpar'so	5:40am	5:53pm		12:40pm
Hobart	6:05am	6:17pm		1:20pm
Hammond	6:24am	6:49pm		1:46pm
St. Yland				4:40pm
Chicago	7. 0am	7:05pm	9:00 m

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:05 a.m., Cleveland at 6:00 a.m., (Local) Fosters do not run Sunday. Other trains readily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
B. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.

TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. H. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. H. UNDERWOOD.
WM. RAILSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50
Six Months - - .75
Three Months - .50

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 11, 1896. NO. 10.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION addresses itself to "all restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the Kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of Kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also a clear belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins as pre-requisitions to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

[Published by Request.]

HYMN.

They say there is a world to come
More fair and bright than this,
Where storm and night are never known
Where all have perfect bliss.
That hill and plain to either shore
Are spread with changeless green,
And never mid its lovely bower
A fading flower is seen

They say that world is beautiful
To fair for mortal eyes,
That one eternal glorious day
Is on its soft blue skies
And they are like the angels made
Who gain that peaceful shore,
They never sigh or weep again
And they can die no more.

And through the long bright summer years
Gay birds of starry wing
Are flitting through the balmy air,
And always sweetly sing.
And living streams as crystal clear,
In tuneful murmurs flow,
And trees whose leaves the nation heal;
Beside those waters grow.

And all the goodly things it bears
They say for all are free,
That every ear its beauties rear;
There none in lonely exile pine,
Or stranger weary roam;
One family they gather there
Within one happy home.

A glorious city, too, is there
It hath not ever's pale light.
Nor yet the suns bright golden ray;
Gleames o'er its shading light.
But one is there whose smile is bright;
And glory decks his brow
And willing nations gather round
In loves sweet homage bow.

But, Oh, they say that none can dwell
In that bright world to come,
But they the pure and lowly ones
Who here as pilgrims roam,
That only those who now endure
In meekness, grief, and shame,
Shall enter through the gates of pearl
The new Jerusalem.

Original.

Does Scripture Forbid Public Labor of Woman?

The Scripture teaches that, whatever is required of one individual to gain eternal life is required of every individual, that in Christ Jesus, Jew and Gentile, bond and free, male and female meet upon a common level, the Jew having no pre-eminence over the Gentile or the man over the woman. Gal. iii. 26, says, "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: For ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise." I understand this Scripture teaches that in Christ Jesus sex and nationality, are not recognized. But that "all start on equal grounds for the prize at the end of the race." Rev. v. 9, says of those that received the reward that they were "redeemed to God by the blood of Jesus out of every kindred and tongue and people and nation, and were made kings and priests unto God and should reign on the earth." The Apostle Paul said that to gain this reward he pressed forward. This I understand must be the disposition of every individual that has taken upon themselves the name of Jesus. They must labor if they obtain the reward, as the reward is only given to those who by an active obedient consecrated Christian life earn it.

The same commands must be obeyed, the same Christian duties performed by each individual whether Jew or Gentile, man or woman. Our Savior says, Ye are My servants if you do whatsoever I command you, and the command given to every servant is "Go work in my vineyard." We are also told by divine authority that the world is the vineyard, and that the work to be done in the vineyard is to teach the things concerning the kingdom, and the name of Jesus Christ. If this command is obeyed we are his servants, if it is not obeyed we are not His servants. Some would have it that this language was only addressed to the man, but the Savior has made no distinction, and we have no right to assume the authority. "Ye are My servants if ye do whatsoever I command you." Hence every individual that is obedient to the commands of the Savior are his servants. To every servant are given talents which they must use in his service or receive the reward of the unprofitable servant.

Our Savior has no more use for a slothful servant than you or I would have. Then to be his servants we must be employed in his vineyard and work for his interest. We have numbers of figures given in the Scriptures to impress the importance of activity in the service of the Master. John xv. 1, 6, says, I "(Jesus) am the vine and ye are the branches.... Every branch in me that beareth not fruit is taken away....and men gather them and cast them in the fire and they are burned." And again in Matt. iii. 10, "Every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down." In Heb. iv. 9, we are told that there "remaineth a rest for the people of God, and to labor that we may enter into that rest." Yet, notwithstanding all this, there are those that contend that activity or labor is not enjoined upon woman, and that it would be a great wrong for women to labor publicly in the vineyard of the Master.

It seems that from the Scriptures that woman has always taken an active part in the service of God both public and private, and that God has ever recognized her works as well as man's. Turn to Mic. vi. 4, and see what the Lord says concerning one Miriam, a Prophetess. "I brought thee out of the land of Egypt and redeemed thee out of the house of servants. And I sent before thee, Moses, Aaron and Miriam." Do you not think Miriam occupied rather a public position when she with her two brothers led the Israelites out of Egypt, and more than that God says he sent her. Then we have the account given of Deborah, another prophetess, who judged and delivered Israel. Do you not think that she too filled quite a public position? The account given says that when she called Barak the commander-in-chief of Israel's army and told him to go and draw toward Mt. Tabor and take with him ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali and of the children of Zebulum, and that she would deliver into his hand the captain of Jabin's army with his chariots and his multitude. Barak says to her, if thou wilt go with me then I will go; but if thou wilt not go with me then I will not go. Here it seems that Barak has acknowledged her superior knowledge, and had not the courage himself to undertake this battle unless she goes with him which she did. Read the song of victory which Deborah and Barak sang after the Israelites were delivered. There has never seemed to be any doubt as to her right to sing this song of victory. In 2 Kings xxii. 14, we here learn of another prophetess Hulda, who dwelt at Jerusalem in the college. When a copy of the law had been found and the King Josiah was greatly concerned, because their teachers had not hearkened unto the words of the Book, and feared lest the wrath of God was greatly kindled against them, he said to the high priest Hilkiah, go and inquire of the Lord, where did they go? 2 Kings xxii. 15, says, they went unto Huldah the prophetess. Here again we find that God made known unto the king what would befall that place and the inhabitants of it through a woman. I have only referred to a few instances given in the Old Testament Scriptures of a woman who Paul sets forth as examples. (Holy woman) and does it look as if these woman's only sphere was to fill the domestic vale? Certainly not, for we have found them publicly and privately working side by side with those of the opposite sex in the same work, God honoring and blessing their efforts, and revealing unto them his will. Passing on to the New Testament Scriptures, we find as many as five women, teaching the things concerning the kingdom and the name of Jesus. And we also find the Apostle Paul commending them to the church. Phil. iv. 3 says, I intreat thee also true yoke-fellow help those women which labor with me in the gospel and also with Clement. Rom. xvi. 12, says, salute Tryphena and Tryphosa who labor in the Lord. Salute the beloved Persis which labored much in the Lord. And again, Paul says, greet Priscilla and Aquilla my helpers in Christ Jesus. First verse he commends unto the church, Phebe, who he says is a servant of the church at Cenchrea, (or Deaconess of the church), then besides these woman who Paul especially mentions as laboring in the Lord. We read in Acts xxi. 8, 9, of the four daughters of Philip the evangelist, who were prophetesses. And in Luke ii. 36 of one Anna a prophetess, who served God day and night in the temple, and who coming in when "the child Jesus was brought into the temple to do for him according to the law," gave thanks unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem. No one seemed to question her right in thusly addressing those in the temple. We might refer to others but this ought to be sufficient to show that woman did teach in public, that it was there privilege, and a privilege which was not questioned. Paul's definition to prophecy is this, He that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification and exhortation and comfort. It is evident that Christian women possessed these gifts, in fact it cannot be denied. Then if one that propesieth speaketh unto men to edification, exhortation and comfort, there is or was some publicity to her work and as far as Paul forbiding them to use their talents he labored with them and gave instructions in regard to their personal appearance admonishing them to dress in modest apparal which becometh woman professing godliness with good works. The only Scripture that is ever introduced as an argument against woman speaking in public is 1 Cor. xiv. 29; 1 Tim. ii. 11, 12. But does this Scripture forbid the public labor of women, does Paul say that women shall not expound the Scriptures or confess her faith in the promises of God before the world.

Let us see if he does! Dr. Adam Clark says, it was permitted any man to ask questions, to object, altricate, attempt to refute a speaker in the synagogue. But this liberty was not allowed any woman. In 1 Cor. xiv. we find Paul calling the church in question for the manner in which they were conducting their meetings. Telling them that God was not the Author of Confusion, and that the service of God should be conducted decently and in order, then he tells them how they can avoid this tumult. That when they all come together for worship, that they should speak one at a time. But that when they came together to hear the prophets the assembly were required to judge (or listen). He limits the number of speakers to three. "Let three of the prophets speak," if any thing be revealed to one that sitteth by (I understand this means one of the prophets who has been given liberty to speak) the first must hold his peace. Why? because "God is not the author of confusion." Then Paul says, let the woman learn in silence for it is not permitted unto them to speak. It seems perfectly plain that in this assembly were women unlearned in the Scriptures, who had come there for the purpose of learning. They doubtless had been asking questions of the prophets, or there would have been no sense in Paul telling them to learn in silence, and that it was a shame for women to speak in the church. While Paul forbids woman asking questions of the prophets in their assemblies of worship which if it were allowed would be bound to bring about confusion. He has not forbid women laboring in the vineyard of the Lord. In the other passage in Timothy, Paul says in addition to what he said in 1 Cor. xiv. that, I suffer not a woman to teach or usurp authority over the man. This doubtless has reference to the family relations of the husband and wife, that the woman must not assume to take the place of the husband, but should recognize him as the head of the family, that Paul does not mean that woman must refrain from teaching her husband the way of life if he has not obeyed the word, and she has. We have only to read the charge Paul has given to wives who have unbelieving husbands. Ye wives be in subjection to your own husbands, that if any obey not the word that they may without the word be won by the conversation of their wives. If they were won by the conversation of their wives, their wives certainly taught them something to win them. There are other Scriptures which might be brought forward to prove that Paul has given women the freedom to pray, prophecy in fact, work wherever she was fitted to work in the Master's vineyard. But this ought to be sufficient. The time is short in which to work. Soon the Lord of the vineyard will return and call for his servants. Then each will be rewarded according to their work.

LYDIA CHAPLIN.

Selected.

Tidings From Abroad.

In a former letter we endeavored to prove from the evidence of current events in the political world, that the downfall of Mohammedanism as a ruling power is at hand. But inasmuch as Islam is a political-religious system, any inquiry which is confined to its political aspect would be incomplete. We therefore proceeded to investigate the religious condition of the Mussulman world at the present time, and we were met at the outset by the very significant fact that hundreds of thousands of the Shiah Moslems of Persia have already deserted from the ranks of Mohammed, and, in the teeth of violent persecution, have adopted the creed of a new prophet, styling himself the Bab (i. e, gate), who appeared in the year 1844, and whose doctrines were distinctly favorable to Christianity.

So far, therefore, as Persia is concerned, there are good grounds for expecting a great and general falling away from the faith of Islam so soon as religious liberty is proclaimed throughout the land.

Turning from Persia to India, where our queen rules over fifty millions of Mohammedans—chiefly of the Sunni sect—we quoted from a paper by the famous Moulvie, the Rev. Imad-ud-din of the Punjab, which was read at the Chicago Exhibition, in which he boldly states that the champions of Islam in India are now "so utterly crushed and annihilated that they will not recover themselves till the day of judgment."

Let us now inquire if there are any circumstances to justify such a statement.

In the year 1893, a public controversy took place at Jandiala in the Punjab between a Mohammedan Mirza named Ghulam Ahmed on the one hand, and an aged convert from Islam, named Abdullah Athim, on the other. The controversy lasted fifteen days. Discomfited at every point the enraged Mirza solemnly predicted that within fifteen months (counting one month for each day of the discussion) his venerable Christian opponent would be "plunged into the deepest hell."

Not content with uttering this prediction, the Mirza invoked fearful curses upon himself, should his prediction fail!

Writing of this remarkable incident, Dr. Martyn Clark of the C. M. S. Mission in the Punjab observed: "Those who live in our enlightened home-land, can have no conception of the immense force and effect of this solemn and categorical declaration amongst the masses in this dark, superstitious and ignorant country. It sent a thrill through the whole heart of Islam in India. It is impossible to express the hold it has taken on the public mind. It is a plain clear issue; it is no longer a war of words or a drawing of distinctions. A sign from heaven is to be vouchsafed. Yes, God Himself shall decide in this controversy. It has been the theme of converse, of close attention during the past year. From Madras to Peshawar, through the length and breath of broad India, thousands upon thousands of men have been watching with thoughts intent upon the far northern city where Islam had thrown the wager of battle and where God Himself would decide.

"As I write, the days are swiftly speeding by and the crisis is now intense beyond words. A bare month is all that remains and the heavens are still as brass. The anxious thought of Mohammedan hearts is, 'Will the sign come?' 'Will Islam be vindicated?' In the Mirza's mosque, prayer is offered all day and far in the night with crying and tears:

O, GOD, SAVE ISLAM.'

'It in the hour of darkness; let not Thy faith be put to shame. Let the sign be given!'

"When once the fated 5th of September is safely passed, as please God it will be, we shall see marvelous things. Men will in hundreds upon hundreds break away from Islam. I do not say they will all, or at once, become Christians, but the grip of Islam upon them will be loosened forever. We are having good times, but better are coming. There is the sound of a mighty rain upon the dry clouds of Islam."

The fated day arrived and, needless to say, Abdullah Athim, the champion of Christianity, survived it and it is still well and flourishing in spite of his advanced age. The effect of this failure of the Mirza's prediction upon the superstitious Mohammedan mind may be better imagined than described.

But a still more terrible blow has been struck at Islam by the translation of the Koran into Urdu, which is the vernacular of the Moslems of India. This is the work of Dr. Imad-ud-din.

Dr. Martyn Clark writes of him: "This staunch veteran has struck many a good blow in the fight, but never such a one as this, under which Islam will reel for many a day. Its safety hitherto has been that its 'holy' Book was shrouded in unapproachable Arabic, or in cumbrous ambiguous translations. This literal and faithful translation has produced due consternation. There is panic in the enemy's camp. This letting in of a flood of light by letting the Koran tell its own story in the mother tongue of the people is a disaster which cannot be gauged. Fury mingles with the terror of the Mohammedans. Moulvie Imad-ud-din's life has been several times threatened, but this stout old warrior merely says: 'Let them kill me as soon as they will. I have done my work and no one can undo it. I have done that which will kill Islam."

While passing through the press the translation has already been owned of God, two Moslems employed in the work, having been led thereby to abandon Islam. "The Word of God!" they remarked with scorn, "Why it is not even the word of a decent man!"

Wonderful blessing has followed these remarkable events which, in the opinion of Dr. Clark, mark an epoch in the history of Mohammedan missions in India. Several Moslems have been baptized, and numerous inquirers are seeking their way to Christ.

Besides the movements among the Moslems of Northern India, there are also indications among those in Madras of a tendency to forsake the creed of Islam, but we cannot enlarge upon this now.

We would fain linger over this intensely interesting subject, but want of space forbids our doing so. Before, however, bringing this letter to a close, a passing reference must be made to the opinion which is sometimes expressed that the ground which Islam is loosing in Europe and Asia, is being gained in Africa. On this point it will be sufficient to point to Uganda, where only a few years ago Arab influence was in the ascendant. Where is it to day?

Speaking before the C. M. S. Committee in 1890, Mr. Stanley, who has probably more right to be heard on this question than most men, is reported to have said:

"I should say that Mohammedanism is decreasing very fast. I do not think there is any possibility of Mohammedanism ever raising its head again in East Central Africa, and as for the west of Africa—well, I know enough of what is transpiring there, only I cannot tell it in public. But I can tell you this. I will guarantee there will not be a Mohammedan south of the Equator in the whole of Central Africa within five years from now.' Referring to the proposed railway to Uganda, he said: "The pressure of civilization there will drive them (the Arabs) until they meet the pressure of civilization from the North, and together I hope they will surrender."

Wherever then we cast our eyes, whether on the political or religious condition of Islam, we see the same remarkable signs of disintegration and decay, and the conclusion forces itself upon us that we are on the eve of the final breaking up of a system which for nearly thirteen centuries has been a curse to the world, and especially to the people occupying the Bible lands of the East.

Both history and current events —the witness of the past and the witness of the present—agree in their testimony. We have yet to consult the "more sure word of prophecy," which is the witness of the future. If that also bears its infallible testimony to the same effect, then we shall know that the downfall of Mohammedanism is at hand, and the last barrier to the restoration of the Jews in unbelief is about to be removed.

Surely these are solemn reflections for the children of God, warning them to be ready and to have their "loins girt and their lamps burning, and to be like men who wait for their Lord."—Arthur S. Day, in Jewish Christian.

Question of all Questions.

Webster gives the Greek roots from which Hades comes, which means not seen. We will quote Job, "If I wait, Sheol is mine house; I have made my bed in the darkness. I have said to corruption, thou art my father, to the worm, thou art my mother." In craving to go down to death, he said of the place, "Where the wicked cease from troubling and there the weary be at rest." In the whole Bible we do not find one prayer to God for a home in heaven, nor one promise that "believers at their death, are made perfectly holy and their spirits do immediately pass into glory and their bodies rest in the grave till the resurrection." This assertion of my church catechism is one of the disturbing elements in the revision of our standards. Many of our most learned men holding it as a tradition of the fathers and not the Word of God. Roswell D. Hitchcock, D. D., L. L. D. has brought together in his analysis into one chapter all that he could find of Eschatology and I find not one proof of the above assertion of our catechism. Neither can I find it in the Bible after many careful readings of the entire book. What then shall we answer to those who ask where are my dead? Dear friends, "Secret things belong unto God, but that which is revealed belongs unto us and our children for the ages." I can only give the Scriptural language which is all that we have any right to do. Jacob said, "I am to be gathered unto my people; bury me with my fathers * * * and he yielded up the ghost and was gathered unto his people." "And David slept with his fathers." This is a Scriptural language and applied to all the ancients, whether saints or sinners. This is also the language of the New Testament for both those that sleep in Jesus and the wicked. I think this calling death sleep, is a pledge of the resurrection and whether they wake or sleep all nations are the Lord's.

For, "He is the Savior of all men, especially of them that believe." This special salvation of believers, is that they will put on immortality immediately when raised up. They will be sons of God and be like Christ and be partakers of the divine nature. The wicked will be saved out of death with now, but not immortal bodies, for they are still under condemnation and liable to the second death. In common version we have John v. 29, rendered, "They that have done evil shall come forth unto the resurrection of damnation." But the revised version and the Emphatic Diaglot render it resurrection of judgment. We believe the judgment will be a thousand years. The prophecies concerning it are full of rejoicing that "The Lord is our Judge; the Lord is our lawgiver." Everybody and everything are called upon to rejoice before the Lord, because he cometh to judge the earth with his truth. This judgement is a righteous rule and discipline and punishment till all are subdued unto the King. And all who will not submit will find their names are not written in the book of life, and will suffer the second death. God will have no mercy on the kingdom of Satan as it now bears rule, but will cut it off the earth, root and branch. But Christ has the key to Hades and the prison house of death and it is written, "The Lord looseth the prisoners." Many of the most devoted Christian leaders of thought, in all our churches, are beginning to read the signs of our times and realize Jesus words, "Without me ye can do nothing."

In this age only the seed which is to bless all the nations of the earth is being chosen, elected from among all nations. God's arm is not straightened by our finite ideas, that it cannot save all the nations of the earth which are promised unto him for a possession though he must first dash them to pieces as a potter's vessel. The antediluvian world was dashed to pieces and Israel and Egypt and Assyria and Medo-Persia, Babylon, Greece and Rome have all followed. They are all laid in Sheol but Jesus holds the key and he came to preach release to prisoners and he will come again to open the doors of them that are bound, and "He shall possess all the gates of his enemys." Is not this interpretation more in accordance with God's character, than is that which the church inherited from Rome? Does not the tender heart of Christ in you plead that the wicked may be saved even so as by fire? Search the prophets for this restoration of all things, for truly you will find them a light in the darkness of men's creeds. The search should not be made without earnest prayer for the guidance of the Holy Spirit, which alone is able to guide us into all truth.—Mrs. M. G. Atcheson.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association
M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MAR. 11, 1896.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

"THE ecclesia, in the present state is but the workshop in which the stones are being shaped and polished for the great building of God to be hereafter erected." •

"THERE are some in whom you find no taste of the salt as you eat them; some just barely taste of it; others are nicely seasoned. It is a great treat to get hold of such." •

BROTHER Hatch reports that while in De Soto, Mo., being called there to preach the funeral of Sister Morse, that he remained afterwards and preached several discourses and immersed seven.

"CHRIST'S List of second-death inheritors are, the fearful and the unbelieving; the abominable and murderers; whoremongers and sorcerers; idolators and all liars." Rev. xxi. •

"My times are in thy hand." Ps. xxxi. 15.

"Father, I know that all my life
Is portioned out for me;
And changes that are sure to come
I do not fear to see;
But I ask thee for a present mind
Intent on pleasing thee." •

"THERE is just one thing we are permitted to seek with all our hearts at present, and that is, the kingdom of God. Of the other things Christ says, take no thought for them. Your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of them." •

"SOME choose to save their lives and their comforts and their reputation now, at the expense of what the truth claims at their hands. Of such it is not true that the world knoweth them not. The world knoweth them and honoreth and delighteth in them." •

"CHRIST'S Blessed men are the poor in spirit; they that mourn; the meek; they which hunger and thirst after righteousness; the merciful; the pure in heart; the peace-makers; the persecuted for righteousness sake; the falsely reviled ones." Matt. v. •

"THE love that springs from companionship in pleasure flies before adversity; the love that comes from business connections or social interests is destroyed by a single breath of misfortune; the love of the sexes declines with age, and does not flourish under adverse conditions." •

The widow of Alexander Campbell, founder of the Christian or Campbellite faith, is living, at the age of 94, in Bethany, W. Va. Several of her children have established themselves well in life, but the one who is perhaps best known in the Nation is Mrs. W. R. Thompson, who was long postmistress of Louisville, and is now a resident of Washington.

Assistance for Searchers.

I. What is a Soul?

1 Numb. xxxi. 28. "Levy a tribute unto the Lord, of the men of war, which went out to battle, one Soul of five hundred, both of the persons, and of the beeves, and of the asses, and of the sheep.

2. Lev. v. 2, 4. "If a Soul touch any unclean thing, whether it b a carcase of an unclean beast, or a carcase of an unclean cattle, or the carcase of unclean creeping things, and if it be hidden from him, he also shall be unclean and guilty, or if a soul swear, pronouncing with his lips to do evil, or to do good, whatsoever it be that a man shall pronounce with an oath, and it be hid from him, when he knoweth of it, then he shall be guilty in one of these."

3. Prov. xix. 15, "Selfishness casteth into a deep sleep, and an idle soul shall suffer hunger."

4. Prov. vi. 20. "Men do not despise a thief if he steal to satisfy his soul when he is hungry."

5. Ps. xxx. 3. "O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave. Thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit."

6. Jer. ii. 34. "In thy skirts is found the blood of the souls of the poor innocents. I have not found it by secret search, but upon all these."

7. Lam. i. 11–19 "All her people sigh, they seek bread; they have given their pleasant things for meat to relieve the soul. I called for my lovers, but they deceived me. My priests and my elders gave up the ghost in the city, while they sought their meat to relieve their souls."

8. Job. xxxiii. 22, 28. "His soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers, he will deliver his soul from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light."

From this testimony it will be seen that both persons, beeves, asses and sheep are souls—that souls have blood in them, that souls can touch something, that souls can be idle, that souls can suffer hunger, that souls can be satisfied with meat, that souls can speak with their lips, that souls can swear, that souls can go into the grave, and that souls can come out of the grave. Is not this sufficient to show that the bodily organism of a person, an ox, ass or sheep is the soul of that person, ox, ass, or sheep! According to the Scriptures, therefore, a soul is a natural body!" •

(To be Continued.)

The Gospel of the Kingdom,—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 11.

The subject of the gospel of the kingdom of God is of the greatest possible importance. It stands in the very fore-front of New Testament teaching, and how it is possible to be a Christian in the New Testament sense without believing it, we cannot conceive;—and how any one can believe it without understanding its first principles, we are at still further loss to know. It will not be questioned that both the Old and the New Testament certainly foretells the setting up by him in the latter days of a kingdom that shall consume human governments and occupy all the territory of earth, it is a most lawful conclusion that the particulars given are intended to guide us in IDENTIFYING THAT KINGDOM.

For instance, in our last number we quoted Jer. xxiii. 5, 8, where Jehovah promises, 1st to "Raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign, and prosper, and execute judgment and justice in the earth," and we ask, what do the facts of history say to this? Why, that God did raise unto David a righteous Branch sure enough. And this righteous Branch confessed that he was born to be a King; but he came to his own land and people, but they received him not;—that is, those in authority did not, but the common people seemed at one time ready to crown him on the spot; the rulers carried their point however, and cruelly put him to death. But did they subvert to give him the throne of his father David? Why no; between the birth of the Son given, and the government being placed on his shoulders, Is. ix. 6, other transactions of tremendous importance were to transpire. The same Isaiah tells us in his 53rd chapter of his being led as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth. This must of necessity be before he could be a reigning and prosperous King. And we ask, was he to commence his reign immediately after his revivification and ascension? What does the heir-apparent himself say concerning this? Let us see. In discoursing at the house of Zacheus, he spake a parable to correct the idea entertained by his auditors, that the kingdom of God should immediately appear. This was, in all probability, to prevent a crisis. They were near to Jerusalem, the city of David, the city of the Great King; and having recognized him as the heir, see Luke xix. 38, they might want to make him King without delay. To correct the notion that the kingdom of God was then due, he said, "A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return. He does not reign in the far off country;—

JEHOVAH'S ORIGINAL PURPOSE

HE RETURNS TO REIGN;

but while absent his countrymen declare they wont have him to reign over them; but in spite of this, he returns to reign, having received the kingdom; and then, after his return, he rewards his servants and slays his enemies. The question is, has the nobleman returned? Has he rewarded his servants? Over what cities are they reigning if they are rewarded? Would this parable correct the prevalent idea if the kingdom were to be set up at Pentecost? Were his enemies brought before him and slain at Pentecost? Besides all this, the oft quoted 110th Psalm proves that he is seated at Jehovah's right hand until his enemies are made his footstool, and that in the his people shall be willing to accept him as their King,—and assuredly points us to the time predicted by Jeremiah when the Branch shall reign and prosper and execute judgment and justice in the earth; and when Judah shall be saved and Israel shall dwell safely, having been brought out of the north country, and from all the countries whither they have been driven, and dwell in their own land, Jer. xxiii. 6, 8, and when David is their prince for ever. Ezek. xxxvii. 25.

DAY OF HIS POWER,

Clearly and unmistakably have we shown that the kingdom promised in the Old Testament is the restored kingdom of Israel under a new constitution and an everlasting, glorious and all-powerful King,—Jesus. And, as the spirit in Daniel vii. positively says that the saints shall take the kingdom which all people, nations and languages shall serve,—we know precisely what Paul refers to when he says, 2 Tim. ii. 12, "If we suffer, we shall also and we know of a certainty what kingdom Jesus referred to when he said, Matt. vi. 33, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his (God's) righteousness." There is but one kingdom of God spoken of in all the Book.

REIGN WITH HIM;"

We will once more suppose for a moment, that the Oracle people have the truth, and that long promised kingdom was set up at the first Pentecost after the resurrection of Jesus. We want to place that claim beside a prophecy of Jesus. Remember the claim, that the kingdom of God was set up at Pentecost, and thou study closely Luke xxi. 20–31. "And when ye shall see Jerusalem compassed with armies, then know that the desolation thereof is nigh." All know that somewhere near 40 years after the Pentecost when the kingdom of God was said to have been set up. Read verse 21, 22, 23, then follows the statement that the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall fall by the edge of the sword; others shall be led away captive into all nations, and Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled." Jerusalem has been desolated, the Jews fell by the edge of the sword, others were led away captive into all nations and Jerusalem has been trodden down by Gentiles; and there are signs that Gentile times are almost fulfilled,

JERUSALEM WAS DESOLATED

A CRISIS IN THE AFFAIRS of this world takes place, the nature of which we shall presently see. Verses 25, 26, and 27, give us signs by which the near approach of that crisis may be known. There are to be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars, and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth; for the powers of the heavens shall be shaken. These signs point to what we call the crisis, or what results in a crisis in the affairs of this world. It says: "And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory; and when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; Why? For your redemption draweth nigh." What redemption will be drawing nigh when these signs appear—this distress of nations, this heart-failing time through apprehension that some dire calamity is impending?

WHAT REDEMPTION?

Why it is the redemption which is in Christ Jesus? Rom. iii. 24. What redemption is that? It is the redemption of our body, Rom. viii. 23. It is the redemption of themselves—the purchased possession, Eph. i. 14. Redemption from the grave, Psa. xlix. 15. The redemption Job was confident of, that would enable him to see his Redeemer standing upon the earth, after being devoured by worms, Job. lxix. 25. Is it not enough to make us lift our heads to see evidence that this redemption draweth nigh? To be assured that we shall soon see Jesus and be made like him, our vile bodies being fashioned like unto his glorious body? But not content to leave the matter there, speaks a parable to further illustrate and enforce the lesson. "Behold the fig-tree, and all the trees; when they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your ownselves that summer is now nigh at hand; so, likewise, ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that THE KINGDOM OF GOD IS AT HAND. Let us be reasonable, and we shall have no trouble to decide where the truth lies. After describing the tumultuous time to precede the destruction of Jerusalem, and the severe trials his disciples would be subjected to, and warning them to flee when they saw Jerusalem surrounded with armies, and speaking of the sword's destructive work and the captivity among all nations of those who escaped with their lives, and the down-treading of Jerusalem by the Gentiles for a set time; then follow signs which say that

THE BLESSED LORD,

REDEMPTION IS NIGH, which should cause the faithful to lift their heads and rejoice,—and the Son of Man shall be seen coming with power and great glory? And what does all this mean? What is he coming in power and glory for? What takes place in connection with this powerful and glorious coming? We find an infallible answer to this important question in 2 Tim. iv. 1, "I charge thee," says Paul;—"I charge thee, therefore, before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead [when?] at his appearing and his kingdom." Here the judgment of quick and dead and his appearing and kingdom are positively connected. The word for word rendering is as follows: "And, the appearing of himself, and the kingdom of himself." The kingdom appears when he appears. This is in precise harmony with the Lord's words in Luke xxi. The signs of his coming are signs that is nigh at hand. In beautiful harmony, too, with Matt. xxv. 31,—"When the Son of Man shall come in his glory, [not when he goes away] and all the holy angels with him THEN shall he sit upon the thrones of his glory"...."Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

THE KINGDOM OF GOD

Let the Oracle people struggle with the facts in the 21st of Luke awhile and we think they will be pretty sick of the task of trying to show how the kingdom of God could have been set up 40 years before the destruction of Jerusalem,—and yet, after its down-treading all Gentile times, signs appear which tell us that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand. The signs thus hung out by God teach us that his kingdom is nigh at hand. Let us thank God, dear readers, for the shooting trees which tell us that redemption is nigh—the kingdom is at hand. •

(To be Continued.)

"Do not dare to live without some clear intention toward which your living shall be bent. Mean to be something with all your might. Do not dare to think that a child of God can worthily work out his career, or worthily serve God's other children, unless he does both in the love and fear of God the Father."

The solid Through trains of the Nickel Plate Road equipped with all modern appliances for safety, speed, and comfort are a prominent feature of that Popular Line. Their Fast Eastern Express leaving Chicago at 1:30 P. M. daily, runs through solid to New York City, arriving at that point at 6:30 P. M. the next evening. Experience is the best teacher. After you experience a trip on this train, we are confident of your future patronage.—Apr. 1.

OBITUARY.

Died at her home in DeSoto, Mo., on Friday morning Feb. 14, 1896. Mrs. Hattie C. Morse, wife of J. H. Morse, in the forty-second year of her life. Sr. Morse was a daughter of John Tuttle Sr. and was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. Twenty-three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Morse were married and have lived happily together. Five children were the result of the union, three of which still survive her. Funeral by the writer. On Saturday morning Feb. 15, I received a dispatch to go to DeSoto, and left immediately; reaching that place Sunday at 10 a. m. Funeral at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Bro. Morse, after which we laid her away in the cemetery to rest and await the return of the Life-Giver when we expect to meet her clad in immortality, never to suffer again.

J. S. HATCH.

Died near Scircleville, Ind., Nellie, the little daughter of Brother and Sister Wm. Plummer, Jr. She was three and a half years old and so sweet and bright, and such a pet that it seemed to almost break the hearts of the family to give her up. Only fifteen months ago the enemy death entered the same home and took a little girl just older than Nellie who was then very low with scarlet fever, but they nursed her through after several days, only to have to give her up after all. She died with brain fever after terrible suffering. Our heart-felt prayers and sympathy go out to the bereaved mother who feels that the sorrows that are laid upon her are almost more than she can bear. Father spoke words of comfort to the bereaved ones.

Your Sister,
AZORAH M. HATCH SCRIGGS.

Died Feb. 10, 1896, Bro. Addison Willey, aged 22 years, 11 months, and 7 days, at his home near Almyra, Ark County, Ark. Brother Addison was a young man loved by all who knew him. He was converted and joined the Advent Christian Church while in his 16th year, and lived a consistent Christian life. Death came swift and unheralded; Truly,

"'Tis the wink of an eye 'tis the draught of breath,
From the blossom of health, to the paleness of death."

The home has been made desolate by the removal of this beloved one, who by a complication of diseases was soon beyond the reach of all earthly skill Only the grace of God can sustain in such hours of darkness, and blessed are those whose privilege it is to experience the power of Christ in comforting his disciples, and of hearing his voice amid the dark waves of sorrow, "It is I, be not afraid." The promise, "Thy children shall come again from the land of the enemy," will we humbly believe comfort the afflicted parents. The writer addressed a large gathering at the M. E. Church near the Cofield Cemetry, where we laid him to rest till Jesus will awake him in that glorious morn.

PHILANDER NOKES.

From the Pilot of Rensselaer Mar. 5, 1896, we quote the following regarding our Bro. Alfred Thompson.

"Alfred Thompson was born in Stark County, Ohio, on October 17th, 1829. He was the third child of David and Eliza (McCoy) Thompson in a family of ten. Of that family four brothers are still living. When Alfred was four years old the family of seven moved into the forest of Hancock Co., Ohio. They endured the hardships of a frontier life and their only school was the family fireside. Later, short winter schools were supported by subscription. When Alfred was fifteen he commenced teaching school in winter. At the age of twenty-one he engaged as a clerk in the bank of his uncle, Thomas McCoy, in New Lisbon, Ohio.

On June 12th, 1855, he was married to Mary E. Travis, at Prairie Bird, Illinois. This marriage was a most happy one. Their spirits were congenial and they were truly help-mates to each other.

They moved at once to Rensselaer, Indiana, where their home has been ever since. They have three living children, Mrs. Florence Sears, Mrs. Ora Ross and Delos Thompson and five grand-children. Home was to Mr. Thompson the only place. He was a wise, just and devoted father and for over forty years there was mutual, filial, conjugal and paternal love in the family.

Mr. Thompson was, during all his life, a busy worker. He tried to live a practical Christian, caring careing for his own household, aiding his worthy neighbors and giving no just cause of offense to any one. Several months since he was stricken with what he believed was a mortal sickness. He bore up under the affliction with patience and fortitude. His mind remained clear and calm to the end. His whole family united to give him every attention and care that could be bestowed. All that human skill and effort could do, was done to prolong his life. The living current ebed slowly away and in the midst of the most friendly care by his whole family at 2 a. m., on March 3rd, 1896, at the age of sixty-six years, four months and fifteen days, he went to sleep in a sure and certain hope of the resurrection.

Mr. Thompson so lived that in the silent halls of death he was sustained and soothed by the knowledge that he had tried to follow the golden rule in fighting the battle of life.

He believed and acted at all times on the gentle principle that the soul that can be honest, nearest approaches perfection in living."

The above notice is quite complete. Another one of the old soldiers of Jesus has fallen, and we look about to ask, "Who will be the next." The funeral services were conducted by Bro. F. L. Austin Thursday afternoon.

Original.

"His Hand is Stretched out Still."

What depth of love and mercy and forgiveness is expressed by the Father toward his sinful and rebellious people in these words of the prophet Isaiah!—"For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still!" Though his anger is not turned away from them because they will not obey his will, yet in the midst of their transgressions his loving hand is still held forth to them, ready to welcome them back.

God's great love for his people Israel, and for the "Gentiles also as fellow-heirs of the same body, and partakers of his promises in Christ by the gospel," is revealed in all the Scriptures, old and new, and finds expression in such beautiful language as can only be found in holy writ.

David could say with confidence in his love, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I still fear no evil, for thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff they comfort me;" he could say, "When my father and mother forsake me the Lord will take me up;" he could say, "Cast thy burden upon the Lord and he will sustain thee;" "He will regard the prayer of the destitute;" "For his mercy endureth forever;" "As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from hence forth, even forever;" "The Lord is gracious and is full of compassion, slow to anger and of great mercy;" "I love the Lord because he hath heard my voice and my supplications."

Though mercy and forgiveness is proffered to all mankind, it requires on our part that we repent of our sins and in deep contrition seek forgiveness in prayer through our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, as advocate with the Father. "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and cleanse us from unrighteousness," are the words of John. "Come now and let us reason together, saith the Lord; Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool."

Surely the Father has revealed his love to man in manifold ways and has been longsuffering and kind; but there is a limit to patience and endurance, and the time will come when his wrath shall consume all rebellious people and nations, and he will destroy them and their works.

Come to him while his hand is yet stretched forth, for the time will come when the offer of salvation will be withdrawn and there will be "no more sacrifice for sins." The end of this Gentile dispensation is near and our Savior may be expected to appear in glory very soon. If you have not yet "Obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine delivered," then delay not a moment longer. If you have obeyed, but in the succeeding days have allowed the cares of this life to "choke out the word," then "draw nigh" unto him again and he will "draw nigh unto thee."

Draw nigh unto thy Creator,
Flee sin, and obey his will;
"His mercy endureth forever;"
"His hand is stretched out still."

Though "Father and mother forsake thee,"
Though friends grow cold and chill,
He is thy "shield" and thy "buckler,"
"His hand is stretched out still."

When sorrows become thy companion,
And anguish thy moments fill,
He then is thy "home of salvation,"
"His hand is stretched out still."

Do afflictions and trials beset thee?
Is life an insurmountable hill?
God is thy "rock" and thy "fortress"
"His hand is stretched out still."

Come now to thy great "Deliverer,"
Come now and obey his will;
He is thy "strength," and "high tower."
"His hand is stretched out still."

EDGAR HATCH.

"Pulpits and Pews."

Under this heading in the Sunday Oregonian of Feb. 23rd the following announcement appeared. "At the First Methodist Episcopal church the pioneer preacher, Dr. H. K. Hines will preach this morning at 10:30 upon the Life and Work of Jason Lee. It will be a privilege to again hear this talented divine, particularly upon a subject so intimately related to Oregon pioneer history." Now this is nothing uncommon in this day and age, as some more taken from the same paper will show, but it would be a strange thing to see a subject selected from the Bible. There are two reasons why this particular item attracted my attention: First, Some twenty-five years ago I joined the Methodist church under the preaching of Mr. Hines, Second the subject chosen. It seems he prefers to preach Jason Lee, instead of Jesus Christ Will give two more subjects taken from the same paper to be preached the same Sunday.

"Profesor Hadley of the Portland University who occupied the pulpit so acceptably last Sunday will preach at 7:30 p. m., Subject, "The next Greatest thing in the World." The next at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, preaching 10:30 and 7:30 by the pastor Rev. G. A. Blair, morning subject, "Patriotic Citizenship," evening subject "The Present Duty." I suppose it is to be patriotic citizens judging from his morning subject.

Surely the time for the blind leaders has arrived and it is no wonder that there is so little known about the gospel that was to be preached, when it is so shamefully neglected by those that should study and teach it, and their followers like them selves have be come blind and are approaching the ditch.

I am very thankful I have been able to understand the teachings of the Bible concerning Christ and his kingdom and I hope to so live that I may be able to enter in when he comes.

H. B. HATHAWAY.

When man makes idols of his mercies God withdraws them.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	65.10
Jane Railsback	3.00

Reduced Rate Tourist Tickets to California points are now on sale by all agents of the Nickel Plate Road. Our trains make excellent connections at Chicago with through trains to the coast.—Apr. 1.

The pathway of duty leads up to the summit of success.

Poetry.

One Step at a Time.

There's a mine of comfort for you and for me
In a homely bit of truth
We were tenderly taught at the mother's knee,
In the happy days of youth.
It is, what if the road be long and steep,
And we too weak to climb;
Or, what though the darkness gather deep.
We take one step at a time.

A single step, and I again a step,
Until, by safe degrees,
The milestone's passed, we win at last
Home when the King shall please.
And the strangest thing is often this,
That the breezy, tangled spots
Which somber or fret should be thickest and sweet
With our Lord's forget-me-nots.

It matters little the pace we take,
If we journey sturdily on,
With the burden-bearer's steady gait,
Till the day's last hour is gone;
Or if, with the dancing feet of the child,
Or the halting step of age,
We keep the goal in the eye of the soul,
Through the years of our pilgrimage.

And yet, in the tramp of appointed days,
This thing must sometimes be.
That we falter and pause, and bewildered gaze;
For the road has led to the sea,
And the foeman's tread is on our track
And once on the looming coast
Where the children of Israel, looking back,
Saw Pharaoh's threatning host.

Then clear from the skies our Leader's voice,
"Go forward!" bids us dare
Whatever we meet with, with fearless feet,
And the might of trustful prayer,
So, ever advancing day by day,
In the Master's strength all time,
Even the lame shall take the prey,
Marching one step at a time.

And What of the hours when hand and foot
We are bound and laid aside;
With the fevered vein and the throbbing pain
And the world at its low ebb tide,
And what of our day of the broken heart,
When all that our eyes can see
In the vacant space where the vanished face
Of our darling used to be.

Then waiting and watching, almost spent,
Comes peace from the Lord's own hand,
In his blessed will, if we rest content,
Though we can not understand;
And we gather anew our courage and hope
For the road so rough to climb,
With trial and peril we well may cope,
One single step at a time.

Margaret E. Sangster.

Original.

Thoughts About the Man Child.

My last article on the above topic has been received with much favor, and elicited some further inquiry. While this article is not specially designed as an answer to those inquires, yet those asking questions may find in a measure, what they wish, by a careful reading, and comparison with God's Word. I care for no man's opinion, unless I find it solidly founded upon that Rock, and I ask no one to receive my conclusions, unless they find them thus founded.

In the unfolding of these prophetic teaching, it seems somewhat necessary to indulge in a repetition of what has been given before, carried out further in detail, by introducing other Scriptures sustaining the same thought.

In coming to correct conclurions we must not cite an historic event as a fulfillment of prophecy, unless that event fits the time as to number of "seal," "vial," "trumpet," etc. To illustrate, we must not quote an historic event, which in point of time, occured under the third "vial," and place it as a fulfillment of a prophecy to be fulfilled under the sixth "vial." When I see that done by prophetic writers and speakers, I at once lose all confidence in their exposition.

Not long since, I heard a lecturer cite Constantine, as the "Man Child" of Rev. xii. I could not accept such a conclusion, because I read in Rev. xi. 15: "And the seventh angel sounded," and among events to occur under that trumpet, I find that "the kingdom of the world is become the kingdom of our Lord," "the nations were wroth," "the time of the dead to be judged," "reward to thy servants," "destroy them that destroy the earth," and the birth of "a man child, who is to rule all nations with a rod of iron." Hence, any exhortation which places the birth" at point of time at varience with Inspiration, is manifest error.

It is all vain to cite this or that as a fulfillment of the "Man Child" of Rev. xii, because the seventh trumpet is yet to sound. Hence, no event named as taking place under the seventh has as yet become an historic fact. The birth of the "Man Child" is one of those events.

The mission (xii. 6,) of the Man Child is to rule all the nation with a rod of iron." Now, under the seventh trumpet the government of the nations will change hands. See Rev. xi. 15: "The kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ: and he shall reign forever."

Here we find the dominion of the world ascribed to "Christ," and is to take place under that trumpet. Now, then, what prospect has the "Man Child" of ruling all nations? We find that Christ has promised to associate with himself, in the government of the nations, a party who has not yet been born, (John iii. 5-8) "born of the Spirit," which birth takes place under the seventh (xi. 15; xii. 5, 6,) trumpet. See also Rev. ii. 26, 27: "He that that overcometh, and keepeth, my works unto the end, to him will I give authority over the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron, as the vessels of a potter are broken to shivers; as I also have received of my Father." He says this authority I "have received of my Father," and he confers this authority to "rule all nations with a rod of iron," Rev. ii. 27, xii. 5,) upon "he that overcometh, and he that keepeth my works unto the end," and none others. He will enter upon this reign under this trumpet, his associate rulers over "all nations" will be born, (xii. 5,) and after birth, will be "caught up unto God, and unto his throne," (xii. 5; 1 Thess. iv. 15-18) and under the sixth visl he sends a special message (xvi. 15.) "Behold, I come as a thief. Blessd is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garment." The thief-like coming (1 Thess. v. 2, 3, 5;) is the time the Man Child is "caught up unto God, and unto his throne," and the gathering together unto the Lord, (2 Thess. iii; Luke xxi. 36; Mark xiii. 27.) This differs from the glorious visible coming in "great glory," and at the sight of that glory the tribes of the earth mourn and wail, but the Man Child will rejoice. A thief never comes in "great glory," but comes unexpected in a quiet manner. Zech xiv. 1-4, shows his coming "with" his "saints." There must have been a previous "gathering to him," or he could not come "with" his "saints."

There will possibly be three and a half years between the "Man Child" being "caught up," and the coming to reign under the seventh trumpet. This we infer from the fact that God takes care of the "woman," which gives birth to the man child in "the wilderness," a thousand two hundred and threescore days," (xii. 16, 14, 15,) and "for a time, and times, and a half a time."

The protection in the wilderness is an event which takes place under the seventh trumpet, and I submit that the common notion of 1260 years cannot be got within the space of a single trumpet (the seventh,) and hence, in this case, at least the year-day theory must be abandoned, because it cannot be made to harmonize with facts, common sense, or a limited space of time like the seventh trumpet. The seventh trumpet has not yet sounded, and if it is insisted that "1260 days," or "a time, times, and a half a time" (xii. 6, 14, 15,) must inevitably occupy 1260 literal years the realization of the "blessed hope," is yet far away. Daniel and Revelation are the two books, "which specifically use the dates, "1260 days," and "time, times and a half," and both of them apply these expressions as measuring a less period than 1260 years. Such being the case, what right has any one to enlarge them. For a case in point, see Dan. iv. 25, 32, 34: "Thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen and seven times shall pass over thee until thou know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men."

Now, if three and a half times measures 1260 literal years, seven times must measure 2520 years, as the time Nebuchadnezzor must "eat grass as oxen," to learn the lesson "that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men." This, you must see could not be, hence "seven times" must measure a less period to make it harmonize with sense and facts.

We see that this "seven times" measures the time of things that should happen to Nebuchadnezzar personally, and the days measured by "seven times," find their completion in Nebuchadnezzar's life-time. It is so stated in Dan. iv. 34: "And at the end of the days, ("seven times") I Nebuchadnezzar lifted up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me; and I blessed the Most High, and I praised and honored him." "At the end of the days," (or seven times) he had learned the lesson, and could then "bless the Most High." To say this period measures the duration of Gentiles powers, is purely guess-work, because the text mentions nothing else but certain things that must happen personally to Nebuchadnezzar during the period of "seven times," and he saw "the end of the days," or the completion of the "seven times."

In Daniel, "times" means "years" and hence, "seven times," must mean seven years. See Dan. xi. 6: "And in the end of years they shall join themselves together," etc., (margin—"at the end of times, even years."

The main point in the lesson of the Man Child, is to overcome, and keep the Lord's works unto the end. It is only those who have the promise of being "caught up" to be with the Lord, when the world will be deluged with a sea of trouble, the soreness of which it has but little conception. To overcome means to obtain the mastery over weakness in us, that is adverse to, Christ's rule of righteousness. If we are defiling ourselves with tobacco, throw it away and don't try and find an excuse for its use. Let those who have a hasty temper, put it beneath their feet, stamp it out, and never let it rise again. If we are allowing the cares of this life to engage our sole attention take the Lord's advice. Seek first the kingdom of God, and let the other things take a secondary place, and so on, let us spend the balance of the time allotted to us, in endeavoring with all our might, to do everything just as our Lord would have us do.

Delays at this period of the world's history, will prove disastrous to our eternal interests.

There is too great an interest in store to be jeopardized by self-indulgence, or lack of interest. Temporal things which we strive so mightily after will so soon slip from our grasp, and if in seeking those we have failed to secure the eternal. Alas! what a pitible condition! Oh let us be warned before it is too late. Oh who can bear the bitter wail, too late! too late!!

W. H. Wilson.

To Brother Dwiggins.

In The Restitution of Feb. 12, Brothers Dwiggins and Brown both kindly undertook to answer my questions in regard to Gog. I will in brief state why said answers are not satisfactory, and will consider Brother Dwiggins' article first.

He thinks that Gog is a title applied to a line of monarchs like the Pharoahs of Egypt, but John uses the term as the name of a nation, the nations that are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog. Gog is the name of a nation Rev. xx., and Pharoah was a kingly title, but the name of the nation ruled was Egypt. If Gog is Russia the title of the rulers is Tzara. Why should we go outside of the prophetic map, chart or mould to find the nations that figure in the wind-up of this age and the introduction of God's kingdom? From Daniel chapter vii. we see that four great powers were to arise in succession. It is with the fourth in its last form that we have to do in the end of this age. Now is Russia the feet and the toes of the great image, or a factor therein?

I doubt if even the Monroe doctrine is elastic enough to include Russia. In Revelations we see that the powers that are to invade the land of Israel and the city of Jerusalem in the end of this age are brought to view. But, if Russia is Gog, and Gog is included in this combination of powers, then Gog would be broken with the rest, and no place found for him even one thousand years later. We do not have to go outside of the fourth kingdom to find the powers that assemble against Jerusalem when the Lord and the saints come to the city. I know it is the fashion to step out, some in one direction and some in another. Some into Russia and some into Turkey. Daniel in speaking of the fourth kingdom says, "I beheld until the beast was slain, his body destroyed and given to the burning flame, but as for the rest of the beasts their dominion was taken away but their lives were prolonged for a time (one thousand years) and a season, a little season." See Rev. xx. 3. Now the rest of the beasts would be the nations outside of the fourth kingdom, this would leave Gog outside and he would be on hand after the one thousand years. When Gog invades the land the children of Israel will be there in safety, all of them. Ezek. xxxviii. When all the nations invade the land or reign, a great portion of the house of Judah will be there and they will not be in safety, for the city will be taken, the houses rifled and the women ravished and Judah will have to be at the siege against Jerusalem. Zech. xii. 2. When these nations assemble Jerusalem is the bone of contention, see verse 3, in other words possession of the city is the design of the invasion. Then the Lord of Hosts will come down to fight for Mount Zion and for the hill thereof. Isa. xxxi. 4.

Brother Dwiggins says, "If Gog was a nation the pronoun, him, could not be used," but it is used, for it is applied five times to a beast. See Rev. xiii. 3, 4, 5, 7, 8. A beast is the symbol of a kingdom and a kingdom is a nation. Daniel vii. says ten horns shall arise out of the nations. Yes, Bro. Dwiggins, Gog is to lead the armies that invade the land of Israel. But when is the question at issue? As to my question the when is the point. Ezekiel says, in the latter days. This is indefinite. John fixes the time after the thousand years, he says, "Whose number is as the sand of the sea." Ezekiel says, "As a cloud to cover the land." John says, "Fire and brimestone." Ezekiel says, "Great hail-stones, fire and brimstone."

Now, as The Restitution properly calls for short articles, I will consider Brother Brown's answer in another article,—as a watcher it makes a difference as to what powers are to figure in the close of this age.

I thank Brother Dwiggins for the courteous manner of his answer.

J. C. Kimsey.

OUR CHILDREN.

Three Lessons.

There are three lessons I would write,
Three words as with a golden pen,
In tracings of eternal light
Upon the hearts of men.

Have hope! Though clouds environ round,
And gladness hides her face in scorn,
Put thou the shadow from the brow,
No night but has its morn.

Have faith! Where'er thy bark is driven,
The calm's disport the tempest's mirth
Know this, God rules the hosts of heaven,
The inhabitants of earth!

Have love! Not love alone for one,
But man as man thy brother call;
And scatter like the circling sun,
Thy charities on all.

Thus grave these words upon thy soul,
Hope, faith and love; and thou shalt find
Strength when life's surges maddest roll,
Light, when thou else wert blind.

Schiller.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea.—No. 47.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI.—SET TIMES.

Fifty days after the Passover, the harvest of Palestine will be nearly over. It will be the Mount Siwan, we call it June. God tells Moses that every one who can must go to this feast of First Fruits. The people will sleep out of doors the night before they start. They will be afraid of being made unclean if they stay in their houses. In the morning they will load their camels and asses, and set off on their journey. They will take plenty of food and tents, and beautiful baskets of willow, and gold and silver, filled with the finest of the first-fruits, for offering.

The children and old people will ride. Some will carry flowers, you never saw such a sight. The roads will be full of long lines of pilgrims driving great droves of sheep and cattle for sacrifice. They will go along singing and playing on flutes. These will be their songs, —'I was glad when they said unto me, we shall go into the house of the Lord," and "Beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth is Mt. Zion on the sides of the north, the city of the great King"—"For this God is our God forever and ever. He will be our guide, even unto death.

When they get near the city of worship thousands of banners will be unrolled, the white-robed priests and people will come out to meet the pilgrims and all will go in singing together, while cries of "Welcome men of Nazareth!" "Welcome, men of Heshbon, will greet them as they pass. At the Temple Hill the men will take the pretty gift-baskets on their shoulders, and go up to the Court of the men. There will be more singing. Doves will be "handed to the priests for burnt offerings," the gifts of first-fruits, and other gifts will be presented with the words "I profess this day unto the Lord thy God, that I am come into the country which the Lord gave to our fathers to give us." Deut. xxvi. 3, 10. "And now I have brought the first-fruits of the land which Thou O Lord hast given me."

Then they will leave the Temple to go to the houses of relatives and friends, inviting all the strangers and widows and orphans, who have come up with them, or who are in the city to share with them in the feast.

The streets of the city will be made as fine as possible with banners and flowers and branches of trees.

There was a feast of Pentecost fifty days after the day on which Jesus rose from the dead. But the offerings were different from what they were in the olden days. Instead of men giving gifts to God, God gave gifts to men. You can read about it in the second chapter of Acts. About one hundred and twenty disciples were in one place. I should not wonder if it were that same upper-room where the twelve ate the supper with Jesus.

The Holy Spirit came upon them all. It gave them power to talk in many languages and to do other things that we could not do. There was not time to sit down and study the language of the people they would have to talk to. It would take too long. So God taught them to understand and to speak in the strange tongues of Parthea and Egypt and Rome and Britain without learning.

In the month of Tisri the feast of Tabernacles must come. It last a whole week from the fifteenth to the twenty-second of the month. The first and the last days will be Sabbaths. The people will live in little tents made of branches of olive, myrtle and fir. These little tents, or booths, will be set up on the flat roofs of the houses in the streets and in every open place in the city. This is to make them remember their tent-life on the way to Canaan.

They must now offer thanks to God for the harvest. There will be music and singing and great joy. The whole city will be lit up at night.

God will take care of the country while the people are attending the feast. No man will desire their land when they go up to appear before the Lord three times every year. Ex. xxxiv. 24.

The Feast of Tabernacles is to be the last Feast of the year. But there are other feasts that came between the Passover. The Feast of first-fruits and the Feast of Tabernacles.

On the fifteenth of the month Ab.—our August—the wood for the Temple will be taken to Jerusalem with great rejoicing. The Feast of Trumpets will be held about the time in Autumn that we call October. The Israelites called it Tisri. The first day of the month was kept as their New Years' day. In the land of Canaan when the first new moon of the year is seen trumpets will be blown all over the land. Sacrifices will be offered in Jerusalem. No work will be done. There will be prayer and fasting. And a review of the acts of the past year. The day will be like a Sabbath.

Then will come eight days of preparing for the Day of Atonement, "A time so solemn and sacred that it was known as The Day."

The people will eat nothing on that day, and all work will be left off. It will come on the tenth of the month, (the first month of the second year, and the seventh of the civil year.) Lev. xxiv. 28, 44: Num. xxix. 1, 12. The High Priest will go into the Most Holy Place "to make an Atonement for the children of Israel for all their sins once a year." Lev. xvi. 34, "that they may be clean from all their sins before the Lord." 30 v. Jesus is now the Great High Priest. He has gone into the Holiest Place of all, to make Atonement for us. We get forgiveness by coming to God through him, all through this long gospel Day of Atonement. The other day was but a type of this. But we have got through with the feasts. You will remember that the Feast of Trumpets, or New Years' Day. The Day of Atonement, and the Feast of Tabernacles, all come in the month of Tisri. We will stop now, for Bro. Underwood wants shorter lessons. Our next lesson will not be so hard. We will talk about angels, and about the men who went up with Moses and Aaron into the Mount.

Auntie Winch.

A Protest.

The Church of God at Bitter Creek in church assembled and Brother Wm. Hadicks being elected Chairman pro tem, and H. M. Williams Sec'y pro tem, drafted the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, a certain doctrine is being taught, that Jesus was born of two human parents, which is, in our opinion, directly against the first principles of the Bible. We hereby desire to show our disapproval of such doctrine.

Whereas, there is likewise a doctrine, teaching that baptism is for the remission of sins to the Jews, but to the Gentiles for adoption only and not for the remission of sins,

Resolved, we do not approve such teaching.

Resolved, that we send a copy of the above preamble and resolutions to The Restitution for publication.

William Hadicks, Chairman,
H. M. Williams, Sec'y. Pro Tem.

Selected.

Return Of The Christ.

Never before were so many hearts looking and praying for the re-appearing of the Christ. And though it is not given to finite tongue or pen to tell the date of his return, one is clearly warranted in looking for him daily. Himself has bidden us be on the "watch" for his coming, a fact which gives little value to theories which maintain that a memoranda of events are yet to occur, so long that ages must still intervene. So far as the program is concerned careful students feel that we are in the closing numbers; but however that may be, our Lord's distinct and positive word that we may and must be on the constant lookout for his return sweeps away all such theories as reckon it impossible to-day. When he comes we may be sure of one thing, life will be going on in its usual way. The sun will rise that morning as it has ever since the first shaft of golden rays fell on Adam and Eve. Shops will open, trains will run; the clatter of mills, the whirl of industries, the flapping of sails, the ripple of streams, the song of birds, will break on the ear as usual. Families will gather at the breakfast table, discuss the plans of the day as in the past. People will worry and fret about to-morrow, toil and rush in the whirl of life. The dawning of that day will be marked by no change to make it unlike others. But suddenly in the midst of the work and worry, praising and complaining, suffering and doing, every step will be halted, every voice hushed and every eye turned upward, by a parting of the blue curtains of the skies, the sounds of celestial voices, the sight of the King with his numberless heavenly retinue coming at last to a weary world to take to himself those who love and look for him.—Contributor.

Even more certain than death is the descent of Christ from heaven; for "yet a little while, and he that shall come will come and will not tarry."

Items of Interest.

Seven-eighths of the bread baked in London is made of foreign wheat.

Holland claims the distinction of first having made bombshells in the year 1495.

Æsculapius practiced surgery among the Greeks and was deified after death, B. C. 950.

A French railway company has ordered clocks to be placed on the outside of every locomotive.

If the United States had as great a relative population as Japan it would have a population of 960,000,000 people.

The 63,500 people who live in Charleston, S. C. are located over five and one-third square miles of ground.

The Japanese are extravagantly fond of children, and treat them so kindly that Japan has been called the Children's Paradise.

The wife of the Emperor Hwangti, who is worshiped by the Chinese as a goddess, is said to have begun the manufacture of silk in the Celestial Empire in 2600 B. C.

It is stated on good authority that Russia does not intend to annex Corea, but considers it a duty to guarantee the independence of that kingdom.

Out of 50,000 men who tried to enter the English army last year 16,000 were rejected, chiefly on account of bad sight, bad teeth, or flat feet.

A few years ago millions of Buffalo roamed over the Western plains, being an absolute menace to travel. Now a single specimen is worth fully $1,000.

The Japanese begin building their houses at the top. The roof is first built and elevated on a skeleton frame. Then it affords shelter to the workmen from storms.

The accession of Queen Victoria to the throne of England took place on the 20th of June, 1837; the proclamation of such event on the day following.

In spite of its ice and severe cold Labrador possesses 900 species of flowering plants, fifty-nine ferns, and over 250 species of mosses and lichens.

In ancient Rome masqueraders at the midwinter festivals were common, and the "mumming" practiced in France, Spain, and England in medieval times was probably a relic of this Roman practice.

The first Japanese newspaper appeared only twenty-five years ago. It was published monthly by a druggist as an advertising medium. Now there are over 400 journals in the realm of the Mikado.

Steel coffins for the bodies of those who die suddenly on shipboard are being carried in some of the transatlantic liners. The remains are placed in them and hermetically sealed.

Why not patronize the Nickel Plate Road on your next trip to New York City or Boston? They operate solid through trains elegantly equipped with palace sleepers, fine day coaches attended by uniformed colored porters whose duties require them to look out for the comfort of passengers. Magnificant dining Cars. The Popular Low Rate Short Line.—Apr. 1.

Things which could have never made man happy developed a power to make him strong. Strength and not happiness, or rather only that happiness which comes by strength, is the end of human living. And with that test and standard the best order and beauty reappear.

Numerous favorable comments on the Passenger service of the Nickel Plate Road have come to our notice. Their Fast Western Express leaving New York City at 6:00 P. M., Boston 8:00 P. M., Buffalo 5:35 A. M., Erie 8:07 A. M., Cleveland 10:53 A. M., Ft. Wayne 4:10 P. M., arrives at Chicago at 9:00 P. M., affording fast time and splendid connections for all points west. Rates always the lowest.—Apr. 1.

No wave on the great ocean of time, when once it has past us, can be recalled. All we can do is to watch the new form and motion of the next, and launch upon it to try, in the manner our best judgment may suggest, our strength and skill.—Gladstone.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Restitution:

Enclosed you will find express order for three dollars which pays for the paper until next June. We thank you for waiting on us so long. The explanation that W. H. Wilson gave of the unjust steward was very plain. I could never understand before what the Savior intended to teach. Now will you please explain Acts vii. 59, the last of the verse where Stephen says, "Lord Jesus receive my spirit." I would like to know what the word spirit means. I wish you success in your good work.

Respectfully yours.
JAMES G. ADAMS.

Dear Restitution:

I will cast in my mite with the rest and am glad of the love feast we are having. I think it cheers us on the way of our Christian journey, to read so many good testimonies and to know we are not alone in our hopes, our joys and sorrows, and by our words of cheer we may be the means of encouraging some one whose burden seems more than they can bear. Blessed be the name of the Lord, who has promised to redeem this sin-cursed world and gather out a people for his name. Yes, I believe he is soon coming. May we be among the faithful, and all meet to part no more.

Yours for the kingdom.
MRS. C. J. CHAFFER.

Dear Restitution:

I thought I would let the brothers and sisters know through your valuable paper about our meeting we had two weeks ago. Bro. Almus Adams came here Dec. 18, '95, and held meeting until 29. Five more put on Christ by baptism Dec. 29, and several are anxious to find the true light and are studying the plans of God. We have a nice church here with 27 standard members. We meet together every Sunday to study God's Word. Brothers and sisters, let us be up and doing while it is day, for the night will come when no man can work. The Bridegroom will come before long to claim his Bride. O let us be ready to meet him.

Your Sister waiting for the kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.
SARAH SELLECK.

Dear Restitution:

I feel like saying a word for the Master. I am striving to live a Christian life, and from the signs of the times the dear Savior said we should know that the time is at hand, it cannot be long till Jesus comes again to take his throne and reign. I want to be an overcomer and have my lamp trimmed and burning and ready to meet my Savior if I am living when he comes, and if I am sleeping my hope is in the resurrection from the dead. Oh, brothers and sisters of the like precious faith, let us all be faithful and stand firm in the truth, then when Jesus comes and the kingdom is set up, we may meet all our loved ones that are sleeping. I long for that time to come when I shall see the king in his beauty. Oh happy thought, to be like Jesus Let us all look up and lift up our heads, for our redemption draweth nigh, is my earnest prayer.

You Sister in hope of eternal life.
MARTHA A. HAMMOND.

Dear Restitution:

As my subscription is due please find enclosed money order to pay for the year 1896, as I would miss the dear paper so much, Oh how I would miss it if I had to do without it. I count the days between each issue. I love to read the letters from so many different ones of like precious faith, it gives me so much encouragement and tells me that I am not alone, although I am the only one in this part of the country, of the faith once delivered to the saints. I did not write for the Christmas number, but I enjoyed reading it very much, although there were but one or two that I was personally acquainted with. I hope we will have the love feast every week during the year 1896. I feel my unworthiness, but with trials and temptations my faith grows stronger in Christ every day, and my daily prayer is that the Lord will give me grace to hold out faithful till he comes. I often think of the words of Paul in Rom. Rom. v. 35, "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?" Hoping these few lines may reach some poor, lonely heart and cheer it on to victory I will close.

Your Sister in Christ.
MRS. SUSIE DOW.

To the scattered ones:

How refreshing it is to the Mothers in Israel to read the manifold letters in our good RESTITUTION paper concerning the second advent of our beloved Lord. I to like yourselves, long for the time to come when we shall see our Redeemer coming in the clouds of heaven—when every eye shall see him and those who have pierced him, when all kindred of the earth shall wail because of him, calling upon the mountains and the rocks to fall on them to hide them from the presence of the Lamb. What a blessed contrast for us, who will hail his coming with shouts of joy, saying, "this is our Lord, to we have waited for him"—not unto us, not unto us, but unto him, be all the glory, who hath redeemed us with his precious blood. May we all be more intensely earnest as was our dear Savior when on the cross, saying, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." Yes dear friends let us be watching and waiting for his return, that we may be counted worthy to go in with him to the marriage supper.

Come Lord and tarry not
Bring the long looked for day
Oh why these years of waiting here
These ages of delay.

Your Sister in hope.
MRS. SUE FREELAND.

Dear Restitution:

I thought I would drop you a few lines. I am sorry to say I can't send you any money. I am so I can't work. I have but one foot to walk on and my wife had a stroke of paralysis four months ago, she can't walk alone. I am thankful to you for sending me your loved paper, I am so glad to get it for it is all the gospel I hear, and my Bible is a great comfort to me in my old days. I dislike to give it up. Please send it to me if it isn't asking too much of you. I did not write in time for the love feast on account of sickness. My wife has been sick four months but is better. Through all her sickness she never forgot her Lord who is to come and set his kingdom up and take all them that put their trust in him. We learn this in the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. May he come soon and set up his kingdom is our prayer.

MR. & MRS. G. R. RIDLEN.

Editor Restitution:

Dear Brother of the one faith I received some numbers of your welcome paper a few days ago, and was very much gratified to receive the Christmas Number that gave so many letters, all speaking of the same thing, which will be the glorious appearing of our Savior who will come to gather his ransomed ones home to reign with him forever and ever. With this please find $1.50 for THE RESTITUTION.

DR. J. A. THURMAN.

Brothers and Sisters:

It is the Christian's privilege to have a great faith, to be strong in the Lord. The fact that God delays answering our prayers is no proof that he will not answer them, if we exercise our faith and do not stop praying too soon. The Syro-Phoenician woman came to Jesus crying, have mercy on me O Lord, thou Son of David, but he answered her not a a word, thus testing her faith. Did she stop her entreaties and go away without a blessing? No. She came again and worshipped him, saying, Lord help me. He answered it is not meet, etc. Not a harsh or contemptous reply, nor even a refusal. And she said, truth, Lord, yet the dogs eat of the crumbs, etc. Are satisfied without taking away the children's bread. She did not ask Jesus to leave Israel just to heal her daughter, but he was where he could restore her without depriving any Israelite of a blessing for her sake. Jesus answered, O woman, great is thy faith, be it unto thee even as thou will. He was glad to give as she to receive, he had been merely seemingly unwilling, that he might draw out from her the full meaning of her faith. It is the faithful overcomer who is chosen, let us remember that it is one thing to be called, but quite another thing to be chosen. Pray for me that I may be faithful and meet you in the kingdom of God.

Your Sister in Christ,
SARAH E. OVERMAN.

The more trust we put in God, and the less in ourselves, the greater our peace.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$46.70

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 283 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00

"Twelve words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts per hundred.

"Who are led by the Spirit?" This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in missionwork in every community. Price 25 cts. per hundred.

"Honoring the Son." An eight page tract, elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. [Do not send to "The Restitution," for any of these.—Ed.]

Personally Conducted Excursions to California.

Via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line, in upholstered tourist sleeping cars, leave Chicago every Thursday via the North-Western Line. Low rates, picturesque route, quickest time and careful attention are advantages offered to those who join these excursions. Cost of berth $6.00. Ask your nearest ticket agent for full particulars or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Mar. 14.

One fare for the round trip March 9th, 10th, and 11th is the rate via the Nickel Plate Road to Columbus, Ohio, for the Republican State Convention from all points in Ohio.—Mar. 11.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On March 10 and April 7, 1896, the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa; Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hill district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Apr. 7.

Homeseekers Excursion to the Southwest March 10th, via the Nickel Plate Railroad at lowest rates. Bear in mind that we operate an unexcelled dining car service and a line of magnificent through sleepers between Chicago, Buffalo, New York, and Boston.—Mar. 11.

To our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages, by Wm. Glen Monerieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

Each one has the forming of his own character. It can be made a thing of beauty or of shame.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN
In your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS and PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 30,000 Baptists, in 1868. 3. Immortality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 0, 10 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 10c; 50 for 25c; 55 for 50c; 100 for 90c.
State of Man in Death.
Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two uses of these terms, to-wit, Theological and Bible use.
Can you Believe; a series of questions on the main points of our doctrines.
What was the Sabbath and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 15 for 50c., 30 for $1.00.
The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 44 pages, price 40c.
Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 29, 1879, by Jos. Lacier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 3 for 25c. or 15 for $1.
The Heir of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 140 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 65 cts. or free to those not able to buy.
Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 775 pages, price $1.50
JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief Hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. G. Thomas. 160 pages, price 50 cts. or four for $1, postpaid. Send to this office.
The Emphatic Diaglott, B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the renderings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.
Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance: bound in cloth, price $1.50.
Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 175 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.
Catechism of the Bible. For the use of one children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Cassie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 50 cents; 12 for $1.50; 50 for $5.50. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.
Future Probation. By Wm. G. Monerieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Monerieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Monerieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper-covers, and sells for 12 cts. each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sireleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hock, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.

JUST TRY IT!
THE RESTITUTION
ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS
—FOR ONLY—
Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 200 Wood-rd Ave. Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. O. M. Joblin, Evangelist.

The Church of God meet for work and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1745 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia, C. E. Rumsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 9.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 801 Huntingdon Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. ten east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and social meeting every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah Selleck Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 3:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Arthon Elder.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grost, 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Renwar Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K. of P. Hall, 93½ Wilson Ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday at 10:00 every First Day at Rowland school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitsell, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Marie E. Trundell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Haslam and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks, Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Elder every four weeks. At Centerton every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Hynes have no regular preaching. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Bro T. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Ry.
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Westward.	9	15	89	3	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, Pa.	7 00	12 00		4 15
Alliance	9 10	2 05		6 00
Canton	10 05	3 00		6 55
Massillon	10 20	3 15		7 10
Wooster	11 15	4 10		8 05
Mansfield	12 05	5 00		8 55
Crestline	12 40	5 35	10 16	9 30	1 45
Bucyrus	12 57	5 52	10 33	9 47	2 02
Lima	1 50	6 45	11 30		2 57
Van Wert	2 32	7 25	12 10	10 37	3 37
Ar.	2 45	7 35	12 20	AM	3 50
Ft Wayne	3 30	8 15	1 00	11 20	4 30
Arcola		8 31	1 17	11 37	4 47
Columbia City	4 03	9 04	1 51	12 13	5 21
Larwill		9 14	2 01	12 23	5 31
Pierceton		9 19	2 06	12 28	5 36
Webb Lake		9 28	2 15	12 37	5 45
Warsaw	4 31	9 47	2 34	12 56	6 04
Ft. Wayne			3 55	2 15	7 25
Huntington			4 24	2 44	7 54
Plymouth			5 04	3 24	8 34
Bourbon			5 21	3 41	8 51
Bremen			5 31	3 51	9 01
Knox	6 05	1 20	6 05	4 25	9 35
Hamlet			6 15	4 35
Otterbein			6 23	4 43
Brook			6 30	4 50
Lafayette			7 15	5 35	10 20
Monticello			8 05	6 25	11 10
Wolcott			8 20	6 40	11 25
Rensselaer			8 30	6 50	11 35
Gifford			8 40	7 00	11 45
Kniman			8 50	7 10	11 55
Hebron			9 05	7 25	12 10
Dyer			9 20	7 40	12 25
Chicago	8 00	3 00	10 15	8 35	1 20

Eastward.	2	4	6	10	38
	AM	PM	AM	PM	AM
Chicago	7 00	3 00	11 25	12 45	11 30
Dyer	7 15		11 40		11 45
Hebron	7 25		11 50		11 55
Hobart	7 35		12 00		12 05
Wheeler	7 47		12 12		12 17
Valparaiso	8 05	4 22	12 30	1 01	12 35
Wanatah	8 15		12 40		12 45
Hanna	8 23		12 48		12 53
Westville	8 30		12 55		1 00
Hamlet	8 37		1 02		1 07
Otterbein	8 47		1 12		1 17
Plymouth	9 00	4 55	1 25	2 00	1 30
Bremen	9 25		1 50		1 55
Bourbon	9 35		2 00		2 05
Knox	9 50		2 15		2 20
Webb Lake	10 00		2 25		2 30
Pierceton	10 09		2 34		2 39
Larwill	10 14		2 39		2 44
Columbia City	10 25	5 28	2 50	3 25	2 55
Arcola	10 30		2 55		3 00
Ft Wayne	11 00	5 55	3 25	3 55	3 30
Van Wert	11 45	6 45	4 10	4 40	4 15
Lima	12 30	7 30	4 55	5 25	5 00
Bucyrus	1 23	8 23	5 48	6 18	5 53
Crestline	1 40	8 40	6 05	6 35	6 10
Mansfield	2 05	9 05	6 30	7 00	6 35
Wooster	2 50	9 50	7 15	7 45	7 20
Massillon	3 35	10 35	8 00	8 30	8 05
Canton	3 50	10 50	8 15	8 45	8 20
Alliance	4 45	11 45	9 10	9 40	9 15
Pittsb'gh	7 15	2 50	11 45	12 15	11 45
	AM	PM	PM	PM	PM

Pullman Sleeping Cars on Nos. 15, 2 and 4. Dark Faced Type denotes time from 12 M. to 12 P. M. Pullman Vestibule Dining and Sleeping Cars on 4, 8 and 9.

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent.
J. M. C. F. PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates and tickets, through tickets, lowest rates, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HAKES, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.
Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.
Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 32, Passenger, Leaves		11:05pm
No. 22,	" "	12 07pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Passenger, Leaves		12:55am
No. 29,	" "	12 07pm
No. 151, Local,	" "	7:20pm

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Wooster, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and T. H. & I. C. Div. for all points south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on J. M. Hutchenpreck, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address
CHAS. F. DALY,
Gen Pass. Agt.
Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.
In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 63, Ex. Sun.	12:14pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 65	7:34am	"
No. 84, ex. Sun.	10:05pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun.	8:38am	For Terre Haute.
No. 83,	12:50pm	" "
No 87 ex. Sunday	7:37pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates through cars, etc., address T. A. GUNN, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or
E. A. FORD,
Gen'l Pass. Agt.
St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.
The New York, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.
Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

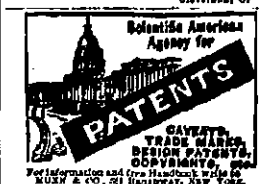
TRAINS GOING WEST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:20pm	Local Ft
Ft Wayne				7:00am
Hammond	10:38pm	9:07am		8:05am
Hobart	10:53pm	9:44am		10:10am
Valpar'so	11:16pm	10:07am		11:00am
S Bend		10:34am		11:45am
Knox	12:16am	11:20am	4:01pm	1:30pm
Argos	12:35am	11:47a		2:54pm
Ft Wayne	3:45am	2:30pm	6:30pm	4:30pm
Cleveland	10:45am	9:30pm	11:40pm
Buffalo	1:30pm		5:20am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:05pm		5:35am	Le a F
Cleveland	7:10pm	8:00am	10:40am
Ft Wayne	1:45am	1:15pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Argos	4:10am	3:50pm		9:40pm
Knox	5:40am	4:20pm	8:20pm	10:15am
S Bend		4:45pm		11:46am
Valpar'so	6:40am	4:59pm		12:15pm
Hobart	6:51am	5:17pm		1:26pm
Hammond	6:56am	5:30pm		2:40pm
Ft Wayne				4:40pm
Chicago	7. 0am	7:00pm	9:00 m

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:00 a.m., Cleveland at 9:00 a.m. (Local) Freights do nothing Sunday. Other trains run daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of cars between New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address
A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Agt.
E. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt.
Cleveland, O.



For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., Publishers, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
ROBERT ROBERSON,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WISELY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD.
WM. ROBERSON.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF ALL HIS HOLY PROPHETS SINCE THE WORLD BEGAN.

VOL. XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MARCH 18, 1896. NO. 11.

Poetry.

Jerusalem.

We journeyed long thro' deserts drear,
Where paths were rough and lights were dim,
But what do we with storms or fear,
We stand at last at Jerusalem.

CHORUS.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
The Mount of God, Jerusalem;
The star which shown o'er Bethlehem,
Points now to thee, O Jerusalem!

O Zion, as a field flower long,
But soon to wear thy diadem,
Thy wastes shall break forth into song,
For God spoke peace to Jerusalem.

CHORUS.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
In ashes long, Jerusalem;
Thy God, the God of Abraham,
Has number thee, O Jerusalem!

O race whom every fuel hath tried!
The scattered tribes of Jacob's stem,
They be the signs and hand of God,
That points thee now to Jerusalem.

CHORUS.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
From forth thy walls, Jerusalem,
We hear the steady tread of them
At hand to come, O Jerusalem!

Come every wand'ring, contrite child,
Ye by the flesh the seed of Shem,
Ye branch from an olive wild,
And sup as one at Jerusalem.

CHORUS.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
Upon thy heights, Jerusalem,
God builds an ark which shall condemn
This feasting world, O Jerusalem!

Ye meek, ye poor, whose names have been
On lips of talkers for a shame,
Ye shall be as his signet seen,
Beulah of God, O Jerusalem.

CHORUS.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
Thou married wife, Jerusalem
His word, his peace, a living stream,
Shall flow from thee, O Jerusalem!

God's voice is heard before his troop,
Earthquake has mounted to its brim,
Now Bel low down! thou Nebo, stoop!
For God doth roar at Jerusalem.

CHORUS.

Jerusalem, Jerusalem,
Thou tower of flocks, Jerusalem!
What power of earth or hell shall strew
Thy glory's flood, O Jerusalem!

A portion of the colony from Jerusalem who have been visiting Chicago, for some time, returned last week, taking with them a number of converts amounting in all to about eighty. Just prior to leaving, they sent me the above original poem.

I expect to enter into correspondence with them, and thus obtain reliable news from the Holy Land. Much news published from that country, is not strictly true, but we know that every thing they give will be positively true. We are assured that great events are about to take place in that land. Pray for the peace of Jerusalem, God loves both her and her long-exiled children.

W. H. WILSON.

Original.

HESAIAS.

(ISAIAH 8. C. V. & R. V.)

1. And the Lord said unto me, Take for thyself a dissevered piece of a great new (parchment) and write on it with a human pen to make a foray for spoils speedily; For it is at hand.

2. And appoint faithful human witnesses for me, namely Ourias and Zacharias son of Barachias.

3. And I went unto the prophetess and she received in womb and brought forth a son. And the Lord said unto me Call his name, Spoil quickly Foray speedily;

4. Because before the boy knoweth how to say father or mother, one will take the host (ability) of Damaskos and the spoils of Samarria in the sight of the king of Assurians

5. And the Lord added to say to me still further;

6. Because this laity doth not desire the Water of Siloam that goeth its way peacefully; but doth desire to have Rasin and the Son of Hromelios as king over you:

7. Therefore lo the Lord is leading up against you the water of the river, the strong and the much, the king of the Assurians namely, and his glory: And he will come up over every ravine of yours, and he will walk about upon every wall of yours;

8. And he will take away from Joudais every man who can lift up his head or is able to consummate anything; And his camp will be so as to fill the breadth of thy country: God be with us.

9. Comprehend ye nations and diminish; May ye have heard it unto the farthest limits of the earth; Ye strong, become weak; For if ye become strong again, ye will have become weak again.

10. And whatever ye shall counsel the Lord will scatter and whatever word ye shall talk it shall not abide in you, because God is with us.

11. Thus saith the Lord with the strong hand unto those who distrust the journeying of the way of this laity; say,

12. Never say hard: For anything that this laity may have said is hard; But fear not their fear, nor be terrified.

13. Sanctify the Lord himself and he will be thy fear.

14. And if thou shalt trust in him he will be unto thee for a sanctuary and not as a stumbling-stone will ye meet him nor as the smiting of a rock. But the houses of Jakoob are in a snare and those seated in Hierousaleem are in a hollow-place.

15. Therefore many among them will be disabled and fall and be broken, and man in insecurity will draw nigh and be taken.

16. Then will those, the sealing up the law so as not to learn it, be manifest.

17. And one will say I will await the God who hath turned away his face from the house of Jakoob, and I will trust in him.

18. Lo I and the children whom God hath given me. And there will be signs and prodigies in the house of Israeel from the Lord of Sabaoth who dwelleth in Mount Sioon.

19. And if they shall have said unto you, seek the ventriloquists and those who gives sounds from the earth, those who speak empty words, who give sounds from the belly, shall not a nation seek unto his God? Why do they seek the dead concerning the living?

20. For a law hath he given for responsive-help, that they might say, it (the law)is not like this oracular-word, for which there are no votive-gifts to be given.

21. And harsh famine will come unto you, and it will be, that when ye hunger ye will sorrow and speak ill of your ruler and of your country's affairs, and they will look up to the heavens above;

22. And they will look into the earth below; and lo narrow perplexity and darkness will then be, tribulation and a narrow-place and darkness so that they shall not look; and the one in narrowness will have been perplexed until an appointed time.

CHAPTER 9.

1. Drink this first; do quickly, thou country of Zabouloon, thou land of Nephthaleim, and the rest of you along the sea-shore and across the Jordanes, thou Galilaia of the nations;

2. Ye laity that are going your way in darkness, see a great light; Ye who are dwelling in a country in a shadow of death, light will shine upon you;

3. The largest portion of the laity which thou didst lead down in thy rejoicing; and they will have rejoiced in thy sight as do those who rejoice in an early harvest, and in the way those do who divide spoils.

4. Because the yoke that lieth upon them hath been taken off, and the scepter that is over their neck: For the sceptre of those who demand hath he routed as in the day at Madiam.

5. Because every royal-robe that hath been gathered with deceit and outer-garment will they pay the price for in a restoration, and they will be willing to if they become burned with fire.

6. Because a child hath been begotten for us, a son even hath been given us, whose authority hath come to be upon his shoulder, and his name will be called, a Messenger of Great Counsel: For I will lead peace upon the rulers and health unto him.

7. Great is his authority and of his peace there is no limit upon the throne of David and his kingdom, to restore it to uprightness and to intervene for it with judgment and righteousness, from that now even unto the animate-age. The zeal of the Sabaooth will cause these things.

8. Death did the Lord send upon Jakoob and it came upon Israel;

9. And they will comprehend, all the laity of Ephraim and those who sit in Samarria in pride and with uplifted heart, who say,

10. Bricks have fallen, but come let us hew stones and cut sycamores and cedars and build for ourselves a tower.

11. And God will hurl down those who arise against him, against Mount Sioon, and his enemies will he scatter;

12. Suria from the East and the Greeks from the West who are devouring Israel with all their mouth. Notwithstanding all these things the anger hath not been turned away, but still the hand is uplifted.

13. And the people hath not returned until it hath been smitten and they have not sought the Lord.

14. And the Lord hath taken away from Israel head and tail, great and small in one day, Elder and those who regard their faces with wondering awe; This is the authoritative head;

15. And the prophet who teacheth transgressions; it is the tail.

16. And those who lead this laity astray will account them happy, and they are leading them astray that they may drink them down.

17. Therefore the Lord will not have rejoiced over their young men, and to their orphans and their widows he will not be merciful; because they are all transgressors and wicked, and every mouth talketh iniquities. Notwithstanding all these things the anger hath not been averted but still the hand is uplifted.

18. And the transgression will have flamed out like fire, and it will have been devoured by fire like a dry field; and it will have burned in the thickets of the forest, and all the environments of the hills will have been devoured along with them;

19. Because of the anger of the wrath of the Lord hath the whole land been consumed, and the laity will be as it were consumed by fire, Man will not show mercy to his brother;

20. But will incline out to the right-hand, because he will hunger and will devour on the left hand, and man shall not be filled though he eateth the flesh of his own arm.

21. For Manasses will devour Ephraim and Ephraim—Manasses, because together will they beseige Joudas. Notwithstanding all these things the anger hath not been averted; but still the hand is uplifted.

COMMENT.

The eighth chapter begins with specific directions to the prophet to take "a dissevered piece of a great new parchment" on which to write a connected prophecy.

Even the cutting off of the parchment a specific length appears to be significant. For when it is full the prophecy ends abruptly as we shall see; and this fact we find referred to by the later prophets as an act of mercy on the part of God and out of regard to his covenant. Otherwise no flesh would have been spared and no seed would have been left. Why the translators C. V. and R. V. did not translate the inspired name here given to the child of the prophet born at this juncture is more than I can fathom. For it is the significant introduction to and the text of the whole prophecy. "The waters of Shiloah" R. V. should be "the waters of Siloam," "Rezin" R. V. and Remoliah's son should be "Rasel" and "the son of Hromelios."

"O Immanuel" R. V. is "God be with us"—the same text and expression translated in the R. V. "For God is with us" in the 10th verse last clause. Compare the 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18th verses with the same in the C. V. and R. V. and see if you do not get some new light. The first clause of the 18th verse is interpreted and applied for us in Hebrews and its Messianic import brought out.

Again compare the 19th verse Observe the word translated "familiar spirits" is our word for "Ventriloquists" "chirp and mutter" and "Wizards" is not in the text and much that is in the text is omitted as the reader will observe by comparing the renderings. The 20th verse in the R. V. does not approximate towards the meaning of the text. Where do they find the word "morning" and what have they done with the words "votive-gifts" and "the oracular—word?" But the differences are too numerous to particularize, Compare and note for yourselves.

Observe the [illegible] Apparently the 9th chapter opens at it now stands much more significantly in the light of the New Covenant Scriptures, and Christ's own language in regard to these promises here spoken of.

Observe none of the epithets applied to the Messianic "Child," the Christ are in the text, except the one given in this translation "A Messenger or Great Counsel."

The rest belong to a spurious text, probably a part of the old Rabbinical tinkering.

The 9th chap. opens with a rendering so entirely different from the C. V. and R. V. that I can simply ask the reader to compare and draw his own conclusions. "The largest portion of the laity" of the 3rd verse probably does not refer to numbers but importance in the estimation of the Lord. For we are told it only numbered about 120 souls—that is Christ's followers.

Notice the use of "arche" in the 6th and 7th verses, For it is the key-word to much of Messianic prophecy.

It is the word that in prophecy tells what God has conferred upon "the Son of his Love"—"the authority" namely. Observe also that it is God's "Zeal" that insures the ultimate accomplishment of all the covenant promises.

Read secular history if you want to know how literally the desolation depicted in the last part of this 9th chapter has been fulfilled.

CHAS. GARDNER.

Selected.

"Too Busy Copy."

Once in awhile a tired editor gets from an intelligent correspondent a long manuscript, written with a pencil in an inferior hand and on poor paper, and ending with this polite request: "Please to read the proof with great care, as I am too busy to copy." If ever there was a case called aloud for the waste-basket, this is one. It is sufficiently exasperating to be compelled to straighten out the bad work of an honest but careless contributor. To turn one's self into a mere bondslave for those who are too indolent to pay attention to their own work, passes the limit of all endurance. Whatever is worth writing is worth writing well. We are glad to believe that the typewriter will effect a revolution in this respect. When it is once set agoing, there is no time to puzzle over illegible chirography.—Christian Advocate.

The Testimony of Jesus.

DEAR SIR,—I trust you will pardon the liberty I take in troubling you with a few remarks in reference to your address on Prophecy on Monday evening. Having for nearly twenty years taken a deep interest in the glorious truth concerning the coming kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, I could not but feel gratified that an effort was being made to call public attention to it by one who has so long been well known as an advocate of that truth. I was also glad to observe that the plan of the address was well fitted to disarm prejudice, and to attract attention to the subject, by showing its relations to Jesus in all the stages of his work.

I was more especially pleased to notice that, while maintaining the future reign of Jesus as embracing all of the earth and its peoples, you insisted particularly upon the Israelitish basis of his work, in the restoration of Israel to their own land as a distinct nation, and the manifestation of the glory of Jesus among the people, and in the place where he had been abased. The address generally gave me much satisfaction, and I hope you will not impute it to any desire to detract from its merits as a whole if I venture to point out what humbly appears to me to be an omission. While not impossible to [illegible] upon more general exposition you gave of Rev. xix. 10, I have been accustomed to view "the testimony of Jesus," there referred to as having a more special application. I view it as referring particularly to that testimony concerning himself, which he bore when he stood before the judgment seat of the High Priest and of Pontious Pilate, and which his apostles were charged to bear in prosecuting their mission to "preach the gospel to every creature." This has become so familiar to me as a Scripture truth that I felt a little surprised and disappointed that it could be overlooked in such an exposition; and the more so, because this testimony has such a close bearing upon the kingdom, which so prominently forms the very spirit (or essence) of prophecy.

In order that this may be seen to have a sound Scriptural foundation, I beg to submit the following statement, to which I request a candid consideration.

The Scriptural significance of the Christship may be seen in various ways; such as in the pratice of the anointing to the kingly office in Israel, to which, par excellence, the designation, "the Lord's annointed," or Messiah, was attached. But I would confine myself to "the testimony of Jesus" already referred to. Before the Jewish High Priest he confessed himself to be "the Christ;" and before the Roman Governor he confessed himself to be "the King of the Jews." Matt. xxvii. The point of this testimony lies in the fact that Jesus regards the Messiahship of the Jews. And in John's gospel (xviii.) he distinctly declares not only that he had been born to to this kingship, but that he "came into the world to bear witness to the truth." And Paul speaks of "Christ Jesus, who, before Pontius Pilate, witnessed a good confession."

The fact that it was his faithful adherance to this testimony, which became the ostensible occasion of his being put to death as a sacrifice for humen guilt, adds greatly to the Scriptural importance of the testimony of Jesus to his claim to be the Messiah. This is seen far more clearly, however in the fact that the reception of that testimony on the part of his disciples was the real turning-point of their discipleship. "He came to his own, and and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe in his name." Thus the line which divided his disciples from his enemies was the rejection or reception of his claim to the Christship. (And the malignity of the unbelieving Jews was such that they nearly twenty years taken a deep interest in the glorious truth concerning the coming kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, I could not but feel gratified that an effort was being made to call public attention to it by one who has so long been well known as an advocate of that truth. I was also glad to observe that the plan of the address was well fitted to disarm prejudice, and to attract attention to the subject, by showing its relations to Jesus in all the stages of his work.

I was more especially pleased to notice that, while maintaining the future reign of Jesus as embracing all of the earth and its peoples, you insisted particularly upon the Israelitish basis of his work, in the restoration of Israel to their own land as a distinct nation, and the manifestation of the glory of Jesus among the people, and in the place where he had been abased. The address generally gave me much satisfaction, and I hope you will not impute it to any desire to detract from its merits as a whole if I venture to point out what humbly appears to me to be an omission. While not impossible to [illegible] upon more general exposition you gave of Rev. xix. 10, I have been accustomed to view "the testimony of Jesus," there referred to as having a more special application. I view it as referring particularly to that testimony concerning himself, which he bore when he stood before the judgment seat of the High Priest and of Pontious Pilate, and which his apostles were charged to bear in prosecuting their mission to "preach the gospel to every creature." This has become so familiar to me as a Scripture truth that I felt a little surprised and disappointed that it could be overlooked in such an exposition; and the more so, because this testimony has such a close bearing upon the kingdom, which so prominently forms the very spirit (or essence) of prophecy.

In order that this may be seen to have a sound Scriptural foundation, I beg to submit the following statement, to which I request a candid consideration.

The Scriptural significance of the Christship may be seen in various ways; such as in the pratice of the anointing to the kingly office in Israel, to which, par excellence, the designation, "the Lord's annointed," or Messiah, was attached. But I would confine myself to "the testimony of Jesus" already referred to. Before the Jewish High Priest he confessed himself to be "the Christ;" and before the Roman Governor he confessed himself to be "the King of the Jews." Matt. xxvii. The point of this testimony lies in the fact that Jesus regards the Messiahship of the Jews. And in John's gospel (xviii.) he distinctly declares not only that he had been born to to this kingship, but that he "came into the world to bear witness to the truth." And Paul speaks of "Christ Jesus, who, before Pontius Pilate, witnessed a good confession."

The fact that it was his faithful adherance to this testimony, which became the ostensible occasion of his being put to death as a sacrifice for humen guilt, adds greatly to the Scriptural importance of the testimony of Jesus to his claim to be the Messiah. This is seen far more clearly, however in the fact that the reception of that testimony on the part of his disciples was the real turning-point of their discipleship. "He came to his own, and and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe in his name." Thus the line which divided his disciples from his enemies was the rejection or reception of his claim to the Christship. (And the malignity of the unbelieving Jews was such that they agreed that, if any should confess him to be the Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue." John ix.) And this is not because of this testimony being a mere shibboleth, but because it was the first step in that faith which distinguished a true disciple of the Lord from an intelligent but unbelieving Jew. John, in his gospel (xx. 31), clearly lays it down in this category, when he says—"These are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through his name." And John must have meant the true Israelitish sense of the Messiahship; for, in an earlier part of his gospel, he records the confession of Jesus by Nathanael—"Rabbi, thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Israel," which confession received the unqualified approval of Jesus himself. And it was this great truth which formed the sum and substance of Peter's address on the day of Pentecost, and which, in connection with the charge against the nation of putting Jesus to death, told with such effect on the minds and hearts of the thousands then assembled (verses 30 and 36 of Acts ii.), and so on throughout the record of apostolic preaching.

The gospel aspect of the belief in Jesus as the Christ is demonstrated also by the fact that the gospel publicly proclaimed by Jesus and his Apostles during his personal ministry was limited to the glad tidings concerning the kingdom of God. This kingdom could be none other than the glorious kingdom of the future, for the men whom Jesus chose to make it known knew and expected no other. And he gave them no hint that the kingdom they were sent to preach was any other than that they looked for. Besides, he taught them very plainly that their hopes were correct, for he twice promised that, in his kingdom, when the Son of Man should sit on the throne of his glory, they also should sit on thrones, "judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

But not only during the personal ministry of Jesus was the kingdom of God preached; but, as Jesus intimated, "this gospel of the kingdom "was to be preached in all the world for a witness (or testimony). And so we find Peter on Pentecost, at the Beautiful Gate of the temple; Philip at Samaria (Acts viii. 12(; Paul at Ephesus (xix.), and referred to by himself in Acts xx.; and at Rome (xxviii. 31), all faithfully carrying out the commission to preach the gospel (of the kingdom) to every creature. Of course, along with this, they preached "repentance towards the Lord Jesus Christ," embracing his death as a sacrifice for sins, &c.

That there was an absolute necessity for the kingdom to be preached is seen from the fact that it was one of the purposes for which Jesus was sent; for he said on one occasion, "I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also, for therefore am I sent," Luke iv. 43, and "Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall not enter therein."

These, and other testimonies that might be adduced, have long convinced me that the truth that "Jesus is the Christ" intelligently apprehended in its true Scriptural sense, is an essential element of justifying faith, and is necessary to the understanding of all such summaries of gospel truth, as "Christ died for our sins," "Jesus Christ and him crucified." For if the gospel be (as it is) "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth," it can only be so when received in its integrity as preached by the Great Teacher himself, as confirmed to us by them that heard him. I cannot see how a half gospel or a mutilated gospel can be the power of God to save any one, and therefore I feel the more concerned to see that the whole truth, as well as nothing but the truth, be made known.

And is not the testimony of Jesus, as thus seen to be his testimony to an important element of saving faith, in an especial manner, the very "spirit of prophecy?" Do not all prophetic intimations of the coming one find their essence in the brief but expressive testimony of Jesus—"I am he?" Does not the good confession he witnessed when he gave the affirmative answer to the question, or rather demand—"I adjure thee by the living God that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God," present to us an epitome of that grand prophecy, beginning—"Unto us a child is born, and unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulder?" And does not the testimony that Jesus is the Christ bring before our mind's eye the rejected and despised of men asserting his right to divide the spoil with the strong, or, in the language of the first prophecy, 'the seed of the woman about to be bruised in the heel for claiming to to be he whom his Father had destined to be the bruiser of the serpent's head?"

Thus the testimony of the Faithful and True Witness, as maintained to the death, is seen to be in a peculiar manner "the spirit of prophecy."

I might also observe that this confession is confirmed by the context of Rev. xix. 10, which formed your text. The angel tells John not to worship him, for "I am," says he, "your fellow-servant, and the fellow-servant of your brethren, who have the testimony of Jesus," evidently meaning his fellow-apostles, who were specially charged with the testimony of Jesus; or his fellow-disciples in general, who were equally, though not so formally, under obligation to maintain the same testimony. Now the testimony borne by the apostles was summed up in the truth that Jesus is the Christ, which is the very point I have been trying to bring out.

I may be allowed to mention that it has long appeared to me that the ignorance and indifference which obtain as to the future coming and kingdom of the Messiah is due in great measure to its being generally treated as an ordinary part of revealed truth, and by no means regarded as an essential element of the faith that justifies. And I have no doubt that, were those who hold and advocate this glorious truth to see it, and set it forth in its proper Scriptural aspect and relations, and thus rightly divide the word of truth, it would more readily command attention than it will ever do when presented as a subject which is not an important part of saving truth.

I have then, dear Sir, endeavoured to point out what I humbly conceive to be an omission in your exposition, and my reasons therefor. I regret that these have extended to a length I did not anticipate; but I trust the transcendent importance of the subject will be accepted as my apology.—I am, dear Sir, yours sincerely,—James Cameron, Jan. 29, 1868.

"When pride cometh, then cometh shame; but with the lowly is wisdom."

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began. And a means to this end, the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked to eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, pre-requisites to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF:
Directors of the C. P. Association
H. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MAR. 18, 1896.

☞ The address of any correspondent of this paper will be sent to any one wishing it, on application.

IN another column is the obituary of Sister Woodward's daughter, Effie. Our hearts go out in sympathy to these bereaved ones, and to all others so afflicted.

THE papers announce the departure of over 80 men and women from Chicago to join the religious colonists at Jerusalem which left Chicago some years ago, but whose objects we are not acquainted with.

"ENVY and jealousy light the intensest fires that ever burn in human hearts. Gossip and scandal are the smoke emitted by them. If these passions could be consumers of their own smoke, a purer atmosphere would prevail."

THE railway between Bierut and Damascus is now in operation; and the line from Damascus and the great grain producing region, Hauran, is nearly completed; and that from Acre to Damascus is about to be, if not already, opened as far as the Jordan.

"WHERE the truth does not engage the affection, and the absorbing interests are in a worldly channel, conversation on the truth is impossible. Remarks made may be assented to, but there is no supply of fresh material. It is sad to be in the company of such."

"God's love does not prevent him being angry or jealous. Love does not prevent him cleaving the earth and letting a presumptuous Kore, Dathan and Abirum into the abyss. It did not prevent him drowning millions of ungodly people, or burning thousands of other such in the fires of Sodom." He is a just God—not only just to his creatures—He is just to himself. We apprehend that this is often lost sight of."

Assistance for Searchers. No. 2.

II. Can a soul die?

1. Joshua ii. 11,—"And they smote all the souls that were therein, with the edge of a sword, utterly destroying them, there was not any left to breathe."

2. Rev. xvi. 3,—"And the second angel poured out his vial upon the sea, and it became as the blood of a dead man, and every living soul died in the sea."

3. Ps. xxxiii. 19.—"To deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine."

4. Ps. lxxviii. 50.—"He made a way to his anger; he spared not their soul from death; but gave their life over to pestilence."

5. Ps. xxii. 29.—"All they that be fat upon the earth, shall eat and worship. All they that go down to the dust shall bow before him, and none can keep alive his own soul."

6. Acts. iii. 23.—"And it shall come to pass, that every soul which will not hear that prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people."

7. Ezek. xviii. 20.—"The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

And, as the soul can die, can be destroyed, can pass into the grave, evidently it is not immortal.

Again the soul being the man himself.

III. Is man mortal or immortal?

1. Job iv. 17,—"Mortal man."

2. Rom. v. 12.—"By one man, sin entered into the world and death by sin, and so death passed upon all men."

3. Rom. vi. 23.—"The wages of sin is death."

4. Rom. vi. 21.—"The end of these things is death."

5. Rom. viii. 6.—"To be carnally minded is death."

6. 1 Cor. xv. 25, 26.—"He (Christ) must reign till he hath put all enemies under his feet. And the last enemy that shall be destroyed is death."

7. Rev. xxi. 4, 5.—"All things new, no more curse; no more death."

Once more, then we have the emphatic testimony of the Scriptures is against the doctrine of the immortality of the soul, declaring man to be mortal,—but dust and ashes.

"The Value of a Man's Soul."

Talmage says: "The only way to estimate a man is by his soul. We all know that we shall live forever. Death cannot kill us. Other crafts may be drawn into the whirlpool or shivered on the rocks, but this life within us will weather all storms and drop no anchor, and ten million years after death will shake out signals on the high seas of eternity. You put the mendicant off your doorstep and say he is only a beggar; but he is worth all the gold of the mountains, worth all the pearls of the sea, worth the solid earth, worth sun moon and stars, worth the entire material universe. Take all the paper that ever came from the paper mills and put it side by side and sheet by sheet, and let men with fleetest pens make figures on that paper for 10,000 years, and they will only have begun to express the value of the soul."

Painful is it to read such God dishonoring assertions by one who professes to speak for God. We defy any man to frame a statement more unlike the truth of God. Such brazen-faced effrontry is not surpassed by the serpent. The above paragraph was one of the gems of a sermon on the first of March, and on the 8th he seems to have struck the same vein, for he said:: "What is a soul? It is a hope high as the throne of God... What is a man? The battle-ground of three worlds, with his hands taking hold of destinies of light or darkness. A man! no line can measure him. No limit can bound him. The archangel before the throne cannot outline him. The stars shall die but he will watch their extinguishment. The world will burn but he will gaze at the conflagration. Endless ages will march on; he will watch the procession. A man! The Masterpiece of God Almighty."

It would seem almost impossible for a simple Bible believer to read the above without instinctively thinking of the words, "Ye shall not surely die."....

"YE SHALL BE AS GODS."

The statements we have quoted stamp their author as the seed of the serpent, as surely as the hearty belief of the covenants of promise stamps one as the seed of Abraham and an heir according to the promise. As sure as God has spoken to us by his prophets, by his Son, and apostles, men who receive not the love of the truth that they might be saved, perish! PERISH! PERISH! "And because of this, shall God send to them a working of delusion, for their believing the lie that they might be judged—all who did not believe the truth, but were well pleased in the unrighteousness;" Youngs Translation. "Because the love of the truth they welcomed not, that they might be saved. And for this reason, God is sending them an

INWARD WORKING OF ERROR,

that they may believe in the falsehood; in order that they may be judged, one and all who did not believe in the truth." Rotherham's Translation. "Because they received not the love of the truth that they might be saved. And for this cause doth God send them the working of delusion, that they should believe the falsehood, that they all of them may be judged who believe not the truth." Dean Alfred's Translation. "Because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God sendeth them a working of error, margin—i.e. the energy of error, margin—that they may believe this lie, that they all may be condemned who believe not the truth." Whiting's Translations. "Because they received not the love of the truth that they might be saved. And for this cause God sends them a working of delusion, in order that they may believe the lie, that they may all be judged who believe not the truth." Bible Union Trans. "Because they would not receive the love of the truth whereby they might be saved. "For this cause, God will send upon them an inward working of delusion, making them that all should be condemned who have refused their faith to the truth." Conybeare and Howson's Translation. Jamison, Fausset and Brown says, "The original Greek means "sends," or "is sending;" the delusion is already beginning. God judicially sends hardness of heart to those who have rejected the truth. See 1 Kings xxii. 22. Ezek. xiv. 9. Job xii. 16. Matt. xxiv. 5, 11. "Because they accepted not the love of the truth that they might be saved. And for this cause doth God send them a working of delusion that they should believe the falsehood," that they all might be judged who believe not the truth. Lange's Translation. "Because they would not receive the love of the truth that they might be saved;" [and adds, "so they perish because they

GIVE THEIR FAITH TO HIS,

OBSTINATELY REFUSE TO BE SAVED," and we add, in God's way.] "God shall send them strong delusion for this very cause, that they would not receive the love of the truth." A. Clark. "Because they admitted not the love of the truth in order that they might be saved. And on this account God will send to them an energy of delusion to their believing the falsehood, in order that all those may be judged who believed not the truth," Diaglott Translation. We furnish the consensus of learned criticism, not so much because it sheds more light, but to show that we evidently have the MIND OF THE SPIRIT;

and, to impress the minds of all with the essentiality of the truth, and the terrible fate of those who reject it. The solemn lesson is, that God's long-suffering ends at last. Men cannot always trifle with God's overtures, and accept them when satiated with the pleasures of sin. May these solemn considerations induce all God's children to renewed diligence to find with the lamp of life, those in whom there is a germ of obedience.

Ingersoll's Mistakes.

"The Mistakes of Ingersoll" was the subject of a lecture delivered by Evangelist Joblin last evening at the Church of the Blessed Hope.

Mr. Joblin introduced the subject by saying: "The Bible is a precious book to me and the people I represent. We hold that it is what it purports to be, a revelation from God, exhibiting his grand design in creation and in redemption; explaining the existence of evil, and announcing its final extinction. Furthermore, that it is the only source of information regarding our origin, nature, and destiny, and the means by which the greatest possible good—divine nature of existence, is attainable.

"It makes no difference whether this be true or not, the belief that it is begets a hope blooming with immortality, and glory, honor and blessedness in the kingdom of God on earth, which we pray for when we say, 'Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.' We rejoice in this hope in proportion to our confidence. And who, I ask has the right to deprive us of that hope of a sweet by and by without something better to take its place? This is what Mr. Ingersoll is trying to do, while posing as a philanthropist and liberator, and fleecing the people

AT THE SAME TIME.

"At this point I wish to be understood that I defend the Bible; not what theological seminaries or creed books say respecting the Bible. Indeed, we regard Mr. Ingersoll to be the legitimate outcome—'the product of repulsion'—of the type of theology taught by his father. And we are obliged to pity the lad Ingersoll, so disgusted with the God-dishonoring dogma of eternal torment in hell, that he resolved to denounce the Book supposed to teach it. But here it was he made his first mistake. He confounded the Bible with the traditions of men. There was no excuse for this when a Bible could be had for fifty cents. There was the Book, why did he not ascertain if eternal torment was the penalty attached to God's law; if not, he could have pointed his big guns at the human theories erected around the Bible and shown that death was the penalty and that Jehovah explained the death threatened to mean a going back to his original element—dust (Gen. iii. 19,) and that the dead know not anything (Eccl. iii. 9)—that their thoughts perish the very day their breath goes forth (Psalms cxlvi. 4), and that all the faculties of their mind cease when men go to their grave (Eccl. iii. 10): and that the dead praise not the Lord, neither any that go down into silence Psalm cxv. 17. He then could have shown that the resurrection was the gate of life, not death (John v. 28, 29), and then, in unrivaled eloquence, he could have pointed out Christ as the only way to future life. Something entirely foreign to the philosophy of Socrates and Plato, which made immortality a part of man's natural outfit instead of a gift from God (Rom. vi. 23) through Jesus Christ, our Lord. And instead of writhing in agony forever, the end of the wicked is utter destruction—burnt up root and branch. Mal. iv. 1. Alas, for his first mistake. Had he examined the Book for himself he would have discovered that the theological hell was as baseless as the FABRIC OF A VISION.

It is a mistake for Mr. Ingersoll to pose as a philanthropist and liberator when he knows that some people have the religious faculty if he has not. He knows that use of faculties develops them, and neglect starves them out; and he ought to know that in a person who lacks the religious element the animal and intellectual is in full control, and that he has descended the scale of being till he is but little superior to the brute, as proven by the fact that he has no expectation except to die like the brute, and sleep in the dust; like the brute; and see to destroy the hope of future life in others.

It is a mistake, or worse, to say of the Christian's God that he believed and taught and upheld polygamy, and that he commanded the Israelites to kill every man, woman, and child for defending their native land, and there is not one word about woman in the Old Testament except the word of shame and degradation. These are deliberate falsehoods. He knows God never gave Adam two or three or four wives; he knows that Jesus, for whom he professes infinite respect, contradicts him. He knows that Deuteronomy xviii., and Leviticus xviii., gives a different reason for the destruction of the Canaanites from that charged—it was because of their abomination. And as to the statement about woman in the Old Testament he knows, or ought to know, that he makes an outrageously reckless charge. He knows the Old Testament says 'a virtuous woman is a crown to her husband,' and the woman is the glory of the man, and her price is above rubies. He knows the history of Sarah, and Rebecca, Miriam, Debora's, Ruth, Naomi, Hannah, Abigail, and others prove him false. Does free thinking need such defense?

In 'Mistakes of Moses' he says pages 113, 114, that the gentleman says God made the universe out of nothing. We tell him that Moses says nothing of the kind, and that he himself is guilty of making

SOMETHING OUT OF NOTHING.

He says that the Gods came down and made love to the daughters of men. It is sufficient to say to this that I have misnamed my subject. That is not a mistake. Does liberty mean liberty to testify falsely?

He further says: 'The grass began to grow and the flowers to blossom without a solitary ray of light.' It is not true. After the heavens and the earth light was first created. He says God allowed Adam and Eve to live 869 years without knowing their A B C's. Indeed! I wonder where he went to school from that time on till he was 930 years old.

Mr. Ingersoll next says, 'The Israelites sojourned in Egypt 215 years. Of course, if he were not morally deformed we would be justified in saying that he shortened this sojourn 115 years for a wicked purpose. As it is we say he states what is false when it was possible to state the truth.

He says the second chapter of Genesis says that God tried to palm off on Adam a beast as a help-meet. Reference to that chapter will prove that I correctly diagnosed his case, the moral in him has been starved to death. If further proof of this be called for we ask you to compare the bold blasphemies before the ignorant crowds who hang upon his lips, with the Ingersoll at the grave of a child. In one place there is positively no God, no future life, just an eternal sleep awaiting all. May I ask, then, where his philanthropy comes in when he charges so much per head for pointing to a goal they will certainly find without that expense? Yes; his tune is different at a grave. Said he, 'we do not know whether the grave is the end of this life or the door of another, or whether the night here is not somewhere else a dawn. * * * It may be that death gives all there is of worth to life. * * * The dead do not suffer. If they live again their lives will surely be as good as ours. We have no fear. * * * We, too, have our religion, and it is this: Help for the living—hope for the dead!'

Think of it! Hope for the dead, and no God to hope in! Won't the man who weakend at the grave of another howl with terror when death feels for his own heartstrings?"

The speaker concluded with an earnest exhortation to cling to the grand old Book till something better was found.—Cleveland Paper.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 12.

When considering some of the predictions of Daniel relative to the kingdom of God we think we omitted to call attention to the words addressed by the angel to the prophet in chapter xii. 12, 13 where it says, "Blessed is he that waiteth and cometh to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty days. But go thou thy way till the end; for thou shalt rest, and shalt stand in thy lot at the end of the days," mentioned above 1335 days. Who will dare say that his lot will not be among those saints who take the kingdom bestowed upon the Son of Man (see chap. 7) that all people, nations and languages shall serve? The prophet was greatly beloved of God, and this is satisfactory evidence that the prophet loved him, and that, according to James ii. 5, places him among the heirs of the PROMISED KINGDOM.

And, inasmuch as all the heirs come into possession at the same time, and that time the maturity, or perfection of all of them Heb. xi. 39, 40, and as possession is given to them when the Son of Man comes in power and glory and seats himself first upon the throne of the kingdom, we do not see how a reasonable claim can be made for the setting up of the kingdom at Pentecost. We would like to see the Oracle man figure out the 1335 prophetic days in harmony with the Pentecostal idea. There were 490 to expire before the end of the tether given to Daniel's people, and the Holy City. Dan. ix. 24. And from the time the daily shall be taken away and the abomination that maketh desolate set up, a thousand two hundred and ninety days, and forty-five more added to these before Daniel will stand in his lot. Now, as the ancient worthies will without the very last of the family of faithful Abraham,—it is safe to conclude that the last of them will not be made perfect without the first of them, so that all will be made perfect, and stand in their lot at the end of the days specified. As repeatedly shown already, the prophets, saints,—all who fear God's name great and small are rewarded when the time comes to judge the dead; and that time comes when the Lord takes to himself his great power and reigns. This is where the 1335 days end,—when Daniel and all the servants of God great and small stand in their lot. Jesus himself said the Just are to be recompensed at the resurrection, Luke xiv. 14; and that he will reward every man according to his works when he comes in his Father's glory with his angels. Matt. xvi. 27. We have just noticed another translation of Daniel xii. 12, 13,

NOT BE MADE PERFECT

"BLESSED IS HE THAT WAITETH and cometh to the 1335 days. But go thou to the end; and thou shalt rest, and arise to thine inheritance at the end of the days." As this inheritance is the land covenanted to Abraham with all the world outside of it superadded, the proof is before us that the enemies of the Heir are in possession of it yet. He is waiting at the right hand of his Father yet for his enemies to be made his footstool. Ps. cx. 1. It is when his enemies are handed over to him he comes to put down all human rule and authority, 1 Cor. xv. 24; and rules in the MIDST OF HIS ENEMIES.

Psa. cx. 2. And how beautifully this agrees with the parable uttered by our Lord and recorded in the 22nd of Matthew. "The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king which made a marriage for his son, and sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding, and they would not come. Again he sent forth other servants, saying, "Tell them which are bidden, Behold I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready,—come unto the marriage. But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, another to his merchandise, and the remnant TOOK HIS SERVANTS AND SLEW THEM.

But when the king heard thereof he was wroth and sent forth his armies and destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city. Then said he to his servants, the wedding is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy. Go ye therefore into the highways, and as many as ye shall find, bid to the marriage," etc.

None will dispute that the Jews were the first invited ones; nor that they paid the penalty of their temerity, by the destruction of their city and a frightful loss of life.

No one will deny, that the wedding had not taken place as long as the invitation to it continued.

No one will deny if he be intelligent that the invitation which had been suspended from the time of the crucifixion was to be renewed after they were endued with power from on high, beginning at Jerusalem. Luke xxiv. 47-49.

No one will deny that they did begin the invitation at Jerusalem, see Acts ii.

No one can deny that the invitation to the Jews alone was kept up for 8 or 10 years more or less until Peter used the Key of the kingdom to admit Gentiles to Abraham's bosom, or he invited them to share the blessings covenanted to Abraham and his seed, by to Cornelius as recorded in the 10th of Acts. This was where and when the highways and hedges were first visited with the gospel of the kingdom that was to be preached in all the world, Matt. xxiv. 14; supplemented by repentance and remission of sins being preached in Jesus' name, Luke xxiv. 47.

PREACHING THE GOSPEL

No one can deny that it was only when the Jews put the invitation from them [rejected] that Paul and Barnabas told them that seeing they [by rejecting it] judged themselves "unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles."

No one can deny that the wedding had not taken place when the message first came to the highways or Gentiles. No one can reasonably claim that the wedding has taken place now, or else the invitation would certainly stop.

No one can deny that the acceptance of the invitation espouses one to Christ—constitutes one a part of the bride elect. 2 Cor. ii. 2.

No one can claim the marriage of the Lamb till he comes for his bride; nor that he does not in person come here for them; and the dead portion rising first, the living ones are changed, and together they rise to meet him in the air,—and are forever with him. 1 Thess. iv. 16, 17. The union having taken place, the next we know of them is that they come with him, when he alights on the spot he ascended from—the Mount of Olives. Zech. xiv. As the Bride of the Lamb they have come to reign with him,—queen of the age to come. It is

THE SECOND ADAM

and the second Eve. We have hastily traced the invited ones down to the consummation of Jehovah's purpose in taking out a people for his name. They partake of the feast prepared; and we see plainly, how impossible it was for the kingdom of God to be set up in the past, in the absence of the King and his bride. Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom God promised to the Little Flock. It is when he who is their life appears, that they appear with him in glory; he clothes them upon with immortality from heaven,—and this explains what is said of the Jerusalem which descends out of heaven prepared as a bride

ADORNED FOR HER HUSBAND.

Rev. xxi. 2, 3. We have shown how impossible it was to set up the kingdom at Pentecost when the first invited ones were still being invited, years after Pentecost, and the highways were not visited in search of guests for the feast, for years after Pentecost; and the invitation is extended to those outlying regions, even yet. There is only one feast and that has not yet taken place. A seat can yet be secured at the table, in company with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

(To be Continued.)

Items of Interest.

Unpopular as was the Shahzada of Afghanistan's visit to England last summer the cost of his entertainment turns out to be less than the appropriation of $100,000 set aside for the purpose.

Along the Atlantic coast after a heavy storm so far as two and a half miles from the seashore trees have been found with all their leaves in midsummer turning red and brown from the effects of the blistering salt.

It is claimed that a man standing at one end of the Grand Canon of the Colorado shouted the name "Bob," which was distinctly audible at the further end, a distance of eighteen miles.

Traveling churches are to be established on the Trans-Siberian railway, which passes through many desert tracts where neither village nor church may be met with for miles. Cars fitted up for divine service will be attached to the trains for the benefit of the officials.

The French Minister of Public works has published a list of European railway lines. Germany comes first with 27,130 miles; France next with 23,715 miles. Great Britain and Ireland, with 20,345 miles, are followed by Russia with 19,420.

A German journal says that Prince Bismarck now possesses all the Prussian decorations, and has exhausted all the honors that it is possible for the Emperor to confer upon him.

M. Emile Duclaux, who was recently appointed director of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, was Pasteur's oldest collaborator, and had held the post of subdirector under him since the foundation of the institute.

It is said that there is no hope of the recovery of the recovery of the heir presumptive of the Austrian throne, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Este. His disease proves to be cancer of throat, and of the worst possible form.

M. Barre, the sculptor and engraver who died recently in Paris at the age of 85, designed the coins issued by Napoleon III. in 1852. His best busts are those of Pius IX., Napoleon III., and members of the Bonaparte family. One of his latest busts was that of Mme. Jane Hading. The old sculptor was a great raconteur.

For St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The "North-Western Limited," sumptuously equipped with buffet, smoking and library cars, regular and compartment sleeping cars, and luxurious dining cars, leaves Chicago via the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) at 6:30 p. m. daily, and arrives at destination early the following morning. All principal ticket agents sell tickets via this popular route.—April 4.

Let prayer be the key of the morning and the bolt of the evening.

POETRY.

Our Hope.

Over the hills the trumpet is sounding,
Sounding the beautiful song,
Jesus is coming, soon he is coming
Though he has tarried so long.
While we are hoping, watching and waiting,
He is preparing a place,
Yes he is coming, soon to receive us,
In his dear loving embrace.

Wonders and signs all tell the glad story
Jesus is coming again,
Coming to reign in honor and glory,
Our waiting will not be in vain.
Over the hills the trumpet is sounding,
Valleys re-echo the strain,
Watchmen in Zion proclaim the glad story
Jesus is coming again.

Though he is pleading still with the Father,
Soon he is coming again,
Soon will his pleading cease and for ever
For he is coming to reign.
Jesus come quickly, still we are crying,
While the time seemeth so long.
Trusting the promise still we are waiting
Singing the beautiful song.

Mary P. Welch

Original.

Beautiful Feet.

Our eye-sight loves to dwell upon that which strikes the senses as being beautiful. An appreciative sense of the beautiful always tends to refinement. A beautiful landscape scene lifts the thoughts to the Creator of such beauty, and we marvel at his wonderful power. At night time, as we lift our eyes toward the blue vault of heaven, all spangled with beautiful stars, shining like diamonds, with the silvery moon playing hide and seek among the fleecy clouds, the heart is at once lifted in adoration of the great Creator of such beautiful things.

Beautiful sacred music has a wonderful effect upon the heart, which aids in tiding us over the trials of life.

But our topic is "Beautiful Feet," a topic which is seldom, if ever engages the attention of writers and speakers. It is a Bible topic of great importance. Those who possess "Beautiful Feet," in a Bible sense, is admired by the Father above.

You will find it spoken of in Rom. x. 15, 16; "How beautiful are the feet of them that bring glad tidings of good things!" But they did not all hearken to the glad tidings, for Isaiah saith, "Lord, who hath believed our report?"

We use the words, "How beautiful!" as an exclamation of great admiration. The Holy Spirit uses this exclamation as being applicable solely to the feet of only one class of people, they alone have "beautiful feet," in a Bible sense. Listen: "How beautiful are the feet of them that bring glad tidings of good things!" Don't you love to have the feet of those cross the threshhold of your home, who bear to you "glad tidings of good things?" Who are more welcome? The phrase "glad tidings of good things," simply means joyous news relating to good things. Inspiration regards the feet of them as "beautiful," who make haste to bear the "glad tidings of good things," recorded in God's Holy Book. Speaking of these things Isaiah says: "Lord, who hath believed our report?" If we would learn concerning these "good things," we must refer to Isaiah's report. See Isa. lii. 7-9: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth! Thy watchmen shall lift up the voice; with the voice together shall they sing; for they shall see eye to eye when the Lord shall bring again Zion. Break forth into joy, sing together ye waste places of Jerusalem; for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem." Isaiah says: "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that,"

1. That bringeth good tidings of good.
2. That publisheth salvation.
3. That saith unto Zion thy God reigneth.
4. The Lord shall bring again Zion.
5. Will comfort his people.
6. Redeem Jerusalem.

Take this in connection with Nahum i. 15, which reads as follows: "Behold upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace! O Judah, keep thy solemn feasts, perform thy vows; for the wicked shall no more pass through thee; he is utterly cut off."

Nahum sees "upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings. In what does it consist?

1. Publisheth peace.
2. The wicked shall no more pass through thee.
3. He is utterly cut off.

See also Isa. xl. 4, 10: "O Zion, that bringeth good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain. O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God! Behold, the Lord God will come with strong hand, his arm shall rule for him; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him."

The above "good tidings" consist:

1. Behold, the Lord God will come.
2. His arm shall rule for him.
3. His reward is with him.
4. His work before him.

Briefly the "good tidings," spoken of in these passages consists in the restoration of the kingdom of God—"saith unto Zion, thy God reigneth!" Restoration of Israel—"the Lord shall bring again Zion."

Restore Jerusalem—"Redeem Jerusalem."

Deliver from the oppression of the wicked—"The wicked shall no more pass through thee."

The destruction of the wicked—"He is utterly cut off."

The coming of the Lord—"Behold, the Lord God will come."

Will come to reign—"His arm shall rule for him."

Will bring his reward with him—"His reward is with him."

Will then enter upon his glorious work—"His work before him."

These things cover the entire scope as to what Jesus and his disciples preached" as the gospel of the kingdom of God," or "the thing concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ."

So when we read in Rom. x. 15, 16: "How beautiful are the feet of them that bring glad tidings of good things. But they did not all hearken to the glad tidings. For Isaiah saith, who hath believed our report?" the glad news relates to the good tidings concerning the kingdom of God, and its attendant blessings, as just enumerated in Isaiah's "report." His experience was, "But they did not all hearken to the glad tidings." Neither do they today. They substitute for these "glad tidings," a sky-kingdom for supposed immortal souls, not the least hint of which is found in Isaiah's "report." Hence, it cannot be said of them, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings!" Their tidings being false, will bring disappointment, and the loss of these glorious things contained in Isaiah's "report." There is wisdom discernable in the "good tidings of good," "length of days are in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor. Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace."

"Peace be unto you," is the sweet benediction of the Prince of Peace. Dear faithful heralds of the "glad tidings of good things," the warfare is almost ended, we will soon be at home in the City of Peace, the city of the Great King. Glorious thought! "Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem. Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. They shall prosper that love thee. Peace be within thy walls, and prosperity within thy palaces."

Even now, by the eye of faith, as we near the journey's end, we view the verdant hills of Palestine bathed in the glory of the Lord, and we see the dark clouds of sorrow roll away, never more to return. As we enter the sacred portals of the Holy City and walk her streets, and mingle with the redeemed of all ages, and greet loved ones we long since laid away in the city of the dead clothed in immortal youth, we will realize then, as never before, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings that publisheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation, that saith unto Zion, thy God reigneth," when we see the multitude of redeemed ones blessing those through whom they heard the joyful sound.

O, Jerusalem, who hast drank the cup of fury, "when the Lord shall bring again Zion" thy sorrows will be o'er, no more shall hostile armies invade thy fair domain, neither shall the alien carry captive thy beloved sons. Thy God loves thee!

Children of Zion, take down now thine harp from the weeping willow's bough, and tune again old Zion's songs. Joyous times are in the near future.

God bless the feet of loving hearts who make haste to bear the above joyous glad tidings to sorrowful hearts, longing to hear of something that will lighten the heart and help to tide them over trials of a storm-tossed life. When we reflect upon the effect of such blessed news upon those whose hearts are burdened with adversities, and when we think that such news may lead such an one to bask in the sunlight of God's loving favor through unceasing ages, it is certainly not out of place to characterize the feet of those who thus haste to publish glad tidings of good things as being "beautiful." God bless the "beautiful feet."

W. H. Wilson.

The Commandments.

"Then said he unto them, Therefore, every Scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things new and old. Matt. xiii. 52."

"If any thing be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace. 1 Cor. xiv. 30."

With these citations of Scriptures to prepare your minds for what is to follow, I will now give my text, "If ye keep my Commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's Commandments and abide in his love." John xv. 10. It is claimed by all people as far as I know, and especially seventh-day people, that the Father's Commandments mentioned in the text has reference to the commandments God gave to the children of Israel through Moses, and especially the Ten Commandments, which I claim will be hard to prove, in fact I deny that it can be done, and I claim Christ in the text has no reference to the commandments God gave the children of Israel through Moses, not even the Ten." I claim the Commandments Christ spoke in the text, never was given to us or any one else until they were uttered to the people by Christ himself. Now this may seem strange to some of you, but I ask you to be patient with me, and to prove all things and hold fast that which is good, and if I do not prove and make my assertions good, you must reject them. I will now give Scripture proof for my assertions which I ask you to study well before you say it is false. To the law and testimony.

1. "The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand." John iii. 35.

Where is it so stated until stated by Christ, that all things was given unto him? Christ said they were.

2. Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? The words that "I speak" unto you "I speak" not of myself; but the Father that dwelleth in me "he doeth the works." Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father in me, John xiv. 10, 11. Here we have positive teaching of Christ that the "words" that he spoke was not of himself, but the Father that dwelt in him was doing the work. And it was the commands the Father was giving Christ that he kept, which is not written until they were spoken by Christ himself.

3. "Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily I say unto you, the Son can do nothing of himself, but that he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth; and he will shew him greater works than these that ye may marvel." John v. 19, 20. This evidence shows the Son was getting instructions immediately from the Father. And to this agrees what the Lord said. "And the Lord said unto me, they have well spoken that which they have spoken. I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren like unto thee and will put my words in his mouth, and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him. And it shall come to pass that whosoever will not hearken unto my words which he shall speak in my name, I will require it of him." Deut. xviii. 17, 18, 19. This evidence is so plain as to need no comment. The Lord said he would put his words in his mouth, and he (Christ) should speak all that the Father should command him, that is after being raised up, or born into the world, the Father would put words in his mouth, and Christ should speak all the Father should command him. All should take place after Christ's being raised up. I ask did Christ teach, and command us to keep and observe the law and commandments, that God gave the children of Israel? if not, where is it written and also the commandments that the Father gave the Son, except as they fell from the Master's lips? Christ was baptized. Where is it written, that the Father commanded him to be baptized? Where is it written that the Father commanded Christ to preach the gospel of the kingdom? And he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved and scores of teachings from Christ, that was not written prior to his teachings. Even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love. To-wit: that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the "word of reconciliation." 2 Cor. v. 19. When was God in Christ? certainly after he came into the world, and the world was being reconciled unto the Father through or by the Son. Then certainly the Father gave him commandments, which are not written only as they came from Christ. Now we have recorded in John v. 8, where Christ told the man to take up his bed and walk, and in verse 16 the Jews sought to slay him because he had done this thing on the Sabbath day. But hear the Master verse 17, "My Father worketh hitherto and I work." verse 18. In verse 10 the Jews told the man it was not lawful for him to carry his bed. And if you doubt it being a violation of the Sabbath, please read Jer. xvii. 21. Mind you, Thus saith the Lord; also Ex. xx. 10: Neh. xiii. 19: Matt. xii. 1, 2, 8: Mark ii. 24, 28. They accused the Master of doing things on the Sabbath that was unlawful. He did not deny the charge, but gave them to understand he was Lord even of the Sabbath day. Seems Christ did not have much regard for the Sabbath day. Now this may be a new idea to some of you, it seemed to come to me very suddenly, and I could not be satisfied until I wrote it down for others to read. If I have erred from the truth let me know.

M. L. Adams.

Baptism.

Brother Dryas Dust:

You ask me to reply to your letter through The Restitution, whether I believe baptism to be for remission of sins, or for adoption. You say, that you believe it to be for adoption. I marvel that a man of your ability should come to such conclusions. "You have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God." Art thou a teacher in Israel and knowest not these things? How readest thou? Mark. i. 4. "John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of repentance, for the remission of sins" Luke ii. 77, "To give knowledge of salvation unto his people, by the remission of their sins." "xxiv. 47, and that repentance and remission of sins, should be preached in his name, among all nations beginning at at Jerusalem." Acts ii. 38. "Then Peter said unto them, repent and be baptised every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." (not for adoption) Acts x. 43 "To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive the remission of sins." Hear Paul: Rom. iii. 25, "Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past through the forbearance of God." "You say that to the Jew it is for remission, but to the Gentiles for adoption," but you have forgotten, that there is neither Jew nor Gentile in Christ Jesus. Is it not passing strange that if there were any difference in the effect of baptism upon the two classes, that it has never been so stated? But hear Paul again, 1st Cor. xii. 13, "For by one Spirit are we all baptized unto one body whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we a bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit." Again Rom. vi. 7. "He that is dead is freed from sin." Rom. vi. 3. "Know ye not, that as many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death?" Now when we are being baptized, if we remain under the water we perish and are as good as dead (then if we are dead we are freed from sin) "for sin has reigned unto death," but when we come up out of the water we "are raised in the likeness of his resurrection." Further, the Jew must do the same thing to get into the Christ, for it is written the elder shall serve the younger. That means that the old Mosaic law or covenant come under and serve the (younger) New Testament. "Knowing that our old man is crucified with him, that the body (that is the whole aggregation of sins taken collectively) of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin." Now Brother Dryas Dust how can I disbelieve such an array of positive testimony? On the contrary I find the word adoption occurs but five times in the Bible and in neither case is the word baptism connected with it, or even a remote reference to baptism. So it seems to me you have built up your image without even a plain text to serve as a foundation. Your house is built upon the sand, (and it takes lots of sand to believe such doctrine.) I entreat you, be not one of those who wrest the Scripture to their own destruction. We are baptized because we have faith in Jesus, and by faith and baptism we become part of his body. How would it look for us (who are exceeding sinful if our past sins are not remitted or blotted out) to be joined unto Christ who was raised without sin unto salvation? The head pure and the body full of putrefying sores. Think you he will unite men and woman covered with the leprosy of sin, to his glorious body? Or will he not first heal them? I do earnestly entreat you to be careful how you teach any other gospel than that which Paul preached lest you fall under the condemnation he speaks of in Gal. i. 8, 9." Now as to what I believe it is briefly summed up as follows:

First, Baptism is for the remission of past sins (that is sins committed prior to baptism) irrespective of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Second, that baptism and the remission of past sins, are the legal steps taken to adopt us into the family of God and thereby we receive the spirit (principle) of adoption, whereby we cry Abba, Father.

Thirdly, that the Jew must go through the same process of adoption as we, or he is not an heir, for they are not all Israel, that are of Israel, but in Isaac shall thy seed be called. Now behold how long a letter I have written unto you and I have expressed myself freely because I know your patience and love for the truth. May God grant that my humble effort may be of help to you. God hasten the day when they shall no more say, know ye the Lord for they shall all know him from the least unto the greatest. If so be that I be found giving his household their meat in due season.

Your Brother in Christ and for Christ.

J. R. Brown.

Doctrine or Doctrines.

In the study of this question from the Word of God it is a oneness. Eph. iv. 4-6. One body, Spirit, hope, Lord, faith, baptism and one God the Father of all. So the distinction is made with this subject. Doctrine is of God and doctrines are of men. John vii. 27. If any man will do his will he shall know of the doctrine. Not doctrines. Matt. xv. 8-9. In vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men. Amos iii. 3. Can two walk together except they be agreed? Can we walk with God unless we agree with his Word? Our Master says Mark iv. 11 unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God, unto others it is parables. The people were astonished at his doctrine. Matt. vii. 28; Mark iv. 2; Titus ii. 1. But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine. Col. ii. 16-23. We are not to be subject to ordinances after the commandments and doctrines of men which have a shew of wisdom in will-worship and humility. Heb. xiii. 7-9. Not to be carried about with strange doctrines but let your heart be established with grace. 1 Tim. iv. 1-4, points out we are to have the false doctrines. 2 Tim. iii. 16-7. So the Scripture is profitable for doctrine that the man of God may be perfect thoroughly furnished unto all good works. Titus ii. 10, we should adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things. 1 Tim. iv. 16. We are to take heed of the doctrine. Isa. xxix. 13. The fear of God is taught by the precept of men. 2nd Pet. iii. 2, We are to be mindful of the words of the prophets and commandments of the Apostles. We now live in the perilous times spoken of by Paul 2 Tim. iv. 3-4 and iii. 1-13. Many are leaving and never able to come to a knowledge of the truth. Acts xx. 29-30, grievous wolves, men speaking perverse things should arise. 2 Pet. ii. 1, they are called false teachers. Rom. xiv. 13, 21, like Paul we should be careful about putting stumbling blocks in our brother's way. 1 Cor. viii. 13; Eph. iv. 14, not to be carried away with every wind of doctrine. Eph. v. 6, be not deceived with vain words. Rom. xvi. 17-18, beware of fine speeches. Heb. x. 5-9, God requires us to do his will He teaches knowledge and makes to understand doctrine those weaned from the milk. Isa. xxviii. 9-10. Paul's preaching was not enticing words of man's wisdom, but of spirit and power that our faith should not be in the wisdom of men but in the power of God. 1 Cor. ii. 4-5. The doctrine is the kingdom and resurrection of the dead, and we should advocate this as strong as possible, it being the Seed to be sown and the only Seed that will grow. In order to do this, dear friends and brethren, we must cast down imaginations and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ. 2 Cor. x. 5. In order to do this we must put on the whole armor of God. Eph. vi. 13-17.

Fred Greiner.

OBITUARY.

Cynthia Ann Palmer was born July 4th, 1814, in Chatauqua Co., New York. Was married to Seymour Stillson March 8, 1832. Moved to Indiana the same year, settling in St. Joseph Co., where they lived until 1838. In 1848, they moved to Marshall Co., Indiana. To this couple were born nine children, four of which are now living. The husband died Jan. 25, 1873, and since then Sister Stillson has made her home with her daughter Mariah Kanarr where she had kind care and treatment until her death, which occurred March 8, 1896. Her age 81 years, 8 months and 4 days. She was among the first converts to the great central truth of the Bible, "Life only through Jesus the Christ through a resurrection from the dead to life eternal." Was immersed into this faith in 1846, being baptized by Elder M. Catlin. Our Sister remained steadfast in the faith and like the ancient worthies "died in faith" by relying firmly upon the promises of God to raise the dead at the coming and kingdom of Jesus the Christ. A large concourse of friends listened attentively to words of comfort selected from Job 14th chapter, being among the last words quoted by our Sister as death approached. Most appropriate words to one just entering the domain of death, but hoping for deliverance through a resurrection to life eternal.

J. F. Wagoner.

Died at her home in De Soto, Mo., Feb. 14, 1896, Sister Hattie C. Morse, wife of J. H. Morse in the forty-second year of her life. Mrs. Morse was a daughter of J. B. Tuttle and was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. Twenty-three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Morse were married; ever since living happily together. Five children were born of this union, three of which survive her. She was immersed in the name of Jesus in the fall of 1881 by Elder Rennie and remained firm in the faith of the coming of Christ to raise the dead and to establish his kingdom, till she was called away by the enemy death, and we believe she now sleeps in Jesus and will come forth at the resurrection of the just. The funeral services were conducted by Elder J. S. Hatch of Scirceville, Ind., who told the sorrowing friends of our Bible hope in the resurrection, and the assurance that he hath given us, "in that he hath raised his Son from the dead."

[We had received an obituary notice from Brother Hatch of this Sister, but also publish the one sent by her husband.—Ed.]

"Effie died this morning, funeral Friday P. M., come and preach sermon sure," was the message which I received Tuesday, March 3, 1896. from our esteemed and deeply afflicted Sister, M. A. Woodward. The deceased, Sister Effie E. Bergy, was the wife of O. H. Bergy, of Dutton, Mich., the daughter of Sister M. A. Woodward and sister to Bros. Fred L. and Claud Austin. Left an orphan at an early age by the death of her father, she with her brothers found in the person of Brother Woodward a father in the true sense of the term. She was born March 15, 1874. At the age of eleven years she with her two brothers was baptized into the all-saving name of Jesus the Christ, and she lived a consistent Christian life till death. She was united in marriage to O. H. Bergy, November 19, 1891, with whom she lived in that full reciprocation of those joys of wedded life which only comes with that highest sense of mutual obligation which love alone begets. She fell asleep in the full hope of "life eternal" at the coming of her Lord. But oh, the desolation left behind. Seldom has it been my lot to witness such deep grief. I shall never forget the pathetic scene of that motherless child, little Willard; only two and one-half years old yet so precocious, as he viewed with wondering yet sad eyes the grief of the sorrowing friends. Neither those words through which he gave expression to his feelings, "What is it grandpa? I don't know what this means." And I thought poor child, you do not know as yet the withering blight of death's crowning touch. Some day you will, and, O may some kind angel guide your mind in wisdom's way, your feet in duty's path; till you shall reach that state of trust, of faith unmoved, and safely anchored there by hope, like her who loved you best, in peace await his coming, who is her life." The deceased left to mourn her loss, a grief-stricken husband, mother and foster-father, two brothers, and two children, Willard and Stanley, a babe of nine days old, with many more distant relatives and friends. The writer endeavored to comfort their grief in the hope of the soon coming of the Lord and the resurrection to the immortal life.

L. C. Chase.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published	68.10
Mrs. E. P. Tuttle	.50
Mrs. T. H. Lindsey	1.50
J. W. Hardy	3.50
Jane Parslow	1.00
Mrs. T. Baxter	.50
S. J. Wilson	2.00

Reduced Rate Tourist Tickets to California points are now on sale by all agents of the Nickel Plate Road. Our trains make excellent connections at Chicago with through trains to the coast.—Apr. 1.

Whether happiness may come or not, one should try and prepare one's self to do without it.

Letter Drawer.

Dear ones in Christ:

I am a believer in the second coming of Christ, and that the times indicate the nearness of his coming, when we shall see him in his beauty. If we live in the true faith we shall reign with him in glory forever. I am trying to be ready for his coming so I will meet him in peace.

Your Sister in Christ.

ELLEN C. SOLBERG.

Editor Restitution:

I have been much interested in the letters from those of like precious faith, but long for some of the old familiar names of those I knew in the long ago. Oh how we yearn for the voices that are hushed, and the foot-steps we shall not hear again. The truth grows dear as advocated by our paper and I would simply give you a word of Christian greeting and encouragement.

Earnestly striving to be one of the accepted ones.

A. L. WEATHERWAX.

Dear Brethren in Christ:

I believe in Jesus and am looking for his second appearance each day. I am very glad that I believe in this true faith of the gospel. I am trying to be ready for his second appearance so that when he comes I will be ready to go with him to the New Jerusalem and reign with him and the angels forever. I wish that a great many more would believe in this true religion, so that when Jesus comes he can reign over a great kingdom.

In Christ's name,

MINNIE SOLBERG.

To the dear Brothers and Sisters of the faith once delivered to the Saints:

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead thou shalt be saved, for with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mou h confession is made unto salvation." Rom. x. 9, 10. "Young men l likewise exhort to be sober-minded in all things, showing thyself a pattern of good works in doct ine, showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech that cannot be condemned, that he that is of The contrary part may be ashamed having no evil thing to say of you." The epistle of Paul to Titus ii. 6, 7, 8. We all want to be able to stand when our Lord shall appear.

Yours in the faith,

FRED MISHLER.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I thought it a duty to tell of my hope. I have been looking for the Lord and Master for twenty-five years and I never get discouraged although I have trials and trouble. Jesus said, cast them on him, he will help in time of need. I feel to thank the Lord for all he has done for me, that he caused a way open for me to see the truth. I first heard the truth from Elder Hugh Barnhill who is now sleeping, but I hope to meet him when the last trump sounds. I am so thankful for THE RESTITUTION, it seems I could not do without it. It is all the preacher we have in this cold world of ours. Husband and I are all that I know of in the faith in Sparta Co. Cal., we feel lonesome but can read God's holy Word. Pray for us that we may continue in the faith till the end. Our prayer is, come Lord Jesus and come quickly Amen. Yours in the faith.

ELIZABETH M RRIS.

Dear Restitution:

I am a firm believer in the soon coming of our blessed Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and I thank the Lord for opening my eyes to see the truth. I believe that he shall come and sit on David's throne in Jerusalem, and then all them that love his blessed appear- shall be living with him, and then shall his beautiful Bride be clothed with immortality. O blessed day when we shall mourn no more, for Christ shall wipe away all the tears. I love THE RESTITUTION very much it is a great comfort to me and my children, we would be very sorry and lonesome without it, and it gives me great joy to see so many letters from the dear brothers and sisters. O what a joy it will be when we shall meet the dear Lord in the air and then there will never be parting any more. I think there are great many signs that his coming is very near.

When we've been there a thousand years
Bright shining as the sun.
We're no less days to sing God's praise
Than when we first begun.

MRS. M. A. SOLBERG.

Editor Restitution:

Bro. L. J. Sigler is puzzled to answer people when they tell him that the thief was saved without baptism, let him ask them where they can find that God gave Moses any law to baptize? From Moses to the day of Pentecost when Peter preached there was no need of being baptized. When Jesus sent the twelve and the seventy to preach he did not tell them to baptize because there was no law given to the Jews to be baptized and the thief died before baptism was introduced as a command of God, and now a person may believe the gospel, and that Jesus is the Christ, but if he is not obedient in immersion he holds the truth in unrighteousness, and when the Lord is revealed from heaven in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ they will be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord and from the glory of his power.

Yours in hope.

SHADRACH WHITE.

Editor Restitution:

Dear Brother I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know what we were doing. I like to keep in memory the coming of Christ until he comes, for that is a part of my hope, therefore, I write. I am eighteen years old, was baptized November 24, 1895. I have been brought up in the one faith by my parents all my life. We have been living in Taneyville, Ind., about five months. There are only three of us, father, mother and myself. I have one brother and two sisters in the faith. My youngest sister was baptized at the age of eighteen years by Bro. John Foore in Fort Scott, Kansas, on his return from Indiana.

I ask you if you please to publish this letter, for I have relation in Denver, Colorado, that like to know about us, and if there is a minister of the one faith passing over this country we would be very glad to have him call. I think it is very necessary for a man that has the right faith to come and preach. It is a very bad thing to hear a preacher say that the Savior never died. Well I must close. Yours in the hope of the soon coming of the kingdom of God, that has no end. May we all meet there is my prayer.

S. G. HERRON.

Editor Restitution:

The Church of God at Fairview, Sheridan, County, Neb., to the brethren scattered abroad, greeting. We are patiently waiting our Lord's return, we believe he will come personally to this earth again and to stay, so we are watching, waiting and praying, come Lord Jesus, come quickly and claim thy own. We are trying by the grace of God assisting us, to have our lamps filled and trimmed so when we hear the midnight call, "Behold the Bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet him," we will be ready. We have Bible-class meeting every two weeks at Elder C. H. Watkins' house, prayer meeting every Friday evening at Brother Ward's, and preaching every Saturday evening by Brother Lee Watkins at Brother Orth's' house. Dear brothers and sisters may we all prove faithful and meet our Savior, is the prayer of the church.

Elder C. H. Watkins,
A. Hulett,
G. O. Smith,
E. C. Watkins,
P. L. Watkins,
Vane Wilson,
E. Orth,
C. A. Bouck,
Emma Hulett,
Angie Smith,
Hattie Watkins,
Lizzie Orth,
May Swartout,
Myrtle Bouck,
E. J. Watkins.

Training makes skilled soldiers, but fighting makes successful ones.

Character is a thing of growth, and fastens to the trellis of habit.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1895, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00

EXPENDITURE.

Previously used	$46.70

Numerous favorable comments on the Passenger service of the Nickel Plate Road have come to our notice. Their Fast Western Express leaving New York City at 9:00 P. M., Boston 3:00 P. M., Buffalo 5:35 A. M., Erie 8:07 A. M., Cleveland 10:53 A. M., Ft. Wayne 4:10 P. M., arrives at Chicago at 9:00 P. M., affording fast time and splendid connections for all points west. Rates always the lowest.—Apr. 1.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 283 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy: leather gilt $1.00

"Twelve words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts per hundred.

"Who are led by the Spirit?" This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in mission-work in every community. Price 25 cts. per hundred.

"Honoring the Son." An eight page tract, elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. [Do not send to "The Restitution," for any of these.—Ed.]

Why not patronize the Nickel Plate Road on your next trip to New York City or Boston? They operate solid through trains elegantly equipped with palace sleepers, fine day coaches attended by uniformed colored porters whose duties require them to look out for the comfort of passengers. Magnificent dining Cars. The Popular Low Rate Short Line.—Apr. 1.

If a man is faithful to truth, truth will be faithful to him. He need have no fears. His success is only a question of time.

The solid Through trains of the Nickel Plate Road equipped with all modern appliances for safety, speed, and comfort are a prominent feature of that Popular Line. Their Fast Eastern Express leaving Chicago at 1:30 P. M. daily, runs through solid to New York City, arriving at that point at 6:30 P. M. the next evening. Experience is the best teacher. After you experience a trip on this train, we are confident of your future patronage.—Apr. 1.

An increase of wealth generally means an increase of pride.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On March 10 and April 7, 1896, the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa; Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hill district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggoner, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Apr. 7.

To Our Friends.

We have again arrived at the close of another year. The work of the past is done. The new is before us, and with it comes the renewing of subscription for 1896. Have you sent in your money yet? Have you considered the situation of the whole world at the present time? Surely if you have you must believe that the ending of this age is not far removed now. The King is coming. You cannot afford to do without THE RESTITUTION for 1896. We cannot send it to you free, being poor ourselves. You need it yourself, and your friend or neighbor should have it. We must all be missionaries now, more than ever before. The Master will come soon. Tell others of the good news. You may not be able to talk much, but you can send THE RESTITUTION to them every week for only three cents a week. It will talk the whole year for you. Work now. Soon it will be too late.

We shall, as before, send to the Lord's poor on their application, trusting that those who have a few dollars or cents to spare will aid in this work. Some places where crops were short call now for aid. You, who can, remember this branch of work. We must not shrink now when so near the end as we know we must be. The cheerful giver is the one the Lord will reward.

To those whom we have trusted who have not yet paid, we appeal to you once again to make good your promises. We cannot carry you longer. The burden is too great for us. Make a final effort and square your accounts. We have a right to insist on this being done. Your promise, your word, your obligation is involved. You must make such good.

Do you want them?

"Future Probation, is that awaiting any of the unrighteous?" A book of 148 pages by W. S. Glen Moncrieff. Reduced from 25c to 12c post paid. $1.20 per dozen. Send to this office for them.

PLEASE write short articles. It does not pay anyone to write a lengthy article. The reason you write at all is that you wish to give some information, or to relate an incident that will encourage some one. The fact is this object is missed almost every time, because no one reads the long articles you write. Then write short and to the point. Make a point every time you write. You need not poison the point to make it surely kill some brother, but put love-salve on. If you have none of this ointment on hand, you are not ready to write at all, though paper, pen, and ink are before you. What you need is a season of communion with God, and time to study and meditate his Word first. Please do this each time before you write. Then what a good paper we can have for 1896. Let us try it once and see how much of God—of Love we can get into THE RESTITUTION for the coming year. Let us have the letters from old and young once more. We want each one to write a letter for our paper the coming year. Let us have two or three columns each issue—have a love-feast all the year.

"Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth."

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN

in your neighborhood this season

PLANT OUR FAMOUS

SEEDS PLANTS

all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!

PETER HENDERSON & CO.

35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 30,000 Baptists, in 1880. 3. Immortality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10 Baptism. Ten copies 5 cts., or assorted packages 6, 10 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

9 10c; 20 for 15c; 50 for 35c; 100 for 60c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two ages of these terms, in wit, a Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe; a series of questions on the main points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 12 for 50c. 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 66 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of 5 discourses delivered at Berwick, Pa., July 27, 1879, by Jos. Lacier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 8 for 25c, or 16 for $1.

The Hair of All Things. Carrie Williams. This little book of 160 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 776 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief harmonistic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. G. Thomas. 160 pages, price 30 cts. or four for $1, postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlineary word-for-word English translation, based on the readings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance; bound in cloth, price $1.00.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 125 pages, cloth bound, for 10 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Orrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 2 for 40 cents; 10 for $1.80; 50 for $4.50. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 148 pages, written by William Glen Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is for sale at this office, and sells for 12cts each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

PERSONS requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.
Mrs. Mollie Rathbun, Cedar Bluffs, Iowa.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

ON TRIAL THREE MONTHS

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Chapel on the Isle of Hope, one Week-end A. C. Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Books free. E. M. Jobin, Evangelist.

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 3 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1240 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope. Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 801 Huntingdon Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. All brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. ies east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and Social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. JASON WELTON RIDER; SARAH NELLECK SEC'Y.

At Alsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:30 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Rutledge, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 3:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Anthon, Elder.

Meetings held at Holly Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grost. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, A. M.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Renwer Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., in K. of P. Hall, 324 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia. every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 12:30 p. m. A. J. EYCHANER.'

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitesell. Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 A. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. MARIA E. TRADELL, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. F. Harlan and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. CADY, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher every four weeks. At Cottonwood every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Roberts Center is presided over by Bro LC Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk; money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say: I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedules at Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 15, Pullman Vestibule Sleeping and Sitting Cars on No. 6.

Westward.	9	15	55	5	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 05			1 10
Allegheny, "	7 20			1 25
Crafton, "	7 36			1 41
Manchester, "	7 50			1 55
Steubenville, "	8 10			2 15
Wheeling, "	8 53			3 00
Bellaire, "	9 05			3 12
Woodsfield, "	9 45			3 52
Cambridge, "	10 53			5 00
Zanesville, "	11 35			5 42
Newark, "	12 05			6 12
Mansfield, "	12 53			7 00
Crestline, ar.	1 50	4 45	6 30	7 55
Do. lv.	1 55	4 50	6 35	8 00
Bucyrus, "	2 20	5 15	7 00	8 25
Leipsic, "	2 45	5 40	7 25	8 50
Van Wert, "	3 31	6 23	8 11	9 37
Delphos, "	3 45	6 35	8 25	9 50
Ft Wayne, "	4 35	7 25	9 15	10 40
Arcola, "				7 25
Columbia City, "	4 59	7 49	9 39	7 42
Larwill, "				7 48
Mercerton, "				7 55
Engl. Lake, "				8 11
Warsaw, "	5 31	8 42	10 11	8 42
New Green, "				8 51
Bourbon, "				8 57
Inwood, "				9 03
Plymouth, "	6 05	9 21	10 50	9 21
Bourbon, "				9 32
Hamlet, "				9 40
Davis, "				9 46
Hanna, "				9 50
Wanatah, "	6 38	9 57	11 26	10 00
Valparaiso, "	7 21	10 37	12 10	10 15	8 34
Wheeler, "				10 31
Hobart, "				10 37
Liverpool, "				10 45
Clarke, "				10 52
Chicago, ar.	9 10	12 05	1 55	12 15	9 55
	PM	AM	PM	PM	PM

Eastward.	10	14	6	56	138
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Chicago, lv.	12	00	3 00	12 30	4 45
Clarke, "	12	39		12 57
Liverpool, "	12	47		1 05
Hobart, "	12	53		1 10
Wheeler, "	12	57		1 15
Valparaiso, "	1	12	4 32	1 30	6 02
Wanatah, "	1	32		1 50
Hanna, "	1	49		2 07
Davis, "	1	55		2 13
Hamlet, "	2	07		2 21
Greenwood, "	2	17		2 31
Plymouth, "	2	29	5 49	2 55	8 00
Inwood, "	2	35		3 01
Bourbon, "	2	45		3 12
New Green, "	2	52		3 19
Warsaw, "	3	20	6 26	3 50	8 40
Engl. Lake, "				4 08
Mercerton, "				4 15
Larwill, "				4 22
Columbia City, "	3	35	6 58	4 40	9 15
Arcola, "				4 52
Ft Wayne, "	4	10	7 35	5 25	9 50
Van Wert, "	5	18	8 45	6 35	10 55
Elida, "	5	35	9 02	6 52	11 12
Bluffton, "	5	55	9 22	7 12	11 32
Crestline, ar.	6	50	10 15	8 10	12 25
Do. lv.	6	55	10 20	8 15	12 30
Mansfield, "	7	30	10 55	8 50	1 05
Wooster, "	8	01	11 26	9 21	1 36
Massillon, "	8	25	11 50	9 45	2 00
Canton, "	8	40	12 05	10 00	2 15
Alliance, "	9	10	12 35	10 30	2 45
Pittsb'gh, ar.	11	15	3 50	12 35	4 50
	AM		PM	PM	PM

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 22, Passenger, Leaves	11 10pm
No. 24, " "	10 07pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 23, Passenger, Leaves	10 45am
No. 25, " "	10 40pm
No. 151, Local, "	1 20pm

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Pioneta, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. & M. C. Div. for all points south, southeast, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on J. M. Dashnerpick, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY,
Gen Pass. Agt.
Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 58, Ex. Sun.	12:14pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 56 "	7:35am	"
No. 54, ex. Sun.	10:20pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun.	8:25am	For Terre Haute.
No. 53, "	10:20pm	" "
No. 57 ex. Sunday	7:27pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. OWEN, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. FORD,
Gen'l. Pass. Agt.
St. Louis, Mo.

NICKEL PLATE.

The Nickel Plate, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts.
Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry.
Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:30pm	8:05am	1:30pm
St Paul
Hammond	10:38pm	9:07am
Hobart	10:53pm	9:43am
Valpar'o	11:16pm	10:07am
N Carlt'n		10:21am
Knox	12:18am	11:00am	4:04pm
Argos	12:58am	11:49a
Pl'mouth	1:25am	12:20pm	6:25pm
Walkerton	2:06am	1:06pm
Hobart	3:01am	2:11pm
Ham'mond	3:16am	2:40pm
St Paul
Chicago	7. 0am	7:0 pm	9:00 pm

Buffalo	12:50pm		2:32am
Cleveland	7:25pm	4:00pm	10:35am
Ft Wayne	2:30pm	1:25pm	4:30pm
Argos	4:10pm	3:29pm
Knox	4:50pm	4:07pm	6:25pm
N Carlt'n		4:24pm
Walkerton	5:06pm	4:38pm
Hobart	6:01pm	5:11pm
Ham'mond	6:16pm	5:40pm
St Paul
Chicago	7. 0pm	7:0 pm	9:00 pm

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:05 a.m., Cleveland at 5:00 a.m. & Detroit freights do not run Sunday. Other trains 7th daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Dan t Pl ace cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
E. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt.
Cleveland, O.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge, in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., Publishers, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors:
HORACE RATLIFFE,
W. D. TROYER,
J. H. WILEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD.
WM. RATLIFFE.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50 / Six Months - - .75 / Three Months - .40

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION OF ALL THINGS WHICH GOD HATH SPOKEN BY THE MOUTH OF A

VOL. XLV. Four PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MA

E THE WORLD BEGAN.

NO. 12.

Poetry.

By And By.

All day the rain had been falling
On the grass and the withered leaves,
And the wind had been moaning and sobbing
As a stricken mourner who grieves.
When the gathering shadows told me
That the day was nearly done,
There came a rift in the storm cloud,
And I caught a faint glimpse of the sun.
As I watched it, thy rays grew brighter
And the rain drops ceased to fall;
While the glow of autumn sunset
Cast a halo over all.

There came a heavy sorrow,
Into my bright young life:
Banishing joy and gladness,
And bringing me care and strife.
Almost fainting neath the burden
The way seemed dark and drear
When God sent by one of his servants,
Words of hope and loving cheer.
And I prayed, and trusted, and waited,
Till at length he answered my prayer
The burden was taken from me
The way once more fair.

And thus, in his infinite wisdom
God sends the sunshine and rain,
And though into our lives may be falling
The shadows of sorrow and pain,
Bye and bye the storm-clouds will vanish
And the light of perfect love
Will illuminate each step in our pathway
To the heavenly home beyond,
Where sorrow never can enter,
Where there's never a cause to sigh;
And all will be brightness and beauty,
In that home in the sweet bye and bye.

Original.

Editor Restitution:

Have enclosed herewith a few lines on "The New Jerusalem," and signed initials. If you think it will be of use to print it in the pages of THE RESTITUTION it may call forth a fuller explanation from a more learned pen than mine and help combat error.

Yours in hope,

J. M. G.

The New Jerusalem.

"And I John, saw the Holy City, New Jerusalem, of coming down from God out heaven, prepared as a bride adorned of for her husband. And the city lieth four square and the length is as large as the breadth, and he measured the city with the reed twelve th usand furlongs. The length, and the breadth, and the height of it are equal." Rev. xxi. 2. 16.

Much has been spoken and a great deal written concerning the Queen Metropolis of the earth in the age to come. Of the numerous notes and comments by able and gifted authors there is marked unanimity regarding "the length, and the breadth" of the city. The height, however, is a "stone of stumbling" and cause of division in the ranks of those just mentioned. To some the height is simply ridiculous, reaching away beyond the atmosphere of our globe; while others maintain the height ought to be relegated to the realms of mythology as wholly untrustworthy. While there are still others who claim (and not without just reason) that "the height" of the city in the original text is spurious. Foremost amongst the latter is Granville Penn, who critically gives the rendering from the collated original MSS., thus, "And the city lieth four squares, and its length is the same as its breadth; and he measured the city with the reed 12,000 furlongs, its length and its breadth are equal; and the height of its wall is 144 cubits."

"Thus the length or extent of the wall encompassing the city is measured by stadia, but its height by cubits."—Bible Echo, 1875.

The Greek and Latin stadium which is computed to have been a short furlong about nine-tenths of it, or more exactly 22½ yards.—Dict. of Greek and Rome Antiquity.

The ordinance surveyors of Palestine gives the length of the cubit at 21 inches. While the Bible Dictionary gives it at 19 inches. Therefore the reed would be either 114 or 126 inches.

Let it be borne in mind that Bible linear measures are in the C. V. nearly all borrowed from the human body as follows:

Finger breadth or digit four-fifths or seven-eighths inches.

Hand breadth or palm—4 digits three-fifths or three and one-half inches.

Span—3 palms—12 digits nine and one-half or ten and one-half inches.

Cubit—2 spans—6 palms—24 digits 19 or 21 inches.

Reed—6 cubits—12 span—36 palms—144 digits 114 or 126 inches.

The Revelator has it on record ver. 17: "And he measured the wall thereof an hundred and four cubits. According to the measure of a man that is, of the angel."

"According to the measure of a man" or a man's anatomy as noted above. The difference between the furlong and the cubit will be apparent, so much so that there is no necessity to invest the city with such preposterous altitudes as either 9 or 15 miles as some writers have done, presumably from using cubic instead of linear measure.

Granting there is no vitiation in the original text and that it stands as read in the C. V. "The length and the breadth and the height (of the city) are equal." There is data in the Scriptures to show the inhabitants of the golden city will not require to harness "the forces of nature" to elevate them to beetling altitudes, or lower them to abysmal depths or to propel them through space, having been born of the Spirit, and being heirs and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ they will be endowed with power to come and go like the wind, will be heard but not seen in transit to and fro as the bidding of the King on missions of love and righteousness, probably to the nations who will come up to the Holy City yearly. The overcomers shall "fly as doves to their windows." Are not the resurrected and changed ones to "meet the Lord in the air?" Gravitation and every law shall be dominated over and be in subjection to those who shall have the right to dwell in the incomparable City. "They shall walk and not be weary, run and not be faint." They shall mount up as on eagle's wings, they will renew their youth, having drank from the spring of perpetual youth, immortal life.

Shall not the length and the breadth and the heighth of the City be all the same to the happy participants in its joys and glories? Nothing will be permitted to mar their ascent and descent to and from the City of God. Because the Lamb is to be their Leader. Let us repeat the song prayers of Campbell and Bonar in part respectively.

"Oh Zion! lift thy raptured eye,
The long-expected hour is nigh;
The joys of nature rise again,
The Prince of Salem comes to reign."

"Come Lord and tarry not.
Bring the long looked-for day;
Oh! Why, these years of waiting here,
These ages of delay?"

The Communion.

IN THE RESTITUTION of Feb. 12, 1896, Bro. T. E. Adams had an article, headed, "A Plea for Unity." It is certainly the wish of all the brethren and sisters of the "one faith" that while we agree upon the things to be believed and obeyed in order to constitute us members of the body of Christ, and become the heirs of the promise, we should also agree upon every other point of doctrine contained in the Scriptures.

It must be remembered, however, that many of our brethren are called out of other churches and have not entirely "emptied their vessels of the muddy waters of tradition and brought them to be filled at the fountain of truth," and hence there are differences amongst us, and especially upon the time for commemorating the death and suffering of Christ. Those as a rule that came out of the Disciple of Campbelite church contend for the first day of the week. Those who are called out of the Dunkard or German Baptist church contend for a yearly observance, and those called out of other churches or embraced the truth, not being members of any church, are willing that this ordinance should or can be attended to at any time.

The lamb that was slain on the 14th day of the first month in the land of Egypt, was typical of Jesus, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world. The blood sprinkled upon the door-posts of the houses was a token upon the house where ye are, "and where I see the blood I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you." So even Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us—1 Cor. 5-7. In after years when the children of Israel were asked by their children, What mean you by this service? Ye shall say it is the sacrifice of the Lords Passover who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt when he smote the Egyptians and delivered our houses. Gen. xii. 26, 27. In after years when we are asked by our children, What meaneth this service? We can say the Lord Jesus the same night in which he was betrayed, instituted this service. The unleaven bread to represent the body of Christ, and the wine to represent his shed blood, and after giving the example he said, this do ye in remembrance of me. And Paul says, as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup you show forth the Lord's death till he come.

Without attempting to try to prove that often means every first day, or as often as we choose, or that once a year is considered by Paul often, I ask the question, when was Christ crucified? I answer, on the fourteenth day of the first month. Was there any change made in the time for observing the ordinance of the Passover. I answer no, for Christ commanded the Apostles to go and prepare the Passover, and said, "With desire I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer." Luke. xxii. 15. And as they were eating Jesus took bread and blessed it. See Matt. xxvi. 26. This was on the 14th day of the first month.

I can see no reason for changing this from a yearly observance to a weekly or any other time that may suit the wishes or convenience of the brethren. In the creation God called the light, day, and the darkness night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

The children of Israel reckoned time in the same way, and at the time of the crucifixion time was also reckoned in the same manner. Luke xxiii. 44. And it was about the sixth hour and there was darkness over the earth until the ninth hour, which would answer to our way of reckoning time from about 12 o'clock until 3 p. m.

Christ ate the Passover with his disciples on the fourteenth day of the first month and was crucified on the same day, the day commencing at 6 o'clock in the evening, and ending at 6 o'clock the next evening. Christ did not make any change in the time, but changed the elements, and we must remember that Christ our Passover was slain for us therefore it is not necessary to slay the lamb, but Christ used the bread to represent his body and the wine his blood, and says, this do in remembrance of me, and Paul says as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup you show forth the Lord's death till he come. When did Christ die? On the fourteenth day of the first month, then let us commemorate the event on the day it occured and meet on the first day of the week to rejoice for a risen Savior.

P. B. STOUFFER.

"To Die is Gain."—Phil. i. 20, 25.

Gain to who? Paul says the sectarian. Now, my brethren, do not turn sectarian. Do not say, in your preaching or writing, that Paul intended to teach that the gain would be to him. No, No! the gain would be to Christ. Read the 20th verse: "According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by 'life' or by death.'"

Now, Brother, is not all the gain all to Christ, and not to Paul? What gain can it be to any saint of God to die? None whatever. Why would it be given to Paul to die and a great mercy to Epaphroditus to get well? He was a companion of Paul's. Read Phil. ii. 25-30: "Yet I supposed it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother and companion, in labor, and fellow-soldier, but your messenger, and he that ministered to my wants. For he longed after you all, and and was full of heaviness because that ye had heard that he had been sick. For indeed he was sick nigh unto death; but God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow. I sent him therefore the more carefully, that when ye see him again, ye may rejoice, and that I may be the less sorrowful. Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness; and hold such in reputation: Because for the work of Christ he was nigh unto death, not regarding his life, to supply your lack of service toward me."

Brothers, sisters and all, can we not see the gain to die in Phil. i. 20, 21, was not to Paul, but to Christ? God had mercy on Epaphroditus and spared his life for the good of the cause, and to help the brethren and cheer their hearts. Sorrow was no more in the hearts of Paul and his brethren when he had recovered. If he had died in the work of Christ it would have all been for Christ and his cause, but no gain to him or his brethren. It has often been said the slaying of the saints was the seed of the church—that it made more converts to Christ and his cause, but no gain to the martyrs. It could not be any gain to them, unless it was true that man's reward comes at death, which we know has no foundation in truth, and no promise of it is made in the Bible. All of the apostles were martyred except John, and it did not stop the work of God from going on. No, the truth has marched on. They are dead; asleep in Jesus; their gain will come in the resurrection; they sought for "glory, honor, immortality, and in the world to come eternal life." They are heirs now of glory, honor, immortality, and eternal life. They had persecutions, trials, tribulations and death, but thanks be to God, they will get their victory through our Lord Jesus Christ at the glorious resurrection (1 Cor. xv. 5, 7.) Then Paul will get his gain that he could not get by dying. Paul says, "godliness with contentment is great gain." 1. Tim. v. 5, 6.

See the case of Hezekiah, Isaiah, xxxviii. 1-5: Hezekiah was sick nigh unto death, but God added to his days fifteen years, and he was rejoiced over the great blessing of the added years to his life. See v. 10: "I said in the cutting off of my days, I shall go to the gates of the grave; I am deprived of the residue of my years. I said, I shall not see the Lord, even the Lord in the land of the living. I shall behold man no more." * * * Then Hezekiah gained fifteen years by praying to God. God saw his tears and heard his prayer and blessed him with a few more years.

Now, dear brethren of like precious faith, can't we see there could not possibly be any gain to dear t you want to be forgiven with. u do not want God to hold ainst you, one thing that has er been forgiven you, neither st you hold against or ever ng up the thing that you have d you forgave. Forgiveness st be from the heart else it is t forgiveness but a mockery.

say we forgive and then harbor ds of malice in the hearts, and er trying to s..tter them, is not rgiveness.
Our Heavenly Father will fore us our trespasses even as we give those that trespass against
Then we ask,
For strength to resist temptation
From evil to be set free, iving the glory, and honor, and power,
O God to thee.
ut oh, with our human passions,
How scarcely dare we pray,
As we forgive, Oh Father,
Forgive our sins this day.
As we forgive, Oh Father!
Were this the heartfelt cry, urging from every altar,
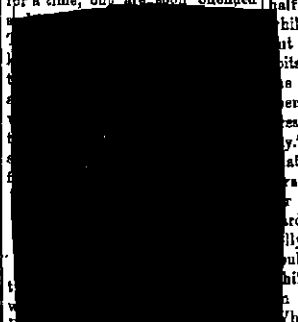
Up to thy throne on high.
ow we, thy erring children,
Should reach a tender hand
o every sin-wrecked struggler,
Upon life's crowded strand.

LYDIA CHAPPELL.

Stability.

Stability, or firmness, is a quality that is very necessary to success in all the callings of life. And where stability or staying quality is wanting, life in a great measure is a failure. There are many good honest souls with minds like a pivot, ready to turn this way or that way, hence so many are on the round and roll to go. A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways. This is not a sin, but it is a misfortune that affects our welfare here, and hereafter. Oh, how many poor and needy souls go rolling around, back and forth, never satisfied to stop and stay, and the more they roll the more they want to roll, and like drift-wood they drift down the river into the great ocean of eternity. Let us turn away from this pitiable sight and look at another. There are many that are naturally good, and have a desire to do right, and resolve, and resolve, who are weak in firmness, and failure is written on their fair brow. Then again, there are others who start out for that better world to come, who run well for a time, but are soon offended



The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this are the establishment of the Kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortalized saints as joint heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked: eternal life only through Christ and many other kindred truths. Also the early belief of the gospel, repentance, and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins pre-requisites to the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

the Blessed Savior to set up his kingdom here on earth and give to us our reward. Then we will all sing a new song with one accord and praise God for ever and ever.

ANDREW GRESHAM.

Chicago Woman Honored.

"London newspapers in giving an account of the January meeting of the Victoria institute, say that the paper of the day was furnished by Elizabeth A. Reed, A. M., of Chicago. This is the first time that a woman's work had been thus honored by this distinguished body.

The subject of the paper is "The Ethics of Buddhism—Were They Derived from Semitic Sources?" The author presented many historic facts showing it to be possible that some of the sentiments of Buddhism had been derived from the earlier writings of the Hebrews.

Mrs. Reed is the author of "Persian Literature" and "Hindu Literature." She is president of the Illinois Woman's Press association, and one of the editors of the magazine for the University association.
—Chicago Record, Feb. 27, 1896."

Editor Restitution:

The above notice of Mrs. H. V. Reed is a deserved tribute to one of the most effective Christian workers of our time. According to the best judges, Mrs. Reed's mining in historical religious literature has yielded some of the richest nuggets of truth. The boasted wisdom and antiquity of Oriental Religions must acknowledge Hebrew paternity, and suggestively, the inspiration of the Bible.

O. R. L. G.

Tobacco.

What is it? Why raised?

No one can tell that I ever knew. Some say it is good for croup, one virtue in a vice, possibly so. But why does my neighbor chew the filthy weed and treat companions with the same? Depraved appetite you say. But why develop such a thing? I cannot see one point gained in it, on the contrary ones will-power is weakened, and in some cases nearly destroyed. Beware my boy how you chew the weed out of Fathers presence. Look at that shipshod Jones, watch his half starved wife take in washing hile he hunts a job as he says, t instead he loafs, and chews, and oits. Where is the beefsteak for s children? O you say, "Jones ent the money for tobacco." I esume so. "A Christian man you y." I beg to differ with you on at. Is any one a Christian that ays off and leaves the family at-to loaf and chew tobacco?
rdly probable. You say, "he is a lly good fellow," may be so. But uld he not control that appetite?
hildren can not think so much of animal-being as a true man.
hy not leave off tobacco? Spend e 50 cents a week for your family d train that benumbed brain to ork a little head-work. See already hat time you have wasted beside oney squandered. Almost per-aded I trust. Now why cannot u see what an example it is to e young?

With Love,

E. MCMILLIN.

The Sultan of Turkey is being ailed by revolutionary pamph-
s. One of them recently dis-minated in Constantinople says:
What need has the Khalif of 200
ves? The law of the Sheri al-ws only four. Four, then, let m have and drive out the rest.
hy should he have 200 sides de-mp—young men full of vigor—d in idleness? Leave him enty."

The man who thinks he can ld a bridge over the river of y out of the failings of Chris-s, will find, alas! that it is too l to hold him, as he tumbles the gulf of perdition.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF,
Directors of the C. P. Association.

H. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, IND. MARCH 25, 1896.

FIRE! FIRE!!

The Restitution Office Is Destroyed by Fire.

At about eleven o'clock the night of March 19, 1896, we were startled from our sleep by the ringing of the fire alarm bell. Hastily rising and dressing to respond to the call we were soon apprised that it was our own office. Some men returning home from a meeting in the city had discovered it, but not till it was past saving. The firemen were promptly on the ground and in a short time the fire was under control, but the building is completely destroyed, as is the entire printing office outfit. The stock of books and tracts, electrotype plates, book cases, and furniture of all kinds is burned or rendered worthless by smoke and water, as is also the stock of printing paper. It so happened that a copy of our mail list was in the house, and of course safe, also the subscription book. The complete files of THE RESTITUTION for many years back are gone, as are other papers and manuscripts that were to us priceless. We could get nothing whatever of this kind out, the entire building being enveloped before it was discovered. It had gained such headway that it was impossible to determine the cause of the fire, and a dozen theories might be advanced, anyone of which may or may not be correct By good fortune the outside pages of our issue for this week had been sent to the press rooms the afternoon before, and though the type had been returned and was in the fire, yet the half printed sheets were safe. Considerable type had been set for the inside pages, among others the articles by Bro. and Sister Howard, Bro. Joblin's writings for this issue, obituary by Bro. W. H. Wilson, of Peter Mompier, articles by Brother and Sister Wines, besides others, by Bro. Baker, Sister Lydia Chaplin, several columns of "Letter Drawer," and other selected matter. This is all lost and we must ask the authors to re-write them if possible.

Friends came to our aid. Mr. McDonald of the PLYMOUTH DEMOCRAT at once gave us room in his printing house, and by Friday noon our type setters were at work with material from his stock getting other articles set up so as to be out with this paper. Of course the two sides will not match in appearance, but we trust you will overlook this.

We will necessarily be delayed somewhat with the work of rebuilding and again establishing our office. We do not want to miss a paper, but as there are five Wednesdays in April, and as we usually drop the fifth, it may be that we will drop the first. However we will endeavor to give our readers the four issues during April. Friends will, of course, understand that we can not send any back papers, nor can we fill any tract or book orders. We will get the paper going and later get out our tract and book list as we can. Be patient with us, and we will do all we can to please you.

We wish to thank all the kind citizens of Plymouth for their aid and sympathy in our trouble, and the proprietors of THE PLYMOUTH DEMOCRAT for their kindness in making it possible for us to issue our paper. Also to the energetic and efficient firemen of the city for their valuable part in the fight against the devouring flames, for their prompt and effectual work doubtless saved not only our own residence but several others adjacent. We give you all thanks.

THE matter under the head of "Talks with the Doctor," etc., in another column is culled from the works of Prof. Kirk Edinburgh, thinking it would be of value many of our readers, if it meet the approval of the editor. And unique information many other matters relating to health could be furnished if it be appreciated.

As Bro. Joblin's original articles for this number went up in flames, he forwarded what he happened to have on hand as soon as notified of our misfortune. He will be doubtless able to rewrite those destroyed for next week.

"MATTERS in the world's politics look ominous. Yet while perplexing to the nations involved, give hope to the saint that the day of redemption is near. It behooves us to stand ready, for the Judge is evidently at the door."

"SALVATION is a deliverance from death by resurrection and bodily glorification at the coming of Christ, with the inheritance of the kingdom of God. It is offered to all on condition, (1) of believing the glad tidings of Christ's accomplishments at his first appearing, and of his coming manifestation in the earth, as King of Israel and Ruler of the whole earth at the setting up of the kingdom of God, (2) of being immersed in water for remission of past sin and for a union with his name, after turning away from sin, and turning to God, (3) and of continuing in well-doing to the end of this probationary career."

FRUITFULNESS.

A faithless soul is a christless soul, and a christless soul is a fruitless soul. By their fruits ye know them. Matt. vii. 20. These words presuppose that the vine-dresser expects every branch in the vine to bear fruit. And Why? Because of the relation in which they stand to Christ, who is the true and living Vine. They are branches in him. The Father is the Husbandman,—or dresser of the vine. A mere profession gives no one a place in the vine. A more correct theoretical faith will not connect a person with the vine. It is with the heart, the mind the affection that man believes unto righteousness. That makes him a new creation,—old modes of thinking and doing pass away,—he has the mind of Christ, the spirit of Christ, the disposition of Christ. He abides in the Word of Christ, observes his commandments of Christ,—loves him, feeds upon his promises, grows up into him—yes, abides in Christ, and Christ abides in him, and this assures a bountiful crop of fruit.

But what fruit is he expected to bear? Not bad fruit, —not a mixture of good and bad fruit, not a scanty crop, but filled with good fruits. Phil. i. 11. From a vine we expect grapes—from a Christian the fruits of the Spirit,—the fruits of righteousness are expected. But it is plain that without Christ we can do nothing.

It is not enough to know we were once in Christ, not enough to know we were once fruitful. How is it with now? What fruit have we borne since we were engrafted into the vine? What fruit have we borne the last year, the last month,—the last week,—what fruit have we borne today? Do we realize as we should that we cannot be saved without fruit? That we cumber the ground if we do not bear fruit? That we shall be gathered and burned if we do not bear fruit? Do we remember that we do not bear fruit that we might be brought into Christ, but grafted into Christ that we might bear fruit. Do we realize that we live to work, but do not work to live? Do we fully realize that we rob God if we do not bear fruit; and even after we have done all we are not profitable to him?

What Must I do to Be Saved?

In answering this most important of all questions, it is first necessary to show what man needs to be saved FROM. It is DEATH, the wages of sin, not torment to all eternity. See Rom. vi. 23, and Ezekiel xviii. 20, where God says, "The soul that sinneth it shall DIE," not live a life of misery forever. Man needs to be saved or redeemed from the doom pronounced upon the FIRST MAN,—not something that any set of men might threaten. GOD'S sentence against man was, "Dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return," that is God's explanation of death; no man of church under heaven has authority to threaten eternal torment when God threatens DEATH. To be saved, then, is to be redeemed from death to live forever,—to have a resurrection from among the dead.

The question is, how can man be raised from the dead? Jesus answers this question in John xi. 25, he says, "I am the resurrection and the life;" and in John v. 28, 29, he says those who have done good shall hear his voice and come forth out of their graves to the resurrection of life. And we find it plainly taught in 1 Cor. xv, 12-23 that even the resurrection of those who do good, depended upon the resurrection of Christ; and even those who had fallen asleep in Christ would have perished if Christ had not been raised. As surely as God has spoken to us in his Word, no one can be saved without a resurrection from the dead.

The next great question is, on what conditions or terms will Christ raise men up and give them everlasting life? Jesus himself shall answer this question. In John vi. 40 and 47 he says:—"And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day;" and again, v. 47, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that believeth on me hath everlasting life." Clearly, the resurrection from the dead to everlasting life depends upon believing in Jesus,—NOT believing in some one else, nor doing this, or that, or other things, such as.....

Jesus the great Head of the Church has said the ONE ONLY condition of being raised from the dead to everlasting life exacted of man is BELIEF IN JESUS. And as this same Jesus says in John xii. 48 "THE WORD WHICH I HAVE SPOKEN, the same shall judge him in the last day," it is like self destruction not to heed these solemn words, and listen to the bare assertions of poor infallible men.

But another great question now confronts us:—"WHAT IS IT TO BELIEVE IN JESUS? Is it to believe that he once lived, that he was holy, harmless, undefiled, and separate from sinners,—and died a sacrificial death, and was raised again, and ascended to heaven, and is seated at the right hand of God? This is all TRUE, but is it ONLY the belief of these HISTORIC FACTS, that entitles men to be raised up to everlasting life at the last? Why, no! most emphatically no! In Romans i. 16 it says it is the GOSPEL OF CHRIST which is the power of God unto salvation, to every one that believeth. And the reader will now wonder what gospel Christ preached. The answer found in Mark i. 14. It reads thus: "Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came into Galilee preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God." GOSPEL means glad tidings, or good news; good news that the kingdom he taught us to pray for, was coming, see Matt. vi. 10. And he told his disciples in Matt. xxiv. 14 that it was "THIS GOSPEL OF THE KINGDOM," that was to be preached in all the world. This was not a kingdom above the sky that he offered the people, but a kingdom on earth, as stated in Matt. v. 5, "the meek shall inherit the earth." UNDER THE whole heavens, as explained in Dan. vii. 27 This is an everlasting kingdom, and that is the reason Jesus offers to raise up believers in him to everlasting life, so that they can inherit the promised kingdom for ever. Besides this, to believe Jesus is to believe in him as the one sacrifice for sin,—that he died in behalf of our sins, and that through faith in his blood we can be cleansed from all sin, and become joint-heirs with Christ to the coming kingdom of God, with eternal life.

In addition to this, to believe in Jesus is to believe what God says by Paul 1 Tim. ii. 5, That there is just ONE MEDIATOR between God and men, the man Christ Jesus, and not a whole host of human mediators,—who have died.

In addition to this to believe in Jesus is to believe that REPENTANCE and remission of sins is offered in Jesus' name, not out of, or apart from his name, see Luke xxiv. 47.

And further, to believe in Jesus is to believe that his name can ONLY be named by men when they are baptized into him,—Baptizing them (believers of the gospel) into the name of the Father and of the Son, and the Holy Spirit;" this is what Jesus says in Matt. xviii. 19; and Peter in Acts ii. 38, explains that baptism into the name is in order to the forgiveness of sins."

From the above it may be understood that God has published a law of pardon; it has three clauses:

1. Faith in the gospel of Christ.
2. Repentance toward God—reformation of life.
3. Baptism into the name of Christ for the remission of past sin. These are absolute conditions, and no one can set aside one of them and be saved. The Apostle Paul who said the gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation, also said, Gal. i. 8, "But though we or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you, than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. It is left with the reader to decide whether or not the kingdom Jesus preached the coming of is preached by the clergy! When, where, and by whom did they ever hear it preached?

We earnestly exhort all who read these lines to remember that the Apostle Paul says THE SCRIPTURES are able to make men wise unto salvation, and Jesus enjoined the people to SEARCH the Scriptures: John. v. 39. Are there not millions upon millions of pious devotees who are not encouraged to read anything, scarcely, except catechisms, histories of the Bible, and prayers composed by men, and the lives of the saints?

The closing word is, after reading the above, please turn to Rev. xxii 19, and read that the plagues written in this book shall be added to him who adds anything to it; and if any man take away from the words of this book, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city.

To Brother Brown.

As Brother Brown's answer to my question was in the main an endorsement of Brother Uwiggins' articles concerning Gog, I will only notice a few things. Like Elihu the Buzite, the kindred of Ram to whom you refer, you have spoken your opinion, and I hope that you will take it kindly if I like you, are not comforted by said opinions. You say, the River Euphrates, of Revelation represents the Turkish dominions. I have often heard that before, but how you or any other man could reach this conclusion I fail to see. Surely it was not reasoning from type to antitype. The literal city of Babylon was built on the literal River Euphrates. In the antitype we find Babylon, the Great situated on the beast, Rev. xvii. Surely you do not think that this beast is Turkey, and this woman is the Mohammedan church. But if not, how can you separate the city from the river as both are brought to view in the vision, what God has joined together is not for man to put asunder. If the woman is a sign of the fallen church, the river is the sign of the fourth kingdom, for both must go together. It don't look well to place the city so far from the river. You think that the four angels are now about to be loosed, and that they are, Russia, and France, Germany, Austria, and Italy, England and Turkey. That might possibly fit if the argument that you speak of was the River Euphrates. You and I agree that the angels referred to are powers. The book of the vision begins by referring to four great powers that were to arise in succession, one after another. When Cyrus the Median took the kingdom, the conqueror bound the conquered under his rule. When Alexander conquered two angels were bound under his power. When Rome conquered the three former were bound under her rule. When the vision of Rev. xvii. is fulfilled the four will be bound under his Majesty, or Queenship. Time enough to loose the four after the four have been bound, when the saints of the Most High conquer and take the kingdom. Then the dragon, the old Adamic power will be bound under the power of God's annointed for one thousand years. After that there will be a revolt, then comes the end of said power. The events now pending are war, famine and pestilence. These will prevail over the fourth part of the earth, Rev. vi. 2, 9. This war will result in the development of the beast and the ten kings of the earth that will make war with the Lamb, and be conquered by him, and those with him. See Rev. 19, also Zech. xiv. "The Lord my God shall come and all the saints with thee." The four angels having been bound under the woman's power will be loosed in order to her and their own destruction, and the sixth angel will pour out the vial on the great River Euphrates, that its waters may be dried up, that the way may be prepared for the kings of the rising sun The saints who will arise when the Sun of Righteousness shall rise with healing in his wings.—

"In the dawning of the morning,
When the mists have cleared away."

Euphrates fruitfulness, or many waters. The woman sits on the many waters. Rev. xvii. 1. The waters are peoples, multitudes, and nations, and tongues, verse 15. Here is Euphrates without going to Turkey.

Now let me say a few words to all who read THE RESTITUTION. Some things are very cheering and some things are very painful. Don't take offense, I am an old man, hard on to three score and ten. I feel sure that our people have more knowledge of prophecy than any other people, and when our stock of knowledge of events that are to precede the Lord's coming is so meagre, what must be the condition of the masses? I am not saying that the Lord delays his coming, for I am sure that the event will be the Lord's time. We haven't reached the breakers, the storm has not yet broken, there is a sore trial in front of us, there is persecution unto death between us and the kingdom. Don't depend on one another for your stock of knowledge, learn to dig some yourself.

Hoping to meet the faithful in the morning that is without clouds, I am your brother still digging for the gold of the truth.

J. C. KINSEY.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Restitution:

Wife and I have never written to the letter drawer, but will sincerely say to the dear brothers and sisters abroad that we have no desire whatever to turn to the right or left, ever looking for the dear Lord to appear that he may change our vile body's and fashion them like his own glorious body,

M. A. & JOHN COPELAND.

Editor Restitution:

Enclosed find Post Office order for the renewal of my subscription for another year. I would not like to do without it, for it is all the gospel we have of the one faith. My faith is strong, and I am looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ.

Yours in hope of eternal life when Jesus comes.

MRS. CORDELIA E. FOOR.

Dear Restitution:

Many good wishes for the continued prosperity of your most valuable paper with its soul inspiring messages, which is all the gospel we have here except our blessed Bible, which we take as the man of our council all along our journey of life, God being our helper and guide, we hope to be able to follow his precepts to the end, that we may be found worthy to the promised rewards, to all overcomers. We desire an interest in the prayers of the dear ones scattered abroad.

Yours ready and waiting for the kingdom,

MRS. MARTHA HAUSE.

Brethren and Sisters we are much pleased in reading the many little speeches in THE RESTITUTION and we will send ours in brief. Myself, wife and son are the only ones of our faith in this vicinity, but we are firm in the faith with you, and are expecting the soon coming Redeemer to raise the righteous dead and to change the living who are prepared for his coming. Hold firm and faithful to the end is my prayer.

Yours in hope,
JOHN B. & PRISCILLA CORBALEY

Bro. Underwood:

I send you my renewal, as promised for the paper another year. Allow me to say a few words to the brethren and sisters. It does us all so much good to hear from you through the paper in the letter drawer. We would like to see more contributions to that department of the paper. How we did all enjoy the love feast of letters at the beginning of the year. All testified to the same hope—the soon coming of our Redeemer. So continue to fill up the paper to some extent with letters which we all enjoy so much.

"Yours in the blessed hope."

EDGAR HATCH.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

We are also ready to give a reason of our hope, for it is based on the prophets and apostles, Jesus Christ being the chief corner stone. If we build upon the solid rock they will stand the storm. Christ came once to suffer and die for our sins, and was raised again for our justification. We believe he will just as surely come again to gather his elect into his kingdom where all shall be joy and gladness. O glorious hope, soon may it be realized. Let each one ask himself or herself the question "Am I ready?" Blessed are those servants whom the Lord when he cometh shall find watching: Luke xii. 37. Love to all the dear ones in Christ, hoping to meet you all in the kingdom where parting will be no more.

Your brother and sister in Christ.

Y. D. & M. M. RENNER

To the Brothers and Sisters of like faith:

I have been reading the letters in THE RESTITUTION, and I feel at my duty to say something for my blessed Master. I am all alone here and have no one to talk with, for the persons that pretend to be followers of Christ, know nothing of him dying and being laid in the earth three days and three nights, nor of being baptized, or about the Bible. Our Bible tells us "come to an knowledge" my understanding is to take the Bible for our guide, but they will say: "Oh come to the altar and be saved." But thank God we have no altar to go to, Christ is our altar, and I feel like shouting when I am all alone when I get to thinking of the promises he has laid down for us. He has told us to "search the Scriptures for in them ye think ye have eternal life" but some have changed Christ's Word and say we have it now. We will never die, but they were viewing God's Word through the preachers specks. God has said "Come unto me all ye that are heavy laden, take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest to your soul." But he failed to say, "never dying soul to save and fit it for the skies." I am looking for our Savior for he will fulfill his promise to all that look for him. He says "Behold I go to prepare a place for you, but I will come again." O what a blessed thought, I am praying that I will be one of the number alive or dead, that the second death will have no power on me, for the wicked he will burn up, he will "Leave them neither root nor branch, they shall be as the fat of lambs, they shall consume into smoke so shall they consume away, for yet a little while the wicked shall not be, yea thou shall diligently consider his place and it shall not be" "but the righteous shall inherit the land and dwell therein forever. Dear friends is that not worth living for? "There will be no more death, neither sickness nor crying." No more clasping our dying friends' icy hand and bidding them farewell, for the former things have passed away. It is almost ten years since Bro. S. T. Hook led me into the cold water, baptized me in the all saving name of the Lord Jesus. I desire an interest in your prayers that I may be counted worthy to wear the crown at our Savior's appearing and kingdom. I must quit writing, I have written too long a letter now but I am anxious to help to spread the truth as much as possible.

Your Sister in faith,
MRS. MILLIE GROOMS.

Dear Restitution:

We have never written for the much loved paper before, but we feel it is our duty to let our light shine before the world. We are isolated from any of like precious faith. The dear paper has been a weekly visitor for over sixteen years but owing to crop failures for three successive years we have not been able to pay for it, but hope to do so in the near future. We are earnest in serving the Lord and Master. We are looking and waiting for his appearing and kingdom. O, may we one and all be ready to shout, glory to the King of all kings. Pray for us that we we may be among the redeemed. O, heavenly king, we are waiting and longing for Eden to be restored.

Your Brother and Sister.
PETER & N. HULL.

To those of like precious Faith:

We often hear it said "We believe just as we are taught." I grant that it is true. So it is very important that we be taught of God and not of man. And in reading over the letters of our great Christian love feast the testimony is all the same, we all agree about the soon coming of Christ and the establishment of his kingdom at his coming and other very important truths. So, I conclude God is our teacher, and have we not a right to believe as we are taught if we go to his Word for our eternal welfare. I see Scripture quotations in almost every letter, all aggreeing to the same thing, and if our faith and hope compare well with the Word of God we know that we have the "Spirit of God." Then let us strive earnestly to overcome for the reward is to the overcomer Rev. ii. 17. iii. 12, 21.

Your Sister,
DELL GLOTFELTY.

Dear Restitution:

I can truthfully say I am one among the few that are looking for the Savior and can say I am trying at every opportunity to drop a seed here and there over Gods fields for there is a work for each of us and if we are not to timid to speak we may be able to pluck out a few tares or keep them from spreading, we cannot with harsh words expect to do much but with loving kindness at least let's try.

In his furrowed fields around us,
God has work for all who will;
If we may not scatter broadcast,
Yet may plant them hill by hill.

Shall we find these hills and plant them,
Shall we scatter while we may,
Or with idle hands stand waiting,
Till the seed time pass away.

MRS. VIOLA SHADDEN.

Dear Restitution:

I love to read the letters from the dear brothers and sisters who are watching and waiting for the return of our blessed Savior to this earth again. I thoroughly believe by all the signs we see that our Savior's appearing is not very far in the future. Then let us hold fast to the faith, is the hope of your Sister.

FLORA MCILVAIN.

Dear Restitution:

I will here write and send you a two dollar postal order to pay for Bro Ridlens' paper for he states he is old and has only one foot to walk on and his wife has been sick and is desirous to have the paper. I will try send it to him for I know I would not like to do such out mine. It is the only way I have to hear of those of like faith. We have here a good many professing to be followers of Christ, but by their work they deny him. It seems to me we are living in the times that the Apostle Paul speaks of, they will not accept the truth but turn to fables.

I remain affectionately yours hoping for that which is to come,

JESSE H. BEAN.

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the Church of God:

I wish to write a few lines in THE RESTITUTION. I was baptized last April by Bro. A. J. Lychauer and am trying to live so that when Christ comes I may be with him in his kingdom, and I am looking for him to come, it looks very much as if the restoration is about to take place. I love to read the paper, it and my Bible is all I have here as there are no other members here. I wish Bro. M. L. Adam. would write a piece on the 12th chapter of Dan. 6. 13. I think we are living in the time Paul speaks about in 2 Tim. iv. 3, 4. Brothers and Sisters pray for me that I may hold out faithful,

Yours in Christ.

A. B. MIDDLEKAUFF.

Dear Restitution:

I am glad to have the opportunity of enrolling my name with that courageous little band who can stand up in the face of the world today, and testify to the grand and glorious hope of our soon coming Savior and King. The trials and struggles of this life are almost over. Let us take fresh courage, dear ones all.

Your Sister in Christ.

MRS. LAKIE LOVELACE.

Dear Restitution:

I am trying to be good, I am waiting and watching for our dear Savior, I am a little girl ten years old.

Yours truly,

MAY HART.

Dear Restitution:

I too am looking for our dear Savior's return to earth to claim his Bride, for "unto them that look for him he shall appear the second time without sin unto salvation," that I may be worthy and ready to meet him is my daily prayer.

MRS. EMMA L. CRONK.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

I thought I would write a few words as I have never written any before this. I am paralyzed in my right side for eight years, and have nothing to do but wait and watch for the coming of our dear Lord. His Word has been my comfort in my days of affliction, for this is all I can do, to read and keep reading, the more I read it the better it is.

Your Sister in hope of the soon coming of Christ when there will be no sorrow, or weeping, or affliction as now is.

MRS. M. J. HILL.

Dear Restitution:

We love the dear old paper so well that I wish every one could read it, it seems to me to get better every week. The brothers and sisters seem to get a firmer hold on the truth, endeavor to help others to see and walk the right way. Oh that we may strive and though we may slip and stumble and feel discouraged then we may think what the Savior said; "I will never leave thee."

When the way seems long and dreary,
Full of toil, care and pain,
When we're wayworn, weak and weary,
And our hopes seem all in vain,
Gentle eyes and hear is are stealing,
Comes the precious promise then;
I will never, never leave thee;
I will ever be thy friend.

Your Sister in hope of a soon coming kingdom,

EMMA HART.

Dear Restitution;

My time has expired but I have not the means to renew, but if the Lord wills I will try and have it before long and then I will send it. I have been sick for seven weeks, I thought just as soon as I got able to write I would send a few lines to your most valuable paper. I feel like saying a word for the dear Master I am striving to live a Christian life but I have trials to contend with. I still pray and read my Bible and press onward. I think of old Bro. Job and other brothers and sisters of like precious faith. Let us be watching and ready and have our lamps trimmed when the blessed Lord comes. Pray for me that I may be faithful till he comes, when we shall see the King in his beauty.

Your Sister waiting and striving to see the kingdom of our Lord and Savior.

Holy Bible, book divine,
Precious treasure, thou art mine,
Mine to chide me when I rove,
Mine to show a Savior love.

MARY M. CHURCH.

Poetry.

The Middle Watch.

I.

I woke in the night, and the darkness was heavy and deep;
I had known it was dark in my sleep,
And I rose and looked out,
And the fathomless vault was all sparkling, set thick round about
With the ardent inhabiters silent, and wheeling too far
For man's heart, like a roraring frigate, to sail, where remote
In the chrism of their glory they float.
O man's soul, like a bird, to fly near, of their hearts to partake,
And clarel in their wake,
Drink day that is born of a star.
I murmured, "Remoteness and greatness, how deep you are set,
How afar in the rim of the whole;
You know nothing of me, nor of man, nor of earth, O, nor yet
Of our light-bearer,—drawing the marvellous moons as they roll,
Of our regent, the sun.
I look on you trembling, and think, in the dark with my soul,
"How small is our place 'mid the kingdoms and nations of God:
There are greater than we, every one."
And there falls a great fear and a dread cometh over, that cries,
"O my hope! Is there any mistake?
Did He speak? Did I hear? Did I listen aright,
If He spake?
Did I answer Him duly? for surely I now am awake,
If never I woke until now."
And a light, baffling wind, that leads nowhither, plays on my brow.
At a sleep, I must think on my day, of my path as natural,
Or trodden in dreams, in a dreamland whose coasts are a doubt:
Whose countries recede from my thoughts, as they grope round about,
And vanish, and tell me not how.
Be kind to our darkness, O Fashioner, dwelling in light,
And feeling the lamps of the sky:
Look down upon this one, and let it be sweet in Thy sight,
I pray Thee, to-night.
O watch whom Thou madest to dwell on its soil,
Thou Most High!
For this is a world full of sorrow (there may be but one):
Keep watch o'er its dust, also Thy children for aye are undone,
For this is a world where we die.

II.

With that, a still voice in my spirit that moved and that yearned
(There fell a great calm while it spake),
I had heard it ere-while, but the noises of life are so loud,
That sometimes it dies in the cry of the street and the crowd:
To the simple it cometh,—the child, or asleep, or awake,
And they know not from whence; of its nature the wise never learned.
By his wisdom; its secret the workman's earned
By his toil; and the rich among men never bought with his gold;
Nor the thrum of its visiting monarchs controlled,
Nor the jester put down with his jears
(For it moves where it will), nor its season the aged discerned
By thought, in the ripeness of years.
O older than reason, and stronger than will!
A voice, when the dark world is still:
Whence cometh it? Father Immortal, Thou knowest! and we,—
We are sure of that witness, that sense which is sent us of Thee;
For it moves, and it rearsits fellowship mighty and dread,
And let down to our hearts it is touched by the tear that we shed;
It is more than all meanings, and over all strife;
On its tongue are the laws of our life,
And it counts up the times of the dead.

III.

I will fear you, O stars, never more.
I have felt it! Go on, while the world is asleep,
Golden islands, fast moored in God's infinite deep,
Hark, hark to the words of sweet fashion, the harpings of yore!
How they sang to Him, seer and saint, in the far away lands:
"The heavens are the work of Thy hands;
They shall perish, but Thou shalt endure;
Yea, they all shall wax old,—
But Thy throne is established, O God, and Thy years are made sure;
They shall perish, but thou shalt endure,—
They shall pass like a tale that is told."
Doth He answer, the Ancient of Days?
Will He speak in the tongue and the fashion of man?
(Hist! Mist while the heaven-hung multitudes shine in His praise,
His language of old.) Nay, He spoke with them first; it was then
They lifted their eyes to His throne:
"They shall call on Me, "Thou art our Father, our God, Thou alone"
For I made them, I led them in deserts and desolate ways;
I have found them a Ransom Divine;
I have loved them with love everlasting, the children of men;
I swear by Myself, they are Mine."

Communicated.

HEBRAIS.—Isaiah C. V.]—Chapter 10.

1. Woe unto those who write wickedness: for they do write wickedness;

2. Inclining just-judgment away from the poor (beggar fit.), or snatching just-judgment away from the needy of my laity, so that for them a widow is for robbery and an orphan for plander.

3. And what will they do in the day of the visitation? (oversight) for the tribulation will come unto you from afar; and unto whom will ye flee for refuge to get responsive-help? And where will ye leave your glory,

4. So that it shall not fall into apogie? Notwithstanding all these things the wrath hath not been averted; but still the hand is uplifted.

5. Woe unto Assurians; The sceptre of my anger and my wrath is in their hands.

6. My wrath will I send against a lawless nation; and along with my laity will I array myself in battle to take spoils and to ravage, and to tread down the cities and place them in dust.

7. But (to the Assurian) hath not been enthused in this wise, and in his soul he hath not reasoned in this wise; but his mind will get off even to utterly destroy nations not a few.

8. And if they shall say unto him, art thou alone a ruler?

9. He will even say, Did not I take the country above Babyloon and Chalane where the tower was built, and did I not take Arabia and Damaskos and Samareia?

10. In the way that I took these, will I also take all the governments (authorities) Ololu all ye graven things in Hierousalem and Samareia.

11. For in the way that I did to Samareia and to her things made with hands even so will I do also to Hierousalem and her idols.

12. And it will be that when the Lord shall finish doing everything in Mount Sioon and Hierousalem; I will take an oversight of his great mind, of the ruler of the Assurians and of the uplifting of the glory of his eyes.

13. For he hath said with my strength will I do, and with the wisdom of my understanding will I take away boundaries of nations and their strength will I ravage.

14. And I will shake inhabited cities and all the inhabited will I take down like a nest with my hand, and like forsaken eggs as it were will I take them away: and there is noone who will put me to flight or gainsay me.

15. Will an axe be glorified without the one who choppeth with it? or will a saw have been lifted up without the one who draweth it? Is he not even as though one should take up a sceptre or a stick of wood?

16. Yea, the Lord will send dishonor unto thy honor and in thy glory a burning fire will have flamed.

17. And the light of Isaac will be for fire and he will sanctify him with fire that burneth, and it will devour as it doth the kindling stubble.

18. In that day the mountains will have been destroyed and the hills and the forests, and it will devour from soul to flesh; and the one who fleeth will be like one fleeing from a flame that burneth.

19. And those who are left of them will be a number and a child will write them.

20. And it will be in that day that the remnant of Israel will never have been added to, and the saved of Jakoob shall never again trust in those who have wronged them, but they will trust in the merced God of Israel in truth.

21. And the remnant of Jakoob will trust in a strong God.

22. And if the laity of Israel shall have become like the sand of the sea, the remnant of them will have been saved. A word that he finisheth and cuteth off in righteousness.

23. Because a word that hath been cut off in one piece will the Lord do in the whole inhabited.

24. Therefore, thus saith the Lord of Sabaoth, Fear not Assurians my laity, ye who are dwelling in Sioon, because with a sceptre he shall smite; for I am brinning a blow upon thee that thou mayest perceive the way of Aiguptos.

25. For yet a little while and the wrath will cease; and my anger at their counsel.

26. And God will sit up against them according to the blow of Madiam in a place of tribulation and his anger is with the way that is along side a sea on the way that is down to Aiguptos;

27. And it will be so that day that the yoke thereof will be taken from off thy shoulders and the fear thereof from off thee: and the yoke thereof will have been destroyed from off your shoulders.

28. For he will come into the city Aggai.

29. And he will pass by into Magyedoo; and in Machmas will he place his instrumentalities; and he will pass by a valley and will come into Aggai; fear will lay hold of Hrama, Saoul's city; it will flee:

30. The daughter of Gallelim will hear; Laisa will hear in Anatheoth;

31. And Madebeena was astounded and those who dwelt in Gibbeir.

32. Exhort ye today that they abide in the way, exhort the daughter of Sioon to await the hand, O thou mountain, and ye hills that are in Hierousalem.

33. Lo, the sole Lord, the Lord of Sabaoth is arraying the nobles for battle with strength; and those uplifted with pride will be crushed, and the uplifted will have been brought low;

34. And uplifted ones will fall with a sword, and the Libanos along with the uplifted will fall.

CHAPTER II.

1. And a sceptre will come forth from the root of Jessai, and a flower will come up from the root;

2. And God's spirit will rest upon him, a spirit of wisdom and understanding, a spirit of counsel and strength, a spirit of comprehension and true-reverence;

3. A spirit of fear of God will fill him. Not according to the glory will he judge, nor according to the common-talk will he reprove (lit. convict);

4. But he will judge the lowly in a judicial-way; and he will reprove the lowly o the earth and he will smite earth with the Word of his mouth, and with the spirit through his lips will he take away irreverent things (or an irreverent one).

5. And with righteousness will he gird up his loins and with truth will he gird up his sides.

6. And wolf will have been fed along with lamb and leopard will lie down along with kid; and calf and bull and lion will have been pastured together and a little child will lead them.

7. And ox and bear will have been pastured together, and their offspring will be together, and a lion will eat chaff like an ox.

8. And a young child will put his hand on an aspe' holes and on the lair of the progeny of aspa.

9. And they shall not harm nor shall they be able to destroy any one upon my sacred mountain, because the whole earth hath become filled with acquaintance with the Lord, as much water hath covered sea. (a reference to the flood)

10. And there will be in that day the root of Jessai and the One who hath risen to rule nations; in him will nations hope; and his rest will be an honor.

11. And it will be in that day that the Lord will repeat showing his hand to be zealous for the remnant that hath been left of the laity, that shall be left by the Assurians and from Aiegoles and from Habulonia and from Aithiopia and from Elamites and from the rising of the sun and from out Arabia.

12. And he will lift up a sign unto the nations, and he will gather together the lost of Israel, and the dispersed of Joudas will he gather together from the four wings of the earth;

13. And the envy of Ephraim will have been taken away, and the enemies of Joudas will perish; Ephraim will not envy Joudas, and Joudas will not afflict Ephraim;

14. And they will have flown in ships of other tribes. Together will they ravage at the West, and those from the rising of the sun and Idoumain, and upon Mooab first will they lay their hands; but the sons of Ammoon will first become subject:

15. And the Lord will dry up the Sea of Aiguptos, and he will lay his hand upon the River with a violent wind, (lit. spirit) and he will smite seven passages so that he may go his way through with sandals:

16. And there will be a way through for the remnant of my laity in Aiguptos; and it will be for Israel as was the day when he went out of a land of Aiguptos.

COMMENT.

The 10th chapter is a continuation of this wonderfully significant and far-reaching prophecy, not all fulfilled yet by any means, this said to be "cut off in one piece" and of which the inspired statement is that it was cut off where it was "in mercy." Otherwise no flesh would have been spared. It is not confined to the destiny of any one nation; but marks the destiny of all the nations and the future of all the earth. How appropriate to our own day and times, what is said in the first three verses of this 10th chapter. How responsible the "writer" even becomes in the eyes of God, the Judge of all the earth. Read and ponder. The representative of a nation too as here brought out in the king of the Assurians being used as an instrumentality in the hand of God to work out first his beneficent chastening purpose on his own chosen people, though he does it ignorantly and presumptuously in his own pomp and pride, and in doing it adds to his own sin, transgression and ultimate worse retribution. See the philosophy of this as brought out in the statement. "But he (the Assurian) hath not been enthused in this wise, and in his soul he hath not reasoned in this wise; but his mind will get off to even utterly destroy nations not a few." God's purpose is always beneficent but an unsanctified instrumentality is never beneficent in purpose even when working out God's will. The selfishness, "the uplifting of the glory of his eyes" will not and cannot glorify God so as to benefit such a person.

"Will an axe be glorified without the one who choppeth with it? No glory or higher good for man except in actual partnership with God. This is the philanthropy of God now and from the beginning.

The Messianic import of the 11th chapter as a whole is too apparent now in the light of the gospel to need further comment, and I would only call the reader's attention to important differences of reading in the translation when compared with the C. V. and R. V. It is possible, I think, for us to see how much of the prophecy of this chapter has already been fulfilled. Are we looking for the larger fulfillment?

CHAS. GARDINER.

The Study of Prophecy.

If there ever was a time when the study of prophecy, by God's people, was a matter of obligation and duty that time is now. A very large portion of the Book we hold in loving possession and veneration, as a history of God's revealed will, is prophecy. From the time that God first began to give man a revelation, though meager as it, necessarily and wisely was, a portion of it was prophecy. The great Author of the Bible saw fit to put within means of mental grasp something pertaining to the future, furnishing him some glimpses of a glory yet to be; and also giving him an outline of events to occur this side of the grand consummation. The reader must not deem it speculation if I say that it is impossible to save man as a moral and free agent, with the future utterly shut out from his view. There must be ground for hope. Paul says: "We are saved by hope." Things seen are not objects of hope for what a man seeth why doth he yet hope for? But if we hope for that we see not then do we in patience wait for it. The scheme of redemption contemplates the future so rich in blessing, "with scenes surpassing fable, yet true."

He who decries the study of prophecy, regarding it as waste of time, calls in question both the wisdom and goodness of God. Why did he give us page after page of matter relating to the future if these pages are not to be studied? Why cumber our libraries with this excess of matter inviting great expense in transcribing, translating, printing and distributing it, to say nothing of material employed, if we are not to attempt an explanation of it? There is implanted in man's mental constitution a deep and earnest yearning to know something of that mysterious future forward which he is continually tending; to draw aside the vail that intercepts his view of things beyond the present life, or the present state of things. What is my destiny and yours, and that of nations, and of the earth, our present home? Wherever man is found cherishing the expectation of another life, though this expectation be not founded upon the disclosures of supernatural revelation, he has pictured to himself a condition of things vastly better than that which now environs him. Elysian fields and happy hunting grounds are the pictures that please his imagination, and kindles his hope. His darkened mind may not be able to rise above the most sensuous or even sensual description of his future paradise, but he gives it advantages over his present fleeting stage of action and being.

This longing to know something of the future, and especially of another life after the present fleeting and imperfect life ends, finds an answer in the Hebrew prophets; at least enough is here revealed to afford us ground for the most lively hope concerning a future state; enabling us to live in joyful anticipation of that immeasurably fuller revelation to be ours when we enter into the blissful experiences of the heavenly kingdom. The centuries which were to intervene before the consummation of our hope are spanned by chains of prophecy, and measured by time-periods, so that we may know about where we are in the history of the world, and of our nearness to the end of the present age, and the coming of the Lord.

Prophecy was not given to satisfy idle curiosity, but to make known to us what is needful. There are things concerning which we would like to know more than is revealed but revelation had to stop somewhere, leaving some things barely hinted at, and many things not disclosed to our view.

The prophecies of the Scriptures are series of progressive revelations, growing fuller and fuller in detail as we approach the close of the prophetic volume. The earliest predictions of any future event, have the character of outlines, later ones fill in the sketch. Take the first prediction of the Coming One, the world's Savior.

"The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpents head." Here in a few words the grand result of human history is set before us; and in a few other words the dreadful conflict which was to precede the final victory, is declared in the same enigmatical strain. Here is promise and prophecy in embryo, the germ of the fuller revelation of the great college of prophets of later and distant times. Though vague, it portrayed a blessed prospect to our first parents. "But what desires were left unsatisfied! What questions unanswered!" They could know nothing of the intervening ages of sin and suffering that was to be the lot of their descendents. To the patriarchs it was revealed that in their line the seed should arise in whom all the nations of the earth should be blessed. In the wonderful prophecy of Jacob, uttered just prior to his death, the tribe from which he was to spring is designated. To Moses was made known the fact that the promised seed was to be a prophet, and that at some future time destruction would be visited upon those refusing to hear him. Later predictions bring to view his royalty in the line of David, whose throne he would occupy and rule over the twelve tribes of Israel; and still other predictions extending his rule pass world's sovereignty over into his hands; and the comforting truth also brought to light that the subjugation of the nations, and the subsequent blessing of them will not be accomplished by Jesus single-handed or alone, but that his elect church, by his own choice, will share in the honor, dignity and glory of the work; and, subordinately to this ruling body, Judah and Israel forming one nation in the promised land, will have much to do in making the world at large what it ought to be.

In the O. T Scriptures the two Advents appear in one point of view like the distant pink of a mountain with a long stretch of valley concealed from view. In the later Scriptures when the ascension to the right hand of the Father became a historical fact it was seen, that the suffering as a lamb, a sacrificial offering for sins and the reigning as a mighty king and conqueror were to be separated by time. His great prophecy in the 24th and 25th chapters of Matthew, and as also recorded in Mark and Luke, containing a series of orderly events to meet their fulfillment prior to his second coming in glory, conveyed the idea of time more or less protracted; but his disciples failed to grasp the thought, and just prior to his ascension inquired of him "Will thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel." Our Lord's answer the question implies that they were right in their expectation of the fact of restoration, but touching the time. There must be time to witnessing for the truth, to preach the kingdom of God, in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and to the uttermost part of the earth. But they seemed to have no notion that the time of postponement could extend far beyond the period of their own personal ministry. Paul was under the necessity, twenty odd years after the ascension, of correcting a false expectation on the part of the Thessalonian believers, by showing that the apostasy must come, and as a result the Man of Sin be developed and run his course before the coming of the Lord. What I have set before the reader is sufficient to show that the prophetic teachings of the Scriptures consist of a series of progressive revelations. In addition to this important proposition, I will here state that the church's comprehension of the prophecies has been and was intented to be progressive. With the two principles before us we may truthfully say that our position today so near the end of the dispensation gives us greatly the advantage over our predecessors in prophetic studies; and we will be held responsible for our neglect of this department of divine knowledge, and for our failure to improve our superior advantages and opportunities.

JOHN L. WIKE.

Conference Report.

The second Quarterly Conference of the Church of God in Nebraska was held at the school house, District No. 291, four miles southeast of Moorefield, Frontier County, beginning March 6, 1896, as previously published. Elder Adams did all the preaching, as the Assistant Evangelist was not present. Had a splendid meeting, large attendance and good attention. Quite a number were present from South Frontier County. The business meeting was held March 7th. The following are the minutes of the same: Meeting was called to order by President after singing. Elder Adams offered prayer. In the absence of the Secretary Mrs. B. A. Shaw was chosen secretary Pro. Tem. Evangelist's report is as follows: received for quarter $45.85, expense 73 cents, received less expense $45.12. Number of discourses preached 64, held one discussion 6 days. Number baptized 11. Assistant evangelist's report was not sent in. Moved we wait until next conference for this report. Carried. New business. Moved we have the President see Assistant Evangelist and have him wait until fall for his pay for what labor he does from now on. Carried. Report of South Frontier County was read by Sec. Sister Sarah Selleck. It is as follows: church in good standing, holding Bible reading every Sunday, social meeting every two weeks. Bro. Adams held meeting from Dec. 13th to 29th with good results. Number of discourses preached 19, number baptized 5. Amount of money received $12.60, amount of money payed out $12.60. A letter was read from Bro. D. L. Watkins of Gordon, Nebraska speaking of the grand meeting there will be when Christ comes. Also sent report of his labor for quarter. Moved, we leave the seed should arise in whom all the nations of the earth should be blessed. In the wonderful prophecy of Jacob, uttered just prior to his death, the tribe from which he was to spring is designated. To Moses was made known the fact that the promised seed was to be a prophet, and that at some future time destruction would be visited upon those refusing to hear him. Later predictions bring to view his royalty in the line of David, whose throne he would occupy and rule over the twelve tribes of Israel; and still other predictions extending his rule pass world's sovereignty over into his hands; and the comforting truth also brought to light that the subjugation of the nations, and the subsequent blessing of them will not be accomplished by Jesus single-handed or alone, but that his elect church, by his own choice, will share in the honor, dignity and glory of the work; and, subordinately to this ruling body, Judah and Israel forming one nation in the promised land, will have much to do in making the world at large what it ought to be.

In the O. T Scriptures the two Advents appear in one point of view like the distant pink of a mountain with a long stretch of valley concealed from view. In the later Scriptures when the ascension to the right hand of the Father became a historical fact Acceptable Service.

Jesus said at one time to the Pharisees, "This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth and honoreth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me." Then to his disciples he said on one occasion, "Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees ye shall in no case enter the kingdom of heaven." It may seem from this that unless the heart is involved in the service, it is not acceptable with God. Our acceptance with him and entrance into his kingdom depends on not only believing him his gospel service with our lips, but with our hearts as well.

Paul tells the Romans truth on the kind of service that God will accept, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service," Rom. xii. 1.

After the law was given to the children of Israel by the hand of Moses, they agreed to it in substance by saying with one accord, "All that the Lord hath spoken will we do." However, a short time afterward when Moses was absent, they forged their solemn pledge and said unto Aaron, "Make us gods which shall go before us, as for this Moses we wot not what has become of him." The record says, "The people sat down to eat and to drink and rose up to play." They erected a golden calf and worshiped it, by which the anger of the Lord was kindled against them, and the children of Levi did according to the word of Moses, and there fell of the people that day about three thousand men." Ex. xxxiii 28. By not having their hearts in the service and through unbelief their carcasses fell in the wilderness, and they were not permitted to enter into his rest.

Paul tells us, "Those things were for our example, to the intent we should not lust after evil things as they also lusted."

People in these last days are not inclined to worship the golden calf or a god made with hands, but many of the "professed Christian" are so strongly attached to fine farms, fine horses, and fine dogs, that the service of God is quite nigh forgotten, except perhaps during a revival meeting. Let us therefore, awake, put on the wedding garments, for behold the Judge standeth at the door. "Wherefore we receiving a kingdom that which cannot be moved. Let us have grace whereby we may serve God acceptably, with reverence and godly fear.

J. J. CARY.

The Religious Persecutions in Turkey.

Two months ago the first information was published respecting the attempt to extinguish Christianity in the Eastern provinces of Asiatic Turkey by the use of the sword and the terror of the sword. A very brief summary of the later aspects of this question may still be found interesting.

Some of the European Powers have made to the Ottoman Government remonstrances more or less serious against the use of force to compel Christians to become Mohammedans.

So far as is known the reply of the Ottoman Government in each case has amounted to a flat denial of the facts. Since this crime is not committed in cities where there are European consuls to report upon it, denial of the facts is a sort of answer which the European Powers have at present no means of meeting.

While the Ottoman Government thus denies the facts, early in January the local officials of the provinces of Harput and Diarbekir sent orders to the recently "converted" villages, on no account to admit, in case they are asked, that they were forced to become Mohammedans. The people were informed that death would be the penalty for any complaint respecting the compulsion used to force them to accept Mohammedanism. There are 15,000 of these forced converts in the provinces of Harput alone, and about 40,000 of them in the whole region devastated by the massacres. If the European Powers would send a commission through the provinces to learn the real facts, they could easily verify these statements, and if they could let the people know that they would not be betrayed to the Turks, they would find that these people are pleading for relief from the servitude to a hated religion into which they have been forced. If the Powers could demand of the Ottoman Government the issue of a proclamation condemning these military conversions, and giving the victims of them liberty to return to their own faith without incurring the death penalty which has now been pronounced against them, the mass of the people would gladly return to the Armenian Church.

Information from several points in the provinces of Sivas, Harput, Diarbekir, Bitlis and Van, show that the process of forcing Christians to become Mohammedans is still actively used. Week by week the Christian population is warned that all who have not accepted Mohammedanism are to be massacred. Every Friday is a day of terror for the Christians in all of these provinces. Constant pressure is exerted to induce people in despair to deny their faith. In the country districts neither priest nor pastor dare venture out of their hiding, for they would be instantly killed as men who would interfere with the conversion of the people. In the villages Christian worship is generally prohibited throughout the six provinces of the reform scheme. In twenty-eight villages in the district of Harput there had been, at last accounts (January 30th, 1896), no Christian worship since the first of November. This abolition of Christian worship among a Christian people is simply a part of the purpose to abolish Christianity.

To the list of Protestant pastors who have been killed must now be added the name of the Rev. Hagop Aleon Hayatian, the able and devoted pastor of the protestant church at Urfa, and a graduate of a German university theirefrom. This man had a powerful influence for good in all the region about Urfa, and his influence and power interfered with the execution of the plan to wipe out Christianity in that region; so he was murdered by the Mohammedans during the fearful massacre of the 28th and 29th of December, 1895

On the first of January, 1896, Ottoman soldiers attacked the Christians of Birijik, and Rumkale, in the district of Urfa, in the province of Aleppo. They pillaged all the Christian houses killed about half of the adult male population, and carried off such of the women and girls as suited their fancy. Then they fell upon the terrified and nerveless remnant of the population and demanded that they should accept the Mohammedan faith as the sole means of securing escape from death. The result is that there is not a single Christian left in Brijik today.

The same end is being pressed forward by depriving the people of their few remaining men of influence. The prisons of the chief cities of the various provinces are full of Armenians. Even the most cowardly of men can see that in a population where the Moslems outnumber the Christians ten to one, where the Christians have been stripped of all their possessions, and where the community has been decimated by the massacres, there is not the slightest possibility of seditious movements on the part of the surviving remnant of the Christian communities. Yet all men who have any pretense to education or to influence are arrested and kept in prison. There are no charges against them; they are simply imprisoned on the will of the Governor to deprive the communities of their leading minds. The people are thus left without their natural advisers, a prey to any enterprise that the petty officials or the nurses of the Moslem community choose to engage in.

Another indirect method of destroying the Christian communities in these provinces must be referred to. As if for the purpose of destroying self-respect and the grounds of religious hope, a systematic course of debauching Christian women is kept up in some of these provinces. At Tamzara, in the district of Sharka Kara Hissar, in the province of Sivasiah, the men were killed in the massacre early in November. From a well-to-do Armenian population of 1,500, all that now remain are about 300 starving and half-naked women and children. Trustworthy information from this place, dated the 24th of January, says that the most horrible feature of the situation of these women is that Mohammedan soldiery or civilian travelers attack them and outrage them in their houses without hesitation and without restraint. This license has been observed toward these wretched women during all of the three months since the massacres.

Information from Mezere, the seat of Government in the Province of Harput, dated the 27th of January, says that the same license to abuse Christian women exists in that province also. Within sight and hearing of the Governor-General's palace Mohammedan young men have broken into Christian houses by night, and worked their infernal pleasure upon the women of the houses. It is not once or twice that this thing has happened, but it is week after week, until the women are reduced to the condition of public prostitutes without will of their own.

It is because these women are Christians and refuse to become Muslems that they are thus attacked and made the sport of every Moslem ruffian who chooses to lay hands upon them. And it is because they are Christians that the officials of the Ottoman Government wink at these infamies, and refuse to give protection even when besought by these defenseless women with tears, and at the same time refuse to allow the women to flee to some town where they can have protection. Independent.

Selected.

Mr. Gladstone on the Future Life.

"Mr. Gladstone, referring to certain speculations of Origen, remarks: "I am struck with astonishment on finding that this great man, so deeply immersed in practical controversy, should have found mental leisure for these far-traveling speculations; they seem, as to many of their subjects, like balloon voyages undertaken into vacant spaces contiguous to the earth, insufficient for his expatiating energies." As for Mr. Gladstone himself, the expatiating energies of his mind, even at the age of 86, do not appear to have any limit. Yet he would probably be the last to admit that questions relating to future life and the condition of man therein need be regarded as far-traveling speculations; for, as he says in his article on this subject in the March North American Review, the fatal and sudden rending asunder of the portions of our complex nature, now so closely knit into one another, is a change which, in order to face it, there is need either of profound apathy or of some great internal support. At all events it is a question which faces every thoughtful person, and which has perhaps never awakened more general interest than now. Even Mr. Ingersoll, especially at thought of those we most deeply love, can do no less than strain the wish into a hope.

The subject of belief in a future state, during the prehistoric and early historic ages, affords, says Mr. Gladstone, a "spectacle of piteous interest." As he puts the case, "mankind, after the lapse into sin, still yearns for the fulfillment of the hopes, once bright and beautiful, now impaired and mangled, yet shrinks back in dread from a future which his conscience clothes in terrors, and the prospect beyond the grave is enveloped in such gloom that he clings rather to the brief but often sunny days of his earthly existence." But, as every one knows, essentially the same spectacle of piteous interest is abundantly in evidence today, with its half-hidden yearning for a possible realization of what is hoped for.

In this article Mr. Gladstone, however, does not so much argue the question as state in clear outline the history of it. As for the Apostles and the first teachers of Christianity, the doctrine of the resurrection was at the very threshhold of the gospel. It might have been imagined, says Mr. Gladstone, that as the resurrection was the first word of the gospel, speculation as to the mysteries beyond would be the next. But no; under the Christian system destinies depend upon character, and the early Christians were so intent on the work of character it might almost be said that they left destiny to take care of itself.

During the fifth century a sweeping revolution, under the influence of Origen and of Augustine, took place, when the early Christian reserve as to speculation concerning the conditions of the future life was abandoned. With this abandonment of the former reserve there came in a tendency to dogmatic assumption and assertion. The doctrine of natural, as distinguished from Christian, immortality was taken for granted and allowed to "creep into the church by a back door as it were." At all events the human mind had become familiar with the name of eternity, even though it had not carefully analyzed the idea itself.

If Mr. Gladstone cannot be said to have thrown in the article a great deal of light on the subject, he has at least indicated the spirit in which it is to be studied, and how worthy it is of manly consideration. And there is no subject on which he chooses to speak, with his always expatiating and illuminating energy, which he does not make interesting.—Inter Ocean."

Bible Manuscripts.

The oldest manuscripts of the Bible are not those of the old Testament, but of the New. The earliest New Testament text dates from the fourth century, whereas those of the Old Testament are not older than the ninth century.

"Thus the oldest extant manuscripts of the Hebrew Old Testament are 500 years later than the earliest manuscripts of the Greek New Testament. One eminent modern writer declares that all the existing Hebrew manuscripts of the Old Testament descend from a single copy made in the reign of Hadrian (A. D. 102-217), at the time of the great persecution of the Jews by that Emperor.

Some memorials of the greatest value, completely revolutionizing all previous knowledge of the conditions under which written documents were prepared in remote ages, have been discovered within the last decade or so by the merest accident. Of such nature was the discovery of the Tel-el-Armana tablets, nine years ago.

These were found by an Egyptian woman in 1887, among the ruins of an ancient temple between Memphis and Thebes. They are of clay, and contain the engraved correspondence in the Babylonian tongue (the language of diplomacy of that age) between King Amenophis IV. of Egypt and his vassal Princes in Palestine. The tablets belong to the age of the Book of Joshua, and in part relate to the events recorded therein. It is quite probable that the original editions of the earliest books of the Old Testament were written on clay tablets similiar to these.

The history of the text of the New Testament has its romantic incidents as well as that of the Old. The story of Tischendorf's discovery of the Codex Sinaiticus is one of these. Fifty-one years ago, in the course of his travels in the East, Tischendorf put up for the night in the monastery of St. Catherine at Mount Sinai.

While taking a look through the library he noticed a waste paper basket containing leaves of the most ancient Greek writing he had ever seen. They were part of the now priceless Greek Bible. The Bible is, unfortunately, not perfect, because many of the leaves, before Tischendorf discovered it, had been used by monks of St. Catherine to light the fire.

After great trouble and expense Tischendorf discovered the whole of the unconsumed portions of this document, which contains the New Testament intact. As soon as the monks found out that it was valuable they raised such a disturbance that the Czar of Russia had to interfere before the precious document could be secured. It is now in the Imperial Library of St. Petersburg.

The End of An Empire.

All the signs indicate that the Turkish empire is nearing the limit of its long and corrupt existence as one of the powers of the world. Whether it is to be partitioned among the European powers, Russia taking the choicest slice, or is to be kept in nominal life under the protection and at the dictation of that power, the result will be the same. The great Mahometan empire nears its end, practically wiped out by its monstrous vices. Since it overthrew the effete and decaying Greek empire and wiped it out by the taking of Constantinople four centuries ago, it has existed as a menace to Christendom, now active and again sullenly vicious. It reached the summit of its power at the siege of Vienna in 1683, nearly a century after the last of the Saracens had been expelled from Spain, and when the kingdom left by Ferdinand and Isabella was already showing signs of fatal weakness. Since then its power has been slowly ebbing, until it is now on the verge of disintegration. The same process of decay has afflicted Mahometanism in nearly every one of its former strongholds. The exceptions are found in two extremes—in the Soudan, where the pristine fanaticism and savagery that gave it original vigor are still extant, and in India, where the spectacle of more Mahometan subjects than Turkey ever had, living under the same government with Christians and Buddhists, prove the possibility of the reconciliation with civilized government of that ancient enemy of Christendom.

Exactly what will become of the countries included in the sultan's domins is a puzzle, though the indications are that it will soon be solved. This much is certain the change that is foreshadowed will terminate an epoch of history, the connecting links of which reach back to the Roman empire. The map of Europe will be constructed to meet the new order of things, and as the world of humanity devoutly hopes, the atrocities that have disgraced the civilization of an entire continent will come to an end.—Oregonian.

Wiring the Desert of Sahara.

The telephone and the telegraph are rapidly making inroads into the arid portion of the desert of Sahara. Engineer Bayolle is now on the way from Biskra to Tuggurth with a working force of 100 men for the purpose of laying telegraph wires between the two places. The line is erected as the party proceeds, and the first news from Bayolle was received at Biskra when he telephoned from a point some twenty miles south of Biskra. He advances at the rate of from three to five miles a day, and will probably reach Tuggurth about the first of the year.

He reports over the phone that he has met with a peculiar difficulty; the camels which he has taken along are not used to carrying burdens of a long shape like telegraph poles, and in many cases they refuse to go on with their loads. Each camel was loaded with four poles, two being strapped to each side, the smaller ends dragging on the ground.

Bayolle found it necessary to leave behind half of his poles at stated points, and continue on the trip with the lightened burden; since only short distances are covered at a time, he then sends the camel driver back for the rest of the load, and in this way the poles are transported without being dragged on the ground.

Since the camels will not carry the poles when strapped alongside of them he had to resort to the peculiar mode of balancing the telegraph poles across the pack saddles and fastening them in this position by means of straps and ropes. From a little distance it is quite a curious sight to behold the file of camels with their swinging gait, and a load extending many feet to each side. One would think that a drove of gigantic birds with spread wings was sailing over the desert.

QUESTION.

Will some one through the columns of THE RESTITUTION please explain the parable of the "Rich Man and Lazarus," and oblige.

L. L.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On March 10 and April 7, 1896, the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa, Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hill district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address A. H. Waggener, T. P. A., 7 Jackson place, Indianapolis, Ind.—Apr. 7.

The bell that still rings every Sunday in the belfry of St. John's Episcopal Church in Portsmouth, N. H., has most entertaining history. When Col. Pepperell led the colonial forces against the frontier at Louisburg, and the English had conquered, they came home triumphant. Among other trophies they brought a bell captured from a French cathedral at Cape Breton. The officers of the New Hampshire company presented the bell to Queen's Chapel. In the fire which destroyed the chapel in 1806 the bell was cracked. In 1807 Paul Revere and his son recast the bell.

For St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The "North-Western Limited," sumptuously equipped with buffet, smoking and library cars, regular and compartment sleeping cars, and luxurious dining cars, leaves Chicago via the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) at 6:30 p. m. daily, and arrives at destination early the following morning. All principal ticket agents sell tickets via this popular route.—April 4.

A small hole facing the sun is sufficient to let us know that it is shining; and a small aperture towards the world serves to reveal a person's character.

CONTINGENT FUND.

Dear Restitution:

Favorable responses having been made to suggestions for a "Contingent Fund," the writer would suggest further that all calls to administer baptism be answered by the one nearest the candidate, as this will economize the fund.

All who desire to contribute to the "Contingent Fund," please send remittances to THE RESTITUTION office, Plymouth, Ind., and receipts will be sent, and the fund disbursed as may be requested. Publication to be made of amounts of donations and expenditures.

We whose names are herewith subscribed, agree to pay during the year 1896, the amount subscribed, the fund thus created to be employed in answering calls to baptize persons, who, being isolated from the brotherhood are unable to secure the services of an administrator.

Previously published	$84.00
EXPENDITURE.
Previously used	$46.70

Why not patronize the Nickel Plate Road on your next trip to New York City or Boston? They operate solid through trains elegantly equipped with palace sleepers, fine day coaches attended by uniformed colored porters whose duties require them to look out for the comfort of passengers. Magnificant dining Cars. The Popular Low Rate Short Line.—Apr. 1.

"Is your lamp shining dimly, my brother? Trim it! Lo, the Bridegroom cometh."

Numerous favorable comments on the Passenger service of the Nickel Plate Road have come to our notice. Their Fast Western Express leaving New York City at 6:00 P. M., Boston 3:00 P. M., Buffalo 5:35 A. M., Erie 8:07 A. M., Cleveland 10:53 A. M., Ft. Wayne 4:10 P. M., arrives at Chicago at 9:00 P. M., affording fast time and splendid connections for all points west. Rates always the lowest.—Apr. 1.

AIDS TO BIBLE STUDY AND MISSION WORK.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom, Advocated in a series of Ten Discourses." A volume of 283 pages, 4th edition. Cloth, 25 cts. a copy; leather gilt $1.00

"Twelve words, or, the True meanings of hell, soul, spirit, ghost, paradise, incorruptible, incorruption, immortal, immortality, forever, everlasting, eternal, and their originals, as gathered from their uses in the Holy Scriptures." A tract of 40 pages, 10 cts. a copy.

"The Gospel of the Kingdom." An 8 page, double column tract, 10 cts. per dozen, 75 cts per hundred.

"Who are led by the Spirit?" This is the title of a new 4-page tract that contains just the arguments needed in missionwork in every community. Price 25 cts. per hundred.

"Honoring the Son." An eight page tract, elegantly printed, clear type, good paper, 25 cents per dozen.

PRESENTS FOR FRIENDS.

I hereby offer until further notice one copy of "The Gospel of the Kingdom," leather gilt binding; one copy of same in cloth binding; one copy of "Twelve Words;" one of 8-page tract; and one of "Seeking and Finding," all for the low price of one dollar. This offer is made for the good of the cause of truth. Send to Wiley Jones, Manchester, Va. [Do not send to "The Restitution," for any of these.—Ed.]

The solid Through trains of the Nickel Plate Road equipped with all modern appliances for safety, speed, and comfort are a prominent feature of that Popular Line. Their Fast Eastern Express leaving Chicago at 1:30 P. M. daily, runs through solid to New York City, arriving at that point at 6:30 P. M. the next evening. Experience is the best teacher. After you experience a trip on this train, we are confident of your future patronage.—Apr. 1.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN

In your neighborhood this season

PLANT OUR FAMOUS

SEEDS and PLANTS

all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!

PETER HENDERSON & CO.

35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

BOOKS.

FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Bible Pearls, Suitable for wide distribution. 1. The Gospel. 2. The Coming and Kingdom of Christ, by 80,000 Baptists, in 1866. 3. Immateriality. 4. The Kingdom of God. 5. Nature of Man and Thoughts for Thinkers. 6. The Two Advents. 7. What is Religion. 8. The Restitution Age. 9. Destiny of the Wicked. 10. Baptism. Ten copies 8 cts., or assorted packages of 10, 80 cts.

FOUR PAGE TRACTS.

6 10c; 20 for 25c; 50 for 50c; 100 for 40c.

State of Man in Death.

Life and Death. A concise statement and contrast of the two sides of these terms, 16 pp. of Theological and Bible use.

Can you Believe? a series of questions on the basic points of our doctrine.

What was the Sabbath? and What is the First Day of the Week, or Lord's Day? Chas. Stanley. The above is the title of a 16-page tract. Price 5c. each, 12 for 50c., 30 for $1.00.

The Doctrine of Baptism as taught in the Holy Scriptures, together with a collection of evidence upon the subject, from the most learned theologians, critics, lexicographers and ecclesiastical historians. 64 pages, price 20c.

Christ's Kingdom—Where is it? What is it? The above is the title of a discourse delivered at Berwick, Pa., June 29, 1879, by Jos. Lucier. Can be had at this office at 10c., each, 8 for 25c. or 15 for $1.

The Hell of All Things, Carrie Williams. This little book of 140 pages on the above named subject is now ready and may be had from THE RESTITUTION office, or of the authoress, Mrs. Carrie Williams, San Diego, Cal., for 25 cts. or free to those not able to buy.

Dr. Smith's Bible Dictionary. A Dictionary of the Bible comprising its antiquities, biography, geography and natural history, with sixteen full-page engravings, numerous smaller illustrations, besides maps of the Holy Land in the time of David, the time of Christ, and general maps of the countries mentioned in the Bible. Bound in cloth, 775 pages, price $1.50

JESUS CHRIST—His Paternity, Genealogy, Nature and Character, in the light of the covenants; including a brief hermeneutic sketch of the Jews—being two lectures delivered by Dr. L. G. Thomas. 160 pages, price 60 cts. or four for $1. postpaid. Send to this office.

The Emphatic Diaglott. B. Wilson. Contains the original Greek text of the New Testament, with an interlinear word-for-word English translation, based on the readings of eminent critics, and on the various readings of the Vatican Manuscripts, together with illustrative and explanatory foot notes, and a copious selection of references. New improved edition on large paper. Cloth $4.00; Library binding $5.00.

Cruden's Concordance—Unabridged. This work is too well known to need commendation—every Bible student knows the value of Alexander Cruden's Concordance; bound in cloth, price $1.50.

Key Words, or the Englishman's Hebrew and Greek Concordance to certain words which throw important light on great doctrines; a reference manual. By Wiley Jones. 175 pages, cloth bound, for 15 cts.

Catechism of the Bible. For the use of our children at home and in the Sunday School, by Mrs. Carrie Williams. This is a brief synopsis of the leading doctrines taught in the Bible, in the form of questions and answers. This book contains 107 pages neatly printed and bound, and will be sent to any address postpaid for 25 cents single copy; 3 for 60 cents; 12 for $1.00; 50 for $3.60. Free to those not able to pay. Send to this office for them or to the Authoress at San Diego, Cal.

Future Probation. By Wm. G. Moncrieff. We have received an invoice of the new book of 168 pages, written by William Gunn Moncrieff, subject, "Future Probation: Is That Awaiting Any of the Unrighteous?" Bro. Moncrieff is a writer well known to our readers, and of undoubted ability. This book is paper covers, and sells for 10cts. each, and can be had at this office.

P. O. ADDRESSES.

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bdg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Hoyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M L Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mollie Babcock W. H. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Dwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.
Mrs. Mollie Rathbun, Cedar Bluffs, Iowa.

JUST TRY IT!

THE RESTITUTION

On Trial Three Months

—FOR ONLY—

Twenty-five Cents

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held at the Church of the Blessed Hope, 138 West 3d A. v., Cleveland, Ohio every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. W. M. Joblin, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worsh and searching the Scriptures every Sunda at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1246 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C Ramsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:15 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome Pastors residence 805 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the Van Buren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preachi ghy J. P. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall corner east corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. W. D. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for doctorinal services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty m. ies east thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the frame Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and Social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah Selleck Sec'y.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:30. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Bush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 12, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Kuhn, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Cloth bound, for 15 cts. Anthon, Elder.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, (fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Grost. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Kheels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11, a. m.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Hanmer Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30, a. m., in K. of P. Hall, 65½ Wilson Ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting or Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitsitt, Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 A. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all forms of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria E. Trundell, Sec'y.

The brethren of the Church of God hold prayer and social meetings each Saturday evening at J. J. Cady's residence, and Quarterly Conference the first of each quarter at the Fairview school house in Furnas Co., Neb. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Bro. A. P. Harlan and Bro. A. Adams, Elders. J. J. Cady, Secretary.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks, Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Pilot every four weeks. At Constitution every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother or Sister Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preach ng. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Bro L. C. Chase.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Div.

Pennsylvania Lines.

Schedule at Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 15. Parlor Cars on No. 7. Pullman Vestibule Dining and Sleeping Cars on 4 and 6. Solid Through Trains between Chicago and Pittsburg. Dining Cars on 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Westward.

	9	13	89	5	7
	AM	1-5-7	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh lv.	7 00			4 30
Alliance "	9 40			6 30
Canton "	10 25			7 15
Massillon "	10 38			7 28
Wooster "	11 18			8 08
Mansfield "	11 51			8 41
Crestline ar.	12 30			9 20
Crestline lv.	11 12	3 05	6 45	PM
Lima "	1 40	5 35	9 23
Van Wert "	2 34	6 27	10 17
Ft Wayne "	3 25	7 15	11 09
Arcola "		7 25
Columbia City "	4 48	8 05
Larwill "		8 12
Syracuse "		8 25
Eagle Lake "		8 35
Warsaw "	5 31	8 42
Etna Green "		8 50
Bourbon "		8 57
Inwood "		9 02
Plymouth "	6 06	9 20
Hamlet "		9 30
Davis "		9 34
Hanna "		9 37
Wanatah "	6 58	9 42
Valparaiso "	7 41	10 30
Wheeler "		10 33
Hobart "		10 38
Liverpool "		10 43
Clarke "		10 48
Chicago ar.	9 00	12 15	1 15	3 15
	PM	AM	PM	PM	PM

Eastward.	20	8	4	6	80	88
	AM	PM	PM	AM	AM	PM
Chicago lv.	12 30	3 00	11 30	4 15	11 00	11 00
Clarke "	2 31		1 35		12 55	12 55
Liverpool "	2 45		1 50		1 10	1 10
Hobart "	2 50		1 55		1 15	1 15
Wheeler "	2 55		2 00		1 20	1 20
Valparaiso "	3 15	4 32	2 20	4 50	1 40	1 40
Wanatah "	3 40		2 45		2 05	2 05
Hanna "	3 51		2 56		2 16	2 16
Davis "	3 55		3 00		2 20	2 20
Hamlet "	4 00		3 05		2 25	2 25
Grovertown "	4 05		3 10		2 30	2 30
Plymouth "	4 20	5 45	3 25	5 50	2 45	2 45
Inwood "	4 25		3 30		2 50	2 50
Bourbon "	4 35		3 40		3 00	3 00
Etna Green "	4 38		3 43		3 03	3 03
Warsaw "	4 50	6 20	3 57	6 30	3 15	3 15
Eagle Lake "	4 58		4 05		3 23	3 23
Pierceton "	5 05		4 12		3 30	3 30
Larwill "	5 12		4 19		3 37	3 37
Columbia City "	5 20	6 38	4 27	6 45	3 45	3 45
Arcola "	5 33		4 40		3 58	3 58
Ft Wayne "	5 50	7 05	5 00	7 10	4 20	4 20
Van Wert "	6 45	7 55	5 53	8 00	5 10	5 10
Lima "	7 30	8 36	6 36	8 45	5 55	5 55
Cheremie "	8 11	9 15	7 15	9 25	6 35	6 35
Mansfield "	8 48	9 52	7 52	10 02	7 12	7 12
Wooster "	9 21	10 25	8 25	10 35	7 45	7 45
Massillon "	9 54	10 58	8 58	11 08	8 18	8 18
Canton "	10 07	11 11	9 11	11 21	8 31	8 31
Alliance "	10 50	11 54	9 54	12 04	9 14	9 14
Pittsb'gh ar.	1 15	5 50	1 50	4 00	12 40	12 40
	AM	AM	AM	PM	AM	AM

JOSEPH WOOD, Gen'l Manager. E. A. FORD, Gen'l Passenger Agt.

12-4-95-F PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, baggage checks, and further information regarding the running of trains, apply to any Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

J. E. HANNA, Agent, Plymouth, Ind.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 20, Passenger, Leaves.....11:00pm
No. 22, " " ..... 10:57p m

GOING SOUTH.

No. 23, Passenger, Leaves..... 7:05a m
No. 21, " " 12:40pm
No. 191, Local, " 11:00pm

†Daily except Sunday. ‡Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Forsyth, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and I. & M. C. Div. for all points north, south, east and west

The Restitution.

Issued Weekly by
A. B. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
Christian Publishing Association

Board of Directors
MOSES RAILSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. B. UNDERWOOD.
WM. RAILSBACK.

TERMS { One Year - - $1.50; Six Months - - .75; Three Months - .40

The Restitution of All Things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His holy Prophets since the World began.

VOLUME XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, APRIL 15, 1896. NUMBER 15.

Poetry.

"We Shall See Him as He Is"

Lord Jesus, thou'rt coming in glory so soon,
It may be at midnight, it may be at noon;
Fill us each of us grace to be looking for thee.
With hearts full of longing thy glory to see.

Lord Jesus, thou'rt coming in glory so soon.
Thou'rt coming in glory thy people to own!
Be ought, nought an in-jects thee, or dim the glad hour
When thy saints shall be raised by omnipotent power.

Lord Jesus, thou'rt coming in glory so soon,
Not to sow but to reap what in weakness was sown;
Thou'rt coming in glory outshining the sun,
To gather the spoil that in battle was won.

Lord Jesus, thou'rt coming in glory so soon,
Not with countenance marred, not with thorns
for a crown;
Not to stoop to the cross' bar to sit on the throne,
The fruit of thy travail, thou glorious One.

Lord Jesus, thou'rt coming in glory so soon,
The Bride bars with thee all thy members are sons;
And circling from thee as the centre of bliss,
All creation shall own thee, thy glory confess.

Original.

MESSIAS.—Isaiah C. V.—Chapter 19.

1. A vision of Aiguptos. Lo, the Lord sitteth upon a light cloud and will come into Aiguptos and the things of Aigeptos made with hands will have been shaken from before his face, and their heart in them will have become weak.

2. And Aiguptioi will have been stirred up against Aigeptioi, and man will war against his brother, city against city and law against law.

3. And the spirit of the Aiguptioi will insane become disturbed within them and I shall scatter their counsel, and they will ask their gods and their shades and those who speak from the ground and those who speak from the belly (ventriloquists).

4. And I shall give Aiguptos up into the hands of harsh Lords, and harsh kings will lord it over them. Thus saith the Lord of Sabaoth.

5. And the Aiguptioi will drink the water beside the sea, and the river will leave off and will have become dried up;

6. And the rivers and the canals of the river will leave off and every assemblage of waters marsh of reed and papyrus will have become dried up;

7. And all the green succulent herbage round about the river and everything that is accustomed to be sown because of the river will have become dried up and formless.

8. And the fishermen will sigh and all who cast a hook into the river will sigh, and those who cast seines and kept nets will sorrow.

9. And shame will lay hold of those who work the hetcheled flax and those who work the fine linen.

10. And those who work them will be in woe and all those who make the suthos (a kind of beer) will have sorrowed and will weary their souls.

11. And the rulers of Tanes the wise fellow-counselors of the king will be without savor. How will ye say unto the king, ye sons of understanding ones, ye sons of kings from the outset,

12. Where are now thy wise men; and may they have told thee and may they have said what the Lord of Sabaoth hath counseled in respect to Aigupton?

13. The rulers of Tanis have left off, and the rulers of Memphis have become lifted up and they will lead Aigupton astray [with] by tribe by tribe.

14. For the Lord hath mingled for them a spirit of misleading and they have led Aigupton astray in all their works as the one reeled astray who is drunken and at the same time vomiteth.

15. And there will not be for Aigupton employment that will make head and tail and beginning and end.

16. And in that day Aigupton will be like women in fear and trembling from before the face of the hand of the Lord of Sabaoth, which he will lay upon them.

17. And the country of the Jondaioi will be to the Aigupton an object of fear: every one who shall name it to them will have been feared, because of the counsel which the Lord of Sabaoth hath counseled in respect to it.

18. In that day there will be five cities in Aigupton speaking the Chananitish tongue and swearing in the name of the Lord of Sabaoth; one city will have been called city Asedeck (which means "not acceptable to thee").

19. In that day there will be an altar in a province of Aiguptioi, and a votive pillar unto the Lord at the border thereof;

20. And it will be for a sign for the assistance unto the Lord in a province of Aigupton; for they will cry unto the Lord because of those who afflict them a man who will save them, judging will he save them,

21. And the Lord will be known unto the Aiguptioi, and the Aiguptioi will know the Lord in that day, and will offer sacrifices and vow vows unto the Lord and pay them.

22. And the Lord will smite the Aiguptioi with a plague (a blow) and will heal them with a healing and they will turn unto the Lord, and he will hearken unto them and will heal them with a healing.

23. In that day there will be the way from Aigupton unto Assurians, and Assurians will go into Aigupton, and Aiguptioi will go their way unto Assurioi and Aiguptioi will serve the Assurioi as bond-servants.

24. In that day Israel will be third among the Aiguptioi, and among the Assurioi will be blessed in the land.

25. Which the Lord of Sabaoth hath blessed in saying, Blessed is my laity that is in Aigupton and that is among Assurioi, and my inheritance Israel.

CHAPTER 20.

1. During the year when Tanethan came into Azootos, when he was sent by Arnna king of Assurians and waged against Azootos and took it.

2. Then the Lord talked unto Hesaias son of Amoos, saying, Go thy way and take off the sack-cloth from thy loins, and loose the sandals from off thy feet, and do in this wise, going thy way naked and barefooted.

3. And the Lord said, In the way that my house-servant Hesaias hath gone his way naked and barefooted for three years, will there be three years for signs and prodigies unto the Aiguptioi and Aithiopoi,

4. Because in this wise will a king of Assurioi lead the captivity of Aigupton and of Aithiopoi, young men and elders naked and bare-footed with the shame of Aigupton uncovered.

5. And they will have been put to shame when humbled on account of Aithiopoi, in whom the Aiguptioi have trusted, for they were their glory.

6. And those who dwell in this island will say, in that day, Lo we trusted to flee for refuge to them for responsive-help, to them who were not able to be saved from a king of Assurioi, and how shall we be saved?

CHAPTER 21.

1. The vision of the desert. Like a cyclone through a desert should it come, coming out of a desert land; fearful.

2. And harsh was the vision told me. The one who revoleth revolteth; the one who transgresseth transgresseth. Unto me come the Elamites and unto me the elders of the Persians. Now shall I sigh and exhort myself.

3. Therefore have my loins been filled with weakness, and woes have laid hold of me as of her who is bringing forth; I have done wrong in not having hearkened; I have hasted in not looking to see.

4. My heart erreth and my transgression baptizeth me; my soul hath stood by in fear.

5. Make ready the table, eat, drink; Arise ye rulers, make ready broad-shields;

6. Because in this wise hath the Lord said unto me, Go, stand for thyself a spy and announce whatever thou mayest see.

7. And I saw two riders on horses and a rider of an ass and a rider of a camel. Listen with great listening;

8. And call Oulas to the spying-place said the Lord; I stood all day and all night I stood over the camp.

9. And lo, he cometh, a rider of a two-horse chariot; and he answered and said, Babuloon hath fallen, hath fallen. And all her objects of reverence and her things made with hands have been crushed to the earth.

10. May ye have heard ye who are left and ye who are suffering woe the things which I have heard from the Lord of Sabaoth the things which the God of Israel hath announced unto you.

11. The vision of Idoumaia. Unto me he calleth from Seeur, Guard battlements.

12. I am guarding morning and night. If thou seekest continue to seek and dwell with me:

13. In the forest at evening lie down, or on the way to Daidan:

14. Bring water to meet the thirsty one; ye who dwell in a province of Thaiman; meet the fugitives with loaves of bread,

15. Because of the multitude of the slain and because of those led astray and because of the multitude of the sword and because of the multitude of the archers arrayed and because of the multitude of those who have fallen in the battle.

16. Because in this wise hath the Lord said unto me; yet a year, as it were a year of a hireling, and the glory of the sons of Keedar will leave off;

17. And the remnant of the strong archers of the sons of Keedar will be few, because the Lord God of Israel hath said it.

COMMENT.

The 19th chapter or the "vision of Egypt" as it is commonly known has been a subject of interest to biblical students since the Christian era began and a great deal of learned comment has been published in explanation of it. Any one who has thought upon these things will at least be interested in the differences of translation if he or she will take the trouble to compare this translation made from the text Tischendorff text with those of the C. V. and R. V. The subject matter is true to its numerical signification in every particular even to the numbering of each specific verse. For instance 19-19 which is a very significant statement of historical fact as well as pregnant with a prophetic meaning which has interested the Satans of Europe and this country very deeply for the last 30 years, especially the students of pyramid literature like Rev. Dr. Seiss of Philadelphia, Chas. Latimer C. E. late of Cleveland, Ohio, the late Prof. Piazi Smith Astronomer Royal of England, and Prof. Totten of Yale college.

The prophecy of the downfall and desolation of Egypt has been fulfilled; but its restoration and blessing has but just begun so to speak. Much might be said in this line of comment, but I refrain for lack of space and time.

Familiarize yourselves with passing events and think it out for yourselves.

We have in the 20th chapter a good illustration of sign teaching as made familiar to God's people of that day; and this chapter is supplemental to the 19th giving particulars as to the time and manner of the coming desolation of Egypt and Ethiopia.

The word in R. V. translated "coast-land" is "island" in the text and suggests a thought of interest to antiquarians of ancient topography, I think. Was this portion of Egypt an island "in that day?"

The 21st chapter is "The Vision of the Desert" and wonderfully poetical in its form and imagry but lacking metre and rythm. It is also dramatic in structure. But do not forget that the author is dealing with solid facts all the time. The subject-matter is hypostasis. See the conformity to the law of testimony eyes carried out in two direction to call Gorias also to the spying-place as an additional witness—"that out of the mouth of two or more witnesses every word might be established." The substance of the prophecy becomes apparent in the ninth verse and appropriately to its number—the fall of Babuloon namely.

Then comes another vision entitled "the vision of Idoumaia" or the doom of the kingdom of Edom" as it is commonly understood, involved in the fall of Babuloon. The vision opens with an exhortation to the Edomites to show humanity to the refugees who will flee to them in the day of Babuloon's overthrow and the overthrow of "the sons of Keedar" as a consequence—a much needed exhortation in view of their treachery and inhumanity already shown toward their kinsmen of Israel and Joudah in the days of "Jobab called Job" and later on at different times.

CHAS. GARDNER.

A Dream and Its Lesson.

Not long since, I had a dream which left a lasting impression on my mind. I dreamed that my daughter Jessie, and myself, had been out together one afternoon and returned home about twilight, and on entering the house I did not see the usual evidences of my wife's presence about the home. I began to search from room to room when I observed a hastily penciled note laying upon the table. I picked it up but found it was too dark to read, and so I directed Jessie to get a light. I then read the note which said, "The Lord has come, and I am taken." "Jessie," says I, "the Lord has come, your mother is taken, and you and I are left." I then began in actual reality to experience the bitter anguish and disappointment of being left, the keenness of which awakened me, and was truly thankful that we were not among the "left," but it has left an impressive lesson, that now is the time, to be on guard, and strive in earnest to be an overcomer in the name of Jesus. While this was a dream in my case, yet it will I fear become a sad reality in many homes, in the very near future, much nearer than many suppose.

Oh the exceeding bitter anguish of members of the family who have neglected to improve opportunities which may never more return. Some may have believed and obeyed the gospel, but neglected a holy life of faith, which is just as essential, as obeying the word of truth. While others may have learned the gospel as unfolded in the covenants of promise, but neglected obedience, trusting that God will honor an obedience rendered while believing the devil's gospel, (thou shalt not surely die), and be left behind.

Right now is the time to begin to remove obstacles which may hinder our being "taken." Tomorrow may be too late.

In my dream I experienced all the anguish, I ever wish to in that line, and am more than ever resolved, here to experience the disappointment in reality. My heart goes out after others. I would so rejoice to see a great number awake, and stir about in earnest now. When the cry goes forth, "Behold, the Bridegroom cometh," many will stir in earnest, when it is too late, and come knocking at the door when it is closed.

Let us remember this one thing, the Lord will not open the door to let late comers in. All who would enter in, must make preparation before he comes.

These things are of far greater importance than anything that can possibly engage our attention. All other things will pass away, and slip from our grasp, but these will abide forever, and yield joy and happiness beyond human conception.

Oh, why not come? Come now, beloved, as you value your eternal internal interest. Oh, improve the present. Yes, improve each passing hour. If you are tempted to do something wrong, think of the results, and pray God to carry you through. He is sure to help.

None need ever fail supported by the everlasting arms. He is an ever present source of strength, joy, hope and comfort, to all who will trust him

But those who come pleading for admission after the door is closed, will weep, wail, and gnash their teeth for very anguish. Indifference to the voice of warning will inevitably lead to the above result. The ingathering of the first fruit harvest may happen any day now.

Are you ready for it? Does your heart in earnestness cry out, "Come Lord Jesus?" If not, delay no longer, improve each hour the Lord may tarry. Ask yourself the question which side of the door am I entitled to occupy? Some will be on the inside, and others on the out-side. Those on the inside, will hear the Master say, "Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom," to those on the outside, he will say: "Depart from me."

Let the question ring in our ears, Which side of the door shall it be?

W. H. WILSON.

Report of Labor.

During the months of February and March, I gave fifty-two discourses; the time was divided between Sherwood and Troutdale, Oregon, and Fishers, Camas, and Vancouver, Washington. At Fisher's I immersed three, in the Columbia River. This is a new field of labor; previous to these meetings I had visited them, and spoken four times.

Camas had never heard the gospel of the kingdom. I spoke there twenty times to good congregations. Private and public opposition was made by the Presbyterian minister which only increased the interest and spirit of investigation. Ten came out for union in church fellowship of whom seven or eight will be immersed. Others told me they would be obedient. I am to return there in a week. This town is near enough to Troutdale and Fishers for all to unite together in the work. They are all Columbia River towns. I was called from Troutdale to Vancouver by telegram, and on March 30th witnessed the death of one of our noble young brethren. He lived about fifteen hours after my arrival and died near midnight, clinging to the sure and steadfast anchor. Bro. Wm. M. Miller was immersed at an early date of the work at Lake Shore (Vancouver, Wash.,) and had never wavered in his faith.

If the financial aid was sufficient to support the labor, much good might be done in this country, but I am learning to trust more and more in a Divine Providence, and to press onward in the work. I find that there is a limit to our physical endurance in this work as well as any other and when I came home I greatly needed rest.

I never saw such hungering after the words of life as was displayed in our late meetings at Camas.

W. L. SKEELS.

To the Brethren and Sisters of like faith:

Bro. Almon Adams has been with us again holding a series of meetings, the Stevenson Kanion school house, commencing Thursday evening March 12, and held over two Sundays. There was good attendance and attention considering the weather which was bad most of the time. From here he went to the Bethlehem school house Monday evening March 23rd and stayed until the 29th, there was a good interest in this meeting. Four more persons came out from the world and put on Christ by baptism who also arose to walk in newness of life. May they prove faithful is our prayer. During these meetings Bro. Adams was called upon to preach the funeral sermon of a Sister Mrs. Elizabeth Minton Wauneta Neb. She was brought here (Freedon, Neb.,) to be laid beside her husband to sleep until the resurrection morning.

We may sleep, but not forever.
There will be a glorious dawn;
We shall meet to part, no never
On the resurrection morn.

Dear brothers and sisters let us press on towards that glorious day where there will be no sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain for the former things are passed away. May we all be ready is my prayer.

Your Sister,
SARAH SELLECK, Sec'y.

Editor Restitution:

By your permission I will give you a report of what we are doing in Arizona. My wife arrived here on the 23th of March, and was conveyed to her home about fifteen miles from the town. She had heard a great deal about the Indians. On Saturday evening about eight o'clock a strange man and his wife appeared at the door. They came in saying, "that they thought they would call in as they used to do at the man's house that I traded with." My wife had supper ready, but these people seemed to stay. Soon another rap at the door and I responded, and lo, and behold, the whole yard was full of Indians? Oh, no, white men, women and children, about 35 in all. My wife had prepared only supper enough for two, but soon boxes, tables, etc., were thrown together and a more delicious meal I never saw spread in any country, and they made us eat with them. My wife said, "I believe John knew all about it." I never saw a people more sociable than these in Arizona. I gave them a talk which was well taken

We have an interesting Sunday school and Bible class. I preach from two to four times a month, and I feel that more will be added to the church soon. I have the promise of some subscribers to THE RESTITUTION also.

I remain yours in hope of eternal life when Jesus comes.

JOHN FOORD.

Selected.

Three New Things.

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband."—Rev. xxi. 1, 2.

"A new heaven."—A sky, and clouds, and atmosphere of higher beauty and more genial temperature than those which surround us with their loveliness—a heaven which no more robes itself in storms and blackness, nor flashes with the thunderbolt of wrath, nor casts forth plagues of hail, and fire, and judgment, nor gives lurking-places for the devil and his angels, nor is ever again disturbed with omens of evil, or commotions breeding disaster to the dwellers under them.

"And a new earth."—One which no longer smarts and smokes under the curse of sin, needing to be torn with hooks and irons in order to the bringing forth of its fruits—an earth where thorns and thistles no longer infest the ground, nor serpents hiss among the flowers, nor wild beasts, bent on destruction, hide in the forests; an earth whose soil is never cut with graves, whose soil is never moistened with tears or saturated with human blood, whose fields are never blasted by unpropitious seasons, whose inhabitants never say, "I am sick," whose ways are never marked with funeral processions or glutted with armed men on their way to war, but whose hills ever flow with salvation, and whose valleys ever resound with uninterrupted joy; an earth which glows from end to end with the blessedness of Paradise restored.

"And a new city."—A heaven-built home-place for the saints of God, decked and adorned with jewelry and glory "as a bride adorned for her husband," where the church shall rest from her long contest of ignorance and sin, and be comforted for ever with the light of love of her Redeemer. John saw that city, and tells of it in terms which almost blind us with their brightness. It is not built up of earth, but comes down out of heaven, blazing with the glory of God, and girt with radiance jasper-hued but clear as crystal. It is a "great city," fifteen hundred miles in length, and in breadth, and in height, with foundations and walls of precious jewels, gates of pearls, and streets of gold so pure as to be like transparent glass, and needing no light of sun or moon, because illuminated with the eternal light and glory of God and of the Lamb—the true "eternal city"—the imperishable metropolis of the new heaven and then earth.

And there, in that renovated and brightened scene of things, in that blest order, when these present heavens and this present earth have passed their grand palingenesia, shall bethul greater, higher, holier, final thanksgiving, of which these days of earthly praise remind us. And it in these old heavens, and this old earth, and in this earthly city, there be so much to stir our hearts and open our lips with songs of thankfulness, how shall it be when once that new creation opens up its beauties, and that golden Jerusalem has become our everlasting home?—Dr. J. A. Stins.

King David.

David means beloved. We read in 1 Chron. xii., that all who could keep rank as soldiers came to Hebron (which means fellowship), and were of "one heart to make David King." Men of might and swift of foot were there, some right-handed and others left-handed, with men who had "understanding of the times to know what Israel ought to do;" and David received them all. And there was "joy in Israel."

It does not require much spiritual discernment to see the true David, or "Beloved," in this scene. He was the rejected, though the Anointed King. And he receives all who come to him owning his authority. And though they differ very materially in their appearance and abilities, yet they are all true of heart to David, and form one army.

"Receive ye one another, as Christ received us, to the glory of God;" "Love one another," is the new commandment. Under one captain, and against the common foe, let us fight, shoulder to shoulder, but not against one another. If a house, or an army, is divided against itself, how can it stand? "Be ye, then, all of one mind;" and this can only be brought about by subjection to God's Word.

To obey God is to be happy and useful; to be disobedient is to be rebellious, and therefore wretched.—W. C. Boardman.

I value all things according to their use and ends; and I find, in my daily practice and experience, that the knowledge of God, and Christ, and the Holy Spirit, and the truth of Scripture, and the life to come, and of a holy life, is of more use to me than all the most curious speculations.

The Credit System.—Moses was not partial to the credit system, at least as far as laborers were concerned. These were invariably to be paid before the going down of the sun.—Professor Wines.

What stumbles at the ear, will not reach the heart.

Paul a Tentmaker.

It was a received custom among the Jews for every man, of what rank or quality soever, to learn some trade or handicraft; one of their proverbial expressions is, that whoever teaches not his son a trade, teaches him to be a thief. In those hot countries, where tents (which were commonly made of skins or leather sewed together, to keep out the violence of the weather) were used not only by a soldiers, but by travellers and others whose business required them to be abroad, a tent-maker was no mean or unprofitable employment. This custom, so generally practiced by the Jews, was adopted also by other nations in the East. Sir Paul Ryeant observes that the grand seignior, to whom he as embassador, was taught to make wooden spoons. The intention of this usage was not mere amusement, but to furnish the person so instructed with some method of obtaining their living should they ever be reduced to want and poverty. —Burder.

Yoruba Proverbs.

He who injures another injures himself.

The time may be very long, but a lie will be detected at last.

He to whom kindness was shown, and he does not return thanks, you may do him ill, and he will not feel that either.

He who has done you a kindness should never be ill-used.

Ear, hear the other side, before you decide.

Anger does nobody good: patience is the best disposition. Anger draws the arrows from the quiver: good words draw kola-nuts from the bag.

He who despises another, despises himself.

Contempt should never be shown to a fellow man.

A sick person should never be laughed at; for what happens to him today may happen to you tomorrow.

Disobedience is the father of insolence.

He who sees another's faults knows well how to talk about it, but he covers his own with a potsherd.

He who claps hands for a fool to dance, is himself no better than a fool.

If you have no money to give to a person in distress, you may pay frequent visits; if you cannot visit, you may send good words of the mouth.

OBITUARY.

Wm. M. Miller died at Vancouver, Wash., [illegible] aged 27 years, 8 months and [illegible] days. Consumption [illegible]. A gradual decline [illegible] during February and [illegible] writer was summoned by [illegible] reached his side about fifte[illegible] before his death and witnessed the [illegible] with which a Christian could [illegible] of death. How [illegible] one may [illegible] hope. When I re[illegible] not expect to survive until another day. As the hands of the clock measured the midnight hour, he breathed out the last breath of mortal life He rests now! The hours of suffering are only measured by the living. With us days, months and years of labor, toil, and pain mingled with a few flashes of sunshine, happiness, a few rays of the world beyond will drag on—seeming slow while passing but too swift when gone. But with the dead, the unmeasured time will be like closing the eyes in sleep and immediately opening them in the world to come, illuminated by the brightness of his coming. Though the sleep of some should be thousands of years it would still be so. Then let us not mourn as those that have no hope. When the brother died a wife lost a beloved husband, two little ones lost a parent, Father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in-law, brothers and sisters, and a number of relatives and friends were present to hear his admonition and mourn his loss. The church lost a member, but it is only for a little time for "The gates of hades shall not prevail."

A large number attended at the Baptist church to hear us give words of comfort concerning the coming of Christ the resurrection of the dead and all things new. A few hours before his death he desired to dictate a letter to THE RESTITUTION, but was too nervous to do so.

W. L. SKEELS.

Happy is the man that takes warning when he seeth another under chastisements.

The fear of men will make us to hide sin; but the fear of the Lord will cause us to hate it.

The fire of discord is more ruinous to the Church of Christ than the fire of persecution.

Stagnation is Death.—The past things perish, if those things which were begun cease to go on to perfection.—Cyprian.

Eternal life and incorruptibility are bestowed to qualify for eternal inheritance of the kingdom of God.

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF,
Directors of the C. P. Association.

H. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, IND. APRIL 15, 1896.

We were disappointed in getting our new type in time for this issue, but will have it for the next one.

"THE Florentine correspondent of the Scotsman says "Francs's policy against Italy is as visible in this Abyssinian campaign as it was in the Senafe war in Sicily three years ago. By her secret support of Menehik she has enabled him to resist the Italians with a force and a well ordered scheme of defence that has drawn them from further and further into the Sertonian bog." The frogs are doing their work.

"THE physical system is perpetually wasting away. It is only because we keep putting in the fuel that the furnace does not go out. Blood vessels are only canals to carry bread drops to the different parts. If these supplies fail, we die, sickness and death lurk around to see if they cannot get a pry under us, and at a slight push we tumble off the embankment into the grave. But the righteous will have an immortal body, incapable of disease. They will have neither cough nor groan. There will be no miasma or fever in the air. No hospital there, no dispensary there, no ambulances, no invalid chair, no crutches, no emaciation, no spectacles for poor sights, no tasting of windows to keep out cold blasts, but health immortal." *

The Jew Problem.

Dr. Theodor Herzel, an eminent Austrian Jew has propounded an elaborate scheme for a Jewish State. He says: "Supposing his majesty the Sultan was to give us Palestine we could in return pledge ourselves to regulate the whole finances of Turkey." "It is remarkable," he adds, "that we Jews should have dreamt this kingly dream all through the long night of our history. Now day is dawning. We need only rub the sleep out of our eyes, stretch our limbs, and convert the dream into reality....The sanctuaries of Christendom would be safeguarded by assigning to them an extra territorial status, such as is well known to the law of nations. We should form a guard of honor about these sanctuaries answering for the fulfillment of these duties with our existence. This guard of honor would be the great symbol of the solution of the Jewish question after nearly nineteen centuries of Jewish suffering."

This does not spring from a mere sentiment. Dr. Herzel confesses that he has been driven to formulate his scheme by the Anti-Semetic movement. It is especially strong in Austria, but he foresees a storm rising against Jews all over the world.

The Jewish Chronicle says that Dr. Herzel's scheme is one of the most astounding pronunciamentos which have ever been put forward on the Jewish question."

Assistance for Searchers.

If. Is man immortal or mortal?

1. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground, for out of it wast thou taken; for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return." Gen. iii 19.

2 "By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and death hath passed upon all men." Rom. v. 12.

3. "The wages of sin is death." Rom. vi. 23.

4. "But we had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves, but in God which raiseth the dead." 1 Cor. i. 9.

5. "To be carnally minded is death." Rom. viii. 6.

6. "Shall mortal man be more just than God?" Job iv. 17.

And man being a creature of the dust, mortal and corruptible, it is evident that he is not a deathless being. Giving up his breath, the dust returns to the earth as it was, and the spirit returns to God who gave it, and the man is no more; but

III. Does man really die?

1 "Wherefore then hast thou brought me forth out of the womb? In that I had given up the ghost and no eye had seen me! I should have been as though I had not been. I should have been carried from the womb to the grave." Job x 18, 19.

2. "For that which befalleth the sons of men befalleth beasts. As the one dieth the other.....all go unto one place. All turn to dust again." Eccl. iii 19, 20.

3. "And now, lest he put forth his hand and take also of the tree of life, and eat and live forever." Gen. iii. 22, 23.

4. "For David after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers, AND SAW corruption."

If man was driven from Eden to prevent him living forever,—if he sees corruption,—is in death as the beasts, and when in the tomb is as though he had not been,—then man really and truly dies.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No 14.

Our methods having been somewhat discursive of late, we now propose to pay close attention to the Oracle man, and his colaborers. We base our next argument upon the meaning of the words church and kingdom. If the church be the kingdom, and the kingdom be the church, then the words church and kingdom can be used interchangeably. Can this be done without making nonsense? Let us see: In Acts viii 1, we read that there was a great persecution against the church; but if the church and kingdom be the same, it would be proper to say there was a great persecution against the kingdom at Jerusalem, and yet it had been predicted that the kingdom of God should break to pieces and consume all these kingdoms.

In Acts xiv. 23, we read that elders were ordained in every church. How would it sound to say that elders were ordained in every kingdom. In all the Book of God there is but ONE kingdom of God mentioned, while there are reports of churches in numerous places. Suppose we read the 20th verse in this way: 'When they had gathered the kingdom together they rehearsed all that God had done with them.' Who ever heard of a kingdom being gathered together? A kingdom is a kingdom, and is composed of a king, subjects, capital city, territory, laws, and subjects, at least. Did the apostles gather together anything like that?

Can we read Rom. xvi. 5, like this? "Greet the kingdom that is in their house?"

Can we read 1 Cor. iv. 10, in this way: "As I teach in every kingdom?" Why not, if the church be the kingdom?

Matt. xiii. 42, says: "But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness, there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth." Let us substitute the word church for that of kingdom. "But the children of the church shall be cast out into outer darkness." If the kingdom and the church are one, the children of the church are to be cast out. Can our opponents tell us what is the use of getting into the church if they are to be cast out of it? Can they not see from this the necessity of recognizing a fact so many times proven, that Israel in the past were the subjects of God's kingdom, and that because of the rejection of the Messiah they would be thrust out of the kingdom, and invitations sent to the Gentiles to call the world to accept what the Jews rejected, viz. the opportunity to reign with the Messiah, the nobleman when he returns from the far country having received the kingdom, and been invested with royal authority?

If the church be the kingdom we can read Matt xix. 24, thus "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the church?" How does this agree with the experiences and practices of the church represented by the "Oracle" man? Is it a fact that it is difficult for a rich man to enter that kingdom, or church? Is it not a fact that they are sometimes coaxed into the church because of their influence, and usefulness about the pay-day? Now either the church and the kingdom are not the same, or else the church or the rich enter as easily are not the kingdom of God.

In Luke vii. 28, we read these words of Jesus. "For I say unto you, that among those that are born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist; but he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he." The least member of the church is greater than John, although he was equal to any of the prophets; and there are some very small ones in the church. This is on the supposition that the church is the kingdom. But the church is not the kingdom. The least in the kingdom when it comes will be immortal and glorious. John was but a poor punishing mortal when he was a great prophet.

The word rendered church is from the Greek word ecclesia, and is defined by Groves as follows: ecclesia derived from ecs cleo, "to summon;" "an assembly lawfully convened or ordered by law," "a congregation, meeting, the church, the place of meeting." From this it is seen that our word church means to us just what ecclesia meant to the Greeks. We will now show how the Spirit uses the word ecclesia. In the Septuagint translation of Ps. xxvi. 5, we have this language, "I have hated the congregation—(ecclesia of evil doers. This shows that there is nothing sacred about the ecclesia unless it be qualified, as the church of God, or of Christ, that is, the congregation of God, etc.

Turning to Acts xix. 32, 39, 40, we find the following. "Some cried one thing, and some another, for the ECCLESIA, or congregation, or church, was confused, and the more part (majority) knew not wherefore they were together. And when the town clerk had appeased the people, he said, "Ye men of Ephesus, what man is he that knoweth not that the city of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great Goddess Diana, and of the image which fell from Jupiter? But if ye enquire anything concerning other matters, it shall be determined in a lawful ECCLESIA, or assembly, or congregation; for we are in danger of being called in question for this day's uproar, there being no cause whereby he may give an account of this concourse. And when he had spoken these words he dismissed the ecclesia." This shows that the mob that had made all the fuss about Paul's preaching was as much an ECCLESIA, or congregation, or church as any other assembly of men, religious or otherwise; but it was not a church called out from other men on the principle of faith and obedience for God. All such have been called according to the purpose of God to bestow upon them life unending in his kingdom of glory and peace.

Having shown what "church" means, let us see what the word "KINGDOM" means. It comes from the Greek word "BASILEA," from Basileus, a king, and is defined as follows.—"A kingdom, royal dignity, power, reign, rule, sovereignty dominion, a hereditary monarchy. We know that black is not white, and all the sophistry in the world will not make it white. And our readers are asked to mark the difference between the meaning of the two words, ecclesia and basilea, for that is the difference between church and kingdom; could there be more difference? It requires the fulfillment of the prophecies in the Old Testament to set up the kingdom of God, God's kingdom must be set upon the holy hill of Zion, and all nations flowing to him.

It may be objected that it never says the kingdom of heaven is at hand after Pentecost. But what of that? That is no proof that it had come; at most it is only an INFERENCE that it had. And by the way, there are a great many other things that it does not say. It never says that the good seed are the children of the church; but it does say they are the children of the kingdom. It never says the righteous shall shine forth in the firmament of their Father, but in the kingdom of their Father. It never says it is the Father's good pleasure to give you the church, but the kingdom. It never says "Blessed be the CHURCH of our Father David, but the kingdom. It never speaks of a nobleman going to far a country to receive a church, but a kingdom. It never says, I appoint unto you a CHURCH, but a kingdom. It never says the rich in faith are heirs to a church, but to a kingdom. The rich in faith are the church. It would be simply nonsense to say the church should inherit the church. It never says 'gospel of the church, but of the kingdom. It never says except a man be born again he cannot enter the church of God, but the kingdom of God. It never says flesh and blood cannot inherit the church of God. Reader think of it! The blood life must give place to spirit life at the resurrection before they can inherit the kingdom. This is when and where they are born again; brought forth another time. Of the new crop of born ones after the fashion of Jesus is the first. Begettal, by the word of truth, PRECEDES the birth of the Spirit, as in nature. Finally, it never says the kingdom or anything else was set up at Pentecost, so that if it is sought to prove the setting up of the kingdom of God at Pentecost it does not say it was not set up, we have fairly met them on their own ground.

(to be continued.)

Communicated.

The Blessed Dying No 2.

Bro Underwood:

Will you give me space to make a few thoughts? "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." Rev. xiv 13. And the great hope held out before the world has been that Christ having given himself a ransom for the sinners, having tasted death for every man, the just for the unjust, will soon commence the great work of destroying death, by restoring all mankind to life, thus will be swallow up death victoriously. 1 Cor. xv. 54. When he has exalted his church to the glory of the kingdom (symbol mountain, power, then he will spread before all people a great feast and through this kingdom (mountain) he will destroy the veil of ignorance and the covering of death he will swallow up death in victory Isa. xxv. 6-8. Then he will break open and abolish the great prison house of death and set at liberty all the captives. Of this deliverance to the captives and opening of the prisons doors to them that are bound, Jesus preached saying, "For the hour is coming in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, of the Son of Man and come forth." John v. 28.

Paul recognizes death as the greatest of all enemies, and speaking of Christ's millennial reign he says he must reign till he hath put all enemies under his feet, the very days Paul was writing about, in the last days perilous times should come. O these times are here, stand firm in the faith.

Your Sister hoping for strength to endure to the end.

NANCY BARBER.

Dear Restitution:

As our paper has been due over a month we will now send $1 50 to pay for your valuable paper, which we could not do without. We were sorry to hear of your sad misfortune of the office. We are striving to meet you all in the kingdom when Jesus comes

Yours in the hope of eternal life

WM H. & S. J. CARTON.

Appointments.

The 1st Sunday in May I will be at Woodland, Ill., as Sister Mollie Lunan appoints. The 2nd Sunday in Jasper Co., Ill, as Brother's Wood and Rodgers may appoint. The third Sunday in De Soto Mo., as Brother's Moore and Gifford may appoint. Will be in Missouri over the fourth Sunday. All the above meetings to commence on Friday night before.

J. S. HATCH.

Selections.

The Gift of Continuance.

It was said of one man whose protracted remarks in social meetings probably resembled a mathematical line,—having length without breath or thickness," that "he had the gift of continuance, and that was about the only gift he did have."

This can hardly be regarded as one of the "best gifts;" it is a sign of mental infirmity, as well as of spiritual emptiness, when a man's twaddling tongue gets going and never knows when to stop, but pours out a wishy-washy, everlasting flood,—a stream of empty words which meanders away, no one knows where.

Many people come to prayer meeting entirely unfit for any earnest, decisive action. They are like an old, wet, rusty gun. It takes longer to clean it and dry it, than it would to fire a good one a dozen times; and when you do try to get it off, quite likely the damp powder will fizz! and never explode, or else it will kick and do more damage to friends in the rear, than it does to the foes in front.

A good soldier will load, aim, fire, and hit the mark, long before one of these crusty old blunderbusses can be made ready to deliver its scattering shots.

"Short and to the point," is a good motto in prayer meeting. Leave off prefaces and conclusions,—say your word and get through; tell your story and stop; fire and fall back, and give others a chance.

Five minutes is long enough for most talkers; three is often better, and in the last half hour of a social meeting, when hearts are throbbing and burning with zeal and love, one or two minutes is quite as much as a live Christian will usually want to occupy.

And just then, when prodigals are returning, publicans confessing, children crying Hosanna, and angels rejoicing over sinners coming home, if the devil can get an old rusty backslider, formalist, or controversialist to crowd in a long harangue of five or ten minutes about what he believes or don't believe, or what he heard somebody say, or saw somebody do, till the meeting seems dead as a stone, and all go away disgusted, then he has gained a point, and almost made the meeting a failure.

"Covet earnestly the best gifts;" but do not reckon "the gift of continuance" among them. Remember, there is a time to be silent. Try and find out when it is. Not every thought that comes to your mind in meeting is to be told at once. Sometimes the Holy Spirit bids you learn; be careful how you utter to others those things which the Lord designed you to know especially for yourself. Inquire continually, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" and then rest in the Lord and wait patiently for his direction, for "the meek will he guide in judgment, and the meek will he teach his way."

Legend from the Talmud.

In a treatise of the Talmud, entitled the SEPHER HAGGADAH, will be found, in the form of an allegory, a legend which has a striking resemblance to one of the most popular of our nursery tales, viz., the one so familiarly known as "This is the house that Jack built;" the summary which reads as follows:—

Then came the Holy One—
Blessed be He,—
And killed the angel of death,
That killed the butcher,
That killed the ox,
That drank the water,
That quenched the fire,
That burned the staff,
That beat the dog,
That bit the cat,
That ate the kid,
Which my Father bought
For two pieces of money.

The Talmud gives the following explanation of the above allegory:—The kid, a clean animal, signifies the Jewish people; the father who purchased it, Jehovah; the two pieces of money, Moses and Aaron; the cats, the Assyrians, who carried the ten tribes into captivity; the dog, the Babylonians, who destroyed the Assyrians; the staff, the Persians, who conquered the Babylonians; the fire, the Greeks, under Alexander, who overthrew the Persian monarchy; the water, the Roman power, which vanquished the Grecians; the ox, the Saracens, who ejected the Romans from the Holy Land; the butcher, the Crusaders, who did the same for the Saracens; the angel of death, the Turkish power, to which the Holy Land is subject. The commencement, "Then came the Holy One: Blessed be he!" is designed to show that God will some day take signal vengeance on the Turks, immediately after whose overthrow the Jews are to be restored to their own land, and to live under the government of their long-expected Messiah.

This conclusion reminds us of a curious prediction, which appeared during the last Russo an War of 1853 6, said to have been composed originally at the time of the fall of Constantinople in 1453, predicting the overthrow of the Turkish or Mohammedan power about the present period; and looking at what Russia has been doing of late with the "crescent" power in central Asia, certainly the "crescent" power it "waning," "dissolving," and very probably will soon "disappear."

In twice two hundred years the bear
The convent will assail;
But if the cock and bull unite,
The bear will not prevail.

In twice ten years again,
Let Islam know and fear;
The cross shall rise, the crescent wane,
Dissolve and disappear.

The Living God.

Did you ever think that this phrase as used in Scripture is not simply an expression of the faith of the writers of the language; it is also an implied comparison between Jehovah and the idol-gods of the heathen. It is, so to speak, a piece of cutting sarcasm, in which the God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob is spoken of as alone alive of all the deities worshiped by men. As for the others, they had eyes and saw not, ears and heard not, hands and handled not. Going they had to be carried. There was no breath in their nostrils. But Jehovah was alive, or a living God. That was the chief difference between him and the heathen gods. He alive, to hear, and feel, and know, and answer, and save. "The living God" and he knows not another Almighty, nay, not even living, God besides himself. Let us always realize in our approach to God that we are drawing near to the living object of worship; and let us expect of him answers which he can so easily give.

The Lost Spectacles

Some gentlemen belonging to a Bible Association called upon an old woman, and asked if she had a Bible. She was very angry at being asked such a question, and replied, "Do you think, gentlemen, that I am a heathen, that you ask me such a question?" Then, calling to a little girl, she said, "Run and fetch the Bible out of the drawer, that I may show it to the gentlemen." They denied she would not take the trouble; but she insisted that they should "see she was not a heathen." Accordingly the Bible was brought, nicely covered. On opening it, the old woman exclaimed. "Well, how glad I am that you called and asked about the Bible! Here are my spectacles; I have been looking for them these three years, and did not know where to find them!" Might she not be called a heathen? Certainly, she was living like one, ignorant of the Word of God, and this arising from criminal neglect.

Ancient Devotion.

It was the custom among the young men of Athens who listened to the teaching of Socrates, to bring some gift in gratitude for his instruction. Gold and silver, and jewels worthy of the rank of the donor, were common gifts.

One morning, after the gifts had been presented, a youth too poor to bring an offering cast himself at the feet of his teacher, while a blush overspread his manly face as he cried, "Oh Socrates, I give myself to thee!" There was a murmur of applause, showing that the whole-hearted, whole-souled gift was appreciated.

Shall we not, in like manner, give ourselves wholly to Christ? all that we have, and all that we are, to spend in his service—not only the love of our hearts, but the labors of our hands, and all we possess?

The Apostle Paul says, "And ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price; therefore glorify God in your body and your spirit, which are God's." If we have not thus fully and freely consecrated ourselves, let us follow the example of the Athenian youth, and, casting ourselves at the feet of the Great Teacher, cry "O Christ, I give myself to Thee."

"It is not by understanding God, but by trusting in him, that men are made good."

Eternal Existence.

A distinction is sought to be made by some, who are unwilling to allow that sinners are mortal, between eternal life and eternal existence. They say, "True; the wicked will not have eternal life; but they will have an everlasting existence." This is really a distinction without a difference, in the case of man. How can a man have a permanent existence without life? When life is taken from man, and he becomes dead, he begins to fall apart, and lose his very existence. And if a man cannot exist for fifty years without life, how can he exist eternally a man without the preserving principle, the soul? The thing is impossible. If he exists eternally, it is because he has "the power of an endless life" within, as well as a body not subject to corruption. But if our friends still urge their point, then we must meet them on their own ground; and saying nothing about "eternal life," we give them for consideration this proposition: He that doeth the will of God abideth (remains in existence) for ever." It is only such who can exist or abide forever. So says Scripture.

Extracts from the 6 st Bible Printed in English, in 1536.

"And God said, Let the earth bring forth living souls, every one after his kind; cattle, worms, and what so hath life upon earth, every one after his kind."—Gen. i. 24.

"And the Lord God shaped man even of the mould of the earth, and breathed into his face the breath of life. And so was man made a living soul."—Gen. ii. 7.

"And when God the Lord had made of the earth all manner of beasts of the field, and all manner of fowls under the heaven, he brought them unto man to see what he would call them; for as man called all living souls, so are their names."—Gen. ii. 7.

"In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat thy bread, till thou be turned again unto earth, whence thou art taken: for earth thou art, and unto earth shalt thou be turned again."—Gen. iii. 16.

"Eve bare Cain, and said, I have obtained the man of the Lord."—Gen. iv. 1.

Search The Scriptures.

An aged man in America, a military pensioner, who commenced his Christian life at threescore years and ten, was induced to join a Sabbath-school, he said he had been in the habit of reading the Bible from his youth, and had read it through many times, and thought he understood it tolerably well; but when he joined the Sabbath-school, he found it was necessary to do something more than read the Bible. He had to search the Scriptures. And it led him to observe, that we are nowhere commanded to read the Scriptures, but everywhere commanded to "search the Scriptures."

Where is your name recorded?—Some men's names are inscribed on rolls of parchment, and embellished with devices and colors. Some other men's names are cut into marble into beautiful gold letters. But there are names which are written in heaven, as citizens of the world to come. Have you good reason to think that your name is there? If not, why not? Why are you not of that self-denying and suffering company who are named in heaven and on earth out of Christ? Why are you not a Christian?

Sigh and long for the dawning of that morning, and the breaking of that day of the coming of the Son of Man, when the shadows shall flee away. Persuade yourself the King is coming. Read his letter sent before him,—"Behold, I come quickly. Wait with the wearied night, watch for the breaking of the eastern sky, and think that ye have not a morrow.

Luther said one evening, when he saw a little bird perched on a tree, to roost there for the night, "This little bird has had its supper, and now it is getting ready to go to sleep here, quite secure and content, never troubling itself what its food will be, or where its lodging on the morrow. Like David it abides under the shadow of the Almighty. It sits on its little twig content, and lets God take care."

Never be cast down at trifles. If a spider breaks his web twenty times, twenty times will he mend it. Make up your mind to do a thing, and you will do it. Fear not, if trouble comes upon you; keep up your spirits, though the day be a dark one.

"One of the surest evidences of friendship that one individual can display to another is telling him gently of his fault. If any other can excel it, it is listening to such a disclosure with gratitude, and amending the error.

Sin is first easy, then pleasant, then agreeable, then delightful; then the man is far from God, then he is obstinate, then he resolves never to repent, and then he is damned!

Poetry.

Unaware.

They said: "The Master is coming
To honor the town today
And some can tell at whose house or home
The Master will chance to stay."
And I thought, while my heart beat wildly,
What if he should come to mine?
How would I strive to entertain
And honor the guest divine!

And straight I turned to telling
To make my home more neat;
I swept and polished and garnished,
And decked it with blossoms sweet;
I was troubled for fear the Master
Might come ere my task was done,
And I hastened and worked the faster,
And watched the hurrying sun.

But right in the midst of my duties
A woman came to my door;
She had come to tell me her sorrows,
And my comfort and aid to implore.
And I said: "I cannot listen,
Nor help you any today;
I have greater things to attend to."
And the pleader turned away.

But soon there came another—
A cripple, thin, pale and gray—
And said: "O, let me stop and rest
Awhile in your house, I pray!
I have traveled far since morning,
I am hungry and faint and weak,
My heart is full of sadness,
And comfort and help I seek."

And I said: "I am grieved and sorry,
But I cannot keep you today,
I look for a guest and noble friend,"
And the cripple went away.
And the day wore onward swiftly,
And my task was nearly done,
And a prayer was ever in my heart
That the Master to me might come,

And I thought I would spring to meet Him,
And serve him with utmost care,
When a little child stood by me,
With a face so sweet and fair;
Sweet, but with marks of teardrops,
And his clothes were tattered and old;
A finger was bruised and bleeding,
And his little bare feet were cold.

And I said: "I am sorry for you;
You're sorely in need of care;
But I cannot stop to give it,
You must hasten either where."
And at the words a shadow
Swept o'er his blue-veined brow;
"Some one will feed and clothe you, dear,
But I am too busy now."

At last the day was ended,
And my toil was over and done;
My house was swept and garnished,
And I watched in the dark alone;
Watched, but no footfall sounded,
No one neared at my gate,
No one entered my cottage door;
I could only pray and wait.

I waited till night had deepened,
And the Master had not come.
"He has entered some other door," I cried,
"And gladdened some other home!"
My labor had been for nothing,
And I bowed my head and wept,
My heart was sore with longing,
Yet, spite of all, I slept.

Then the Master stood before me,
And his face was grave and fair;
"Three times today I came to your door
And craved your pity and care;
Three times you sent me onward
Unhelped and unComforted;
And the blessing you might have had was lost,
And your chance to serve has fled."

"O Lord, dear Lord, forgive me!
How could I know it was Thee?"
My very soul was shamed and bowed
In the depths of humility.
And he said: "Thy sin is pardoned,
But the blessing is lost to thee;
For comforting not the least of mine,
Ye have failed to comfort me."

Original.

Convinced of the Truth.

I once was a United Brethren and believed in the immortality of the soul, and of going to heaven when we die. I met Bro. Woodward at Argos, Ind., and in a conversation with him in regard to the future state of the dead, and where the righteous should dwell, he made the proposal to me that if I would find where the soul never died, and also went to heaven at death, he would be a United Brethren, and if not, I was to be a firm believer in the teachings of God's holy Word, but while studying to convince Bro. Woodward of his wrong and that man was an immortal soul himself, and that the body was dust, and went back to dust, and the man proper went to heaven, the more I studied to convince Bro. Woodward the darker my side of the question became to me. I found in the Bible "that the soul that sinneth it shall die." Ez. xviii. 4-20; Prov. xxvi. "The full soul loatheth a honeycomb; but to the hungry every bitter thing is sweet." "As cold water to a thirsty soul so is good news to a far country." Prov. xxv. 25. If a soul can drink, and eat, and is subject to death surely man is mortal. It shall even be as when a hungry man dreameth; and behold he eateth; but he awaketh, and a soul is empty; or as when a thirsty man dreameth behold he drinketh but he awaketh, and, behold, he is faint, and his soul hath appetite." Isa. xxix. 8. I find also in the Bible that "like sheep they are laid in the grave; death shall feed on them; and the upright shall have dominion over them in the morning; and their beauty shall consume in the grave from their dwelling. But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave: for it shall receive me." Psa. xlix. 14-15. "What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the pit? Shall the dust praise thee? shall it declare thy truth?" Psa. xxx. 9. Then man surely must go to the pit or the grave. It is surely the person that goes to the pit.

"And then God formed man of the dust of the ground and breathed in his nostrils the breath of life and man (the same that God had formed out of the dust) became a living soul." Gen. xl. 7. "And he placed him in the garden to dress it and keep it, and of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat, but of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it; for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die." What did the devil say? "Thou shalt not surely die." Now for the truth. God or the devil. If man never dies the devil told the truth. Now did man eat of that which God forbid him, and because of his disobedience what did God say should become of him? "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return." Gen. iii. 19. God did not say you were part of me, or the house that man lives in, but that which God had formed out of the dust, must return back to whence it came. Was the life forever in the man? if it was then we can prove that man is immortal, if not man has not immortality, unless he got hold of some of the tree of life and did eat and still live forever, but if not, man, the same which God formed of the dust, did die, or, did man step across Land get some of that tree of life?

"And the Lord God said the man is become as one of us to know good and evil: and now lest he put forth his hand and take also of the tree of life and eat, and live forever." Now where did God send man? He sent him forth from the garden to till the ground from whence he was taken, so man was taken from the ground.

"But oh," says the objector, "there were two Adams created, one was out of the ground, and the other in the likeness of God." The one in the likeness of God is the one that never dies. See Gen. v. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. "And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died." When man lost his right to the tree of life he was subject to death. "But," says the objector, "then shall dust return to the earth as it was, and the spirit unto the God who gave it." Eccl. xii. 7. Now what is the spirit? It is that which God breathed in man's nostrils. What a blessed thought that God gave man this breath of life, and put it in his nostrils. Had the animals the same breath in their nostrils? Then man and beast would be alike as far as subject to death. Gen. vii 22. "All in whose nostrils was breath of life of all that was in the dry land died." That includes all, both man and beast, and all things that breathe. If man never dies, good old Noah was very foolish for working at his ark for one hundred and twenty years and then get in the ark and sail around on top the water, and the rest of the human family repented and went to heaven looking down on foolish old Noah for being so ignorant. Do man and beast die alike? "For that which befalleth the sons of men befalleth beasts, even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth so dieth the other; yea, they have all one breath; so that a man hath no pre-eminence above a beast: for is vanity." Ec. iii. 19. So Noah was wise in preparing his ark.

Bro. Woodward, I believe a soul dies. How about going to heaven? Jesus says, "I go to prepare a place for you" Yes, he has gone, "And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself that where I am there ye may be also." John xiv. 2, 3.

So he has gone, and he will come, and all nations shall be gathered before him. "When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory, and before him shall be gathered all nations." Matt. xxv. 31-32. Now you see where he is, and his holy angels are with him," and they shall go out of his kingdom all things that doth offend." "For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous." When is that life to be? When the Lord shall descend from heaven with a shout with the voice of the archangel and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall arise." Now if they would be with him they would not arise, neither would the living saints which are alive and remain be caught up with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord." 1 Thess. iv. 15-17.

We are all to start from the earth when the Lord comes; and not until then. And as we have borne the image of the earthy we shall also yet in the future, bear the image of the heavenly. "Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption." We see by this that there is nothing immortal about man, but all is corruption. 1 Cor. xv. 49, 50.

"And the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow, and sighing shall flee away." Isa. xxv. 10.

"Thine eyes shall see the King in all his beauty: they shall behold the land that is very far off."

"Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and show us former things? Let them bring forth their witnesses that they may be justified: or let them hear and say it is truth." Isa. xliii. 9.

The witnesses we must get in God's holy Word, "For evil doers shall be cut off: but those that wait upon the Lord they shall inherit the earth." "But the meek shall inherit the earth, and shall delight themselves in abundance of peace." "For such as blest of him shall inherit the earth."

"The righteous shall inherit the land and dwell therein forever." Psa. xxxvii 9, 11, 22, 29.

"And in the mouth of two or three witness every word shall be established."

"The righteous shall never be removed but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth. for all the people shall dwell in Zion, at Jerusalem: thou shalt weep no more."

"Strengthen thou the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, be strong, fear not, behold your God will come with vengeance even God with a recompense, he will come and save you. Isa. xxxv. 3, 4.

Are we waiting and looking for his coming? Yes, we are waiting, watching, praying for the bright prophetic day. "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint."

Can we say that now? No, we are oft made weary, and our strength almost gone, but we only look forward with an eye of faith to the glorious time, when "he shall feed his flock like a shepherd, he shall gather the lambs in his arms." Looking forward when he opens the rivers in high places and maketh the wilderness to blossom as the rose.

"When the redeemed of the Lord shall return and come with singing unto Zion, and everlasting joy shall be upon their heads; they shall obtain gladness and joy, and sorrow, and morning shall flee away." "Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shall inherit the land forever." Yes, brethren, we shall inherit the land. Then there will be no more sighing, nor crying, neither shedding of tears, but all will be joy.

"Behold the Lord hath proclaimed unto the end of the world say ye to the daughter of Zion, behold thy salvation cometh, behold his reward is with him and his work before him." Isa. lxii. 11. Are we preparing the work for the Master? Are we teaching his Word in its purity, or do we teach the doctrine of devils, and the commandments of men?"

"Blessed is he that readeth, and they that heareth the words of this prophecy, and keepeth those things which are written therein, for the time is at hand. I am he that liveth and was dead and behold I am alive forever, amen, and have the keys of hell and of death. Write the things which thou hast seen and the things which shall be hereafter." Rev. i 3, 18, 19. Now we can see that we are to write and to teach things which are, and that which shall be hereafter, which is revealed unto his servants by the Holy Spirit or Scriptures. So let us take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God, and press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Beware of dogs, beware of the occasions, but let us look to Christ, who is the Head of the Body the Church. But refuse false teaches who concerning the truth have erred, saying that the "resurrection is past already, and overthrow the faith of some." 2 Tim. ii. 18.

Since I was ordained at Plymouth Conference I started in the work, with a full determination to preach the Word, and have taken into the Church this winter fifty-eight members, and I want the prayers of all of God's people.

Yours waiting for Jesus,

G. W. Smith.

Easter.

Essay read at the Midland Methodist Chapel, Acadia Parish, La., Apr. 5, 1896.

The church was richly decorated with a profusion of natural flowers of the south. Easter was originally the festival of Eostre, an Anglo Saxon goddess, and in Acts xii. 4, is a mistranslation for the Passover, the Jewish feast. Easter is now observed by many Christians in commemoration of our Savior's resurrection, which occurred just after the Passover and about the same time of the year as the heathen festival of Eostre." Note—Taken from Philip Schaff's Bible Helps. Therefore, this lovely Easter morn, we appropriately take up the subject of the child Jesus, and follow him to his crucifixion, (death,) resurrection, ascension, and his second coming and the rejoicing of the saints with him in the glorious Easter morning of the world triumphant, namely, the resurrection morning.

Casting our minds back to a time over 1800 years ago, we see the lovely infant born in Bethlehem of Judea, wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger, whom the wise men came to worship, and over whom the angels rejoiced, singing, "Peace on earth, good will toward men." Again we look, and this time we see in the little city of Nazareth, a beautiful child, the meek and lowly Jesus, rambling over the hills of Galilee, or playing about his mother's door, while his fond parent was all the while watching her dear boy with all a mother's pride, for she knew what was to be his mission—the Savior of the world. While he is only twelve years old we find him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions. And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers. "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man." Luke ii. 46, 47, 52. At the age of thirty-three, we see him preaching the gospel of the kingdom, healing the sick, and performing divers miracles for three years and a half, at the end of which time, sinful men rose up against him and put upon him a scarlet robe, placed upon his head a crown of thorns and led him away to a place called Calvary and there they crucified the Lamb of God, the friend of sinners. "Now from the sixth hour (i. e. from eleven to twelve a. m.) there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour. (From two to three p. m.) And the sun was darkened and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst. And the earth did quake, and the rocks rent, and the graves were opened when Jesus crying with a loud voice, said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit and having said this, he gave up the ghost." Luke xxiii, and Matt xxvii.

When the evening was come a disciple named Joseph of Arimathea (a town of Judea) came to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus, and when he had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, and laid it in his own new tomb which he had hewn out in the rock, wherein never man before was laid. And he rolled a great stone to the door of the sepulchre, and departed." Yes, Jesus gave his life a ransom for all, but the grave is not the place to seek him. Death could not keep its prey and he is risen. As softly o'er the sepulchre fell the light of that Sabbath morn, where coldly rested the Savior of man, angels descending from heaven, rolls back the stone, and saith come, see, he is not here, but is risen."

"Rejoice! for the Savior is ris'n today;
And triumphs over mortality's sway."

Listen and hear that once silent tongue, saying, "I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive forever more." Rev. i 18 Now, we learn that after forty days he ascended upon high and was seated on the right hand of God, leaving us this promise; "I go to prepare a place for you. I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also." Jno. xiv. 1-3. "Behold, I come quickly and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be." "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city"—the New Jerusalem. "Then whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things. Behold he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him." Then shall the Righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of God, rejoicing because they spurned not Christ and the cross."

"Behold, behold! the Lamb of God.
On the cross:
For you he shed his precious blood,
On the cross.
Behold! his arms extended wide,
On the cross;
Behold! his bleeding hands and side,
On the cross.

The sun withholds its rays of light,
The heavens are clothed in shades of night,
While Jesus doth with devils fight,
On the cross.

Where'er I go, I'll tell the story
Of the cross;
In nothing else my soul shall glory,
Save the cross.
Yes, this my constant theme shall be,
Through time and in eternity,
That Jesus suffered death for me,
On the cross.

Now hear his all important cry,
"Eloi lama sabachthani."
Draw near and see your Savior die,
On the cross."

Ye who are dead in your sins, arise with Christ today, and put on the lovely robe of righteousness and beautifully embroider it in the coming years by "adding to your faith, virtue, and to virtue, knowledge, and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience, and to patience, godliness, and to godliness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness, charity," which is the finishing touch, and loveliest of all, on this now beautiful garment,—the "Robe of Righteousness."

Clementine Overman.

"Let my heart be sound in thy statutes; that I be not ashamed."

The Man Clothed in Linen.

By request of A. B. Middlekauff in The Restitution of March 25, that I should write on Dan. xii. 6, 23, I will say, I have a pretty hard task, and will not try to explain all that these citations cover merely, but bring in other Scriptures bearing on the same question. The man clothed in linen v. 6, 7, was the Angel Gabriel, see ch. viii. 16, ix. 21, the latter part of verse 7, and when he shall have accomplished to scatter the power of "the holy people," has reference to the scattering of Israel, and the destruction of Jerusalem, and the cutting off, or crucifixion of the Messiah. See chap. ix. 24, 27, and xii. 1. When Michael shall stand up for the children of "thy people," and verse 2, has reference to the people (Israel) at the consummation of this age. We find in Dan x. 14, the angel saying, "Now I am come to make thee understand what shall befall "thy people" in the latter days the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet. Matt. xxiv. 15, the same. We find after Daniel had heard the words of the angel, that he understood not. And cried out, O my Lo! what shall be thee end of these things? And he said, go thy way, Daniel, for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end, xii. 8, 9. But go thy way till the end be, for thou shalt rest (in death) and stand in thy lot at the end of the days, verse 13, see verse 2, is when Daniel will "stand in his lot." We find the words "closed up and sealed till the time of the end." verse 9. Christ in Matt. xxiv. speaks in about the same manner as the angel speaks to Daniel Christ in Matt. xxiv. spoke of things to take place up to the destruction of Jerusalem. Abomination of desolation. Matt. xxiv. 15, 20, and to his second coming verse 23, 27. Some try to figure out the time when Christ will come, by Dan. xi, 12, chapters, I shall not attempt it, for I think that it is not revealed for us to know. The angel informs Daniel of things to happen to his people up to the destruction of Jerusalem and the consummation of Israel's law age. Dan. ix. 20, 27, and to the consummation of the gospel age. Dan. xii. 1, 2, but as to knowing the time when that will be, I don't believe any one on the face of the earth knows. We have Christ's Words for it. But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only. Matt, xxiv. 36; 37, no, not even the Son knoweth, Mark xiii. 32. For as a snare shall it come on "All them that dwell on the face of the whole earth." Luke xxi. 35, but we are commanded to "watch" lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping. Mark xiii. 35, 36. Why are we commanded to "watch?" for the "Words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end." Dan. xii. 9, the disciples put the question to Christ, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel? And he said unto them, "It is not for you to know the times of the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power." Acts i. 6, 7, this ought to forever settle time setting with men. Paul told the brethren that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. 1 Thess. v. 1, 2, told them they were not in darkness, that the day should overtake them as a thief, verse 4. Why should it not overtake the brethren as a thief? because they were the children of the light and day, verse 5, They as we are taught the signs, and of things to take place prior to his coming. And to watch. Matt. xxiv. Mark xiii. Luke xxi, read these chapter, and you will see why they were "not in darkness." They were children of the days. So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation." Heb. ix. 28. Dear reader may you and I be found with that number, John saw, that had washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. Rev. vii 9, 14.

M. L. Adams.

Letter Drawer.

Dear Restitution:

I am often asked this: "Where does a man go when he dies?" I say, "they go to dust." Gen. iii. 19, "For dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return." Eccl. ix. 5, "For the living know that they shall die, but the dead know not anything." They will give me St. John xiv. 2, "In my Father's house are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you," to prove that we go to heaven, but, I can't see any proof there that we are going to heaven; for he says in the next verse, "And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also." When Christ comes to receive his own he is going to reign on his father David's throne, forever and ever. Psa. cxlvi. 4, "His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth, in that very day his thoughts perish." Job xvii. 16. "They shall go down to the bars of the pit, when our rest together is in the dust." Dan. xii. 2, "And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt." Matt. v. 3, "Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." This kingdom is not going to be in heaven as some folks think, but is to be here on earth. Christ tells us to pray for that kingdom to come. Matt. vi. 9, 10. Now this place that Christ has gone to prepare, John the Revelator tells us he saw Rev. xxi. 2 and 2 Tim. iv. 1; 1 Thess. iv. 13-17; St. John v. 28, 29; John vi. 40, 44, 54. What the righteous is to receive. Gal. iii. 28, 29; Gen. xiii. 14, 15; Matt. v. 5; Psa. xxxvii. 9, 11, 22, 34; Prov. x. 30; Acts ii. 29. Peter tells us that David is not gone to heaven. Now if I have a wrong understanding will some brother or sister help me to get a knowledge of the truth.

Your Brother in Christ.

A. B. Middlekauff.

Dear Restitution:

As I feel impressed in accordance with the drift of your columns, to add my faith that was firmly planted since childhood, to encourage the hope of Israel, to all the household of faith. It does seem unreasonable to listen to anything that does not hold forth the promises God gave to Abraham. If we are not for him then we are against him, and if he is against us who can be for us, and if he is for us who can be against us. Your columns are loaded with precious words of the faith once delivered to the saints which are very important questions. Who dare deny it? As Paul says, Hold fast thy faith lest any man take your crown. The Restitution is all the preacher I care for, it is impossible to hear one who knows what he speaks is gospel to preach a sermon and say it is gospel when there is not a word of gospel in it. It must be a delusion something like the commandments of men, it cannot be depended upon unless it is, "Thus saith the Lord," and when I read the many kind letters and the many unravelled mysteries, it makes me feel happy to know God has a true servant in the field who is able and willing to spend his time in a good work for the Master's sake, and the cause of the hope and faith, and proves God has put on record those words, "For he is our peace who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us; having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances for to make in him one new man so making peace." The Seventh Day people stagger some when they run against this, but they wabble away like a dished wheel, wagon striking every stone in the road, and if they would only be straightened up they might have fair sailing clear to the promised land. If their doctrine is true we haven't any use for this Scripture at all, but as Paul says, "Let God be true and every man a liar." We must have a minister to gather the sheaves of good from the fields of sin. Here is a field that not one but many are searching for deliverance. It can not be possible that no one will try to help.

"O hear my humble cry,
While on others thou art calling,
Do not pass us by."

Please remember me as a Sister and send The Restitution. We ought to have a minister here for there are plenty of sheep amongst the goats. The Baptists are trying hard to get a minister that can rightly divide the Word of truth. Some of them I have talked to say they want the Bible, no mammon sermons. If any of the brethren will write, address us at Antigo, Wisconsin.

Your Sister in Christ.

Charlotte Coblentz.

Dear Restitution:

It was again my pleasure last week to meet with the dear household of faith near Blair this state, delivering five discourses, in each case to a full and attentive house. Perhaps one-third of the audience had become obedient to the faith largely through the instrumentality under our heavenly Father of Bro. Almus Adams. Others have a large knowledge of the Truth and will, I believe, soon answer to the conviction of the heart. We long for the obedience of some who are very dear to us, and to some of the sisters and brethren of the the faith. Weekly Bible meetings are held and it makes us rejoice that nearly all our own are fully warm, even hot, and not cold or luke-warm. We must not be unequally yoked with those who believe not the truth, but trust in the fables of men rather than in God. Our gifts and our labors should be fervently for the furtherance of the one gospel of Christ unto his coming and his kingdom. We feel with you in your great loss.

Your Brother in the one faith.

J. G. Haupt.

Dear ones of like precious faith:

Perhaps you think I have lost my interest in the precious truths taught in The Restitution, as you have not heard from me in your conference. But I can assure you that I have not, but feel a deep, an abiding interest in all that pertains to the coming kingdom of our Lord and Savior soon to be established on this groaning earth. O, how dark it would be in these evil days without that blessed hope. I have been absent six weeks since your conference began, toiling with my lame hands, helping a neighbor who was in trouble through sickness. Was at home only one day in a week, and that was a very busy one, cooking and cleaning preparatory to leaving again, as my husband was alone while I was absent. It was hard for me to, and I was glad when I could be at home again. Dear brethren and sisters, our circumstances are varied; some do not know or realize, how hard others of our number have to toil to get their daily bread, and keep out of debt. May the Lord supply the need of all such as are in trouble and want, or, move upon the hearts of such as have an abundance, to do it, is my prayer. We have the necessaries, but have very little to impart to others. My husband is almost eighty and I am sixty-nine my next birthday; so we are drawing near the grave, and if the Master tarries, shall soon have to lie down in the grave; but the language of my heart is in full accord with Peter when he exclaims, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a hope of (a better) life, by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time. Wherein we greatly rejoice, though now for a season if need be, we are in heaviness through manifold temptations: (O, how precious the words, and how they comfort us). That the trial of your (our) faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honor and glory (when we die? no). At the appearing of Jesus Christ."...."Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ; as obedient children not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in ignorance; but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation, because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy." We are living in a solemn and impressive hour! It is astounding to see the zeal that is being manifested by very many in these days to hasten the evangelization of the heathen nations, because they believe the Lord is soon coming. Dear brethren and sisters, let us put on the whole armor of God, never do we need it so much as we do today, never did we need it to fit us to fulfil our mission in life whatever, or wherever it may be. O, that the Spirit may lead us on to sure and certain victory, is the prayer of your Sister in the faith and hope of the gospel.

Annie A. Howard.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

We are glad to be able to confess to the world our confidence in the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, who died for the sins of the world, and rose again from among the dead, the first fruits of them that slept. He ascended into heaven and is now pleading for us before the throne of God. We believe the time is near at hand when he will take unto him his great power, and reign on the throne of his father David, and make Jerusalem a praise in the earth and his people a joy. There are some people here who are looking for the truth, and we hold Bible readings from house to house. If we could have an evangelist here who could ably handle the sword of of truth, we think he could gather fruit for the Master.

Yours looking for the soon coming of our Savior.

Richard & Bessie Fowler.

Editor Restitution:

I cannot do without the beloved paper. I feel to praise my God for having the blessed privilege of reading the testimonies of so many brothers and sisters of the hope of the soon coming of the Kingdom where we will all be one happy family. May that time soon come when we will all be safe at home. May we keep our lamps trimmed and burning with oil in our vessels.

Yours in hope of eternal life.

Sarah Bowman.

Bro Underwood:

I enclose post office order to renew my subscription for The Restitution, and my heartfelt sympathy for the great loss you sustained by the recent fire. I am glad we may still have the paper published, for its words of "comfort and cheer" are consoling to those who have no other preaching. I hand them out to some who are very glad to read them, but are not able to subscribe for it, then they hand out to others, so they are doing double duty carrying the glad tidings to waiting ones. May God bless the means used for the support of the paper to his name's honor and glory.

Yours looking for the King to come in his glory.

Mrs. Clara Chaffee.

Selections.

Eternal by Nature.—No 2.

We saw in our last that the Bible did not pronounce man immortal; but on the contrary, it said, "Man dieth and wasteth away."

We can readily imagine some reader saying in reply, "The Bible may not call man immortal; but surely it says that every man has an intelligent immortal spirit."

We shall answer this assertion, by producing and putting in as evidence, every passage in the Bible in which the word "spirit" is used with any kind of qualifying adjective, and shall ask our reader to answer to himself how many times God speaks of the "immortal spirit," the indestructible spirit," the never dying spirit," of man. If he observes that God preserves a reticence where man is full of words, may he have sufficient wisdom to be as quiet as his Maker in testimony for man's immortal spirit. If any vain man would be wiser than God, he is free to promulgate the dogma of the immortal spirit; but let him fear to father it upon the all-wise. The following is the list:—

Spirit of God.—Matt. iii. 16; Rom. viii 9, 14; Rom. xv, 19; 1 Cor. ii. 11; 1, John iv, 2.

Spirit of the living God.—2 Cor. iii 3

Spirit of Glory and of God.—1 Pet. iv, 14.

Spirit of your Father.—Matt. x, 20.

Spirit of His Son.—Gal. iv, 6.

Spirit of Jesus Christ.—Phil. i, 19.

Spirit of Christ.—Rom. viii, 9; 1 Pet. i, 11.

Spirit of the Lord.—Luke iv, 18; 2 Cor. iii. 18.

Spirit of the holy gods.—Dan. iv, 8.

Spirits of devils.—Rev. xvi. 14.

Spirit of Antichrist.—1 John iv, 3.

Spirit of heavens.—Zech. vi, 5.

Spirit of man.—Prov. xx, 27; 1 Cor, ii, 11.

Spirits of all flesh.—Prov. xviii. 14.

Spirits of just men.—Heb. xii. 23.

Spirit of your mind.—Eph. iv. 23.

Spirit of grace.—Heb. x, 29; Zech. vii, 10; John xiv. 17; xv. 26; xvi, 13.

Spirit of truth.—1 John iv, 6.

Spirit of life.—Rev. xi, 11; Gen. vii, 22; Rom. viii, 2.

Spirit of prophecy.—Rev. xix, 10.

Spirit of counsel.—Isa. xi, 2.

Spirit of knowledge.—Isa. xi, 2.

Spirit of understanding.—Isa, xi, 2.

Spirit of wisdom.—Eph. i 17; Exod. xxviii, 3; Deut. xxxiv, 9; Isa. xi, 2.

Spirit of faith.—2 Cor. iv. 13.

Spirit of adoption.—Rom. viii, 15

Spirit of holiness.—Rom. i, 4.

Spirit of meekness.—1 Cor. iv, 21; Gal. vi, 1.

Spirit of judgment.—Isa. iv, 4; xxviii., 6.

Spirit of slumber.—Rom xi, 8.

Spirit of the world.—1 Cor. ii, 12.

Spirit of bondage.—Rom. viii, 15.

Spirit of infirmity.—Luke xiii. 11.

Spirit of fear.—2 Tim i. 7.

Spirit of divination.—Act. xvi, 16.

Spirit of error.—1 John iv 6.

Spirit of jealousy.—Num. v, 14.

Spirit of burning.—Isa. iv, 4

Spirit of haughtiness.—Isa lxi, 3.

Spirit of whoredoms.—Hosea. iv, 12; v, 4.

The following is the English version of the Scriptures, are where adjectives occur before the noun.

Holy Spirit.—Luke vii. 13; 1 Thess. iv. 8.

Holy Spirit of God.—Eph iv, 30.

Holy Spirit of promise.—Eph i, 13.

Eternal Spirit.—Heb. ix, 14.

Quickening Spirit.—1 Cor. xv, 45.

Ministering Spirit.—Heb. i, 14.

Seducing Spirits.—1 Tim. iv, 1.

Wounded Spirit.—Prov. xviii, 14.

Sorrowful Spirit.—1 Sam. i, 15.

Broken Spirit.—Psa li. 17; Prov. xv, 13, xvii, 22.

New Spirit.—Ezek. xi, 19; xviii, 31.

Humble Spirit.—Prov. xvi, 19; Isa. lvii. 15.

Free Spirit.—Psa. li. 12.

Good Spirit.—Neh. ix 20.

Patient Spirit.—Eccles. vii, 8.

Faithful Spirit.—Prov. xi, 13.

Meek and quiet Spirit.—1 Pet. iii, 4.

Unclean Spirit.—Matt. x. 1; xii, 43; Mark i, 26; vi, 7; v. 8, 13; vii, 25; Luke iv, 36; vi, 18; ix, 42; Acts v, 16; viii, 7.

Evil Spirit.—Luke vii, 21; viii, 2; Acts xix. 12, 13, 15, 16.

Foul Spirit.—ix, 25; Heb. xviii, 2.

Dumb Spirit.—Mark ix. 17.

Dumb and deaf spirit.—Mark ix, 25.

Haughty Spirit.—Prov. xvi, 18

Perverse Spirit.—Isa. xix, 14.

We ask to have the immortal Spirit of man pointed out to us. We read of but one "Eternal Spirit"—it is the Spirit of God. We therefore come to the conclusion that there is no absolutely everlasting spirit in man, constituting the man, and containing his soul identity.

If a reader may object—"No, I do not say that the Bible calls man or his spirit immortal; but, does it not teach that he has a never-dying soul to save,"—an immortal soul to take care of, and make comfortable for ever?"

To the Bible again. The following are the words of inspiration in company with "soul."

Living soul.—Gen. i, 30; ii, 7; 1 Cor. xv, 45; Rev. xvi, 3.

Hungry soul.—Psa. cvii, 9; Prov. xxvii, 7.

Thirsty soul.—Prov. xxv, 7.

Afflicted soul.—Isa. lviii, 10.

Weary soul.—Jer. xxxi, 25.

Sorrowful soul.—Jer. xxxi 25.

Longing soul.—Psa. cvii, 9.

Right one soul.—2 Peter ii, 8.

Liberal soul.—Prov xi, 25.

Idle soul.—Prov. xix, 15.

Unstable soul.—2 Peter ii, 14.

Where is the immortal soul? the thing we read about in the writing of refined pagans,—the great subject of salvation, according to the lectures of our pulpits.

Besides these adjectives used to the word "soul," there are passages in which statements are made that the soul can be sorrowful even unto death, that the soul that sinneth shall die, that God can destroy it in hell—all of which are farthest from teaching its inalienable immortality. Why do not the "orthodox" pack meetings, all with one voice cry out for the space of about two hours, and then put the Bible out of society? Alas, for centuries, popular religion has profited no more by its testimony on man than it would if the reading of the Holy Scriptures had been prohibited, and parties placed under ban who dared consult it.

We list of all pass to "mind." Here is a summary of divine testimony on mind.

Mind of the Spirit.—Rom. viii, 27.

Mind of the Lord.—Rom. xi, 34.

Mind of Christ.—1 Cor. ii, 16; Phil. iii, 5.

Defiled mind.—Titus i, 15.

Corrupt mind.—1 Tim. vi, 5; 2 Tim. iii, 8; 2 Cor xi, 3.

Blinded mind.—2 Cor, iii, 14; iv, 14.

Wicked mind.—Prov xxi, 27.

Fleshly mind.—Col ii. 18.

Carnal mind.—Rom. viii, 7

Reprobate mind.—Rom. i, 28.

Doubtful mind.—Luke xii. 29.

Renewed mind.—Rom. xii, 2.

Spiritual mind.—Rom. viii, 6.

Sound mind.—2 Tim. i, 7.

Right mind.—2 Peter iii. 1.

Willing mind.—1 Chron. xxviii, 8; 2 Cor. viii, 12.

Ready mind.—Acts xvii, 11; 1 Peter v, 1.

Pervert mind.—2 Cor. vii, 7.

One mind.—2 Cor. xiii, 11; Phil. ii, 2, 1 Peter iii, 8.

The above are all the Scriptures which say anything concisely and definitely of the mind. But not one of them speaks of the immortal mind. In the word "minded," we read some persons are spiritually minded, heavenly minded, sober minded, likeminded with the apostle, some being feeble minded, and some steadfastly minded; but there are those who are otherwise minded, i. e. carnally minded, earthly minded, high minded, double minded. But n one are immortal in mind.

We think, after adducing the testimony we have, we are entitled to ask for this verdict,—That God does not teach that man, the spirit, the soul, or the mind, is either of them an intelligent immortal being.

Giving us verdict, candid intelligent reader, you at once say the dogma is not of divine origin,—and we believe you are right.

DUST.

On an excursion into the country during the hot days of summer, Gotthold discovered that the clothes of the party were thickly covered with dust, which they had not perceived as it fell, but which now gave them trouble enough to brush and shake off. From this occurrence, said he, let us reap a useful admonition on the subject of sin and its properties. At the present season, when the weather is fine and undisturbed by showers, dust is easily raised, and falls plentifully. In like manner it is, when flesh and blood enjoy fair weather and sunshine, that sinful lusts are most apt to be excited, and drop most thickly in actual sins.

As dust consists of many minute particles, and falls imperceptibly, so that we scarcely perceive it until we are besprent with it; so do many small sins combine to form a great one, which is called habit and security, and is the nearest stage to hell.

As dust injures clothes, and sometimes sticks so fast that it can by no means be removed from them, and resembly likes it, but fabers, as we are doing, to brush it off; even so sin makes us hateful in the sight of God, and disreputable in that of men,—so that we ought justly to take all pains to purge our conscience and amend our life.

No one who travels in weather like this can escape the dust; and just as little, upon the pilgrimage of this transitory life, can any boast of being unspotted by sin.

In time, as the dust settles and turns as quietly as it is, it is not noticed; but when it is stirred up and raised by the slightest breath of wind so it sometimes seems as if sin no longer dwelt within us, but was vanquished and annihilated, and we lived from all restraint to serve God in a pure and blameless life. No sooner does opportunity occur, than sin makes its appearance, and we discover that we have much more of the world in our hearts than we had ever supposed.

Alas! Thou righteous God, how abominable and defiled in thy most holy sight are my garments and walk! No doubt, from day to day I brush the dust away; but ah, me! how little good it does! O my Father! forgive me, and do thou thyself cleanse and purge me, granting grace that my walk may be habitually circumspect, and that, at last, I may enter pure and unsullied into thy city.—Christian Scriver.

Waiting for Jesus.

"We have waited for him." Isa. xxv 9.

Waiting for Jesus. Then you believe he is coming. Many do not. They have no faith in that which is told them about Jesus' coming. They scoff at the idea. They ask, "Where is the promise of his coming?" This was foretold. Such were to come in the last days. But you believe he is surely coming. You have faith in the testimony of patriarchs, prophets, the Savior, angels, and the apostles. These all declare he will come, and you credit their testimony. Yes. The sure word of prophecy shines as a light in a dark place.

Waiting for Jesus. Then you are all ready to meet him. You cannot be waiting unless you are ready. If I go down to the depot to take the cars one minute after time I am not ready; but if I get there ten minutes before they arrive, then I am already and waiting. What is implied in being ready? Nothing short of holiness of heart. "Without holiness no man shall see the Lord." Can we be waiting for such a stupendous and glorious event when we know that we are not holy? Do we dream of going into the holy city with impure hearts and unclean hands? No; our garments must be washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb. "Christ loved the church and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the Word; that he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish." If you are waiting for Jesus, then you are a member of this holy, spotless church.

Waiting for Jesus. They waited for the return of him they loved so ardently. The Apostle Paul preached three Sabbaths at Thessalonica, and in this short time the converts became so thoroughly indoctrinated in the faith of Jesus' coming, that the Apostle wrote to them afterwards in language like the following, "For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God, and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come." How blessed this attitude—saved by grace, and hoping for glory. Looking back to the cross for deliverance from wrath, and onward to the crown for deliverance from death.

Waiting for Jesus. Then you are looking for him. You cannot be said to be waiting for that for which you are not looking. "Unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation." If you are waiting, then you must certainly be looking.

Waiting for Jesus. Then you love his appearing. No individual will wait for the approach of that in which he has no interest. If you wait for the train to arrive, it is because you have an interest there. You want to meet a friend, or go to some place yourself. Those who wait for Jesus have an interest in his coming. They love his appearing. He is their best friend.

Waiting for Jesus. This will be the attitude of the church when Jesus comes. Thank God, the Bride is getting ready. Soon may we see his blessed face. "And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him; we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation."—J. W. Thomas.

"And They Sung a Hymn."

"And when they had sung a hymn, they went out." Matt. xxvi. 30.

This was the Hallel, which the Jews were obliged to sing on the night of the passover. It consisted of six psalms, the one hundred and thirteenth and the five following. This they did not sing all at once, but in parts. Just before the drinking of the second cup and eating of the lamb they sung the first part, and on mixing the fourth and last cup they sung the remainder, and said over it what they call the blessing of the song, which was Psalm cxiv. 10. They might, if they would, mix a fifth cup, and say over it the Great Hallel, which was Psalm cxxxiv.; but they were not obliged to.—Gill.

The devoted.—The most excellent thing in the earth is the man who serveth God.—Clemens.

Oriental Desire for long Life.

"For as the days of the tree are the days of my people." Isa. lxv. 22.

The people of the East have a particular desire for long life; hence one of their best and most acceptable wishes is, "May you live as the sand years." "May you live as long as the sali-tree," i. e., the banyan, or ficus indica. I never saw a tree of that description dead, except when struck by lightning. And to cut one down would, in the estimation of a Hindoo, be almost as great a sin as the taking of the life of a man. I do not think this tree will die of itself, because it continues to let fall its own supporters, and will march over acres of land, if not intercepted. Under its gigantic branches the beasts of the forests screen themselves from the heat of the sun, and under its sacred shade may be seen the most valued temples of the Hindoos.—Roberts.

"Thou shalt come to thy grave in full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in his season." Job v. 26.

Literally, in "dried up," or "shrivelled" age; and hence the term here employed is applied by the Romans to designate the winter season, in which everything is corrugated or shrivelled. On which account some commentators propose that the text should be rendered "in the winter of life;" poetically indeed, but not thoroughly consistent with the metaphor of a shock of corn: which, in close congruity with the emblematic picture of winter at its season of maturity, is dried up and contracted, and thus far offers an equal similitude of rise old age; but which forcibly increases the similitude by the well-known fact, that, like old age also, it must be committed to the earth in order to spring to newness of life; for, in both cases, "the seed which thou sowest shall not quicken except it die." Tyndall has given the passage thus: "In a fayre age, lyke as the corn sheeves are brought into the barne in due season:" whence Sandys,—

Then, full of days, like weighty shocks of corn,
In season reaped, shalt to thy grave be born.

Not very different Schultens, notwithstanding that he admits that the Hebrew in itself implies "congestion, accumulation, or heaping together:—'Intritis in decrepita senectute ad tumulum,' 'Thou shalt enter into the tomb in decrepit age;' meaning, as a shock of corn enters into the barn."—Good.

Great is the desire of the men of the East to see a good old age. Thus the beggars, when relieved, often bless you, and say, "Ah! my Lord, may you live a thousand years." "Live, live, till the shakings of age."—Hebrits.

"I am the resurrection and the life," says Jesus. If this be true, the only way we can attain unto the resurrection of the just and eternal life, is through him.

Convert is to change, since therefore the heart and conduct must be changed before an individual is a fit subject for baptism, he must be converted.

Free Attendant Service—The North-Western Line.

A new departure has been inaugurated at the Chicago passenger station of the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) which will be found a great convenience to the traveling public. A corps of uniformed attendants has been provided to render both incoming and outgoing passengers all necessary attention, directing them to carriages, omnibuses and street cars, carrying hand baggage, assisting persons in feeble health, and making themselves useful in every way in their power. The attendants wear blue uniforms and bright red caps, and the service is entirely free. The North-Western line is the through-car route between Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Ashland, Council Bluffs, Omaha, Sioux City, Denver, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Portland and many other important cities of the west and northwest.—Apr. 25.

The best safeguard against doing wrong is prayer. Many homes are unhappy for want of prayer. The happiest homes I have ever seen are those where prayer is not neglected.

There will be a homeseekers excursion to points northwest, west and southwest via the popular Nickel Plate Road April 21st. Low rates have been authorized for this occasion. Enquire of any agent.—Apr 21.

Worthy of being kissed is that rod that beats out our sin.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN in your neighborhood this season PLANT OUR FAMOUS SEEDS and PLANTS all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Bro. Undersood:

Please say through THE RESTITUTION, that there will be a meeting held at the Crescent School house, in southeast corner of Sumner County, Kan., near Bro. Randolphs and Bro. Vickerys. This meeting is to commence Friday before the first Sunday in May and hold over Sunday. We have secured the services of Bro. J. E. Conner, and we anticipate a good meeting. And we can have a good meeting if we will. Brethren, do you wish to enjoy one more love feast? If so, you will make an effort to be with us then in the spirit of Christ. This may be the last meeting many of us will ever be permitted to attend. May God's love o'erwhelm us with and by his Word. Come with a prayer, with a song, with an exhortation, that Bro. Conner, with all who may attend will be made to be blessed they have fallen in among brethren taught of God, and, thus all be made to rejoice together in hope of a glorious future.

I. S. MILLER.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On April 21 and May 5, 1896, the North-Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers' excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa, Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hills district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address C. Fraser, T. P. A., Mathes National Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.—May 2

The heart is changed by faith, the conduct by repentance, and the relationship by baptism. But baptism is no good unless the heart and conduct is changed prior to being baptized.

The M. E. General Conference will convene at Cleveland, O. May 1st. Low rates have been authorized on the Nickel Plate Road for this occasion. The Company operates splendidly equipped trains, with all modern appliances for speed, safety and comfort. For time of trains or other information, address any agent or B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O.—Apr 30

"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." Better believe that Jesus told the truth, and go on and be baptized, for fear it might turn out in the end that it was essential.

For the occasion of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to be held in Cleveland, O., May 1st to 31st, 1896, a rate of one standard first class fare for the round trip has been authorized via the Nickel Plate Road. Tickets on sale April 29th, 30th, May 1st, and 12th.—Apr. 30

The love of God is a hidden spring, which supplies the heart continually, and never permits it to be dry or unfruitful.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION," Plymouth, Marshall Co., Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring your address changed, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above, you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman Box 884, Grand Rapids, Mich.

With its splendid equipment, uniformed colored porters on day coaches to attend to the wants of passengers, elegant sleeping cars, unexcelled dining service, and facilities for quick time, the Nickel Plate Road is in a position to make a favorable bid and secure its portion of the business enroute to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Cleveland O. Low rates are offered via this popular route. Tickets on sale April 29th, 30th, May 1st, and 12th, good returning five days from date of sale. Tickets may be extended to June 2nd by depositing them with the Joint Agent within five days from date of sale.—Apr. 30.

LIST OF CHURCHES.

Services will be held in the church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, every Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. W. M. Tobin, Evangelist

The Church of God meet for worship and searching the Scriptures every Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us at 1748 Logan Avenue, San Diego, California.

Church of The Blessed Hope, Green St. and Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. C. C. Ramsey Pastor. Services each Sunday at 10.45 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome. Pastors residence 801 Huntingdon, Street.

The Chicago Church has changed its place of meeting. They now occupy the VanBuren Hall, located on the corner of Madison street and California Avenue. They meet at eleven o'clock a. m., every Sunday. Visiting brethren are welcome.

The Church of God at Argos, Ind., hold meetings in their house on Michigan street, as follows: Preaching by J. F. Wagoner, every first Sunday in the month, also Sunday school every Sunday, and social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall northeast corner Michigan and LaPorte streets. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School at 12 m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evening. W. P. Thompson, Elder.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every first day of the week at 10 o'clock for Sunday School and at 11 o'clock for devotional services. Any brethren passing through the city are cordially invited to meet with us.

The Church of God at Andover, South Dakota, hold services each Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty-six miles thereof.

The brethren of the Church of God in Freeden, Neb., meet every Sunday at the Union Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday, and Social meetings every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Weston, Secretary. Enoch Beck, Deacon.

At Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday school every Sunday at R. Cheney's house at 1:00 p. m., followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

"Church of the Blessed Hope" of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the school house on top of the hill; cable cars come very close to school house, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Brush Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11, where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, Ia., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m., to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Ketchum, Elder.

Meetings held at Cully Church, Scholls Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland; each month. 1st Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. W. Jaquith. 2nd Sunday, sermon by Bro. Edwin Groat. 3rd Sunday, sermon by Bro. W. L. Skeels. 4th Sunday, Social meeting. Each appointment at 11 a. m.

The Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Benner Hall, on Willoughby Avenue, near Broadway.

The Church of God meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in K. of P. Hall, 836 Wilson ave, near Euclid, Cleveland, O., Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Park Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school 11:30 a. m. E. A. J. Eychaner.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at Fowler school house, Calhoun co. Ia. by Elder Whitsell. Pastor.

Services held at the Church of God near Scholls Ferry, Oregon, every Sunday. Sunday School at 10 a. M. and preaching at 11 o'clock. Brethren from a distance, and all lovers of truth are cordially invited to meet with us. Maria E. Trendell, Sec'y.

The Church of God at Brady and Prairie Grove have preaching every four weeks, Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Plato every four weeks. At Coon Grove every four weeks. At Dutton meeting on every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Brother Storr Woodward except when they are evangelizing. Hesperia, McBride, Watson and Byron have no regular preaching. The church at Salida Center is presided over by Bro L. C. Cone.

P. O. ADDRESSES,

Persons requesting their address published may have them inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Sircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chismville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eychaner, Gladbrook, Iowa.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bldg. Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore Tempe Arizona
B. F. Boyer, Swan Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B. Wilson, 1115 Eleventh Street, Sacramento, Cal.
S. C. Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Linden, Okla.
Ben. F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb.
W. D. Townsend, Salem, O.
G. W. Haynes, Farnhamville, Ia.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hudler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hawarden, Ia.
Miss Mattie Babcock W. R. C. Home, Madison, O.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, Lynch Hotel, E. 5th, St., Kansas City, Mo.
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Diwiggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Geo. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.
Mrs. Mollie Rathbun, Cedar Bluffs, Iowa.

Ohio & Pa. Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule of Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Westward.	9	19	29	5	7
	AM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Pittsb'gh, lv.	7 00			11 10
Allianc'e, ar.	9 50			1 45
Canton, "	10 28			2 23
Massillon, "	10 58			2 53
Wooster, "	11 38			3 33
Mansfield, "	12 27			4 22
Crestline, ar.	1 07	10 22		5 02
Bucyrus, "	1 27	12 02	6 15	PM
Lima, "	3 01	1 45	9 20
Van Wert, "	3 51	2 35	10 10	8 7
Ft Wayne, "	4 55	3 35	11 15	AM
Arcola, "	4 55	3 35	11 15	6 17
Columbia City, "	4 51	4 06	11 52	6 57
Larwill, "				7 08
Syracuse, "				7 23
Eagle Lake, "				7 30
Bourtonville, "				7 38
Walkerton, "				7 48
Plymouth, "	6 06	5 20		8 02
Grovertown, "				8 17
Hamlet, "				8 24
Davis, "				8 31
Hanna, "				8 37	6 0
Wanatah, "	6 30	6 12		8 43	AM
Valparaiso, "	7 01	6 53		9 10	6 45
Wheeler, "				9 18
Hobart, "				9 23
Chicago, ar.	8 00	8 00		10 15	7 55
	PM	AM	PM	AM	PM

Eastward.	20	8	4	6	50	28
	AM	PM	PM	AM	PM	PM
Chicago, lv.	7 20	3 00	9 20	12 05	4 00	11 30
Clarke, "	8 53	—	10 57	—	—	1 12
Liverpool, "	9 04	—	11 10	—	—	1 23
Hobart, "	9 24	—	11 30	—	—	1 43
Wheeler, "	9 30	—	11 37	—	—	1 49
Valparaiso, "	9 37	3 42	11 44	6 01	—	1 56
Wanatah, "	9 48	—	2 00	—	—	2 07
Hanna, "	9 53	—	—	—	—	2 12
Davis, "	9 59	—	—	—	—	2 18
Hamlet, "	10 03	—	2 31	—	—	2 22
Grovertown, "	10 07	—	—	—	—	2 26
Plymouth, "	10 20	4 15	2 56	6 00	—	2 39
Inwood, "	10 35	—	—	—	—	2 54
Bourbon, "	10 42	—	3 22	—	—	3 01
Kimmelgreen, "	10 47	—	—	—	—	3 06
Warsaw, "	11 30	5 00	3 55	—	—	3 49
Eagle Lake, "	11 42	—	—	—	—	4 01
Syracuse, "	11 55	—	4 10	—	—	4 14
Larwill, "	11 58	—	—	—	—	4 17
Columbia City, "	12 13	5 15	4 40	—	—	4 32
Arcola, "	12 18	—	—	—	—	4 37
Ft Wayne, "	12 55	5 55	5 20	7 00	—	5 17
Van Wert, "	1 48	6 48	6 13	7 53	—	6 10
Lima, "	2 36	—	6 55	8 36	—	6 53
Bucyrus, "	3 30	—	7 45	9 30	—	7 47
Crestline, ar.	4 05	8 05	8 20	10 05	—	8 22
Mansfield, lv.	4 20	8 20	8 35	10 20	—	8 37
Wooster, "	5 05	9 05	9 20	11 05	—	9 22
Massillon, "	5 35	9 35	9 50	11 35	—	9 52
Canton, "	6 05	10 05	10 20	12 05	—	10 22
Alliance, ar.	6 30	10 30	10 45	12 30	—	10 47
Pittsb'gh, ar.	8 15	12 05	12 30	2 15	—	12 30
	PM	AM	PM	PM	PM	AM

Pullman Sleeping Cars on No. 19, Pullman Vestibule Drawing and Sleeping Cars on 6, 8 and 28. Dining Cars on 19 and 20. Parlor Cars on 19 and 20. Pullman Vestibule Drawing and Sleeping Cars on 6, 8 and 28. Dining Cars on 19 and 20. Parlor Cars on 19 and 20.

JOSEPH WOOD, General Manager. E. A. FORD, General Passenger Agent, PITTSBURGH, PENNA.

For time cards, rates of fare, through tickets, sleeping car berths, and further information relating to the running of trains, apply to any agent of the Pennsylvania Lines.

NICKEL PLATE. The Nickel Plate, Chicago & St. Louis R.R.

Chicago Depot cor. 12 and Clark sts. Buffalo Depot with Erie Ry. Cleveland Depot, Broadway near Cross st. and trains stop at Euclid av. and Pearl st.

TRAINS GOING EAST

Chicago	9:00pm	8:00am	1:00pm	Local Freight
St'r'l'nd				7:00am
Hobart	10:22pm	9:07am		8:20am
Valpar'o	10:38pm	9:42am		10:00am
Knox	11:16pm	10:20am		11:00am
Ft Wayne		12:35pm		11:40am
Knox	12:18am	11:00am	6:01pm	2:25pm
Argos	12:38am	11:14m		9:35am
Ft Wayne	3:30am	4:00pm	6:25pm	4:30pm
Cleveland	10:20am	9:30pm	11:15pm
Buffalo	4:30pm		5:00am

TRAINS GOING WEST

Buffalo	12:05pm		8:35am	Local Freight
Cleveland	7:15pm	6:30am	10:30am
Ft Wayne	4:35am	1:15pm	4:10pm	7:00am
Argos	4:10am	5:20pm		5:00pm
Knox	4:30am	6:01pm		7:10am
St Ar'h'n		6:30pm	6:40pm	12:45pm
Valpar'o	5:40am	7:58pm		12:45pm
Hobart	6:01am	8:16pm		1:20pm
Hammond	6:24am	8:40pm		1:40pm
St Ylvest Chicago	7. 0am	7:00pm	9:00 m	4:00pm

Trains leaving Chicago at 8:00 a.m., Cleveland at 6:30am and local freights do not run Sunday. Other trains daily. Trains are equipped with Palace Buffet Sleeping cars. No change of sleepers to New York, Buffalo or Boston. Baggage checked to destination. For rates and all other information call on or address

A. W. JOHNSTON, Gen. Supt.
E. F. HORNER, Gen. Pass. Agt. Cleveland, O.

Local Time Table.

Solid Trains between Sandusky and Peoria AND Indianapolis & Mich. City Ft. Wayne & Connersville.

Through tickets sold to all points in the United States and Canada.

GOING NORTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 10, Passenger, Leaves		11:02pm
No. 22, " "		6:40pm

GOING SOUTH.

No. 21, Passenger, Leaves		9:45am
No. 23, " "		6:40pm
No. 131, Local, "		11:30pm

*Daily except Sunday. †Daily.

Union Depot connections at Bloomington and Peoria for points west, southwest and northwest.

Direct connections at Lima, Fostoria, Fremont or Sandusky for all points east.

Immediate connections at Tipton with trains on main line and L. & M. Div. for all points north, south, east and west.

For Tickets, Rates and General Information call on C. M. Dewberry, Ticket Agent, L. E. & W. R'y., Plymouth, Ind., or address

CHAS. F. DALY, Gen Pass. Agt. Indianapolis, Ind.

VANDALIA TIME TABLE.

In effect Sept. 28, 1895.

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 52, Ex. Sun.	11:40pm	For St. Joseph.
No. 38 "	2:45am	"
No. 54, ex. Sun.	10:30pm	for South Bend

GOING SOUTH FROM PLYMOUTH.

No. 51, Ex. Sun.	8:25am	For Terre Haute
No. 53, "	12:50pm	" "
No 57 ex. Sunday	7:15pm	" Logansport

For complete Time Card, giving all trains and stations, and for full information as to rates, through cars, etc., address T. A. Gowe, Agt., Plymouth, Indiana, or

E. A. Ford, Gen'l. Pass. Agt. St. Louis, Mo.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50. Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all Things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, APRIL 22, 1896. NUMBER 16.

Poetry.

"Shall we know Each other There?"

Is there life beyond death's river?
Shall we meet beyond the tomb?
Will we know our loved but lost ones?
In that happy Eden home?

When we've all been made immortal,
And we're clothed in garments fair,
All is changed that once was mortal,
Shall we know our loved ones there?

When the Glorious Light breaks o'er us,
And the Royal Banish fair,
Surely, in that world of gladness,
We shall know our loved ones there.

Christ the first-fruits of the harvest,
Comforted those who in sorrow were.
No doubt was there for his disciples,
They knew their risen Lord was there.

Blessed hope of resurrection,
Glorious dawn so bright and fair,
We shall meet, when they awaken,
Those we love, and know them there.

J. H. WILLEY.

Communicated.

The King In His Beauty.

If there is one desire above another which does take precedence in my heart, it is to see the King in his beauty. The phrase "in his beauty," contrasts with another period in his life when there was "no beauty that we should desire him." Oh what a joy it will be to see the King in his beauty, when he comes in splendor, the glory of which will put to shame the glorious orb of day in its noon-tide magnificence. The contemplation of the sublime grandeur of that magnificent appearing is simply soul-inspiring to the remotest degree.

The whole heavens will blaze with glory equal in brilliancy to the lightnings vivid glare. Is it any wonder that "every eye" shall behold him, and "the tribes of the earth mourn," when they thus behold the majestic coming of God's beloved Son?

The promise is that those who work with him in his humility and share in his reproach, will be with him, and share his glory, when he comes to be admired in all them that believe.

If we would that he honored we must walk with him "in white," now. To "walk in white," suggests that we must not only be invested with Christ's white robe of righteousness, but we must live "white" clean, pure lives. To do this it involves a complete separation from everything that is unclean and impure. White robes cannot be worn among filth, without being soiled.

Who is it that has the promise of seeing the King in his beauty? See Isa. xxxiii. 15.

"He that walketh righteously, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil;

He shall dwell on high: his place of defence shall be the munitions of rocks: bread shall be given him; his waters shall be sure.

Thine eyes shall see the King in his beauty: they shall behold the land that is very far off."

The question comes to me, can a person be a member of societies, associations, or parties, which walk unrighteously, and speak unrighteously, takes bribes, sheds blood, sees and practices evil, and not be a sharer in the evils practiced by the association of which he is a part?

My observation has been that all the evils mentioned in the above Scripture, and more beside, result from the vile practices of the dominant political parties of to-day. Added to this, they cater to the saloon interest, to maintain their power, knowing at the same time that distress, poverty, murder, thefts and nearly every vile crime known in the criminal code are fostered thereby.

Does not being a member of such a party bring criminal liability? The following are clippings from a daily paper as fruits resulting from the last election in Chicago:

"Bloodshed was the result of rioting in the 1st ward. Thuggism was the ruling spirit and in the crowds of voters which hung about the polling places thugs predominated.

Two shooting scrapes occurred and three men were shot. In one a disinterested pedestrian was injured. The Market street "gang" went from the north side to annihilate the colored colony centered in and about Polk and Dearborn streets, and in their failure to accomplish their purpose shot two men, Joseph Grogan and—— McGrath.

The trouble began with the opening of the polls when "Butch" Hickey was shot by "Billy" Martin at 192 Washington street. Patrolman Banks and Sergeant Stilde arrested the belligerents, together with John E. Burns and John Fenlon, a tone. Inspector Fitzpatrick arrived just in time to assist his officer and save the prisoners from being rescued by the gang of thugs who began to assault the officers. Hickey's wound is not serious.

"Big sandy" Walters met his waterloo. He was unmercifully thrashed by a one-armed man. This new celebrity in 1st ward politics is "One-Armed" Martin Flaherty. Walters to-day carries a painful expression and a disfigured countenance as a result of his meeting with his one-armed opponent, who so unexpectedly vanquished him.

Free fights, street and saloon brawls were matters of little moment. Attention was paid only to those cases where pistols were brought into play. In many instances the police at times almost were powerless to suppress the disorder and maintain the peace. Drunken negroes and the lower element from the lodging house engaged in all manner of fights.

The shooting affray at Dearborn and Polk streets, at the 19th precinct, was the most serious of all of the riotous outbreaks.

It was about 1 o'clock in the afternoon when the Market street crowd, said to have been headed by "Eddie" Hull and numbering some dozen or more, visited the polling place. The colored supporters of Williams had received a tip regarding the identity of the invaders, and they prepared for war. Pistols were placed in convenient outside coat pockets and razors were brought nearer to the outside of their owners' clothing. The Market st. men surveyed the crowd, whipped their horse into a gallop, headed for Polk street, and the shooting began. Shots were fired from the wagon and returned from the crowd. The wagon turned west in Polk street, and was not again seen by the police.

Joseph Grogen was shot in the left ankle. Nelson O'Herene, a colored man, was arrested by Officers Reed and Wooldridge and locked up at the Harrison street station charged with the shooting.

At about noon things became interesting in the 16th ward. In the 19th precinct a crowd gathered at Fox place and Noble street, and after some arguments engaged in an all-around fight. Frank Koudzlom was knocked down by the thugs and his head and neck were badly cut with knives. John Patrykus was arrested for the assault. August Trandel of 34 Fox place also was roughly handled in the fight.

In Dickson street, in the 11th precinct, a number of men were assaulted by the gang which infests that district. Shortly after the polls were closed fights began along Noble street. A number of coal wagons drove through the streets filled with drunken men, who shouted and threw stones and bricks at the crowds gathered around polling places. A brick hurled from one of these wagons at Noble and Bradley streets struck Joseph Sikorski of Holt avenue, knocking him down.

A small-sized riot occurred shortly after 1 o'clock at the 3d precinct polling place of the 23rd ward, Market and Chesnut streets. "Major" Sampson had an argument with John Fitzgerald about the political situation. The men soon came to blows, the "Major" striking his opponent a blow in the face, knocking him down.

A crowd quickly gathered, and in a few minutes a free-for-all fight was in progress. The police stationed at the polls made a rush for the crowd and dispersed it. During the row some one fired a shot."

Added to the above are frauds of every description, such as ballot box stuffing, perjury and bribery, etc. During the above election, a man come to me and says: "Say, I know where you can get two dollars for your vote." I replied: "They can't have my vote for a thousand dollars."

The question came home forcibly to me, how can a man be a member of an association which yields corrupt fruit, such as described by the secular press, and be counted as a man that "walketh uprightly, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from the hearing of blood and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil?" It is only those who live as described in the above Scripture that has the promise. "Thine eyes shall see King in his beauty."

Now brethren it is time that we looked at these things in a reasonable plain, commonsense way, and act likewise, if we ever expect to "see the King in his beauty."

Everything pales into utter insignificance when compared with the sublime grandeur of the coming of the glorious Son of God and the eternal blessings resulting from it.

If we should meet Jesus to-day, could he say of us: "These were redeemed from among men, being the first fruits unto God and the Lamb. And in their mouth was found no guile, for they are without fault before the throne of God."

W. H. WILSON.

Hesaias. (Isa. C. V.) Chap. 22.

1. The Oracular-Word of the Valley of Sioon. What hath occurred to thee, that ye have all gone up into houses of inutility?

2. The city hath become filled with those who call for help; Thy wounded are not wounded with swords, nor thy dead wars' dead.

3. All thy rulers have fled and those who take captive have been roughly bound; and thy strong men in thee have fled far away.

4. Therefore have I said: Leave me alone; I will lament bitterly. Be not strong to comfort me for the crushing blow to the daughter of my race.

5. Because a day of tumult and loss and down-treading and a wandering away from the Lord of Sabaoth is it; In a valley of Sioon do they wander away; from small to great do they wander away upon mountains.

6. The Elamites have taken quivers and riders upon horses are there and an assemblage of battle-array.

7. And thy chosen valleys will have filled with chariots and the horsemen will hedge in thy gateways;

8. And they will uncover the gateways of Joudas; and they will look in that day into the choice houses of the city;

9. And they will uncover the hidden things of the houses of the citadel of David; and they have seen that they were worse and that he turned the water of the ancient pool into the city;

10. And that they tore down the houses of Hierousaleom for fortifications for the city's wall.

11. And that ye constructed for yourselves water between the two walls of the ancient pool within, and did not look unto the One who made it from the beginning, and the One who created it ye did not know.

12. And the Lord, the Lord of Sabaoth called in that day for public mourning and lamentation and baldness and a girding on of sackcloth.

13. But they made it rejoicing and gladness, slaughtering bullocks and sacrificing sheep, so as to eat flesh and drink wine, saying, Let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we die.

14. And these things were uncovered to the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth so that this sin will not have been remitted unto you until ye die.

15. Thus saith the Lord of Sabaoth, Go your way unto the shrine-chamber unto Somna the steward and say unto him.

16. Why art thou here, and what is there thine here that thou hast hewn for thyself here a memorial-tomb and made for thyself a memento in a high place, and written for thyself a tabernacle in rocks?

17. Lo, forsooth the Lord of Sabaoth will cast out and crush out a man and will take away thy priestly-robe and thy crown of renown.

18. And will cast thee away into a great and unmeasured land and there will thou die; and he will put thy chariot there, even the house of thy ruler, to the disgrace of

19. And in that day also I shall call my house-servant Elikeim the son of Chalkios.

21. And endue him with thy priestly-robe, and give him thy crown with controling-power and give thy stewardship into his hands; and he will be a father to those who dwell in Hierousalem and who dwell in Joudas;

22. And I shall give the glory of David to him, and he will rule and there will be no one to gainsay; and I shall give unto him the key of the house of David to be on his shoulder; and he will open and no one will shut.

23. And I shall stand him in a reliable place, and it will be for a throne of glory for the house of his father.

24. And every one of renown in the house of his father will trust in him from small to great, and they will have hung upon him.

25. In that day, saith the Lord of Sabaoth, the man fixed in his place will have been moved and will have been taken away and will fall, and the glory that is upon him will have been utterly destroyed, because the Lord hath saith it.

CHAPTER 23.

1. The Oracular-Word of Turos (Tyre) Ololu ye ships of Karchedoon (Carthage) because it hath perished, and no more do they come from out a land of Kitiaioi, (Citians) Captivity hath come.

2. Ye who dwell in the island, ye traffickers of Phoinike (Phoenicia) ye who cross the sea.

3. In much water, ye seed of traffickers, to what have ye become like? Like an early harvest that is being carried in, ye traffickers of the nation.

4. Be ashamed, O Sidoon (Sidon) hath the sea said; and the strength of the sea hath said; I have not had birth-pangs nor have I brought forth, nor have I brought up young men, nor exalted virgins.

5. And whenever it shall have come to be heard in Aigupros, woe for Turos (Tyre) will lay hold of them.

6. Go to Karchedoon, Ololu ye dwellers in the island.

7. Was not she your pride from the beginning before she was given up?

8. Who counseled these things in respect to Turos? Is she inferior or is she not strong? Her merchants are renowned, rulers of the earth.

9. The Lord of Sabaoth hath counseled to take down all the pride of the renowned, and to dishonor all renown on the earth.

10. Till thy land; Yea forsooth ships are coming no more from out Karchedoon (Carthage).

11. And thy hand is no longer strong by sea, thou provoker of kings; The Lord of Sabaoth hath enjoined concerning Canaan to destroy the strength thereof.

12. And they will say; Ye shall no more repeat being haughty and wronging the daughter of Sidoon: And if thou shalt depart into Kittioia (Citium) neither will there be rest for thee.

13. And if into the land of the Chaldaioi, this also hath been laid waste by the Assurioi, because the wall thereof hath fallen.

14. Ololu ye ships of Karchedoon because your fortification hath perished.

15. And it will be in that day that Turos will have been forsaken for seventy years, as it were the time of a king, as it were the time of a man; and it will be after a seventy years that Turos will be as it were a harlot's song.

16. Take a cithera and roam about, thou ignored harlot city; play the cithera beautifully, sing much, that there may come to be a remembrance of thee; and it will be that after seventy years God will make a visitation of Turos, and it will have been restored (restituted?) to its ancient state;

17. And it will be an emporium for all the kingdoms of the inhabited upon the face of the earth.

18. And her commerce and her wages will be a thing sanctified unto the Lord; not for them will it have been gathered together but for those who dwell in the sight of the Lord, all her commerce, to eat and drink and be filled, and for a memorial-symbol in the sight of the Lord.

COMMENT.

The 22nd chapter opens with what is designated as "The Oracular-Word of (or concerning) the valley of Sioon." How it reminds us of moral apathy in cities and high places now. We do not have to go away from home to realize the truth of the picture and the need of the reproof. Shall we not as citizens of this great republic and denizens of its great cities look back historically and profit by the prediction of loss and desolation unless we repent, redeem the time and do "the first works" and "those meet for repentance." God always has in store instrumentalities with which to chasten his people. The law of righteousness which is as uniformly God's law in the moral world as the law of gravity in the natural world must and will assert itself either in the pleading voice of gentle authority and the chastening correction of a loving hand or in the dread lightening and thunder of righteous indignation and just retribution. And we do well to heed the great truth of all his revelation, that "all his ways are judicial-ways" and that he is constantly addressing our enlightened intelligence as well as our hearts.

Read the 12th and 13th verses of this chapter for the gist of the reproof and the philosophy of it. For it is just as applicable to-day as it was then.

Of course what is to Somna the steward has a far more profound and farther-reaching import than appears on the surface, and the whole passage is Messianic in its full significance although true historically of Somna and his retribution.

The 23rd chapter with its heading "The Oracular-Word of Turos" is history written before the event as we can now look back historically and see for ourselves.

Old Tyre on the mainland was at the time of this prophecy the emporium par excellence of the Canaanites and at the height of its glory on sea and on land. But even its debris was scraped off to make a causeway by which to reach new Tyre on the island when Alexander laid siege to it and took it. Since which time its ruins have been as prophesied a place for the spreading of nets for a few poor fishermen. The prophecy here covers the glory and downfall of both old and new Tyre, the downfall though of New Tyre being given more specifically elsewhere in later prophecy.

CHAS. GARDNER.

Selections.

[Published by request.]

The Original "Beautiful Snow."

The London Spectator has pronounced this to be the finest poem ever written in America:

"During the early part of the war, one dark Saturday night, in midwinter, there died in the "Commercial Hospital" in Cincinnati, a young woman, over whose head only two-and-twenty summers had passed. She had once been possessed of an enviable share of beauty, and had been, as she herself says, 'flattered and sought for the charms of the face;' but alas, upon her fair brow was written that terrible word—prostitute. Once the pride of of respectable parents, her first wrong step was the small beginning of the 'same old story over again,' which has been the only life history of thousands. Highly educated and accomplished manners, she might have shone in the best society. But the evil hour that proved her ruin was the door from childhood, and having spent a young life in disgrace and shame, the poor friendless one died the melancholy death of a broken-hearted outcast. Among her personal effects was found in manuscript, "The Beautiful Snow," which was immediately carried to Enos B. Read, a gentleman of culture and literary taste, who was at that time editor of the National Union. In the columns of that paper, on the morning of the day following the girl's death, the poem appeared in print for the first time. When the paper containing the poem came out on Sunday morning, the body of the victim had not yet received burial. The attention of Thomas Buchanan Read, one of the first American poets, was so taken with their stirring pathos that he immediately followed the corpse to its final resting place. Such are the plain facts concerning her whose 'Beautiful Snow' shall long be remembered as one of the brightest gems in American literature."

O the snow, the beautiful snow!
Filling the sky and the earth below;
Over the house-tops, over the street,
Over the heads of the people you meet,
Dancing, dirting, skipping along,
Beautiful snow! it can do no wrong;
Flying to kiss a fair lady's cheek,
Clinging to lips in a frolicsome freak,
Beautiful snow from the heavens above
Pure as an angel, gentle as love!

O, the snow, the beautiful snow!
How the flakes gather and laugh as they go
Whirling about in their maddening fun,
It plays in its glee with every one—
Chasing, laughing, hurrying by
It lights on the face, and it sparkles the eye
And playful dogs with a bark and a bound,
Snap at the crystals that eddy around;
The town is alive, and its heart in a glow
To welcome the coming of beautiful snow.

How wildly the crowd goes swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor and song!
How the gay sleds like meteors flash by,
Bright for the moment, then lost to the eye
Ringing, swinging, dashing they go
Over the crust of the beautiful snow—
Snow so pure, when it falls from the sky,
As to make one regret to see it lie
To be trampled and tracked by the thousand feet,
Till it blends with the filth in the horrible street.

Once I was pure as the snow, but I fell—
Fell like the snowflakes from heaven to hell;
Fell to be trampled as filth in the street;
Fell to be scoffed, to be spit on and beat;
Pleading, cursing, dreading to die;
Selling my soul to whoever would buy;
Dealing in shame for a morsel of bread;
Hating the living, and fearing the dead—
Merciful God! Have I fallen so low?
And yet I was once like the beautiful snow!

Once I was fair as the beautiful snow,
With an eye like its crystal, and heart like its glow;
Once I was loved for my innocent grace,
Flattered and sought for the charms of the face.
Father, mother, sister all,
God and myself I have lost by my fall!
The veriest wretch that goes shivering by
Will make a wide sweep lest I wander too nigh;
For all that is on or above me I know
There's nothing as pure as the beautiful snow.

How strange it should be that this beautiful snow
Should fall on a sinner with nowhere to go!
How strange it should be when night comes again,
If the snow and the ice struck my desperate brain!
Fainting, freezing, dying alone,
Too wicked for prayer, too weak for a moan
To be heard in the streets of the busy town,
Gone mad in the joy of the snow coming down;
To be and to die in my terrible woe,
With a shell and a shroud of the beautiful snow.

Helpless and feet as the trampled snow;
Sinner, despair not! Christ stoopeth low
To rescue the soul that is lost in its sin,
And raise it to life and enjoyment again.
Groaning, bleeding, dying for thee,
The Crucified hung on the accursed tree;
His accents of mercy fell soft on thine ear;
Is there mercy for me? Will he heed my prayer?
O God, in the stream that for sinners did flow,
Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

Our Helping Fund.

Herewith we give names, and the amounts donated by each, for the purpose of helping to create a fund to be used in sending papers and tracts to those too poor to pay. This fund will be used only for those who themselves state their needs and circumstances, or whose case is presented by some one known to us as trustworthy.

Previously published,	$77.10
Richard Fowler	1.50
Jesse Bean	2.00
Mrs. Wm. Winter	1.00
Mrs. Wm. Sipes	.50
Hiram Shoemaker	.50
Dr. J. T. Smith	4.00
A Lover of Truth	1.50
Job Bates	5.00
Mrs. E. H. Boyer	.75
Mrs E. C. Gilbert	1.50
L. D Southerland	1.00
Geo. Pyfer	2.00

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations; the restoration of Israel; the literal resurrection of the dead; the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked; eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Oregon Bible College
Oregon, Illinois

The Restitution.

EDITORIAL STAFF,
Directors of the C. P. Association.

M. JOBLIN, Corresponding Editor.

PLYMOUTH, IND. APRIL 22, 1896.

THE advice of Basil, is good. He says:—"Believe those things that are written; the things that are not written seek not."

LEIGHTON says:—"Never be afraid to doubt, if only you have the disposition to believe; but doubt (only) that you may end in believing the truth."

WE would like to revise the "List of Churches." Some of these have been in a long time, and perhaps changes are needed. Will some one of each congregation see to this, and inform us, so that we may be able to give them correctly.

"GET down to the roots of things. The gold mines of Scriptures are not in the top soil. You must open a shaft. The precious diamonds of experience are not picked up in the roadway; their sacred places are deep down. Get down into the vitality, the divinity of the Word of God, and seek to possess with it all the inward work of the blessed spirit."

"FLAVEL says there is a great difference between the sight of the several parts of a clock as they are disjointed and scattered abroad, and the seeing of them conjointed and in use and motion. To see here a pin and there a wheel, and not know how to set them together, nor even see them in their due places, will give but little satisfaction. It is the frame and design of holy doctrine that must be known, and every part should be discerned, as it hath its particular use to that design, and as it is connected with the other parts."

LAZARUS was Lazarus after he was dead; for Jesus said:—"Nevertheless, [although HE be dead] let us go unto HIM." Where did they go? They went to the grave. Proof enough, this, that the identity of the man was connected with that which was dead. Arriving there they found that HE, Lazarus, had lain in the grave four days. Acts ii. 29, 34, proves that the sepulchre contained all there was of David. That which was crucified was called Jesus. That which lay dead in the sepulchre was called the Lord. That which was raised from the dead was HE. Matt. xxviii. 5–7.

DEVOUT, but distressed, we may say, is the condition of many around us. They seem to desire to believe something, if they could, but cannot. Popular theology bewilders them, and revivalistic extravagance outrages them and atheism revolts them; scientific agnosticism chills and blights them; but there is a remedy of which the world has heard but little. This may smack of charlatanry, but the advice will be found good by those who take it. Believe the grand old covenants of promise made to the fathers of the Hebrew nation, that have been confirmed by the Anointed Jesus. He who promised cannot lie, and he has promised a kingdom that shall never pass away, never be left to other people, because those who enter it shall have everlasting life. Faith in God's promises gives one a satisfying hope. Try it.

Assistance for Searchers.

IV. Are not the dead conscious?

1. "What soever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, [scheme, contrivance] nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave, whither "thou" goest. Eccl. ix. 10. [The person represented by the personal pronoun "thou," and who when in the grave will not be able to work or contrive or know anything, is the same person who is told to work with all his might before he goes there,—in view of the nothingness that will overtake him there.]

2. "Put not your trust in princes, nor in the son of man, in whom there is no help. [Why? Because his own] breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish;" [and of course can help no one, not even himself. Psa. cxlvi. 3, 4.

3. "Hear my prayer, O, Lord, and give ear unto my cry.....O spare me (David) that I may receive strength before I go hence and be no more." Psa. xxxix. 12, 13.

4. "For the living know that they shall die; but the dead "know not anything," neither have they any more a reward; for the memory of them is forgotten; also their love and their hatred, and their envy is now perished." Eccl. ix. 5, 6.

No one will deny that the faculties here enumerated are attributed by the Populars to what they call the immortal soul; but if that were so, the testimony before us would prove that the immortal soul would lose its life and all its faculties. Just think of punishing an unconscious, dead soul! It is therefore evident that unless the person who goes to the grave be called from the dust of death by Almighty power, that is the last of him. It may then be asked:—

V. Will the dead rise?

1. "There shall be a resurrection of the dead. Acts xxiv. 15.

2. "But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen." 1 Cor. xv. 13.

3. "By man came also the resurrection of the dead. 1 Cor. xv. 21.

4. "They that have done good shall come forth unto the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation." (condemnation.)

There being then a resurrection of dead ones, it follows, that to those who shall rise again, death is not the end of all.

A Talk with the Doctor About Asthma.

The few suggestions made in the talk about "taking cold," respecting asthma, having been helpful to some, afflicted with that distressing difficulty, we are inclined to give a talk on that subject exclusively in this number. The Doctor says it is quite a different thing to talk or write about asthma from what it is to labor under the experience of the disease. There are many efforts which man is called to make which are laborious, but perhaps none that make him feel so decidedly weary as the trial of almost impossible breathing. And yet asthma is just that toil. What a grand act of help to another when one can turn the terrible toil of this disease into the pleasure of healthful respiration. The person afflicted with asthma must sit up night and day. He cannot even have his lower limbs placed horizontally. They must hang down, or rest on a stool. His head cannot be laid down even on the back of his easy chair, nor can it be kept erect—it must be bent forward so that it can hang on the breast or on something supporting it. The arms must be in the position in which the least possible effort is required to keep them. We think we can learn something from these facts. It is not the circulation of the blood with which we have to do in such a case. There was a time when those afflicted with this disease were largely bled from the arm! This is condemned now. We see that the only endurable attitude is not favorable to circulation, and the attitude most favorable to circulation is unendurable. Our minds are therefore directed away from the heart and all matters of mere circulation. We think then of muscular power. The position in which a patient in this disease places himself is that in which the greatest possible release is given to the muscles of the whole body,—and in which the greatest possible force is spared for the muscles of respiration. Those muscles somehow have so lost their force that they require to have the whole muscular system laid under contribution in order that they may work at all; the whole store of muscular power must be directed towards breathing, or else that work cannot be carried on. This leads us to the very core of our subject, and our guide is the mere attitude of the sufferer. We shall now see how it leads us to a remedy. We have seen a person under a violent paroxysm of asthma, and we have placed the left arm on the breast, while with the right we rubbed down the spine between the shoulders so as to excite the respiratting nerves at their roots, to increased action. The effect was instantly felt in relief of breathing, and in a quarter of an hour the attack was entirely overcome, and the patient breathing freely. How could this be accounted for? Simply in this way—the nerves that give motive power to the respiratory muscles spring from the spinal chord between the shoulders. These nerves had ceased to act with force enough for breathing in a healthful degree; the rubbing (with the points of the fingers chiefly) roused them to increased action, and the current of force soon told that it was renewed. By only a light rubbing down the spine on both sides, with the fingers dipped in cold water, when the case has been very severe indeed, we have seen the agonized look changed into a smile. It is necessary to remark that the rubbing is of a peculiar character, but may be done by any one who is careful to master it. It will not be done by a person who despises all such remedies. But the truly kind heart will do that in the pro[per] suffering. For example,—if [you] the rubbing of the skin that is w[ell] You may rub that till it is so[re] only do harm. Neither is it t[o] bing of the back bone that is w[ell] It is such a movement down[ward] both sides of the bone as mak[es] nerves passing thence to the r[es]tory organs, put on increased action. It can be done even above the clothing if that is not all the stiffer. But in severe cases it is necessary to rub nearer the centers to be affected. If the patient is ordinarily warm dip the fingers repeatedly in cold water, and rub very gently, so as to move under the skin rather than on its surface. If the water cools too much, dry it off and use warm olive oil; giving the patient rest as desired, and renew as desired. But the doctor has so much to say respecting asthma and its treatment that it will take several talks before he is through. Hoping however this may be helpful to some poor afflicted one, for the present we conclude.

The Gospel of the Kingdom.—A Reply to "The Christian Oracle." No. 15.

In further prosecuting our study of this important subject we call attention to Matt. vii. 21, 22, 23. "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." All will admit, we hope, that the will of the Father involves a life-time of obedience; it is not enough to perform two or three acts; if life be prolonged it is not enough to thus begin well doing; it is patient continuance in well doing that secures an entrance into the kingdom, with eternal life to enjoy it. See Rom. ii. 7. Men do not enter the kingdom first, and do the will of God afterwards; that would be turning God's plan upside down.

It is distinctly stated in Rev. xx. that the saints reign with Christ a thousand years.

It just as positively states that these reigning saints are the subjects of the resurrection,—had died and had been raised again.

It just as positively states that Satan shall not be permitted to deceive the nations during that thousand years,—but that he is loosed again after the thousand years, and again deceives them.

It just as positively states that the camp of the saints who reigned during the thousand years is still on the EARTH where they had reigned.

It just as positively states that the deceived nations of earth compass the the camp of the saints, and the beloved city on earth.

It just as positively states that Satan is to be loosed for a short time only.

It just as positively says that fire shall come down out of heaven from God, and consume them, because this is prophetic, and speaks of things that were not yet, as if already accomplished.

It just as positively states that the diabolos who deceived them was (is to be) cast into the lake of fire and sulphur.

Let us suppose for a moment that the reign of Christ and his saints commenced at the first pentecost after the crucifixion. It had a course of a thousand years to run; and during that reign all human rule and authority is to be put down,—all enemies put under his feet, the last of these being death, (1 Cor. xv. 24-26, 27, 28.) then cometh the end when he shall have delivered up the kingdom of God, even the Father that God may be all in all."

This wondrous change,—this stupendous transfer would take place in the 11th century. The binding of Satan, would have taken place at about the time of Pentecost; and the conquering hero upon God's holy hill of Zion would have proceeded to rid the world of its scum, wound the heads over many countries and reigned over a happy and peaceful world till every spot of which would reverberate with Jehovah's praise.

Did anything like that happen in the eleventh century, or did God's calculations fail? Or is the Pentecostal kingdom pure fiction? We have been laboring under the impression that historians include the 11th century in the dark ages,—if there was ever a darker period, morally and religiously, we will listen to the testimony. If any one could show that the horrid persecutions under Nero, and Domition and Trajan, and Severus, and Maximinus, and Decius, and Valerian, and Aurelian and Diocletian were mythical, people may be led to believe, at this distance, perhaps, that the kingdom of God was set up at the Pentecost, providing they were ignorant of [illegible] in Moses, the Prophets [illegible] the Psalms. But how could they believe that Satan was bound, and therefore harmless while such things were going on?

It might be well to look to the end of the period of a thousand years marked off for the kingdom of God under the Son and the saints. If we were to ask an honest and intelligent believer in the Pentecostal kingdom as to the moral condition of the world after the kingdom had, as supposed, existed through the allotted period, would he say it was better or worse than at the setting up of the kingdom? Could he deny that the apostasy was in full blast in the 10th and 11th centuries? Think of the "execrable Hildebrand" as Pope Gregory VII. as the vicar of Jesus Christ; and Pope Celestus who tried to force the Bohemian priests to put away their wives, and Pope John XIX. Made pope at twenty years of age and was infamous by rapines and murders, and was finally expelled by the people; and of Pope Sergius III. who publicly avowed his criminal connection with Marozin, by whom he had a son, who, under his mother's influence crept into the Papal chair as John XI., and of whom history says that to the infamy of his spurious birth he added personal vice, in which he was shamefully imitated. What would be the condition of the masses when the supreme heads of the Church were such degraded creatures? What had the setting up of the kingdom at Pentecost done for the world? Nay, are we not discussing now, what is said to have been the outgrowth of the Pentecostal kingdom? Is not this what Mr. Campbell and his brethren refer to as the utter loss of the truth that serves in the dark ages, necessitating the setting up of the kingdom again? If the kingdom was set up at Pentecost its time expired in the 11th century, and Satan was loosed for a little season, during which he instigated another rebellion. The result of which was that fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them, and the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for the ages of the ages; or else the Pentecostal kingdom is true.

There is no twisting nor turning here to make a point; and we want to know of the Oracle man, on whom he places the blame for the utter failure of the Pentecostal kingdom to do the work assigned to it in the thousand years? And we would like him to tell us whether or not the devil is running loose now? If so, did he escape the binding through the thousand-year kingdom? And was the failure of the Pentecostal kingdom due to his not being chained? And as it is claimed that the kingdom was set up again some 60 years ago, why was he not chained then, so that the second attempt to make the kingdom a success may have a fair chance to succeed? And, inasmuch as the new kingdom is not increasing as fast as the population, by scores of millions each year, does it not look as if another failure is inevitable? We earnestly ask him to reflect upon the fact, that if the first kingdom failed in the 11th century, and Satan was either not chained or else loosed and under no restraint whatever, for about 1800 years, then the difficulties confronting the second kingdom may be a hundred-fold greater than those confronting the first. There is no practical demonstration of spirit power now. There is an apostate system that poisons the whole moral and religious atmosphere and nullifies the Word of God. There are untold millions of inhabitants doubtless more than there were at Pentecost; and these things point unmistakenly to the prophecy of Jesus that when he comes again he will find the world in the same unprepared condition as did the flood in the days of Noah. Just as sure as God spake to us by Jesus, the bubble of the kingdom set up sixty years ago will burst.

Selected.

Why so Few Conversions?

People come to church on Sunday—some of them weak and weary, others sorely tempted, others conscience smitten, and others hungry for comfort. Having made a sad failure in their own attempts, some of them want a power out of themselves to lift them into a better life. Feeling the prick of sin through their own consciences, they desire to be delivered from the dominion of these besetting sins. Others come with aching hearts and long for a comforter; often behind smooth faces are concealed the terrible scars which temptations or trials have inflicted. If all those people could make their desires known, they would cry out, "We would see Jesus." Oh, my brethren, is not the chief demand upon our ministry that first, last, and all the time we should be holding up Jesus the Sin-bearer, Jesus the Life-giver, Jesus the Sympathizer and Consolor, Jesus the Intercessor, and Jesus the Center and Glory of the Gospel of salvation? If we fail in making our congregation see him, then the most eloquent discourse is a pious sham.

Perhaps there is another cause for the small number of conversions in many communities. It is that men of the world see so little of Christ in the daily lives of those who profess to be his servants and "witnesses." There is no argument for Christianity equal to that which is presented by a pure, honest, and beautiful life inspired by Christ's Spirit. Nothing rejoices and disgusts the unconverted like the daily contact with those who profess Christianity and manage to make it odious. Dr. Horace Bushnell once said, "We preach too much, and live Christ too little." There are people who go home from church saying, "What a capital sermon that was!" and that is the last of it. They devour sermons greedily with but very little growth in godly living. We emphasize that word living. Is it church going, or praying, or Sunday-school teaching, or any one, or even many, modes of special service that is the main duty of Christ's followers? No indeed. All these good things ought to be done; but the weightier and more vital thing is to live Jesus Christ lovably and beautifully before the world. The best sermon may set forth how to live; but a noble and holy life is the actual achievement.—Dr. Cuyler.

A Word to Reason.

Editor Everybody's Column.

SIR—In your issue this day, 20th, I notice "Reason" gives us a poem on the Bible and from the closing lines:

"Their reign shall be ended forever."
"And foes thou shalt stand in their places."

I once had a little of this egotism but God, who is the Creator of all things, opened my eyes to his wonderful plan of redemption, not after the precepts of men: Isa. xxix. 13; Matt. xv. 8–9; but from the Word of God, the Bible. It is an anvil that has worn out many a hammer; it has been attacked by all classes; wise men and infidels, and it will stand forever because God is behind it.

I, myself, used to attack it from all points and had not even read or studied it. Has our friend "Reason" ever considered the following Scripture. "Study to show thyself approved unto God," (not man), 2 Tim. ii. 15; "Search the Scriptures."—John iv. 39. The New Testament was not written when this command was given. "They received the Word with readiness of mind and searched the Scriptures daily whether these things were so."—Acts xvii. 11. "Yea, if thou cried after knowledge and liftest up thy voice for understanding; if thou seekest her as silver and searchest for her as for hid treasures; then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God."—Prov. ii. 3–5.

Our Savior says, "Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but unto them that are without all things are done in parables: that seeing they should see and not perceive; and hearing they may hear and not understand." Mark iv. 11–12.

How is "Reason" getting the Word in parables? Let me advise to Reason with God, Isa. i. 18, and he says, "Ye shall seek me and find me when ye shall search for me with all your heart." Jer. xxix. 13.

As he has offered a poem let him consider this one:

"HOW READEST THOU?"—LUKE x. 26.

'Tis one thing, friend, to read the Bible through,
Another thing to read, to learn and do;
'Tis one thing, too, to read it with delight,
And quite another thing to read it right.

Some read it with design to learn to read,
But to the subject pay but little heed;
Some read it as a their duty once a week,
But no instruction from the Bible seek.

Some read to bring themselves into repute,
By showing others how they can dispute;
Whilst others read because their neighbors do,
To see how long 'twill take to read it through.

Some read the blessed Book, they don't know why.
It somehow happens in the way to lie;
Whilst others read it with memorious care,
But all to find some contradictions there.

One reads with father's specs upon his head,
And sees the things just as his father did
Another reads through Campbell or through Scott,
And thinks it mentions exactly what they thought.

Some read to prove a preadopted creed,
Thus understand but little what they read,
And every passage in the Book they bend
To make it suit that all important end.

Some people read, as I have often thought,
To teach the Book instead of to be taught.

In conclusion, friend Reason, can two walk together except they be agreed? Amos iii. 3. Can you understand God unless you study his Word with an honest heart?—Fred Greiner, Niagara Falls Catarract.

The Hour of Prayer.

"When torn is the bosom with sorrow and care,
Or fever so sleepless, there's something like prayer:
In sickness and sorrow, in sadness, yet sustains,
Gives vigor to hope, and pills passion in chains.

While struggling so to prayer, we are striving to be Heaven pours its full treasure through no medium but Me!
And till we the temple's full capture share,
Our studies in vain must be guarded by prayer."

Christians need to spend more time alone with God. They are suffering weakness and poverty for want of it. Says the San Francisco Pacific: "England's greatest engineer was said to be a man of no great natural talent, yet he performed wonders, bridged torrents, pierced mountains, etc. When he came to a difficulty that seemed insurmountable he would shut himself in his room, and neither eat nor drink that he might concentrate his mind on that difficulty. At the end of two or three days he came out of the room with the look and step of a conqueror, and gave orders to his men which seemed to them like inspiration. So it would be with Christians, if they spent more time alone with God. They would come from their closets, as Moses came from the Mount, with shining faces; and having power with God, they would have power also with men."

No Difference?

How often men say, "Oh, it makes no difference what a man believes, just so he is sincere."

Let us see. A family was poisoned last week, by eating toadstools, which they sincerely believed to be mushrooms. Three of them died. Did it make no difference?

A man endorsed a note for a friend whom he sincerely believed to be an honest man. He was a scoundrel and left him to pay the debt. Did it make no difference?

A traveler takes the wrong train, going north, sincerely believing it to be the southern train. Will it make no difference? Will he bring up at the south all the same?

If a man sincerely believes a certain thing, while the truth about it is entirely different, will this sincere belief make it all right?

The truth is, the popular saying is a lie, and a very transparent one at that! If a man is sincere he will take pains to know the truth. For where facts are concerned, all the thinking in the world will not change them. A toadstool remains a toadstool no matter what we think about it.—Covenant.

Christ and the Scriptures.

Nothing keeps our doctrinal system in such ripe proportion, or gives such rest dignity to our spiritual consciousness, or such power to our confession of faith, or such help for deep repose to our inmost, deepest being amid the cares and bustle of life, as communion with Christ in his Word, where mind and heart, intelligence and devotion, seek him and find him together. He has his special secrets for those who are at the pains to come and ask for them. And he not only teaches but comforts. "Great peace have they which love thy law, and nothing shall offend them." (Psa. cxix. 165); and it is because they love him.—Bishop Thorold.

The wicked world rolleth up and down, and reeleth to and fro, and careth not what the will of the Lord is, so it may abide in wealth. If truth have wealth, then who are so stout to defend the truth as they? But if Christ's cross be laid on truth's back, then they vanish away straight, as wax before the fire.—Bishop Ridley (1555).

Some one has said: "It will it do to 'blow your own horn' when you have fish to sell, but not when you are trying to catch them." Here is a hint to those who are called to be "fishers of men."

The Special Evangelist Fund.

This fund is raised and controlled by the Sisters, for the purpose of placing some young man in the field as a proclaimer of truth. Hereafter in making donations to this fund please say whether or not you intend to give a stated amount regularly each quarter. This work is continuous, and quarterly contributions are asked for, though single time gifts are very welcome. Send all monies for this fund to Mrs. Eva L. Underwood, Plymouth, Ind.

Previously published.	$284.78
A Friend	$5.00

Poetry.

One by One.

One by one, the leaves are fading;
One by one, the leaflets fall.
'Tis, to all a solemn warning!
Should we not at sin appall?

One by one, the flowers are fading;
One by one, the flowrets call!
Be not wonder'r,—'tis a warning!
Thus, the Lord to us does call.

One by one the hours are flying;
One by one, the minutes roll!
Will you heed the solemn warning?
Will you enter now the goal?

One by one, God's blessing falling
On the evil, and the good,
And in mercy still he's calling,
Come, and learn, obey his Word.

One by one, God's mercies falling;
Will you have, obey his will?
His dear arm is still extended,
Life eternal offers still.

One by one, Christ's dear commandments
You may learn, and may obey.
Will you not, now, heed the message,
Enter now, the narrow way?

MRS. E. R. BOWEN.

Communicated.

Letter to Dr. Talmage.

Honored Sir:

In your sermon of Feb. 19, 1896, you make the assertion to your hearers, composed of all classes, "We all know that we shall live forever"—"Death cannot kill us!!" I was perfectly appalled when I read it; and must ask you, How could you utter such an affirmation, if you are acquainted with the teachings of the Scriptures upon the nature of man, and the sentence God placed upon Adam in the Garden of Eden, after he sinned by disobeying God's law? Did not God say to him: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou (the man) eat bread till thou return unto the ground, for out of it wast thou taken: for "dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return." Do you read that any part of the man was exempted? Had not God said to him, "In the day thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die." "One day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.") (2nd Peter iii. 8.)—"And Adam lived 930 years, and he died." The serpent to the contrary notwithstanding. I know the serpent said unto the woman; "Ye shall not surely die." Now, I want to ask which are we believing? God, or the serpent, when we affirm. "We all know that we shall live forever. Death cannot kill us?"—God says through the prophet Isa. viii. 20.—"To the law, and to the testimony; if they speak not according to this Word, it is because there is no light in them." We read concerning Abraham the friend of God, and to whom God made such wonderful promises, that HE DIED in a good old age, an old man and full of years, and was gathered to his people," (in the grave, for they his people) his fathers were idolaters, but his family are with him, in the cave of Machpelah, awaiting the sounding of the trump of God. The prophets are all dead, with the exception of two, Enoch, and Elijah, who went up bodily, or Elijah did, for "Enoch was not, for God took him."—Peter said on the day of Pentecost, "David is not ascended into the heavens, but is both dead and buried and his sepulchre is with us unto this day." Therefore being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins, according, to the flesh, he (God,) would raise up Christ, to sit on his (David's) throne. He seeing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ that his soul was not left in hell, (or hades) neither did his flesh see corruption."—You say in your sermon, Feb. 26. "There are people who think, (and I want to tell you, I am one of them,) Christ will come in person, and sit on a throne." You reply, "Perhaps he may," as though you doubted it very much, or, it sounds that way to me. How can you have any doubts about it, if you believe what the angel said to Mary of Christ, (or Jesus,) as the angel said he should be called, viz: "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his Father David and he shall reign over the house of Jacob, (the twelve tribes) forever, and of his kingdom there shall be no end."—Now, if you can doubt that Christ will sit on the throne of David; I do not wonder that you think men will not die, and I shall think you are under the "woe," in Jer. xxiii. 1. In verse 5, we read, "Behold, the days (will) come, saith the Lord that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. In his days, Judah, (the two tribes) shall be saved, and Israel (the ten tribes,) shall dwell safely, and this is his name whereby he shall be called "THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS." Now to prove it has not had its fulfillment: I will quote the two verses following:"—Therefore, behold the days will come saith the Lord, that they shall no more say: The Lord liveth which brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt; but, the Lord liveth which brought up, and which led the seed of the seed of the house of Israel out of the north country, and from all countries whither I had driven them; and they shall dwell in their own land."—I do not wonder the prophet exclaims: "My heart within me is broken because of the prophets, not only of his day, but he looks down the vista of time to these last days, when men have turned away their ears from the truth, and are preaching fables, and will not endure sound doctrine." (2nd Tim. iv. 3, 5.)

The prophet Jer. in the same chapter says,—"Hearken not, saith the Lord of Hosts, unto the words of the prophets, that prophesy unto you. they make you vain. they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord and hath perceived and hear his Word? Who hath marked his Word, and heard it?—"Behold, a whirlwind of the Lord is gone forth in fury, even a grievous whirlwind. It shall fall grievously upon the head of the wicked. The anger of the Lord shall not return until he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart."

Then he says: (20th verse) "In the latter days, ye shall consider it perfectly?—viz: "I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran. I have not spoken unto them, yet they prophesied." But, if they had stood in my counsel, and had caused my people to hear my words, then they should have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings."..... "The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream, and he that hath my Word, let him speak my Word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord? Is not my Word like as a fire? saith the Lord, and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?"—Now permit me to tell you what I understand to be some of the chaff, spoken of by God, through the prophets, that he calls lies, because it contradicts his Word, or makes it of none effect:—First then, the immortality of man, or, his soul, the great fundamental error, of modern theology. Where in all God's Word is there any proof of it?—We go to the creation of man. (Gen. ii. 7.) and there we read, "And the Lord God, formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life and man became a living soul," (or creature.) Not an immortal one by any means as the record shows, to all who desire the truth upon the subject of man's nature and destiny.—If man was made immortal, why did he have access given him to the tree of Life, in the midst of the garden? or, for what purpose? if he had eternal life inherent in him by creation?

But to prove the theory false, we have only to follow the record: for, after he, (the man) had sinned, and the sentence had been pronounced upon him, and upon the earth, in consequence of his disobedience; We read: "And the Lord God said, Behold the man has become as one of us, to know good and evil, and now lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat and live forever. (Just what Dr. Talmage says: "We all know we shall do, LIVE FOREVER;) "Therefore, the Lord God sent him forth to till the ground from whence he was taken. So he (God) drove out the man; and placed at the east of the Garden of Eden, cherubims, and a flaming sword, which turned every way to keep the way of the tree of life."—Now, let me ask: Where did man get his boasted immortality? and, would the Lord God have shut him away from the tree of life, if he (God) had breathed immortality into his nostrils when he created him?—How absurd the idea! I should think a child of any understanding could see that such a doctrine or, theory is false, and without foundation in the Word of God. It originated with the serpent, and shall we who profess to love God, and his Son Jesus Christ, believe and proclaim it to a sinful dying world, and so dishonor him "who so loved the world, (after he had doomed it to death) that he gave his only begotten Son (to die upon the cross) "that whosoever believeth in him should not perish." (in death) "but have everlasting life," (by a resurrection from death.)—John the Baptist says of Jesus: "The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand. "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him." (which is the sentence of death, pronounced upon Adam, and his posterity.) Jesus says, John vi. 39, "And this is the will of the Father which hath sent me; that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, (but, take them to heaven when they die?—(no, no!) but, should raise it up again at the last day." And again, 40. "And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one that seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day." 44 v. "No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me, draw him, and I will raise him up at the last day." Then Jesus said unto them: verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood ye have no life in you." But, Dr. T. says: "We all know that we shall live forever."—"Death cannot kill us."—Now, here is a plain contradiction, which shall we believe? The serpent and Dr. Talmage, or, the Son of God?—"Whoso eateth my flesh," ("The Word was made flesh.)" "and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day." "For my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood dwelleth in me, and I in him."—"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God," was the answer of the Son of God to the tempter, when he wanted him, (Jesus) to command the stones to become bread.—"If ye continue in my Word, then are ye my disciples indeed, and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." John viii. 31, 32.

But, how true is your text in your sermon March 4, and how applicable to all who do not abide in the Word of God, but preach tradition and error instead, viz:—"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all."—What strange contradictions I find in your sermons, Oh, no!—I hear you saying to the sinner, "The wages of sin is death;" which is a plain declaration of the great Apostle to the Gentiles, and O, how true: but the question arises in my mind at once—"How can a man die, who knows that he shall live forever?—Death cannot kill him." And then you quote again: "By one man, sin entered into the world, and death by sin, and so death passed upon all men, for all have sinned," and—"The soul that sinneth it shall die."—which is another plain declaration of the Word of God, but what right have men to quote it, who say that, "Man cannot die,"—I seem to hear the mighty God saying to all such.—"What hast thou to do to declare my statutes, or, that thou shouldest take my covenant in thy mouth, seeing thou hatest instruction, and castest my words behind thee." I hear you again asking in your last sermon: "What is a man?—a man! and you answer, "No line can measure him,—no limit can bound him. The archangel before the throne cannot outlive him!" How contradictory to the voice of inspiration, listen—"What man is he that liveth and shall not see death? Shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave?—(Psa. lxxxix. 48) again, David says,—"As for man his days are as grass, as a flower of the field so he flourisheth, but the wind passeth over it, and it is gone." Again David says (Psa. civ. 29):—"Thou hidest thy face, they are troubled: Thou takest away their breath, THEY DIE, and return to their dust." Psa. cxlvi. "Put not your trust in princes nor in the son of man in whom there is no help." Why? "His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; and in that very day, his thoughts perish."—Now, will you tell me, what man can know of good, or evil, when his thoughts have perished"—How often we hear they (the righteous) are in heaven praising God. But David says: (Psa. cxv. 17) "The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that go down into silence." But why should I quote all these Scriptures of prophets when he, "who hath the key of David: he that shutteth and no man openeth; hath said,—"NO MAN HATH ASCENDED UP TO HEAVEN, but he that came down from heaven."—Then to his disciples he said, before he left them, "Ye shall seek me and as I said unto the Jews (who did not believe on him). "Whither I go, ye cannot come; so now I say to you." John xiii. 33.—That ought to be sufficient to silence forever. "THE GO TO HEAVEN" theory, but I will quote a few passages from Paul, as he was a true, and inspired apostle "Fight the good fight of FAITH.—Lay hold of eternal life."—Why should we Paul? When great men teach as we have it in us, and, "DEATH CANNOT KILL ME;" but Paul don't believe it, for his says to Timothy, iv. 18, "I give thee charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession, viz; (That he was born King of the Jews), that thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukable, (Till you die and go to heaven?—no.) "until THE APPEARING of our Lord Jesus Christ: which in his TIMES, he shall show. Who is the blessed and only Potentate, the "King of kings, and Lord of lords (Rev. xix. 16.) WHO ONLY HATH IMMORTALITY, dwelling in light which no MAN CAN APPROACH UNTO: whom no man hath seen, nor can see. The question is put Present. How will the Lord Jesus Christ show this at his appearing? Probably that none will be endorsed as his who believe in the immortality of the soul. This being the identical lie that the serpent taught in Eden, and which has been the curse of mankind from that day to this.

Paul also says—(2 Tim. iv. 3, 4:) For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth and be turned unto fables. Paul also in Col. ii. 8 warned his Colossian brethren against this doctrine. He says—Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. Plato, the Grecian Philosopher has been called the father of the natural immortality of the soul. He lived many years before the birth of Christ, and his doctrine was taught and believed extensively in Greece in Paul's day. So he warned his brethren against this heathen philosophy that had its origin in the serpent, and supported only by the tradition of men.

But the foregoing is not the greatest difficulty consequent upon believing in the serpent's lie. To teach that men go to heaven to be rewarded; you neutralize the whole plan of salvation and contradict many plain and positive statements of Scripture. See Prov. xi. 31. Behold the righteous shall be rewarded in the earth, much more the wicked and the sinner. I could quote hundreds of plain statements of Scripture along the above line, showing that the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to and governed by the people of the saints of the Most High.

Again—If the theory be true that the righteous go to heaven at death to be rewarded; how about Lazarus? He had been in heaven four days enjoying those heatific scenes when the Savior called him back and put him into his old clog of clay to suffer on his three score years and ten and perhaps yield to temptation, make shipwreck of faith and die and go to hell, thus proving that a man may have been in heaven and hell both. Can you not see the folly and inconsistency of following the teachings of the serpent, and thus get into an entanglement from which there is no escape? No, no, Lazarus did not go to heaven or the Savior would not have called him back from the grave to live again. Job also understood the state of death an entire cessation of life. He says xiv. 14. All the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change come. Again, xvii. 10, he says—If I wait the grave (sheol) is my house. Job expected to wait in the grave his full appointed time.

The Lord says—Num. xiv. 21. But as truly as I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord. Psa. lxxii. 19. And blessed be his glorious name forever; and let the whole earth be filled with his glory. See Mal. i. 11; Psa. cxiii. 3; Hab. ii. 14. To assist in restoring the earth to the condition above described; is the anticipation of the true child of God, and he can contemplate a share in that great and glorious work, and shout with joyful acclaim, "Glory to God in the Highest; and on earth, peace, good will toward men." This proclamation of the angels at the birth of Christ, has never yet been realized, but it will be when Christ comes and sets up his kingdom: He will then send forth his servants to the nations, (see Isa. lxvi. 19) "and they shall declare his glory among the Gentiles." Christ will then be the Prince of Peace.

The whole plan of salvation hinges upon the restoration of earth to its primeval beauty and loveliness, and man to his loyalty to God. This is the ultimate aim and object of the death of Christ, and the preaching of the gospel in all the earth.

"But you are willing to leave the earth in its degradation and ruin, where you are wanted to assist in the great and glorious work of the restitution, and shirk the responsibility by going off to heaven where you are not wanted. Such acts during the late war were called treason, and rightly too; but no greater treason against the government than your desire to leave this sin cursed earth to its fate, is treason against God.

Now my dear friend, in conclusion, let me ask, what do you expect to do in heaven whereby the glory of God shall be enhanced by your presence there? You expect to be happy, and enjoy yourself and have a good time, but where does the glory of God come in, in such desire even if it were realized? It seems to me that your whole desire to go to heaven is founded in supreme selfishness.

The state of the earth brought to view in the Scriptures that I have quoted, and indeed throughout the entire prophetic Scriptures; is yet to be realized; and the true child of God rejoices in the anticipation of assisting in the great and glorious work; while your highest ambition is personal enjoyment and happiness.

Yours for the truth.

D. HOWARD.

P. S. Since writing the foregoing, I have seen Mr. Conant, and he told me that he did not now believe in the immortality of the soul. This I was highly gratified to learn. I can now point him to the promise of Christ to the overcomers, that they shall sit with him on his throne, and have power over the nations, (Rev. ii. 26), and break them with a rod of iron until they shall learn to beat their swords into plowshares, and learn war no more; but go up from year to year to Jerusalem to worship the King the Lord of Hosts and keep the feast of tabernacles. Zech. xiv. 16. O what a gladsome day. Who can contemplate such gatherings and not admire the wisdom of Omnipotence in devising it, rather than of taking the overcomers to heaven to spend their time in "sitting on a cloud and singing psalms," as some one has expressed his anticipations.

H.

Married.

The writer united in marriage on Wednesday evening, April 15, 1896, his son Edgar Hatch, and Miss Mary Etta Orr, at the home of the brides parents, Nathan and Margaret Orr, near Scipioville, Ind. Both are believers in the one hope, the bride having been baptized about six years ago, and the groom two years ago, by the writer. They received many presents and hearty good wishes for future happiness. On the following Saturday night and Sunday Son Edgar preached at the Plummer school house to good audiences, this being his third effort to sound the Word of truth.

J. S. HATCH.

An Open Letter to J. A. Conant.

Respected Friend:

I often think of you, and always with a sad heart. You believe in the immortality of the soul, and consequently in that anti-Christian dogma of going to heaven to be rewarded. I am astonished that you still adhere to that God-dishonoring, heathenish doctrine, notwithstanding the many plain and positive statements of Scripture to the contrary. I feel fully satisfied that there never was; neither indeed can be a doctrine taught among mankind, so pernicious and resultant in such dire consequences, as the doctrine of the serpent when he said "Ye shall not surely die." God has already set his seal of disapproval of that doctrine, by driving his son and daughter from the garden of Eden, and of cursing the ground for man the sinner's sake. But the serpent saw very clearly, that if he could induce Adam, the representative of the human race to believe such a doctrine; his vanity would be gratified to think he was like God, and the human race were as good as captivated to his side. If man is in possession of an immortal, never-dying soul; that soul must have a place or sphere wherein to dwell between the death of the body and the resurrection.

So the great Apostasy, that Paul speaks of in Thess. ii. has invented a transition at death to heaven or hell, to fill up the interregnum. But here a thought arises. If the soul of man, (or real man as orthodoxy puts it,) is rewarded at death: two judgments await each individual of mankind; one at death and another at the resurrection. There can be no evading this conclusion.

Again—the whole system of idolatry is based upon this doctrine. Men take it for granted that the soul cannot die: hence, when the body of some illustrious person or hero dies, his soul passes into some other body; a beast, a reptile, or some imaginary person, and thus a Divinity is created which they fall down and worship. Thus God is dishonored, and the honor due him is bestowed upon another.

Spiritism, whether in the orthodox church, or in the table-tipping seance is dependent upon the serpent's lie for life and being. Take this away and all these would fall by their own weight. The "Blessed Virgin" also would lack for devotees, and the whole system of idolatry would go into the holes of the rocks and be remembered no more forever. Even the notorious Ingersoll; although not believing in the immortality of the soul; yet he is an offspring of the serpent, for he takes his cue from the eternal burning of men and women in hell, and is therefore a grandson of the serpent.

Men, in ignorance of Scripture truth conclude, that because of the many expressions in Scripture which refer to the word soul, as my soul, his soul, that soul, etc., therefore such expressions prove that man is in possession of an immortal soul. Let us make an application and note the result. See Isa. xxix. 8. A hungry man dreameth and behold he eateth and he awaketh and his soul is empty, or a thirsty man dreameth and behold he drinketh, but he awaketh and behold he is faint, and his soul hath appetite. Please tell me my friend how an immaterial, immortal soul can eat bread and meat or drink water. Now this is Scripture. If you profess to be a Bible man, take the Bible as it universally reads, and not take it second handed. Again see Ezek. xviii. 4, 20. The soul that sinneth, it shall die. Lev. xvii. 12, no soul of you shall eat blood. And every soul that eateth that which dieth of itself. In the above quotation it appears to be plain that soul cannot eat, or refrain from eating certain kinds of food, hence souls are not immortal, immaterial entities but are flesh that needs food, and that may die or be killed.

Moreover, when Christ comes to set up his kingdom and reward his servants; the first principle that will be apparent and unquestionable, will be that God only hath immortality, for Paul says—that at the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ, which in his times he (?) – say who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light, which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see. The question is put Present. How will the Lord Jesus Christ show this at his appearing? Probably that none will be endorsed as his who believe in the immortality of the soul. This being the identical lie that the serpent taught in Eden, and which has been the curse of mankind from that day to this.

Paul also says—(2 Tim. iv. 3, 4:) For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth and be turned unto fables. Paul also in Col. ii. 8 warned his Colossian brethren against this doctrine. He says—Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. Plato, the Grecian Philosopher has been called the father of the natural immortality of the soul. He lived many years before the birth of Christ, and his doctrine was taught and believed extensively in Greece in Paul's day. So he warned his brethren against this heathen philosophy that had its origin in the serpent, and supported only by the tradition of men.

But the foregoing is not the greatest difficulty consequent upon believing in the serpent's lie. To teach that men go to heaven to be rewarded; you neutralize the whole plan of salvation and contradict many plain and positive statements of Scripture. See Prov. xi. 31. Behold the righteous shall be rewarded in the earth, much more the wicked and the sinner. I could quote hundreds of plain statements of Scripture along the above line, showing that the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to and governed by the people of the saints of the Most High.

Again—If the theory be true that the righteous go to heaven at death to be rewarded; how about Lazarus? He had been in heaven four days enjoying those heatific scenes when the Savior called him back and put him into his old clog of clay to suffer on his three score years and ten and perhaps yield to temptation, make shipwreck of faith and die and go to hell, thus proving that a man may have been in heaven and hell both. Can you not see the folly and inconsistency of following the teachings of the serpent, and thus get into an entanglement from which there is no escape? No, no, Lazarus did not go to heaven or the Savior would not have called him back from the grave to live again. Job also understood the state of death an entire cessation of life. He says xiv. 14. All the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change come. Again, xvii. 10, he says—If I wait the grave (sheol) is my house. Job expected to wait in the grave his full appointed time.

The Lord says—Num. xiv. 21. But as truly as I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord. Psa. lxxii. 19. And blessed be his glorious name forever; and let the whole earth be filled with his glory. See Mal. i. 11; Psa. cxiii. 3; Hab. ii. 14. To assist in restoring the earth to the condition above described; is the anticipation of the true child of God, and he can contemplate a share in that great and glorious work, and shout with joyful acclaim, "Glory to God in the Highest; and on earth, peace, good will toward men." This proclamation of the angels at the birth of Christ, has never yet been realized, but it will be when Christ comes and sets up his kingdom: He will then send forth his servants to the nations, (see Isa. lxvi. 19) "and they shall declare his glory among the Gentiles." Christ will then be the Prince of Peace.

The whole plan of salvation hinges upon the restoration of earth to its primeval beauty and loveliness, and man to his loyalty to God. This is the ultimate aim and object of the death of Christ, and the preaching of the gospel in all the earth.

"But you are willing to leave the earth in its degradation and ruin, where you are wanted to assist in the great and glorious work of the restitution, and shirk the responsibility by going off to heaven where you are not wanted. Such acts during the late war were called treason, and rightly too; but no greater treason against the government than your desire to leave this sin cursed earth to its fate, is treason against God.

Now my dear friend, in conclusion, let me ask, what do you expect to do in heaven whereby the glory of God shall be enhanced by your presence there? You expect to be happy, and enjoy yourself and have a good time, but where does the glory of God come in, in such desire even if it were realized? It seems to me that your whole desire to go to heaven is founded in supreme selfishness.

The state of the earth brought to view in the Scriptures that I have quoted, and indeed throughout the entire prophetic Scriptures; is yet to be realized; and the true child of God rejoices in the anticipation of assisting in the great and glorious work; while your highest ambition is personal enjoyment and happiness.

Yours for the truth.

D. HOWARD.

P. S. Since writing the foregoing, I have seen Mr. Conant, and he told me that he did not now believe in the immortality of the soul. This I was highly gratified to learn. I can now point him to the promise of Christ to the overcomers, that they shall sit with him on his throne, and have power over the nations, (Rev. ii. 26), and break them with a rod of iron until they shall learn to beat their swords into plowshares, and learn war no more; but go up from year to year to Jerusalem to worship the King the Lord of Hosts and keep the feast of tabernacles. Zech. xiv. 16. O what a gladsome day. Who can contemplate such gatherings and not admire the wisdom of Omnipotence in devising it, rather than of taking the overcomers to heaven to spend their time in "sitting on a cloud and singing psalms," as some one has expressed his anticipations.

H.

Appointments.

The 1st Sunday in May I will be at Woodland, Ill., as Sister Mollie Lamm appoints. The second Sunday in Jasper Co., Ill., as Brother's Wood and Rogers may appoint. The third Sunday in De Soto, Mo. as Brothers Morse and Gifford may appoint. Will be in Missouri over the fourth Sunday. All the above meetings to commence on Friday night before.

J. S. HATCH.

"Two-thirds of the church members in the United States are women. But women constitute only one-thirteenth of all the criminals; while men are twelve-thirteenths of all the criminals and one-third of the church membership."

I am no more surprised that some revealed truths amaze my understanding, than that the blazing sun that God has made should dazzle my eyes.—Hervey.

Uniformed Attendants for New York Passengers via Pennsylvania Lines.

The Pennsylvania Lines have introduced uniformed Parcel Porters at Jersey City to look after the comfort of all arriving and departing passengers. Their services will be gratis, and they will accompany passengers (if desired) between Cortland Street Ferry, New York City, and the American Line Pier, Sixth Avenue Elevated Railroad, and the Central Railroad of New Jersey Station; also between Desbrosses Street Ferry, New York City and the Ninth Avenue Elevated Railroad. They will be in attendance from 6 a. m., until midnight every day, and when accompanying passengers will carry parcels and hand luggage.—June 1.

For Our Children.

The Lord's Prayer.

Our Father which art in heaven,
May thy love to us be given.
Hallowed be thy name,
May we all thy love proclaim.
Thy kingdom come,
On this earth thy will be done,
This is what we pray for still,
For in heaven they do thy will.

Give us day by day our daily bread,
May we all by Christ be led.
And our debts forgive us now,
As we to Thee so humbly bow.
And we ask to be forgiv n,
By our blessed Lord in heaven
Just as we forgive others,
That on us also so impose.

Keep us from temptation free,
Until we our Lord shall see.
From all evil wilt thou save,
Ruler of heaven, wind and wave.
For the kingdom is the Lord's,
We learn by reading in the Word.
And the power too is Thine,
Heavenly Father, most divine.

Thine the glory too we know,
For our Savior tells us so.
Children, when this rhyme you read,
For its precious you plead.
Remember him who stilled the wave
Is ready and willing now to save.

ANNIE M. BURGESS.

The Story of Israel Beyond the Sea. No. 48.

THE SOJOURN AT SINAI. ANGELS.

If you, my little readers were all gathered together in one place and an angel should appear to you, would you know it was an angel. "O yes!" you say, "we certainly should, because he would have wings!" You are wrong there, my dears, for although you have always seen them pictured as flying through the air like birds, angels do not have wings. They can pass with wonderful swiftness from world to world. (Dan. ix. 21) but they go in chariots. 2 Kings vi. 16, 17; ii. 11; Psa. lxviii. 17; xxxiv. 7.

The horses and chariots of Elisha saw when Elijah was taken up to heaven were angels; that which looked to him like horses of fire, was the machinery that moved the chariots through space. We call the engine that pulls a train of cars, an iron horse, and yet it is not a horse at all. It may seem strange that angels can make chariots that can fly, but is it any more wonderful than that men should make electric cars, and phonographs, and locomotives?

Angels are far above us, and certainly know more than we do about the laws of motion, and though no one's book is hid from their home so ours, they know the way, and can guide their wheeled and winged machines over it just as easily as you can guide your bicycles over a smooth gravel road.

"But Auntie, Ezekiel says cherubims have wings, doesn't he?" and cherubims are angels, you know," says one thoughtful child at my side. Ezek. 1st and 10th chapter.

It does look as if he said so, doesn't it? And besides, the cherubims that spread their wings over the mercy seat, represented angels, how shall we explain this?

That Ezekiel saw a different kind of chariot from that which Elisha saw. It was furnished with wings and with wheels. It had curious faces attached to it, and rings that seemed to be full of eyes. It could go back and forth like lightning. The cherubims had their hands under their wings to make them move. The noise of the wings when in motion was like the noise of great waters. When the wings were let down, the chariots stopped. The spirit or power that moved the effying chariots, was in the wheels. It must have been electricity. Do you wonder if Mr. Edison could make such a wagon as that? If he could, he would not use it as the angels do. He could not go to other worlds, because men are not made to live above the air that surrounds our earth.

But what about the winged cherubims of the mercy seat? Why were they made with wings? Ex. xxv. 17-23. The wings were symbols,—we know not of what,—unless it be of forgiveness, for those who come to him at the mercy seat. Forgiveness covers sins. It hides them, it blots them out just as if they had never been.

It is probable that when Jesus comes and all the holy angels with him, (Matt. xxv. 31,) they will come in some such chariots as those which Elisha and Ezekiel saw, for the coming of Jesus is to be "As the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven." Luke xvii. 24.

Angels have their chiefs. We know of the name of but one of those. It is Michael. He is a chief-prince among the angels. Dan. x. 13; Jude ix. God has set him on the side of the Israelites. He will help them in the time of trouble that is coming. Dan. xii. 1. Another chief angel is described in Dan. ix. 6. The description of the eyes, the voice, the feet and the girdle, is much like the description given of Jesus in Rev. i. 13-16, but Jesus was not from then; he is not an angel; he is better than the angels, for the angels will worship him. (Heb. i. 4, 5, 6, 13; ii. 16; 1 Pet. iii. 22.) and will be subject to him.

"How did people know angels, then, if they didn't have wings?" asks one little boy. Sometimes they did not know them. The mother of Samson called the angel who appeared to her, "a man of God," though she said "his countenance was like that of an angel of God, very terrible." She thought he was a prophet, for angels look like men. Judges xiii. 6, 8, 9, 10, 11. Gen. xviii. 2, 16; i. 15, 16. The cherubims that Ezekiel saw had the likeness of a man. Ezekiel i. 5. But to those whom they appeared, knew they were angels, because they did things that men do not know how to do, brought messages from God, and went up to heaven when their message had been delivered. Judges xiii. 20.

God is going to send his angel before the Israelites to keep them in the way. Ex. xxiii. 20-21. It is the same angel that started with them out of Egypt. He has come with them to Sinia and is to go on in the cloudy pillar to Canaan. Ex. xiv. 19, 20. I wonder if it is Michael? It is very probable. Or, is it the other angel that looks so much like Jesus? that is clothed in linen and gold? Dan. x. 4-7; Ezekiel ix. 11;—or the throned angel of Ezek. i. 26, 27, 28; viii. 2, 3, 4? Then why does it say that "the Lord went before the Israelites by day in a pillar of cloud?" Ex. xiii. 21, 22. If it was the Lord, how could it be an angel? Can you tell, little boys? "In the same way that your papa's build houses, by furnishing the money and getting other men to do the work?" Yes, that is the way. The Lord went before his people, by having his angel go before them. His name was in the angel. So, when we see the angel did it, it was the same as if the Lord himself had done it. A great deal of the work of creation, was to be done by angels,—the forming of the beasts and the fowls, and the trees. The making of precious stones and of minerals; the cutting out of all the lovely patterns for the insects, the grasses, the leaves and the flowers, and yet, it is said that "the Lord did it." And when the Lord God came down to Adam and Eve in the garden, to Cain and Abel, to Noah, and to Abram and others, he came down through the agency of his angels. This is the way that he came down on Mount Sinai, for the law was "ordained by angels." Gal. iii. 19; Acts vii. 53; was spoken by angels." Heb. ii. 2.

His name was in the angel, just as the name of the United States is in the men that are sent to the courts of other countries. These men do not do the business of our country in their own names, but in the name, or by the authority given them by our government at Washington City.

Angels have much to do with our world. In some way under God they control men and nations and use them to make the great and good things come about, that God has promised shall come. Heb. ii. 5; i. 8.

They can fight against and persecute and destroy the wicked. Psalm xxxv. 5, 6; 2 Sam. xxiv. 16; 2 Chron. xxxii. 21, 22. God's people have been helped many times by these dear ministers of his. They do not fight as men do; they come with pestilence and storms and fogs.

In the battle of Bethhoron, great hailstones slew many more of the Amorites than the children of Israel slew. Joshua x. 11. It says "the Lord cast the stones down," but you know how he does things now, and at once think it was the angels that did it. The angels saved Elisha from the Syrians. 2 Kings vi. 12-22. Angels gave the signal to David from the top of the mulberry trees, telling him that it was time to go forth to battle against the Philistines, because God had "gone forth before him." 1 Chron. xiv. 13-17. In one night an angel cut off all the mighty men out of the army of the king of Assyria. 2 Chron. xxxii. 21.

You have read Lord Byron's poem beginning,—

"The Assyrian came down like a wolfon the fold."

have you not? It is grand. An angel saved the four good men who were cast into the fire—saved Daniel and Peter and Paul.

The Vaudois Christians several times escaped from the French, by being covered with a thick fog; and our little army in the war of the revolution was saved from the British three times in succession, by the sudden rising of rivers after they had crossed them. Keep your eyes open when you are reading the Bible and reading history. You will soon learn to see how God's hand is in every thing; that nothing happens by chance, but that in all wars, in the finding and settling of new countries, and in strife as to whom these shall belong, God is working through his angels to prepare this earth for our future everlasting home.

AUNTIE WISE.

Obituary.

At the home of her son-in-law D. W. Rouk, in Boone county, Mrs. Martha Yories Logan died April 5th, 1896, at the age of 95 years, 1 month and 25 days.

She gave her heart to God in early life, and lived a consistent Christian; was a great Bible reader, and spent much time in its perusal, greatly enjoying the comfort of religion. In March, 1892, she was stricken with paralysis, and from then until her death was a great sufferer most of the time. All that loving hands could do was done to add to her comfort. Medicine was required to secure ease and sleep. She has now fallen into the care of the great Physician, that "giveth his beloved sleep," and is "Asleep in Jesus, blessed sleep, from which none ever "wake to weep."

We are assured, dear saint that you have suffered your last pain, shed your last tear, had your last sorrow, and we shall meet you in the great resurrection, in a place where sin and its consequences are felt and feared no more. In her departure she must pass through the sleep of death in the silent tomb, but as time is not reckoned with the dead, we feel comforted that there is no longer conscious, anxious waiting, but that the next moment for her is when the trump of God shall awaken the slumbering millions; then she will be with them, "caught up to meet the Lord in the air. Let us comfort one another with these words."

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. E. Murray.—Ib. W. B. in Ladoga Leader.

[To this notice we add a clipping from the Plymouth Democrat, which will explain to the friends in this place more fully who this Sister was, and the place she once filled among us.—Ed.]

AUNT PATTY LOGAN.

Martha Yorris Logan, one of the earliest pioneers of Marshall county, died at the home of her son-in-law, Daniel W. Rouk, at New Ross, Boone county, Indiana, April 5, 1896, at the age of 95 years. She was born in Ohio (probably Butler county) in 1801 and in 1820 settled with her parents in Union county, Indiana, where she was married to Patrick Logan, and with him came to Marshall county in 1830. Her husband, Patrick Logan, was third sheriff of this county, serving two terms from Aug. 1838 to Aug. 1842. With his wife and family he removed from here in 1852 to Montgomery county near Ladoga, where he settled on a farm, remaining there until locked in the 60s. "Aunt Patty" as she was familiarly known, was a very quiet and most excellent Christian woman.

Dr. S. W. Cordill died in Brown County, Minnesota, Apr. 13, 1896, aged 80 years, 3 months and 18 days.

Father Cordill was born in Tennessee, came to Indiana when a small boy, and lived there until 1855, when he moved to Minnesota, living there until the enemy, death laid him low to await the coming of the Life Giver. He became obedient to the gospel at the age of thirty and lived a consistent Christian life to the end. He leaves nine children, six sons and three daughters to mourn his loss.

But we sorrow not as those who have no hope, for if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so, them that sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

May he soon come and bring up the sleeping ones and may we all be ready to meet him and them at the first resurrection, is the prayer of your brother.

H. F. CORDILL.

It is said that at a late meeting of Chinese ministers of state the question arose, "Shall our women unbind their feet?" The women responded to the question thus: "They are our feet; cannot we do with them as we please? Why should they discuss it?" This sounds like America, or would if they had said "waists" instead of "feet."

For the occasion of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to be held in Cleveland, O., May 1st to 31st, 1896, a rate of one standard first class fare for the round trip has been authorized via the Nickel Plate Road. Tickets on sale April 29th, 30th, May 1st, and 12th, – Apr. 30.

P. O. Addresses.

Persons requesting their address published may have their names inserted here.

C. A. Saylor, Tempe, Arizona.
Silas Henn, Dudley, Worcestershire, England.
J. S. Hatch, Scircleville, Ind.
J. W. Niles, Edinboro, Pa.
J. F. Wagoner, Box 251, Rochester, Ind.
Geo. Kidwell, Chisnville, Ark.
J. J. Cady, Holbrook, Neb.
J. T. Prime, Edison, Neb.
A. J. Eyelanner, Gladbrook, Ia.
W. L. Winslow, 21 Wyandotte Nat. Bank Bldg., Kansas City, Kan.
J. P. Glenn, Fair Haven, Kan.
L. E. Conner, Guthrie, Okl'a.
John Foore, Tempe, Arizona.
B. F. Boyer, Seven Fountains, Va.
T. E. Adams, Osawkie, Kan.
B Wilson, 1219 J. St. Sacramento, Cal.
S. C Oliver, Attica, Kan.
J. G. Haupt, Dakota City, Neb.
J. R. Fisk, Caldwell, Kan.
M. L. Adams, Linden, Okl'a.
Ben F. Glenn, Nelson, Neb
W. D. Townsend, Salem, Ohio.
G. W. Haynes, Fruitvanville, In.
C. S. Allen, Eldorado, Kan.
D. M. Hedler, Muscatine, Ia.
J. M. Primmer, Jessup, Ia.
P. B. Stouffer, Hunterdon, In.
Miss Mollie Babcock, W. R. C. House, Madison, Ohio.
J. Conaway, Ballard, Wash.
S. T. Hook, Pike, Ind.
H. T. Baker, 912, Oak St. Kansas City, Mo..
A. T. Morris, Cottonwood, Cal.
R. S. Driggins, Irvington, N. Y.
Dr. W. Smith, Marmont, Ind.
Mrs. Mollie Ruthlum, Cedar Bluffs, In.

Important Notices.

All persons addressing us should give their name, postoffice, county and state, plainly and distinctly.

All letters should be addressed to "THE RESTITUTION." Plymouth, Marshall County, Ind.

Remittance should be sent by bank draft, postoffice money order, or registered letter. Money sent in either of the above ways is at our risk, money loose in letters is at the risk of the sender. Some will say, "I have sent bills loose in letters hundreds of times, and it always went safe through." No one denies it, and you may send so many times again, and yet the very next time you may be the loser. It is folly to think that you can fold bills in a letter so that no one can tell it, for one who handles much mail matter can almost invariably tell a letter with money in it. Take warning and send safely.

All remittances should be made payable to the order of "THE RESTITUTION."

We cannot hold ourselves responsible for the return of manuscripts. Authors should preserve a copy for themselves.

In ordering books or tracts get the latest copy of the paper you have, and order only what you see advertised in that.

When desiring a change of address, give both your old and new address.

By complying strictly with the above you will save us much annoyance, and your order will be much more promptly attended to.

Cheap Excursions to the West and Northwest.

On April 21 and May 5, 1896, the North Western Line (Chicago & North-Western R'y) will sell Home Seekers' excursion tickets at very low rates to a large number of points in Northern Wisconsin, Michigan, Northwestern Iowa, Western Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, including the famous Black Hills district. For full information apply to ticket agents of connecting lines or address C. Traver, T. P. A., Marine National Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa. —May 2.

With its splendid equipment, uniformed colored porters on day coaches to attend to the wants of passengers, elegant sleeping cars, unexcelled dining service, and facilities for quick time, the Nickel Plate Road is in a position to make a favorable bid and secure its portion of the business enroute to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Cleveland, O. Low rates are offered via this popular route. Tickets on sale April 29th, 30th, May 1st, and 12th, good returning five days from date of sale. Tickets may be extended to June 2nd by depositing them with the Joint Agent within five days from date of sale.—April 30.

Address of Treasurer of Ladies Evangelical Aid Society, Miss Emma Jackman, Box 384, Grand Rapids, Mich.

List of Churches.

Church of the Blessed Hope, 626 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Services every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Brethren from a distance and all lovers of truth are cordially invited. Seats free. M. Jaldin, Evangelist.

Church of God, 3245 Logan Ave., San Diego, California, meet for worship, and searching of the Scriptures every Sunday at 2:00 p. m. All interested in Bible study are cordially invited to meet with us.

Church of the Blessed Hope, Green St., and Ridge Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. Services each Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Visiting brethren always welcome. C. P. Ramsey, 301, Huntingdon St., Pastor.

The Chicago Church, Van Buren Hall, corner of Madison St., and California Ave., meet every Sunday at 11:00 a. m. Visitors welcome.

The Church of God, at Argos, Ind., meet in their house on Michigan St., as follows:—Preaching by J. P. Wagoner on the 2nd Sunday, and J. S. Hatch the 4th Sunday in the month. Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every Thursday evening.

Church of God, Plymouth, Ind., meet in Hall N. E. Cor. Michigan and Lapaet e Streets, every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday School 12:00 m. m. Prayer and social meeting Thursday evenings. You are welcome. W. D. Thompson and W. Tuttle, Elders.

Church of God at Salem, Ohio, meet every 1st day of the week at 10:30, for devotional services. Any brethren passing through thereby are cordially invited to meet with us.

The Church of God, at Andover, S. D., hold services each Sunday at 11:00 a. m. in Mills Hall. Andover is on the direct line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., going west to Aberdeen, thirty miles east thereof.

The Church of God, in Freedom, Neb., meets every Sunday at the Prime Church, to study God's Word. Union Sunday School every Sunday and Social meeting every two weeks. We have no regular preaching. Jason Welton Elder; Sarah S Bick, Sec'y.

Ainsworth, Neb. Sunday School every Sunday at R. Cleary's house at 1:00 p. m. followed by services at 2:00. All are welcome.

Church of the Blessed Hope, of West Seattle, Wash. This church regularly meets for public and church service every Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Brethren known to this church, or coming properly endorsed by introductory letter, will be heartily welcomed. At present we meet in the School House on top of the hill; cable cars come very near, and ferry brings from Seattle.

The brethren of the Church of God at Duck Creek, Ohio, meet every Sunday at 10:00 a. m. for Bible class and Sunday school. Communion at 11:00 where prayers and exhortations are made to our Father, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. All visitors address Brother George Knife, Kessler, or H. L. Lehman, West Milton, Ohio.

The Church of God at Hammond, La., meet every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. to break bread and exhort each other to love and good works. L. Authon, Elder.

Meetings held at Unity Church, Schultz Ferry, Oregon, fifteen miles southwest from Portland) each month, 1st Sunday sermon by Bro. W. W. Asquith. The 2nd by Bro. Edwin Grant. The 3rd by Bro. W. L. Steele. The 4th Social meeting. Each appointment at 11:00 a. m.

The Church of God at Brooklyn, N. Y., meets every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in Beaver Hall, on Willoughby Ave., near Broadway.

The Church of God meet every Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in K. of P. Hall, 955 Wilson Ave. near Euclid, Cleveland, Ohio, where all of like precious faith are welcome.

Preaching at Pork Hill church in Gladbrook, Ia., every Sunday morning and evening, by A. J. Eyelanner. Traveling brethren will find a welcome. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m.

Meeting on Sunday school every First Day at the Fowler Schoolhouse, Calhoun Co., In. Elder Whitcomb, Pastor.

The Church of God near Schultz Ferry, Ore., hold services every Sunday. Sunday school at 10:00 a. m., and preaching at 11:00 a. m. All lovers of truth and brethren from a distance are cordially invited to meet with us. Mario E. Trundell, Sec'y.

The Churches of God at Brady and Prairie Grove, Mich., have preaching every four weeks. Sunday school at Prairie Grove every Sunday. Preaching at Fisher and Cotts Grove every four weeks, and at Dutton meeting every Sunday. These churches have regular preaching by Bro. Woodward and wife except when they are doing evangelistic work. Brs. Price, McBride, Watson and Byron have an regular preaching. The church at Raisin Center is presided over by Brother L. C. Chase.

The M. E. General Conference will convene at Cleveland, O., May 1st. Low rates have been authorized via the Nickel Plate Road for this occasion. The Company operates splendidly equipped trains, with all modern appliances for speed, safety and comfort. For time of trains or other information, address any agent or B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O.—Apr. 30.

IF YOU WANT THE BEST GARDEN
in your neighborhood this season
PLANT OUR FAMOUS
SEEDS and PLANTS
all of which are described and illustrated in our beautiful and entirely New Catalogue for 1896. A new feature this season is the Free delivery of Seeds at Catalogue prices to any Post Office. This "New Catalogue" we will mail on receipt of a 2-cent stamp, or to those who will state where they saw this advertisement, the Catalogue will be mailed Free!
PETER HENDERSON & CO.
35 & 37 Cortlandt St., New York.

Pittsb'g, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Rw.
Pennsylvania Lines.
Schedule in Effect at Passenger Trains—Central Time.

Pullman Reclining Chair Cars on Nos. 15, 6, Pullman Vestibule Sleeping Cars on 4, 8 and 9. Parlor Cafe Cars on 15 and 16. Dining Cars on 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40,

The Restitution.

—ISSUED WEEKLY BY—
A. R. UNDERWOOD, Publisher
—FOR THE—
CHRISTIAN PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
ROBERT RAILSBACK,
W. D. THOMPSON,
J. H. WILLEY,
A. R. UNDERWOOD,
WM. RAILSBACK.

One Year $1.50, Six Months 75 Cents. Three Months 40 Cents.

The Restitution.

"The Restitution of all Things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his Holy Prophets."

VOLUME XLV. PLYMOUTH, INDIANA, MAY 6, 1896. NUMBER 17.

The Restitution.

THE RESTITUTION advocates the final "restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." As a means to this end the establishment of the kingdom of God on the earth, with the Christ as King of kings, and the immortal saints as joint-heirs with him in the government of the nations: the restoration of Israel: the literal resurrection of the dead: the immortalization of the righteous, and the final destruction of the wicked, eternal life only through Christ, and many other kindred truths. Also a hearty belief of the gospel, repentance and immersion in the name of Jesus Christ for remission of sins, pre-requisites of the forgiveness of sins, and a holy life as essential for final salvation.

Poetry.

Fairest Jerusalem.

(TUNE—"WE'RE MARCHING TO ZION."

O precious is the thought,
That on the blissful morn,
The Lord upon mount Zion shall look upon,
His loved, sent, chosen ones.

CHORUS.—O fairest Jerusalem,
Dearest and happiest home!
Thy pearly gates when shall I see,
And be with Christ at home?

Then will his rest to be
More sweet to his redeemed Bride,
Than when he said "Peace be to you."
"Tis I be not afraid."

MRS. E. R. BOWEN.

Communicated.

Expository.

PRACTICAL HINTS AND SUGGESTIONS. ROM. XII. 1, 2.

"I beseech you, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." I beseech, I entreat, I pray, I beg you therefore brethren by the mercies of God, by the tender mercies and kindness of God. I entreat you to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." Under the past dispensation God made known his will to his people through and by his servants the prophets, and among other things, they were required to offer in sacrifice of the best of the flocks and herds, as a kind of typical temporary service, pointing forward to the "Lamb of God," sacrificed for us; "and who is also destined to take away the sin of the world." God was very careful to require none but the best and unblemished animals to faintly represent the pure, spotless life and character of his beloved Son. Their death, which was simply and purely extinction of life, a pouring out of their life blood was emblematical of the pouring out in death, of the soul or life-blood of Jesus, God's Son our Savior. Those lambs and oxen being every whit dead when offered in sacrifice to God, could only typify the real literal death of Jesus the anti-type. I fail to see how the death of a lamb or an oxen could in any way typify the separation of Jesus God's Son from his body.

A serpent shedding off, and crawling out of his old skin, would more nearly represent and typify this old absurd serpentine doctrine, that man in death simply "shuffles off this mortal coil." Yes, that is so, but what does Paul tell us to do as Christians? "That ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." Remember brethren that God would not have been well pleased if Israel had offered to him in sacrifice, the lame, the halt, and the blind, neither do I believe that their sacrifices would have been well pleasing to God, if they had been reeking in filth, or soaked in tobacco for forty years. Do you think so? hardly. If a hint to the wise is sufficient, a plain statement of facts ought to be all-sufficient for the brethren, to cause them to change sides, and to cleanse themselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God." Any habit or any manner of living whatsoever that debilitates in body or mind, or is unclean and unholy, is most certainly incompatible with our profession, and will be a barrier to our offering our bodies a living sacrifice, holy; acceptable unto God, which is but our reasonable service. No, Bro. Bitner, it seems that my work is not yet done, or well done at least. Yet I feel encouraged to press on, by the reinforcement of noble brothers and sisters who are coming to my aid. Thanks to you sister Emma, for your excellent contribution.

Second verse, "And be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God." "To conform to this world is to make like, to comply with, to yield to the customs, fashions and ways of this world or age; especially those that are antagonistic, and out of harmony with God's will and ways. I understand that God is selecting out from the nations of earth, a people for his name, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar and purchased people. This people is now the betrothed bride of the Lamb, God's beloved Son, and her most important and imperative duty is to see to it, and make herself ready for the coming of the Bridegroom, which now draweth nigh. And if she is true and loyal as she must be, will her affections be divided? and will she have a desire to conform herself to this world? These are marks of bad faith. Can the church, the intended bride, while waiting for her Lord, allow herself to be entrapped and entbused with lusely rotten politics, and thus fall in line with the live crowd on the broad road leading somewhere, and not be conformed to this world? I think not. Can you my Brothers, seek to uphold and bruce up corrupt human governments, and at the same time prepare and qualify yourself for a position in God's kingdom soon to come, when human governments must collapse? I cannot. I tried it once some thirty-two years ago, and my conscience gored me good, and my knees almost smote together. I would advise you my Brothers to stand from under, and come out fully on the "Lord's side," as there is no compromise in this war. It does seem to me that if we be indeed dead to the rudiments of this world, so that the world will not know or appreciate, or approve of us, that the world will be indeed dead to us: then there will be but very little, if any coalition between us. No more than there was between the Master and the wicked world.

In the timely and very appropriate admonition of "Times of Restitution," we would say "Let the preachers (yes and the laity) keep aloof from politics, and refrain their hands from municipal and state affairs. The world will love its own, and will look after its own business in its own way: Cæsar will take care of himself. Let the ministers of Christ if such they are, confine themselves wholly to the work to which they were ordained, evangelization—proclaiming to the world the glad tidings which are to bring great joy to all people—that a Savior has been born and qualified, and will soon return from heaven to overthrow all existing governments and institutions of men, and bless all nations, families and kindreds of the earth. This is certainly a nobler and more appropriate employment for the appointed heralds of the gospel, than playing the roll of policeman, detectives, spies and informers, or seeking to rivet by the hammer of law erroneous and conflicting religious tenets upon the heterogeneous and unwilling masses of a religiously free country. (If we plead Cæsars cause at Cæsars bar then we go to make up Cæsars staff. If the servants of Christ will serve Cæsar, they must look to Cæsar for their reward."

Brethren and sisters in Christ, if we have been thoroughly converted to God and his Christ, will we have any desire to conform ourselves to this world, and thus run out after the foolish pagan institutions of these perilous times, such as the hollow celebration of the old revamped pagan "Christmas," and that of "Easter," the old festival of Eostre, an Anglo-Saxon goddess, and such like institutions? Nay verily. Then if we are obedient to God, and refrain from imitating the world, then we can safely say, that we have been "transformed by the renewing of our mind," and are a child of God indeed and truth. Then if we are obedient and have our affections set on the things above, will we, can we stray off in the dark and crawl into some of the wily set traps of the enemy, and thus conform to, and confederate with the world, the enemies of God, and thus deny and repudiate God, by swearing allegiance to another besides and in opposition to God, worshiping and serving the creature far more than the Creator, for as a rule when the test comes the motley, medley lodge is full being honored by the consistent infidel, and the inconsistent (shall I say Christian) alike. There must be affinity to draw them together on common ground. Even ministers will leave their homes and sneak off in the dark and show their skill at "riding the goat," and thus set the example to others. These things, like universalism will do to live by but will not do to die by. Do you say, "let us alone? There is no harm in these things, you are too rigid." My brethren, the danger is all on the other side. And immortal-soulists have cried out, "Lay us alone, there is no harm in this doctrine, it is no vital point, let's compromise the matter, and come on common ground. Let us turn our batteries on the "clear," and reform the world, and give sin a black eye. "A sure mark of apostasy, and a broad road to ruin." It was the demons that said "Let us alone." Brethren it is high time that we awake, and flee for life to Jesus while he pleads.

T. E. ADAMS.

Is the World Growing Better?

"And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man hid themselves in the dens, and in the rocks of the mountains; and said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb; for the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?" Rev. vi. 15, 17.

This is a hard scene to understand in face of the popular teaching that the world is growing better, and is in process of entire conversion by the churches. If by their efforts there is to be millennial bliss on earth before the reign of Christ, why all this abject terror at his appearance? If his work be completed by men, and all the inhabitants are holy, why should they fear his wrath? No wonder the churches deny his return and arrange to meet him in heaven. One slight objection to this optimism is that it conflicts with Scripture and is flatly contradicted by facts.

It is an important claim, for the heathen under conservative influences of civilization, are increasing at a ratio that distances Christianity, and except in insignificant numbers or isolated instances, reject Christianity. Even in the most enlightened lands but an infinitesimal proportion obey Christ or live up to his laws—and, what is even more shocking, the Churches themselves, instead of converting others, are falling from grace and becoming a by-word and reproach for their worldliness and hypocrisy.

